Electric Servants Help to Shorten Each Day's Housework

Monday Isn't to Be Dreaded When a THOR Does the Washing

The biggest pile of soiled clothes doesn't dismay the housekeeper who employs a Thor. She knows what this washer can do. She knows that the revolving-reversing cylinder, dashing hot soapy water through the clothes will-dislodge-all-the-dirt, and the clothes come out clean and fresh.

The wringer rollers are of soft rubber into which buttons and fasteners sink, and are not even

No dirt or grease adheres to the luminoid cylinder. Its perforations

The Thor is finished with white Duco-the new lacquer used on the finest cars. It does not show water marks.

Don't Save All Tuesday for Ironing The THOR Presses Clothes Quickly

Just a few hours in the morning and the ironing is finished. No work on your part but to sit before the Thor and guide the pieces

There's a satisfaction in the splen-did work the Thor does. It adds a gloss to linens, puts a finish on em-broidered pieces and skillfully presses frills and ruffles.

It will not injure the most delicate materials. Nothing is torn or pulled. There's an automatic spring which adjusts the rollers to thin materials or heavy pieces.
