Council Agrees to Assist

County Narcotics Force Participation by Rahway in the creation of a Union County Narcotics Strike Force within the county's Crime Control Unit was authorized by unamimous vote of the Municipal Council on Monday night in City Hall.

The resolution adopted by the governing body provides for lesignation of at least one member of the Rahway Police Department to be a member of the Narcotics Strike Force. The member will be selected by Union County Proseculor Karl Asch and Police Chief Herbert Kinch. The resolution states that 100 per cent of the policeman's time shall be applied to narcotics enforcement at the municipal and county level, and that the city will be responsible for full pay, allowances and benefits of the policeman while assigned to the county force. Approval of a grant amounting to $110,632 by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, United States Department of Justice, to the New Jersey State Law Enforcement Planning Agency was noted in the resolution. The money was given as a subgrant to the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders for organization of the Union County Crime Control

Unit. The unit will be composed of county and municipal Part of the funds granted will be used to establish and to equip mobile crime laboratory which will be made available to all municipalities in the county. The municipalities, however, must certify their participation and cooperation. An ordinance prohibiting persons under the age of 21 from frequenting, loitering or remaining with a parent or guardian on premises used for the sale, service or consumption of alcoholic beverages was adopted by unanimous vote. The pro-vision does not apply to bona fide restaurants, to guest rooms or to private and public dining rooms in hotels. The ordinance also prohibits any person owning or operating places where alcoholic beverages are sold from permitting minors to remain on the premises unless accompanied by An ordinance prohibiting parking on both sides of Elizabeth Avenue between Main Street and the Linden city line on Mondays between 7 a.m. and noon was adopted. The governing body adjourned until Monday, July 12, at 8 p.m. action on a proposed ordinance establishing fire limits for the city. It was stated on Monday night that information desired such structures. He said duplex houses are prohibited by city ordinance. Councilman Crowell commented that the area where the houses would be allowed is not large and that it is located between the present row of houses on E. Hazelwood Avenue and the Rahway River, Mr. Lawrence replied

'That's all the more reason

I'm against it." Raymond Handerhan, executive director of the Rahway Redevelopment Agency said individual ownership of the duplex houses is possible - that pride of ownership could e installed in purchasers and that new dwellings would provide homes for persons who must be relocated because of redevelopment projects.

Kenneth Tredwell, ientified himself as the chairman for the houses to be built in the redevelopment area, said the dwellings would be of brick construction. He pointed out that nouses were razed 10 years ago as a result of the Lower Main Street Urban Renewal Project and that no new houses have been built so the occupants could be relocated. He declared that pride of ownership would be instilled in the purchasers of the new iwellings,

Wilbur Hooper, a Board of Adjustment member, said it is the Redevelopment Agency's responsibility to relocate the former residents of the Main Street area and declared that relocation is "long overdue." In reply to Mr. Lawrence's question about the proposed tax structure for the new duplex houses, Mr. Handerhan answered that 15 per cent of the gross rent would then asked what rents will be charged. Councilman Crowell said a two-bedroom unit will rent for $158 a month, a three-bedroom unit for $180 a month and four-bedroom unit for $206. Charles Brown of the Rahway Community Action Organization, who spoke in favor of the ordinance, said occupants of the houses would be "quite a tax break" and receive agovernment subsidy so they could afford the new dwellings. Mr. Handerhan stated that no more than 20 per cent of the occupants would be entitled to rent subsidy. Mr. Tredwell added that there would be no difficulty in renting the houses. Councilman Donovan asked how many units are propose for the area and also asked about controls on the builder Mr. Handerhan replied that 48 dwelling units are proposed for the two and a halfacre site. The agency director pointed out that building construction would be subject to Federal Housing Administration supervision and also to inspection by the city's building inspector. IN THIS ISSUE Armed Forces...... Church News. Classified.....

The proposed storm sewers for the 51 one-family dwellings were deacribed by Mr. Lawrence who said the water would be piped to Robinson's Branch of the Rahway River. Mr. Lawrecne also stated that the existing contures of the property would be maintained and that the builder would seek to preserve rrees whenever possibly Arrhur J. DeLorenzo of 1230 Farrell Terrace questioned Mr. Lawrence as to whether the sewers would be adequate. Mr. Halpern stated that houses in the project would range between $55,000 and $60,000. He declared that he is proud of the property and that it is in his interest to create a "fine residential development." Mr. Clarke announced that the preliminary plan was submitted to the Union County Planning Board and that the board replied in a letter dated June 15 that it approved the plans. The county board suggested the builder work with the city engineer on grading and that as many trees as possible be saved. The board-also suggested that driveways he constructed on the new streets or on Stone Street rather than on St. George and efferson Avenues. George Argast of 212 Central Avenue, assistant director of Rahway Hospital, expressed objections about having the new streets run between St. George and Jefferson Avenues. The nospital property is on the opposite side of Jefferson Avenue from the Searles property. Mr. Argast suggested a traffic study be made. Mr. Lawrence said no study is required adding that driveways exist on all streets and that the two new streets would not create an unusual situation. Mayor Martin suggested that Halbel Inc. and the prospective purchaser of the Coles property might negotiate a transfer of property to Halbel would have additional lots rather than a lot 653 feet long.

J.C. Foulks Named Head Of Redevelopment Agency

John C. Foulks of 200 Jensen Ave., Rahway, was elected chairman of the Rahway Redevelopment Agency at the monthly meeting last Thursday night. Mr. Foulks succeeds Albert F. Goetz who had served as chairman of the agency since its organization a decade ago. Joseph G. Meffe was elected vice chairman. A new member was appointed to the agency by the Municipal Council at Monday night's meeting in City Hall. Miss Anne Kinch was named to a five-year term commencing Friday, June 25. She succeeds J. Travis Corey whose term expires. Miss Kinch and Frank Martin, a former member, were appointed to the agency by the Municipal Council in January when the governing body rescinded the appointments of former Councilman Ray A. Glacobbe and Alfred Caravella, who were named to the agency the previous month. Mr. Glacobbe and Mr. Caravella filed suit to retain their memberships on the agency. Superior Court Judge Walter L. Herfield 3rd ruled in May that Mr. Giacobbe and Mr. Caravella were appointed legally and should be reinstated as members. The Council on Monday night extended the life of the agency's 1970 budget for another month because the agency had not been able to conduct such business while the suit was pending. The next meeting of the agency will be held on Thursday,--July 8, in the new offices located in the former Post Office building on Esterbrook Avenue.

Essay Contest Winners Given Auxiliary Prizes

Winners of the essay contest. "What the American Flag Means to Me." were Frank Miranda, a fifth grade pupil in Madison-School, Rahway; Pilar Garcia, a fifth grade pupil in Franklin School, Rahway, and Alison Mihlik, a fourth grade pupil in St. Mary's School, Rahway, the Ladies Auxiliary of Mulvey-Ditmars Post No. 681, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has announced. The contest was open to all fourth and fifth grade students in Rahway schools on a voluntary basis. All of the winners, who had never entered a contest previously, were awarded prizes of $10, $5 and $3. Presentation of the awards was made by Mrs. Dolores Fenton, auxiliary president, with the assistance of Mrs. Ellen Szollar, chairman, on Memorial Day before a gathering of the winners' families and friends. The winners also received conies of "The Book of Freedom" from the auxiliary. The winning essay of Pilar Garcia follows: The American Flag mean a lot to me. It tells me I am free to speak and free to toll lt is amazing what that red, white, and blue piece of cloth can do. Oh no! that is not an ordinary piece of cloth to me. No, sirt it means freedom and an honor to have it. It means respect and we should give it respect.'I should know the meaning of freedom and the meaning of the flag because I have my family in an unfree country - CUBA where they don't have food or freedom or a flag to respect or a country to believe in. They can't say anything about their flag or their unfree country. So when you look or salute the flag you should honor it and think about other people and countries that don't have a flag like our flag - "A Free Flag"! Here is a poem that I made up about our wonderful flag. OUR FLAG The American Flag is Always True We should honor it and defend it tool to decry the Puritan Ethic as a relic of the dead past

Of course, if one believes that there is no longer a need for a moral and spiritual foundation in all areas of life, he does not hesitate to build his entire future in But how different were the Puritans! There living was rooted firmly and emphatically in the spiritual edged that man's central experience is an awareness their opponents to join them a founder of the club, served

It was because of their unbending loyalty to God and area of political contribu-ties Commandments that the Divite to God and area of political contribulis Commandments that the Puritans dared to oppose earthly monarchies, and their abiding faith in individual liberty became the cornerstone of American heritage. In the Holy Bible, which they accepted as the Word of

The importance of useful work was recognized by the Puritans, as it is by the majority of Americans today. Idleness was a sin. Carelessness and wastefulness of time, money, energy or skill were vigorously condemned in Puritan society, and frugality extolled. For Puritans, the life of the hedonist was sacriligious since they were convinced that man was created in the image of God and his, 'chief purpose is to glorify Him forever." Rich spiritual blessings would accrue to the honest,

MORE PRODUCTION-LESS INFLATION The government can control the money supply and government spending, but the rest of the economic jig-saw puzzle is put together by millions of individual and company decision-makers who decide whether to buy, build, employ, work, and produce. Central control of all the economic factors. as some propose, not only would be against our history and tradition, but almost certainly would not work in the long run. The National Commission on Productivity (which will suggest ways of lowering prices through increased industrial productivity) and the Regulations and Purchasing Review Board (which will examine the government's contribution to inflation) have been created by the President to give all of us information about the economy.

We should be able to make more informed judgments as the result of the publicity which these two new commissions will give both to the reasons for wage and price increases and to the effects of government spending and monetary restraints. Meanwhile we can work to increase our personal productivity whatever our job might be.

May Day in Lustleigh;

Lustleigh is a picturesque village on Dartmoor in Devonshire, England, Shops surrounding the church in the center of the village have thatched roofs and stone walls, and most of the latter are white, but those of the tea-shop are primrose yellow. The place attracts visitors from far and near and those lucky enough to be in the vicinity on May Day are assured of a special treat. Lustleigh, you see, celebrates the day with traditional festivity. My husband and heard about this when we were exploring the area late in April, so we decided to witness the proceedings our-

the rector, in colorful robes, awaited the arrival of a procession slowly wending its way uphill. First came the Newton Abbot Town Band, tunefully heralding the approach of the May Queen. Shielded from the sun by a floral canopy proudly borne by attendant children, she was about 12 years old, dressed simply in white, and surrounded by boys and girls -from toddlers to early-teenagers. All carried posies. The girls, too, were clothed in white but, unlike the bareheaded May Queen, they wore garlands in their hair. Queen took her place in silent dignity at the top of wide semicircular steps in front of a lych-gate. Their faces

All were silenced when the rector raised his voice in greeting and blessing. After short but appropriate prayers, the children sang traditional songs. Then the procession re-formed and noved off to the nearby recreation ground, a delightful place in an old orchard. Here, the May Queen was seated on a small stone throne on the flat top of an enormous granite rock. Proclaiming her royalty, one of the boys placed a floral crown upon her head. Her name was already carved on the side of the rock, beneath the names of previous May Queens. Her retinue -- seemingly the entire luvenile population of the village -- now presented their posies, placing them on the grass below the rock. This touching little ceremony was followed by maypole dancing, The toddlers stood with backs toward the white pol with its revolving top and gay ribbon-streamers. Each ot clutched a streamer and hopped up and down, It lidn't matter that some were too small to use each leg alternately and could only manage to hop on the same leg hroughout the dance. The audience loved them anyway. The bigger children, their steamers extended as they took their places in a wide circle, commenced to dance c-played by the faithful hand. As the dance progressed, the streamers twined in pattern around the maypole, to be unwound later by a reverse sequence of the same dance. One pattern formed a complicated lattice-work umbrella and received resounding applause from the appreciative audience.

About 200 people lined the road outside the church as At the church, the procession stopped and the May otemm and expectant, the children clustered beside her, while onlookers clicked away with cameras poised,

I suppose there are people who would frown on the afternoon's simple celebration, perhaps recalling an-cient fertility rites and seeing in the Maypole a significance which wouldn't occur to most; but I doubt if anyone present spared a thought for the possibly paganorigin-of-the-festivities.
