LESSON XII, SECOND QUARTER, IN-TERNATIONAL SERIES, JUNE 22.

Rest of the Lesson, Luke 11, 22-24—Commentary by Rev. J. M. Stewart, (Copyrighted by Lesson Help Quarterly by permission of B. S. Hottel, Publisher.)

"And He said unto His disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Be not anxious for your life, what ye shall eat; nor yet for your body,
what ye shall put on: (for) the provision which ye shall put on (for) the day, shall be added unto you: but be ye anxious for the kingdom of God, and these things shall be added unto you."

"But I say unto you, Be not anxious for the things of the world, for the world is passing away, and the things thereof: but be ye anxious for the kingdom of God, for that which endureth forever."

"Therefore I say unto you, Whosoever will be first in the kingdom of God, let him be last of all, and servant of all."

"Whoever will be great in the kingdom of God, let him be the least of all, and
the servant of all."

"Whoever will be first in the kingdom of God, let him be last of all, and
the servant of all."

FRUSTRATED GRAPES

In the same way that the grapes are frustrated in their growth, the farmer is frustrated in his efforts to get a fair price for his produce. The market is flooded with grapes, and the price is low. The farmer is at a loss as to what to do.

It is a common sight to see a farmer standing in his field, looking at his grapes with a sad expression. He has worked hard and long, and now he is to be rewarded with a low price for his produce. This is the frustration of the farmer.

The farmer is not alone in his frustration. The merchant is also frustrated. He has bought the grapes at a low price, and now he is to be rewarded with a low price for them. This is the frustration of the merchant.

The consumer is also frustrated. He has to pay a high price for the grapes, and he has to eat them. This is the frustration of the consumer.

The government is also frustrated. It has to regulate the market, and it has to pay for the grapes. This is the frustration of the government.

The farmer, the merchant, the consumer, and the government are all frustrated. This is the frustration of the market.

The farmer, the merchant, the consumer, and the government are all frustrated. This is the frustration of the market.
