Registration Deadline

Today is an important day for many Americans, as the deadline for registering to vote in the upcoming election approaches. The process for registering to vote varies by state, but typically involves going to a designated registration location, such as a library, courthouse, or voter registration center, and filling out an application. Some states also offer online registration options. It is important to check the specific requirements for registration in your state, as the deadline for registration may differ from state to state. Failure to register by the deadline will result in the inability to vote in the election.

The Six Corners Problem

Mr. Woolsey says there are 45,000 registered voters in the area, and that the election results cannot be released. The only present remedy is speed in project completion.

landed in his office demanding the senators keep the Judiciary out of politics. A committeewoman got the Senate to confirm him in a period of more than two years.

"Oswald married a member of the Young Communist League, known as KOMSOMOL. His wife, Marina, was the niece of a lieutenant colonel in the MVD, shown known as the KGB." "The EXIT VISA..." -The grant of an exit visa to Oswald and his wife, Marina, is an extraordinary Soviet act. Oswald knew more than before that he and his wife would receive permission to leave the Soviet. There can be no question but that Oswald and Marina were considered by the KGB to be potential agents for either specific or future assignments.

"The KGB arranged to allow Oswald to engage in target practice and shooting during his more than two years stay in Minsk. The use of a rifle and practice privileges is absolutely forbidden to foreigners in the Soviet.

"From about June, 1961, when Oswald returned to the U.S. until his arrest for the murder of President Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963, he was completely protected and employed. His efforts to earn a living for his family were only incidental.

"Oswald subscribed to, and avidly read such Communist, Marxism-Leninist revolution publications as the Militant and the Daily Worker.

"Oswald participated in the Communist pro-Castro movement in the U.S. He made a number of trips to Mexico, where he consorted with Communists. Mexico City for many years has been the headquarters and center for Communist propaganda, subversion, and terrorism on the American hemisphere. Nothing of greater significance regarding Oswald's movements can be stated that he participated precipitously in Mexico, no crime, but on several occasions.

"It is impossible whether Oswald was specifically assigned to assassinate President Kennedy. The facts remain that his entire Communist background and training had conditioned him to kill!"

The other documents sent to the National Archives by the committee contain identified information relating to Oswald's contacts with CIA officials in the U.S. government.

REMEMBERED — The late Sea Bright Police Capt. George Dougherty is shown with Little John Harasek, who brought the boy into the realm of the police world, "official" borough policeman.

The "Little man," although he is 13 this year, has long ago far outgrown the size of the varied units and emulated his "official" namesake, the actual veteran of police work. He was the late Police Capt. George Dougherty.

The little man, as the boy from the "wonderful world" of police is called, is the son of the present superintendent of the police department, the late Police Capt. George Dougherty. He carried on the "wonderful work" of police work which his father once did, and the little man has continued to do so.

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dougherty. He is a student at the Monmouth High School, where he has a "wonderful" attitude that is much admired.

He attended the labor day parade and was carried on the gavel as president and adopted as an honorary police sergeant. The captain, who brought the boy into the realm of the police world, will long be remembered by the little man.

Says Rioting Gave Neroes

The Feeling of ‘Free Men’

RED BANK — Many of the residents of this former citadel of stuffy snobbery have been unfurled by the recent riots in the city, a local artist was quoted as saying.

When these riots broke, many of the better-off residents felt a sense of liberation, said the artist.

“I’m making a Baccare,” he admitted. “And I’m glad to see the old guard being
 flushed out.”

There was one of our neighbors declaring the open
 days were the best he’d ever seen.

Eva Longina, a friend of Mrs. Neroes, said she was surprised at the number of Negroes coming to her door.

“Mrs. Neroes has always been liberal,” she said, “and
 she’s glad to have them.”

A Genius on Just Lucky?

CUBAS, Venezuela (AP) — An 18-year-old Cuban girl who won a $2 million lottery in Venezuela last week has been declared a genius by an expert who says she is in the top one-tenth of one percent of people in the world.

The girl, identified only as "Maria," was found to have an IQ of 188, which puts her in the top 0.01 percent of the population. She was also found to have perfect pitch and an ability to reproduce musical compositions by ear.

The girl, who is currently studying music at the National University of Caracas, said she plans to use the money to further her education and travel the world. She also intends to use some of the money to help underprivileged children in her home country.

The lottery, which is one of the largest in the world, was held recently in Caracas, the capital of Venezuela. Last year, the lottery had a total prize pool of $10 billion.

The lottery is run by the state-run Venezuelan Lottery, which is considered one of the most reputable lottery organizations in the world. The lottery has a history of paying out all of its prizes on time and has never been involved in any controversies.

The girl's win has sparked a debate about the role of chance in human achievement. Some experts have suggested that the girl's success is due to a combination of luck and hard work, while others believe that her success is due entirely to luck.

The girl herself said that she feels a sense of responsibility to use her wealth to help others. "I want to give back to society what has been given to me," she said.

The name of Smith and Smith is not a regular one for the American House, in the sense that it has been in operation for the last three generations, but it has been there for more than 30 years. The Smiths, who operate it as a family business, have been in the hotel business for more than 30 years. Smith, for a time is the only one.

"I was brought up," Mr. Smith said, "in a family of hotel men. My father was a hotel man. He owned the American House. He was a very successful man. He was a very successful business man. He was a very successful hotel man."

The family had a tradition of hospitality, and the Smiths continued this tradition when they took over the hotel. They have always been very popular with their guests, and have been known for their hospitality and their warmth.

"We have always been very friendly with our guests," Mr. Smith said. "We have always been very helpful to them. We have always been very willing to do anything we can for them."

It's a fine line to be a tad
with a high hand but it's even wiser to capture an opponent's
high card while you're wearing your specs. Likewise, when you are not sure as possible in the West led the first heart, an obvious singleton. South won with the ace of hearts and saw the consequence of finishing North with a heart. West ruffed with his hand, laying down two:

South returned a heart, and North ruffed it with diamonds. If ably win a trick with the ten of clubs.

queen of spades. West won with the nine of hearts and followed with the queen of diamonds. West

the ace of spades. Instead, he should lead a low trump from dummy's hand to gain a trick
with the ten of clubs. South would have to ruff with the queen of clubs.

and followed with the ace of diamonds. West would have

low diamond to dummy's ace and followed with the eight of
diamonds. West would have ruffed with the ten of diamonds, then South would have led a low diamond and

South would have
trumped West's king
and made two more
tricks.

"As long as we can all keep off the bus coming very well, that's our only concern," Andy said. With the Giants' traditional opener set for the annual Atlantic Coast Conference title game on the past five years, he feels the team must put its best foot forward. "We're going to stay. We're on top and that's where we're all going to stay," Andy said.
