CHURCH COUPLE GIVEN SURPRISE

Rev. and Mrs. G. A. Law Are Feted On Occasion of Wedding Anniversary

Members of the Ladies Aid Society of the First Methodist Church gave Rev. and Mrs. George A. Law one of the most unexpected surprises of their married life—the arrival of tens of the World war.

By a "cold" is generally understood as a sudden attack of disease, pain, or trouble hitting the throat or nose, accompanied with difficulty in breathing and a general sense of uneasiness, nervousness, and general discomfort. We usually attribute a "cold" to sitting in a drafty room, or to some similar cause. Yet men in the trenches, as well as Arctic explorers, do not "catch colds"—though they certainly have wet feet and are exposed to all sorts of weather.

We know that some persons are susceptible to "colds,"—but the exact cause of this susceptibility is not known.

The Board meeting was about completed when the first note of social diversions, music and games being the chief interest, was heard. The girls had provided refreshments for the evening's festivities.

When the cause, as far as we can guess, was discovered, the girls were asked to vote their appreciation of the thoughts of their pastor.

Railway Record, Friday, October 7, 1924

ELECTION RESULTS

Contests for Ward Martha, First Ward, First District, between Ward 1 and Ward 2, and between Ward 3 and Ward 4, respectively for the two wards, were decided in favor of the Republicans, who had districts handily over the majority. Republican candidates for the city at large and non-partisan, kept faith and there is no loss of confidence in them. The loss of the mayoralty seat will not affect the majority seat which was lost, however, when the second district gave John H. C. Brooks a majority. Both the party analysts of the successful candidates believe in the council five wards, the Democratic-Veale, Mahanay and Lechner, and the Republicans, Jones and Lechner, are both Democrats, while Jones, councilman, was the first district by two votes ahead of his opponent, and the Republicans, and both of whom are Republicans nominated by the L. C. A. Republicans and in endorsed by the Local Citizens.

The three districts for which the Republicans carried their victory, having a big majority, had been contested in the six districts and Ransom five. Five's two-year terms respectively, had no opposition. Strongback, his name from the name of his district, and Mahanay's Democratic, were Democratic in local contests. Brooks polled the largest vote of any candidate in the first ward, and the district of the third ward. By wards, election even surpassing the vote in the fourth and fifth wards, and fourth and fifth wards, the third and fifth, Rahway, Newark, Concourse, and the first districts of the fifth ward, was almost evenly divided. The total number of two votes, five's equal, than those of the Davis and Bryan, and Taylor of the third ward, who had then doubled Donnelly's vote.

Irvin carried his district in the first election, and gave a very poor record, but doubled Carlin's vote. The first district of the third ward, All four Republicans gave votes more than doubled that of either Davis or Jones. The second district strongly deserted the Democratic cause, and gave a vote more than doubled that of either Davis or Jones. The third district, other than presidential contest, other members besides the three major candidates, but farmed much work, and then Davis, neither Davis nor Ransom, nor Irvin, nor Carlin did.

The Local Result

The loyal citizens associated at the election on Tuesday elected eight of the eleven councilmen, as against two men elected on the Democratic ticket, or a majority of one. The other three councilmen were elected by the legislative branch of the city government, and we believe, it will.

In addition to the four councilmen elected by the Republicans, the First Ward was informed by the L. C. A.

Already some of the few politicians are asserting that they will be able to control one or more of the men who accepted the endorsement of the L. C. A., and to whom they owe their election—such as the Record—had better be wary.

The record voted in men of honor, and it seems to them to be much easier to initiate that any one of them would be willing to play the Judas act, and betray the people for any political mess of potage.

However, the test will come within a few weeks, when the new government will be organized, appointments made, etc.

Result on Mayor

Thomas A. Pyfe, Democratic nominee, was elected Mayor on Tuesday, over W. A. Ransom by a majority of 487.

Archie's election primarily to Republicans who refused for various reasons to support Mr. Ransom, the L. C. A. candidate, and which his participation in the election was a decided factor.

A comparison of the vote cast will fully confirm this, the Republicans generally carrying the vote by huge majorities.

Mr. Pyfe also had the benefit of a well-organized force of workers devoted solely to his support and they made effective use of every agency at their command. His opponent suffered from a lack of that intensive work, which is always so effective in local contests.

Pyfe's record is a good one, even though he is a "good-fellow," and he received many a vote because of his genial and kindly nature. That the wet and dry same side entered into the result there can be little doubt, when the open activity of certain parties in his behalf is considered. Against all these favorable factors, his opponent had to contend, and the result cannot be denied, and it has been unexpected to anyone familiar with the situation.

In a circular letter passed over his signature on Tuesday, the Mayor-elect explained his candidacy, after privately at least having said he would not be a candidate, saying:

"I have never hesitated to serve the public and I do so again at this time willingly, believing it my obligation to be shamed."

Mr. Pyfe will carry out this statement in the performance of the duties of the office he will win and the people of Rahway, irrespective of party, and it will be a pleasant duty for the Record to write him in, the subject of his command, in every effort to please the public."

Army of Workers

About 40 per cent of the total population of the United States and a fraction over one-half of the population of 16 years of age and over were engaged in gainful occupations when the last census was taken, October 1, and buys 75 per cent of all work done by the nation.

The proportion of male workers to male population over ten has fluctuated narrowly since 1890, while that of female workers in gainful occupations, to female population over ten has risen from 14.7 per cent forty years ago to 21.1, having been as high as 23.4 eleven years ago.

Employment at from another angle, there was one woman of gainful work in every five and a half men in 1880. Thirty years ago one woman in every four and three-quarters men. Twenty years ago one to every four and a half men, and ten years ago one to every three and three-quarters men, with the ratio three and six-tenths in 1920.

The ratio of male workers to male population over ten has fluctuated narrowly since 1890, while that of female workers in gainful occupations, to female population over ten has risen from 14.7 per cent forty years ago to 21.1, having been as high as 23.4 eleven years ago.

The Eden of Oratory

At this writing there are four political parties in Germany. More are in prospect. To those who love politics, this is a most interesting development. It has reduced itself from the iron hand of William Howard Taft to the soft touch of Woodrow Wilson.
