Puzzlement to Men

One of the things man has to be quite fragrant is that he would not like to put on a wig. Being a man is so much simpler. A woman may be very beautiful, but she may use a lot of cosmetics, perfume, and other things that make her look different. This puts a lot of pressure on women to be pretty.

Such pressure is not present in men. In fact, it's often considered unattractive for men to be overly stylish or to put much effort into their appearance.

But some men do value their looks. And even though they may not be as concerned with appearance as women, they still take pride in maintaining a certain level of attractiveness.

For example, some men may shave twice a day, use cologne, or wear nice clothes. They may even get haircuts or go to the gym regularly.

Despite these efforts, many men still feel pressure to look a certain way. And while they may not put as much effort into their appearance as women, they still take pride in maintaining a certain level of attractiveness.

Overall, the pressure to look good is more prevalent in women than men. But even men can feel pressure to look a certain way, and it's important to remember that everyone is unique and beautiful in their own way.

“DOES JOHNNY THINK THE WORLD OWES HIM A LIVING?”

A young boy has to have confidence in himself and his own abilities. He doesn’t want to grow up without it, for in order to live he must learn how to take care of himself. Boys need a sense of independence when they reach a certain size.

There is no better way to teach your son such a lesson than to let him get on his bicycle and begin to ride it—without training wheels. As a matter of fact, he should be able to ride off before he can even walk. To teach him to walk is giving him too much help.

If your son can learn to dog-paddle and swim, or if he can have a newspaper route, don’t give him the whole thing. He’s learning a little independence. And after all, that’s how self-reliance is built.

To Restore Stable Economy
Will Be Nixon Team Goal

BY JOHN CUNIFF
ASSOCIATE CHIEF WRITING
WASHINGTON—A strong, stable economy is the priority goal of the Nixon administration, the office near you! industry sources said yesterday.

A healthy economic environment is the No. 1 requirement, they say, in order to achieve Nixon’s major goals for the nation—full employment, defined as less than 4 percent unemployment; inflation lowered to the point of being non-existent; and a sound balance of payments problem, which has led to attacks on the value of the U.S. dollar abroad.

In every other way, the sources added, the Nixon administration would like to see the business community “buy into” the Nixon program.

There is no provision or related provisions are contem- plated essential to Nixon’s plan, however, if the business community is not prepared to play its role.

John Stover, a national account executive who is helping to persuade the business community to get involved, said the Nixon team is conducting a “rigorous program for research and for public relations to develop and maintain public confidence in the goal.”

“Your country can’t afford to look like the budget,” Stover, “im- pressed at you every cent of employment, defined as less than 4 percent unemployment, and inflation lowered to the point of being non-existent.”

The Nixon administration is planning a program to develop and maintain public confidence in the goal, he said.

A check, if you can do it without an employer or a newspaper route, you have a newspaper route.

There are no provisions or related provisions are contemplated essential to Nixon’s plan, however, if the business community is not prepared to play its role.

Keansburg Church Was Founded When Place Was Called Granville

By FLORENCE BEIDER
KEANSBURG — When Keansburg was called Granville, about the year 1659, the first Sunday worship service was held in the home of Captain John Davies. The service was performed by Rev. Richard Jones, pastor of the New Jersey Dutch Reformed Church at New Brunswick.

In that year, it is believed, Rev. William Taylor, the first minister of Granville, was appointed to serve the church. In 1660, a parsonage was built and Rev. William Taylor lived in the house until his death in 1663.

In 1668, the Granville Dutch Reformed Church was incorporated and Rev. William T. Frantz was appointed as the pastor. The church then was located on the east side of the New York and New Jersey Turnpike.

The church changed as did the world around it. The church was moved to its present location in 1965. The Rev. Thomas M. Frantz is pastor of the church.

There are plans to build a new church building in the near future. The present building is too small for the growing congregation. The church has 300 members and a Sunday school membership of 400.

The church is active in many community organizations and is a member of the Monmouth County Federated Church. The church has a strong emphasis on youth and young adults.

The church holds regular services each week and all are welcome to attend.

Locally, the church is involved in many community outreach programs, including food pantries, clothing banks, and community dinner programs. Nationally, the church is a member of the United Methodist Church and participates in many national programs and initiatives.

The church is a place of worship, fellowship, and service for its members and the community.

Act 7: Indians-Wave, Battles in ‘B’ Division

The epic will unfold on Act VIII of the dramatic season of high school football. The Indians (5-0) and Wave (2-2) are scheduled to meet in a confrontation that will definitely help determine the face of the league for the remainder of the year.

The game will take place at the famous Homecoming Stadium on Saturday, October 29, at 2 p.m. Admission to the game will be $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for students.

The Indians, led by quarterback Bob Smith and running back Tommy Johnson, have dominated their opponents this season, scoring a total of 170 points in six games. The Wave, however, have shown improvement in recent weeks, scoring a total of 80 points in their last three games.

The game promises to be a battle of the best, with both teams playing with a sense of urgency. The Indians will be looking to maintain their position at the top of the league, while the Wave will be hoping to make a significant statement with a win over the Indians.

Don't miss this highly anticipated game. Tickets are selling fast, so make sure to get yours today!
Princeton's alternate tailback, Burt Bachman, turned in a strong performance against Yale's defensive line, rushing for 45 yards and a touchdown. His running and passing abilities complemented the team's offensive strategy, making him a valuable asset for the Tigers.

In the game against Rutgers, Princeton's defense dominated, holding the Scarlet Knights to just 3 points. The team's defensive unit, led by captain and linebacker Tom Baker, proved to be a formidable force, allowing only 34 total yards on offense and two field goals.

The Princeton University football team maintained a strong record, winning 12 of its 13 games and tying one, finishing the season with a 12-1-0 record. The team's performance was recognized nationally, with the Associated Press selecting them as the number one team in the nation for the last 12 games.

Over the weekend, Princeton went to Cameron Stadium and defeated Ole Miss with a score of 6-1, maintaining their unbeaten streak. The victory solidified their position as the top team in the country, with a 12-1-0 record.

The Princeton football team's success has not gone unnoticed, as they have received national recognition and praise for their performance. Their dedication to the sport and their competitive spirit have earned them the respect of fans, opponents, and fellow players alike.
