he was passionately addicted—not for the stakes but game. Mr. Winthrop says that there is a tradition that while Henry Claywas visiting Boston in 1818, and lodging at the old Exchange Coffee House in Congress street, a servant rushed into the parlor in which he was at the whist table with a few gentlemen of the old school, and announced that the hotel was on fire. "Oh, there will be time enough, I think," cried Mr. Clay, "to finish our game;" and finish it they did before the hotel was burned to the ground: A similar tradition was curren in Washington at a later period that while Mr. Clay was Speaker, he and his friends had passed a whole night at cards, and were still going on with their games when the hour was close at hand for the opening of the morning session of Congress. "Wait a few minutes, gentlemen," said Mr. Clay, "and I will wash my face and hands, and run down to the House and call John Taylor to the chair, and then I wi

Yesterday a sparrow was seen to fly to the top of the cornice over the entrance to the building of the Board of Public Works, corner of Jersey avenue and Mercer street, having in its beak a string with a noose at the end. The bird fastened the end of the string on top of the stone, leaving the nonse end hanging and then with seeming deliberation placed his head in the noose and thus hung itself and still remained suspended last evening as a warning to all unimpey sparrows. Whether it was by accident or itesign that the head of the bird caught in the noose, or whether disgusted with the official co ruption or intention to show what fate should befall bad officials and Implous politicians, was the object of the little sparrow's self destruction, will ever remain a mystery. SUMNER AND CARLYLE.-Charles Sum SUMNER AND CARLYLE.—Charles Sum-ner said he was once at breakfast in Lon-don with Bidney Smith and perhaps a dozen others, among them Monekton Milnes, when Smith asked the young Bos-tonian how English literary reputations stood in America. "We sometimes," said Sumner (in 1838-0) "presume to rejudgo your judgments, to refuse a reputation where you rive one, to give a name where where you give one, to give a name where you withhold it." "An example an example!" cried Smith, in his careering style "I said at once," related Sumner, "Carlyle." "Carlyle! We don't know him here; what have you got to say for Car-lyle!" "He seems to me," sald Sumner, "to write as if by flashes of lightning"—a declaration which seemed to surprise all the company except Milnes, who came and gave his card to Sumner, saying, "I am the only man here who values Carlyle."

"My remark," Sumner added, "was reported to Carlyle, and I do not think it dis-pleased him." "Is patriotism dying out?" This query was propounded to Brother Gardner in a letter from New York city, and after taking due time to scratch the whole top of his head, he observed: "Patriotism, as I understan" it, am love of an' dewetion to our kentry. In a general way, we all love our kentry. In de late war we didn't hear one single patriot frowin' de kontry's green backs over his shoulder. Arter de war we all went in for pensions and back pay, expect we war nil patriots, an' I expect i war' rough on de kentry at de same time I can't say dat patriolism am dyln out.

To Whom It May Concern.—In the year 1470 I treated with "Kendall's Spavin Cure," a bone of several months' growth, hearly half as large as a hence egy, and completely stopped the lanceness and removed the enlargement. I have worked the horse ever since very hard, and he gover has been lance, not could I see any difference in the size of the hock founds since 1 treated him with "Kendall's Spain Cure."

B. J. KENDALLA Co., Oents:—I am so overjoyed in view of the result of an application of your kendalls Spavin Cure that I feel that I ought for humanifus sake publish it to the world. About 22 years ago while riding a young uply horse, I was injusted in one of my testicles, and from that time to three weeks ago a slow but constant extract mine to three weeks ago a slow but constant extract mine to three weeks ago a slow but constant extract mine to the result, giving me a great and and of trouble almost entirely preventing me from horse-back riding which was my tend way of naveling. I saw a hottre of your Kendall's Spath Cure, reversible hought of it for any thing except for knotses, but after receiving the medicine and reading over what it was good for, feeling terribly exercised about my difficulty for I had consolted many physications that I couch be onlined to longer to remove it with the limite. I applied your Kendall's Spath Cure as an experiment, and it was so painful in its applications that I coucheded not to repeat it and thought to more at fact if it was go one, with joy I could bardly buffered it was gone, with joy I could bardly buffered; I himmediately applied it again, and have made infall about by dozen applications thuring over a space of two weeks and the terrible enlarge.
