HOW TO CUT MILLIONS FROM THE TAX BURDEN

The years here in New Jersey have been hearing about the need to cut the mounting cost of government. So there is bound to be much discussion of a recent bulletin issued by the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce, dealing with the cost of servicing the aggregate gross bonded public debt of state, county and municipal governments. The Chamber's study showed graphically how declining annual interest and principal payments on our public debt could be used to effect staggering reductions in the New Jersey tax burden.

To most New Jersey citizens it was probably news that a single item in the cost of government, the servicing of the gross public debt, was costing the taxpayers $94,600,000 this year, or twenty seven cents of every dollar tax dollar. That's a lot of money for a small state like New Jersey to pay out annually in the form of interest and principal payments. But this state, unfortunately, has accumulated a huge bonded debt. It has been steadily mounting for years, jumping from $270,000,000 in 1920 to an all-time high of $1,270,000,000 in 1933, the fastest rising debt in any state in the Union. Since 1934 it has diminished a little, but there's still the bill to pay for the loose spending of the boom period.

Today, the Chamber points out, the picture brightens, because beginning in 1939 there will take place sharp, successive annual declines in the cost of servicing that debt. By 1949, the service on what is left then of our present bonded debt will drop to $46,600,000, which is $48,000,000 less for that single year's requirements than the 1938 outlay for the same purpose.

What to these staggering figures mean to New Jersey taxpayers? Just this: If you added them together for the next ten years annual debt service reductions, based on the present debt, would total $304,400,000. If New Jersey government units adopted a policy of reducing their no new public debts, these declining charges could be reflected in a vastly lowered cost of government.

In a confused fiscal picture, it is very clear that a concerted attack on public debt is an effective way to bring about reductions in the tax burden. Taxpayers can help lighten this burden by the simple device of insisting that their officials, state, county and local, hold the lid down and create only such new public indebtedness as is absolutely needed for the maintenance of necessary and essential governmental services.

If taxpayer sentiment were strong and vocal enough to force a drastic reduction in the public debt and then use that savings in debt service to use to lower taxes and not to expand public payrolls, some of New Jersey's biggest fiscal problems would go sailing out the window.

MAKING RELIEF TOO EASY

With removal of "chiselers," and strict enforcement of the law, to reduce the relief rolls, relief may cease to be a major problem, declared Donald R. Stevens, president of the New Jersey Taxpayers Association in a letter today to House Speaker Pascoe of Union County.

Stevens, who is a member of the Unemployment Relief Commission, asserted that "if the governing officials will not see that the law is enforced, then it is up to the citizens to take matters into their own hands."

"It should not, however, be necessary for the citizens to take action in law enforcement. To make relief enforcement effective, the State Financial Assistant should be authorized to withhold State relief funds from municipalities which do not enforce the law. This procedure is required under the laws pertaining to relief."

Stevens commended Pascoe's opposition to additional State appropriations for relief or for any other purpose, stating: "Your courageous stand against the imposition of new tax burdens upon the people of New Jersey and your fight against unnecessary State appropriations stamps you as a leader of the force opposed to wasteful expenditures of public moneys."

"I do not believe there should be any permanent setup for unemployment relief. New Jersey has been able to keep its budget balanced notwithstanding the constant cry of 'crises,' which convinces me that the so-called emergencies we have had to meet would not have been emergencies at all if the State had properly anticipated and allotted its revenue."

"Something we should not forget," warned Stevens in his letter to Pascoe, "is that relief has been made altogether too easy. We must make relief difficult, but at the same time administer to the really needy. Hand in hand with this, we must make new taxes difficult in any guise whatsoever. No further invitation would be necessary to new industry and new home owners. They would continue to flock here of their own accord."

But no, I was wrong, darn it. The telephone company has no such thoughts. The piece had to do with a statement issued by Arthur W. And right then and there all my hopes were completely shattered. It seems that about Mr. Page wants to do is to make multipieces out of certain employees and have them spread the gossip of their respective employers. That is not a bad idea, but I am afraid that public utilities will have to do a lot more than that if they want to forestall governmental investigations. After all, an employee might be just a bit prejudiced in his views. The public might be inclined to suspect the motives behind information received in that manner and suspicion does not breed confidence. Personally, I prefer my service without salve.

Preschooler Johnny Brooks has been laid up with illness the past week and hasn't been able to do any campaigning. He will appreciate it if Rahway voters will remember him at the polls Tuesday. His recent illness was the result of an old football injury.

Patrolman Bob Walker, who was injured in an accident last week, is expected to be back in the city in a week and will be back in the city in a week.

Funny how high government officials find Alaska worthy of a "study" in the summer and the Canal Zone in the winter. These are nice comfortable trips.

The Board of Education members deny that they want any play from the school job but, judging from the attitude of some Councilmen, it seems that the boys in City Hall wouldn't shun any play if they could get it.

He made a fine vote-pulling speech on the school matter at the public meeting, telling of his "study" in the summer and the Canal Zone in the winter. These are nice comfortable trips.

Mayor And Chief Differ Over Use Of Motorcycles

Vehicles Banned For Highway Patrol Work After Mishap

A difference of opinion between Mayor Burger and Police Chief Murphy regarding the use of motorcycles for police patrol duty came to light this week when the Mayor ordered that the cycles are not to be used for highway patrol work.

The order was issued following the injury to Patrolman Robert J. Walker Friday when Walker was struck by a truck in Route 29 as he stood beside his motorcycle and wrote a summons for a speeding driver. He had stopped.

The order banning the motorcycles was issued despite the fact that after the police investigation and Murphy's appointment and training that the cycles were to be used for patrol work.

City Hall says that Walker was injured because he was not properly trained in the use of the motorcycle. The Mayor, however, would argue that the cycle had been properly trained.

Many motorists each year receive serious and sometimes fatal injuries because they try to use a cycle that is not a "study" in the summer and the Canal Zone in the winter. These are nice comfortable trips.

Local Couple Give Aid To Riders In Death Car

Patrolman Paul Paulsen and Mrs. Paulsen were the first persons on the scene of an auto accident near Toms River early Sunday morning in which one person was killed and five others were injured, two seriously.

The local couple were returning from Atlantic City where they saw the car up against a tree. Two persons were pinned in the wreckage, one of them Miss Margaret Hinchman, 19 of Oceanville, who was killed.

Patrolman and Mrs. Paulsen took the injured from the wreckage and to the office of a nearby physician. They later assisted them to the hospital. The Paulsens had the injured persons removed from the wreckage before Toms River police or other help arrived.

Drivers who rush to meet a traffic light frighten pedestrians and put themselves and other motorists in unnecessary danger.

Tornadoes, high winds and hailstorms caused more than $2,500,000 damages in Kansas during June, 1938, S. D. Fries, federal meteorologist, estimates.

School Site

Dr. David Engelman and Charles A. Goring of the Board pointed out that a number of sites were being considered and made it clear that no decision had been reached. Mrs. Edna Lefler of the board clarified her recent remarks to the P. T. A. by stating that she had not made the statement that a school site had been selected.

John V. Singer of the board said too many persons were trying to make it too easy for children by placing schools close to their homes. He pointed out that the school site was not to be a children's walk to school.

Councilman Hoy also spoke against the Madison avenue site, declaring he felt it was too far from the center of the city.

Superintendent Perry pointed out that under state law, the school could be placed three miles from the center of the municipality.

Councilman Peck favored placing the school in his district. He said he was against destroying valuable real estate by placing a school in a residential area.

Carlton Mages, representing the Masons and Briclayers' Union, informed the board of the PVA-approved site.

John V. Singer of a Freeholder, he operated his own real estate and insurance business. He stated in all of his assignments he has been an active member.

The present waiting list at Bonnie Dunn has been a source of great concern to him. Without further delay, he appeared before the board in connection with the school site.

He stated that the school site, if it resulted in the loss of valuable real estate, would be a hardship on the community.

Exhausted Racing Bird Lands On Local Porch

A homing pigeon evidently exhausted by long flying and lack of food, was found on the porch of a local home.

The bird, a male, was found by Mrs. Noble, 1610 Madison avenue, who gave the bird food and shelter when it alighted on her front porch.

The bird narrowly missed being seized by several cats who were in the porch.

Mrs. Noble is seeking the owner of the pigeon which contains red and white identification band and number.

SOFTBALL STARS PERFORM IN TWO GAMES IN COUNTY PARK HERE SUNDAY MORNING

short sport shots

By Woody

Last year Art Perry of Rahway was the running mate of Bill Tranavitch, Rutgers ball-carrying star, in the Scarlet backfield. Now that Perry has graduated, the Scarlet coaches are looking around for someone to fill his shoes and judging by the showing of Al Hasbrouck of Rahway in the Sea Girl drills, they won't have to look further. When the squad first reported, Hasbrouck, only a sophomore, was slated as Tranavitch's understudy which meant that he wouldn't see much action. This week we received the news from the Rutgers camp that Hasbrouck has looked up in his practice that plans are being considered to use him opposite Tranavitch in the Rutgers backfield. Hasbrouck has shown plenty of ability in carrying the ball and has also stood out on defense. Although he weighs only 170 pounds, Hasbrouck is built like a brick wall and is a tough man to push out of the way because of his sturdy build. With two more seasons after this one, Hasbrouck is bound to win his spurs as a star at Rutgers. He won't cause the coaches any headaches in the classroom, either, because he is an age student, a rare combination which coaches could use more often.

Rahway High School football practice was only eight days old when the squad suffered its second setback in the loss of Fred Jenkins, sophomore. The same day that it was revealed by The Record that Ed Kosarski, the plucky and sturdy halfback would be ineligible because of age after the third game, Jenkins was struck in the kidney with a heel in a contact drill. He was taken to Memorial Hospital and the news is that he won't be able to play any more football this season because school authorities don't wish to risk more serious injury to the boy. Last year Jenkins, as a member of the freshman team, showed the coaches plenty. A tall lad weighing about 170, he was regarded by the coaches as being better than the regular varsity ends last season. Jenkins' loss was a defense line to knock down passes. In addition to the loss of Jenkins, Leroy Edgars and George Varadi left the squad this week when they were forced to quit school to go to work.

Edgars was out of school last year after showing promise as a freshman. He weighs about 160 and was slated for either a tackle or end berth. In practice, Edgars showed plenty of speed and scrap. He had Jenkins no doubt have become two of the outstanding colored players in the history of Rahway football had they remained with the squad. Varadi, a back, showed up well with the freshmen last year and would have been plenty of service had he been able to stay in school. However, that's high school. There are 22 others boys out in football here and among them are a number of players who should be able to replace the lost trio.

The bowling season has begun here in Rahway and one of the features comes from the announcement by Bill Schmidt of the Recreation who reveals that he is again entering his allies in the Red Crown bowling sweepstakes. This event, a nationwide affair, was inaugurated last year and a number of local legends. The Byrnes A. A. became the only local prize and cupped a bowling ball for every member of the team. This year the value of the awards has been increased from $34,000 to $50,000. There will be three classes of competition based upon ability and each class will share identical awards. The country is being divided into four sections this year and instead of competing against teams from the length and breadth of the entire nation, local entrants will only have to compete against teams in their own area this year. There will be a total of 9,000 prizes and competition will be between January 12 and February 11. Bowlers must qualify for the tourney in an A. B. C. sanctioned league by December 17. Last year there were 22,656 bowlers from 1,532 cities competing. Local bowlers will do well to get Schmidt and get the dope about this event because these prizes are mighty nice to have and Rahway has a flock of bowlers who are just as good as the others who will enter.

HERE AND THERE: The sponsors of that hole-in-one tournament at Oak Ridge September 24 and 25 have listed a fine number of prizes which should attract a goodly number of entrants. This column has entry blanks which will be given to those who apply for them at our office. We go out on the limb today and pick the Yankees to win the World Series, four games to one. . . Don't forget the two all-star softball games at the county park Sunday morning for the benefit of Mike Marhak, injured local softball player.

BRIEFS: All opponents on the high school football schedule will have played at least once before meeting the Scarlet. Cranford opens tomorrow against East Orange while Summit, first foe of the Scarlet, opens a week hence against South High of East Orange. Linden, second opponent of Rahway, plays the opener the last Saturday in September. . . The Rahway Elks are all set with teams in the State and Central bowling league again although it looked doubtful like the local youth was up the State League this season. . . Clark Anderson, former Colgate and Montclair High star and a pro baseball catcher owned by the Giants, is coaching at Blair Academy this fall where Watson Maget of this city is a member of the squad.

N. J. R. Inmates Crush Cardinals

Cleland Clin Scores Seven Times In One Inning For 9 To 2 Victory

The N. J. R. Inmates defeated the Rahway Cardinals by a 9 to 2 score on the institution grounds Saturday. After the Cards had scored twice in the fourth, Cleland Clin jumped on Chatterley Koster for seven runs. Dan Romney, regular pitcher for the Rahway team, flamed out the game. Seven extra base hits—two of them homers by 1487 and 10022—played big roles in the victory. Jim Mintel led the Cards with two of their five hits of 1812 who waited 12: The Cards were handicapped by the absence of Bill Hoodwood and Don Newman, star regulars. Score: Rahway Cardinals (25) 9, Rahway Cardinals (25) 2.

High School Grid Squad Rounding Into Shape; Scrimmage Is Today

Twenty-Five Players Listed On Varsity Squad; Three Promising Candidates Lost

Having lost three promising members this week, the Rahway High School football squad ended its second week of drill yesterday with a list of about 25 players fighting for the varsity squad places.

Coach Earl C. Hoadley's squad was swelled to 35 members this week despite the loss of Fred Jenkins and Leroy Edgars, tackle and George Varadi, back. Jenkins received a big and heavy blow when struck by a heel in practice and it is in doubtful shape where he is on the road to recovery.

It is doubtful if he will play this season. Jenkins, a soph, was one of the most promising players of the most promising players of last year and was wearing an eye patch when he was struck by the heel. Hoadley has been giving the boys contact drills during the past week and has had them work on a few plays which two teams have been running through. The coach will get his first look at the team in a contact drill today at 10 A. M. and the second at 2:30 P. M. Total score of both rounds will determine the winners.

Harry Davis of this city is chairman of the event assisted by R. L. Lebo, Charles Gandy and J. W. Whitford.

There is much to recommend it to the modern family looking for an attractive yet inexpensive home. Waste space has been eliminated and room sizes have been kept to adequate yet thrifty dimensions.

For the exterior walls, the working drawings call for the use of stucco over metal lath. White washed common brick could be substituted effectively. Wood shingles, laid normally, are used on the roof. The entrance door shows more than attractive and should be duplicated in building. In place of a full sized dining room there is an adequate dining nook which opens via French doors, to a delightful screened porch—in one corner is an open cupboard for dishes. A few steps away is the kitchen with its built-in cabinets and cupboards conveniently arranged. Downstairs there are two corner bedrooms with a bath in between and off the living room there is a rear way to the second floor which offers the possibility of a third bedroom.

To secure an accurate estimate of the construction cost of this home in your community, let a competent contractor estimate it from the working drawings. Then may be obtained by sending $1.00 to the Home Builders Service at 25 E. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Illinois.

WHAT TO DO THIS WEEK
1. Line unfinished attic space with insulating board or plaster to create an extra bedroom or play room.
2. Modernize obsolete interior trim and doors by replacing with new.
3. Install handrail on cellar stairs for greater safety.
4. Install hearth and mantel for gas or electric radiant heater in bedroom or bedroom lacking chimney connection.
5. Take advantage of opportunity offered by this builder's page to secure sketch of your home showing how it would appear when modernized.

Inexpensive Plank Flooring
Some new homes done in certain architectural styles call for the use of "random width plank" flooring. This type of flooring is attractive, but because it is a little more costly than the ordinary oak flooring it is not practical for many of us. Here is the way to effect, practically the same result, with ordinary oak flooring.
When laying the new flooring, have the carpenter bevel the second, third or fourth board about an eighth of an inch, repeating the operation on the board immediately following. This makes a Y shaped joint randomly spaced four, six or eight inches apart, which, to the casual observer, closely approximates the expensive random width flooring. At the end of each piece of flooring, cut a half inch circle with a blunt edged steel die and let the painter touch the inside of the circle with a paint a shade darker than that used on the rest of the floor. Thus you have just for this type of floor.

REMODEL AND RE-BUILD DURING FALL

About this time there is a lull in building activity. Real estate agents all over the country. This is due in part to several reasons, not the least of which is custom. In most sections of the country, Spring and Summer are the building seasons, with Fall receiving the short end of the volume. Why this should be, has long been a question—why it shouldn't be has long been a fact substantiated by several very excellent reasons.
However, if one can overcome this inert tendency, a brief study of the situation will prove the advisability of building or remodeling now.
In the first place, fall building offers the advantage of surplus labor, particularly has this been true the last three or four years. Work started in the Spring is, by this time completed, further enhancing the supply of unemployed workmen at this time. With labor plentiful competition is keener, a fact which is reflected favorably when bids are being taken for work.
If you have had plans for certain alterations or new construction but have put them away until next Spring, get them out now and have estimates made on the work. More than likely you will be pleasantly surprised by the fact, that you will be able to not only have a better job but get it at a more attractive price than you will be able to do by waiting for a future date when everyone else is having their work figured.

Why not try a touch of the Golden Rule in your driving? The National Safety Council suggests that a smile and a bit of courtesy will make driving more pleasant and will help to prevent accidents.

COURT DECISION OPENS WAY FOR COUNCIL TO REVISE DEMOLITION LAW

Last week the State Supreme Court handed down a decision on the appeal made by Miss Clara Vanderhoven on the order of Common Council demanding that she take steps to demolish five old buildings she owns in Leesville avenue and Main street.

For months local officials have been awaiting a decision on this matter because the verdict would decide whether or not the local ordinance providing demolition of buildings was legal. Although the Supreme Court decision is a set-back to the city's aims to rid itself of a large number of unsightly buildings, all is not lost.

The Court did not rule on the legality of the ordinance. The only fault apparently found by the court with the local method of procedure was in the system of ordering demolition of buildings. It has been customary to make an inspection of the buildings, condemn them and then give the owners 30 days to demolish them.

Since the ordinance has not been declared illegal and since the only complaint voiced by the Court is in the method of procedure in notifying the owners, we think it would be well for the legal branch of the city government to draft an amendment to the ordinance specifying that when a building is deemed worthy of condemnation, that the owner be so notified.

The owner will then have an opportunity to take steps to repair the structure so it conforms with the laws of safety. Should he fail to take these steps, the city could then proceed with the demolition order.

The city was progressing rapidly in the elimination of its eyesores until Miss Vanderhoven's court order stopped the demolition program. There are still a large number of structures here which should be demolished. There are some which have been condemned but still stand as the owners defy the demolition ordinance by ignoring the order to tear the structures down.

Now that the officials have something with which to work, they should get busy at once and revise the ordinance so the portion which has proven offensive to the Court is rectified.

It is to be hoped that the building committee composed of Councilmen H. H. Hedeman and Lusk will see that something is done to salvage the many legal points of this ordinance.

COMMUNISTS WOULD FOIST THESE CONDITIONS ON US

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the International Federation of Trade Unions in Oslo, the Secretary of the Polish National Trade Union Federation said: "Conditions in Russia are like those of the darkest ages. The unions lack freedom."

The General Secretary of the Belgian National Trade Union Federation said of the Russian Trade Unions under Communism:

"They do not pay a penny for strikes there because strikes are forbidden under threats of the death penalty. And the American Communist Party has the brass to invite American laboring men on farms and in factories to join with them. For downright gall that takes rank with the youth on trial for killing his mother and father who pleaded for mercy on the score that he was an orphan."

MARK THESE THREE DATES ON YOUR CALENDAR NOW

The outstanding communities in the metropolitan area each year enjoy a series of remains and lectures by famous personages that may easily be brought to the community because most of them live in and around New York.

Rahway has heard a few of these persons in local appearances but it has been years since more than one came to this city in a single season. Therefore, it is with enthusiasm that the majority of our citizens greet the announcement of the Rahway Teacher's Association that this group will sponsor a lecture and recital series which begins next month.

Proceeds from the affair will go to aid underprivileged children attending the public schools. The funds could not be distributed to a more worthy cause.

Appearing first will be Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer who comes here October 26 with interesting films taken on his 17th Arctic expedition which he completed only a week ago. In November the guest artist will be Miss Hildegard Halliday, former Rahway girl who has achieved fame as a radio reader and entertainer.

The third and final notable to appear will be Dr. Raymond L. Ditmars, international authority on animal life. He will be here in January.

The entire series is being presented at $1 per person. Should the response of the public be sufficient, the teacher's group is planning a more extensive series next year. Rahway has had too few cultured programs of this type and by supporting the coming series, Rahwayans will be able to enjoy hearing and seeing notables at the same time they are aiding a worthy cause.

The Rahway Teacher's Association is to be commended for bringing this series to Rahway. The public is invited to co-operate by setting aside these three dates now and planning to be present.

From The Advocate and Times, September 17, 1933
Mr. J. T. Crane has settled himself in his new quarters on Main street and has a large stock of stoves and tin-work to offer to the public at prices as low as the same goods may be purchased in New York.

A Rare Chance—A young lady desirous of giving music lessons on the piano, will receive a limited number of pupils.

The Misses Mackinnon's School for young ladies and children will reopen Monday at their residence, No. 65 Milton avenue.

Another time table went into effect last week on the Pennsylvania Railroad. All one has to do now is to go to the depot wait a few minutes and jump into a train and go where he wants to.

From The Union Democrat, September 10, 1903
State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles J. B. R. Smith has announced that the department will not issue licenses to any car of more than 65 horse-power.

J. Stanley Davis, during his stay at Asbury Park, competed in the students' match at Sea Girt with Benjamin King, Jr., both gaining their yearly marksmanship.

Burners are still current that the Jersey Central Traction Company is to be merged with the Public Service Corporation. The two lines now connect at South Amboy. This will give continuous connection for Rahway with towns along the Jersey coast by trolley.

Rahway 15 Years Ago

From The Rahway Record, September 11-14, 1918
With more than 800 people in attendance, the annual Slambake of the Rahway Lodge, No. 1075 B. P. O. E. held Sunday at Picton, was a record breaker and one which will be long remembered by guests from this city and surrounding towns.

Alfred C. (Johnny) Brooks, newly-selected coach of Rahway High School eleven has a football record that is the most remarkable of any player in Union County.

Carlton Jones and Elizabeth Lindsey captured the city doubles tennis championship Wednesday night.

Rahway 5 Years Ago

From The Rahway Record, September 15-18, 1933
A group of irate parents were present at the meeting of the Clark Board of Education Tuesday night to demand a high school education for their children. Clark Township is "broke," according to its officials, so "broke" that it cannot pay more than $12,000 in high school tuition-fee to the high school for the 180 men and women who entered the Emergency Relief administration to serve on a committee for an immediate house-to-house canvass to obtain signatures to the consumers code.

George Meyers was elected president of the Phalaxx Fraternity of the Y. M. C. A. at a meeting last night.

A sure sign of the approaching election is the drive being made in some communities to close the gambling dens.

Things have changed a lot and the change has added much to the pleasures of childhood. But my thoughts are not all confined to flashing sails and Mary and her little lambs. They will serve their purpose very well and those who pass may view them with favorable comment, but how many will think of the splendid work that is being done by the kindly souls who have devoted their lives to the teaching of little children. They are the unsung heroes of education. Perhaps they would rather have it that way.

The parochial school, whether it be Protestant or Catholic is saving the taxpayers vast sums of money. In Rahway alone, with St. Paul's Episcopal and St. Mary's, there is a saving of many thousands dollars each year. The money for these schools is contributed by the parishioners and these same parishioners also help support the public school system. There is a double burden, but I have never yet heard anyone complain. However, there are many of our citizens who howl like hurt hounds because they have to pay for the support of schools when they have no children to attend them. This is, to my way of thinking, a rather selfish attitude.

A parochial school is an asset to any community and Rahway should be proud and grateful, too, for the help that it is getting from these institutions of learning.

Douglas Corrigan has returned to his home in California and if we know the Chamber of Commerce there, we will not be won't appear in any more photographs wearing that famous leather jacket which he wore on his famed flight and refused to discard, even during the hot spell here in the East.
