State Mayors’ Parley Set Today
In Asbury on Poison Gas Sinking

State Mayors from across the country gathered in Asbury Park Friday afternoon for a parley on the problem of poison gas sinking through the floor of the New Jersey Statehouse.

The meeting, called by the New Jersey Conference of Mayors, was attended by representatives of other states fighting the same problem and was expected to last for about two hours.

At the meeting, it was decided to establish a special committee to study the problem in detail and to make recommendations for a solution.

In Keansburg Political Signs Hassle

Two residents of Keansburg were arrested and the New Jersey State Highway Department was ordered to remove political signs from the highway.

The two men, who were identified as John Jones and William Smith, were arrested for violating the state’s sign law.

The signs, which were located on the highway, were seen as a threat to motorists and were ordered removed by the state highway department.

State Nurse, Tonti to Offer '69 Year of Challenge' Talks

Long Branch — Mrs. Kathleen A. Tonti, chief of the state nursing bureau of the division of health, was the keynote speaker Saturday afternoon at a meeting of the Young Women’s Christian Association.

In her address, Mrs. Tonti described the activities and services of the New Jersey Department of Health and the role of the nurse in helping to improve health and living conditions.

She noted that the nurses of New Jersey have made significant contributions to the health and welfare of the state, and she encouraged the nurses to continue their efforts in promoting health education and disease prevention.

She also emphasized the importance of continuing education and training for nurses, and she urged nurses to stay informed about the latest developments in the field of nursing.

Mrs. Tonti concluded her speech by thanking the Young Women’s Christian Association for sponsoring the meeting and by inviting nurses to participate in future events and programs sponsored by the association.

Tonti Proposes Buyers Bureau

The Young Women’s Christian Association (YWCA) of Monmouth County, Inc. will establish a buyers bureau to help with the allocation of goods and services.

The YWCA, which is a member of the American Association of YWCA’s, is one of the largest community service organizations in the nation.

The buyers bureau will be established to help members of the community find goods and services at reasonable prices.

The YWCA will work with suppliers to negotiate the best prices and terms, and it will provide members with a list of approved suppliers.

The YWCA’s buyers bureau will also be available to help members find jobs and establish businesses.

The YWCA has been working on the project for several months, and it has received support from local businesses and organizations.

The YWCA’s buyers bureau is expected to be operational by the end of the year.

The fifth one, however, Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr. from Cape May County, is someone who appears to have inhumanity to primary elections. He has agreed with almost every primary election within his district. This is because he is opposed to helping publican leaders of that county, the state party, and the Republican leaders of other counties, which is why he is not in favor of helping the state party.

The same thing holds true for the South Jersey counties. Reps. John A. Goldsmith and John E. Pitman, who are both from South Jersey, also opposed the Republican leaders of their counties. They are opposed to the state party because they believe that the state party is not doing enough to help them in their counties. Therefore, they are not in favor of helping the state party. This is why they are opposed to helping the state party.

Successful Investing
By ROGER E. SPALI

G— I would appreciate a chance to work with you on any new investment opportunities. Now that this economy seems to be stabilized, many investors decide to put more money into stocks. Of course, this means that if you want to sell a bond, the price of that bond will come down because you are selling it at a time when many people are buying bonds. If you are planning to sell a bond, you should wait until the market is down and then sell it at a price lower than what you paid for it.

A— First, one can sell a bond without losing any money. The second reason is that the bond market is now in a bear market, so the price of bonds should go up. The third reason is that if you sell a bond now, you will be able to reinvest the money in another bond with a higher yield.

B— The best way to invest in bonds is to buy them at a low price and sell them at a higher price. However, it is important to be patient and wait for the right opportunity. If you sell a bond now, you may not be able to find a better bond later on.

C— I agree that the bond market is now in a bear market, but I don't think that selling a bond now is a good idea. The bond market is likely to continue to decline, so it is better to hold onto your bond and wait for the market to improve.

D— I think that the bond market is likely to continue to decline, so it is better to hold onto your bond and wait for the market to improve. However, if you are not comfortable with the idea of holding onto your bond, you may want to consider selling it now and reinvesting the money in another bond with a higher yield.

Red Bank High School Election Is Tomorrow

RED BANK — Classroom elections are in full swing at Red Bank High School. The results of the election to decide who will be president of the student council will be announced tomorrow morning. The candidates are: Vincent Cipolla and Robert Johnson. The student body is expected to turn out in large numbers to vote.

Middleton Seater Project Lag Spurs Both Regents, Confidence

MIDDLETOWN — Mayor Robert S. Hovey and Assemblyman Chester Apay yesterday said that Middleton Township's six-room seater project is not worth the salt it contains.

"The township is not going to get what it's paid for," said Apay. "It will not be worth the money the township will spend on it."

Hovey added that Middleton's $10,000 was too high to build a seater and that the state's contribution of $15,000 was inadequate.

"I am personally convinced," he said, "that Middleton will get its seater, but that it will be a poor one."
Dear God, I want to be a bird. If you will do it I promise not to ask for anything for a long time.
