latt Rinaldo Reform needed now in insanity defense The House Judiciary Committee will continue hear ings early this month on legislative proposals to rewrite the rules governing insanity pleas to prevent felons from hiding behind a defense of mental incompetency. One of the bills that will be taken up by the committee is a measure I have offered which would create an additional verdict of "guilty but insane" in the spirit of a recommendation from President Ronald Reagan's Task Force on Violent Crime. Defendants convicted under this law would still be committed to mental institutions for treatment, but unlike present procedures, they could not be released without court approval. In the case of John Hinckley, Jr., my bill would re quire the federal courts to continue their supervision of his treatment so he could not be released from St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Washington, C. D., without a determination by a federal court he is no longer dangerous to himself or others. This finding would be based on a recommendation by the hospital, but the government also would be represented at the hearing by the attorney-general, who could argue against the release. The decision to free the defendant would have to be based on the preponderance of the evidence. In other words, there would have to be conclusive proof the defendant is no longer a threat to himself and society. Under the guilty-but-insane verdict, a jury would be able to find the defendant to be in need of medical treatment, and also find him guilty of a crime. Another proposal being considered by the Judiciary Committee would shift the burden of guilt so the defense would have to prove insanity beyond the shadow of a doubt, rather than asking the prosecution to prove sanity.

Had this been the case in the Hinckley trial, it is likely the verdict would have gone the other way. It is expected the Judiciary Committee will vote for a to the public. bill this session calling for some reforms. However, it is unclear at this point what specific changes the committee will propose in the insanity plea. The reform of the insanity defense is supported by a large number of responsible professionals, including prominent psychiatrists, leading professors of law, members of the Justice Dept. and a committee of the American Bar Assn. In my view, an overhaul of the insanity plea would promote the integrity of the justice system, protect the community and insure our values are more safely and satisfactorily protected than they were in the Hinckley case. The acquittal of Hinckley has stirred wide-spread interest in legislation to re-write the Criminal Code. Americans are outraged-and rightly so-a man who shot the President of the United States could be found not guilty by reason of insanity, and is eligible for release from medical custody in two months. It is not the fault of the judge or the jury this travesty of justice occurred. The legal rules under which they were operating mandated

If anything, the Hinckley decision illustrates it is about time Congress and the state legislatures took action to make sure this kind of assault on our system cannot oclizabethtown Gas Co. He is long overdue

By next fall you will begin to see dramatic changes in the way juvenile offenders are treated. These changes are long-overdue. They are the result of an exhaustive study made by the Legislature i response to growing juvenile involvement in the crimes, particularly violent offenses. The statistics speak for themselves. In 1980, juvenile arrests for violent crimes increased 12% in New Jersey over the year before. Minors were responsible for 25% of the violent crimes in which arrests were made. Juveniles accounted for close to half-46%-of the arrests for nonviolent crimes that year in New Jersey. Clearly, the present juvenile justice system, which was enacted at a time when the prime concern was stopping petty theft and vandalism by juveniles, is inadequate. For instance, under present laws, the toughest penalv a juvenile can receive for a crime, even murder, is an ntermediate" three-year detention term.

The reform package signed into law by Gov. Thomas H. Kean recently provides for longer detention terms for violent crimes. Murder carries a detention sentence of 20 years and other serious crimes up to four years. The new juvenile justice system, which will go into effect next September, is designed to provide equitable ounishment for offenders.

Those who commit violent crimes or are repeat ofenders would be locked up for a longer time. Those youths who commit petty crimes would be given counseling, instead of detention terms. The other major changes are: -Family-crisis intervention centers would be set up all 21 counties to counsel troubled youths and their

-A family court would be established with authority order parents to become involved in the rehabilitation their children if the court determines the family is contributing to the children's delinquent behavior. -The names of juveniles who commit serious crimes. ncluding extensive property damage, would be released The Legislature spent more than two years developing this new juvenile justice system. Hopefully, it will

There's an Answer!

Doing your best all you can ask

PANGS OF GUILT O. I have pangs of guilt about the way my children live. I have guilt feelings about my 21-year-old daughter who has anorexia and is depressed. I still feel like I have to be her mother, counselor, leaning post, friend-everything always was. I want to be relieved of this ever-present guilt feeling over the way my children have turned out. Not one of them will go to church. My husband and I a tend regularly, and they were brought up to be good Christians. Now they act like atheists. I find it so hard to cope in today's world. A. All any parents can do in the rearing of children is simply to do their best, setting before them a good example, seeking to guide them to right thinking and attitudes. If the children repudiate this when they come of age, they are making choices on their own. You need have no guilt feelings about this outcome. Just be available to them always, and surround them with your love. Concentrate on filling your own mind with positive, hopeful thoughts. Visualize a good outcome for your children. WEIGHT GOES UP O. What is the answer for obesity and overweight in the realm of the mental and spiritual? If what we think and believe, instead of what we eat, has the uppermost effect on our physical bodies, then what is the answer to this problem? In the past four years my weight has gone up drastically, and it scares me. I'm only five-feet, four-inches but my weight is nearly 200 pounds, and I cannot cope A. A good medical checkup is important to begin change from a negative to a positive attitude toward the problem. To do that, picture in your mind precisely what you want to look like, the weight you want to be and exactly when you expect to attain that weight. Affirm, "I can cope. I am coping." Make a habit of flood without cumulatively increasing the water surface elevation more "Mobile home" see definition of "Trailer" in Chapter 27 Zoning, Th use of mobile homes is specifically prohibited in any district of Clark "New Construction" means structures for which the "start of construction" commenced on or after the effective date of this ordinance. "Start of construction" means the first placement of permanent construction of a structure (other than a mobile home) on a site, such as the pouring of slabs or footings or any work beyond the stage of excavation Permanent construction does not include land preparation, such a clearing, grading, and filling, nor does it include the installation of street and/or walkways; nor does it include excavation for a basement otings, piers or foundations or the erection of temporary forms; no does it include the installation on the property of accessory buildings such as garages or shed not occupied as dwelling units or not as part of the main structure. For a structure (other than a mobile home) without a basement or poured footings, the "start of construction" includes the mobile home parks or mobile home subdividions, "start of construction" is the date on which the construction of facilities for servicing the site on which the mobile home is to be affixed (including, at a minimum, the con struction of streets, either final site grading or the pouring of concrete pads, and installlation of utilities) is completed. "Structure" means a walled and roofed building that is principally above ground, as well as a mobile home. "Substantial improvement" means any repair, reconstruction, or im provement of a structure, the cost of which equals or exceeds 50 per cent of the market value of the structure either. (1) before the improvement or repair is started, or park or mobile home subdivision, "start of construction" means the affix

(1) ANCHORING (i) All New construction and substantial improvements shall be an chored to prevent flotation, collapse or lateral movement of the struc-(ii) All mobile homes shall be anchored to resist flotation, collapse, or lateral movement by providing over-the-top and frame ties to ground an chors. Specific requirements shall be that: mobile home, with two additional tiers per side at intermediate locations and mobile homes less than 50 feet long requiring one additional tie per (b) frame ties be provided at each corner of the home with five additional ties per side at intermediate points and mobile homes less than 50 feet ong requiring four additional ties per side; (c) all components of the anchoring system be capable of carrying force of 4,800 pounds; and, (d) and additions to the mobile home be similarly anchored. (2) CONSTRUCTION MATERIALS AND METHODS

(i) All New construction and substantial improvements shall be con structed with materials and utility equipment resistant to flood damage (ii) All new construction of substantial imporvements shall be con structed by methods and practices that minimize flood damage. (3) UTILITIES (i) All new and replacement water supply systems shall be designed to ninimize or eliminate infiltration of flood waters into the system; (ii) New and replacement sanitary sewage systems shall be designed o minimize or eliminate inflitration of flood waters into the systems and discharges from the systems into flood waters; and.

(III) On-site waste disposal systems shall be located to avoid impair. ment/to them or contamination from them during flooding. (d) SUBDIVISION PROPOSALS (i) All subdivision proposals shall be consistent with the need if (ii) All subdivision proposals shall have public utilities and facilities such as power, gas, electrical and water systems located and constructed to minimize flood damage. (III) All subdivision proposals shall have adeq reduce exposure to flood damage.

(w) Base flood elevation data shall be provided for sub-division propossis and office proposed development which is greater than the lesser of 50 lots or 5 acres (b) SPECIFIC STANDARDSin all areas of special flood hazards where base flood elevation data has been provided as set forth in Section 8-11 (b) BASIS FOR ESTABLISHING THE AREAS OF SPECIAL FLOOD HAZARD or Section 8-12 (c) (2) USE OF OTHER BASE FLOOD DATA, the following standards are required

New construction or substantial improvement of any residential struc ture shall have the lowest floor, including basement, elevated one foot above the base flood elevation. 12) Non-Residential Construction New construction or substantial improvement of any commercial, in dustrial or other non-residential structure shall either have the lowest "flowr, including basement, elevated one foot above the base flood eleva--tion or, together with attendant utility and sanitary facilities, be flood proofed so that below the base flood level the structure is water-tight with walls substantially impermeable to the passage of water and with *structural components having the capability of resisting hydrostatic and hydrodynamic loads and effects of buoyancy. A registered professional engineer or architect shall certify that the standards of this subsection are satisfied. Such certification shall be provided to the official as setforth in Section 8-12 (c) (3) (ii). To FLOODWAYS

Located within areas of special flood hazard established in Section8-11 (b) are areas designated as floodways. Since the floodway is an extremely hazardous area due to the velocity of floodwaters which carry debris. tential projectiles, and erosion potential, the following provisions ap-

(1) prohibit encroachments, including fill, new construction, substan ital improvements, and other development unless a technical evaluation demonstrates that encroachments shall not result in any increase in lood levels during the occurrence of the base flood discharge (2) If Section 8-13 (c) (1) is satisfied, all new construction and substan tial improvements shall comply with all applicable flood hazard reduc tion provisions of Section 8-13 PROVISIONS FOR FLOOD HAZARD (3) Prohibit the placement of any mobile homes, except in an exist! mobile home park or existing mobile home subdivision.

(4) In all areas of special flood hazard in which base flood elevation data has been provided and no floodway has been designated, the cumulative effect of any proposed development, when combined with all other existing and anticipated development, shall not increase the water surface elevation of the base flood more than two-tenths (0.2) of a foot at any point (5) Prohibit the following (i) Placing, depositing or dumping any solid waste,gargage, refuse, trash, rubbish, or debris, (ii) Dumping or discarding untreated domestic sewage or industria waste either solid or liquid; (iii) The storage or disposal of pesticides (Iv) The storage or processing of materials that are in time of flooding buoyant, flammable or explosive; (v) The storage or processing of hazardous materials that could be inturious in time of flooding to human, animal or plant life. (vi) The erection of structures for human occupancy (6) The following uses are expressly prohibited within a delineated flood fringe area: (i) Placing, depositing or dumping any solid waste, garbage, refuse,
