For some it might be about fire or burglary, for ers claustrophobia.

Some might confess to a "thing" about black cats. But many of the phobia-ridden Janes and Johns would be anti-guns — of all sizes, shapes and descriptions.

Some phobias (like devils) take possession of a human being by natural means -- others are induced. Let us say the unreasoning antipathy so guns on the part of otherwise sane people may hardly be considered sponmis-used gun, or even the witness of a gun accident. Most males played with toy guns in their boyhood, with their sisters watching jealously or participating. Many have served in the armed forces, where they not only learned the proper care of guns, but also experienced their unsurpassed value in time of need.

So why all the shudders, shivers and shakes? Here again, the mass media must accept the blame. If a violent crime is perpetrated by a criminal using a gun, the newsman is quick to contend guns (never the triminals who mis-use them) are so, so dangerous. If a violent crime is perpetrated with a hatcher, a knife or bare hands, too bad. Does book-tube Joe blame the harcher, knife or hands? So we come to consideration of the highly-undesirable gun coatrol bill, outlawing handguns, introduced by Democratic Rep. Jonathan Bingham of New York.

Hopefully, it will be buried in the House Committee on the Judiciary.
The hill would "prohibit the importation, manufacture, sale, purchase, transfer, receipt possession or trans-portation, except for or by members of the Armed For-ces, law enforcement officials, and, as authorized by the secretary of the treasury, licensed importers, manufacturers, dealers, antique collectors and pistol One might suppose this bill would safeguard a person from sitting on a crowded bus next to a kook with a loaded revolver, but of course state laws protect Anie.

-First and foremost, no many gun control laws are already on the federal books. Such legislation should never be enacted on the federal level but only, if needed, on the state or municipal level.

-Second, strict gun control laws never prevent criminals from committing crimes with guns.

New York State has a very strict gun control law, the Sullivan Law, which has been in ferce for many years, but no one would contend New York City is a safe place because of it.

Chise fee, including whether or not me opening never to many it is covered;

-An explanation of the national or regional advertising and promotion program from which the franchise musiciness will benefit;

-The requirement for purchasing supplies from the franchisor and commitments concerning the availability of adequate stocks of supplies at competitive prices.

Make sure your entire agreement with the franchisor is in a written contract. Oral agreements should be put in writing. If the franchisor's representative is not with the franchisor in writing. -First and foremost, no many gun control laws it may be true, as the Bingham Bill contends, "fear of firearms crimes discourages citizens from traveling between the states to conduct business or to visit the nation's capital," but "prohibition of . . . handgons" would only make maners vorse. those who might choose to carry a handgun in selflefense would be disarmed, while criminals would have easy access to guns through the black market, or they could steal them from arsenals, from law enforcement personnel, or from members of the Armed Forces. The proposal is rather illogical Under sub-section (c), section I, of the bill, it is alleged, "Most homicides are committed in altercations between relatives, neighbors or other acquaintances, rather than in a con-frontation with strangers.

If that is so, why would "fear of firearms crimes fould one travel with one's relatives and get into a homicidal altercation over who should pay the parkway

The sale of business franchises is a rapidly growing phenomenon in the marketplace. The idea has a strong appeal, since it promises the economic advantages of an established chain combined with the independence of being one's own boss.

or — even worse — have been victimized by a framelest franchise promotion.

Many people dream of owning their own husinesses.
But the hard factofilie is noday's economy is that starting any small business — including a franchise operation — means taking a hig risk. Most new franchise businesses take at least two years to just break even.

Dismiss any franchise promoter who promises quick and easy profits. Instead, make financial plans to cover capital for the franchise fee, at least one year's operating expenses and permunicipants for at least two years.

The right kind of franchise may be the key to heating the odds that are stacked against the success of most new, small husinesses. The basic advantage of laying a franchise is in acquiring the right to self a proven and well-known product. The offer to self a franchise is, in effect, an offer cart. The other to sell a franchise is, in elliet, an other to sell an entablished reputation.

So the most batic question that must be asked is whether the franchise does, in fact, represent the chance to deal in a truly well-known product with a genuine established reputation. A well-managed company with a quality product and the prospect of good growth is the basic ingredient of a successful franchise.

A college scholarship fund was created Aug. 10 in memory of slain Cranford High School student Michelle DeMarzo.

The memorial fund was set up by the Rahway Italian – American Club, according to Anthony Lordi, a spokesman for the club.

"This young girl's hopes and future were brought to an ahrupt and tragic end," said Mr. Lordi. "We want to honor her memory by school senior who "deserves to go on to college but has financial difficulties."

A family spokesman said the scholarship fund is "a beautiful gesture."

The body of the 18-year-old girl was found June 20 in a wooded area behind a conservation center in Cranford.

Police arrested Neil Costantons can be made to the DeMarzo Scholarship fund is "a beautiful gesture."

Mr. Lordi said an initial $50 has been deposited to open the hank account and pledges totaling more than $450 have been made by club members.

When Hidden Costs Turn A Bargain Into A Liability A Here are some exerpts from recent news reports: "Thousands waiting at London airport for stand-by fares." Passengers set up tent city while waiting in 15 mile-long line to get tickets for non-scheduled carriers." Passengers paying extra to stay at hotels while waiting to get home." 'Passengers paying higher airfares to get confirmed seats home." This "travel bergain" quoted a fare of $302 for a scheduled carrier and $248 for a non-scheduled carrier. For the same amount, or a little more, a Here were some other options based upon advanced booking: $299 - Budget Fare (not stand-by fare) $360-$429 - Advance Purchase Excursion (APEX) nese tickets all offerred one huge asset: SEATS WERE CONFIRMED. Paying for extra nights in an airport notel and coping with uncertain flight departures take the joy out of traveling. That's why our agents never recommended or sold this so-called "bargain" for stand-by Our advise is to plan ahead and choose carefully. There's no need to worry about getting back home again when you TRAVEL WISE.
