Chapel for American Cemetery at Romagne, France

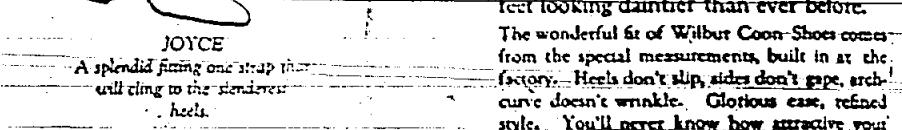

This is the design approved by the American battle monuments commission, headed by General Pershing, for the memorial chapel to be erected in the American cemetery at Romagne, France, where many who fell in the Meuse Argonne fighting are buried. The design is by York and Sawyer of New York.

The Poor Man's Sport
Track athletes, especially distance runners, is the poor man's sport. He needs only his shoes, his cheap running suit and a place to stretch a leg. Most distance men have no trainers, and must prepare themselves until they can make a separation. They usually work hard all day, either in shops or at desks, and must therefore use their leisure for training—performing the need in the outlook.

Every day women tell us, "No, don't take off these new shoes. They're too comfortable." And our they walk, smiling, their feet looking daintier than ever before. The wonderful fit of Wilbur Coon Shoes comes from the special measurements built in at the factory. Heels don't slip, sides don't give, arch curve doesn't wrinkle. Clotious can't resist. You'll never know how attractive your feet can look until you try on a pair.

Foreign Calls for Help Answered by Red Cross

Despite the unusual requirements of relief in 77 disaster-stricken United States, the people of the country, through the American Red Cross, extend relief to sufferers in 20 disasters in foreign lands.

These included 12 in the West Indies, devastating portions of Cuba, Santo Domingo, Porto Rico, the life of Puerto Rico, and other islands in the group; fires in Haiti and Porto Rico, floods in Mexico and Guatemala, earthquakes in Japan, the Azores Islands, Armenia and Albania, and refugees relief operations in Bulgaria, Syria, and China.

During the Eleventh Annual Roll Call, November 1 to 26, the American Red Cross will seek a membership of 5,000,000 to help the suffering and other services constantly ready for any call.

For Travel Wear

The sweater frock of knitted wool in shades of beige and tan, wears under a beige or tan-tweed coat trimmed with brown fur, makes an admirable costume for travel.

RED CROSS ADVANCES IN HEALTH PROTECTION

Record for Progress Is Made in Protecting People of Vast Flooded Section.

Record health protective activities marked the career of the American Red Cross in this field. The outstanding health accomplishment was the successful completion of the emergency health program launched as part of the relief work in the Mississippi Valley flood. In cooperation with State and Federal health agencies, the Red Cross successfully conducted a campaign designed to prevent epidemics as a result of flood conditions.

Thousands were immunized against typhoid and cholera; preventive measures against malaria were undertaken; and as the flood receded an extensive cleanup program was set to motion to purify water supplies, provide sanitary conditions, and to train communities and complete other health protective steps.

Behind the emergency work, the Red Cross Public Health Nursing Service developed almost 100 new community nursing and health centers throughout the country. Nurse in charge of the centers, including the Red Cross, the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippines, Porto Rico, and the Virgin Islands, had Home Nursing classes which showed a large increase.

One contribution to national health is a growing recognition in the nation's insurance services, through which thousands of adults and school children are learning the proper foods for health and the fundamentals of correct food habits in relation to health.

These direct services for better health, the Red Cross enrolls more than 45,000. These nurses are available for disaster relief service, epidemic and other serious emergencies, and are on call for duty with the Army, Navy and the Veterans' Bureau.

Red Cross health services are in increasing demand. The Red Cross is calling attention to the forthcoming enrollment of new members in the Red Cross ranks, through whose support all Red Cross activities are made possible. The enrollment will take place from November 11 to 26.

Members of the Junior Red Cross proved a new capacity for service during the Mississippi flood. Crippled Kiddies Canvass

Arrangements have been completed for a State-wide canvassing of New Jersey's crippled children to be started next Monday, November 14 to 19. Before the following Saturday it is hoped to have every crippled person in New Jersey enrolled and classified to the end that they may receive educational, vocational and medical relief as they may eventually be provided.

What a wonderful work! To the public, those who possess all of their faculties, to join in and assist in this humane drive to benefit the unfortunate. Locally the order of Elks have been carrying on this good work for years. Now its importance has become state-wide and a census taking is to be held under the auspices of the New Jersey State Crippled Children's Commission, appointed some time ago by Governor Moore. The enrollment will be made by the public, municipal and private schools with the assistance of churches, lodges, nurses and many other workers either individually or in organized units. The public schools have been marshalled for the canvass under the direction of Dr. Charles H. Elliott, State Commissioner of Education. In the parochial schools the work will proceed under the direction of Dr. J. J. Chino, Ph.D., Superintendent of Schools of the Diocese and Dr. William P. Lawler, L.L.B., Superintendent of Schools of St. Joseph's. The canvass will begin their work on Sunday, November 14, when announcements will be made from pulpits everywhere.

It is hoped through this multiplied effort to cover the entire State within the six days and to enroll every crippled child between birth and eighteen years of age including as well all others of any age who have some form of physical or mental disability, such as blindness (total or partial) as well as lameness. The Commission is especially anxious to find the young cripple under school age and also working children who may be handicapped.

When the individual cases have been enrolled and classified, the Crippled Children's Commission will prepare a report for the incoming Legislature with recommendations as to what may be done by the State in securing adequate treatment and care for all the afflicted persons.

The Crippled Children's Commission consists of representatives from the Elks, State Department of Health, Rotary Clubs, Kiwanis, Shriners, and two members from the State Legislature. The members have been at work all summer planning for this important canvass and for the even more important work which is to follow.

Nine Years Ago Today

Nine years ago today the world's greatest war came to an end. Mothers began to hope; wives could once more expect the return of their husbands. The war to end war had been such a strain as some could appreciate; now one could look forward to reconstruction.

First the peoples took stock. The war had cost the lives of millions and ten million soldiers, the finest young men of the fighting nations. It had also cost the lives of twice as many civilians, old men, mothers, babies.

Two things became clear. Modern war involved the whole nation, not merely the soldiers. In the past it had been possible to protect one's home and loved ones. One could remain in one's home, in one's city, in one's country, but one could not prevent the enemy from bombing in his turn. Warfare was directed chiefly against civilian population. The death lists proved this.

Therefore modern war must be destroyed. Security against this possible enemy was insufficient, what was needed was security against war itself. The alternative thing was to build an armistice, a "treaty to end war." The armistice remains unratified. They have handed on to the torch of their young idealism. It is for everyone of us who remain to carry on and complete the work.

In spite of the complexities of the technical questions of disarmament and arbitration, every one of us has his opportunity. We cannot combat the negotiations, we cannot make the treaties, but we can make up our minds that our country's foreign policy shall always be based on friendliness and fair dealing. Had governments omitted public opinion that demands peace and fairness in their dealings with other nations. Good governments cannot do the things necessary to secure peace and fairness unless supported by their people.

Therefore, every single individual citizen has his share of responsibility for combating the war of bullets and machine guns which was the dream of those who sacrificed their lives in the war that ended on the first Armistice Day.

The Automobile Thief

The horse thief of olden times was the hero of the law. His modern successor is the automobile thief, who operates in highly organized gangs. Complaint is made that the courts are too lenient with this type of thief and that failure to punish them adequately leads to an epidemic of deceptions of the same kind. It is a fact that the value of the automobile has increased to such an extent that the thief sets ten times that amount of loot and less punishment.

Some boys under arrest in Kearney have confessed that during the last month they have helped themselves to about thirty cars for the purpose of joy-riding. In every case the thefts were not for profit, but for amusement.

A locked car cannot be stolen without considerable trouble. In the case of the boys they simply hopped into one and started the engine going. So the owners of the cars have themselves to blame. Usually a mere turning of a switch will lock a car, but even that seems to be a task for some people.

City Administration Notified

The battle of ballots is over, and the count fully demonstrates that the voting citizens were unalterably dissatisfied with the way administration officials were handling the government of Rahway. Before election it was predicted by some of the most optimistic in the Republican ranks that a Democratic majority in Common Council would be overcome, but a thought of landslide had never been entertained. The thirteenth returns on another page in this issue of the Record, tell very plainly the story of the battle, and discloses in no uncertain terms just how those who "pay the freight" felt towards the party in power.

Tuesday, all day, the party workers were accounting for stickers on voting and many a one was rounded up after he had made up his mind that his vote wouldn't make much difference anyway; then why bother to vote. While the number casting ballots was far below the registration yet far ahead of the primary election.

But one of the referendum succeeded in winning, that of the Rahway Firemen, which gives them a substantial increase in salaries. The local park bond issue for $150,000 was emphatically "snoozed under" and will probably put that hectic problem to sleep for an indefinite time. County park appropriations and also State High way bond issue, met with adverse reception.

The councilmanic fight was most interesting, and the bone of contention on the ticket was the election of a Republican to the Council, but the unexpected happened and all Republicans went over the top with safe margins. This gives the C. O. P. complete control, while the city has a Democratic Mayor.

In the Board of Water Commissioners but one candidate was proposed, eliminating any contest. The present incumbent is returned.

Fashion Pendulum Struck

Are the women of Rahway becoming more beautiful than those of yesterday? They should, because today about 85 per cent of them are resorting to artificial means to enhance their looks. Beauty shops in this city are springing up like mushrooms. There are located within a block of each other on Irving street, and they are fully equipped to produce twentieth century results. How many additional shops are scattered over the city we are unable to state, but they are plentiful.

Although four out of every five babies are born with straight hair, ninety-nine per cent of the women of America have curly locks. A hair-wave is at present sweeping across the feminine heads of this country.

"Thirty million permanent waves were given in the United States last year," declared Monsieur Eugene, of Paris, London and New York, eminent hair style creator and authority on permanent waving. "This does not count the number of iron curls or locks that were put on our wigs or hair carvers."

"Women may be divided on the mooted question: To have or let hair grow long. But there is no hesitation in the feminine mind about the advisability of individualizing their coiffures, with as natural-looking waves. There has been a sharp reaction from the boyish look. Women all over the world are discovering that monkey cuts and extreme shingles are standardizing their looks. The experience of being mistaken for a younger brother or the girl in the next block is becoming too old to thrill. Fashion's pendulum has struck the hour for the feminine woman."

"Formerly, straight-haired women who wanted curly hair without the trouble of curling it themselves or strapping twice a week to their favorite beauty shop, resorted to their hairdressers for permanent waving. Now, once or twice a year. They timed their visits so that their old waves might grow out before new ones were put in. But since methods have been discovered for waving the new hair without recurling the old, their visits have multiplied. Now, instead of enduring prolonged 'growing out' periods, women hurry to their favorite beauty operators as soon as their new baby hairs are long enough to take an artificial curl."

For Safer Hunting

Activity reigns in the realm of those who would "huntin' go." The modern flintlock and blunderbuss is an arm, for the present at least, stored away in the closets of Rahwayans, because the hunting season is at our door. The "hound dogs" know it; they are sniffing the air and struggling at their leashes while the musical trail sound calls the dell of many a wooded plot and owner try to Mister Cotton Tail's ability to double on his tracks and fool his pursuers.

This means danger, however. With the woods populated with excited gunners the chances are someone will get shot unless due caution is rigidly practiced by the hunters themselves. Therefore a few simple rules suggested by game warden on handling firearms are of timely interest to our local gunners, and we give them space in our columns. The suggestions follow:

Don't forget to remove the shells from your gun the instant you cease hunting. No one knows the reputation of the "didn't know it was loaded" gun.

Don't carry a gun in any position while hunting. Don't permit the muzzle to sweep the horizon. As a general rule, "discharge" any weapon a fellow gunner "beyond the horizon."

Don't let your loaded gun on the ground. Your dog may accidentally step on the trigger and lose a master.

Don't draw a gun toward you, through a fence or through your car, muzzle first. And don't pass it, muzzle first, to another person.

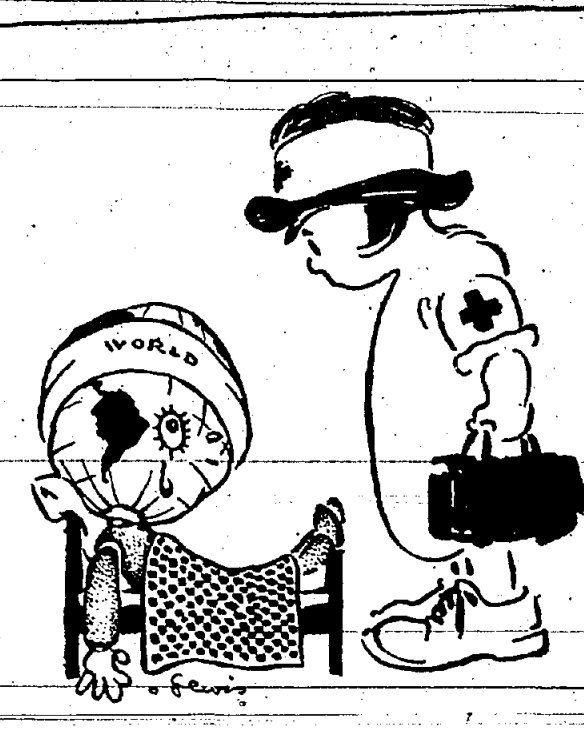

Don't lean your gun against a tree, where a passing hunter or dog might easily dislodge it. And don't lean against the gun barrel yourself. The experienced hunter always "breaks" his gun when stopping to rest.

Accepting "Genial Al"

The high-brow Democratic leaders seem inclined now to make the best of what they consider a bad bargain, and accept "Al" Smith as the probable Democratic presidential nominee. Some of them are still entertaining the hope that they can pick out of the other a candidate who can be substituted at the last moment for "Genial Al." But they are doing this now in dark corners rather than in the market places. Following the custom of all of us when we make a bad bargain, they have begun with line and rule to figure out not only Smith's nomination, but his election. Nicholson of the New York World, a political expert, and a clever one, has already decided "Al" Smith. True, he had to carry the Solid South, all the border states and reach into Montana and Nevada to accomplish his purpose, but he has done it, making himself out of circumstances.

For the information of the Republicans at large, it can be said these Democratic claims should only be taken with a considerable amount of seasoning. "Al" Smith will carry the Solid South—Florida and North Carolina possibly may go Republican, but without the Republican nominee, whether he is Hoover, Lowden, Dawes, Hughes or Curtis or anyone else whom the convention may nominate, will be elected.

The principal "difference" between playing poker and betting on horse races is that in poker you occasionally get to shuffle the cards yourself, but somebody else always attends to shuffling the horses.

"Now Tell Mother."

N. J., as late as 1887, this factory was probably the last wampum factory in the United States. It made wampum for the Indians and other traders with the Indians of the West.

Do you know the workings of the American Indian financial system? Do you know that the mint and the bank of the United States were located in New Jersey, and as late as 1887? These and other facts about the life of the American Red Man will be illustrated in the Indian exhibit, which opened in the Newark Museum November 7.

The Indian wampum currency is shown in a number of exhibits, the most interesting of which is that of Charles A. Philhower, of Westfield, which he has lent to the museum. It shows the Indian wampum of various kinds, especially that made in the factory of the Canajoharie at Passaic.

New Jersey Ten Years From Today

PLANNING ahead to meet future needs is a first consideration of the management of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, for otherwise service ready for every demand could not be provided.

Facts of the past and present coordinated with tendencies noted by trained telephone observers, give us a reasonably accurate forecast of the service needs of coming years. Upon such a survey we are now making plans to care for New Jersey's telephone requirements in the next decade.

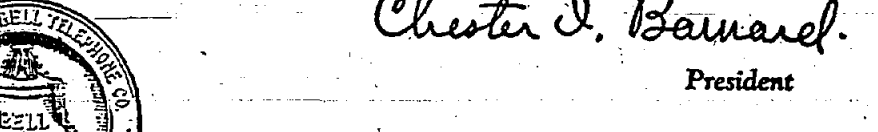

Today the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company serves the users of 570,000 telephones.

In 1937 our organization and system will be prepared to give satisfactory service to the users of more than 1,000,000 telephones.

Now and in the future our purpose and obligation is to provide real service at reasonable cost both within the State and to all available points beyond its borders.

Building Quality into Used Cars

Unusual facilities for reconditioning automobiles make possible the high value found in our dependable used cars.

In the first place, we can tell exactly what needs to be done to a car without long and expensive experimenting. Our mechanics are thoroughly competent, and working with special tools, they accomplish a given task in the minimum time. Furthermore, we use only genuine parts for replacement purposes.

As a result, our reconditioned cars simply cannot be matched for value.

Nugey Makes Discovery

To Better Lubrication

Discovery of a simple process of separating or polarizing material in lubricating oils is attributed to A. L. Nugey, a lubrication engineer of this city. "Hydrotreating" material oils have been considered unsatisfactory. The new process is said to be commercially feasible owing to the fact that an expensive secret catalyst renders active spontaneous and peculiar chemical conditions. The matter of cost is also held to be of importance particularly in connection with the practicability of eliminating further engine wear. The process is said to be easily adaptable to a commercial scale of any magnitude.

Mr. Nugey has confirmed reports that he is the holder in any way interested in the process. Petroleum Corporation.

Rutgers Captain Returns to Game

After spending most of the season on the sidelines because of injuries, Herbert E. (Whitely) Lorenz, of Leonia, Rutgers football captain, will start at left end for the Scarlet in the game with Lehigh at New Brunswick tomorrow. Lorenz, one of the finest defensive ends that the State University has ever known, is expected to strengthen the Rutgers defense materially. The Lehigh game, considered by many the most important on the Rutgers schedule, will bring together two teams which have made unimpressive records this season, but which are, nevertheless, evenly matched. It is expected that ten thousand people will view the game, which will start on Nelson Field at 2 o'clock.

Speedy English Justice

A record for speedy justice is claimed by the police for Northampton, England. Mrs. Mary Iland applied at the police court for a warrant against her husband for assault. The latter was arrested, tried and sentenced to 14 days in prison. The whole case was disposed of in 15 minutes after the application for the warrant was made.

Man Sealed in Glass
Fasts for Fifty Days
Southend-on-Sea, England.—Brando Sacco is claimed to have completed a fast of 50 days' duration. Sacco, who has something of a reputation as a fast in Great Britain, was sealed in a cabinet of wood and glass at a Catholic home. It is asserted that he subsisted on six bottles of benedictine daily. He lost 30 pounds in weight and is almost too weak to move. His first meal consisted of chicken broth.

Aukward Place for Echo
An extraordinary echo is produced by the high hills surrounding a golf course in the south of England, and it is feared that a three-act play may have to be staged for children and deaf-mutes.—From Punch, London.

Holyoke Girls Take Up Kiteflying
A new fad with the students at Mt. Holyoke college, Massachusetts, is kiteflying. The girls paint their kites with color pictures and send them aloft.

Linked Football With Crime in Old Days

London.—The official opening of the football season was held without a new set for its suppression, while Henry IV, Henry VIII and Elizabeth I tried to stem the increasing popularity by increasing penalties.

These laws were frequently enforced against delinquents and it is recorded that in 1570, one Dr. Wagon was fined 10 and jailed for a week because he kicked off at a local football game.

Despite the laws, however, many games were played every year and an old record says that "thanks to the sturdy players the streets of London were full of footballers."

Fine Feathers Always Much Admired by Women
The feathers seem never to lose their attraction for the feminine taste. One of the newest ways of wearing ostrich plumes is in the form of a wide-rimmed hat of natural silk. This is almost as voluminous as a shirt and should be worn by a woman with the ostrich feather hat, which in no way resembles it. It is intended entirely for evening wear.

Aviation and Leather Coats
Perhaps the intense interest in aviation is having a bearing on fashion. The leather coat, which has been worn since the days of the cavemen, is now being worn by the modern woman. It is made of a material which is as strong as leather and is as light as a feather. It is intended for evening wear.

Heredity Machine for Cattle

Roy H. Graves of the bureau of dairy industry, Department of Agriculture, with the heredity machine he invented, which automatically works out the probable heredity of cattle. The device will be used in tracing the Mendelian theory of heredity in dairy animals. The machine consists of a series of "dialing" cups, each representing an individual animal. The pedigree of three generations is worked out in relation to the production of butter, fat, etc.
