DUNRAVEN RANCH.

A Story of American Frontier Life.
By CAPT. CHARLES KING, U. S. A.,
AUTHOR OF "THE COLONEL'S DAUGHTER," "FROM THE RAINBOW,"
"THE DESERTER," ETC.

Copyrighted, 1889, by J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia, and Published by Special Arrangement through the American Press Association.

"There was absolutely nothing in it—nothing! Well, captain, stammered poor Ned, 'I don't know how to say what I want to say.' He wanted to say there was nothing in that interview which could possibly be criticised, but it suddenly occurred to him that the contrary was a good deal. Then he desired to assure the captain that, so far as he was concerned, there wasn't a suspicion of anything being wrong. He said that he would be sure to give the lady a certain invitation, and he would not permit her to be disappointed."

"You do not understand," he said reproachfully. "You do not care. I am not a hunter. I am a soldier. I will have no more long talks and lachrymose things."

"You do not understand," he said reproachfully. "You do not care. I am not a hunter. I am a soldier. I will have no more long talks and lachrymose things."

"You do not understand," he said reproachfully. "You do not care. I am not a hunter. I am a soldier. I will have no more long talks and lachrymose things."

"You do not understand," he said reproachfully. "You do not care. I am not a hunter. I am a soldier. I will have no more long talks and lachrymose things."
