RAHWAY, N. J., APRIL 25, 1885.

The Afghan question—Why don't you strike out?

Why don't you dare to indorse him before election?

They will indorse Hughes now. So says their organ. We thought so.

My name is Spring. A little late, I know, but here I am again.

Prospective peace and prospective war reports come from the other side sandwiched in a most bewildering fashion.

Where are all the rascals? They must all be in, for we have yet to hear of one having been turned out because he was a rascal.

Superintendent Lindsay's Arbor Day. Free Lycium, and Public School Museum schemes show that his heart is in the work under his charge.

Patti has gathered in this season $100,000 from forty performances. No wonder "I cannot sing the old songs" has no sentiment in it for her.

Three of the chief mugwump journals are giving it to Secretary Manning pretty sharply for his recent internal revenue collector appointments.

Bayard, even the great Bayard, the embodiment and ideal of all the political and personal is catching it from the press, and the Democratic press also at that.

It looks as though Gen. Grant were going to have his revenge on the "patent outside" and "pictorial" electrodes for their ante-mortem preparations for post-mortem business.

Mr. Hughes must feel highly complimented by this late indorsement of the Democrats. They are but weak friends, if they cannot stand by him when their advocacy may endanger themselves.

The Daven is the name of a new daily just started in New York. It will contain no financial or business news, and its items will be editorially cleansed so that they may be read by young people and the family circle.

Reform is in the air. The Century magazine for May is to be issued on May 1st, instead of the middle of the preceding month as heretofore. It has begun to be realized that post-dating will never make an old magazine a new one.

New York was to run the whole business and the world was to run New York. It was the World and not New York that got left. Now there is war. They are getting all the funeral and we all the fun after all.

It is rumored that Mr. Bayard is sick of the whole business and is looking for some way of escape. As his head is a large one he will probably find one; so that, if the rumor be true, his retirement may be expected soon.

The Grand Army of the Republic of New York has instituted a new department of usefulness in the establishment of an employment bureau for veterans. This idea is a most excellent one and might be followed with good results by the departments in other states.

The Tribune offers to bet the World $10,000, scaled on circulation. The World's winnings are to go to the Bartholdi Fund and the Tribune's winnings to the Fresh Air Fund. Put up or shut up, Mr. World, that we may have either freedom from boasts or benefit to some of two good objects.

The mighty brain hath labored and brought forth a plan on our city's name. Other and many lesser brains than his have performed this gigantic feat with success almost equal to his, thus proving that great and small heads sometimes think nearly alike.

Hartmann, the Nihilist, has confided to a Tribune reporter, that in the event of a war between Russia and England the terrorists will be quiet. Russia will of course direct her policy in accordance with this information, and thus pay a well deserved tribute to the power and sagacity of the American press.

Trenton contains a State House, some potteries, and a base ball club. From the local press it is hard to determine which is of the greatest importance. Last fall the potteries were on top and last winter the State House, but this Spring the ball club has the undisputed drop on the other two industries.

Miss Sweet is to finish her term. The President has just acknowledged that one of his prominent subordinates is not in sympathy with him in his civil service reform ideas. To be thoroughly consistent President Cleveland ought to withdraw Gen. Black for his violation of every rule of Civil Service Reform. But he won't. Gen. Black may feel a little crestfallen, but he will still hold the fort with Higgins.

News is slack indeed when the quill driven up the question whether Bayard's body was ever stolen or not. Dr. Hall of Brooklyn advances the theory that the story of the stealing was a mere fabrication of Judge Hilton and Mrs. Stewart to prevent the annoyance of anonymous letters threatening to rob the millionaire's grave.

ARBOR DAY.
Nature put on her sweetest and simplest smile yesterday in honor of New Jersey's first Arbor Day. Under the statute the schools are required to plant trees. In accordance with the statute, Superintendent Lindsay and the principals of the Rahway schools arranged a very interesting celebration, which was carried out to full yesterday.

At half-past one o'clock the schools assembled at the head of Main street and took their places in line. The procession moved at 2 o'clock. At the head was the Amateur Musical Union Band. Following this Superintendent Lindsay and Commissioner Freeman led the schools, each under its principal and each department under its teacher. At the head of each school came the milk and banner of the school, appropriately inscribed with name, motto, etc.

First came Franklin school, with 215 in line, then Washington, then the Columbian with 175, and last the Thirtieth Ward with 210, making 725 in all. The girls were prettily dressed in their school attire and scholars and teachers all wore small bouquets of flowers. There were many spectators along the line of the procession.

When the Thirtieth Ward school reached the school, each under its principal and each department under its teacher. At the head of each school came the milk and banner of the school, appropriately inscribed with name, motto, etc.

Superintendent Lindsay opened the exercises by stating the origin of the day in a statutory enactment.

Rev. Mr. Robinson told the children that they were to plant the trees that God was the one who would make them grow and so it was proper to address him in prayer. The reverend gentleman then made a prayer, in which he thanked the Creator for the world he had given and for its charms, and asked that the supplies be made to grow to sustain the children and the children's children.

A choir selected from the schools then sang under the leadership of Mr. Forman "Welcome to friends."

An address followed by Rev. Mr. Liggett. He began by saying that a little girl had asked him whether he was going to make a speech at the planting. When he told her he was, she said, "make a long speech." He would grant her request. Children are like young trees. Plant trees right and they will grow right. As the trees grow, the trees incline to the right, said when he was a boy, "as the pig is bent the hog's inclined." Like trees children are to be of some use. They are to be useful by being ornamental. He saw some very pretty faces among the girls. He hoped they would grow up as pretty as the trees spoken of in the Bible, "trees of righteousness the planting of the Lord."

After music played by the band the Rev. Mr. Norton was introduced. He said that he would be even shorter than Mr. Liggett in his remarks. The legislature had seen that the country was being cropped of its verdure and so had passed the law, great Arbor Day. The children should remember each year that they were planting trees in memory of the law of God, and that this was the beginning. We cannot live without law. The wisdom of the state is to enact laws in harmony with those above as had been done here. They should be educated in the belief that it was wise and good to obey laws. Some day you may be called on to stand by the laws even with your life, as the veterans of Barry Post had been. He who puts himself beside law puts himself beside the power ordained by God.

"The Little Busy Bee" was then sung by the scholars.

Rev. Mr. Ruth came next. Our mental powers need cultivation like the soil and the trees. Our faculties are bestowed by God and so should be cultivated.

Mr. J. T. Haviland, the nurseryman, here placed the school trees in the ground and the Barry Post veterans then sang the national hymn "America" which concluded the exercises.

At Potomac, a small milk-can station on the Napa road, a fervent appeal was made last Sunday by the pastor of the Protestant church there for funds to build said edifice. Not a cow-puncher moved. The entire congregation of ten-scores of "scoundrels" wrapped in slumber. As the minister gazed mournfully around a hen suddenly flew out of the old pig lat used as a contribution box, making a terrific crash. The pastor approached the hat and beheld a new-laid egg.

Holding up the hen fruit, he exclaimed sarcastically:

"She has contributed her all. Will you allow yourselves to be outdone by a hen?" The effect was electric.

In less than twenty minutes there was over forty-five cents in the pool.

"How queer," murmured Deacon Dinks' better half, looking up from the paper.

"What's queer?" asked the deacon, sleepily.

"Oh, nothing particular, only I see that a clergyman at Haverstraw, N. Y., preached a sermon showing that the bakers made a profit of $13 on a barrel of flour, and since then the size of loaves in that town has greatly increased."

"Where was that?" Where was that? yelled the deacon, jumping up and grabbing for the paper.

"But his name? What's his name?" "The paper does not give it. But what's the matter?"

"Matter? Oh nothing, nothing at all, only, you know, our church will soon be without a minister, and it's time to be looking around, that's all."

One of the most gifted and pious ministers who ever occupied an Albany pulpit, when remonstrated with about the length of his sermons—never less than an hour—replied: "I see the subject in all its aspects, and it is my duty to present it."

The consequence was that, though learned and eloquent, he preached for more than twenty years "a beggarly sermon of empty beseeches." He was one of the class of whom a Cleveland clergyman recently said: "I know men, otherwise gifted, who are failures in the ministry, because they hit the nail on the head the first time—and then keep on hammering till they split the board."

A revival of the reliques of the days of our grandmothers seems to be expected. The most convenient shape is simply a square bag of velvet from ten to twelve inches square, lined with colored silk. A running to hold a ribbon or cord, and tassels to draw it together with, must be made by hand of John Bull, westerly by hand of Peter Houseman, northerly by hand of formerly belonging to Aaron Morris.

WHAT WILL SURELY DO IT.

One's hair begins to fall out from many causes. The important question is: What is sure to make it grow in again? According to the testimony of thousands, Parker's Hair-Balm will do it. It quickly covers bald spots, restores the original color when the hair is gray or faded, eradicates dandruff, and causes the scalp to feel cool and well. It is not a dye, not greasy, highly perfumed, safe. Never disappoints those who require a nice, reliable dressing.

Commerce Flour.

$200 Reward.

We will pay a reward of $200.00 to any person who will produce testimonials equal to those we receive in relation to the high standard and uniform quality of any brand of flour now on the market that can be sold at as low price as the "COMMERCE" brand.

Leading Lawyers, Physicians, Divines, Manufacturers, etc., speak of it in the highest terms.

Read the following—

J. J. PETTIT, Esq.,
DEAR SIR:—I am very much pleased with the flour purchased from your brand, Commerce Flour. It is the best I have ever used. It is so well adapted for all the requirements of a fine family flour.

Hon. J. J. PARKER, Esq. Gov.

Mrs. WILKINSON, GADDIS & CO.
GENTLEMEN:—Your Commerce brand of flour has been used in my family with most satisfactory results. We get more leave from the same quantity of material more nutritious bread than from most other varieties.

It is noticed and remarked that the "Commerce" flour always has a rich cream and that it will produce more bread than the same quantity of ordinary flour. For this reason the "Commerce" flour is cheaper to the consumer than the ordinary flour that is generally sold at about the same price. In a word, it is the "poor man's" as well as the "rich man's" flour.

It is the GENUINE "COMMERCE" which is always branded as follows—

CARE FOR THE CHILDREN.

Children feel the duty of the changing seasons, even more than adults, and they become more susceptible, and are more liable to be attacked by the diseases of the season.

The blood should be cleansed and the system invigorated by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Last Spring my two children were threatened with a very serious illness, and I thought I should lose them. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured them completely, and I feel that I owe my children to it.
