Members of the Council appear to feel that the job is a necessary one but are undecided on the person to be named or the salary to be paid.

A representative of Alexander Potter, consulting engineer representing Rahway on this job, has cited the need of an inspector. Feakes, closely identified with city engineering matters in past years, claims that Rahway suffered by not having a qualified in spector. Watching its interest when the trunk sewer was constructed here.

Councilman Reed makes—the—point that the city effected a saving of about $40,000 in the estimated cost of the sewer connection through favorable sale of the person to be named or the sale reached the total of the sewer connection through favorable sale of $14,357.89. If the efficiency of the work will be threatened by not having a capable engineer represent the city, by all means we should have one. According to Feakes, the practice of using politicians as inspectors instead of getting qualified men has resulted in much bungling already.

This must be avoided in the future if we are to salvage some benefit from the costly sewer system. He is a qualified engineer and if the job is to be created, there is no better man to fill it than Price, even though he happens to be a Republican and the present majority is Democratic.

Council is not to be criticized for delaying the matter for further consideration. Our fingers have been burned plenty in handling sewer matters and we are at last learning to exercise caution.

We think that the matter should be settled now before the work, already started, proceeds too far. If an inspector is to be named, Council will not be making a mistake in naming Price. Not many of us can afford interior decorators. It's more fun to do things oneself anyway. But so often rooms we plan carefully fall flat and stale. This is because the three primary colors, red, blue and yellow are not all present in some form. A room in peach and green, for instance, will be more interesting if there is an accent of blue eating if there is an accent of blue in a bowl, or possibly in a mirror. And much of the churm that books

John J. Hall, the Elizabeth sports writer, rarely says anything nice about Rahway athletes. After the Charley Shupper Cages poor report his paper gave of the Thomas Jefferson-Rahway football game turkey day, we expressed time To Win Tilt thanks that we were not like him in that we couldn't see anything good about any other athletic teams except those here in Rahway: We saw a good Elizabeth team in action Friday night when the St. Patrick's OLDER BOYS LEAGUE School quintet of Elizabeth played the Scarlet basketeers on the Franklin-School court. The visiting Irish, who come from a school of Sophomores 2 0 about 100 students, brought a whole busload of root-Director Barbers 2 1

Coach Earl H. Walter is our authority for that statement. Coach Charley Callahan of Elizabeth is to be congratulated on his club. The boys played for every point, a fact which is indicated by their conversion of 12 of their 17 free throw attempts into points. We are glad that Rahway is playing this fine bunch of sports and fighting Irish again next season. They are a credit to their school, city and religion.

Rahway will celebrate the demise of 1936 and the debut of 1937 Thursday night and Friday morning with more activity since the stock market crash started the depression. Local celebrants will find many places to go to dance, eat and wear paper caps and blow silly horns in observance of the coming of the new year. Rahway organizations are not only offering entertainment for members but some of them have opened their doors to non-members who will come as guests of members.
