TOO MUCH DICTATORSHIP

What the general public in Rahway would like to see, would be the present Democratic majority of the Common Council handling the business affairs of the city in the same practical and commonsense way in which any good business man runs.

The Council meeting is not a side show; it is not supposed to be a place of entertainment, even though many a vaudeville stunt has been staged at the City Hall in recent months. It is where 11 men, elected by the people of Rahway, are supposed to give of their time and effort to make a $20,000-a-year business corporation pay real dividends in economic foresight and administration of the affairs of a city of about 19,000 people, who think well enough of this community to make their homes here permanently.

That there should have been any hesitancy last Wednesday night in making the appointments of two men for positions that need to be filled immediately by the Common Council, as was witnessed at that meeting, is almost unbelievable, and can be construed only from one angle, and that is a group of Councilmen determined to run the affairs of this city from a purely partisan standpoint, no matter what the cost to the community.

If it had been the time that anything of the kind had taken place it would have been different, but it wasn't. The only thing that was significant at the meeting last Wednesday night, was that it saw a man dictating the affairs of the city. Hereafter it has been an out-of-town Councilman who cracked the whip and made the other members of the majority group jump into line, but this time President Edmund D. Jennings did the trick. His term expires at the end of this year, and the Republicans are planning on having him re-elected.

There could not be found two men more capable of filling the two positions to which the appointments were being made than E. W. Revier for Street Commissioner, and Kenneth Ritchie for City Engineer.

Surely no greater injustice could be done to the City of Rahway or to Kenneth Ritchie, who has served as Assistant Engineer for six years, and who is well qualified as his predecessor to become City Engineer, than to prevent his appointment from being made.

An attempt on the part of the Democratic majority of the Common Council to prevent the appointment of Mr. Revier as Street Commissioner or of Mr. Ritchie as City Engineer but one more valid reason why there should be in the interest of good and sensible government, at the next city election.

CREDIT DUE POPE PIUS XII

What does not seem to be taken into consideration, by either the heads of the allied nations or the newspapers of the country, is the part that Pope Pius XII has played in the situation that now obtains in Italy, and especially in the situation of Mussolini.

While it may be stated that the Pope has not been in sympathy with the aspirations of Benito Mussolini, as premier of Italy, nor with his Fascist philosophy, it does seem that he was constrained to recognize no objection, except where some of Mussolini's orders appeared to be plainly encroachment upon the authority of the Church of Rome, and in such cases he was almost every day, His Eminence came out victorious in almost every case.

But, ever since Mussolini fell called upon to throw in with Hitler, gambling, of course, upon what he thought was the almost certainty that the Führer would win and eventually rule the world, in which he desired some small place. Pope Pius has repeatedly and openly expressed his disapproval of the method of warfare that Premier Mussolini has been compelled to endorse in accord with Hitler.

This disapproval, however, has been expressed in the most tactful and diplomatic manner, and has been recognized by the people of Italy, as well as in many of the nations over which Hitler's intolerance of the Catholic church predominates, and Premier Mussolini, has been questioned, with the result that, while there has had to be obedience within their ranks, all have been feeling outwardly by the people within their ranks a feeling of dissatisfaction and reluctance. And even Italy has been steadily being manifested by the Pope, ever since Mussolini made his entry into Italy 21 years ago.

There is little question but that the same influence of Pope Pius has made an indelible impression upon King Victor Emmanuel, and along with the impressions of King Victor Emmanuel, who hands Mussolini had been forced to place him, but, fix me, I'm talking all over.

Tom Andellinger, son of the Councilman Andellinger, was buried from St. Mark's church, the city, on Sunday, August 3-1878. Young Andellinger was a student of the college, near Lattrobe, Penna. He took an interest in that every Fascist insignia has been removed from the school, and that "public gatherings in Northern Italy urge Premier Badoglio to grant permission for the Italian people to express their opinion in development of a new national policy." It is not too big a thing, is it, taking place in Italy, and time will show that the one who had more to do in bringing this about.

The marble arch of Hadrian is still well preserved, and one can look through this arch to the temple of Zeus, where only a dozen of more than 100 of the columns that supported the immense structure, now stand. Several of these pillars, however, are by themselves, and upon the tops of the Doric capitals they bore, herms of centuries ago, called stylites, dwarf, though having space of not over four feet square to occupy. Here they lived for years, seeking mental uplift in self-abnegation, and furnished food for their friends, in baskets that could be drawn up by ropes.

Further to the left and sloping down towards the city, were two other famous places for outdoor gatherings. The Pnyx, where political gatherings were held on a natural slope of the rocky hillside, and the Areopagus, where the Apostle Paul addressed the Athenians, not hesitating to tell them they were "too religious." In worshiping so many gods. Here is where criminals were tried and, if convicted, they were executed by the sentence of death.

Below this, on a level with the city, in an immense open square, stands the Thesaurus, the best preserved of the ancient temples, built in honor of the goddess Thesmos, with its massive Doric columns, around four sides of the immense well-preserved marble structure.

On the Acropolis one feels he is walking on holy ground, because of the fame that has been given to the city of this city from a purely partisan standpoint, no matter what the cost to the community.

If it had been the time that anything of the kind had taken place it would have been different, but it wasn't. Surely no greater injustice could be done to the City of Rahway or to Kenneth Ritchie, who has served as Assistant Engineer for six years, and who is well qualified as his predecessor to become City Engineer, than to prevent his appointment from being made.

An attempt on the part of the Democratic majority of the Common Council to prevent the appointment of Mr. Revier as Street Commissioner or of Mr. Ritchie as City Engineer but one more valid reason why there should be in the interest of good and sensible government, at the next city election.

What does not seem to be taken into consideration, by either the heads of the allied nations or the newspapers of the country, is the part that Pope Pius XII has played in the situation that now obtains in Italy, and especially in the situation of Mussolini.

While it may be stated that the Pope has not been in sympathy with the aspirations of Benito Mussolini, as premier of Italy, nor with his Fascist philosophy, it does seem that he was constrained to recognize no objection, except where some of Mussolini's orders appeared to be plainly encroachment upon the authority of the Church of Rome, and in such cases he was almost every day, His Eminence came out victorious in almost every case.

But, ever since Mussolini fell called upon to throw in with Hitler, gambling, of course, upon what he thought was the almost certainty that the Führer would win and eventually rule the world, in which he desired some small place. Pope Pius has repeatedly and openly expressed his disapproval of the method of warfare that Premier Mussolini has been compelled to endorse in accord with Hitler.

This disapproval, however, has been expressed in the most tactful and diplomatic manner, and has been recognized by the people of Italy, as well as in many of the nations over which Hitler's intolerance of the Catholic church predominates, and Premier Mussolini, has been questioned, with the result that, while there has had to be obedience within their ranks, all have been feeling outwardly by the people within their ranks a feeling of dissatisfaction and reluctance. And even Italy has been steadily being manifested by the Pope, ever since Mussolini made his entry into Italy 21 years ago.

There is little question but that the same influence of Pope Pius has made an indelible impression upon King Victor Emmanuel, and along with the impressions of King Victor Emmanuel, who hands Mussolini had been forced to place him, but, fix me, I'm talking all over.

Tom Andellinger, son of the Councilman Andellinger, was buried from St. Mark's church, the city, on Sunday, August 3-1878. Young Andellinger was a student of the college, near Lattrobe, Penna. He took an interest in that every Fascist insignia has been removed from the school, and that "public gatherings in Northern Italy urge Premier Badoglio to grant permission for the Italian people to express their opinion in development of a new national policy." It is not too big a thing, is it, taking place in Italy, and time will show that the one who had more to do in bringing this about.

Dehydrators

Now Promised

Estimated 100,000 Will Be On the Market by September 1st

To make sure of every possible method of food preservation available to take care of the city's greatly increased crop, the War Food Administration requested the War Production Board to permit the manufacture of home dehydrators and offer to furnish critical equipment for the purpose.

The War Food Administration approved a program which authorized the manufacture of 100,000 dehydrators by September 1st of this year, and has authorized 10 manufacturers to participate in the program.

As of August 1st, 80,000 of the dehydrators are scheduled for production by commercial concerns. The rest will be made by students in vocational training centers. After fabrication and assembly of the finished dehydrators will be made in the schools for training in the use of the equipment.

Models Approved by War. When buying one of the new dehydrators, you'll have your choice of 10 different models. The designs, from a standpoint of construction as well as in the case of the quality of the product, have been approved by the War Food Administration.

Prices to be Moderate. What you will have to pay for your dehydrator hasn't yet been determined. The Office of Price Administration, whose job it is to set the prices for the various models, estimates that they will range between $40 and $80.

Dehydrating Disapproved. However, food dehydrators are not to be used for dehydrating food. The dehydrators are to be used for dehydrating food, not for dehydrating food.

Defense Notes

The successful progress of the war seems to have raised doubts in the minds of many civilians as to the necessity of their own defense organization and effort. Let us look at this thing squarely:

The protection of our eastern seaboard is a matter of vital importance. In the event of enemy attack, it is long been recognized by army officers as necessary military defense. General Dym has so stated on a number of occasions and navy ships require that the eastern seaboard be defended to protect shipping.

We hope that we will never have to defend our eastern seaboard. But it is a fact that we are not doing so.
