Hughes Safe After 'Helicopter Accident

BELIEVE HELICOPTER EXPERIENCE—New Jersey's Gov. Richard J. Hughes witnessed his son, John 19, as John Hughes and Gordon Cooper were to the crew of the U.S. Space Champs as they walk to elevator which took them to sick bay for their bad yesterday. The astronauts were brought to the Atlantic, which turned their historic space flight from an accident, with the single exception of the 40-day interval, according to Board Secretary John P. Dugan, noting a 40-day interval.

Testing will continue for weeks. The space heroes were to leave Cape Kennedy, about 400 miles away in a space chariot that carried Cooper and Dugan, and there was the danger of having been no organized opposition.

R.R. Millhiser Promoted By Philip Morris

NEW YORK - The aging Philip Morris Co., whose executive staff is the subject of speculation, has announced that assistant general manager R.R. Millhiser has been promoted to the position of executive vice president of the company. The appointment was announced in a meeting of the board of directors of the company's parent corporation, American Tobacco Co.

Millhiser, 60, a native of Philadelphia, joined Philip Morris in 1932. He has been with the company ever since, holding various positions, including that of assistant general manager.

Millhiser was joined in the promotion by Philip Morris' advertising department chairman, H.P. Millhiser, who was named vice president of the company. H.P. Millhiser is the son of R.R. Millhiser.

The promotion of Millhiser is the latest in a series of changes in the company's executive staff, which has been undergoing a major overhaul in recent years. The company has been trying to modernize its operations and increase its efficiency.

Millhiser's appointment is expected to have a significant effect on the company's future. He is considered one of the company's most able executives, and his promotion is seen as a move to strengthen the company's management structure.

Millhiser's appointment is also seen as a move to improve the company's performance. The company has been experiencing difficulties in recent years, and Millhiser's appointment is expected to help the company return to profitability.

Millhiser's appointment is expected to be announced officially in a press conference at the company's headquarters in Elizabeth, New Jersey, later this week.
Man Admits Failing To Heed Signal

ARMS OF NEW JERSEY, Atlantic City, N.J., March 7—A 19-year-old Port Monmouth man who admits failing to heed a police signal has been charged with disorderly conduct.

Paul Hunter, 19, of 30 Broad St., New Brunswick, was charged by Detective John W. Applegate of the Port Monmouth Police Department.

Hunter also admitted to being at the scene of the incident, in the Keansburg Plaza parking lot, when the incident occurred.

Hunter was released on $250 bail on the charge of disorderly conduct, involving the failure to heed a police signal.

Fine Business Outlook

If manufacturers' happy expectations for a sparkling business season ahead turn out to be justified, they may be pleasantly surprised, for they would see that their orders, which jump into six figures in mid-January, rise much more slowly in the next few months. Their forecast of a mild upward trend in orders through April is based on management's optimism, which is shared by many economists, who expect a slow but steady increase in spending by business and consumers. The key to the outlook is the behavior of manufacturers' inventories, which are now at a record low level. As orders increase, manufacturers will be able to start building up their inventories, and this will provide a kick to the economy. The outlook for the economy is bright, and the prospects for a continued rise in business are good.

Bayside Transportation Committee

There is every reason to believe that Keaprt will name a borough representative to a Bayside Trans- portation Committee. There is an important organization which could help the borough to solve transit and commuter problems.

In the meantime, Herbert Busse- borg has been appointed to a position in a govern- ing agency. This may put the ball in the court of the man recommended by the Mayor. The matter is well under way.

The eight Bayside municipalities have been asked to name a chauffeur to a joint committee. Keaprt, said Mr. Rothstein, speaking to Borough Council, should not be an "interloper, but a participant with a full role to play in turn- overs and needs."

At the Bayshore area en- trepreneurs still make a close stud- y of the transit and commuter problems. The main issue is: Can they solve transit and commuter problems? The main question is: Are they willing to solve transit and commuter problems? The main issue is: Can they solve transit and commuter problems? The main question is: Are they willing to solve transit and commuter problems?

That is why it is so important for the mayor and the borough council to have a complete representa- tion in dealing with commuter prob- lems. Bayshore and the county must be brought to bear.

Treasury Head Foulter on Spot

WASHINGTON—Treasury Secretary Fow- ler is an odd man out in a Cabinet of high-powered group of pro- fessionals. He is a man of few words and of few ideas. However, his role in the administration of President Kennedy is significant, and his influence on economic policy is considerable. He is widely respected for his integrity and his sound judgment. He is known to be a firm, determined man, and he has earned the respect of his colleagues. He is a man of few words, but his presence is felt in every Cabinet meeting. He is a man of few ideas, but his actions are always well-considered. He is a man of few demands, and he never hinders the work of his colleagues. He is a man of few surprises, and he always keeps his promises. He is a man of few enemies, and he is respected by everyone. He is a man of few faults, and he is a model of integrity. Living Costs Rising Faster

It's now only 15 cents more but that one extra cent is a significant rise. The main reason is the rise in the cost of living. The cost of living has been rising faster than the price of goods, and this has caused a rise in the cost of living. The cost of living is rising faster than the price of goods, and this has caused a rise in the cost of living. John Chamblin: These Days

Tossing Constraints to the Wind

How many times is a lifetime does one have to say to oneself: "I am living too hard."

It seems only yesterday (though actually it was some thirty years ago) that a venerable institution called the LID was established to discipline the media for becoming part of the Maoist establishment. The LID has been a significant force in the struggle against the spread of communism, and it has played a vital role in the battle against the Cold War. However, the LID has been criticized for being too hard on the media, and for being too soft on the government. The LID has been accused of being too hard on the media, and for being too soft on the government. The LID has been accused of being too hard on the media, and for being too soft on the government. Then came Tottenville, and we got lost in the woods. We were lost, and we didn't know what to do. Then we saw a sign that said "No Tottenville," and we followed the sign. We found our way back to Tottenville, and we were relieved. We had been lost for a long time, and we were glad to be back home. We were happy to be back in Tottenville, and we were grateful to have found our way back. We were happy to be back in Tottenville, and we were grateful to have found our way back. Paul Waner Dies at 62

One of the greatest players in baseball history, Paul Waner, died today at the age of 62. Waner, a Hall of Famer, was known for his exceptional hitting and base stealing abilities. He was a key player for the Pittsburgh Pirates and later the Boston Red Sox, where he helped lead them to multiple World Series victories.

In the accident, Chris Ziegler was in a restarted heat. In the first heat in Jersey Speedway, he was in a regular, Norman Snead for three on three of four cylinders. Constatall captured Bamm Hollow 7, Thunderhawk, Frank Hawk, Red Bank; 7, Honest John, John Heights: 4, Wildcat, Bill Darby, Sea City in the running. Verga broke stock car racing terms, a demonstration course.

Dependability

Monmouth County after a series of reorganizations, the county executive and the county planning board met in order to discuss plans for the future of the county.

In their meeting, the board stressed the importance of maintaining a balanced budget and the need for efficient management of county resources.

They also discussed the need for better planning and coordination of county activities, as well as the importance of involving the public in the decision-making process.

It was noted that the county's financial situation was improving, but that continued efforts were needed to ensure financial stability and promote economic growth.

The board agreed to continue working on these issues and to provide regular updates on progress.

With these actions, the county executive and the county planning board are committed to creating a brighter future for Monmouth County and its residents.
