PHUNNY-GRAPHS.

One-half of the world doesn't know how to hold their hats.—Quincy Adams.

There is lots of room out doors, and it is on the ground floor.—New Haven Register.

How to politicians—Millers make good party men. They are generally honest.

How to hold a squirrel—Put a squirrel on top of a squirrel tree.

Vision is either gold, and that accounts for its being so rare.—Cin-

Saturday Night.

The best design can hardly be more easily copied—Copy the piece of furniture.

The part softest—the shorter it is the better it is.—New Haven Register.

All signs fail in time of drought to interest a man, even such as are inspired "Baldon" or "Simple Simon."

There's a great deal in having a wining way, but more in being able to make money.—Tomeo Sentinel.

"Come and ram me." I could little else do but look on him.

Heaven help us!—The man fair—Marathon

Independent.

This image is a scan of a historical newspaper page from November 4, 1860. The page is filled with numerous small, dense advertisements. At the top left, there's an ad for 'The National Democrat' and 'THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON'. The main body of the page contains ads for various medical products like 'HOLMAN'S PAD', 'KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE', 'SCOVILL'S BLOOD & LIVER SYRUP', and 'W.M.A. VESCELIUS'. There are also ads for 'RENOVATE YOUR FEATHER BEDS', 'THERMALINE', and 'COSTAR'S EXTERMINATORS'. The right side features large, bold ads for 'MARSHALL & BALL' and 'M'GREGOR & CO.', both offering 'CLOTHING!' and 'ONE-PRICE CLOTHIERS'. At the bottom, there's a prominent circular seal for 'THE HOME SAVING LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY' and an ad for 'GOLD' insurance.
