SHALL RAILWAY BUILD A NEW HIGH SCHOOL?

For some time, the Board of Education has been actively considering plans for a new high school building on the site now occupied as Riverside Park. Plans have progressed to a point where the entire proposition, including financing, may be presented to the public.
Tonight in the summer well, Railway High School, a public hearing will be held at which time the school proposal will be outlined to the citizenry and anyone may be heard in pre- or co-arguments. Questions may be asked and answers will be given. The hearing will be held along the lines of an old-fashioned town meeting with Railway citizens and officials convening to talk over a proposal which looms as the most vital the city has faced in years.
The meeting which has been held on several occasions were open to the public but were not attended by members of the general citizenry. However tonight the Board of Education is inviting everyone to come and learn more about the proposal. If the majority of the citizens feel that the city should proceed with the school construction now, plans will be abandoned.
If sentiment is really in favor of a new building at the present time, it is equally safe to predict that the city won't experience any trouble getting federal funds to aid in completion of the project.
We don't expect many persons to attend tonight's session. There doesn't seem to be any opposition to the plans for a new school and for this reason, most folks will stay away. But it is the duty of the public to take an interest in this matter. During the past years, a large number of independent and organized groups have urged construction of a new high school. At least some of the representatives of these groups should be present tonight.
Objectors, if any, should be there by all means. The time to protest is now and not when the school is built and the tax bills are issued.
We favor a new high school building and think the majority of the people agree with us. Everybody will agree that the present structure is far from adequate. The city fathers report that the debt limit will not be exceeded by construction now. The PWA will probably provide 45 percent of the cost of construction is contemplated now while if the building is built in the future, the city may have to bear the entire cost by local taxation.
The site has been condemned by some who fear flooding. Engineers report that flooding would not be a danger. It has not been determined whether the condition of the ground is suitable to bear the weight of a large structure. If the site is technically not suitable, it will have to be abandoned.
There is no more central site available than Riverside Park and the plan for the school site have been so arranged as to make the location an ideal one.
The main consideration, we think, is whether Railway taxpayers are in a position to carry the added burden which this construction will place upon them. If taxes will not jump, we think now is the time to construct a high school.
Few, if any, communities have ever gone bankrupt because they provided adequate facilities for their citizens. A well-balanced educational system has resulted in the growth of many communities. Railway should be no exception.
The Board of Education and other official bodies concerned with the proposed new high school building are proceeding with plans for the building. However, since this is a community proposition, it is well that an opportunity is being provided for the public to become informed first hand.
Tonight at 8 P. M. is the time and the high school auditorium is the place to settle the question. The public is the chief party in interest and should be represented to-night.

THE TAX TERMITES WHICH ATTACK ALL OF US

Those who still believe in the ancient fallacy that "rich can pay the cost of government" will be startled by a recent survey showing that if everyone had to turn over to the government all income in excess of $5,000 a year, the sum collected would pay only one-third of the total cost of government—federal, state and local.
In other words, the great bulk of taxes are "hidden taxes" and they are paid principally by the person who produces the goods and services. A loaf of bread, for example, is taxed 57 times. The tax collector gets his share when you pay your rent, buy a suit of clothes, go to a movie or do almost anything else.
The merchants probably don't want this new gross receipts tax any more than the customer. However, the merchant, who is already heavily taxed from all sides, could merely pass the receipts tax onto the public. The public always pays in the long run, anyway, regardless of whether the tax is hidden or direct. If another tax is necessary for relief I suppose we must have it. But if we do, let's have a direct tax like the sales tax so we will feel it every time we pay it.
The more pain we suffer when paying a tax the quicker the tax will be eliminated. There are too many greedy politicians around today who are seeking all sorts of ways to spend the public's money. Give them another indirect tax to play around with and we'll have a difficult time getting them to repeal it. Maybe if a direct tax were levied for relief, we would take more interest in the relief situation which we are supporting now by indirect taxation. And if the public watched the cash box a little closer maybe there would be less chiseling.
The politicians will fight to the last ditch against a direct tax because they fear for their personal scalps, not the public welfare. If we must have another tax, I hope it will be a direct one. The hidden taxes last too long. Direct taxes are much easier to kill.

From The Railway Record, July 12-17, 1923

The City Planning Commission issued a statement yesterday expressing gratification at the passage of the ordinance on Wednesday night providing for purchase of the Yail plot and at the strong sentiment of the people expressed at the meeting in favor of the purchase of the property for park purposes. The purchase price is $37,000 and the plan for the park is being prepared by the city. This city, with the exception of a few lights in the eastern section, was in total darkness for five hours Sunday night following the season's most severe wind and electrical storm. With ideal weather conditions prevailing the initial Sunday School excursion to Long Branch and Asbury Park was more than 1,000 children attended.

CARDINALS MEET NEWARK EMERALDS IN RAHWAY RIVER PARK CONTEST ON SUNDAY

short sport shots

Softball is drawing plenty of interest in the three leagues now in full swing but no local league is drawing more attention and furnishing as much fun and activity as the Senior Softball League. This league was formed four years ago, if we remember correctly, and has expanded each year until it now includes 10 teams. We don't remember who founded the circuit. We first heard about it from Chalmers Reed, Y. M. C. A. secretary, who was responsible for keeping it alive for the first year and who has cooperated with the circuit ever since even though he is no longer active as a league player or officer.

The idea of the league was to furnish activity for the "old men." At least, that was what they were called at first in reality the league was formed for men who were at least 25 years of age. It was felt that the other leagues gave plenty of activity for the young fellows and the kids but that there was no strictly "old men's league" to meet the demands of the many older fellows who like to get out once each week and throw the big ball around. We will remember how Reed had to go out and practically scold the city city Tugboat for players who were still unbroken this year or were at the first of the week when we started to write this column.

The league was fairly successful the first year and advanced a bit the second year. But last year it really hit its stride and this year the organization is better than ever. Some fine games are being played each week and the clubs are far from being "old men's" organizations. The age limit of 25 is still observed but most of the fellows who play don't get around like old timers. They characterize the saying that a man is as young as he feels and some of these fellows must feel pretty young judging from the way they cavort on the diamond. The brand of ball played by the league is still observed but most of the fellows who play don't get around like old timers. The Vernon, N. J., team defeated the Inmate team by a 4 to 2 score in the Industrial diamond Saturday. Although both clubs are members of the Industrial League the contest was a non-league game.

Sunday's rain spoiled a promising game for the largest crowd of the season at Rahway River Park. The Rahway Cardinals and Rahway Elites were battling the ball around in the first of their city championship series when the rain ended the game in the second inning. The Cardinals were ahead by 2 to 1 score at the time, home runs figuring in the scoring of all runs. John Shupper and Gus Mittel each hit one for the Cards in the first inning off Paul Lewis while in the second, Chick Taylor reached Dan Rommel for one just before the deluge ended the contest. The Cue Bees, we understand, have challenged the winners of this series. The series will be continued August 2.
