GOOD MORNING

What Next?

Tuesday we commended Mayor Brooks for his swift action in meeting demands of parents in providing uniformed patrolmen for dangerous intersections near the schools of the city after the police committee and chief of police had pondered the request for several months before declaring it impossible.

We still commend the mayor for his action and also agree with him that the action of placing these patrolmen on school duty at the expense of adequate night protection is all that could be desired in a city of this size.

Mayor Brooks has placed safety of children as paramount to protection against house breakers and also is of the opinion that something should be done to afford the city more protection during the night. We heartily agree with his stand.

Railway, a city of nearly 17,000 persons, located as it is, can easily become prey of burglars unless the present system of having only two policemen on duty at night is changed. It is the opinion of the police committee that the city is not protected during the night and that the city is not protected during the night.

This does not allow for rapid handling of calls of citizens for help during the night and also leaves the business district with its thousands of dollars worth of stock unguarded during the night except for two or three hurried inspections by the motor patrol.

It is plain to see that railway, a city that calls itself progressive, is far from that in its lack of adequate police protection. Whether more men should be added to the force or the present members shifted in such a manner that more will be available for night duty is a question which must be decided by the officials in charge of the department before serious consequences result.

Look Around

Next week is "fire prevention week." Every householder should look forward to the week, and determine to follow a fire prevention program of his own.

His first action should be to learn, from fire marshals and other authorities, all he can about the menace of fire and ways to eliminate the more ordinary hazards. He should make a thorough inspection of his home, place of business and other property, beginning with the basement. There's a good chance he will discover old papers or other rubbish in places that offer a perpetual invitation to fire. It's possible that the furnace is out of repair—with winter coming on, a weakness in the heating system may lead to complete destruction of his home. And a million temptations exist in the kitchen, where a careless, improperly stored, gasoline, kerosene, inflammable cleaning and other liquids.

That done, the citizen isn't nearly through. How about wiring and the lamp connections? Most of us at one time or another have done amateur work of this kind, and forgotten to have it replaced by an expert electrician. It would be a safe bet that there are thousands of switchboxes in this city with a penny in action as a fuse, placed there "temporarily." One short circuit—and fire will result.

Finally, it is a rare article which doesn't contain an accumulation of old clothes, old magazines, old furniture and old luggage all ready to burn.

Look your property over. And in the future make the same inspection at regular intervals. It will minimize the chance of fire—and that means safety to life, and money in your pocket.

Temperance Wanted

The eighteenth amendment came into existence because the American public believed that no step was too drastic to outlaw the evils that had appeared in the liquor problem. Millions of thinking American citizens, who were not "dry" in the sense of believing it a crime to take a drink, had seen the power of the saloon appear in politics, degrading city and state government, and had watched entrenched interests successfully violate both the letter and spirit of the law that the electorate had sold the sale of liquor.

The eighteenth amendment was repealed by this same thinking public when it became apparent that the evils existing before were magnified, rather than lessened. The ends of temperance were not served, the gangster came into his, and millions of bootleggers became as politically powerful as their legal predecessors had in the old days.

Today the American people want temperance. They want it to be a law of the land, not a mere slogan. They will not again countenance any illicit alliance between government and liquor interests. We are passing through an experimental period—and if present laws are ineffective, other and harsher measures will be brought into play.

To promote temperance—which means the elimination of drunkenness and license—is the duty of every citizen. It is the duty of the citizen to take and sell liquor in addition, it is simply good business as far as they are concerned.

Dedication of the new Memorial hospital, erected at a cost of a half million dollars, will be conducted on Saturday afternoon, October 26, according to the decision made on Wednesday evening at a special session of the Board of Governors. Arrangements were discussed and decided upon to include a special program, with a parade.

The committee-chairmen and members who will handle the program were appointed by President Frank W. K. Kirtland, Jr., and include: Harry L. Lamphar, Harry Simmons, Harry T. McClellin; program and publicity, Orlando H. Day, Jan van Herwerden, Frank W. Kidd; reception, Hampton Cutter, Sidney Harris, A. P. Kirtland, Sr., and members of the board of governors and other officials, including members of the Ladies' auxiliary.

You And Me

Perhaps you are not aware of the fact but Lieutenant Smith of the Railway police department was some shucks as a motor boat racer several years ago. He has been many years since he won the foreman of the national outboard racing club at Belmar and turned down a chance to race with a nationally known motor company to race his boats in Florida.

When Mayor Brooks undertook to provide uniformed patrolmen at school intersections and jugged the police department so that only two men were left for night patrol duty, he took upon himself a task which is far from an easy one. The mayor is between three fires as I see it. He must provide the uniformed guards for school children, he must provide adequate protection for property owners and he must head the requests of citizens to keep municipal expenses at their present level.

Probably the greatest credit for the capture of Bruno Hauptmann, Lindbergh kidnaper, should go to President Roosevelt who was indirectly more responsible for the finding of the ransom money than any other person. His gold embargo proclamation which called in all gold, certificate or coin, made it possible for Hauptmann's possession of the large amount of gold certificates to be learned. Had the president not issued the embargo, the kidnaper would have been able to cash his ransom money and have these bills, chances are he never would have been apprehended. The gold embargo placed him in a small class of persons who have clung to the gold. Had the money been in greenbacks, chances are the gasoline station attendants who caused his arrest would never have noticed the bill he gave in exchange for motor fuel.

Lyrics of Life

The Circus
Now pain, the circusmaster, strolls
Through the night hours and cracks his whip
The shapes of death his eye controls
Now, with a faintest look at his hip
Last night I watched them crouch and leap
I heard them growl and stamp and yawn
And waited for the dawn called sleep
To tumble on the heels of dawn
But still with brutish smells the air
New life and blood and lusty cheer
And once more pain stood idly there
And flicked his whip

Chimney Fire Calls Out Firemen Wednesday
Fire which originated in a defective chimney when a fire was started in the furnace called the fire department to the home of Mrs. M. K. Kirtland, 24 Madison street, shortly before 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

While the fire was of a minor character, it was one which would have developed into a major blaze had not the department acted promptly. A fire which caught fire in the furnace, which was caused by a defective chimney, was extinguished by the fire department.

Damage was negligible. Chief William E. Kirtland directed the department.

Barbecued buffaloes, rarely known on the tables of moderns, was the feature on the menu of a festive in Athens, Texas. The animal, served nearly 3,000 pounds of buffalo meat, were sufficient for 4,000 persons.

Worthy Of Pride

During this week, known as Fire Prevention Week, the people of Linden may well pause for a moment to consider the actual saving in dollars and cents that they are receiving by having an efficient and well-directed fire department.

This year has fair to have the smallest loss from fire during any year since 1926. During that period the total losses dropped from such a figure that fire insurance rates were not established, to a per capita rate of 68 cents last year and a still smaller loss predicted for this year.

Such figures mean something to the Linden taxpayer. They mean that in addition to saving the property that would otherwise be destroyed by fire, the people are also saving on insurance costs, and when taken in total, that saving in insurance rates means much to the city's taxpayers.

But while they are proud of the decreasing cost of fire, Linden people cannot forget to "keep the line drawn tightly." They cannot forget to be ever careful that fire is not started and loss of property and life suffered as a result. In using care, the people of the city will continue to reap the rewards of a low per capita fire loss.

Acting Wisely

Linden City Council acted wisely and for the best interests of the community when it refused Tuesday night to place the question of establishment of a municipally owned power plant on the ballot during the next general election.

In refusing to place the question before the people before they were absolutely certain that they, as members of the city's governing body, were favorable to the beginning of this large and important municipal undertaking, members of Council were first looking out for the best interests of the citizens of Linden and secondly, they were careful for their own sakes. If it is proven that such a municipal plant would be unwise for Linden, as it has proven unwise for other cities, an almost unbearable burden would be placed upon the citizens and, as a result, future generations as well as our own would be paying for the folly. In addition, if public officials should decide to venture the undertaking and it should fail, a permanent black mark would be placed against those officials.

It is apparent that further study will likely be made of the matter. In making the survey, it will be well for officials to be absolutely certain that their investigations cover the important problems and are not a mere study of the attractions that appear on the surface. For example, should officials study the municipal plants of other cities, they would do well to have a disinterested and capable accountant examine the books of those municipalities in order to be certain that all expenses of municipal plants are actually charged to the plants rather than shifted to less obvious accounts. In other words, officials should be certain that all figures and information they receive from cities where municipal plants are operated prove that the citizens of those cities are actually benefited by the plants.

Linden officials have made the right start in their investigation by refusing to "go off half-cocked" on the matter. If they intend to spend more time on the problem it may be hoped that they continue to use the same caution and thought.

Square Deal In Business

The long depression has been a severe test on small business as well as on large. The small business has the handicap of lack of elasticity in organization as well as lack of reserve which is generally available in large businesses.

Those small businesses which have survived the depression are obviously based on sound methods. They have been directed with intelligence. Above that and exceedingly important to their success, they have been based on honest practices. They have been run on a basis of fairness to their customers with fairness must eventually find new customers or close its doors. Those who have been mistreated will not return.

Therefore, ethics in business in the long run pay dividends both in money and satisfaction. The man who creates and maintains a lasting business institution knows he is doing that is denied the dealer in sharp practice and short enterprise.

Business, to continue with success, must not only be intelligent management but it must have honesty. The depression has emphasized the value of the square deal.

If a man thinks he is going to be sick, he frequently is, and if a man thinks he is falling behind, he frequently is.

Asked for an illustration of indirect taxation, a school teacher suggested the dog tax, "because the dog doesn't pay it."

LINDEN WINS FROM SOUTH RIVER IN SECOND FOOTBALL GAME

Junior High Wins From Cranford

Linden Youths Show Stuff When Tested By Opponents In 12-0 Encounter Here

Victory Is Earned By 6 First Downs To 3 For Visitors. Woodbridge Will Come Here Friday As Second Foe

Coach Les Goodwin's three for Cranford. Many substitutions were made during the game. Linden received the kickoff to start the game, but fumbled the ball. Cranford recovered on Linden's 45-yard line, and was there by an effective forward pass. Cranford kicked and Cranford made the kick back 25 yards to midfield.

The first touchdown came after a forward pass by Linden down the field. Cranford kicked and Cranford made the kick back 25 yards to midfield.

The second touchdown was made in the third quarter. After a pass Nolan to Crockett settled 30 yards. Jackson Owens, another of the famous colored Owens brothers, carried the ball for a 15-yard score from the five-yard stripe.

Boomer, Muncy, Derrah and Bussard showed up well in the starting line up, and the substitutions again in by Coach Goodwin carried on without a falter. Cranford's Spaulding and Field played remarkably well in the game.

Donny Wagner played a good steady game for Linden at right half, and made a nice run after intercepting a Cranford pass. Sanchez, Cranford fullback, was but a run during the whole game for the visitors.

The game was a close one for the first half, but Linden took the lead in the second quarter. Linden's 12-0 victory was a well-deserved one.

Yock Boyle Scores Goal After Completed Passes; Second Touchdown Missed

Coach Cooper Likes The Way His Team Is Clicking Working Together Nicely, He Says—Rain Hampers Game

Two passes, both to Mayer, in the second quarter of the Linden high school football game with South River at South River Saturday, placed the ball within scoring distance for the only touchdown of the game. Linden won 6 to 0, Yock Boyle, dependable Linden halfback, going through the South River line for the counter. Boyle missed the kick on the try for extra points.

Coach Red Cooper of Linden is mighty pleased with the manner in which his team is clicking. They won their opener the previous Saturday from Manassas, 12-0.

The home team still has a hard road ahead of it. Cooper said yesterday, "but the boys are working together nicely."

The score against South River should have been 12-0. In the first quarter, Linden led 6-0. A later pass to Belmont in the second quarter, but the rain and Belmont dropped it.

Patius at center played his first full game. First downs were evenly divided, each side accounting for five.

At the close of the third quarter, Linden led 6-0. Boyle missed the kick on the try for extra points.

WHY

Does The Record Offer $5,000 In Cash Prizes and Commissions?

A Fair Question-We Are Glad To Answer!

WHY WE DO IT!

Why does The Record put up $5,000 in cash gifts? Why does The Record guarantee one who is active in this election valuable consideration for his or her efforts? Here are two reasons:

First—This is a FRIEND-MAKING ELECTION. Second—Only by conducting a FAIR AND LIBERAL election with GIFTS OF VALUE TO EVERYONE who participates, will it be possible for The Record to accomplish its aim.

And what is the newspaper's aim? How can The Record afford to give absolutely FREE WITHOUT ONE CENT OF EXPENSE TO ANYONE, perhaps more than $5,000?

HERE'S HOW:

In this election The Record hopes to secure more subscriptions—to increase its already large list—to add to its great family of readers and friends throughout this community. This will be accomplished by the addition of new subscribers by the renewal of present subscriptions, and especially by the manner in which this campaign is conducted, for each and every reader who takes part in this election will, when it is over, be a living advertisement for The Record. That means much.

MORE THAN MONEY

There are things more valuable to a newspaper than money. Subscriptions are more valuable, because they give what money cannot buy—prestige, power and enhance the value of the advertising columns.

The Record is now taking its own medicine—IT IS ADVERTISING. It is spending money to create subscriptions—spending money to add to its advertising patronage and to create additional good will. It will not pay The Record in dollars and cents today, it is true, but the effects of the election, the subscribers who are gained, the friends who will be made, will be of lasting, incalculable benefit. The Record is simply investing in its own future, in the future of this vicinity. Frankly, in the end it will greatly profit the newspaper.

CIRCULATION NECESSARY

Circulation is absolutely necessary to a newspaper, and it is always an expense. No newspaper ever made money on its subscription list. Your Record costs more each year to produce and deliver than you pay—much more. However, if by spending $5,000 now, The Record will increase its subscriptions to the point where more advertisers will use its columns to reach a greater number of people, then, in the years to come, this $5,000 will be returned time and time again to this newspaper.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

It is simply a business proposition, and sound from every standpoint. No one loses, not even The Record. This paper, however, will not realize the benefits and cash-in on them as soon as our readers who carry on with us in this Free Cash Gift Distribution.

The modern equipment of The Record can care for 10,000 subscribers just as easily as it can 6,500—and that is our goal in the campaign.
