> EDITOR PUBLISHER AND PROPRIETOR. FOR OVER TWENTY YEARS.

Two dimpled hands the bars of iron grasped;

Strange were the sights she saw across the war-And as she watched, amid the silence hushed, The little watcher at the garden gate Grew tearful, hers such thoughts and wonder-

lugs were, Till sald the nurse: "Come here, dear child, We all must go. 'Tis God has sent for her." "If he should send for me"—thus spoke the "I'll have to tell the angel, Do not wait,

Though God has sent for me, I cannot come, I never go beyond the garden gate.""

Secret of my Footstool. My brother gave his work a final polish, and then viewed the valuable articles approvingly before placing them in their softly-padded case. "Think they look well, little woman? he asked. "I think they do, indeed," I answered in unqualified admiration, for Ted was a capital workman, and had mended the pretty trinkets very skillfully. "I am sure Mr. Bailey will be pleased. The owner herself would be puzzled to detect where she damaged them." Ted smiled; then, as he did not intend to take them back to the shop until the return of his employer, which would not be till the morrow, he deposited both the jeweled bracelets in his customary "non-burglar-proof safe," as he jokingly called a small, strong, square box which inside and out, and covered with chints to match our sofa. He made use of this as a footstool, saying that evil-disposed persons would be the less likely to examine it; and many a jest he had about his placing gems under my feet, and about me being a small person with a high mind, for I set my foot upon gold, and the like nonsense. Dear old Ted! He was so clever at his trade, and so trustworthy, that be had always more work than he could get through. He was very fond of me-his poor little crippled sister-would never allow me to sit too long at my needle, and shared with me in every possible way the little duties necessitated by our humble menage; so he and I jogged along very peaceably. We lodged in two rooms in a quiet street on the outskirts of Bridgepool. Our landlady was a kindly old body who had known our parents long before either Ted or I found ourselves on this world's stage. Having put away the bracelets safely, my brother next packed up three or four watches he had been busy setting to rights, and prepared to go to the shop in Bridgepool which usually employed him. I watched him putting on his overcoat, for the day was very cold; but he seemed slow in his movements. and I thought he was reluctant to leave me alone, for, though I was generally active enough, considering my infirmity. one of my bad spells was now on me. when, as he knew. I found moving about a pain and a difficulty for some days. It happened, too, that Mrs. Brown-our inndially-had gone out for the day-a very rare occurrence. "Can I do anything else for you before I go?" he asked.

"No. Ted. dear, thank you. "Make sure; look round and see if everything is put handy for you," said my brother, placing my crutch a little "Everything," I replied, cheerfully. "And I've such a lot of work to get through I shall find the afternoon short." "I don't half like your being left alone so long, for I may not be back before five," said Ted, eyeing me dubiously.

"Cousin Milly would come round if I asked her."

"Yes, and bring her baby, who would hinder my work sadly. I don't like babies when I am busy. Go away, Ted. you dear old fellow! Don't bother about me-I shall be all right." "Well, by-by, little woman," he said. stooping to kiss me; "I'll be home as soon as I can. "And, Bessie," he added, pausing in the doorway, "be sure you don't touch the window to day.

The sash line snapped this morning. I must send a carpenter to see to it. You will remember?" I promised that I would, and my brother departed. I heard him go down stairs and shut the street door. At first the unusual quiet of the house was rather depressing; but I soon became too much engrossed in sewing to pay attention to that and stitched away busily at some things I was completing for a lady who was kind enough to praise my needlework, preferring it, as many did, to machine-stitched articles. Presently I thought I heard a slight

He grinned at me as he remarked:

"Now, you know, ducky, I wouldn't have served you so if you'd have the sense to keep quiet. I never could bear to be rough to the ladies—never! But time is short, and you might have been hard to persuade; so perhaps it is the best way after all." While speaking thus the flippont rascal kept running his eyes around our neat little room. I read disdain in his glance, and at that moment a suspicion darted fato my mind that he had come with the object of stealing some of Ted's work perhaps the jeweled bracelets which then were under my feet. With this thought there came to me a firm resolve to save my brother such a loss, if I possibly could; ay, even

Being unable to speak, Lyet tried to groun, and made some inarticulate noises, but I could hardly hope the old man heard them, as he was somewhat deaf. As for my companion in misfortune, one would suppose he would gladly have bailed a prison as an escape from such a plight as he was in, and so, no doubt, he would, only he had no choice at that moment, having gone off again in a heavy swoon. I heard the corpenter go down stairs and hopes of relief died away in my breast. Oh, Joy, Joy, why did you come to mock me thus? Two more hours probably before Ted will be home! A convict sleeping in one bunk of a hundrad, shod and olad precisely as the hundred convicts about him, may slip his chain and fice. Ten miles away he may meet his fellow prisoners again, may run to and fro among them, may walk with them a mile and leave them. FOUR DON'TS!

A little girl when recently asked her name said it was "Minnie Don't." Her mother so frequently said "Don't" to her that she thought it was her name. Still, it's a good word in its way, and we want to all your attention to four things which please don't do

1sr. DON'T imagine, when you want to purchase Clothing, that it makes little difference where you buy. It makes a big difference, unless you are overrun with money. Prices are not the same everywhere. Almost any store has its $10, $12 or $15 Suit; but, the quality for the money—there is where the difference comes in. Why, we owe one-half of our success to comparisons made between our goods and others It pays to shop. But, if you dislike shopping, why buy of us at once, and we will have your custom as long as you

2ND. DON'T suppose that all that looks like wool is so. They have got the thing down so fine now that an expert can hardly tell the difference. Wool has got to grow on a sheep's back; and that's where the wool comes from of which our all-wool Suits are made. You may not be able to see the difference between ours and some others at the same price; but you'll find it out in the wear--"and DON"T you forget it."

3RD. DON'T believe, or buy any goods of anylody who professes to sell at half cost. It can't be don. A merchant can no more sell you a Suit at less than cost-unless it's an old style, shop-worn thing he would be almost glad to give away—than you can afford to work for half a day's pay. We make no such foolish professions, but promise to give you the best value for your money that can be offered by any one who pays a fair price for the labor of manufacture and seeks only a fair profit.

4TH. DON'T take it for granted that all clothes fit alike. They don't. A famous London tailor said he "could take a meal sack and make a Suit worthy of a gentleman's wear." He meant that it would fit so well that the quality of the material would escape notice. And there is a good deal in the way a Suit fits, not only in appearance, but also in the wear. If we were to extol our garments half as highly as many of them do, you buyers would thing we were blowing. Call and inspect them once, and you'll think they are up to the average of custom work. MOCKEGOR & CO. CLOTHE BRE

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily glown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote comitries, where they had never made an offert for The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and embles them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not translent, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes
