A portrait of Sarah Bernhardt, or who once was the bearer of that name, as she appears in the second act of "Froc-Frou," by the Viennese painter, Mackart, is to be exhibited in the Salon of Paris. Mackart, in his dashing style, is just the artist to paint the queer and original Sarah. He will have in his subject the very material suitable for his cunning brush, and the lady will find in him enough of the eccentric to suit her.

Miss Mary Anderson closes her theatrical season the present week at the Novelty Theatre, in the East District of Brooklyn. Since the 26th of September last she has appeared in thirty-seven cities, and in all has been welcomed with popular enthusiasm. Her presentation of Galatea has everywhere been accounted as one of the best works of her life and it is undoubtedly one of the best performances that now graces the stage.

Of course women are inferior to us lords of creation. We see and feel this hourly. Take dress, for example. What man, however idiotic, would permit his heart, lungs and stomach to be laced in a pair of corsets, until breathing, circulation and digestion come to be diseases? What man, outside an asylum for idiots, would permit from five to twenty pounds to be swung from his hips, over a pair of shoes that have the heels where the soles ought to be? Where is the lunatic willing to pile pounds on pounds of dead hair on his skull? And all because some skinny old milliners and dirrettes of Paris make it the fashion.—Don Piatt in the Washington Capital.

A very beautiful design has been selected for the costly gift about to be presented by the residents of Windsor to the Princess Helen of Waldeck, upon the occasion of her marriage with the Duke of Albany. The jewel will consist of a double coil brilliant serpent bracelet, the scales of which will be formed by twenty-carat stones set continuously in silver framework, with a large sapphire, valued at £70, upon the head, and ruby eyes. The back of the bracelet will be of dark blue enamel work, while the inside will be lined with gold and engraved with the inscription, "From Windsor," and the date of the marriage, which has yet to be settled. The jewel will cost about £350.

THE CORSET REDIVIVUS.—Tight-lacing is back. The fashion-plate proclaims it, the masculine eye or arm observes it, and the moralist will shortly begin to repeat the eloquent condemnation of the sight Christian and seven Pagan centuries in which it has deformed the bodies of women and perverted the taste of men. The modern world's seasons of devotion to the waist as nature made it are few. Only four times since the fashions of France began to make fair the Saxon realm under Edward the Confessor has the corset in some shape been absent. Nothing short of a desolate France loosens the busks of Christendom. Once in the twelfth century, when the loose fashions of the East came back in the wake of the French crusader, who returned to hear of France torn and conquered; once in the sixteenth century, when the civil wars of the Huguenots were barely over, before the days of the Fronde began; in the last days of the eighteenth century and the dawn of the nineteenth, when France awoke from the revolution to delirium under the Empire; and, last, in the brief penitence of Sedan—has the waist had average freedom. Through all the other generations of mode and fashion the corset has had its day, tight-drawn in many forms, with one object. The woman never lived who loved ease and found it but she sought support for the pliant lines of the draped figure. High and corseless physical development was of brief duration in the miscalled ancient world. What women have practiced in all ages and the individual man has approved at every age may be harmful, but must be fascinating. It rests, as most follies so-called rest, on fact, and supplies a need, artificial it may be—as what is not?—for a support which nature gives only to the vigorous. The wasplike is not the healthy waist, but it is often the comfortable one; and the lessons and the lines of eight centuries of European fashion are read in vain if the censor of modes does not learn that tight lacing is a result and not a cause, the fruit of weak bodies and not their source. If tight-lacing is stayed, it will not be by preachment or prescription, but by the young woman of the day, whose active physical life has given her a new sense of the high pleasure of action. It is possible for the tightly laced woman to waltz for hours; but to play lawn tennis or to row is out of the question to the woman who insists on fitting her figure to a corset, instead of using the corset to the support and not the contraction of her waist. It is barely possible that this growing class of healthy girls may save American fashions from a return to the waist of twenty years ago, but it is not likely. The tide of fashion and the needs of idle women will probably be too strong for the demands of nature and the preferences of the active.—Philadelphia Press.

Noah Webster was a celebrated author. He was a quick and ready writer, and in one of his inspired moments he dashed off a dictionary. He took it to several publishers, but they shied at it, saying that the style was dull, dry, turgid, hard and uninteresting, and besides that, he used too many big words. But at last Noah succeeded, and the immortal work is in daily use, propping up babies at the dinner table.—Steuben Republican.

A SCHOOL INCIDENT.

How dear to my heart is the school I attended,
And how I remember, so distant and dim,
That red headed Bill, and the pin that I bended,
And carefully put on the bench under him!

And how I recall the surprise of the master,
When Bill gave a yell, and sprang up with the pin
So high that the bullet head busted the plaster
Above, and the scholars all set up a grin.

That active boy Billy, that high-leaping Billy!
That loud-shouting Billy that sat on a pin!

Around the sides of the building a raised platform is arranged, upon which the larger dogs, such as mastiffs, St. Bernards and the Westminster Club's seven best dogs are shown. Barry Pitt is now in process of manufacture some very attractive markers—for the purpose of permanently marking every soldier's and sailor's grave. The above markers will be placed on the graves before Decoration Day.

Rahway, April 12th, 1881.

N. Hart Jackson, the well known actor, son in law of the late Smith Coddington, of this city, died at No. 18 Fifth avenue, New York, on Thursday of last week, at the age of 42 years. His funeral took place on Saturday morning from the "old Little Church around the Corner" church of the Transfiguration, Twenty ninth street, New York, of which the Rev. Dr. G. H. Houghton is rector. The body was brought to Rahway on Saturday afternoon and interred in Hazelwood cemetery.

We received from James Vick, the Rochester florist, the present week a large package of assorted flower seeds, for which the gentleman has our thanks. This reminds us to say to our readers who have a taste for flower gardening that if they send to Vick for a copy of the Floral Guide of the present year they will find in it a great amount of valuable information, and they will be very likely to follow up its reading by transmitting to him an order for seeds, bulbs or plants—which he sends to any part of the United States free of postage.

Mr. James H. Chamberlain, a well known and respected citizen of Rahway, father of William Chamberlain, the Monroe street coal dealer, died on Saturday last at the New York Hospital whither he had gone for treatment for a kidney trouble, from which he had for some time been a sufferer. His age was 74 years. His funeral took place at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, from the residence of his son, at the corner of Milton and Union avenues. The religious services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Robinson, pastor of the First Baptist church.

An aged lady, Mrs. Anna Maria Barbara Rahmstock, the mother-in-law of Mr. William Seling, the florist, died at the residence of Mr. Rolph Marsh, on Georges avenue (opposite Scott ave.) at 6 o'clock on Sunday morning, in the 87th year of her age. Her funeral took place yesterday afternoon, from the residence of her son-in-law, on Scott street. The services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Rudolph, pastor of the German Presbyterian church at Elizabeth. Mrs. Rahmstock was one of the oldest residents in the city, having resided here thirty-five or forty years. After her arrival in this country she had been a widow for about

The Rev. L. R. Dunn, presiding elder of the Elizabeth district of the Newark conference, preached in the Second M. E. church on Sunday evening before a large congregation. The Wesleyan Choralists rendered some very fine musical selections from a new book just out, which is entitled "Light and Life." The new pastor of this church, the Rev. Mr. Gordon, expects to bring his family to this city and occupy the parsonage this week.

The weather has now become very delightful, and yesterday was as charming a spring day as one could expect to see for the middle of April. The sky to-day is hazy, with signs of increasing cloudiness. To-morrow it promises to be warm, partly cloudy and possibly showery. A walk in the morning of these spring days, in the vicinity of our city, will be found very pleasant by persons possessed of a love for pedestrianism and have the time to devote to this way. The air is vocal with the voice of various song-birds, and trees and plants are beginning to open their buds and will soon be in leaf and bloom—although Vennor tells us that the latter part of April and the entry of May will remind one of winter again.

CONFIRMATION OF CHILDREN.—The Rt. Rev. Bishop Wigger gave confirmation to a class of about fifty-six children and young persons in St. Mary's church at 8:30 o'clock this morning. There were about thirty boys in the class and about twenty-six young misses and ladies. The latter all wore white dresses and wreathes of flowers and long lace veils upon their heads. Among the young ladies was one lady who is a convert to Catholicism, Miss Assman, of East Rahway. She was baptized yesterday, and with her companions went to her first communion to-day. Before administering the sacred rite Bishop Wigger addressed the recipients of it, in eloquent language explaining the duties it imposed and the privileges and graces it was designed to confer. The ceremony was witnessed by a large congregation.

SUMMER RESORTS ON THE JERSEY COAST.—An old and pleasant custom is to be revived at Long Branch the coming season. A pavilion has been built on the lawn in front of the Ocean Hotel, and open-air concerts will be given by a band every morning and evening.....A part of the large dining hall of the Long Branch Hotel is being made into sleeping apartments, and a restaurant will be opened in the pavilion.....Deal Beach, Sea Girt, Spring Lake, Asbury Park and Neptune City, below Long Branch, are destined to attain more prominence than ever this year, and to have a most successful season.....Four hundred cottages built at Asbury Park sixty last season, and not one of them remains unsold or unrented. The "boom" alleged to have struck the place is of the most extraordinary size.

THE AURORAL DISPLAY ON SUNDAY NIGHT.—The beautiful display of aurora borealis in the northwestern sky on Sunday night was witnessed by hundreds of the citizens of Rahway, as well as by those of cities and towns across the entire country. It was the most brilliant display of its kind seen for many years, and it lasted until dawn broke in the eastern sky. The exhibition began about 8 o'clock and reached its greatest point of magnificence near midnight. We cannot better describe its appearance than by quoting the description given by the Newark Advertiser. That journal says: "At first faint corruscations of light flashed out from a dark back-ground and in great streams shot up toward the zenith; these changed alternately to light pink and straw color. The long streams were agitated as though emitted from an instrument, swept by invisible fingers or undulated by a light breeze. They quivered and waved, changing their hues as they flashed until the whole northern sky was ablaze with refulgent glory which no words are adequate to describe." Another account of the wonderful auroral display says: "At times the illumination was of a blood red color, and again vast silver waves rolled along the heavens." During the display the atmosphere was heavily charged with electricity, so much so that telegraphing was difficult.

BISHOP MCNAMARA'S EXPERIENCE.—The Independent Catholic church, was in Rahway on Sunday, and spoke at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the Gordon Opera House, giving an account of his experience as a priest and an ex-priest of the Roman Catholic Church. At the commencement of his address he had a very large audience, but as he continued speaking nearly three hours the number of persons in attendance when he finished was much smaller than when he began. He said that he was once a most devoted Catholic, and after having completed his education in France, and travelled in Germany and Italy, he was ordained and sent to this country at his own desire as a missionary priest. His first charge was at Niagara Falls, and his next in Philadelphia. Afterwards he exercised his ministerial functions in Brooklyn, N. Y., where we believe he built a church and began the the establishment of a college, with the approval of his bishop. He said also that while he was a theological student he had a mental experience that neither he nor his father confessor could explain; but which he now believes was conversion, or "the new birth." He was happy beyond description. He was urged, he says, by his confessor to become a priest, and assured that God would open the way before him and use him in his church in some wonderful way in the future. The cause of his first trouble with the Bishop of Brooklyn he did not make clear to his audience. He was silenced as a priest, and forbidden to say Mass; but he wore the garb of a priest for a considerable time and lived as a priest. His reason for breaking with the Roman church, he says, was the fact that he saw his own people, the Irish nation, downtrodden and oppressed through Italian influence; and at last he determined to and did excommunicate the Pope of Rome. He charged that the Catholic clergy do not understand the relations of God with human souls, and that not one-fourth of them believe the doctrines they teach. They are in the priesthood, he said, and know not how to get out of it. He also stated that he had been hounded about by emissaries of the "man in Italy," although he did not state who these emissaries were. On first beginning the religious work in New York in which he is now engaged he said Mass frequently, but at last he determined that he would not continue longer to say Mass or to hear confessions. He proposed to continue his preaching through the country and over the world.

About 7 o'clock Sunday evening a large crowd gathered about him at the depot, whither he went to take the train for New York, and he was asked a number of questions by Irishmen, to some of which he made replies; and some unwise persons used very severe language against him, but no personal violence was attempted.

A STUPEFIED TRAMP KILLED.—About two o'clock yesterday morning an unknown man, about 40 years old, supposed to be a tramp, was killed at the Scott avenue railroad crossing in this city. It is believed that he must have attempted to board a passing freight train for a free ride and was struck by the locomotive of the passenger express which goes by at about the hour named. His body was thrown several feet away from the track, and was pretty badly cut up. The county coroner was notified, and after viewing the body gave a burial permit and turned the body over to Undertaker Ryno for burial. There was no money found in the pockets of the dead man, or any papers by which his identity could be known.

SOCIAL EVENTS IN RAHWAY.—A sociable was given last Friday evening in Marsh's Hall, on Irving street, by Miss Ida Marsh. The Hall was very prettily decorated for the occasion with flags and banners, and a large number of the young lady's friends were present. There was dancing until the wee sma' hours of morning.

Miss Ella Morse, daughter of John R. Morse, was married on Tuesday evening at her father's residence, on Seminary street, by the Rev. Levi W. Norton, rector of St. Paul's church, to Mr. Charles Platt, son of the late William Platt.

The german given on Wednesday evening of last week in honor of the Misses Crowell, daughters of the Hon. Joseph T. Crowell, the first of the Easter society events in this locality, was a full dress affair. Thirteen couples took part in the dance. Among the young ladies present were Misses Julia Stanly, Daisy Bush, Sadie Brewster, Carrie Martin, Madge Oliver, Jennie and Ida Jones, and Dollie Craig. Among the young gentlemen present were Messrs. Ed. Squire, Fred. Shotwell, William H. Peterson, John Savage, Ed. Rudd, Dr. Walter E. Cladek, Mr. Morris and Ben. King.

A CATHOLIC MISSION.—A Catholic Mission is in progress the present week at St. Mary's Catholic church. The priests conducting it are Dominican Fathers, from the Church of St. Antoninus, in Newark. The mission began on Sunday morning, and three services are held daily: At 5 and 8 o'c'ock in the morning, and at 7:30 in the evening. A German priest is in attendance to-day for the purpose of hearing the confessions of those who cannot speak English. The sermons delivered on Sunday, and on Monday and last evening were listened to by very large audiences. The order of the Dominicans has always been noted for the eloquence of its preachers, and the Fathers conducting this Mission are no exception to the general rule. St. Dominic, the founder of the order, established the devotion known as the Rosary; and among the most noted of the great names connected with the order in former centuries is that of St. Thomas Aquinas, the "angelical doctor," while in our own day the order has a most brilliant light in the person of the Very Rev. Father Tom Burke, of Dublin, who visited this country in 1871 and held a controversy with the historian Froude. The order has vied with the Jesuits in its missionary zeal, and in the middle of the eighteenth century it had more than a thousand monasteries. It now has five of these monasteries in England, twelve in Ireland and eight in the United States.

The priests holding the Mission are the Rev. Fathers Turner, O'Mahoney and Griff.

The interesting public services of the Mission now being held at St. Mary's church are free to all who wish to attend them, and persons who may attend will be sure to hear some very eloquent speaking.

DEFALCATION OF THE CLERK OF THE WATER BOARD.—There was quite a little stir of excitement in the city on Monday morning in consequence of the revelation of a defalcation on the part of Mr. Caleb Woodruff, clerk of the water board. It had been suspected for a number of weeks, by persons who were in a position to know, that the accounts of the clerk of the water board were somewhat disarranged; and it is said that an investigation had for some time been in progress, which had been interrupted by the illness of Councilman Melick, who is a member of the board. The members of the board (except Councilman Melick) held a meeting on Saturday afternoon, and required Woodruff to deliver up the keys and directed him to settle his accounts forthwith, and placed Mr. E. M. Brown, the receiver of taxes, in temporary charge of the office. We are informed, from a trustworthy source, that Woodruff admitted to the board that he had appropriated to his own use $1,326 of the water funds of the city. It is reported that the money taken has been spent in gambling, but for the truthfulness of this statement we cannot vouch. As the books of the office have been very loosely kept, the exact amount of the embezzlement cannot yet be known with certainty.

Since the meeting of the water board on Saturday Woodruff has left the city, and it is said that he is now in Newark. We understand that the water board has taken steps to secure his arrest, but at the hour of this writing he had not been taken into custody. His family do not think that it was his intention to take to flight, and say that they think he can be found in a day or two. He represented on Saturday, after he had admitted his defalcation, that he had friends at New Brunswick who would assist him out of his difficulty.

Woodruff had been clerk of the water board since September, 1880, he having taken the place of Mr. Ira F. Morgan, who was displaced by reason of the political fortunes of the city being transferred from the republican to the democratic party. His appointment, it is said, was made against the urgent wishes of two members of the board (Mayor Savage and Dr. W. C. Selover), and in the absence of the latter. His friends urged that if he were placed in a position of trust and influence he would redeem a character that had been somewhat clouded by previous ill-doing, and the result of trusting to their hopes is now seen.

No permanent appointment of a successor will be made at present; probably not until his accounts have been thoroughly examined and the exact amount of the deficiency has been ascertained. Mr. Brown has for some time been practically discharging the duties of the office—as Woodruff was much of the time absent, and when persons went thither to pay their water rents they were obliged to go away without being able to settle their bills, unless Mr. Brown was willing to receive their funds.

Councilman Melick, who is suffering from remittent fever, has for the past week and a half been confined to his room, and it may be some little time before the full investigation of Woodruff's accounts is completed.

Daniel G. and David B. Hetfield were Woodruff's bondsmen the first year he was in office, they being held in the sum of $5,000 each; but for some unexplained reason it appears that he was allowed to continue in the position without renewing his bonds for the faithful discharge of the duties of the office. The defalcations, it is alleged, occurred in the first six months that Woodruff was clerk of the board.

THE COUNTING OF THE ELECTORAL VOTE FOR PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT.—The House Committee on the law respecting the election of President and Vice-President of the United States has agreed upon a bill to carry into effect the provision of the Constitution respecting the subject, and has directed Chairman Updegraff, of Iowa, to report the same to the House with a favorable recommendation. The bill provides that in case of controversy the title to the office of elector may be decided by the highest tribunal of a State, between the day of choosing the electors and the day on which they are to vote, and that such decision shall be conclusive unless reversed by both houses; that if objection is made to the reading of any electoral certificate, at the time Congress shall count the electoral votes (which must be on the second Wednesday in January following a Presidential election), such objection must be in writing, and state clearly and concisely, without argument, the ground on which it is based; that if there be more than one judicial decision as to the eligibility of an elector the two houses of Congress shall decide which decision is to be received; and if there has been a controversy and no certified decision has been transmitted, the contested vote of a State shall not be counted except by the concurrence of both houses. In case several electoral certificates are received from a State the two houses of Congress are to determine which is executed by proper authority and is to be received; and that if a result is not reached before the fifth calendar day after the first meeting of the two houses to count the electoral votes no further recess shall be taken by either house until the count is disposed of. The bill also further provides that the title to the office of President or Vice President of the United States may be tried and determined by quo warranto proceedings in the Circuit Court of the United States for the district in which either of the defendants reside, provided the action is begun within ten days after the declaration of the electoral count is made by Congress.

NOTED MEN!

DR. JOHN F. HANCOCK, late President of the National Pharmaceutical Association of the United States, says:

"Brown's Iron Bitters has a heavy sale, is conceded to be a fine tonic; the character of the manufacturers is a voucher for its purity and medicinal excellence."

DR. JOSEPH ROBERTS, President Baltimore Pharmaceutical College, says:

"I indorse it as a fine medicine, reliable as a strengthening tonic, free from alcoholic poisons."

DR. J. FARIS MOORE, PH. D., Professor of Pharmacy, Baltimore Pharmaceutical College, says:

"Brown's Iron Bitters is a safe and reliable medicine, positively free from alcoholic poisons, and can be recommended as a tonic for use among those who oppose alcohol."

DR. EDWARD EARICKSON, Secretary Baltimore College of Pharmacy, says:

DR. RICHARD SAPINGTON, one of Baltimore's oldest and most reliable physicians, says:

"All who have used it praise its standard virtues, and the well-known character of the house which makes it is a sufficient guarantee of its being all that is claimed, for they are men who could not be induced to offer anything else but a reliable medicine for public use."

A combination of Protoxide of Iron, Puritan Bark and Phosphorus in a palatable form. The only preparation of iron that will not blacken the teeth, so characteristic of other iron preparations.
GENTLEMEN: I have used DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC in my practice, and in an experience of twenty-five years in medicine, have never found anything to give the results that DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC does. Cases that have baffled some of our most eminent physicians, have yielded to this great and incomparable remedy. I prescribe it in preference to any iron preparation made. In fact, such a compound as DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC is a necessity in my practice. DR. ROBERT SAMUELS.

PROPOSITION OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE HOLDERS OF RAHWAY BONDS.

Our readers are doubtless all aware that the committee of Rahway bondholders have made a counter-proposition to that offered by the city officials. The proposition really embodies two offers, and the committee say if the city will elect either they will recommend acceptance.

The first is 40 per cent. of principal and past due interest by an issue of new bonds to run fifty years at four per cent. interest.

The second is 50 per cent. of principal and past due interest by an issue of new bonds to run fifty years, upon which two per cent. shall be paid for the first ten, three per cent. for the next ten, four per cent. for the next ten, five per cent. for next ten, and six per cent. for the last ten years.

Assuming, in round numbers, the entire indebtedness to be $2,000,000, by the first proposition the principal sum of the new bonds will be 40 per cent., or $800,000. Four per cent. interest upon this for 50 years is.....$1,600,000

Total.....$2,400,00

By the second proposition the principal sum of the new bonds will be 50 per cent.. or.....$1,000,000

The interest upon this for the first 10 years, at 2 per cent., is..	200,000

For the second, at 3 per cent., is..	300,000
For the third, at 4 per cent., is..	[illegible]

WORTH THINKING ABOUT.

An article taken from the Indianapolis Journal by the New York Tribune begins thus: "It is no longer proper to talk of the 'temperance question' when reference is made to that disturbing element which has suddenly made its appearance in the politics of every State, for the attitude of the liquor-sellers has transferred all solicitude from the temperance people to the Liquor Sellers' League, which has thrust itself forward as the dictator of all political parties." The Tribune speaks of this organized attempt to coerce legislation in the interests of the liquor traffic as a question the Republican party must meet, and quotes with approval the Journal's language: "It is not the question of prohibition, but the question whether a mere handful of men, who are engaged in one class of business, shall dictate the policy of the several States and of the General government, and make or unmake political parties at their pleasure. We express no opinion as to the merits of the question of prohibition, but no American can deny the right of the people to vote on it. Men may pass for Democrats who deny this right, but no man can be a Republican and deny it."

When Andrew Jackson said: The sober second thought of the people is always right and is always effective, he declared a truth which lies at the foundation of a Republican form of government, and which the increased popular intelligence of this generation renders even more certain than when it was first spoken. There is no question besides which comes so near to the interests, the prosperity and the happiness of the whole country as does that relating to the traffic in intoxicating drinks, yet it is one in which opinion is not divided on party lines, hence it cannot be made a party issue. The only thing which can remove this "disturbing question from politics is to provide for its submission to the people, that question of submitting the subject to a popular vote the Liquor Dealers League is organized to oppose; yet it is one which in the near future must be met and settled.

The country will find satisfaction in the action of the House of Representatives by which the delegate from Utah Mr. Cannon, has been refused a seat in that body. SENATE 167.

As we have heretofore had little to say in regard to Senate Bill 167, and in order that our readers may understand fully its nature, we publish below the full text of the bill as it was introduced. An amendment was afterward incorporated in it, by which city authorities were insured the right to go upon the riparian lands for the purpose of building, maintaining or repairing sewers, without any hindrance or interference by the land-owners. Next week we shall probably publish the speech of Senator Applegate, of Monmouth county, on the bill, as presenting a fair and complete statement of its nature and effect.

AN ACT to establish and protect the rights of the grantees, lessees and licensees of this State from easements on lands now or heretofore lying below high-water mark, in the tide-waters of this State, and to maintain the revenues derived therefrom and appropriated to the support of free schools.

WHEREAS, Certain easements of highway are claimed to exist, and may hereafter be claimed to exist, or to have risen upon, over or across lands now or heretofore of this State, lying below the ancient high-water mark in the tide-waters of the State, whether heretofore reclaimed or not, and upon, over or across the lands so situate, which, or the use of which, have been heretofore granted, leased or licensed by the State to other persons or corporations, which easements are claimed to exist, and that they will hereafter arise by force of the laying out or dedicating of streets, roads or highways upon the upland and to or over such tide-waters; and whereas, the existence of such easements is injurious to the State, its grantees, lessees and licensees, and will seriously impair the value of said lands, and diminish the revenues to be derived from future sales, leases and licenses of said lands, which revenues are appropriated to the support of the free schools of this State; therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That in all cases where any person or corporations shall have heretofore obtained or shall hereafter obtain, from this State or from the riparian commissioners thereof, or from any officers or boards of the State thereunto appointed or empowered, a conveyance in fee or other conveyance or a lease of a term or a license for improving, holding, possessing or enjoying any lands lying below the ancient natural high-water mark bounding said lands, are now reclaimed or not, such grantee, lessee or licensee, and their successors, heirs and assigns, shall hold, possess and enjoy in fee or for the term promised or expressed in any such grant, lease or license, the most comprised in said grant, even print itself, lying within the [illegible] distinguished by carelessness or stupidity in the composing-room.

The perversity of some printers is tantalizing in the extreme. They frequently take it upon themselves to alter and amend what they, in their wisdom, suppose to be wrong, while it is really perfectly correct; and they as often adhere persistently to the manuscript, when it might be apparent to the meanest intelligence that a word has been omitted, or that, from some other cause, the sentence is imperfect or erroneous. Or they may substitute one word for another, making utter nonsense of the context. For instance, a compositor put into the mouth of one of the most ardent admirers of a leading Senator the statement that the honorable gentleman was "the spout of the Democratic party," when "spirit" was the term employed.

The omission or addition of a single letter, or the substitution of a wrong one, sometimes produces the most comical results. A glowing writer is made to speak of certain of the works of Nature as "silent preachers of immorality [immortality]. It is rather imposing on the credulity of the public to state that "a boatman rowing by at the time of the occurrence was knocked down, and one of his ears [oars] was carried at least thirty yards away;" and it seems an ungenerous reflection upon the bravery of the Peruvians to say that they "expected to accomplish great things with their feet" [fleet]. Still more unkind was it to describe the table decorations at a recent fashionable wedding as being composed of pothouse instead of "hothouse" flowers. What sort of a biblical education had the compositor received who was responsible for the following: "If they are true men, they would refuse to sell their birthright for a mess of postage." And what is to be thought of the profane individual who, in setting up the verdict, "died by the visitation of God," altered the fourth word to hesitation?

It may be thought that most of the errata we have quoted must have been due to illegible writing, and in all probability they were. One would expect that people who have sufficient leisure to make poetry, should also have time to write out their effusions in a legible hand. Such is not always their practice, however; at least poets seem to complain as much of the printer's tricks as other classes. In a poem by a young lady, the line, "Oh, for a heart full of sweet yearning!" occurred in the manuscript. But in print the last word appeared as yearling; and the poetess very naturally wrote to the editor that the compositor who had set up her effusion was a calf. There is a funny sketch by Max Adeler, in which he describes an interview between the editor of a newspaper and an outraged poet, who has come to complain of the publication of his contribution, entitled The Surcease of Sorrow, in which the line:

I am weary of the tossing of the ocean as it heaves,

is rendered:

I am wearing out my trousers till they're open at the knees.

These may be fictitious blunders; but it is not too much to say that they are founded on fact, and do not exaggerate very greatly the printer's capacity for burlesque. That versatile individual, however, makes an occasional essay in tragedy as well. A Western newspaper, reporting the annual meeting of the trustees of a Maternity Hospital, announced the other day that the children burned alive in the hospital during the year numbered one hundred and twenty-three. It is necessary to explain that the word "burned" should read "born." Serious consequences might have resulted from the statement

Charles Robert Darwin, the famous naturalist and author of "The Origin of Species" and "The Descent of Man," son of the late Dr. Robert W. Darwin and grandson of Dr. Erasmus Darwin, died on Thursday, at his home, Down House, near Orpington, England, at the age of 73 years.

Thursday was quite a day for stylish weddings in several of the great cities of the country. In Philadelphia three such affairs came off. In the morning, in old St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church, Miss Elizabeth Rush, daughter of the late Murray Rush, and granddaughter of Richard Rush, formerly American minister to England, was married to Mr. Biddle Porter, who represents in his name two of the best known families of Philadelphia. In the afternoon, in the same church, Miss Marion Morris, great-great-granddaughter of Robert Morris of Revolutionary fame, and stepdaughter of George M. Dallas (ex-Vice President of the United States), was married to Mr. Norris Williams. There were ten bride-maids, and three clergymen participated in the ceremonies. At the Tabernacle church Miss Marguerite Kneass, daughter of Vice-President Kneass, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, was married to James Rawlston Grant, a young banker. There were six bridesmaids, and two clergymen officiated; and the guests included millionaires, railway and city officials and many other persons of distinction. The young couple sailed from New York for Europe to-day on an extended tour.

New York had four great weddings on Thursday, and Brooklyn one.

Not a drink, not sold in bar-room, but a reliable non alcoholic tonic medicine, useful at all times and in all seasons, is Brown's Iron Bitters.

JUMBO'S TRAVELING CAR.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is constructing a special car in which the monster elephant Jumbo will make his tour of the States. The car will cost $1,700, and was constructed at the Company's shops at the Meadows, near Jersey City. As soon as the traveling hotel, as it is called, was completed, it was forwarded to New York City and placed on the New York Central tracks, in the rear of Madison Square Garden. To-night Jumbo will be persuasively invited to enter his new traveling quarters. Then the car will be hauled over to the Thirty-first street ferry, where a ferry-boat will be chartered to convey Jumbo and his car to [illegible] Jersey City use for the ring.—[illegible]

"Ah, that will be ever so nice," said the young lady, "for now if you get the ring you can give it back, and we'll put it in another cake."

"Indeed," said the young man, with a sickly smile. "To be sure, but—"

"Oh, there isn't any but about it," said the young lady smiling sweetly. "You know you promised."

"Promised?"

"Well, no, not exactly that, but you will take just one slice?" and she looked her whole soul into his eyes.

"Well, I suppose—"

"To be sure. There is your cake," and she slipped a great slice into his delicately gloved hands as he handed her a dollar bill. "Oh, that is too nice," added the young lady as she plastered another piece of cake on top of the one she had just given him. "I knew you would take at least two chances," and his dollar bill disappeared across the table, and she called to her companion: "Oh, Miss Larkins, here is a gentleman who wishes to have his fortune told."

"Oh, does he? Send him right over," answered Miss Larkins.

"I beg your pardon, but I'm afraid you are mistaken. I don't remember saying anything about—"

"Oh, but you will," said the first young lady, tugging at the youth's arm. "It's for the good of the cause, and you won't refuse," and once more the beautiful eyes looked soulfully into his. "Here we are. Now take an envelope. Open it. There: you are going to be married in a year. Isn't that jolly? Seventy-five cents, please." This time the youth was careful to hand out the exact change.

"Oh, I should just like to have my fortune told. May I?" said the first young lady. "Of course you may, my dear," said Miss Larkins, handing out one of her envelopes. "Oh, dear, you are going to be married this year, too. Seventy-five cents more, please," and the poor youth came down with another dollar note. "No change here, you know," added Miss Larkins, putting the greenback in her pocket.

"Oh, come, let's try our weight," said the first young lady, again tugging at the bashful youth's coat sleeve, and before he knew where he was he found himself standing on the platform of the scales. "One hundred and thirty-two," said the young lady. "Oh, how I should like to be a great, heavy man like you," and she jumped on the scales like a bird. "One hundred and eighteen! Well, that is light. One dollar, please."

"What!" said the youth, "one dollar! Isn't that pretty steep? I mean—"

"Oh, but you know," said the young lady, "it is for charity," and another $1 was added to the treasury of the fair.

"I think I'll have to go. I have an engagement at—"

"Oh, but first you must buy me a bouquet for taking you all around," said the young lady. "Right over here," and they were soon in front of the flower table. "Here is just what I want," and the young lady picked up a basket of roses and violets. "Seven dollars, please."

"Oh, Jack, is that you?" cried the poor youth's "cousin" from behind the flower counter, "and buying flowers for Miss Giggle, too. Oh, I shall be terribly jealous unless you buy me a basket too," and she picked up an elaborate affair. "Twelve dollars, please, Jack," and the youth put down the money, looking terribly confused, as much as though he didn't know whether to make a bolt for the door or give up all hope and settle down in despair.

"You'll excuse me, ladies," he stammered, "but I must go. I have—"

"Here, let me pin this in your buttonhole," interrupted his "cousin." "Fifty cents, please," and then the youth broke away and made a straight line for the door.

"Well, if I ever visit another fair may I be—be—," he ejaculated, as he counted over his cash to see if he had the car fare to ride home.—Brooklyn Eagle.

BIG RESULTS FROM LITTLE CAUSES

"Do you know?" remarked a man to his friend on Chestnut street, a day or two since, "I believe both Conkling and Platt had a bad case of skin disease when they resigned?" "What makes you think so?" inquired the listener in astonishment. "Well, you see they acted in such an eruptive manner—so rash—if as it were. Save?" "Oh! yes, I save," replied the other, "they were bad—ing over and slowly resigned to fortune themselves, I suppose." If such be the case, the National difficulty might have been averted by applying Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases.

Mr. Editor: Permit me through the medium of your columns to return my sincere and heartfelt thanks to the members of representatives of the Fire Department and the Fire Department, and to the men and army of the Republic, for the many acts of kindness shown and the attention given during the sickness of my son Robert, and for the respect shown him at his death. All such acts evince a true Christian spirit. MRS MARY HUGHES.

THE NEW CITY COUNCIL AND ITS APPOINTED OFFICERS.—The first Monday of May, which this year will fall on the 1st day of the month, is the time fixed by the city charter for the term of office of all officers chosen at the annual charter election except justices of the peace and chosen freeholders—to begin. The officers the new council, if it shall organize the 1st of May, will be at liberty to appoint, by a majority vote of its members, are a city clerk, a receiver of taxes, a city surveyor, city attorney, overseer of the poor, police justice and such other officers as are deemed necessary for the better ordering and governing of the city—the terms of office of all these officials commencing on the first Monday of May. The term of office of street commissioner and superintendent of the almshouse commences on the first Monday of February.

THE FLATT-MORSE WEDDING.—About sixty guests and friends witnessed the nuptials of Mr. Charles Flatt and Miss Ella Morse, at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 28 Seminary street, on Tuesday evening last. Most of the company present were in full evening dress. The bride wore a heavy white satin dress, en train, with an embroidered crape overdress ornamented with orange blossoms. An elegant wedding supper, furnished by Timmons and served by colored waiters, followed the wedding ceremony; and after the supper the brilliant company present swung "the light fantastic" until the small hours of Wednesday morning. The newly married couple departed on the 11:20 train for a bridal trip to Niagara Falls, via New York city. The bride received a large number of costly wedding presents, among which was a rosewood upright piano and an elegant painting, from the groom; a sewing machine, from her brother; a set of black walnut furniture, a set of decorated china table ware, a handsome chair, a [illegible] case, several beautiful bottles of Ely's Cream Balm, articles of silver into nostrils with little finger.

Four bids for the contract were offered. That of Captain Tam & de Pierna, the coal dealer on the corner of Grand and Irving streets, was $4.80 per ton; that of Henry McManus, the Irving street dealer, was at $3.65; that of William Chamberlain, Monroe street, at $2.65; and that of Charles R. Oliver at $2.58 per ton. The contract was awarded to Mr. Oliver. The total amount of the contract is $716.

SINDRAM'S EXECUTION.—William Sindram, the murderer of his landlady, Mrs. Catharine Crane, on the 26th of January last year, was hung at the Tombs in New York at 9:30 yesterday morning. The criminal's body was jerked five feet into the air, and hung motionless for a minute; then the rope fell. The neck was not broken by the fall, and death was produced by strangulation. The heart stopped beating in fifteen minutes, and at the end of eighteen minutes Sindram was pronounced dead. The body, however, was allowed to hang ten minutes longer. It was then lowered and placed in a coffin, and conveyed to Greenwood cemetery and placed in the receiving vault to await burial. About 100 persons witnessed the execution.

FOREIGN NOTES.

M. de Lesseps' scheme for flooding the Desert of Sahara has been approved by the French Cabinet Council.

Moody and Sankey are now laboring in Glasgow, Scotland, where, it is said, they are achieving wonderful success.

Count Geza Zichy, the one-armed Hungarian pianist, is about to give a series of concerts in London, by invitation of the Prince of Wales. He plays in public only for charitable purposes, and has thus earned and distributed to the poor $80,000 within the past two years.

Ambroise Thomas's new opera "Francoise de Rimini," was produced for the first time at the Grand Opera House in Paris last Friday evening. Its scenes, which are in four acts, are laid at Rimini, in the year 1300, and recount the woes of the two lovers, "Paolo" and "Francesca," whom Dante has immortalized in the fifth canto of the first book of his "Divine Commedia." It is preceded by a fantastic prologue and closed by a fantastic epilogue. The music, it is said, here and there strongly reminds one of Donizetti's, but it is less spontaneous.

The death of Samuel Carr, brother-in-law of the late Commodore Vanderbilt and uncle of William H. Vanderbilt, is announced at the Home for Incurables, Staten Island, where he was placed by young Cornelius Vanderbilt. He was seventy-three years old and for twenty years was an inmate of the Richmond County Poorhouse. No one need wish to be a relative of the Vanderbilt family.—Newark Daily Advertiser.

A Minnesota judge named Cox was recently impeached and removed for the most extraordinary habits of intemperance. It seems to have been the regular practice for court, bar, jury, witnesses and spectators to get drunk together nightly, and the witnesses testified that Cox never passed the bottle. One witness wanted to describe a scene where the rest of the party rolled the fuddled judge over on his back and played cards on his judicial abdomen, but the matter was ruled out. On several occasions court had to be adjourned to give him time to recover.

The new Electoral Count bill receives a cordial indorsement from the Southern Democratic papers. The feature which leaves the decision in case of disputed returns to the State courts is taken as a recognition of States' rights and is pronounced especially acceptable. The Atlanta Constitution says that "the bill takes the real count out of the hands of Congress—a body that should have nothing to do with it beyond a mere clerical opening and tabulation of the returns. The responsibility for correct returns is put upon the States, or just where it belongs, and where for the sake of peace and the permanence of our institutions is should be vested."

A SAD DEATH FROM LOCKJAW.—Miss Maggie Beckwith, a beautiful and accomplished girl of 15, an orphan, who resided with her uncle, a Mr. Hoag, on Orange Mountain, this State, and who was greatly beloved by a wide circle of friends, was accidentally shot in the foot some weeks ago by her cousin, a boy. The entire upper portion of her foot, from the instep to the toes, was carried away. The wound, however, was doing well until last Friday, and it was believed that the young lady would recover; but on the evening of the day named lockjaw set in and on Sunday the girl died. The boy who did the shooting is overwhelmed with grief at its unfortunate result. He was practicing at a mark, and his cousin, who was on her way to attend an afternoon church service, stopped to see him practice.

The Connecticut Legislature has been investigating through a special committee serious charges respecting the financial management of the secretaryship of the state board of education, by Mr. B. G. Northrop. Last week a bill was reported abolishing the office Mr. Northrop had held, and the duties he had performed are to be performed by the board with the aid of the necessary clerical assistance. In addition to his annual salary of $2,000 Mr. Northrop had drawn $500 per year for traveling expenses although he had free passes over every railroad but one in the state, and credited himself with unauthorized trips to Europe, to the Centennial Exhibition and to Washington to represent Connecticut in Congressional labors. On Thursday of this week a substitute bill was adopted, appointing a special committee to investigate the charges and report at the session of 1884. This is taking the necessary down very easy.

tense of fireside [illegible] well to their admiring friends [illegible] their husbands. They know that its meaning is understood and accepted."

Chief-Justice Charles P. Daly, in a lecture delivered before the New York Geographical Society, on the evening of the 13th inst., contradicted the received idea that Spanish women are constantly under the charge of duennas and under restraint. He found them graceful, modest, well bred, and the most devoted wives and mothers.

The Iowa House of Representatives has passed a bill, by a vote of 99 to 1, appropriating $150 for the purchase of a gold medal for Kate Shelley, the Boone heroine. Miss Shelley warned a coming railroad train of the destruction of a bridge by a flood, by creeping across the piling and timbers on her hands and knees, and thus saved the train with all on board from a terrible disaster.

Another American lady has learned that it is folly to marry for a foreign title. The Marquis of Anglesey has separated from his wife, formerly Miss King, of Georgia, and announces that he will pay no debts of her contraction. About the worst possible disposal that an American lady can make of her hand is to give it in marriage to a titled foreigner. Ninety per cent. of such marriages turn out badly.

Mrs. Mackay, wife of the California bonanza king, living in Paris, denies the report that her daughter is engaged to Prince Philippe de Bourbon. When Queen Isabella called on Mrs. Mackay to felicitate her on the alleged engagement of her daughter, the latter said: "You know, madame, my opinion about titled suitors. Were a king to propose to my child he should not obtain her."

Mrs. Debby Kimball, a middle aged, pleasant-looking widow, of Ithaca, N. Y., who was possessed of a good share of this world's goods, has created quite a breeze in both Jewish and Christian circles there the present week by becoming a proselyte to Judaism and marrying one Bennett Lieberman, a successful clothier bachelor of about thirty six, who had for some time boarded in her family.

The most valuable voice in the world is undoubtedly that of Patti. She has made more money out of it than any other five singers who ever lived have made out of their voices, and the end is not yet. Col. Mapleson, the opera manager, is negotiating for her services at the New York Academy of Music next season, and proposes to engage her for fifty representations, he to pay her $4,400 per night, or a total of $220,000.

An entertainment was given on Friday evening of last week at Vassar College by the president and other officers of the college in honor of the visit of Miss Herschel, grand-daughter of Sir John Herschel, and daughter of a no less notable astronomer. The large parlors were filled with guests, among whom were many of the literary and scientific men and women of Boston, New Haven and New York. Mrs Elizabeth Thompson, the philanthropist, was present, being the guest of Professor Maria Mitchell. Both these ladies have attained a world-wide reputation in their respective fields of labor.

A paragraph is going the rounds of the press which it is to be hoped is not true. It says that Miss Kellogg, the singer, is not to be married at present, but that she will leave the stage in May. To say nothing of the lady's age, which would be unpolite, and of the decay of her voice, which would be equally unpleasant, it still is hardly fair to the public who were drawn to her concerts by the constant announcement of her approaching domestic felicity. It was iterated in the press, and it was announced on the bills of performances, and in every way the event for which Miss Kellogg had waited so long was made so prominent that any lovers' quarrel can hardly be looked upon as other than a public misfortune.—Newark Advertiser.

The most intimate friend of Queen Victoria for the last thirty years is Mrs. Van der Weyer, an American lady. Lady Randolph Churchill, Lady Mandeville, Lady Anglesey, Lady Harcourt, Lady John Lister Kaye, Lady Fermor-Hesketh and Lady John Campbell are all Americans; the Princesse de Lynar, of Berlin, came from Columbus, Ohio; the Princesse de Noer, a cousin of Victoria by marriage, and sister-in-law of the dowager Queen of Denmark, was a Miss Lee, of New York; the Duchesse Lolie delle Norere was a Miss Davis; the Princesse Louis de Bourbon the Duchesse de Praslin, and the Roman Princesses Orsini, Braccaccio and Gricciniani are also Americans; while the queen of Holland, in the person of the late Prince of Orange, was offered five years ago, by an American lady in Paris.—New Haven Journal.

FOR THE LADIES.

There are some complaints to which women are peculiarly liable and from which they will suffer in silence for years, when they could be easily cured by the use of POND'S EXTRACT. Its healing and soothing properties have met with universal and unqualified commendation from all using it. Ladies who have never used it will find it to their advantage to try it. If they once do so they will never be without it again. Send to 14 West Fourteenth St., New York, for a copy of our pamphlet, and read pages 13, 18, 21 and 26.

In the green-room of a Parisian theatre the conversation turned upon the delicate subject of age. Presently a gentleman visitor ventured upon the indiscreet query: "Now, what age are you, my dear friend?" addressing his remarks to Mlle. X., who certainly can no longer be considered in her first youth. "What a question, indeed!" said the lady; "how can that possibly interest you?" "Simply curiosity," responded the visitor. "Well, then, I will be frank with you. Really, I do not know. One counts one's money, one's jewels and one's deeds of value, because it may happen that they could be lost or stolen, but as I am absolutely certain that nobody will take a year from my age, and that I shall never lose one, why, where is the need of counting?"—London Bee.

HOCKING VALLEY NEWS.

In the absence of anything startling or terrific,—politics and the exploits of the army worm excepted,—news from this delightful valley will not prove nerve-tingling. However an item of very great importance to many people is communicated by Mr. F. Harrington, wholesale and retail druggist of Logan, who thus writes: Mr. Alex. McClurg, Union Furnace, states that his wife had been afflicted with rheumatism for the last twenty-five years, being unable to walk without cane or other help the most of that time; has used from two to three bottles of Dr. Isaac's Oil and says she is almost the same but able to walk without any help.

PROPOSITION OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE HOLDERS OF RAHWAY BONDS.

Our readers are doubtless all aware that the committee of Rahway bondholders have made a counter-proposition to that offered by the city officials. The proposition really embodies two offers, and the committee say if the city will elect either they will recommend acceptance.

The first is 40 per cent. of principal and past due interest by an issue of new bonds to run fifty years at four per cent. interest.

The second is 50 per cent. of principal and past due interest by an issue of new bonds to run fifty years, upon which two per cent. shall be paid for the first ten, three per cent. for the next ten, four per cent. for the next ten, five per cent. for next ten, and six per cent. for the last ten years.

Assuming, in round numbers, the entire indebtedness to be $2,000,000, by the first proposition the principal sum of the new bonds will be 40 per cent., or $800,000. Four per cent. interest upon this for 50 years is.....$1,600,000

By the second proposition the principal sum of the new bonds will be 50 per cent.. or.....$1,000,000

The interest upon this for the first 10 years, at 2 per cent., is.. 200,000
For the second, at 3 per cent., is.. 300,000
For the third, at 4 per cent., is.. 400,000
For the fourth, at 5 per cent., is.. 500,000
For the fifth, at 6 per cent., is.. 600,000

Total.....$3,000,000

As between the two propositions, the former seems to be more advantageous to the city, yet we much prefer the theory of a gradual increase in the rate of interest upon which the second one is based. If a settlement is effected, the strain of meeting our new promises will, of course, be severest when we are the weakest. That period will be immediately after the settlement is made, before sufficient time elapses to bring about the expected resultant increase in valuations. It is of equal consequence both to the bondholders and the city that this strain should not be beyond the endurance of the city. For this reason we believe that fairness to the city requires the present rate of interest to be one that can be met in our present weakness. Manifestly fairness to the creditors demands that as we grow stronger we should accept the burden of a larger rate. That rate should be proportioned to our increasing strength. The city is in honor bound to recognize the justice of adjusting it in such a mode that the creditors will derive the the utmost benefit. They, in their turn, are bound by self-interest to ask no more than can be certainly met. The present rate should be all we can now respond to and no more. The increase should be adjusted upon such an expectation of an increase in taxable valuations as reasonably prudent people are justified in assuming will follow the settlement.

But we think the increase demanded by the committee is too rapid. Leaving out of view all idea of reducing the principal, it requires at the end of the first ten years an addition of fifty per cent. and at the end of twenty of one hundred per cent. to the rate of interest. The building up of a town, like the accumulating of a fortune, is a very slow process at first. It only progresses rapidly after it reaches a point of establishment and independent position. Ten years in a city so small as Rahway is too short a time to justify the increase in taxes required to meet the proposition of the committee. When, as we hope to see, we have a population of from 30,000 to 40,000 our subsequent increase will be in a proportion far in excess of what it will be when it is but 10,000. This is the history of all cities.

We would therefore suggest the adoption of the committee's theory with a modification as to rate, leaving the same amount of indebtedness as before, the adjustment on the basis of 50 per cent. will make the principal of the new debt $1,000,000. Now suppose we make the interest as follows:

For the 1st 15 years 2 per cent.. $300 000
For the 2d 15 years 3 per cent.. 450,000
For the following 10 years 4 per cent.....400,000
For the last ten years 5 per cent. 500,000

$3,630,000

By a settlement of this kind the creditors will get from the city $330,000 more than by accepting the first of the committee's offers. Of course as the earlier payments are much smaller the creditors will, to that extent, suffer. To that objection we say it is of vital consequence that the new promises should be kept. The requirement of large payments at earlier dates will probably kill the goose upon whose eggs rest all the hopes both of the creditors and ourselves.

There are other questions involving the adjustment of a settlement of the tax bonds, the water bonds and the taxes due the county. In addition is the question as to the ability of the city to meet the demands required by any proposed settlement. It is impossible to give enough space in a single article to discuss the whole question. We propose to continue the discussion, hoping that both creditors and debtor will believe it is of mutual interest to adopt the measure—fasten slowly.

WORTH THINKING ABOUT.

An article taken from the Indianapolis Journal by the New York Tribune begins thus: "It is no longer proper to talk of the 'temperance question' when reference is made to that disturbing element which has suddenly made its appearance in the politics of every State, for the attitude of the liquor-sellers has transferred all solicitude from the temperance people to the Liquor Sellers' League, which has thrust itself forward as the dictator of all political parties." The Tribune speaks of this organized attempt to coerce legislation in the interests of the liquor traffic as a question the Republican party must meet, and quotes with approval the Journal's language: "It is not the question of prohibition, but the question whether a mere handful of men, who are engaged in one class of business, shall dictate the policy of the several States and of the General government, and make or unmake political parties at their pleasure. We express no opinion as to the merits of the question of prohibition, but no American can deny the right of the people to vote on it. Men may pass for Democrats who deny this right, but no man can be a Republican and deny it."

When Andrew Jackson said: The sober second thought of the people is always right and is always effective, he declared a truth which lies at the foundation of a Republican form of government, and which the increased popular intelligence of this generation renders even more certain than when it was first spoken. There is no question besides which comes so near to the interests, the prosperity and the happiness of the whole country as does that relating to the traffic in intoxicating drinks, yet it is one in which opinion is not divided on party lines, hence it cannot be made a party issue. The only thing which can remove this "disturbing question from politics is to provide for its submission to the people, that question of submitting the subject to a popular vote the Liquor Dealers League is organized to oppose; yet it is one which in the near future must be met and settled.

The country will find satisfaction in the action of the House of Representatives by which the delegate from Utah Mr. Cannon, has been refused a seat in that body. The appeal he made for it [illegible] "embraced a small dose of Ridgeway's Pills, prevent Constipation and Dyspepsia, promote Digestion, relieve Headache from too hearty a meal, etc." embraced [illegible] polygamy, on the ground that Abraham, who was a good man, had two wives. He forgot that the patriarch was misled into it by the persuasion of his first wife, and that, by divine direction, he was compelled to divorce himself from the second one. If Mr. Cannon will follow the Abrahamic example in the latter respect as closely as he has done in the former he may possibly regain his seat in Congress.

Great Britain is more fortunate than the United States in being able to show that the would be assassin of the Queen is really a lunatic. A single day sufficed for the trial of McLean, who fired the shot, and for his prompt acquittal on the ground of insanity, it being shown that he had had homicidal mania for years and had before his last act been the inmate of a lunatic asylum.

SENATE 167.

As we have heretofore had little to say in regard to Senate Bill 167, and in order that our readers may understand fully its nature, we publish below the full text of the bill as it was introduced. An amendment was afterward incorporated in it, by which city authorities were insured the right to go upon the riparian lands for the purpose of building, maintaining or repairing sewers, without any hindrance or interference by the land-owners. Next week we shall probably publish the speech of Senator Applegate, of Monmouth county, on the bill, as presenting a fair and complete statement of its nature and effect.

An Act to establish and protect the rights of the grantees, lessees and licensees of this State from easements on lands now or heretofore lying below high-water mark, in the tide-waters of this State, and to maintain the revenues derived therefrom and appropriated to the support of free schools.

Whereas, Certain easements of highway are claimed to exist, and may hereafter be claimed to exist, or to have risen upon, over or across lands now or heretofore of this State, lying below the ancient high-water mark in the tide-waters of the State, whether heretofore reclaimed or not, and upon, over or across the lands so situate, which, or the use of which, have been heretofore granted, leased or licensed by the State to other persons or corporations, which easements are claimed to exist, and that they will hereafter arise by force of the laying out or dedicating of streets, roads or highways upon the upland and to or over such tide-waters; and whereas, the existence of such easements is injurious to the State, its grantees, lessees and licensees, and will seriously impair the value of said lands, and diminish the revenues to be derived from future sales, leases and licenses of said lands, which revenues are appropriated to the support of the free schools of this State; therefore,

1. Be it enacted by the Senate and General Assembly of the State of New Jersey, That in all cases where any person or corporations shall have heretofore obtained or shall hereafter obtain, from this State or from the riparian commissioners thereof, or from any officers or boards of the State thereunto appointed or empowered, a conveyance in fee or other conveyance or a lease of a term or a license for improving, holding, possessing or enjoying any lands lying below the ancient natural high-water mark bounding said lands, are now reclaimed or not, such grantee, lessee or licensee, and their successors, heirs and assigns, shall hold, possess and enjoy in fee or for the term promised or expressed in any such grant, lease or license, all the [illegible] comprised in said grant, even [illegible] lying within the [illegible] entangled by careless [illegible] inadvertence or license, or [illegible] in the [illegible] deeds or bounds or boundaries described in (if the same be therein described) such grant, lease or license, or designated or referred to therein, or intended so to be, freed and discharged from any easement of any street, road or highway, heretofore laid out or dedicated to or over or upon the same, or which may hereafter be laid out or dedicated to, on, over or upon the same, and from any easement whatever on, over or upon the same; and no street, road or highway shall hereafter exist, or be or be deemed to be laid out, extended, opened, improved or dedicated upon, over or across any such lands; and all dedications of any such lands heretofore made to the uses of a street, road or highway, and all easements upon, over or across such lands are hereby declared to be abrogated and discharged, and all lands lying below the ancient natural high water mark of and in the tide-waters of this State, whether now reclaimed or not, are hereby discharged from any easement upon, across or over the same by reason of any laying out or dedication of streets, roads or highways heretofore made or claimed to have been made to or over such tide-waters or the lands aforesaid, whether now reclaimed or not; provided, that this act shall not vacate any part of any street in any city, which part shall have been graded and paved by the corporate authorities of said city at the public expense, when such part so graded and paved as aforesaid is now actually opened and in use as a public highway; nor shall it vacate any road or highway outside the limits of any city which is now actually opened and in public use across lands lying below the ancient natural high-water mark; nor shall it prevent the opening of streets on or across lands now or formerly under tide-water, in due exercise of the power of eminent domain; nor shall this act apply to any street in any city which in the line thereof is graded, paved, open and in public use to both sides of a navigable tide-water space or basin, across which such street must be carried in order to make a continuous line of street.

2. And be it enacted, That this act shall take effect immediately.

Another Fine Auroral Display.—Another display of aurora borealis, only less splendid than that of Sunday evening, was witnessed in the northern heavens about 3 o'clock Thursday morning, after the thunder storm had passed away. The New York Sun thus describes the beautiful sight:

"The black clouds disappeared, leaving a thin veil of mist spread uniformly over the heavens, through which only stars of the first magnitude were visible. Then an auroral arch formed in the north, the bow of light being perhaps ten degrees broad, while the segment of sky below this arch or bow was almost of an inky blackness. The color of the arch was yellowish white, shifting at times to light green. From its upper edge shafts and streamers shot upward continually, all converging toward the zenith. Many of these streamers lasted with little change of brightness or position for some minutes, and meeting overhead the rays resembled an enormous fan, the handle being in the zenith. An hour later the arch in the north bent down in the middle, making the figure of an ox-bow, the centre being almost exactly under the pole star. At times this bow glowed with extraordinary brilliancy, seeming to light up the whole vault of the sky with its reflection. Even when it was brightest, however, close watching showed that the stars were visible through it, just as they are through comets' tails. They appeared, however, to be robbed of their twinklings. Some of the shafts of light that shot up from the ox-bow figure in the north were of splendid beauty. Starting with a greenish hue at the base, they changed gradually to a faint red near the upper end so that at times the sky overhead was tinged with rose color. Dark horizontal bands occasionally crossed the whole of the illuminated region, making, with the upright light streamers, a barrel appearance that was very curious. No feature of the display remained long unchanged. The streamers flashed and pulsated, and occasionally swayed sideways, as though a passing wind had brushed them. Phosphorescent waves started from the zenith now in the north and rolled up overhead with electric speed. Here and there a bright light appeared and disappeared like a faint flash of lightning. The streamers appeared to vie with one another in racing to the zenith. Sometimes all with separated points upon the upper side of the bow two or three pencilling tongues of light would appear, and then all start together, converging as they rose, with a swift, unswerving motion seemed to cleave their way through the darkness until they met overhead."

Charles Robert Darwin, the famous naturalist and author of "The Origin of Species" and "The Descent of Man," son of the late Dr. Robert W. Darwin and grandson of Dr. Erasmus Darwin, died on Thursday, at his home, Down House, near Orpington, England, at the age of 73 years.

Thursday was quite a day for stylish weddings in several of the great cities of the country. In Philadelphia three such affairs came off. In the morning, in old St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church, Miss Elizabeth Rush, daughter of the late Murray Rush, and granddaughter of Richard Rush, formerly American minister to England, was married to Mr. Biddle Porter, who represents in his name two of the best known families of Philadelphia. In the afternoon, in the same church, Miss Marion Morris, great-great-granddaughter of Robert Morris of Revolutionary fame, and stepdaughter of George M. Dallas (ex-Vice President of the United States), was married to Mr. Norris Williams. There were ten bride-maids, and three clergymen participated in the ceremonies. At the Tabernacle church Miss Marguerite Kneass, daughter of Vice-President Kneass, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, was married to James Rawleston Grant, a young banker. There were six bridesmaids, and two clergymen officiated; and the guests included millionaires, railway and city officials and many other persons of distinction. The young couple sailed from New York for Europe to-day on an extended tour.

New York had four great weddings on Thursday, and Brooklyn one.

Jumbo's Traveling Car.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is constructing a special car in which the monster elephant Jumbo will make his tour of the States. The car will cost $1,700, and was constructed at the Company's shops at the Meadows, near Jersey City. As soon as the traveling hotel, as it is called, was completed, it was forwarded to New York City and placed on the New York Central tracks, in the rear of Madison Square Garden. To-night Jumbo will be persuasively invited to enter his new traveling quarters. Then the car will be hauled over to the Thirty-first street ferry, where a ferry-boat will be chartered to convey Jumbo and his car to the [illegible] Pennsylvania Railroad. [illegible] that it will [illegible] any use for the [illegible] Company's depot at [illegible] City. Jumbo will reach Philadelphia to-morrow.

Rev Mr Frazell, of the American Tract Society, occupied the pulpit of the Second Presbyterian church on Sunday last, morning and evening. Collections were taken in both services for the benefit of the society he represented.

Some lady or ladies, probably one of the rent-of-town visitors, lost a valuable fan and handkerchief at the recent ball given by the Columbian Drum Corps. The articles may be found at McGrath's cigar store, on Cherry street.

The improvement of navigation in the Rahway river it is hoped will soon become an accomplished fact. Mr William Charles, who secured the contract for dredging out the channel, will recommence the work about ten days hence.

A surprise party was held at the residence of Miss L. C. Fisher, on Monroe street, on Tuesday evening of this week, when the lady was presented with a handsome silk umbrella by the members of her class in the Second M. E. church Sunday-school.

The congregation of the Second M. E. church will give the new pastor, the Rev Mr Hutchison and his family, a reception next week. The affair will be held in the parsonage [illegible] on the church. Thursday evening is the time fixed upon for its occurrence we believe.

Miss Ida V. Marsh requests us to correct the misstatement which in our last issue, that she gave a recitation in Marsh's hall on the evening of the 15th inst. It was given by the Amateur Social Club not by the young lady. We made the announcement on information that we had reason to believe was authentic.

John Butler, colored, living on Irving street, and Thomas Sullivan, who lives on Railroad avenue, both laborers, were before Justice Tunison on Monday on a charge of assault and battery. Butler gave bonds to appear for trial at the county court at Elizabeth, and Sullivan, in default of bonds, was sent to the county seat and committed to jail.

The officials of the Perth Amboy Water Company on learning of the defalcation of Caleb Woodruff, late the clerk of the Rahway Water Board, whom they had elected as secretary of their company and superintendent of their works, annulled the appointment, and appointed Milton A. Broad, Esq., their counsel in this city, to the vacant position.

William A Vescelius, the watchmaker and jeweler, of 146 Main street, this city, has just opened a branch establishment at No 18 East State street, Trenton, where he offers a new and fresh stock of watches, clocks, jewelry silverware etc. The gentleman's many friends in Rahway will be glad to learn of his success in his new enterprise at the State capital.

Mr. William G. Brown, a brother of the late General Harvey Brown and formerly a resident of this city, died at Meadville, Mercer the 25th day of March, at the age of 71 years 5 months and 8 days. He is well remembered by some of our older readers. His brother, the late Gen. Harvey Brown, had command of Fort Pulaski, in the South, during the war of the Rebellion, and was also in command of the troops in New York city at the time of the draft riots.

Mr. Moses Turner, the mason, one of our old citizens, who resides at 331 Main street, not far from the Second Presbyterian church, had been seriously ill for the greater part of the present week. The disease threatened on Thursday to develop into acute pneumonia, and fears were entertained of a fatal result; but yesterday the gentleman's death was reported. The report was incorrect, we are pleased to be able to state, and the gentleman is very much better and it is believed that he will recover.

Gentle April showers were the order of the day on Wednesday afternoon and evening, and at about 10 o'clock at night there was quite heavy thunder and vivid lightning, with a heavy down pour of rain for above two hours, which, part of the time, was accompanied by hail. This was the second time this year that thunder and lightning was heard and seen, the first occasion having been early in January. We have heard of no damage in the immediate vicinity from the storm on Wednesday night. Thursday morning the sun shone pleasantly, and the air was clear and bracing.

The city contract with the Rahway Gas Company for lighting the streets will expire July 1. The sum required to be paid under it is $2,000 for supplying gas to 112 street lamps. The contract was but for a single year. The company informed the City Council Tuesday evening that it could not make a new contract at a less price than that in force for two years before the present one was signed, which required the payment of $19.36 for each lamp. With the same number of lamps as are now used a new contract was if call for a yearly expenditure of $2,168. There are between 200 and 300 burners of gas in the city at large.

Essex County Lodge, I. O. O. F., will dedicate two new rooms in the new hall of Odd Fellowship next Tuesday evening.

The friends of the members of Franklin Hose Company, No. 2, will not forget the excitable to be given on Monday evening next in Washington Hall. Tickets may be procured of the members of the company or at the door of the hall on Monday evening. The price of tickets is 50 cents.

The Twenty-second regiment, N. Y. N. G., accompanied by Gilmore's Band of sixty five pieces, passed through this city on Wednesday, en route to Philadelphia, where they were the guests of the First Pennsylvania regiment, on the occasion of the laying of the corner-stone of a new armory. They also passed through this city on their return, on Thursday.

Mr. Wm. S. Young, of Parkesburg, Pa., a student of the Union Theological Seminary, New York, just licensed by the Presbytery of Chester, Pa., preached, morning and evening, April 16th, in the First Presbyterian church of this city. He gives promise of ability and usefulness in the ministry. Eight years ago he was received into the membership of the church by the Rev. Mr. Pomeroy, for whom he preached.

The recent troubles in the German Lutheran Church in this city have culminated in a division into two separate organizations, one or both of which appear to have forgotten "how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." The congregation has numbered about eighty adult persons. Something over one-half of these stand by the pastor of the church, the Rev A. Stuckert. The remainder have seceded, and will establish a new congregation.

The city council, by its democratic majority, on Monday, in violation of the election laws of the State, presumed to declare Mr. Andrew J. Halliday, one of the democratic candidates, elected Chosen Freeholder. Section 20 of an act to regulate elections, approved April 18, 1878 (p. 349 of the Revised Statutes), provides that no person who shall serve as a judge, inspector or clerk at a given election shall at the same election be elected to any other office; and if he shall be voted for the votes cast for him "shall be deemed and taken to be null and void." Mr. Halliday was informed of the provisions of this law, and yet he voluntarily chose to serve as an inspector of the election. Let him now pay the just penalty of his deed. The council qualified itself by declaring him elected—let it place itself right by reconsidering its illegal vote, and give the office to the person entitled to it by the statute to which we have referred.

A GOOD OPPORTUNITY.—A good opportunity is probably offered to induce another manufacturing establishment to locate in our city. A company that desires to locate on the line of the Pennsylvania railroad or of the New Jersey Central road asks for proposals from land owners who would give the building land as an inducement to have the company locate. The company will add fifty families to the population of the place where it shall establish its works, and desires to begin to build by July 1. If any citizen of Rahway has the disposition to give the city a good "lift" in the direction of permanent prosperity, or if any combination of citizens would like to engage in so worthy an undertaking, here is a scheme which is worthy of investigation. The address of the parties desiring to establish the enterprise is "Manufacturer, Box 163, Times Office, New York city."

A FREIGHT AND TOWING LINE BETWEEN NEW YORK AND RAHWAY.—Messrs. J. G. Goldwin & Co., of New York city, propose to establish a water freight and towing line between this city and New York. The sidewheel steamer Thomas Schuyler will be put upon the line at once and will make three trips each way every week—the first trip to be made from this city on Monday next. The boat will run from Tappen's wharf, at the foot of Haydock street, and stops will be made at Elizabeth, and also at Rossville, on Staten Island, both in going and returning. The distance between New York and Rahway is about twenty five miles. Freight, of course, can be transported between the two cities by water cheaper than by railroad, and we doubt not that shippers will be pleased to avail themselves of the advantage the new line will offer. Mr. Horace E. Treat is to be the agent of the line.

OUR EFFORTS APPRECIATED.—We like to see our efforts to improve this paper appreciated, and are happy to believe that they are. If the statements of many of our patrons and city readers to this effect were not sufficient evidence of the fact, we could find additional proof thereof in the almost wholesale use that is made of the columns of THE ADVOCATE by some of our exchanges. From one half to two-thirds of a column is frequently transferred bodily, without the change of a word or the sign of credit, other than the heading "Rahway," to the columns of the enterprising daily journal published in the neighboring city of Elizabeth; while the Plainfield Daily Bulletin does us the honor to make use, without credit, however of our carefully prepared summary of the laws passed at the late session of the Legislature, only putting to them the heading "New Statutes—The New Laws of New Jersey. Not by Authority."

RUMORS RESPECTING THE GORDON ESTATE.—A rumor prevails that there is a possibility that the contest over the settlement of the estate of the late George P. Gordon, the inventor of the Gordon printing press, may be reopened. Judge Potter, of New York, we understand, was in the city during the past week for the purpose of consulting with a member of the legal fraternity on the subject. Mr. Gordon died in 1878 and his will, when it was offered for probate, was set aside, on the ground that it was not properly witnessed. It has been said that Miss Mary Gordon, the daughter of the testator, agreed with some of the parties who were remembered in the will that if they would withdraw their opposition to her attempts to set the instrument aside she would pay them the amount they would receive if the documents were sustained. It is thought possible that some of the parties who had been thus remembered are now dissatisfied and would like to reopen the controversy over the estate. It may well be doubted if the will could have been sustained, even had it not been set aside on the ground that it was. It provided for certain bequests from the estate to individuals named, and then directed that all other property, of whatever nature or description, and wherever found, should be converted into cash, and that the money thus raised should be equally divided between the widow and daughter. It then provided further—after thus disposing of all the estate—that certain relatives, who at first had not been remembered, should receive certain specified sums of money. How bequests could be given from an estate to any parties after it had all been once given away it would puzzle even "a Philadelphia lawyer" to tell. But the estate in question was a large one and there may be persons who think that perhaps something is to be gained, even at this late day, if a legal contest respecting its possession can be brought about.

TRIBUTE TO THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The following note from the mother of ex-Chief Robert F. Hudson, whose death and funeral occurred last week, explains itself:

Mr. Editor: Permit me through the medium of your columns to return my sincere and heartfelt thanks to the board of representatives of the Fire Department and the Fire Department, and to the many friends of the deceased, for the many acts of kindness shown and the attention given during the sickness of my son Robert, and for the respect shown him at his funeral. All such acts evidence a true Christian spirit. MRS MARY HUDSON.

THE NEW CITY COUNCIL AND ITS APPOINTED OFFICERS.—The first Monday of May, which this year will fall on the 1st day of the month, is the time fixed by the city charter for the term of office of all officers chosen at the annual charter elect on—except justices of the peace and chosen freeholders—to begin. The officers the new council, if it shall organize the 1st of May, will be at liberty to appoint, by a majority vote of its members, are a city clerk, a receiver of taxes, a city surveyor, city attorney, overseer of the poor, police justice and such other officers as are deemed necessary for the better ordering and governing of the city—the terms of office of all these officials commencing on the first Monday of May. The term of office of street commissioner and superintendent of the almshouse commences on the first Monday of February.

THE FLATT-MORSE WEDDING.—About sixty guests and friends witnessed the nuptials of Mr. Charles Flatt and Miss Ella Morse, at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 99 Seminary street, on Tuesday evening last. Most of the company present were in full evening dress. The bride wore a heavy white satin dress, en train, with an embroidered crape over dress ornamented with orange blossoms. An elegant wedding supper, furnished by Timmons and served by colored waiters, followed the wedding ceremony; and after the supper the brilliant company present swung "the light fantastic" until the small hours of Wednesday morning. The newly married couple departed on the 11:20 train for a bridal trip to Niagara Falls, via New York city. The bride received a large number of costly wedding presents, among which was a rosewood upright piano and an elegant painting, from the groom; a sewing machine, from her brother; a set of black walnut furniture, a set of decorated china table ware, a handsome clock, a easel, a dressing case, several [illegible] fans and numerous elegant articles of silver, from other friends.

THE INVESTIGATION OF THE IRREGULARITIES IN THE WATER BOARD.—The Water Board on Wednesday evening held a meeting, at which the defalcation of its late clerk was talked over, and measures were adopted to determine if possible the precise amount of his defalcation. With a view to this end Mr. Ira F. Morgan, the present secretary of the Board of Education and former clerk of the Water Board, who is an accomplished accountant, will by reason of his former connection with the Water Board and familiarity with the duties of the office and its books, would be more likely than any other person to quickly unravel the entanglement existing in its financial affairs, was authorized to make a thorough examination of the books for the time Woodruff was in office and to report to the board. There are several applicants for the clerkship of the board which is vacant by reason of the displacement of the absconding clerk. Among the persons whose names are mentioned in connection with the appointment is Mr. William Babcock, who is clerk in the law office of Garret Berry, the city attorney. He can doubtless have the appointment if he desires it, but he has not as yet, we understand, signified his wish to accept the proffered position.

"COUNTS OUT."—A local writer in THE ADVOCATE makes a joke: He says the Democrat, in alluding to the saying of A. Lincoln, in reference to the recent election—that it was a bad time to swap horses while crossing the stream, didn't think of the fact that he said nothing about mayors. Good! May your shadow never grow less! You should join the army of paragraphers at once. Bruce and Chamberlin (of Plainfield) will have to look out for their laurels now!—Railway Lenaerat. Count us out Hyer; we don't aspire to such fame. It would, we think, be something about Rahway having a High Mayor and a Hyer Judge and the probability that somebody will come along soon and Hyghst them both out of the ring. See hyer, Hyer, is this enough, or do you reghyer some more before you exphyer, or will you take another variety to grace your funeral phyer?—Plainfield Bulletin.

Sad are we that our little effort has stirred up Chamberlin's hyer in the above style. If by any chance there was around us a lingering asphighsiration to enter into Chamberlin's and Bruce's kingdom and climb with them the step-ladder of fame, the above has knocked it hyer than Gilroy's kite. We can readily believe now that we wouldn't be in sight at the home stretch. Chamberlin is fearfully and wonderfully made—at least his puns are.

COURT OF ERRORS AND APPEALS.—The Court of Errors and Appeals was in session at Trenton on Monday, and opinions were read in a large number of cases. Some of the opinions are of interest in this locality, among which are those given in the following cases:

Elizabethtown Savings Institution vs. Gerber. Appeal. Opinion by Beasley, C. J. Decree affirmed.

Firemen's Insurance Company of Newark vs. Wilkinson. Appeal. Opinion by Beasley, C. J. Decree reversed.

Board of Freeholders of Essex vs. Board of Freeholders of Union. Error. No opinion delivered, because recent legislation has settled the questions involved.

Jersey City Insurance Company vs. Carson. Error. Opinion by Runyon, C. Judgment affirmed.

Jersey City Insurance Company vs. Nichol. Appeal from finding of Gummere, Advisory Master. Opinion by Scudder, J. Decree affirmed.

Squier vs. Mechanics' National Bank of Newark. Appeal. No opinion. Decree affirmed.

Watson vs. City of Elizabeth. Appeal. No opinion. Decree affirmed.

Somebone vs. Manufacturers' Insurance Company of Newark. Error. Opinion by Green, J. Judgment affirmed by a vote of 7 to 5, those voting [illegible] Messrs. Dixon, Knapp, Whittaker and Cole.

Brophy vs. City of Perth Amboy. Error. Opinion by Runyon, C. Judgment reversed. Those voting to affirm were Messrs. Knapp, Paterson and Whittaker.

Newark ads. State. Application to restore a writ of error which had been dismissed. Opinion by Depue, J. Application granted. Messrs. Dixon and Green voted against granting the application.

All the other cases were laid over and the Court adjourned until Monday, May 1st.

The Rahway water board mandamus was argued on brief, and will be heard from in June next. The amended alternative writs of mandamus in the county treasurer's suits against the city, with the amended returns, were passed in to the court, but no argument was had upon them. No opinion was given in the suits of the judgment creditors against this city or Elizabeth. Possibly the delay in these suits is due to the late illness of Chief-Justice Beasley, but some persons believe the opinions have been withheld in order that they might in no way prejudice the attempts being made to arrange an amicable adjustment of the indebtedness of the two cities.

CONTRACT FOR COAL.—The Water Board, at its meeting on Wednesday evening, opened and examined the sealed proposals to furnish the water works with 300 tons of the best quality of pea coal. Four bids for the contract were offered. That of Captain Tale & Co. Pierson, the coal dealer on the corner of Grand and Water streets, was $3.80 per ton; that of Henry McManus, the Irving street dealer, was at $3.85; that of William Chamberlain, Monroe street, at $3.85; and that of Charles R. Oliver at $3.58 per ton. The contract was awarded to Mr. Oliver. The total amount of the contract is $714.

Liver diseases, headache, and constipation, caused by bad digestion, quickly cured by Brown's Iron Bitters.

SIDBAM'S EXECUTION.—William Sidbam, the murderer of his landlady, Mrs. Catharine Crane, on the 26th of January last year, was hung at the Tombs in New York at 8:30 yesterday morning. The criminal's body was jerked five feet into the air, and hung motionless for a minute; then the hands fell. The neck was not broken by the fall, and death was produced by strangulation. The heart stopped beating in fifteen minutes, and at the end of eighteen minutes Sidbam was pronounced dead. The body, however, was allowed to hang ten minutes longer. It was then lowered and placed in a coffin, and conveyed to Greenwood cemetery and placed in the receiving vault to await burial. About 100 persons witnessed the execution.

Oh, My Back!

That's a common expression and has a world of meaning. How much suffering is summed up in it.

The singular thing about it is, that pain in the back is occasioned by so many things. May be caused by kidney disease, liver complaint, consumption, cold, rheumatism, dyspepsia, overwork, nervous debility, &c.

Whatever the cause, don't neglect it. Something is wrong and needs prompt attention. No medicine has yet been discovered that will so quickly and surely cure such diseases as BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, and it does this by commencing at the foundation, and making the blood pure and rich.

Logansport, Ind. Dec. 1, 1880.
For a long time I have been a sufferer from stomach and kidney disease. My appetite was very poor and the very small amount I did eat disagreed with me. I was annoyed very much from non-secretion of urine. I tried many remedies with no success, until I used Brown's Iron Bitters. Since I used that my stomach does not bother me any. My appetite is simply immense. My kidney trouble is no more, and my general health is such, that I feel like a new man. After the use of Brown's Iron Bitters for one month, I have gained twenty pounds in weight. O. B. SARGENT.

Leading physicians and clergymen use and recommend Brown's IRON BITTERS. It has cured others suffering as you are, and it will cure you.

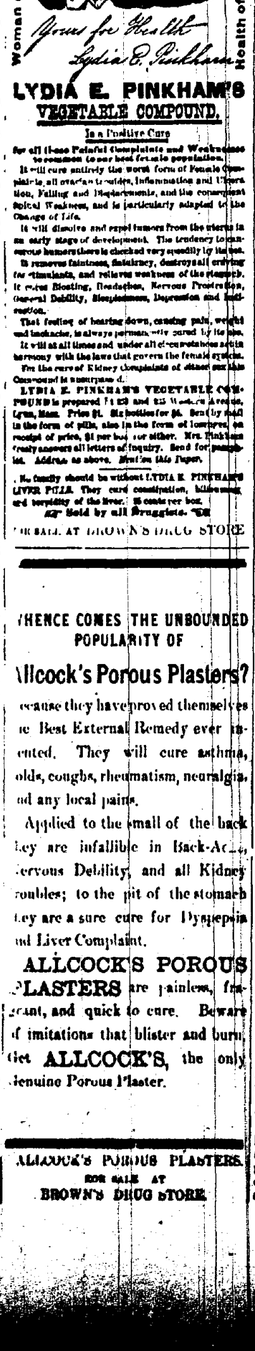
LUCRATIVE EMPLOYMENT



THE IMPENDING FATE.

AN INTERESTING CHAPTER FROM THE LIFE OF A PROMINENT BOSTONIAN.

[Boston (Globe.)]

The readers of this paper were more or less startled at a recent remarkable statement from one of our leading citizens which appeared in yesterday's issue. So unusual were the circumstances connected with it, and so much comment did it occasion on the street and in social circles, that a representative of this paper was commissioned to investigate its details and verify its facts. The article referred to was a statement made by B. F. Larrabee, of the New York and Boston Dispatch Express Company, whose office is on Arch street. Mr. Larrabee was found by the newspaper man in his private office, and on being questioned said:

"Well, sir, logically I have been dead, but really I am now as you can see me. A little over a year ago I was taken sick. My trouble was not severe at first and I thought it was the result of a slight cold. Somehow I felt unaccountably tired at times although I took an abundance of sleep. Then, again, I had dull and strange pains in various parts of my body. My appetite was good one day and I had none whatever the next and my head pained me more or less part of the time. A while afterward I noticed much that was peculiar about the fluids I was passing and that a sediment, scum and a strange accumulation appeared in it. Still I did not realize that these things meant anything serious and I allowed the illness to run along until on the 28th day of October I fell prostrate while walking along Tremont street. I was carried home and did not go out of the house until the middle of December. I then went down town and attempted to attend my business until the 13th of last January, when I was taken with a relapse. My symptoms were terrible. I was fearfully bloated; I suffered severe pains in all parts of my body and it was almost impossible to get my breath. For six days I never laid down and never slept. I was constantly attended by my regular physician, Dr. Johnson, and Dr. Bowditch also came to see me nearly every day. There was no doubt then I was suffering from Bright's disease of the kidneys in its worst form and last stages, accompanied by other troubles in my liver and heart. In spite, however, of the skill of the physicians, I kept growing worse and finally they tapped my side in the vicinity of the heart, taking away forty-six ounces of water. This relieved me for the time, but I soon became as bad as before. Then the doctor gave me up entirely, declared I could not live more than twenty-four hours and my daughter, who was residing in Paris, was telegraphed for. Still I lingered along for several weeks, far more dead than alive, but never giving up hope. One night—it was the 20th of April, I very well remember—my attendant, who was reading the paper to me, began an article which described my disease and sufferings exactly. It told how some severe cases of Bright's disease had been cured, and so clearly and sensibly did it state the case that I determined to try the means of cure which it described. So I sent my man to the drug store, procured a bottle of the medicine, unknown to my physician and friends, and took the first dose at 10 o'clock. At the time I was suffering intensely. I could not sleep; I had the short breaths and could scarcely get any air into my lungs. I was terribly bloated from head to foot, and the motion of my heart was irregular and painful. The next morning I was able to breathe freely; the pain began to leave me and the bloating decreased. I continued to take the medicine, and to day sir, I am as well as I ever was in my life, and wholly owing to the wonderful, almost miraculous power of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. I do not know what this medicine is made of, or anything else about it, but I know it saved my life when I was given up by the doctors and had really been dead for weeks; that it has kept me in perfect health ever since and has cured many of my friends to whom I have recommended it. There are a number of very remarkable cases in Lynn and Salem, as well as in this city, that it has cured. My recovery is so remarkable that it has excited much attention and physicians as well as others have investigated it thoroughly. I am glad they have, for I feel that the results of such a wonderful cure should be known to the thousands in all parts of the land who are suffering from troubles of the kidneys, liver or heart in some of their many dangerous forms."

The representative of the press thanked Mr. Larrabee for his very frank and clear statement, and was about to leave the office when a gentleman stepped up to him and inquired if he were seeking information about Mr. Larrabee's sickness and recovery. The scribe replied that he was, whereupon the gentleman said:

"And so am I, and I have come all the way from Chicago for that very purpose. Kidney troubles seem to be alarmingly increasing all over the country, and I have a very near relative who is afflicted much as Mr. Larrabee was. I have been to see the physicians of whom Mr. Larrabee speaks, and I tell you, sir, it is simply wonderful."

"What did they say?" asked the man of news.

"Say! why, sir, they fully confirm everything Mr. Larrabee has stated. I went to see Dr. D. A. Johnson, at 20 Worcester street. He was absent when I called, and so I stepped into the Commonwealth hotel, where Mr. Larrabee was living at the time of his sickness. Messrs. Brugh & Carter are the proprietor, and I asked them about Mr. Larrabee's case. Mr. Brugh pointed to the electric annunciator and said, 'way for weeks and weeks every time that bell rang I said: That means the death of Mr. Larrabee. No one around the hotel ever dreamed that he would recover and when the doctors would come down from his room they would shake their heads and say there was no hope. The arrangements for the funeral were made and his recovery was simply a miracle."

I then called on Dr. Johnson who said that Mr. Larrabee's case was a very remarkable one. He was his family physician and expected his death every hour for a number of weeks and never called to see him during that time, but he was prepared for it. The doctor said the recovery was due to Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, and if he had friends, male or female, troubled with Albumen or any kidney troubles he should certainly advise them to use this remedy. Dr. Johnson said kidney difficulties are more common than most people think and that many symptoms which are supposed to be other diseases arise from the kidneys. He said that ladies after confinement are specially subject to albuminous troubles which require prompt attention.

Well, I then came down and called on Dr. H. Ingersoll Bowditch on Boylston street. The old doctor was inclined to be reticent but fully confirmed all I had previously learned. He had attended Mr. Larrabee, and supposed him beyond all hope, and he was afterwards restored, as he said, by Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.

I next went to see Dr. Melville E. Webb, at the Hotel Camby, for you see I was determined to be thorough in the matter. I found Dr. Webb a most clear-headed and well-informed gentleman, and he said:

"I know of Mr. Larrabee's case from having thoroughly investigated it as a medical director of a life insurance company, and it is one of the most remarkable cases I have ever met. Mr. Larrabee had all the manifestations of a complication of diseases, and in their worst forms. He died, I mean and came to the verge and a certain discomfort and spleen. Instead, he was so frail that he threw himself upon the floor, and with his hand upon a bedstock, struggled for breath. It was on the night when he was so ill and when all the medical advisers had long given him up, that he began using Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. The next morning at 10 o'clock he was able to breathe freely and has been ever since. I subjected him to the most thorough examination possible after his recovery, and I can't find out about him. His kidneys, liver, lungs and heart are perfectly well and sound. I can only add that, from what I have seen, I would unhesitatingly recommend this remedy."

The conclusions from the statements above made, which come to the newspaper man as well as the general public, must be two-fold. First, that a modern miracle of healing has been performed in our midst, and that, too, by the simplest means and one which is within the reach of every one. It should be remembered that Bright's disease is not usually a sudden complaint. Its beginnings are slight, and its growth slow. The symptoms by which it may be detected are different with different persons, no two people usually having the same. This fact was manifest in the case of Mr. Larrabee, and he had no idea of the terrible complaint which had attacked him until it became fixed upon him. Secondly, testimonials of such high character and so outspoken in tone, conclusively prove the value of the remedy and its superior nature to the proprietary articles with which the public have been flooded. "The greater includes the less," and the remedy which has been proven so valuable and has saved a life after it was brought down to death's door, must unquestionably be certain in all minor troubles, which are also disastrous unless taken in time.

EX CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS HONORED

AT NEW JERSEY'S CAPITAL.—About eighty ex-Confederate soldiers from Richmond, Va. paid a visit to Trenton, this State, last week, as guests of Aaron Wilkes Post, No. 28, Grand Army of the Republic. The visitors, who comprised members of the old First Virginia Infantry Association, the Richmond Howitzers Association and the City Battery Association, were received by three companies (A, B and D) of the Seventh regiment, N. G. N. J., two Grand Army Posts, and a committee composed of the leading merchants and manufacturers of Trenton. They arrived in that city Wednesday afternoon, and, after a military salute and a march through the principal streets, were conducted to the City Hall, where they were formally welcomed by ex-Mayor Crevelling, in the absence at Mayor Vroom. A fitting response to the speech of welcome was made by Major C. S. Stringfellow, of Richmond. In the evening a banquet was given at the Trenton House in honor of the visitors. About 250 persons attended the banquet. Among the decorations of the dining hall on the occasion were shields bearing the names of the thirteen original tates, that labeled Virginia having on it the state motto, sic semper tyrannis." Among the toasts given was the following: "The American Soldier—whether Revolutionary or Mexican, Federal or Confederate, he has ever displayed a bravery that has won the admiration of the world." "The First Virginia Infantry—We give them a brother's welcome to-night, as once again with one common purpose we march shoulder to shoulder toward one common destiny."

On Thursday the Virginia soldiers visited the State House and were received by His Excellency Governor Ludlow, visited the Lunatic Asylum and State Prison, Fashion Stock Farm, and various manufactories and other places of interest. In the evening a reception and promenade concert in their honor was given at Taylor's Opera House, the festivities closing with dancing.

The positive influence for good of such fraternal visits of the citizen soldiery of any section of our country to the citizen soldiery of another section cannot fail to be most beneficial and lasting, and the multiplication of such visits with their attendant courtesies, is to be most heartily commended.

Aaron Wilkes Grand Army Post visited Richmond at the time of the Yorktown Celebration, last year, and its members were most hospitably entertained. Our Third regiment will visit Richmond next October, and will receive, we are certain, an equally hearty reception; and we are glad consequently to chronicle the fact that the kindest attentions and honors were shown the soldiers of the "Old Dominion" at our State capital.

BIG RESULTS FROM LITTLE CAUSES

"Do you know?" remarked a man to his friend on Chestnut street, a day or two since, "I believe both Conkling and Platt had a bad case of skin disease when they resigned?" "What makes you think so?" inquired the listener in astonishment. "Well, you see they acted in such an eruptive manner—so rash—ly as it were. Save?" "Oh! yes, I save," replied the other, "they were boil—ing over, and merely resigned to humor themselves, I suppose." If such be the case, the National difficulty might have been averted by applying Swayne's Ointment for skin diseases.

Three persons reported to have perished while ascending the Alps near Pemterbach on Easter Sunday have been discovered alive, but in a starving condition.

Mr. George Schick informed our reporter that he had been suffering with rheumatism in his feet so badly that for weeks at a time he would be unable to leave his bed. RENOVATE —YOUR—
FEATHER BEDS!
Read This:
Extract from a Lecture on the existing Causes of Disease, by Dr. Alfred L. Castleman, delivered at Milwaukee:
"And we wonder that medical men, while instructing us in the cause of disease; of the accumulating influences of the marsh, effluvia of crowded rooms, and but one of unventilated sleeping apartments, have taken so little pains to impress upon us a knowledge of the deleterious causes emanating from the beds on which we sleep. I propose to examine this subject and begin with Feather Beds. Examine your feathers when first plucked from the fowls. The quill end of which is loaded with grease, blood and other animal matter. They are laid away and this animal matter is dried on them—preserved with much care in this condition as they are put into beds, and could they be kept dry, well-aired, and never slept on, they would do no harm. But night after night, for years, are the dead matters of your own bodies cast off by perspiration and respiration and mingled with animal matter. Summer after summer I had some member of your family sweated on the same bed; the person cause his sickness, and perhaps in addition to this, your young children have slept on it, and added to foul combinations the still more disgusting excretions of their bodies. On this foul mass you lie; the warmth and moisture of your bodies raising its constant decomposition and fermentation; giving back its foul gases and boiling them in contact with, not only the lungs and olfactories, but with every absorbing pore in your body. Re enter your bed room on a morning after having for a few moments inhaled pure air, and the smell that meets you is most stifling. Make a hole in a bed, from which has arisen a patient after sickness; apply your nostrils; if you have a stomach which can carry away its own contents, you are a man to be envied. If you inherit a predisposition to fevers, rheumatism, inflammation or consumption, here is a cause of development far more potent than the Manmee River Bottoms can generate."
If you want to avoid the dangers referred to in the above, get your beds renovated and cleansed by the steam process. All gluttonous substance is removed from the quill, each fibre separated from its matted condition, increasing the bulk of the bed from one-third to one-half. It also or Habit ly to them thereafter; removes all disagreeable smell, (common among new feathers,) thereby relieving housekeepers from much anxiety about their beds. In fact, it is everything essential to old or new feathers. Our work stands upon its own merits. Our facilities are such that we can take and return beds the same day, well renovated and ready for use, for
