not tell him to wake me when I was But was it the poor man's fault," said D. F. COLES and W. R. WATSON, the knight, "that you did not see the sun? He wished to soften your heart by his touching rural strains, and to direct your attention to a wonder, which the unforewarned mind is apt to overlook or set down as commonplace. Besides, it is a custom I have established that all travelers should be moved to give some trifle to the good-natured, disinterested fellow for his obligingness, which springs from no paltry desire for reward; and I will not have so ancient and honorable a custom fall into disuse." Having, with a moved heart, paid the required batzen for the sun which he had not seen, the Nuremburger thought he had at last discharged every obligation; but imagine his surprise when Hans Preller produced a small bill for food and lodging, where it was no longer a question of batzen, but of silver dollars and gold crown pieces. "What conveyance is this?" cried he. "I know nothing about it. So high a fare would not be demanded from the King of Bohemia!" "The conveyance, my friend," said Han Prelier, presently, "is the one I had to hire to conduct you hither, as, if you re member, you were not in a state to walk. And bear in mind, too, that Switzerland is not Bohemia; that in Bohemia you have plains, while here you have mountains. It follows as a natural consequence that carriage hire is more expensive; and you may be thankful that I was able to get a conveyance at all. Moreover, I see that my clerk has not even put down the back-fare, for it is only just that you should compensate the man for the time during which he could nake nothing. The rule is to pay a second fare, but from you we will be content with half, which I beg you will add to the bill." At last everything was settled in the castle, and Peter the sabot-maker's heart be gan to beat more freely when he heard the creaking of the drawbridge as it raised behind him, although he foresaw that he would be expected to pay escort-money to the knight for his kindness in accompanying him, and guide-hire to the runner who preceded them to show the way—as well, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Biliousof course, as return money.

But Hans Preller was in capital spirits, jesting away in that free, outspoken fashion peculiar to the child of nature, which can offend no one, since it comes merely from a frank, open-hearted disposition.

"If you would not mind making a slight detour," he said at length, as they came to a place where the roads divided, "I can show you something eminently remarkable. An old fellow-countryman of mine lives there. Many years ago he was in the service of a gentleman of rank in the vicinity as hell verters, and one night ity, acting as hall porter; and one night, when robbers were breaking into the house, he fought so bravely for his master that the whole world rang with praises of Swiss fidelity. He has now, in remembrance of that night, had a wounded lien cut in the rock to represent himself—for he came off the LIVER, its diseases and their cripple-and he has built a but hard by, treatment, sent free: Address Dr. SANFORD, 162 Broadway, New and is so good as to show the lion-that is, York City, N. KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is cartain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW. From REV. P. N. GRANGER, Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District. St. Albans, Vt., Jan. 20th, 1880.

Dr. B. J. KENDALL & Co.—Gents: In reply to your letter I will say that my expérience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has beer very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I mocared a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a hotse of laneness cansed by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned line out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the roal he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring-bone was lorming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so the he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER. PERSEVERANCE WILL TELL! Stoughton, Mass., March 16th, 1890.

B. J. KENDALL & Co.—Gents: In justice to you and myself, I think I bught to let you know that I have removed two none spayins with "Kendall's LETTER HEADS, Spavin Cure," one very large one; Don't know how long the spavin lidd been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It dock me four months to take the large one off, and two for the small one. I have used to bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt.
This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me its sale will be very great.

Respectfully yours. CHAS. E. PARKER. KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

> Concord, N. H., January 2nd, 1880. B. J. KENDALL & Co.-Gentlemen: We have beantiful roan mare that was given to us on account beautiful roan mare that was given to us on account of a spavin on her leg, which made her dead lame. We took off her shoes and allowed her to run in the barn yard in the fall of the year, applying "Ken-dall's Spavin Cure" according to directions. We did not use her for a month. She was entirely cured, and the banch completely removed, and has never been lame since. We state what we know to be a fact. We have sold 12 dozen bottles in the short time that we have nexted as your accounts.

B J. KENDALL & Co.—Gents: I wish to add my testimony in favor of your invaluable liniment. Kendall's Spavin Cure. In the spring of 1862 I slipped on the ice and sprained my right limb at the knee joint. I was very lame, and, at times, suffered the most exeruciating pain. I wore a bandage on it for over a year, and tried most everything in my reach, but could find nothing that would give me permanent relief. When I overworked, it would pain me very much. In April, 1873, I began to think I should be a cripple for life; but, having some of Kendall's Spavin Cure, thought I would try it. I used one-third of a bottle and experienced relief at once. The pain left me and has not troubled me since. I feel very grateful to you, and would recommend Kendall's Spavin Cure to all who suffer with sprains or rheumatish.
