Horticulturalist to Speak to Gardeners

The originator of the scenic garden, Dr. Forman McClane, will speak at a meeting of the Monmouth County Horticultural society tonight at the Molly Pitcher hotel. Dr. McClane is a recognized authority on soilless culture and is associated with the Boyce Thompson Institute in Yonkers. He will illustrate his lecture with pictures.

Clubs who have been invited to attend include Red Bank Women's club, Neighborhood Garden club, Rumson Garden club, National Gardeners association, Elmhurst Horticultural society and Monmouth County Florists association. All other persons interested in gardening and horticulture are cordially invited to attend.

Red Bank Again To The Fore By WOR Program

A. M. Fraser Gives
History of Gold Beating
for Radio Broadcast

Red Bank once more came into its share of national-wide publicity Monday morning through Martha Deanne, prominent radio personality, who broadcasted from 11:00 to 12:00 noon over radio station WOR.

Miss Deanne came to Red Bank Saturday afternoon after calling the Chamber of Commerce office and making an appointment with Secretary Walter to see some of the historic places of the area. Miss Deanne, after registering at the Molly Pitcher hotel, accompanied Mr. Walter on a short tour of Middletown historic sites.

They visited Maripit Hall there and the Episcopal church which latter was founded by William Leeds, a member of Captain Kidd's pirate crew. Miss Deanne was primarily interested in getting information about the gold beating industry which Red Bank is noted for. As the shops here close Friday afternoon, it was impossible for her to see gold beaten but A. M. Fraser of 70 East Front street, came to the rescue with a complete history of the industry from ancient Egypt to the present day.

In her radio program Monday morning, Miss Deanne opened by telling of attending the sunrise services at Mt. Mitchell, Atlantic Highlands and of having had breakfast with Chief of Police John R. Shedd at the place. Miss Deanne was very profuse in her praise of the Molly Pitcher hotel and its staff and recommended it as a good place to stay. She told of her visit to Maripit Hall and the various churches, including Christ Church in Shrewsbury and Old Testament at Freehold.

Quite a bit of Miss Deanne's radio time was given over to a story on the gold beating industry for which Red Bank is known. Mr. Fraser came for quite a lot of credit for having helped collect the material on the industry.

Letter of appreciation to Miss Deanne for having publicized this community are being sent by the Chamber of Commerce and others.

Council Seeks Lower Bus Fare

Wants Rate Reduced
at Sea Bright

The Sea Bright mayor and council last Thursday night passed a motion directing the borough clerk, E. Wolcott Farrow, to write to the Borough Incorporated, requesting a reduction in the bus fare from ten to five cents between the Sea Bright business section and Sea Bright beach. One of the reasons given at the meeting for seeking the decrease is that most of the people using the bus between the two points ride only part of the distance.

The borough attorney, Leon Reuss, was directed to prepare an ordinance increasing the license fee from $5 to $25 on all five-cent amusement and baggage machines, other than musical machines. The motion was made by Councilman Sol Neimark.

The sewer plant matter was also brought up by Mr. Neimark, and on his motion the clerk was instructed to write to Thomas Proctor Co., the contractor, requesting a written report on the readings of the Venturi meter in the plant, and to the Builders Iron Foundry Co., requesting a report on the findings of the company's representatives when the flow meter was checked recently.

Rumson Realtor Sells Two Places During Past Week

William H. Hintelmann
Effects Sale in Rumson and Fair Haven

William H. Hintelmann, prominent realtor and insurance broker of Rumson, has reported to The Register that he has recently effected two sales which have recently been effected by him. One embraces a very fine show place in Fair Haven borough and the other an equally attractive place in the borough of Rumson.

The Fair Haven property is the country estate of Mrs. Adele Duffie Barr and her brothers, D. Bennett Duffie and Adrian M. Duffie, purchased by Henry E. Butler. The property is situated on the east side of Hance road fronting on the shore of the North Shrewsbury river.

The property comprises approximately four and one-half acres and has a frontage of 500 feet on the North Shrewsbury river. There is a large frame residence, stable-garage and windmill tower on the premises. The property directly adjoins the residence premises which Mr. Butler recently acquired from Frederick J. Burghard.

Mr. Butler intends to demolish the buildings on the Duffie property. The demolition work is in charge of William Moncrieff of Rumson.

The residence on the Duffie property was built about sixty years ago by the late Inspector Thomas F. Byrnes of the New York Police Department. Following Inspector Byrnes' death the property was leased for many years by James P. Donahue, son-in-law of F. W. Woolworth.

The Rumson property is that of the Fidelity Union Trust company of Newark, a residence property situated on the north side of south Shrewsbury Drive, east side of Monmouth Road and west side of Woodmere avenue, to Mrs. Adele Duffie Barr and her brothers, D. Bennett Duffie and Adrian M. Duffie.

The residence contains four master bedrooms, four master baths, three maid's rooms, maid's bath, living room, reception hall, dining room, butler's pantry, kitchen and maid's dining room. There is a two car garage attached with chauffeur's room and bath. The grounds comprise about one acre.

The new owners are having a new oil burning hot water heating plant installed and will occupy the property as their all year home when this work is completed.

Farewell Sermon By Sea Bright Pastor Sunday

Rev. Howard N. Amer
Retiring After 34
Years in Ministry

Sunday, March 31, will be another memorable day in the Methodist church at Sea Bright. At 7:30 p. m. the pastor, Rev. Howard N. Amer, will preach his farewell sermon and also close a very active and successful ministry for 34 years. Rev. Dr. Leon Chamberlain, district superintendent of the New Brunswick district, will be the guest of honor and at the invitation of the pastor will preside. The Sea Bright borough council, board of education and all the civic organizations and citizens will attend this service. In addition, there will be many invitations sent to the wide host of friends and former parishioners for miles around and it is expected the church will be packed to the doors.

In March, 1906, Rev. Mr. Amer served the church at Magnolia, N. J. as his first appointment and since that time has been continuously serving churches in the New Jersey Conference. Many large and outstanding revivals, moral and civic reforms and much work has been done in outstanding fraternal circles by Mr. Amer. Since figures and words mean so little in describing the success over these years and only lives that have been helped can speak in a small way at best. Eternity alone can only make a satisfactory report on the accomplishments of this servant of the church. Sincerity and loyalty to every condition and demand, have meant so much to the cause, the long hours of hard work and the unselfish and yet willing sacrifice of vacation and recreation have crowded much in the few years that make up the ministry of Rev. Amer. Perhaps the most outstanding of all the pastorates has been at Sea Bright. From 1922 to 1927, the work and workers were so successfully connected here that many outstanding achievements were realized. In 1935 with the church and parsonage property actually falling down and the church way in debt, Pastor Amer and his faithful wife accepted the invitation and returned to Sea Bright. The phenomenal success of the past four and one half years is well known.

Rev. and Mrs. Amer have given so generously and continuously of their lives and service to the church and cause so near and dear to them, that even though they are in comparative middle life, they find themselves dangerously near a complete physical and nervous collapse. During the first week in April they expect to move to the home of Mrs. Amer's recently deceased mother at Medford, N. J., where they hope to gain much of their old vigor after an extended rest from their long and arduous labors and responsibilities of the ministry. Financial limitations will be a very serious handicap in the work of living. However, Rev. Amer and his wife have the utmost faith in a Great God and feel sure that, like the sparrow, they will be cared for by their Heavenly Father.

Rev. Amer was recently asked as to what was the explanation for the phenomenal success that has come to his labors. He replied a Christian home and parents, a conversion in early childhood that was real then but has grown even more real as the years have passed, a lot of hard work continuously rendered and with only one thought and that of helping men and women to find and know God and to feel the comfort that their Heavenly Father can give them in all conditions of life. Rev. Amer says that he and his wife now face the gravest problems of their lives but as they have advised others they will themselves now turn to Him who knows and understands and will help. They hope to see and hear their many friends in their new home as frequently as possible.

Grand's Shoe Repair Has New Machine

Grand's shoe repair shop, 10 West Front street, has installed a new piece of machinery known as the McKay machine. This machine is for sewing women's shoes and is modern in every way.

Mr. Grand told a Register representative that this new machine does away with nailing soles on women's shoes. This machine, he said, is used by leading shoe manufacturers the country over. To introduce this new service Mr. Grand has reduced the rates on several repair jobs.

An advertisement giving the rates for repair jobs and other features of the shop appear in another section of The Register.

Oarsmen's Dance Tomorrow Night

The North Shrewsbury Rowing association will hold its second annual ball, an Easter dance, tomorrow night at Joseph's Norwood Hunting lodge, Norwood Country club, West Long Branch.

Music will be furnished by Anthony DeNucci, who will add several pieces to his already well-formed trio. The proceeds will be used to purchase new equipment which the oarsmen need to compete in the forthcoming national championship regatta on the North Shrewsbury river July 29 and 31.

Clinton Thompson, chairman of the dance committee, reports a large attendance is expected. Tickets may be procured from any member of the rowing association or at the door.

Old Colt's Neck Mill Property Has New Owner

Ray H. Stillman Sells
Place to New York
Business Man

Marcus B. Matson, New York business man, has just purchased from John M. Weir, of Bridgeton, New Jersey, the old Colt's Neck mill property, on the Vanderburg Road in Colt's Neck.

The property comprises six acres and includes the old mill pond and the water rights. Yellow Brook, a rapidly flowing brook, noted for its trout fishing, flows through the property.

The new owner will build a dam and create a small lake which will stock with bass, pickerel and trout. Included in the sale is the old mill building which was remodeled a few years ago, by Mr. Weir into a bungalow of six rooms and bath. The old, hand-hewn mill timbers were all used in constructing the new dwelling. All modern improvements were installed. The cellar was converted into a game room and garage.

On this property is to be found an original "old swimming hole" to which the farm lads have worn a well beaten path through the underbrush. The pool, itself, is some thirty feet wide and fifty feet long and has a depth of six feet. A home-made diving board is still set in the high bank, played ten feet over the water.

A feature of this property is a rapids over trap rock. It is said that the sound of a rapids in Monmouth county is never heard save on the old mill property, as this county is proverbially free of rapids and hills.

Humus was discovered on the premises a few years ago and there is said to be thousands of cubic yards of this rich deposit which is of great value in building up the fertility of the soil.

After extensive alterations, Mr. Matson will occupy the property as his summer and week-end home. The sale was consummated Monday through the office of Ray H. Stillman of Eatontown.

Navesink Lodge Of Odd Fellows To Celebrate Its 49th Anniversary to Be Featured By Affair Next Month

Navesink lodge of Odd Fellows of Red Bank will celebrate its 49th anniversary at its lodge rooms in the Odd Fellows building on Monmouth street Monday, April 2. It will be more of an informal gathering of lodge members, their wives and invited guests in a reception to the state officers and their staffs. H. Carl Kait, who is associated with the law firm of Applegate, Stevens, Foster & Reussell of Broad street, is chairman of the invitation committee.

Navesink lodge No. 39, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, was chartered May 7, 1846, with John Eorden, Henry Conover, Seth Sturtevant, George D. Allaire and Matthias Conover as charter members. Meetings were held over a wheelwright shop on the site of the former John Bergen shoe store.

Fair Haven To Zone Fire Alarm System

Rearrangement of Numbers
Into Three Zones Approved

Scouts To Hold
Unique Rally
With Ohio Troop.

Each Troop Plans Own
Rally—Results to Be Compared by Mail

With its 30 members organized into 11 rally teams Boy Scout Troop 67 of the Red Bank Presbyterian church will meet Troop 6 of Cincinnati, Ohio, in an odd rally. This contest will be conducted as usual except the troops will not actually meet but each will hold its own rally exchanging results by mail. The Ohio troop will hold its rally tomorrow night in Cincinnati and the local scouts will compete tonight in the church basement.

A rearrangement of the fire alarm numbers in the borough of Fair Haven into zones was approved by the mayor and council Monday night on the recommendation of Councilman H. Lynnwood Minton, chairman of the fire committee. The new plan worked out by Mr. Minton and Fire Chief Charles Wesson, will work for greater efficiency through the designation of the zone in the first series. Mr. Minton explained. He said the cost of the change over will not exceed $50 and it will take several weeks to complete the change.

Mayor Arthur B. Sickles expressed his approval of the new plan and suggested that after the change is completed cards with the revised numbers on them be sent to all the residents of the borough.

The new approved plan is as follows:

EAST ZONE
23—Willow Street School.
24—River Road and Doughty Lane.
25—River Road and Fair Haven Road.
26—Kemp Avenue and Sycamore place.

CENTRAL ZONE
34—Cedar Avenue and Third Street.
35—River Road and Battin Road.

WEST ZONE
44—River Road and Lake Avenue.
45—Grange Avenue (Middle of Block).
46—River Road and Hance Road.

SPECIAL CALLS
1—Line Trouble and Recall.
1.1—Daily Official Test.
1.1.1—First Aid.
2.2—No School.
5 Type—Chief and Assistant call.
8.1—Riverside Hospital (all apparatus answer).

In connection with the WPA project Mayor Sickles said additional local men will be hired on the job within the next few days. In his customary report Councilman Peter J. Schiele, chairman of the road committee, reported progress on the project.

Councilman Tony Huntley reported, as 31 dogs issued as of this year. He made it emphatic that every dog must be licensed and that unless there is a good increase in licenses immediately the police committee will set a deadline in April and will then instruct the officers to make a canvass.

Council approved Mr. Huntley's recommendation for "road and signs" at the southern end of Chestnut street and the northern end of Cambridge road. All traffic signs will be replaced this spring, he said.

Councilman S. Vincent Willis reported two street lights have been ordered installed, one on Willow street and the other on William street.

A motion was passed granting an increase in the pay from $5 to $10 a month to Mrs. Frank Hendrickson, who cleans the library.

Mayor Sickles was named to represent the Fair Haven governing body at the Red Cross Institute on disaster relief April 15.

Anniversary Party at Airport Inn Tonight

The third anniversary of Airport Inn on Shrewsbury avenue will be observed tonight with a special party. The proprietor, Daniel Dondi, has extended an invitation to his many patrons to join with him in celebrating the occasion. An evening of entertainment and general sociability is planned, with music by Sam Fazzone and his Original Five.

Taking a prominent part in the evening's festivities will be the proprietor himself, who no doubt will be asked to sing some of his old-time favorites, including "Wagon Wheels," "Throw Another Log On the Fire," "Paper Moon" and "There's a Gold Mine in the Sky." In addition to present-day popular melodies, Mr. Dondi's business has increased steadily since its establishment three years ago and he is contemplating making extensive alterations.

1930 Class to Hold Reunion

Members of the class of 1930 of the Red Bank high school will hold their tenth reunion dinner Saturday, May 25. Cards have been sent to every member of the class in an effort to learn which type of reunion would be most desirable.

Division Veterans Plan Reunion

County Veterans to Attend Meeting at New York City

More than 2,000 veterans of the 1st Division Veterans' association, known as The Lightning Division, will gather at the Capital Hotel, New York City, Saturday, April 20, for the annual spring reunion.

Veterans of 20 odd years ago, will come down together to swap yarns of their rookery days in Camp Dix, of the trip overseas, of the submarine attack off the coast of England, of the days they spent under dripping sky, recalling the first time they entered the lines, of the big drives in Italy, of the Argonne, of the comrades who made "The Supreme Sacrifice" and of the vows they made upon their return, swearing to keep alive those ties that had kept them bound so closely together.

Committees have been formed in every city and town throughout New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Rhode Island and parts of Pennsylvania to contact the thousands of men who served in the 78th Entertainment, housing reservation and reception committees have been formed to extend a royal welcome to the men, who will return for the reunion. A beef steak supper, 18 acts from the leading Broadway shows, refreshments and music furnished by one of the leading bands of the country will be among the highlights.

Advance reservations and information may be obtained by writing the general secretary, Raymond Taylor, 10th Division Veterans association, New York City.

The Monmouth county reservation committee consists of John VanKirk of Red Bank, Joseph Levy of Freehold, Ralph Damiano of Long Branch, William Kelly of Neptune City, John Carroll, Alexander Hayden, of Asbury Park and Wilbur Southard of Bradley Beach.

Local Women Given Orchids At Asbury Park

Stage Stars, Designers and Fashion Experts Served as Judges

Despite cold wintry winds, Easter day was very much in evidence at the fifth annual orchid promenade at Asbury Park, and nine women from this vicinity were awarded orchids for their costumes.

The winner of the grand prize, a $25 Revere manicure set, was Miss Virginia Gibson of Asbury Park. She wore a navy blue tulle dress with a white eyelet collar and cuffs. Her tiny hat was made of white flowers and her accessories were black patent leather.

The judges included Ethel Barrymore, stage star daughter of Ethel Barrymore, well-known actress, Peggy Colburne, who was chosen to lead the annual orchids' prom at West Point last year as America's number one beauty; Kathleen Martin, style columnist; Paul Strathairn, international perfumery; Tom O'Brien, stage editor; Frederick Koepnick, Jr., Charles Reeson and Anckey Olesinski, stylists who have just returned from Paris. The judge rode in wheel chairs on the board walk and presented cards to the 100 best dressed women, who received their orchids in the convention hall.

Miss Colt made the orchid presentations. Her costume consisted of a black tailored dress with organdy trim frill at the neck line, a large white straw hat and a silver fox scarf.

Mrs. Joseph Tunderburke of Columbia, South Carolina, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Pincey of Monmouth street, Mrs. John J. Knodell of Rumson and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Edelman of Fair Haven, were among the 20 women chosen for special prizes.

Mrs. Tunderburke's costume consisted of a powder blue wool coat with white accessories. She carried a white bag and wore a white kid beret. Mrs. Knodell wore a navy blue dress with pink and white accessories. Mrs. Edelman's costume was of the refectory type in navy blue with a fine pink stripe and her hat was in dusty pink made of ribbon flowers.

Miss Dorothy Cooperthwaite of Pearl street, another winner, wore a black coat trimmed with silver fox and her black straw hat was trimmed with fuchsia velvet ribbon. Miss Vera Norcross, another local winner, wore a beige wool coat trimmed with lynx, and a matching hat. A black dressmaker style coat with red accessories was worn by Mrs. Ella Wilshage of Maple avenue.

Miss June Meihof of Conover lane, Middletown township, another winner, wore a three-piece suit of yellow and brown plaid with dark brown accessories. A powder blue military style coat with brass buttons, with a French soldier style hat, was worn by Miss Janet Walker of New Monmouth. Miss Walker's accessories were in black. Mrs. W. B. Laird of Rumson chose an outfit which was a navy blue dressmaker style coat. The trim of her navy blue straw hat was made of platted white cotton material.

Orange Girl to Wed Red Bank Man

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest von Lengerke of Orange have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marie von Lengerke, to Frank P. Blaisdell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferren P. Blaisdell of Bridge avenue.

Miss von Lengerke is a graduate of the Clark school and Miss Beard's school at West Orange and is a student at Bladimore college.

Mr. Blaisdell is a graduate of Red Bank high school and the University of Maryland. He is a member of the Sigma Chi and Phi Kappa Phi fraternities, the Sigma Sigma and Kappa Kappa clubs.

Red Bankers At State Session Of Sewage Experts

Councilman Allen and Borough Engineer White Get Valuable Data

The New Jersey Sewage Works association, the oldest association of its kind in the nation, held its 25th anniversary meeting last week in Trenton. Red Bank was represented at the gathering by Councilman Harold A. Allen.

HAROLD A. ALLEN.

old S. Allen, chairman of the streets, garbage and parking committees, and Borough Engineer Ensley M. White. Both Mr. Allen and Mr. White report having enjoyed the gathering and have brought home much valuable information which will further improve Red Bank's wonderful health conditions.

ENSLEY M. WHITE.

Papers were presented by the leading engineers in the sanitary engineering profession. Among the prominent speakers were Dr. Abel Wohlman of Baltimore, Frank Bachmann of New York, Max Levine of Ames, Iowa, R. S. Phillips of Durham, North Carolina, George B. Gascoigne of Cleveland, Ohio, Paul Hansen and F. W. Mohlman of Chicago and Clyde Fote of Morristown.

Governor A. Harry Moore addressed the group at a luncheon held Wednesday noon and expressed his desire to continue his aid in the campaign to relieve the pollution of rivers and streams in New Jersey.

Dr. J. Lynn Mahaffey, director of the State Department of Health, spoke on the advance in sanitation during the past 25 years and related many interesting experiences of his early life as a medical student and as a young doctor. He told of treating typhoid patients in one community during the seasonal epidemics and related that such epidemics were not only annual but the date of such outbreaks could be predicted to within a matter of days. He quoted figures to show that deaths from typhoid in New Jersey had been reduced to four-tenths persons per one hundred thousand of population. He stated that typhoid was such a rare disease that many of our younger doctors had not had the opportunity to see a case.

Clyde Fote, consulting engineer and a member of the State Department of Health, spoke on the organization and operation of the State Department of Health during the past 25 years. He stressed the point that the State Department of Health was not a rum-shoe, snooping organization but one operated solely on a theory of co-operation to the full extent with municipalities in aiding the solution of their sanitary problems.

The members in attendance agreed with this statement and the general opinion was that the advancement in sanitation that has placed New Jersey in the position as one of the leading states in this field has been largely due to this friendly co-operation, which has existed for the past several years.

Optometrist Opens Red Bank Office

Dr. Eugene Trachtenman, Freehold optometrist, has opened a branch office at Red Bank. Dr. Trachtenman is sharing the office of James P. Smith, optician, at 88 Broad street. Dr. Trachtenman studied at Pennsylvania State College of Optometry, where he interned at the clinics for two years. Upon graduation he opened an office at Freehold. He specializes in exercise treatment for the eyes and has invented an instrument for this work.

A drive to halt individuals and of social in various municipalities from using the Monmouth county jail for committing mental cases to state hospitals was called for Monday by Miss Evelyn T. Walker, superintendent of health and welfare of the Monmouth County Organization for Social Service, at a meeting of the health and welfare committee at Red Bank.

Miss Walker cited several recent incidents of this nature where individuals, loath to commit mental patients to a state institution, had them arrested for "disturbing the peace" and local officials, also not desirous of sending them to an institution, sent them to the county jail so the warden would have to sign commitment papers after the jail physician and another doctor had been called to pass on the sanity of the person.

Miss Walker said numerous cases of this nature had been found in the past but through activities of the Social Service, had been reduced to a minimum. She said that it appeared the practice was again on the increase.

Mrs. Kathleen Shafte, county tuberculosis supervising nurse, reported that the recent X-ray examinations at Manasquan high school had been completed and no active cases of tuberculosis found. Parents, pupils teachers and other school employees co-operated 100 per cent in the tests, Mrs. Shafte said. She added that ten per cent of the 140 examined would have to be re-examined because the X-ray films obtained were not readable.

Dr. A. W. Sweet, district health officer, reported that scarlet fever cases were more prevalent than usual this year since November. It is difficult to keep diseases of this type from spreading during the fall and winter, he said, because of the close contact of individuals indoors most of the time.

Only through "severe restrictions" on the civilian and school population could the spread of contagion be practically eliminated. He said he looked for a let-up in the number of cases as soon as warmer weather comes and people can get out-of-doors more.

Miss Walker told the group of the silver anniversary program of the State Organization of Public Health nursing, which will be held at the Berkeley-Carteret hotel, Asbury Park, April 9 and invited those able to come.

She also asked a large attendance at the meeting of the lay members of the social service with the wives of the organization's advisory committee at the Berkeley-Carteret the following day.

Mrs. Milton A. Vreeland, Red Bank, presided over the session in the absence of Mrs. William Barclay Harding, Holmdel, chairman of the committee.

Those attending were Mrs. John Scully and Mrs. Edward Parry, Keyport; Mrs. M. L. Winger, Manasquan; Mrs. W. A. Potter, Belvidere; Mrs. E. Holtorf and Mrs. Charles E. Hunt, Matawan; Mrs. Bartley E. Wright, T. Fraser Price, Lucie E. Greenfield, Katharine M. Horner and Daisy Gounan, Long Branch; Mrs. Frank W. Hayden, North Long Branch; Mrs. E. E. Dawson, Atlantic Highlands; Mrs. L. D. Seely, Eatontown; Mrs. George Dwight, Rumson; Mrs. Henry Meyer and Mrs. William Turner, Jr., Keansburg, and Budd H. Ober, Asbury Park.

Rumson Women To Aid Finnish Fund

To Hold Benefit Card Party Tuesday, April 16

Mrs. Ralph Longstreet heads a committee of Rumson women who are going to give a card party for the benefit of Finnish relief fund Tuesday night, April 16, at Holy Rosary hall, Rumson.

Mrs. Longstreet has been named chairman by J. Lyle Kimmonh of Asbury Park county chairman of Finnish relief. A committee of representatives of various organizations and church groups who will assist the chairman include Mrs. Raymond Pullen, Mrs. Albert Niederer, Mrs. William Kuper, Mrs. John Lemig, Mrs. Harold Peters, Mrs. Charles Geyer, Mrs. John Bannan, Mrs. James Porter, Mrs. Thomas Oakes, Mrs. Nina Cottrell, Mrs. Will Ward, Miss Frances Carhart, Miss Helen O'Rourke, Vivian Sutter and Joseph Duryea and Walter Neuhauer.

Kennel Club Announces Show

The spring match show of the Jersey Shore Kennel club will be held Saturday night, April 6, at the Lincoln fire house. Mrs. Robert Shaw of Holmdel will judge. Judging will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Two trophies are being offered by the president of the club, S. L. Froelich of West End. One trophy is for the best in the match show and the second for the best puppy in the show. The chairman of the best show committee is Mrs. John Bostock.

Rotary Cogs

The meeting of the Red Bank Rotary club today will be in the form of a business meeting and the officers are endeavoring to get 100% attendance.

At last week's meeting Bill Johnson, field representative from Rhode Island, gave a most interesting talk and presented a lot of new ideas which the local club officials will follow for the benefit of Rotary.

Next week the speaker will be Don Bate, who has been before the club on several occasions. His subject will be "The Relationship of the United States to South America in This Trade War."

Dental Society To Take Part In Cavalcade

Society Plans to Show Progress Made in Past 100 Years

A special meeting of the Monmouth County Dental society was held Thursday night at the Berkeley-Carteret hotel, Asbury Park, when it was agreed that the society would participate in the Cavalcade of Progress to be held at the Convention hall, Asbury Park.

The society plans to exhibit progress made in dentistry during the past 100 years, continuing the society's celebration of the dental centennial. Modern methods demonstrating painless dentistry of today as compared to methods used in years gone by will be the feature that the society will stress.

Dr. Robert R. Murdock of Asbury Park will be general chairman of the exhibit and he will be assisted by Dr. John G. Camp of Asbury Park, Dr. A. Leo Blaisdell and Dr. R. M. Holland of Long Branch, Dr. Fred T. Newman of Red Bank, Dr. Samuel Loveman of Toms River and Dr. William L. McGonigle of Freehold.

Following the meeting Dr. Milton Papworth of Manasquan, chairman of the post-graduate committee, presented Dr. Michael Frost of Clifton, who demonstrated a new method of increasing retention of full upper and lower dentures. The clinician through the aid of a specially produced moving picture showed the technique as used in the dental office.

Delay Is Seen In Horse Racing

Commission Favors Delay of a Year

Trenton-(AP)—A new development threatens further to delay the operation of horse race tracks with pari-mutuel betting in New Jersey.

Members of the four-man bipartisan control commission expressed belief after being sworn to office on Tuesday that a year's delay might be necessary to insure first-class racing.

"I doubt very much we'll have racing this year," commented William H. Cane of Hackensack, the only experienced horseman named as a commissioner by Governor A. Harry Moore. "A delay to get the proper kind of track operator would be advisable, I believe."

"Besides, if we attempt to have races this year we will not be able to get the class of horses we want and would have to take what was left over because the big stables have made their bookings months in advance."

Chairman Louis A. Rellly of Newark said the commission had agreed to seek the advice of track and racing experts before taking action on any applications for tracks.

"We have already agreed," Rellly said, "that we need to know all we can find out about horse racing and that probably one of the best ways of acquiring such knowledge is by conferring with men of reputation and character whose experience in the racing world merits our respect."

"For instance, there is John Sloan, a member of the New York State Racing commission, who is an architect and familiar with the construction of race tracks all over the country."

"Then there is Thomas Healy (of Red Bank), a noted track man, who for years has been associated with the Whitney stables. Another who can be helpful is T. M. Kelly, who bears a national reputation for his ability in laying out race courses. We desire accurate information and we have agreed to send for these men and to obtain from them such knowledge and advice as they may be able to give."

The commission, delayed in creation since last June as a result of a legislative squabble, decided to establish temporary headquarters at Jersey City. Pari-mutuel betting was exempted from the state's constitutional ban on gambling at a statewide referendum last June 20.

Rellly told Moore the commission was "anxious of trying to get into the treasury the required $2,000,000 you mentioned in the budget, but we are fearful that it might be impossible and if we do attempt to do so we will strike a very severe blow at racing in New Jersey."

Other commissioners are former Mayor Joseph A. Brophy of Elizabeth and John R. Rogers of Maplewood. Brophy and Rellly are Democrats, Cane and Rogers Republicans.

The Assembly passed, 32 to 18, and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing investigation into activities of the State Milk Control board.

One purpose of the proposed investigation would be a determination if milk prices in New Jersey are equitable to consumers, dealers and producers.

"It is very significant," declared Assemblyman Herbert J. Pascoe (R-Union), "that just as soon as I introduced this resolution the milk board ordered a hearing on milk prices."

"I am not after anybody's scalp on the milk board," Pascoe added. "But I am sincerely interested in the welfare of the 400,000 residents of this state."

"If only a penny a quart is cut from consumers' prices, it will save them $50,000,000 a year, for there are some 550,000,000 quarts of milk sold annually in New Jersey."

The investigation would be carried out by a special committee of five senators.

FELLOWSHIP MEETING

Theodore D. Moore, manager of the Red Bank office of the Jersey Central Power and Light company, will speak at a meeting of Trinity fellowship tonight at the Episcopal church parish house on West Front street. A short business meeting will be held and refreshments served.

Real Estate Man Buys New Home At Tower Hill

Seven-Room House of Julian Parkers Sold to Joseph P. Schwartz

Joseph P. Schwartz, who conducts a real estate and insurance office at 14 Monmouth street, has purchased a new seven-room house on the north side of Tower Hill avenue from Mr. and Mrs. Julian Parker of Country Club estates, Middletown township.

The house is of modern design and has a two-car attached garage. Mr. Schwartz recently closed three other sales and a rental. The former Benjamin Ford property on the south side of River road has been purchased by Mrs. Frank G. Florence of Middletown township. Several years ago this seven-room house was considered one of the finest along River road, then East Front street. Mrs. Florence has already started extensive alterations in preparations for making it her home.

John Broyles has purchased property at 102 Leighton avenue for use as a fish and vegetable market. The former Jesse R. Frost property on the west side of Cedar avenue, Fair Haven, has been sold to Henry Flugel of Hackensack place, Fair Haven. The house was recently remodeled and Mr. Flugel and family have taken possession.

The Modern Engineering company of 8 White street has rented a large building on the north west corner of Oakland street and Bridge avenue from the Richmond estate for a warehouse. Abe Weinstein is president of the company.

Chapel Hill Home Leveled By Fire

Abram Patterson Family Flee in Night Clothes

A combination house and garage on the Abram Patterson farm at Chapel Hill in Middletown township was leveled by fire of unknown origin Monday morning. Mr. Patterson was awakened by his Spitz dog and in turn awakened his wife and three children. They all fled from the burning building in their night clothes.

Daniel Patterson drove to Head-don's Corner to notify Middletown township fire company No. 1, but before the firemen arrived the building had almost burned to the ground. The firemen devoted their efforts to saving the near-by home of Henry Rapp.

About seven years ago a large residence on the Patterson farm was destroyed by fire. Since then the family has been living in the combination garage and house.

Real Daughters Topic Of DAR Radio Program

Interesting Facts About
Real Daughters Read
by Chapter Chairman

Interesting facts concerning daughters of American Revolutionary war soldiers were given in a broadcast last Thursday over Radio Station WBBB. The broadcast was sponsored by Monmouth chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, and excerpts from a paper read by the chapter radio chairman, Mrs. Kenneth F. Dietz, entitled "Truth is Stranger Than Fiction," are given below:

I am going to tell you about the real daughters who are daughters of Revolutionary soldiers and members of the national society, Daughters of American Revolution. All daughters of Revolutionary soldiers are not real daughters, only those who have been members of the society. A real daughter is one who has been able to prove that a soldier of the American Revolution was her father. It seems almost unbelievable that there are real daughters living today, but there are.

I want to explain fully about these almost extinct links that connect the 13 original colonies with our country of today. Since the organization of the society, 741 real daughters have been admitted to membership and of these 132 have been pensioned by the society. The first pension was granted June 5, 1904, of $3. This was increased to $25 by action of the 31st D. A. R. continental Congress, and to $25 a month by the 34th Congress. It is paid from the income of the D. A. R. liberty loan fund.

The first real daughter to join the national society was Mrs. Mary Ann Washington, the daughter of the famous Colonel Samuel Hammond and his wife, Eliza Amelia O'Keefe. Mrs. Washington joined January 15, 1891, the 81st woman to join the organization and the first to enter by right of this second generation relationship.

Many chapters remember real daughters with gifts or cards and messages of greetings on birthdays, Easter and Christmas which give them much pleasure. In some chapters a "day of remembrance" is observed when members make small donations of money which is used by the chapter chairman for such remembrances. Nurses and special care are given these real daughters in case of illness by the D. A. R.

A cabinet has been provided in the D. A. R. museum in honor of these real daughters. It contains articles which have belonged to them or been given by them. The latest addition to this case was a hand-crocheted bag. It was made and presented by Mrs. Annie K. Gregory, born March 23, 1864, who is now 86 years of age, almost 86.

I want to tell you something about the only two real daughters who are still living. I have mentioned one, Mrs. Annie Knight Gregory, whose home is in Williamsport, Pennsylvania. I would like to quote part of a letter written by Mrs. Everett Terhune, state chairman of real daughters, written in 1938 to Mrs. J. S. McGonaghan, our chapter chairman of real daughters.

Mrs. Gregory was born in Liverpool, Pennsylvania. Mrs. Terhune's letter stated, and spent her early childhood days there. She continued to live there until her marriage to Captain Francis Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Gregory lived their entire married life of 45 years in Solisgrove, Pennsylvania. She is a charter member of the Conrad Wiser chapter and was regent for two successive terms. Richard Knight, her father, was a drummer boy in Captain John Best's company in the Fifth Pennsylvania battalion under the command of Robert McGraw. Mrs. Gregory said when her grandfather went to war he took his son, her father, who was then 11 years old, with him as his mother was dead and he didn't want to leave him home alone.

Richard Knight returned home after the war and engaged in the mercantile business until the war of 1812 began. He then abandoned store-keeping to become captain of a company designated by his name in the First Pennsylvania militia. After the suspension of hostilities, Captain Knight became proprietor of the Old Stone hotel at Liverpool, Pennsylvania, then an important tavern along the Pennsylvania canal. Captain Knight was 74 years old when Mrs. Gregory was born. She was a child of the second marriage. After her mother's death, Captain Knight, at the age of 84, remarried.

Mrs. Gregory reads the daily newspaper every day. Her mind is keen and she is interested in all the topics of the day. She keeps busy and said that is the secret of her long, happy and successful life. She spends a great part of her time doing needlepoint, without the use of glasses. She likes letters, cards and gifts from D. A. R. members and others. With the president general of the national D. A. R. society she gave a broadcast over a national radio hook-up a year ago.

Mrs. Gregory is much younger in every way than Mrs. Caroline P. Randall, the second real daughter. Mrs. Randall was born September 19, 1849, being 90 years of age now. Our organization pays Mrs. Randall's board where she lives. She receives the $25 a month pension from our national society.

Mrs. Randall was born in Charleston, New Hampshire. Her father, Stephen Hassam, was born in Boston, Massachusetts, in 1761, saw the battle of Bunker Hill and served the soldiers on Copp's Hill with water. He was a clockmaker of note. He always called the Civil war the "Lincoln war." Her grandfather was active in the Indian wars in Canada. Members of her family have been outstanding in Massachusetts and New Hampshire life ever since her great-great-grandfather drove a yoke of oxen into Spencer Hollow, part of Springfield, Massachusetts, where he hauled the logs for his home and settled.

Mrs. Randall is married and had two children. She is a member of the Colonel Samuel Ashley chapter of Claremont, New Hampshire. When asked what church she used to attend she said, "Oh, I'm a Congregationalist and I would never go to any other church." She was very proud of the fact that she was wearing a knitted jacket and scarf that had been given her by D. A. R. friends when Mrs. Terhune visited her. She stated that she enjoyed all the gifts that were sent her.

Mrs. Randall is now living at Claremont, New Hampshire. She has failed considerably during the last year and a trained nurse is in attendance. I am sure that every one who has listened to this broadcast must feel how important it is to keep these lovely old ladies happy and smiling. The members of the D. A. R. do everything they can. If you would like the addresses of these real daughters to send them greetings or gifts, write me in care of WBBB and I will be glad to send them to you. A fitting end to this talk is to be found in this poem Mrs. Terhune sent me in one of her letters:

"Be as the sea and the sea,
For these alone who love and give Find life worth living."

Amusements

CARLTON.

"I Take This Woman" starring Spencer Tracy and Kelly LaMar, will be the feature attraction today and tomorrow at the Carlton theater. The "request night" picture, to be shown Saturday night at 11 o'clock, after the regular performance, will be "Rose of Washington Square" with Alice Faye, Tyrone Power and Al Jolson.

"The Grapes of Wrath," the motion picture version of the widely read and much-discussed book by John Steinbeck (which incidentally cannot be obtained at the Red Bank public library) will open a three-day run Sunday. The picture is said to follow the book very closely and deals with the plight of migratory workers in California.

Produced by Darryl F. Zanuck, the picture has an all star cast, headed by Henry Fonda as Tom Joad, Jane Darwell as Ma Joad and John Carradine as Casey.

STRAND.

"Miracle on Main Street," with Margot and Walter Abel, and "The Man from Montreal," with Richard

Arlen and Andy Devine, will be shown for the last times today at the Strand theater.

The feature attractions Friday and Saturday will be "South of the Border," with Gene Autrey and Smiley Burnette.

"My Little Chickadee," starring Mae West and W. C. Fields, will be featured at the Strand Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Word has been received here of the engagement of Miss Violet Brobeck, a former teacher of domestic science in the Atlantic Highlands public school, to Rev. Stanley Gambell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Hightstown and a former pastor of the Atlantic Highlands Presbyterian church. Miss Brobeck is now living on Long Island, where she teaches. The engagement was announced at a dinner at the New Yorker hotel, New York, recently.

Supported by Merchants.

The Red Bank Register is supported by local as well as out-of-town business men. Advertisements appearing regularly tell the story.

How about "perfection" in diamonds?

The degree of perfection is something you should know about any diamond you consider buying.

A dozen or more categories separate the flawless, so-called "perfect," diamond from the visibly imperfect, the lowest grade of jewelry. The worth of a stone decreases with each descending classification.

In your diamond purchases it is important to deal with a firm of unquestioned integrity. We shall gladly show you how stones vary in perfection and shall explain the other factors which affect the value of any diamond you buy.

Chamber Plans For Industries

Committee Holds First Meeting

The industrial committee of the Red Bank Chamber of Commerce held its first meeting Friday evening in the office of the Chamber on Broad street. It was presided over by John H. Mount, Jr., chairman, and was well attended.

In line with the established policy of the new committee, it proceeded with organizing itself to "aid existing industry and work toward bringing new industry to the community." The initial effort consisted of formulating a plan to secure new industry to Red Bank and to that end the committee was divided into three groups: a real estate section, a finance section and a contact section.

The first problem confronting the members of the real estate section is to obtain a listing of all available space and property which may be used for industrial purposes, together with all information necessary to offer these facilities to out-of-town industrial concerns contemplating change of locale. The idea of such a listing is two-fold. First, when inquiries are received, the Chamber will have access to such data that it may determine at once if there is suitable property for the needs of the concern making inquiry. Secondly, those who have space or property may have an opportunity to be apprised of any inquiries that they may be expected.

The committee, therefore, desires to have information concerning any space or property in the community for listing, and requests owners to communicate with the Chamber of Commerce.

The idea of this "community service" is not in any sense to be construed as a "selling service" for property, but a "selling service" for Red Bank. The Chamber of Commerce wishes to be in a position to point out to prospective industries the advantages of settling in Red Bank, to show what property we have to offer, and to secure their interest and eventually their residence. Should a prospect show particular interest in any site the committee will then communicate with the owner, whose own broker will then proceed to the end that such property is secured by the prospective industry.

The committee will do everything in its power to assist community residents and in turn it asks for the support of those who have sites available. During the last year several inquiries have been made but, owing to the meager information on hand concerning available sites, only a general reply could be given. Even with this unsatisfactory method of procedure some of the inquiries have developed to a point where contacts have actually been made with business firms desiring to locate in Red Bank. This is definite evidence that concerns are seeking to bring their plants here. We should, therefore, be in a position to know what we have to offer, together with pertinent details to carry through to the desired end.

The committee will be happy to receive any suggestions how it may further its activities, and invites correspondence to that end.

CONTRASTING BLOOMS.

Mrs. Emma V. Brown of Marlon street has an unusual contrast exhibited by potted plants. Mrs. Brown has a Poinsettia plant, which was sent her at Christmas, and an Easter lily, which she received a few days ago from the same source. The Poinsettia plant still has one bloom intact, which has been in bloom since Christmas.

Mrs. Brown feels that there are very few people in this vicinity who can boast of such an unusual contrasting picture which these two plants, representing two widely separated religious holiday periods, Christmas and Easter, present.

Stamps IN THE NEWS

By the AP Feature Service

Designs for the scientists' set of the "Famous American" series have been released by postal officials. The stamps, severely square in design, will start appearing April 6.

Scientists honored are John James Audubon, Dr. Crawford W. Long, Luther Burbank, Dr. Walter Reed and Jane Addams. The Audubon, a 10-cent stamp, will appear April 6, the Long, a 10-cent stamp, April 17. The two stamps due April 17 are the Burbank 10-cent and the Reed 10-cent. The Jane Addams stamp, a 10-cent, will appear April 26.

Interest centers on the Long stamp: Dr. Long is one of the least known of the personages honored in the whole Famous American series; and because his place on the set has often been disputed.

Dr. Long used sulfuric ether in removing a tumor from the neck of a man named James Venable in 1842. It has been contended that was the first use of anesthesia to relieve pain in surgery.

The Hall of Fame, however, has honored another man as the discoverer of anesthesia: William Thomas Green Morton, who performed a major operation with the patient under ether in Boston in 1846.

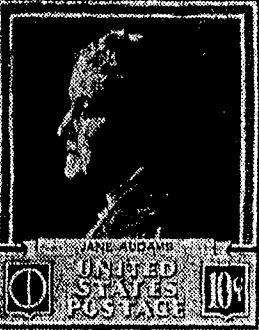

DR. CRAWFORD W. LONG

Postal officials studied the various claims and decided the credit belonged to Dr. Long.

He performed his operation in a little frame building in Jefferson, Georgia, which he used as his office. So the town of Jefferson (Population 2,000), is in a dither over the sudden attention being paid to it. A correspondent writes: "Jefferson is unreservedly excited about the program. This little city in the foothills of the Blue Ridge mountains has already made plans for entertaining the thousands of visitors expected April 8."

International Exhibit.

A new feature at the New York World's fair (1940 version) will be an international stamp exhibition which will feature stamps of the

JANE ADDAMS

United States and the British empire. It will be staged in the British pavilion.

In a sense the show will pinch-hit for the British Centennial exhibit, planned to commemorate the printing of the first postage stamp a century ago. That exhibit was called off by the war.

The display will open May 11 and continue for six months.

How FHA Makes Rating For Loan

The final rating of the mortgage application by Federal Housing Administration is a scrutiny of the relationships which exist between the property, the borrower and the provisions and conditions in the mortgage transaction. If these relationships are satisfactory, proper and advantageous from the point of view of investment in the mortgage, there is reasonable assurance of its economic soundness, and the mortgage is eligible for insurance.

Otherwise, if it is found that the proposed loan is not economically sound, then a rejection is issued. So, contrary to the usual opinion, a rejection is not necessarily a reflection on the applicant's property, its location, or his own personal character and financial ability. A rejection by FHA always means that FHA does not think the proposed mortgage is a sound one; a rejection is based on any one of a number of factors or combinations of factors; the rejection may mean that the property is out of keeping with its surroundings, that the house is not structurally sound, or that the borrower is planning to "go in over his head," or, as sometimes happens, is the result of a low rating in the combination of these factors.

A commitment, or promise to insure, means that FHA will underwrite the lending institution against loss on a loan of so many dollars for so many years. It means that the loan has been set against the pre-determined and nationwide uniform standards and has been found of full measure.

In fact, an FHA commitment means a lot of things. To the builder, it means the home is well constructed, that the loan is a sound one; and to the home owner, it brings the peace of mind that comes with the knowledge that a single, monthly payment will take care of everything and brings actual home ownership.

These are the tangibles that the FHA commitment brings. These are the important details that we have discussed in these articles. But there are ideas and ideals equally important, bound up in FHA insurance. They are a part of the great American dream of home ownership, and spring from colonial times when neighbors helped a new settler to build his home. People in those days wanted a place they could call their own, and that is still a universal wish. It is a wish that is slowly being translated into reality, for home ownership is not a luxury for the rich, rather is it the haven for the average man and the castle in which comfort and independence are enthroned. In a world regimented and afraid, the small American home is coming to represent the refuge to which have come the calm and easy-going joy, the taken-for-granted miracle of peace from all corners of a troubled universe.

THE DRIVE of YOUR LIFE

IN A

NEW MERCURY 8

CONTEST CONTINUES ALL THIS WEEK
ENDING MARCH 30

If you doubt Mercury owners' statements about gasoline economy, here's your chance to prove them! Drive the Mercury that we have equipped with a special, accurate gasoline meter. PRIZES FOR THE BEST MILEAGE.

You probably know some of the Mercury owners in town and have heard them brag about their cars. Maybe you put it down as the natural pride of a car owner in the car of his choice.

Perhaps you've read some of our Mercury 8 advertising and figured that the writer's enthusiasm was just part of his job. Or you've heard some of us talk about what a swell car the new Mercury 8 is.

For comfort and roominess and quiet—for power and pep and easy handling—you can't beat this big handsome Mercury. And best of all, Mercury offers all the advantages of a big car—PLUS ECONOMY. Owners report up to 20 miles to a gallon. We want you to prove that statement for yourself. We want you to drive the Mercury equipped with a special gasoline meter.

You might win a valuable PRIZE and we'll leave it to the car to prove that a Mercury 8 lives up to its praise. Come in today!

May Improve Matawan Creek

War Dept. to Hold Hearing at Keyport

The United States Engineer office of the War Department in the New York district has issued notice of a public hearing to be held in the Keyport borough hall Thursday morning, April 18, at 11 o'clock. The purpose of this meeting is to secure information for use in preparing a report on Matawan creek, with a view of determining whether it is advisable to modify the existing project in any way at this time of increasing the depth of the stream. The existing project was authorized in March, 1881, and provided for a channel four feet deep at mean low water and 100 feet wide from the steamboat wharf at Keyport to Kinkon creek, a distance of about one mile, thence four feet deep and 75 feet wide to the New York and Long Branch railroad bridge, a distance of about one mile. The project has been completed up to a point of about 1,200 feet south of the railroad bridge.

The information desired by the War Department is mostly from commercial interests and pleasure craft interests. The meeting will be continued until all present have had an opportunity to express their views on the matter.

Orchid Growing in New Jersey

Flowers, that important accessory of Milady's Easter outfit, will be worn in colorful profusion in the parades on the boardwalks at Asbury Park and Atlantic City next Sunday. Predominating will be the beautiful orchid. The best-known orchid growers in the United States are the Thomas Young Nurseries, Inc. In their 45 New Jersey greenhouses at Bound Brook, there are 137,000 mature, flowering plants, and 65,000 young hybrid plants, not yet flowered. The growing of orchids is a tedious process, about 12 years being needed to produce a full crop from seedlings. The blooms are sent all over the world. For the visit of the King and Queen of England to America last Summer, the nurseries named a new variety, the "Canhamiana," in honor of Queen Elizabeth and Governor A. Harry Moore presented her with a corsage of the flowers at Red Bank. The growing of flowers is one of the State's biggest industries. A recent survey shows there are nearly 500 nurseries in business, with 287 greenhouses, and an investment of $15,251,300. In addition to orchids, there are grown great quantities of fine roses, carnations, gardenias, sweet peas, chrysanthemums, snapdragons and lilies, all of which find ready sale as cut flowers, besides those produced for sale as potted plants.

Real Estate Tax Rate Influences Prices, Sales

Consensus of Survey Made by Real Estate Boards of Country

In a great majority of American cities, large and small, the real estate tax rate is a very definite influence on real estate price levels and on volume of real estate sales. High taxes—and fear of higher taxes—are a very real deterrent to real estate investment. Conversely, a lightening of the tax burden, and particularly the putting of a ceiling on the real estate tax, has been reflected definitely in better tax collections, in wider home ownership and in higher real estate price levels. That is the consensus of observations made by real estate boards of the country reported to the National Association of Real Estate Boards in a questionnaire on various phases of real estate taxation, preliminary findings of which are now being tabulated by the association.

The reports, copies of which were sent to the association, were made initially to a governmental department, officials of which drafted the questionnaire.

The question: "Have you observed any influence of changes in the tax rates or assessed valuations on the prices of property and the turnover in property of various types?" Seventy per cent of cities replying gave a decided yes.

St. Louis, for example, reports: "Today, general property taxes are a greater deterrent to the sale of real estate than any other factor." Springfield, Massachusetts, observes: "Lowered taxes have tended to make property more easily sold, and high taxes, even with low purchase price, have killed many a sale." Jersey City says: "High taxes retard building." Wichita, Kansas, reports: "Up-ping of taxes in last assessment in exclusive residential districts is causing a trend toward suburban development." South Bend, Indiana, records: "As taxes go up, prices and turnover (except for forced sales) go down, and vice versa." New Orleans notes: "Higher taxes have depressing influence on price of property and adversely affect their turnover." Des Moines adds: "Especially for investment property." Worcester, Massachusetts, finds: "As the tax rates have increased, prices fell and turnover lessened." Lincoln,

Nebraska, (which reports intangible taxes almost nil, while real estate is carrying 7.9 per cent of total government cost): "High taxes destroy value and reduce sales." Olean, New York, finds: "Rising taxes are most certainly stagnating the real estate market." Moorestown, New Jersey, finds them "particularly unfavorable in the case of farms." Parkersburg, Virginia, observes that "only the fact of a difference in tax rate as between two residential properties is sometimes a deciding factor in a sale." Portland, Oregon, states: "Where levy has been increasing each year real property is purchased for use only; there are no speculative buyers in the market."

On the happier side of the picture, Dayton, Ohio, states: "Reductions in either tax rate or assessments stimulate sales and increase collections." Seattle, Washington, writes: "We feel that the 40-mill overall limit on the real estate tax in this state (on a 50 per cent valuation) has made the ownership of real estate more desirable." Bellingham, Washington, also states: "The 40-mill limit law has had a tendency to increase property turnover," and Greys Harbor, Washington, adds: "Since we have had the 40-mill limit there is a greater desire to own homes." Grand Rapids, Michigan, reports: "Since we have been operating under a 15-mill and over-all limit on the real estate tax rate more people of limited income are purchasing homes and tax collections are much higher. We believe there is a direct relationship between the tax rate and home ownership." Flint, Michigan, makes a similar statement: "As a result of the 15-mill limitation there is a definite increase in real estate activity. Assessed valuations, reduced during the depression, have been slightly raised, but not enough to offset the effects of limitation."

In 21 per cent of the cities replying there had been either no change in the tax rate or no observable relationship between tax situation and market situation. In nine per cent of the cities the influence of the tax situation on market activity or prices, while observable, was felt to be relatively slight.

Atlanta, Georgia, points out that the tendency toward increased taxation is probably a greater deterrent to purchasers than is the tax actually levied. Reported by various cities: large numbers of people finding locations outside of corporate limits because of constant increase in tax rate.

The 140 hatcheries of the Kansas Hatcherymen's association are expected to hatch 27,000,000 chicks in 1940, officials of the organization reported recently at a convention.

Freehold CCC Youth Killed by Truck

William Hollings, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hollings of Freehold and a worker in the CCC camp at that place, was fatally injured last Thursday afternoon when he was run over by a truck from the camp.

Hollings was working with a gang at Hochhocken's brook near Col's Neck clearing a fire trail. After he had finished his lunch he laid down in the path in front of the truck but three feet to one side. When Harry Stalter of Runnemede, the driver, started out he was unaware that Hollings had not answered the call back to work. He backed the truck two feet then went forward and turned the truck. The two front wheels passed over the lower part of Hollings' body.

Fellow workers loaded their injured companion in the truck and took him to George McDougal, the camp doctor. Later he was removed to Fitch hospital, where it was found he had suffered a rupture of the walls of the stomach, a lacerated liver and a fractured clavicle. Two blood transfusions were given him but he succumbed Friday morning.

Bathing Taps Do Not Pay

Of all the Monmouth county municipalities that have restrictions on ocean bathing Manasquan is the only one that derived a profit from the venture. This borough received a net return of between $3,000 and $10,000 from the operation of its beaches, Long Branch, South Belmar, Sea Girt, Highlands and Bradley Beach all operated a tag system at a loss.

QUESTIONS.

1188—POLHEMUS, Abraham Polhemus (Polhemus) of Somerset Co., N. J., born made Feb. 11, 1766. In 1811 he names wife and sons, Daniel, John, Albert and dau. Nellie and Mary. An Albert Polhemus and wife Catherine, with their 7 small children were driven from their home in Muncy, Pa., in 1773. They arrived at Sunbury and both Albert and Catherine Polhemus died within a year. Their child became temporarily wards of the community. I should like to know if the Albert Polhemus, named in the will of Abraham Polhemus, was the same person who settled at Muncy. What was Catherine's maiden name? Can anyone give me the line of descent of Albert from the Rev. Johannes T. Polhemus?

1189—HERBERT-HOFFER, Dora daughter of Littleton Herbert, wife of Rachel Hopkins, Dec. 2, 1790, by Benj. Lawrence, Justice of the Peace. (Ref. Book "A," pg. 12, of Marriages, Freehold Court House, Freehold, N. J.) Littleton Herbert of Shrewsbury Twp., Rachel Hopkins of Dover Township. In Record of Deaths, at Freehold, Court House, Book A2, pg. 591, year 1818, Littleton Herbert and wife Rachel of Township of Dover, Mon. Co., N. J. sold a piece of property in the township of Howell, near Squan River. Also, Littleton Herbert and wife, sold land between Tunis (?) Brook and North Branch of Kettle Creek, 1799. Book A1, pg. 382.

1200—COLE, Desire all genealogical information possible about one Richard Cole, who lived in Mon. Co. during the Revolutionary period. Can anyone furnish his line of descent? Was he married, if so, whom? Did they have children? If so, did they marry, and name issue, if any. (L.M.F.)

1201—CLAYTON - HIAER - CONOVER. Who were the parents of Gilbert S. Conover who m. Irene Hiaer Mch. 5, 1885. Also desire parents of Gilbert Conover who m. Sarah E. Clayton, Dec. 16, 1878. Are any of their descendants still in Mon. Co. Any information as to children or ancestry will be appreciated. (M.C.H.A.)

1202—THOMPSON - ADAMS ALLEN -

(1) Is this line of descent correct as presented here and can documentary evidence be presented to prove or disprove it?

(2) Did John, Uriah or Joseph Thompson (or anyone else in this line of descent) take any active part in the American Revolution or hold public office during same war or perform any act or acts making their descendants eligible for membership in the Sons of the Revolution?

(3) Is there a Thompson Family Society which includes this particular line of Thompsons or their descendants?

Will appreciate any further information or answers. (S.E.B.)

1203—FERGUSON-TILTON-CONOVER. William Allen Tilton married Madeline S. Ferguson. They had a dau. Mary F. Tilton who mar. Herbert Conover. Who were the parents of Herbert Conover. What, if anything, is known about the Ferguson and Tilton families and their ancestry?

ANSWERS.

1204—POLHEMUS - COVENHOVEN. (Ans. to 1103, Jan. 25, 1940, J. W. C.) Just a few notes, which may aid in closing spaces. Daniel Polhemus, son of Johannes (Daniel) and Annatie TenEyck of Scobeyville, N. J. d. Sept. 26, 1763, age 57, (EDSM:89) bur. Pol. Fam. Gv. Scobeyville. He m. Dec. 8, 1731 (EDSM:27) Margaret Courwenhoven, dau. of Albert (William, Gerret, Wolphert) and Neeltje Schenck. She was b. Feb. 15, 1711 (EDSM:27) by FM April 6, 1712, d. June 17, 1780, age 70 (EDSM:80) bur. Pol. Fam. Gv. Scobeyville. Among their chn. Tobias, who d. Aug. 24, 1826, age 82 m. Mary Schenck. The latter couple had a son, Daniel T. who d. Oct. 1, 1826. He m. 1st Catherine Courwenhoven, dau. of Cornelius (William, Cornelius, William, Gerret, Wolphert) and Mary Hendrickson. EDMS: 88, says Catherine d. June 20th, 1797, while the FM (Freehold-Middletown) Ch. record shows the baptism of a dau. Catherine, b. July 17, 1797, bp. Sept. 3, 1797. No doubt the death of the mother was in the month of July rather than June. (L.C.C.)

1206—GOLDEN. (Ans. to 1072-c, Jan. 4, 1940, L.C.C.) Garret Schenck and his w. Neeltje Courten VanVorhes had a dau. Neeltje Schenck who married 1st Hendrick Hendrickson and 2nd Elias Golden. These may be the parents. Name is GOLDEN. (E.L.P.)

1208—COOK. (Ans. 1169, Mch. 7, 1940, by M.R.C.) William Cook who d. Mch. 23, 1814, was a s. of Patterson Cook and Lydia (Chandler) Cook. She was of Long Branch, N. J. They had 8 sons and 3 daughters. Wm. Cook was my mother's father. He m. Mary Potter, b. in Deerfield. Her parents were David Potter, (born in Massachusetts 1734) who m. Susan Knight of Providence, R. I. Wm. Cook and Mary (Potter) Cook had 4 sons and 8 daughters. My mother, Lydia Ann, b. April 1st or 8th, 1809 m. Jacob Kiser of Berwick, Penn. b. Jan. 1st, 1804. They had 9 chn. I am the 8th, and only living one. If spared, I will be 80 years old June 29th, 1940. Both my mother's grandparents, the Cooks and Potters claim to have been early New England settlers. My mother, born 1808, was about 8 years old when her father died. Both of mother's grandparents served in the Rev. war. At the Alarm of the Battle of Lexington Apr. 19th, 1775, David Potter enlisted in Holden, near Worcester, Mass. in Paul Raymond's Co. 1 of Worcester. Served in different capacities in Mass. Regiments; also with N. J. troops as a private, as Colonel and Brigadier General; also as Artillery in the Continental Army. Patterson Cook was a soldier in the

Rev. War. He was a private in 3rd Battalion, State Troop of Gloucester, also Colonel in Sommer's Battalion. My gr-gd. fathers served in all the battles with Washington until Oct. 1781. My grandmother often told us how she stood, while a little girl in Farmingdale, and listened to the cannon while the Battle of Monmouth was being fought, with her father David Potter and Patterson Cook who was to be her husband's father. (Mrs. Wm.G.L.)

1207—Pension Notes, of Joseph Miller. "Application made July 31, 1862, at which time he was 82 years and was living in Howell. He was born in Shrewsbury 1780 and enlisted in 1776. Served as a guard along the shore every other month for 1 year; was never in any regular battle but many skirmishes. Samuel White and Joseph Gibson, surviving soldiers of the Revolution, knew him as a soldier. Gaspar Cooper, also a soldier, vowed he having seen Miller as an orderly sergeant. John R. Johnson, an old Revolutionary soldier, appeared before Aaron Remsen, Justice of the Peace, and stated that Joseph Miller was an orderly sergeant and that they were together in the service before the battle of Monmouth. John Saplin Newman and Abraham Osborn, Sr. signed his papers." (E.L.P.)

Runaway Found at Freehold. Thomas Langford, 14, of Brooklyn, was taken into custody at Freehold last Saturday week by Policeman John Green, Jr., when he found the lad wandering along South street. The boy admitted he had run away from home because he feared he would fall in a Spanish test at school. His parents were notified and they came for him.

It's more Fun in the car up front

In other, blunter words, why be satisfied to trail?

Why buy a car that's content to follow along—when little, if any, more money will put you in a Buick up where the banners are flying?

For this year's automotive style pattern was cut by Buick a good twelve months ago.

This year's performance tempo was set two years back when the Buick Dynaflex engine appeared.

And this year's comfort standards still have some catching up to do to equal Buick's combination of four coil springs, recoil-mounted Knee-Action, the SUPER's five-foot front seat room and Foamtex cushions. Eventually, perhaps, others may find a way to micropoise - balance engines after assembly; they may heavy-up their frames, and generally seek to equal Buick's staunchness.

Meantime you'll have those Buick blessings to enjoy.

You'll drive the style-leader, the comfort-leader, the value-leader—a car full of things that will still be "new" a good two years from now.

And as a visit to your Buick dealer will show, you'll get it at prices like those you find on the sixes, at figures so little above some of the lesser cars that the difference is more than made up by the additional equipment included in Buick's price.

Go see him early — to get in on all the fun.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

Prices begin at $895 for Business Coupe — Sedan prices start at $955—

Scout Health Program Opens

Examinations to Be Given Soon

Dr. Edwin F. Stewart of Fair Haven, chairman of the district health and safety committee of the Boy Scouts of America, has announced that all Boy Scouts, Sea Scouts, and Cubs of the Red Bank district will be given thorough physical examinations during the month of April by their troop, ship or pack doctor, as a part of the health and safety program of the Boy Scouts. In addition each troop, ship, and pack meeting place will be inspected as a safety measure, to guard against the hazards of fire or accident.

This program of health and safety was given special impetus at a recent meeting of the Red Bank district committee of the Red Bank Boy Scout Council headed by Theodore D. Parsons. Each troop committee representative who attended the meeting agreed to see that both the physical examination of the boys and the inspection of the gathering places was completed within the next month.

Under the leadership of H. Carl Kait, chairman of leadership training for the Red Bank district, a course called "The Introduction to Scouting" will be conducted for all the scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters, and troop committees of the district. This course will take place on three successive Monday evenings, April 1, 8, and 15 at the Red Bank "Y" on Riverside avenue. Mr. Kait will be assisted in conducting the course by experienced scouters who have completed similar training work. This course is the first in the national training program of the Boy Scouts and will be followed by other courses as needed. The course is open to all adults, whether connected with scouting or not.

A score of Boy Scouts of Red Bank will attend the "World's Fair Boy Scout camp" again this season according to Commissioner Russell Tetley of Red Bank, who directed the Monmouth council section of the World's fair camp in 1939. The Scouts who attended last year had an educational experience unequalled in any similar period, and an opportunity to meet Scouts and leaders from all over the United States as well as to serve as guards of honor to men of National and World fame. Leaders will be selected, dates set and scouts controlled for the 1940 World's fair camp. Details and names will be announced in the near future.

URGES CO-OPERATION.

Because of the value of accurate statistics in dealing with agricultural problems; Ellwood Douglas, county agricultural agent, urges farmers to give full co-operation to the census-taker when he pays his 1940 visit.

This census will mark the centennial of the first agricultural census which was urged by Henry L. Ellisworth, then commissioner of patents, who claimed that the information would tend to prevent unjust speculation of the monopoly. The 1940 national farm inventory will answer questions about the number of farms being worked, the kinds of crops grown, the changes in agriculture which have taken place during the last ten years and questions regarding population, such as what shifts have taken place and where.

Although some of the questions will be rather personal every man and woman is asked to remember that he will be just another person on the list and will lose his identity by the time all the answers are placed in the statistical writing packet. Besides, every census-taker is pledged to keep the information strictly confidential.

Starting April 1 all homes and farms will be visited. County agents have sample census forms for farmers and these may be obtained free by any farm owner who wishes to look over one and be prepared for the census-taker's call. These blanks are not to be mailed or turned in. They are merely for the farmer's reference.

Adelphia Man Killed by Auto

Charles Bearmore, 76, a retired Adelphia merchant, was struck and killed by an automobile on the highway near his home Monday night. Bearmore was struck as he was attempting to place a lantern in the middle of the highway. The driver of the car was Edgar I. Vanderveer of Freehold, veteran county election clerk.

Mr. Bearmore had resided at Adelphia the past 60 years, ever since he came to this country from Germany. Besides his duty of hanging the red light at the junction of the old Lake-Farmington road, he carried mail from Freehold to Adelphia. He is survived by four children.

Fire Destroys Highlands House

Blaze Levels Home of Disabled Veteran

Fire said to have been caused by a defective chimney destroyed the two-story frame house of Martin Finley on Sea Drift avenue, Highlands, Saturday afternoon. Mr. Finley, who is a disabled-war veteran, and his wife and daughter managed to reach safety but many of their personal belongings were destroyed. Firemen with three pieces of apparatus fought the blaze for two hours. Strong winds fanned the flames and embers fell on roofs nearby but the alertness of the firemen prevented the flames from spreading to other dwellings.

The house was owned by the Sea Bright Building & Loan association. Fire Chief Garthard Kadenbach said after an investigation that the blaze apparently started from a defective chimney.

The firemen found Mr. Finley's daughter crying because she had been forced to flee and had left her new Easter attire behind. They managed to reach her room but found her clothes had been destroyed.

Invited to Take Part in Style Show

Nine women in the Red Bank area who were among the 51 residents of Monmouth and Ocean counties awarded orchid corsages in the annual Easter Sunday orchid promenade at the Asbury Park boardwalk will be invited to participate in a style showing of Spring modes at the Asbury Park Cavalcade of Progress, a business exposition, to be held in Asbury Park convention hall April 8 through 14.

The committee in charge of entertainment for the show announced that a grand prize will be awarded to the wearer of the smartest ensemble. No date for the judging has been announced but there is a possibility that Tuesday, April 9, will be selected.

Meanwhile, as local and national firms contracted for exhibition space, plans for the entertainment of visitors were reported going ahead rapidly. It was announced that officials at the Port Monmouth Signal Corps have agreed to display a mobile carrier pigeon unit at the show. A concert by the Manassas high school band is also scheduled for one of the two afternoons the exposition will be open, April 13 and 14.

Elaborate plans are being made for decoration of the beachfront hall. Those from the Red Bank section of Monmouth who are invited to take part in the fashion show are Miss Janet Morford of New Monmouth, Miss June Method of Conover lane, Red Bank; Mrs. J. J. Knadel of Rumson; Miss Doris Lohsen of Keansburg; Mrs. Charles Edelmann of Red Bank; Mrs. S. W. Laird of Rumson; Mrs. Ella Wiltshire of Maple avenue, Red Bank; Miss Vera Norcross of West Front street, Red Bank; and Miss Dorothy Copperthwaite of Pearl street, Red Bank.

FITKIN AUXILIARY MEETING.

Red Bank auxiliary of Fitkin hospital will hold an all-day sewing meeting Monday afternoon, April 1, at the home of Mrs. Charles Beck in Fair Haven. Supplies will be made for hospital use.

GARDEN GOSSIP

PETER HENDERSON

How to Make a Permanent Flower Garden

Permanent flower gardens of lasting beauty, are not difficult to make. In our climate the hardy perennial flowers stand the winter cold and the summer heat with minimum care on the part of the gardener.

Most varieties of perennial flowers may be raised from seed if you have the patience to wait an entire season for them to bloom. This method is, of course, the least expensive since a small packet of seed will produce dozens of good plants.

If you prefer to have flowers the same season, your seedsmen will be able to supply you with plants, which are of proper size for immediate results.

SEED SOWING Seed sown in the open ground up to the end of July will produce plants that are strong enough to stand the winter and flower the following season. Make a seed bed in a part of the garden that is somewhat shaded from the hot weather sun. Dig the soil to a depth of six inches, thoroughly pulverize it, and rake in a light covering of humus. Make the seed drills three inches apart, and only deep enough to permit the covering of the seed with a depth of soil about four times their own diameter. Press the soil down firmly after sowing the seed. Water frequently if the weather is dry.

After the plants have developed three or four leaves, transplant them so that they will have sufficient space to develop. They may be moved into a sunny location provided they are protected from the sun for a few days until they are properly rooted in their new quarters. The plants should be set out in their permanent spot in the flower bed sometime early in September.

SELECTING THE VARIETIES

Your seedsmen's catalog lists hundreds of perennials that are both beautiful, and reliable in their hardiness. It is desirable, however, to carefully plan the border you intend to fill, giving due consideration to the eventual height of the plants, their flowering season and color. You will find there are many beautiful flowers that have relatively short blooming seasons. Your border should, of course, be planned so that every month brings a properly balanced display of flowers to the border. Here is a list of the long flowering perennials which are the mainstay of most perennial borders.

Choral Rehearsal Marks The Fifth Anniversary Date

Spring Concert to Be Held Friday, April 19, at Long Branch School

The rehearsal of the Thursday Morning Choral last Thursday marked the fifth anniversary of the chorus. The Choral was organized by Mrs. G. Wendell Lewis, the former Miss Gladys Shropshire, for the purpose of bringing to the residents of this vicinity the very best that could be offered in the musical world.

Such artists as Thomas L. Thomas, baritone, Edith Wynne Savage, pianist, Gertrude Hopkins and Mildred Dilling, harpists, Frances Blaisdell, flutist, William Heim, tenor and Robert Nicholson, baritone, have entertained at choral concerts which are held at the Long Branch high school auditorium. The spring concert of the Choral will be held Friday night, April 19, at the Long Branch high school auditorium.

Miss Marjorie Pederson, harpist, will be one of the guest artists. Miss Pederson studied in Paris with Henrietta Rone who was the teacher of Marcel Grandjany and Mildred Dilling. After concerts in Europe, Miss Pederson filled many engagements in this country both as a concert and radio soloist. She has also appeared with several symphony orchestras and is in charge of the harp department of the National Orchestral association.

James de la Fuente, violinist, will be another artist. Mr. Fuente, a pupil of Albert Spaulding, is rapidly being recognized as one of the outstanding soloists in the concert field today. He has appeared as soloist with a number of symphony orchestras and in concert in many of the eastern and southern states.

Willard Sektberg, who has conducted the Choral for a number of years, will entertain with piano solos. Miss Thelma Mount, accompanist of the Choral, is organist at St. Paul's church in Asbury Park. Miss Theresa McClintock of Long Branch, concert contralto, is president of the group.

PATIENTS RECEIVE GIFTS.

Patients at Riverview hospital were presented with an Easter plant and a box of candy by members of the Red Bank Benevolent association Ladies' auxiliary Sunday. Mrs. Victor Lagoratsini is president of the group.

Haven Man Disposes Of A Large Estate

William H. Hirst Died at New York in December—Other Wills

Members of the family of the late William H. Hirst of Fair Haven, who attained national prominence through his fight against prohibition, inherited the bulk of his large estate, Mr. Hirst died suddenly at New York December 31 at the age of 66.

Mrs. Inez Wilson Hirst, wife of the testator, was bequeathed a $2,500 cash legacy and the income from a $50,000 trust fund. Upon the death of Mrs. Hirst or her remarriage the income from this trust fund is to be paid semi-annually equal shares to Mrs. Adams, Bertha McCracken and Albert Hirst, sisters and brother of the testator, and after their death the principal is to be divided equally between Wilfred H. McCracken and Albert G. McCracken, Mr. Hirst's nephews.

A second trust of $130,000 was established for Minnie S. Hirst, a former wife of the testator. The income from this fund is bequeathed to Mrs. Hirst for life or until she remarries, after which it is to be continued with the income paid equally to the testator's sisters and brother named as second beneficiaries in the first trust. Wilfred H. McCracken becomes the owner of the principal upon the death of his sister and uncle.

The sisters—Emma Adams and Bertha McCracken—are also left $5,000 each. Wilfred Hawthorne McCracken, $2,500 and Albert Gordon McCracken, $2,500, the latter legacy to be paid semi-annually $500 at a time.

A third trust was set up for the brother, Albert Hirst, and is $35,000. The income from this fund is to be paid to Mrs. Hirst during her life and then to Bertha McCracken and Emma Adams, after which it reverts to the residuary estate. The second codicil creates another trust, $20,000, for Albert Hirst and stipulates that on his death the principal revert to the residuary estate.

Rose Kramer, wife of Charles Kramer, Mr. Hirst's former secretary, inherits $1,000 and a similar amount goes to Helen Massey, daughter of the late Edmund Kelley, a sister of the first Mrs. Hirst. Marie Marcella Bonjour, Fran France, Mrs. Hirst's maid, is left $1,000 and $100 each year she is in Mrs. Hirst's employ from 1930 to Mr. Hirst's death.

Mr. Hirst's personal jewelry is divided between Wilfred H. and Albert Gordon McCracken, an oil painting is left to Mrs. Edmund Kelly and household furnishings and silverware to Bertha McCracken for life and then to Wilfred Hawthorne McCracken. The Farmers Loan and Trust company, New York city, is designated trustee and any dispute arising among the legatees as to the disposition of the household effects.

A fourth trust of between $1,000 and $5,000, the amount being contingent upon circumstances prevailing at the time of Mr. Hirst's death, is established for the construction of a monument to Mr. Hirst in the Lutheran cemetery, Middle Village, Queens county, New York city. This amount, originally $20,000, was reduced in the fourth codicil. The cemetery is bequeathed $3,500 for the care of the Hirst plot.

The residuary estate is given to the executors and trustees in trust and is to be divided equally among Emma Adams, Bertha McCracken and Albert Hirst for life and then to Wilfred Hawthorne McCracken.

Marion Money Penny Hirst, Albert's wife, inherits $1,000 by the terms of the first codicil.

Wilfred Hawthorne McCracken and the Farmers Loan and Trust company are named executors. The will was drawn June 4, 1932, and the codicils added until June 18, 1930. Much of the will was written in long hand and contained numerous interlineations which were ordered disregarded in probate.

Mr. Hirst was a former attorney for the New York State Brewers' association, the Society for Restaurants of New York, the New York State hotel association and senior member of the law firm of Hirst and Ehrhorn, New York city.

Capt. George Erick, Red Bank, who died February 23, bequeathed his real property to Ethel Erick of Red Bank, a niece; his personal property to Fred and Walter Noble and Fred Erick, all of Red Bank. The residuary estate is to be divided equally among George, William and Fred Erick, and Fred and Walter Noble, all nephews of the decedent.

Elizabeth D. McDuffie, Ocean township, who died January 11, directed that her estate be divided into five equal parts and bequeathed as follows: single shares to Marshall W. McDuffie, Phillips C. McDuffie, John Morgan McDuffie, and Edward Allen McDuffie. Harold F. McDuffie inherits one-third share and Hattie Ferguson McDuffie two-thirds.

A codicil gives John Morgan McDuffie an additional $200. The will was dated August 26, 1937, the codicil September 29, 1938, Phillips C. Marshall W., and Edward Allen McDuffie, sons of Mrs. McDuffie were named executors.

Fair View cemetery, Middletown township, is bequeathed $50 for the care of the Erick plot. Fred Erick is named executor of the will, which was drawn December 20, 1937.

John S. Matthews, Sr., of Keyport, made his last will in June of last year. He left a life right in his home to his daughter, Eleanor M. Matthews. All the rest of his estate was bequeathed to his wife Emma S. Matthews. He appointed his son, John S. Matthews, Jr., executor of the will.

Mrs. Louise M. Greenwood of Middletown left all her estate to her husband, William M. Greenwood, for his lifetime. After his death the will directs that the residue of the estate go to their four children, William M. Greenwood, Clara F. Greenwood, Louis D. Greenwood and Lucy G. Verbout. Mrs. Greenwood made her will January 10, 1938, and appointed her husband executor.

The will of Susan M. Wilson of Keyport, dated October 16, 1937, bequeathed her estate to her daughters, Charlotte Bloomer, Kathryn Bloomer, and M. M. Wilson.

Lahey, Kathryn Lloyd and Lillie Chasey were named as executrices. Mrs. Edith L. O'Hagan, Howell township, who died January 23, named the Methodist Episcopal Home for the Aged as Ocean Grove principal legatee of her estate.

Mrs. O'Hagan left $1,000 to the executor of her estate, Mayor E. O. Murphy, Farmingdale and directed that it be used for markers for the graves of herself and husband and her mother and father. She also left $200 to the Farmingdale National bank to be used for the upkeep of her grave in the Ardena Baptist cemetery.

Mrs. O'Hagan was living at the Ocean Grove home when she drew her will in November, 1932. Mrs. Nora N. Ryan, Red Bank, who died December 20, bequeathed $500 to her son, William H. Ryan, and a similar sum to her daughter, Mrs. Mary Connors. The residuary estate goes to Mrs. Connors and Elizabeth R. Ryan, another daughter, who are named executrices of the estate.

The will was dated February 6, 1929. Mrs. Huldah H. Walker of Freehold, who died January 31, left her estate to her executors in trust and directed them to pay the income from it to her daughter, Eleanor M. Walker, until she becomes 21 at which time the trust is to terminate and the beneficiary take the principal.

The executors are Frank and Raymond McDowell, brothers of Mrs. Walker. The will was made June 1, 1921. Mrs. Emily Spencer Dexter, Asbury Park, who died February 13, left her estate to her husband, George Mortimer Dexter, and named him executor. The will was drawn June 4, 1923.

Mrs. Lillian Denise Snyder of Freehold bequeathed real estate in Brooklyn to her son, Cecil Denise Snyder, who also inherits a Dutch Bible. Mrs. Snyder died March 4. A granddaughter, Ann Hepburn Snyder, was bequeathed Mrs. Snyder's jewelry and Margaret Hepburn Snyder, musical and biographical dictionaries. Mother and daughter also share Mrs. Snyder's library of music.

A sister-in-law of the deceased, Mrs. J. A. Ely, gets $200 and the residuary estate goes to the son, Cecil, who with Fred B. Howell, are named executors of the estate. The will was drawn February 27, 1940.

Charles Reave, Long Branch, who died February 25, bequeathed his estate to his wife, Augusta C., and named her executrix. The will was drawn November 16, 1919.

Mrs. Martha R. Waters, Eatontown, wife of the late William A. Waters, inherits his estate for life after which it passes to their two children, Sarah D. and Daniel V. Waters, who are named executors. The will was dated September 14, 1930. Mr. Waters died November 22, 1930. Mrs. Sarah Strange, Middletown township, who died February 14, named her daughter, Elizabeth Hughes, sole beneficiary and appointed her executrix. The will was made May 4, 1938.

Mrs. Isabel Bennett, Long Branch, who died November 24, left $25 to a daughter, Isabel Bennett, and the rest of the estate to another daughter, Margaret Wardell Gootheil, who was named executrix. The will was dated September 5, 1921.

George H. Brower, Wall township, who died March 2, left $25 to his daughter, Margaret Anderson, and the rest of the estate to his wife, Amy J., who was appointed executrix in a will drawn February 13, 1917.

Ella A. Riley of Red Bank, who died February 27, left the Elm place property to Joan L. Selles together with her wearing apparel, jewelry, furniture and furnishings in the house. A cousin, Mrs. Josephine McIntyre, West Haven, Conn., inherits $3,000 and Henry A. Stevenson, East Orange, another cousin, $1,000.

The executrix, Joan L. Selles, was advised she might delay payment of the legacies up until three years after probate of the will if prevailing economic conditions indicate such a course advisable.

The residuary estate is also bequeathed to the executrix. The will was dated July 2, 1932.

John Anderson, Rumson, who died November 5, bequeathed his estate to his wife, Josephine C., for life after which it is to be divided as follows: Two-thirds of the estate are to be divided into five equal shares and bequeathed as follows: one to Elina C. Robinson, a daughter; one to Mabel E. Anderson, also a daughter; one to Andy Maxwell Anderson, a son; one to Thomas I. Anderson, another son; half a share to Andrew Maxwell Anderson and the other half to Herbert L. Robinson as surviving executors in trust for John Martin Anderson, a grandson of the testator.

The remaining one-third is to be divided into four equal parts and distributed to Esther M. Bergstrom and Anna M. Nordwall, both of Sweden, Maria M. Lonnman, Detroit, Mich., and to Maria M. Lonnman in trust for Dorothy A. and Ruth S. Josline, children of Sophia M. Josline. All, except the two children in this clause of the will, are nieces of Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. Josephine C. Anderson was named executrix and, on her death, their son, Andy Maxwell Anderson, Red Bank, and son-in-law, Herbert J. Robinson, Brooklyn, N. Y., as executors and trustees. The will was dated October 15, 1932.

SATURDAY IS DEADLINE.

Saturday, March 30, is the deadline for filing applications for payments under the 1939 Agricultural Conservation program. Ellwood Douglas, Monmouth county agricultural agent, reminds all farmers who are eligible for payments and have not yet filed their applications.

Mr. Douglas reports that less than 20 1939 applications remain unsigned. As soon as these applications are signed and filed at the Monmouth County Extension Service office, Room 107, Court House, Freehold, they will be forwarded to the state AAA office. Already quite a number of checks have been received in payment of 1939 AAA practices followed by farmers of this county.

SKIMPING IN WRONG PLACES OFTEN COSTLY IN LONG RUN

CUTTING COSTS ON FUNDAMENTALS MEANS ENDLESS TROUBLE AND EXPENSE IN YEARS TO COME

CRACKED WALLS—Often caused by uneven settling of footings and foundation. Skimping on footings in either size or concrete mix is poor economy.

CREAKY FLOORS—Very often the result of skimping on size of floor joists. Another example of the wrong place to cut costs.

Where it is wise to cut costs in your new home and where it is wise to buy the best? This is a problem that most home builders face more than once during construction. And what is the answer? It is a problem that every home owner must settle to the best of his ability with the help of his contractor and architect.

Replacement Big Factor
There is one general principle that can be set down here, however. Briefly, it is this. Any part of your house that it is not practical to replace should have the best in construction and materials. By this, we mean such items as footings and foundation, timber skeleton and frame work, windows and window frames, which are really part of the house frame, concealed ducts and wiring. All these things must last the life of the house.

Wiser to Wait
It is wiser to wait for some of the attractive furnishings and fixtures until more money is available, rather than to skimp on fundamental parts of a house which will only mean costly repairs, excessive heating bills and disgust and discomfort in years to come. Remember: if you can't replace them, make them good.

DRAFTY WINDOWS—Result of poor fitting and cheap construction. A few dollars extra spent for precision built windows and frames would save enough in fuel costs to pay for slight extra cost.

Potato Growers To Back Marketing

Approval of a potato marketing program for New Jersey was given by a group of Monmouth county growers Friday evening at a meeting sponsored by the State Potato association and presided over by S. C. Stillwell of Freehold, president of the state group.

This program is a continuation of a similar endeavor that was carried on last year. The growers of potatoes contributed to a fund which was used for studying the grading and packing of potatoes on the farm, following the shipments through to the market and checking with retail stores and consumers as to the acceptability of New Jersey potatoes in the trade. The program also tied up with the New Jersey council to advertise potatoes during the harvesting and marketing season.

Meetings similar to Friday evening's are being held in other counties in New Jersey where potatoes are grown so that the move will be a unified effort among all New Jersey growers of this commodity. The program calls for continuing the campaign for "better grading" and packing, continuing the investigations on distribution, continuing the work among retailers to help promote the sale of potatoes, continuing the advertising campaign and studying storage conditions and potato grades. It was decided to hold a county-wide potato meeting tomorrow evening at 8 p. m. in the court house at Freehold, where the program could be explained to the growers at large. All potato growers are invited.

Present at Friday evening's meeting were Henry Cross, Wilson Conover and John P. Cross of Holmdel, Isidore Perlman and John W. Ely of Cream Ridge, Walter Lott, R. C. Clayton, W. T. Smith, Oscar Keycham, S. C. Stillwell and M. A. Clark of Freehold and Ray McDowell of Wickatunk.

More Land for Cemetery.
An agreement has been made between Mrs. Elizabeth R. Jewett and a New York cemetery operator for the sale of the Jewett property on Route 35 in Marlinton township. The property consists of a large house and about 75 acres of land. The land will be added to Rosemont cemetery, which it adjoins.

Girl Breaks Ankle.
Barbara Burnham, 11, of Freehold, fractured her left ankle in two places when she fell while roller skating in front of the courthouse Saturday. After being treated by Dr. H. E. Mason she was removed to Flitkin hospital.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

BY CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM H. SUTPHIN

So-called "Big Business" has been crying the blues for so long that many of us were beginning to feel sorry for the wrongs they claim the New Deal has heaped upon them. Their cry has been "If the New Deal would let Big Business alone we could make some money, stop unemployment, etc." but they are probably crying some very large crocodile tears for this week figures were released showing the profits of some of the larger corporations. For instance, General Motors, a large anti-administration corporation, shows that their net sales were up 23 per cent in 1939 over 1938, or to quote the figures issued, their net profit was over $183,000,000 or $4.04 a common share in 1939, as compared with $102,000,000 or $2.17 a common share in 1938, an increase of 88 per cent. If this is being "Ruined by Roosevelt" it should not be hard to take.

More Wild Life Conservation.
Last week I mentioned in my column which will be held in Washington, with further reference to the extensive hearings held during the past week when conservationists from the different states were in Washington, those interested in the rehabilitation of natural resources expressed their views on legislation now in effect and future legislation governing the regulation of fish, fowl and game conservation. Captain H. J. Burlington, Executive Secretary of the New Jersey Board of Fish and Game Commissioners appeared before the Committee. He expressed himself as being heartily in favor of the Buck Bill which, if passed, will place an excise tax upon fishing tackle. Such funds would be used for the propagation of fish. This measure is similar to the Pittman-Robertson Act which affects guns and ammunition. Approximately $2,500,000 is received annually as a result of that Act, the money being reverted to the propagation of fish and game. Captain Burlington admitted that the duck hunting season during the past year in our state had been most unsatisfactory. He advocated a stagger system starting possibly the latter part of October and continuing until the middle of January. John Hancock, Hancock Bridge, N. J., former president of the New Jersey Federation of Sportsmen also testified. I am hopeful that a more satisfactory season for waterfowl hunting can be worked out.

Keyport Harbor Improvement.
Sometime ago, at the request of a group of public-spirited citizens of Keyport, I introduced a resolution, which was adopted by the Committee on Rivers and Harbors of the House of Representatives, requesting a review of the reports on Matavan Creek with a view to determining whether it is advisable to modify the existing project, which was authorized by the 83rd Congress. At the present time the channel is only maintained to the steamboat dock, while that section of Keyport Harbor adjacent to Luppattong Creek, designated as Matavan Creek, is the center of most of the water activities since the basin and works are located there.

A hearing on this proposed improvement will be held by Colonel C. L. Hall, District Engineer, at the Borough Hall, Second street, Keyport, at 11 a. m. Thursday, April 18, when all interested parties will have the opportunity of appearing in behalf of this proposed waterway improvement.

Improved Educational Facilities.
In looking up some records recently for one of my constituents, I was amazed to learn that the Public Works Administration had co-operated in 7,322 educational projects, which resulted in the construction of 12,702 buildings, containing 59,800 class rooms, sufficient to accommodate 2,884,000 pupils. These educational facilities consisted of elementary schools, high schools, colleges, and universities, representing a net cost of $1,182,887,000. In addition to the construction program of the FWA, whose projects were operated on a grant and loan basis, the WPA also has been sponsored through that agency to a large extent. They have constructed 23,000 school buildings and have made improvements and additions to 65,000 schools. Notwithstanding this large building program, there still remains in the country 144,000 one and two room school houses.

Death of Long Branch Woman.
Mrs. Martha A. Day, 50, wife of Percy L. Day of Long Branch, died Friday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Hughes. She was born in Lakewood, the daughter of the late John N. and Mrs. Adelaide Gifford. Besides her husband and daughter she leaves a sister and three brothers.

Honors For Gulf Oil Men

The Gulf Oil corporation honored a number of its employees whose terms of service fall within ten, 20 and 25-year periods at a luncheon banquet and an all-day entertainment at the Hotel Commodore in New York yesterday.

During the luncheon diamond award pins, emblematic of each ten-year period of service, were presented. Those of the Gulf's local organization to be thus honored and the term of their employment award are: George F. Apper of Red Bank, William J. Darby of Sea Bright and George Emley and George Myers of Eatontown, 20 years; and Morris B. Brown of Red Bank, Spencer M. Patterson and Albert Smock of Eatontown, Walter Finn, Jr., of Long Branch and Walter Gould of Tipton Falls, ten years.

The above represents an accumulative total of 160 years, inasmuch as all those mentioned have completed terms of service in excess of the award period.

Victim of Heart Disease.
Mrs. Abbie Egan, 38, wife of Wilbur Egan of West Long Branch, died last Wednesday night in Monmouth Memorial hospital. She was stricken with a heart attack Wednesday afternoon and was removed to the hospital in the First Aid ambulance. Besides her husband, she leaves three children.

WANT TO MAKE A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER?

Here's a man on his way to buy the car he's always wanted. He has discovered that Pontiac is priced right down with the lowest.

It's still hard to realize that this big, long-wheelbase beauty will add so little to his payments he'll never notice the difference.

He's now hearing the greatest story any car ever has had to tell—how Pontiac's "long-life" engineering outdoes repair bills to the bone.

And now, for the final proof—a demonstration of Pontiac's power-packed engine and its "Triple-Cushioned" ride.

Special Six 4-Door Touring Sedan, as Illustrated $884*

Pontiac
A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

WHEN CAREFUL family budgeteers take their first look at a 1940 Pontiac, they're apt to say, "It's way out of our reach in price." But they're mistaken! This big, 1940 beauty gives most everyone that impression. It's the kind of car they've always dreamed of owning. But it's priced right down with the lowest!

Pontiac, with its power-packed engine, its big car size and comfort, and its famous operating economy, is the logical choice, if you want to make a change for the better!

*Delivered at Pontiac, Michigan. Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices are subject to change without notice.

Fifty Years Ago.

A surprise reception was tendered Rev. G. F. Bishop of Sea Bright on his return from conference. A very appropriate speech was made by Mayor Cramer and a handsome bouquet of flowers was presented to the pastor by Edith Walters. About 80 persons were present.

The Red Bank Athletic club, which had been organized about two months, was in a very prosperous condition. The club had a library, good apparatus and a big list of members. The officers were Peter Valentine president, Charles Ivins vice president, J. Howard Willett recording secretary, George Sandt, financial secretary, Borden Wolcott treasurer and Bloomfield Longstreet captain. The members of the executive committee were Albert Chambers, Ezra Osborn, Thomas Richardson, John Hoffman, Gus Layton, Charles Applegate and Edward S. Allaire, Jr.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Albert Polhemus at Scotchville, the contracting parties being Miss Kate, his youngest daughter, and Frank Hance of Freehold. The ceremony was performed by Rev. I. P. Bokaw of Freehold.

A surprise party was held at the home of Joseph Cleveland on Oakland street. Among the guests were General and Mrs. John Sheehan, Commissioner and Mrs. George Woods, Mr. and Mrs. John Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. John Atkin, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. James Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. William Headley, Mr. and Mrs. Albert McQuinn, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Erickson, Misses Sarah McGraw, Anna McQueen, Lena Crawford, Mary Grause, Laura-Burdge, Flora Norman, Elizabeth Johnson, Julia Sheehan, Emma Headley and Annie McGuckin, Charles Dennis, Albert Scott, Hance Wolt, William Lewis, Harry Osborn, Harry McQueen, George Bedell, Fred Ellison, George Laville, Frank Manson and Henry Lewis.

The Centennial league was a new organization started in town. The meeting was held in the Sutton building on Broad street, and Henry H. Curtis acted as chairman. The officers elected were J. W. Chandler past president, Mr. Curtis president, Dr. W. S. Mason vice president, Mr. Van Brakle secretary, W. J. Sutton treasurer, Richard Cass chaplain, Harry Robinson marshal, A. J. Hilliard guard, W. M. Vandolock sentinel, J. A. Wilson, A. A. Patterson and A. H. White trustees and Dr. W. B. Warner medical examiner.

The Uniform Rank of the Knights of Pythias of Red Bank held their first annual ball in concert hall. The grand march was led by William Tilton and Mrs. Ella Sutton. The floor manager was Walter Noble, who had William A. Tilton as assistant. Those on the reception committee were Alena Longstreet, George H. Sullivan and J. W. Whitley, Jr.

George Worthley, son of J. A. Worthley, Jr., of Front street, was given a surprise party by a number of his young friends, who met at the home of Mamie Odell on Washington street. Those present were Mamie Hubbard, Jessie C. Ackerman, Ida Wolcott, Mamie Price, Emma Siskles, Laura Smith, Josephine and Lou S. Allaire, Mamie Odell, May Shuttles, Will Richardson, Al Miller, Mortimer V. B. Sherman and Robert Smith. Captain Charles E. Throckmorton gave a party in honor of his daughter Pauline at his home on Washington street. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Amos Borden, Misses Mamie Hendrickson, Kathe Nevils, Ethel Patterson, Alice Mount, Edith Oberhauser, Irving Patterson and James Throckmorton, Jr.

Gowdy & Pitcher were enlarging their carriage dealership on Monmouth street.

Frank Schultz of Red Bank bought the house on Stout street owned by Charles Curtis.

Frank Dibbon of the firm of Root & Dibbon was building a house on Beach street for his own occupancy. Charles Curtis sold a lot on White street to J. Trafford Allen, who was going to put up a stable for the Singer Sewing Machine company.

Mrs. Sarah Kaiser, wife of John Kaiser, died 27 years. Mrs. Kaiser was the second daughter of George Zelger of Red Bank. Besides her husband she left two small boys.

Charles P. Smith, son of Lewis H. Smith of Sea Haven, died at the age of 24 years. He was unmarried and had been engaged in the oyster business with his father.

Jasper Bray of Red Bank was presented with a handsome gold watch as a farewell gift by members of the Baptist church choir, of which he was a member. Mr. Bray was moving to Freehold.

Twenty-five Years Ago.

The frame building at Little Silver owned by Louis E. Brown of Red Bank and occupied by James Lane as a grocery store, was destroyed by fire. The original part of the building had been erected in 1822, and was the first Methodist church in this part of Monmouth county. It had been occupied as a grocery store by various persons since 1888.

A. C. Smith of Ashbury Park, formerly of Red Bank, formed a partnership with Martin VanBuren Smook to operate the City Steam Laundry on White street.

The Shrewsbury township health board notified Edward A. Brown of Little Silver that he must quit raising hogs on his farm at that place. The decision was based upon the inspection made of the premises by Dr. Benjamin F. King.

The Baptist Men's league of Red Bank paid a surprise visit at the home of Samuel G. Woolley on Oakland street, and presented him with a handsome Bible. Mr. Woolley was to leave Red Bank to take up his residence in Long Branch.

Fifteen acres of Lewis H. Thompson's Brookdale farm at Lincoff were being enclosed with wire runs for hunting dogs. Fifty-five locust trees on Theodore Silwell's farm at Everett were purchased by Mr. Thompson and were being split up into posts for the runs.

The steamer Sea Bird began her season 15 days earlier than usual due to the vast amount of freight accumulating on the New York pier for Red Bank patrons. Captain Hiram Edwards of Oceanport, succeeded Captain Asher Wardell as master of the vessel. Mr. Wardell had been killed the previous fall in a motorcycle accident.

Louis Chassey of Chestnut street presented a gavel to Mayor George M. Sandt. The gavel was made of Osage orangewood which was sent to Mr. Chassey by Governor Williams of Oklahoma.

The Red Bank Dramatic club reorganized by electing Francis J. Egan president. Mrs. Edwin O'Harely vice president, Miss Marion S. Conrad secretary and Miss Lena Henderson treasurer.

A tract of 35 acres in the vicinity of Riverside drive and Cooper's road was laid out in building lots by the Frank E. Boettner company. The company planned to erect 40 houses immediately.

Fred W. Moselle sold his newspaper and stationery business on Broad street to Trubin Brothers of Rye, New York. The Red Bank store was to be in charge of Isadore Trubin. Mr. Moselle planned to take a vacation in Philadelphia and then return to Monmouth county and take up light farming as an occupation. Another business growing out of the sale of the Moselle business was the organization of a firm comprised of Miss Sadie Elliott and her brother, Clinton F. Elliott, who opened a stationery business in a store on Broad street vacated by George J. Daly. Miss Elliott had been employed by Mr. Moselle 15 years, and her brother had been in the employ of Hendrickson & Applegate several years.

Louis E. Brown and Samuel Sabath bought 15 acres of the George F. Borden Prospect Hill estate and planned to cut up the property into lots of about one acre each.

Mrs. Martha Gregerson's house on Palmer avenue, Keansburg, was destroyed by fire. The blaze was caused by a defective flue. Only a few pieces of furniture were saved.

Rev. Charles G. Book was returned pastor of the Keansburg Methodist church and a reception was tendered to him by the congregation. Rev. Elijah F. Reed of Belford was the principal speaker.

Announcement was made of the coming marriage of Howard Stockton, superintendent of the Atlantic Highlands Gas company. His bride was to be Miss Helen O'Neill of Philadelphia.

John Cline of Eatontown rented William H. Johnson's building at Holmdel, formerly occupied by Fred Siskles as a barber shop, and planned to convert the building into a meat market.

The Hazlet fire company celebrated its fifth anniversary with a turkey supper at the fire house. During the week the Hazlet basketball team had a turkey supper at the fire house at which 50 or more friends of the team were present.

Frank E. Hoyer, Thomas Wolcott and Aaron Sutphin were elected school trustees of Atlantic township for three-year terms, and John G. Bennett and Ernest Hillbrunner were elected to fill unexpired terms.

Rev. W. W. Hogland resigned as pastor of the Marlboro Baptist church and planned to move to Port Murray.

James L. Hammer and John W. Mason, prominent oyster planters of Keyport, were in Virginia seeking seed oysters. Mr. Hammer and Mr. Mason, together with William Mason, Sr., and Lorenzo Mason, contemplated purchasing several schooner loads of oysters and planting them in Red Bank bay.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians held their annual ball in the Broadway Theater building, near Keyport. Miss Mary E. Walling and her brother, Thomas E. Walling, of Mat-awen led the grand march.

Mrs. J. P. Brower was elected president and Mrs. Harvey Bronner secretary of the Keyport Literary club.

Aaron Armstrong was credited with being the first farmer in this section of Monmouth county to plant potatoes that spring.

Kenneth Force was engaged as foreman of Mrs. Payne Whitney's farm at Lincoff. He had recently brought his wife and three children from England and they were stopping temporarily at Joseph Mergle's.

Delegates from various churches of Red Bank and neighboring municipalities met in the Red Bank Presbyterian church and planned a big revival. It was considered the biggest religious effort ever undertaken in Monmouth county.

Charles E. Neiman, Harold K. Allstrom, Rudolph Malchow and Frank Chadwick supplied music for the annual Odd Fellows smoker. A three-round pugilistic exhibition was given by Eddie Brodell and Frank Broskie. No decision was made.

During the past week several aged residents of Red Bank and vicinity passed away. Prominent among these were Mrs. Sarah E. Walling of Tinton Falls, widow of Captain David A. Walling, in her 81st year; Alfred Grover, Sr., who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter Miller of Eastside Park; Mrs. Elizabeth Sutphin, widow of Robert R. Sutphin of Holmdel, in her 79th year; Matthew Brown of Leonard, aged 78 years, and Mrs. Bridget C. Shea, widow of Patrick Shea of Rumson, aged 78 years.

George Koop of Red Bank defeated Fred Flake of Long Branch in the first of a series of two-mile roller skating races for the championship of Monmouth, Middlesex and Ocean counties.

The Red Bank high school athletes organized for the coming baseball season. The players signed up were Myron Minton, William Matthews, Harold Hurley, Leon Gordon, Eugene Newman, Joseph Fix, Frank Brach, Fritz Gustin, John McNeil, Hugh Brower and Arthur Jacobus.

John F. Crawford of Nutawamp received three carloads of seed potatoes at the Middletown village station.

Try This With Your Electric Beater

An ancient adage has it that cakes are like bad boys—the more you beat them the better they become. But we have long since learned that this isn't true either of cakes or boys. Cakes, however, require a good bit of time and effort if they're made by the spoon method. But the electric beater has brought many changes. The best one is that with an electric beater, results can be the same every time if a few simple directions are followed.

Our own institute cake recipes give directions for mixing both with the spoon and electric beater. The electric-beater method for cakes made with shortening is very simple. Usually the shortening, sugar, and eggs are creamed together at a relatively high speed; dry ingredients are added alternately with the milk, as rapidly as possible, at lowest speed. For light batters, first mix the eggs, milk, and melted shortening in the bowl at medium speed; then add the sifted dry ingredients at low speed. Remember, always pull the plug to disconnect your electric beater before you put on or off beater blades or other attachments.

Here are the recipes and electric-beater methods for making a mouth-watering Lady-Baltimore Cake and Frosting.

Lady-Baltimore Cake

(Tested by Good Housekeeping Institute)

Use Institute-approved measuring cups and spoons. Measure level.

1½ c. shortening	½ cup salt
1½ c. granulated sugar	1 cup vanilla extract
2 c. sifted cake flour	½ c. milk
¾ cup baking powder	8 egg whites

Since Lady-Baltimore Cake is a white cake and therefore the egg yolks are not used, we like to beat the egg whites in the small beater bowl first, so that the mixer blades do not need to be washed before the shortening is creamed. Butter and margarine are more easily creamed if allowed to soften for a while. Cream the shortening in the large mixer bowl at a relatively high speed. When it is the consistency of mayonnaise, add sugar, a little at a time. Cream well after each addition, until the mixture is light and fluffy. This is when an electric beater really comes into its own. You will find that the creamed shortening and sugar acquire a whipped appearance that is rarely achieved with hand-mixing. You are now ready to add the dry ingredients, which have been previously sifted together. Turn the beater to lowest speed and watch out for overbeating. Quickly add the dry ingredients and the combined milk and vanilla extract, alternately. Stop the beater the moment the last bit has been mixed in. Then, with a spoon or wire whip, slowly fold in the beaten egg whites. Pour batter into three greased 8-inch cake pans, and bake at 350° F. for 25 to 30 min. After removing cake from oven, set it on cake racks about 5 min. Then loosen edges, invert on racks, remove pans, and turn cake layers right side up.

And now for the frosting, which, after all, is the crowning glory of the cake. It's a real chore to make frostings like this by hand, but as simple as can be with an electric mixer.

Lady-Baltimore Frosting

(Tested by Good Housekeeping Institute)

Use Institute-approved measuring cups and spoons. Measure level.

1½ c. granulated sugar	½ cup cream of tartar
½ c. water	½ c. egg whites

Combine sugar, water, and cream of tartar; stir until smooth. If day is clear, cook without stirring to 200° F. or until candy thermometer reads 200° F. If day is cloudy, if crystals appear on inside of pan, wipe them with a damp cloth. When cooked, pour over stiffly beaten egg whites in the large beater bowl, and beat until mixture peaks or pulls away from the sides of bowl. Make enough to fill and frost a 3-layer cake generously. Divide mixture into halves. Into one half fold the following mixtures:

½ c. chopped nuts	1 tsp. candied cherries, chopped
½ c. seed raisins, finely chopped	2 dried figs, cut into thin strips
1 cup vanilla extract

Fill the cake with this mixture. Spread with the plain frosting. Garnish with cherries and nuts.

ize that not all public officials are misled by the pressure of the spending groups. When Councilman Horace F. Baker of Westfield declared the other day that he "welcomes pressure from the local taxpayers association in the matter of reducing taxes," because it gives him good reason to ignore the pressure of the minority "spending" groups he expressed intelligent understanding of the continued trend of public sentiment toward governmental economy.

The growing taxpayer movement in New Jersey is largely responsible for the economy trend. Under the leadership of the New Jersey Taxpayers' Association—well-organized and capably directed local associations maintain an aggressive campaign to control the cost of government, and keep the public informed about the cost of state and local governments.

There is no doubt about it—even though certain public officials may have the mistaken idea that "the public is demanding more services"—the real situation is that the public is demanding economy, and demanding it vigorously.

Former Residents Settle For Injuries

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Picariello of Newark, former residents of Leonard, were the successful plaintiffs in a case which was settled just before going to trial before Judge Robert V. Kinkaid in circuit court Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Picariello were injured when their automobile was struck by a car, owned and operated by Louis Herman, Brooklyn attorney.

The amount of the settlement was not made public but was reported to have been $1,800. Mr. and Mrs. Picariello were represented by Theodore J. Labrecque of Paterson, Labrecque & Borden.

Double Birthday Party at Lincoff.

MAKE YOUR REFRIGERATOR WORK FOR YOU

DO YOU put your automatic refrigerator to its fullest use? Of course, we know that its accurate, even temperature protects food and, hence, helps to maintain the family health standards.

But your refrigerator can also save you time and money. For instance, pies, cakes, puddings, waffles, batter and bread can be made when you have time and then stored in the refrigerator, ready to take out on short notice. The storage in the refrigerator actually improves their flavor, too.

Everyone knows how the family go for home made desserts and bread; housewives especially are aware of the fact that more time spent in the kitchen means less money spent in the grocery store. The batter for these refrigerator rolls will keep well and it is a good idea to have some always on hand.

Refrigerator Rolls

2 cups compressed yeast
1/2 cup lukewarm water
1 teaspoon sugar
1/4 cup vegetable shortening
4 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cups boiling water
2 cups milk
11 cups sifted all-purpose flour (about)

Crumble yeast into small bowl or cup. Add lukewarm water and 1 teaspoon sugar and set in warm place until it becomes light and spongy (about 15 minutes). Combine vegetable shortening, salt and 2 tablespoons sugar in large bowl and add boiling water. Stir until shortening is melted, then add milk. Add yeast mixture and mix.

Add flour gradually, mixing very thoroughly until a stiff dough is formed. Knead dough on floured board until smooth. Cut off enough dough to make desired number of rolls. Place in large bowl greased with shortening. Brush top of dough with shortening cover, and let rise in warm place until light. Grease hands thoroughly with shortening, take a small portion of dough, and squeeze between thumb and forefinger into small balls. Place three balls in each cup of muffin greased pans. Let rise in warm place until double in bulk. Bake in very hot oven, temperature 450°F., time: 10 to 15 minutes.

Place remaining dough in large bowl greased with shortening. Rub top of dough with shortening, cover and store in refrigerator for later use. Dough may be kept 2 or 3 days. Makes 8 dozen rolls. After kneading, the dough may be stored in the refrigerator overnight, if desired.

Frozen Pineapple Salad
1 cup pineapple juice
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
1/16 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
4 slices pineapple, cut fine
2 oranges
10 marshmallows
1/4 cup nuts
8 maraschino cherries
1 pint whipped cream

Make a paste of flour and pineapple juice, then gradually add remainder of juice. Add butter, sugar, and salt. Cook over low heat for approximately 10 minutes. Then add the eggs, slightly beaten. Continue to cook for a few minutes, stirring continually; then cool and add lemon juice. Add pineapple, oranges, nuts, marshmallows and cherries; then fold in the whipped cream. Pour into freezing tray and allow to freeze.

Ginger Cookie Dessert
18 ginger cookies
1 pint whipping cream
2 teaspoons vanilla
Whip cream and add vanilla. Spread one tablespoon on one cookie and press another on top. After four or five cookies have been added, lay the stack on edge in the center lengthwise in the freezing tray; complete the roll; then completely cover with remainder of whipped cream. Place in refrigerator on a shelf for several hours, allowing cookies to absorb some of the moisture from the cream. Garnish with maraschino cherries. Place in freezing compartment and allow to thoroughly chill or freeze. Serve in diagonal slices.

Tea Dance To Benefit Hospital

Second Annual Event to Be Held April 21

Shrewsbury auxiliary of Monmouth Memorial hospital will hold their second annual tea dance Sunday, April 21, at the Windsor Room of the Monmouth County Country Club. Plans for the dance were made at a meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. Evan F. Jones in the Les Gertrude apartments on Broad street.

Mrs. John L. Daly is chairman and Mrs. N. A. DeTarr co-chairman. Bentley Nason's orchestra will play for dancing. Mrs. Louis Hayward heads the ticket committee. Her assistants are Mrs. John M. John, D. Brandt, Mrs. Forrest Smith and Mrs. William Foles. Mrs. Monroe V. Poole, chairman of the decorations committee, will be assisted by Mrs. Anthony T. Woolley, Mrs. James Enright, Mrs. William Lynch, Mrs. Joseph Carroll and Miss Ann B. Haaler.

Mrs. Elliott R. Brainard is chairman of publicity, assisted by Mrs. Frank McHugh, Mrs. J. Ritchie Smith, Mrs. L. Gray Marshall, Mrs. R. L. Romanet, Mrs. Lester McKnight and Mrs. William O'Brien. Mrs. Louis Hayward, president, read a letter from the board of governors of the hospital stating that the board did not approve any Monmouth Memorial auxiliary giving a joint benefit. Tentative plans were made for a Monte Carlo in June. The resignation of Mrs. Hayward as president was accepted with regret. Miss Haaler, first vice president, is the new president.

Mrs. Frank McHugh, sewing chairman, reported that all auxiliary members interested would meet at her home at 196 Mechanic street Thursday, April 4, for a sewing meeting. The auxiliary voted to give a check of $100 to the hospital. This money will be used to purchase chairs for the nurses' rest room. Tea was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lynch and Mrs. Enright. Mrs. Lynch presided at the tea table. Others present were Mrs. David Wood and Mrs. Marion M. Stommel.

Paralysis Fund To Exceed Quota

Will Be $1,000 More Than Last Year

Roland J. Hines of Asbury Park, chairman of the Monmouth County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, announced today that collections of $1,788.10 have been reported in the January drive for funds for use in the drive against the disease. "There is every indication that the county quota of $2,500 will be reached," Mr. Hines said. He said the estimated amount still to be received from local chapters in the county is $250 and about $600 is expected to be reported as Monmouth's contribution to the nationwide March of Dimes program. "That gives us a total of $2,838.10 so it looks as if the drive can be called a success," the chairman said. In 1929 the county chapter raised $1,768.68.

Half the total will go to the treasury of the national foundation and the remainder will be retained by the Monmouth unit. The county chapter is now financing treatments for a Red Bank girl who is a patient in the Westfield Children's Country Home, Westfield. The girl, 19-year-old Alma Jannini of 34 Bridge avenue, Red Bank, was stricken with the disease while attending college in Blackstone, Virginia, last October. She was treated at the hospital there and in November was moved to Monmouth Memorial hospital. When the county chapter supplied financial support the girl was admitted to the Westfield hospital at the direction of Dr. Nicholas S. Banoff of Long Branch. Twenty members of the county chapter voted to finance the Jannini case at the March meeting of the unit.

Party Benefits Riverview

Oil silk box dish covers were the table prizes at a card party Monday afternoon for the benefit of Riverview hospital by the Fair Haven auxiliary. Mrs. Llewellyn A. Griffin was general chairman. Special awards were given to Mrs. Charles Edelman, Mrs. George Curchin and Mrs. Ledyard Avery. These prizes were donated by Mrs. Frank Leslie, Mrs. S. J. Kessler and Mrs. Griffin.

Others present were Mrs. John J. Knodel, Mrs. M. J. Moll, Mrs. F. B. Ungerer, Mrs. Leon VanBrunt, Mrs. Phillip B. Walnwright, Mrs. Horton B. Garrison, Mrs. Sidney J. Waln, Mrs. John Jones, Mrs. Mary Johnson, Mrs. George B. Moxley, Mrs. George Harn, Mrs. Noel J. Lariand, Mrs. E. V. Denke, Mrs. Charles F. Edelman, Mrs. Frank Leslie, Mrs. William Tobias, Mrs. Richard McAllister, Mrs. Jesse Connor, Mrs. Walter VanHorn, Mrs. Tony Hunting, Mrs. Wallace B. Rankin, Mrs. W. J. Nelson, Mrs. A. L. Strommenger, Mrs. Ralph Johnson, Mrs. Ralph Longstreet, Mrs. William Ward, Mrs. Emma G. Wilder, Mrs. May Wolfing, Mrs. Paul Ochwald, Mrs. Chester Aumack, Mrs. Ella Gildewell, Misses Ann Strommenger and Mabel Cristiani.

Birthday Party For Local Girl

A surprise birthday party was given Miss Jeannette Teremetsky of Oakland street Easter Sunday. Decorations were in yellow, pink and blue. The supper table was decorated in the same colors with a large birthday cake as the center piece. Guests present were Misses Mary Rogel, Marion Karp, Ann Sweet, Kate Grandorf and Alex Rogel, Red Bank; Tole Guba, Middletown; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wyckoff, Rumson; Miss Jean Gronow, Asbury Park; Miss Lillian Zagari, River Edge and Stanley Garback, New Brunswick.

Warning From The Postmaster

Caution against transmission of money in cash, bank notes, or values payable to bearer in registered or ordinary letters addressed to foreign countries.

From time to time notices have been published under the above caption, calling attention to the risk involved in the transmission of money on the mails, whether in registered or ordinary covers, and stressing the desirability of transmitting money to all countries by the international money-order system, which offers the safest method of transmitting funds to foreign countries.

Nevertheless, information has been received that many unregistered letters sent from this country to British India are found to contain money, which constitutes a violation of the international postal regulations. Such letters are subject to seizure. In accordance with the legislation of the country of destination which, in the case of British India, results in delivery to addressees upon collection of a fine.

In these circumstances, and as senders will desire to avoid subjecting addressees abroad to the penalty described, patrons should be sure and use the international money order system.

E. vonKattengell,
Postmaster.

PLAN CAFETERIA SUPPER

Plans are progressing for a cafeteria supper to be served by the Middletown township Parent-Teacher association Thursday night, April 25, at the high school at Leonardo from 6 to 8 o'clock. The proceeds will be used to purchase caps for the high school band. Mrs. Harold Morford is chairman of the committee in charge.

MACARONI COMBINES WITH MEAT AS WELL AS CHEESE

It would be a pity for a housewife to confine the use of macaroni only to Friday night's supper—those Friday nights when she doesn't want fish—just macaroni and cheese. It combines so well with so many things that if you're not having it only for the above mentioned case, you've really been missing a treat—this being an example:

ELBOW-MACARONI AND KIDNEYS

1 package elbow macaroni
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon flour
2 cups milk
1/2 cup diced Swiss cheese
1/2 cup onion, finely chopped
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 cup lamb or beef kidneys cooked
1/2 cup buttered bread crumbs

Boil the elbow macaroni for 9 minutes in four quarts of rapidly boiling water to which 1 tablespoon of salt has been added. Drain. Melt the butter in a double boiler, stir in the flour, add the milk and cook until thickens, then stir in the cheese. Add the parsley and cook until well blended. Add the seasonings. Into a well-greased baking dish put alternate layers of elbow macaroni, kidneys and sauce, finishing with the macaroni. Cover with the bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes. Sweetbreads may be substituted for the kidneys if desired.

QUICK SNACS WITH EGGS

Because of the fact that a house is seldom, if ever, without eggs—it's a grand and glorious feeling to know tricky recipes for their preparation—so being the case we are never "caught short" when someone "drops in late" in the evening with a hungry look in his eye—in a jiffy you can have a fancy omelet—or the old reliable scrambled eggs and bacon—or something a little more unusual such as

EGGS WITH FRIED TOMATOES

5 eggs
2 large tomatoes
5 slices bread
10 slices bacon
Corn meal
Butter
Salt and pepper

White sauce, if desired. Cut the bread in slices about 1/2 inch thick, remove the crust and fry on both sides in butter until a golden brown. Drain on a piece of brown paper and put in a warm part of the stove until needed. Fry the bacon very crisp. Cut the tomatoes in thick slices (3 slices to a tomato), dredge in corn meal mixed with a little salt and fry in the grease from the bacon. Let all fry the eggs stiff, in the same frying pan, adding a little butter if necessary. Sprinkle the eggs with salt and pepper. Place the toast on a hot platter, arrange the strips of bacon, two to each slice of toast; put a slice of fried tomato over the bacon and the egg on the tomato. Pour white sauce over all if desired. Serve immediately.

Belford Men Hurt In Car Crash

Losing control of his car Saturday night while driving along Memorial parkway, Atlantic Highlands, William Seely, 45, of Belford crashed into a light standard. The standard was snapped off, causing a short circuit which threw the surrounding area into darkness for more than half an hour. Both the driver and his passenger, Edward Walling, also of Belford, were injured. Both men were treated at Monmouth Memorial hospital.

Municipal Topics

By the New Jersey State
League of Municipalities

Pedestrian Protection.

Since the pedestrian will not protect himself, or so it seems, the task is being assumed by law enforcement authorities. Stimulated by the campaign State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Arthur W. Magee has launched, municipalities throughout New Jersey are taking a new and deeper interest in the problem of reducing this phase of the traffic accident toll. The goal for 1940 is a decrease of at least one third in the number of such deaths.

The campaign is being waged with emphasis on pedestrian education, the first purpose being to drive home the danger attending promiscuous crossing of streets and highways and other carelessness inviting or worse. Once the consequences of jay-walking, the underlying cause of many pedestrian casualties, is impressed upon persons addicted to the habit, and the number is considerable, a marked reduction is expected to follow as a natural course.

"When it is realized that in cities three-quarters of the traffic deaths and one-half of the traffic injuries involve pedestrians, it is clearly apparent here is a field where effective work can produce real results in lives saved," states W. L. Robinson, assistant director of the safety division of the American Automobile Association, in a recent report of a survey conducted by that body. The survey, covering a period of three years, was in charge at the beginning of Professor William J. Cox, Yale University, and after he became highway commissioner of Connecticut was completed by staff specialists. Here are some of the facts developed:

Two of every three pedestrians killed are over 40 years old and the majority of victims are past 50. Persons in the advanced age group are five times as likely as school children to be killed while walking on the streets and highways.

About seven of every ten pedestrians killed are male. Most of the victims meet death after dark. The month of December, which has the fewest hours of daylight, is often the most deadly.

The vast majority of pedestrians killed do not drive a car and three of every five such fatalities occur away from intersections. Many involve coming out from between parked cars—a practice against which the motorist is virtually powerless.

Studies made in New York city and the Cleveland area indicate two of every five pedestrians killed had been drinking substantial amounts of alcoholic beverages. Many of these cases were found on Saturday and Sunday.

Spot checks in Dallas, Texas; Washington, D. C. and Detroit showed high numbers of fatalities among the under-privileged and low-income groups. The fatality rate for children of school age is not high, but the traffic injury rate of this group is the highest of all in the data studied.

Around these findings a program has been built to improve the dangerous habits revealed. The careless motorist has not been overlooked in the campaign and will feel the pinch of the law when detected in heedless or other faulty driving. But it is the pedestrian at whom the major effort is directed.

DEMAND PROPER EQUIPMENT.

While all interests working together are able to benefit by each other's experience, too often, thinks County Agent Douglass, one group expects another somewhat out of its field to accept their judgment as final. This, briefly, is too often the case in the farm machinery field.

During the past hundred years or more few, if any, farmers have benefited directly by the invention of new pieces of farm equipment. In spite of the fact that at the request of the manufacturers they have been the ones who have carried the burden of testing. However, County Agent Douglass thinks the time is coming when the farmers' demand for a better piece of machinery to do a specific job will bear fruit.

Already results along this line are showing up. We have one example in the manufacturing of certain pieces of potato equipment. Certain companies have worked with farmers and Experiment Station men in the development of some of the best pieces of planting and harvesting equipment and equipment to do specific jobs in applying fertilizer in proper locations. In other instances the farmers have used unsatisfactory equipment for many years because the manufacturers and dealers have told them that nothing better is on the market or can be made.

Since there is every indication that there will be a demand for new machinery to fit into the farm management program where a better job of soil conservation and erosion control is practiced, the county agent predicts that unless the manufacturers come into the picture rather soon they will find much of the present line of equipment out of date.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

Lawrence A. Carlton, Jr., Middletown township board of education attorney, whose 1940 Plymouth sedan was reported stolen Saturday night from opposite the Carlton theater on Monmouth street was again in possession of his car Monday morning. The vehicle was recovered early Monday morning on West street.

Sunrise Service Attended By 450

Martha Deane Makes
Comment on Radio

Wintry blasts were braved by more than 400 persons at the sunrise service. Easter morning on Mount Mitchell on Ocean boulevard, Atlantic Highlands. Rev. Arch J. McQuilkin of Philadelphia made the principal address. Rev. George W. Young of Middletown led the scripture reading. Rev. H. S. Crammer of Belford gave the invocation and Rev. Elwood S. Wolf of Leonardo gave the morning prayer. The offertory prayer was given by Robert E. Uhlig of Atlantic Highlands and Rev. Donald Correal, also of Atlantic Highlands, pronounced benediction.

Hymns sung by the entire gathering, led by Ralph Bruder of Atlantic Highlands, included "When Morning Gilds the Skies," "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today" and "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." "Open the Gates of the Temple" was sung by Mr. Bruder and "Calvary" by Miss Elsie Billa of Leonardo.

Martha Deane of radio fame attended the service, accompanied by her secretary, Miss Kern, and Postmaster John R. Snedeker and Mrs. Ethel LaCompte of Atlantic Highlands, and afterward went to Mr. Snedeker's home for breakfast.

Miss Deane and her secretary spent Saturday night at the Molly Pitcher hotel. In her radio talk Monday she described the Easter service and thanked Mr. Snedeker and the hotel staff for the hospitable reception. She also commented on the fine scenic view of the bay and ocean from the site of the service and the Shrewsbury river from the hotel.

Hit-Run Driver Surrenders to Cops

Steve Zeremba, Elizabeth, the object of a state-wide man-hunt, as a result of his leaving an automobile accident Sunday night on Route 35 near Middletown road, surrendered to police Monday and admitted his part in the accident. Zeremba, operating an automobile later identified as belonging to Sumner MacLaughlin, Elizabeth, collided with a car driven by Joel Holt, colored of Newark, who was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Marian Holt.

Mrs. Holt was severely shaken up and was taken to Riverview hospital by Patrolman Oscar Kreuger. Mrs. Holt returned home Monday.

Mr. Holt in reviewing the accident, told police that Zeremba stopped his car and when asked to produce his license, ran away leaving his car.

Can We Get Along Without Big Cities

By Herbert U. Nelson
(Executive Vice President, National Ass'n of Real Estate Boards)

The process of urban decentralization that is so important in our life today has two principal phases and these need to be kept in mind as separate movements, however far they may arise from the same technological changes. For each needs to be weighed by itself and given the red or the green signal on its own merits or demerits. And both are beginning to be talked about, very actively, under the single word "decentralization."

The two quite separate phenomena are, first, the decentralization of industry, by which we mean the spread of industrial activity more evenly over the various geographical regions of the country and, second, decentralization of population within a given individual city, for which we mean the migration of the people of a city out to and beyond its rim. The two, decentralization of industry and intra-city decentralization, can take separate courses and goals, must be separately judged and separately dealt with. Behind both is the pressure of human wants reaching out to be better satisfied. Both, by the very quality of change in them, will make many old values and old situations obsolete. That is inevitable. As a long-term process both, by opening opportunity for readjustments should if we meet them wisely, give us in the end a better way of life. Our human problems with both is to achieve the maximum good they open up with the minimum of waste. It is over-rapid decentralization within cities that is frequently costing us far more than we can safely pay, more than we need pay if we can reduce inevitable change to an orderly process. "America Reborn," a recent book by Ralph L. Woods, puts very vividly the case for decentralization of industry. Mr. Woods' thesis is that national development is lopsided. He believes that more uniform distribution of the labor force and a widespread dispersion of industrial plants, would be a wholesome thing.

Mr. Woods is for smaller cities. Indeed in the process of decentralizing industry he would like to see the big cities broken up. Here, I confess, I am one reader whom he does not convince.

Our big cities are something much more than mere manufacturing centers. They are the co-ordinating points for thousands of different types of activities, both economic and non-economic, which make it possible for our type of civilization to function. Glutted in cities, as in a human body, can be a pathological condition, a disease. We need, by revision of our city plans, to combat what Mr. Woods calls the "excessive psychologic stimulus resulting from noise, crowds, congestion and other by-products of inordinate mechanization and urbanization." We can and we must build up cities where "everybody can in his recreational hours have direct participation in activities that remind one with the feeling of being alive and the sense of accomplishment." We must reduce the insecurity of city life, and antidotes for its "institutional punctuality." But cities are still what Theodore Parker called them, "the flagpoles of civilization." They give opportunity we can have no other way for direct human intercourse on a scale wide enough for a meeting of like minds with like. Long before the age of the machine great cities were as they are now dynamos of social advance. I am afraid we can't get along without big cities, and the next best thing is to make them livable.

Concert April 5th For Finnish Relief Fund

Benefit in Catholic High School
To Feature Carina Orasto, Soprano

A concert for the benefit of the Finnish relief fund will be held at the Red Bank Catholic high school auditorium Friday night, April 5. The concert is being sponsored by the Red Bank committee for Finnish relief and Mrs. Ralph O. Willig and Mrs. P. Broadus Powers are co-chairmen.

Carina Orasto, Finnish soprano, will be one of the guest artists. Madame Orasto received her musical education at the Opera School of the Vienna Conservatory of Music. Later she studied Wagnerian repertoire with Kammer Senger and Hermann Gura of Berlin and Bayreuth. She has sung Wagnerian roles at the Finnish State Opera, Helsinki, Finland, and with other European opera companies and the Boston Opera company, Boston. She has appeared as a soloist with prominent symphony orchestras in several European countries and in New York. She has given concerts in New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Berlin, Vienna, Copenhagen and Helsinki.

MADAME HERMINE HOUDON

Vogel's Fur Firm To Move

New Store on Broad Street Ready Soon

Vogel's Red Bank fur and feminine apparel shop, located at 25 Broad street for the past 13 years, has started construction of their spacious new store directly opposite their present location and formerly occupied by Goldberger's. After extensive alterations are completed, it is expected that the new shop will be ready for opening about the middle of April.

The business was established by the late Harry Vogel, coming from the parent store located at Long Branch. The policies and style laid down by him have been continued by his wife, Nettie Vogel and brothers, Abe and George.

The continued expansion of the business has necessitated a store with considerably more floor space. A new modern rounded glass front will be installed while the interior will be completely renovated into a salon design with recessed cases. Air-conditioned and day-lighting will be an outstanding feature of the shop.

Due to the expiration of the lease in the present quarters, the firm will be temporarily located after Saturday at 6 Broad street, next to Berk's shoes, where the removal sale will be continued.

MADAME CARINA ORASTO

Madame Orasto will have as her accompanist, Hans Schimmerling, who is a composer in his own right. The artist's program will include a number of songs from Wagnerian operas and a variety of songs in Finnish, Swedish and English. Madame Orasto speaks and sings in five languages. She has given concerts in Westchester and in New York at Carnegie Hall. Madame Orasto's brother has been fighting with the Finnish army. This program, which is being arranged by J. Stanley Farrar of Rumson, will present well known artists of Monmouth county. They include members of the Monmouth-Oceanic society of Rumson, of which Mr. Farrar is conductor; Craft Choirs, of which Alan R. Woolley of Long Branch is leader; Francis Kodane, pianist; a string quartet under the direction of Hans Baumgardt and Madame Hermine Houdon, soprano of Elberon and New York.

Madame Houdon will sing selections from the opera "Manon." She spent her childhood in Canada and has studied with Anna Mahya of the Brussels opera, Maurice LeFarge and Oscar Sanger. She made her debut in Quebec under the patronage of Sir Charles Fitzpatrick and the Honorable La Fouchereau, premier of the provinces. In 1929 Madame Houdon was guest soloist at a concert given by the "Canadian parliament" for the Prince of Wales, now the Duke of Windsor. She has sung in French churches in New York and has appeared at the Capital theater in New York, taking the leading roles in the conducted hour operas presented at the theater.

Madame Houdon now lives in Elberon, where she maintains her studio at 4 Pullman avenue. She conducts classes for students and each month has special musicales at her studio.

Through the courtesy of Gordon Ryno, manager of the Tusting Piano company store on Monmouth street, a grand piano to be used for the artists has been loaned for the concert. Anderson Brothers will do the carting.

Members of the general committee are Mrs. Katherine Elkus White, Mrs. Dawson Olmstead, Mrs. Agao F. Nelson, Mrs. Ferdinand J. Pickett, Mrs. Joseph C. Irwin, Mrs. John Ritchie Smith, Mrs. J. William Helm, Mrs. Warren H. Snook, Mrs. Helen Lee Getty, Mrs. Irving Felt, Mrs. Walter A. Rullman, Mrs. Ronald W. Allen, Mrs. Kenneth Wyckoff, Mrs. Thomas H. McCintock, Mrs. H. Norman Hoy, Mrs. Robert G. Haley, Mrs. Carl Schwabner, Mrs. C. E. Easton Hendrickson, Mrs. Leon de la Reussille, Sr., Mrs. Thomas Irving Brown, Mrs. Emilio Fanjul, Mrs. Samuel W. Three Held For Rumson Theft

Arrests Made in
Hintelmann Case

Police Captain Henry Kruse of Rumson and State Troopers Frank Jury and William Tuesday of the Keyport barracks made three arrests yesterday in connection with the theft of $105 worth of liquor two weeks ago from Hintelmann's store at Rumson.

Charged with grand larceny and breaking and entering are Edwin Reubens, 33, of Leonardo, and Joseph Leo McCue, 31, of Newark, and held as a material witness was John Walter Lang, 17, of Atlantic Highlands.

Mason and Lang were apprehended at Atlantic Highlands and McCue at Harrison and all three were arraigned last night before Recorder Alfred F. King at Rumson. Mason and McCue were held for the grand jury and were taken to the county jail at Freehold immediately. Lang was released under bond in the custody of his grandfather, Reuben Mason.

Church Guild To Give Play

World Wide Workers to Sponsor Event

The D. E. B. chapter of the World Wide Guild of the Middletown Baptist church will present a play on the story of Robert and Mary Moffatt, the first pioneer missionaries to South Africa at the church Tuesday night, April 2. The play "Robert and Mary" was written by Anita B. Ferris.

Rev. George W. Young is directing the play. The stage settings and costumes for the characters will be in keeping with the period between 1810 and 1830 when the events took place.

Members of the cast are George W. Young, Ruth Walling, Susan Matthews, Alice Bramey, Sarah Guild, Woodrow Francis, Norma Barto, Constance DanOuden and Doris Messler.

The ladies of the church will serve refreshments in the church chapel following the performance.

S.P.C.A. Adopts New By Laws And Elects Officers

Ferdinand A. Straus Chosen President of County-Wide Society

The members of the Monmouth County branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which now embraces the entire county, the Red Bank and Asbury Park units having a month or so ago agreed to combine their activities for the general cause and work as one county-wide organization, elected their officers last night.

The meeting was held in the trophy room on the Holly Tree Farm estate of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand A. Straus on the Seven Bridge road in Little Silver and it was attended by the largest gathering of animal lovers seen at an S. P. C. A. assembly in this section in years.

After unanimously adopting a new constitution and by-laws prepared under the direction of Ralph O. Willig and Vincent McCue, Red Bank attorneys who are members of the county unit, an election was held with Mr. Straus being chosen president; Stanley M. Tracy of Allenhurst and Princeton, Mrs. Walter Mason of Loch Arbour, and Fred Fischer of Red Bank, vice presidents; Mrs. William H. Guilman of Asbury Park, secretary; Mrs. Cecile Frankel of Sea Bright assistant secretary; Mrs. John Linnett of West Allenhurst, treasurer and Ralph O. Willig of Red Bank, counsel.

The board of directors will comprise 34 members, 18 for one year and 16 for two years. The full board was not elected last night as it was thought best to complete the board as new members were taken in from other parts of the county not represented at the meeting.

Those selected for one year were Miss Jane Henderson, Miss Margaret Bonnell, Theron McCampbell, Miss H. Lang, Miss Ida-Rietje Pichler, Mrs. H. H. Wellenbrink, Robert F. Norton, Mrs. Marlan Cohn, George Ford Morris, George Dwight and Mrs. William Evans.

The two-year term directors chosen last night were Miss Anne Hester, Mrs. Samuel Corse, Mrs. B. Dugan, Ferdinand A. Straus, Benjamin Eschberg, Mrs. Ferdinand A. Straus, Mrs. Walter Mason, Mrs. A. Benzel, Mrs. Allan Haswell, Mrs. Howard E. Morris, Mrs. Stanley Tracy, Gardner S. Haring and Thomas Irving Brown.

Mrs. Tracy told of negotiations that were under way for a 13-acre tract on Wall street, between Eatontown and West Long Branch, which she expected to take title to on or about May 1st and that as soon as she received title to the property she would turn it over to the society for a permanent shelter and general county headquarters. There are several buildings on the property which can be converted with very little expense into a dwelling for the shelter caretaker and for the housing of stray and homeless animals.

Mrs. Tracy informed the society that Ray H. Stillman, realtor of Eatontown, had appeared in her behalf before the mayor and council of Eatontown and they have given their consent for the establishment of the shelter.

The society's shelter on the highway near Middletown will be continued in the same capacity as at present. However, as soon as the general shelter is established the one in Middletown township will be converted into a receiving station and will be kept open to better serve the several municipalities in northern Monmouth.

Reports given last night showed that the Asbury Park unit last year took care of 2,209 animals and the Red Bank unit approximately 2,000 or a total exceeding 4,000 animals. Of this amount the Asbury Park workers found homes for from 10 to 15% of these animals while from the Red Bank district of the society.

The next meeting of the society will be held in the Asbury Park district Wednesday night, July 10 at either the residence of Mrs. Tracy at Allenhurst. In the meantime the executive committee will meet and President Straus will name his committees.

Stationery Store 25 Years in Business

Miss Sadie Elliott and her brother, Clinton F. Elliott will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the establishment of their stationery store on Broad street April 1. The business has been located in the same store for the past 25 years.

The Elliotts have on display at the store the penny penny in the day they opened on the sale of a New York newspaper. The paper was sold to Dr. Frank Lee, a dentist, of Broad street.

FORESTERS MEETING

The Independent Order of Foresters will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Odd Fellows hall on Monmouth street. Every member is requested to be present. After the meeting, refreshment will be served.

United Campaign Opens With Dinner on Friday

Workers Out to Raise $17,000 For Three Worth-While Organizations

The first United Campaign in the history of Red Bank will start tomorrow night when the leaders and workers of the teams interested meet in the "Y" gymnasium, 40 Riverside avenue, for the "kick-off" dinner. The drive will run from tomorrow through Monday, April 8. The three participating organizations are the Young Men's Christian association, Boy Scouts and the Salvation Army.

The goal that the solicitors will strive to reach will be $17,000. Of this, $3 per cent, $510, has been allocated to the "Y", 20 per cent or $3,400 to the Boy Scouts, and 17 per cent or $2,890 to the Salvation Army. This fair proportion was decided upon by the executive committee of the campaign following a discussion of the proposed budgets of the three organizations. The campaign workers believe the community wants its agencies to not only carry on effectively, but to enlarge their work and influence. This means larger subscriptions from former supporters and more new contributors. The headquarters for the financial drive is located on the second floor of the "Y".

The entire working organization is composed of approximately 170 interested men and women of Red Bank. The executive committee includes Mayor Charles R. English, honorary chairman; Theodore D. Moore, general chairman; Kenneth H. McQueen, treasurer and John B. Allen, Harry W. Crawford, Theodore J. Labrecque, G. Howard Lippincott, J. Daniel Tuller and Martin V. B. Smock. The Advance Gifts Committee, whose members have been working since Monday, March 18, includes Lester R. Ross, chairman; Division A—Alfred F. Graulich, chairman; Robert J. Martin, William E. Ely, and George H. Camp; Division B—Theodore J. Labrecque, chairman; Theodore D. Parsons, Joseph Menzozane and John Rohrer; Division C—Harry W. Crawford, chairman; Thomas S. Field, Jr., Harry A. Isaac, Jr., and Joseph C. Irwin; Division D—Hubert M. Farrow, chairman; Benjamin Allen Parker, and William A. Miller; Division E—John B. Allen, chairman; Abram M. Kridel, Martin V. B. Smock and Jesse N. Beers.

The general organization's members are J. Daniel Tuller, chairman; Richard C. Hackett, co-chairman; Division A—G. Howard Lippincott, leader; James Vanleit, captain of Team No. 1—Irving Ely, Harry Mazza, Gordon L. Forbes, Clifton C. Frazee and Frank G. Warner; Team No. 2—Paul de la Reussille, captain; Charles E. Republican Club Hears Kimberling On State Police

Various Bureaus
Explained to Rumson Group

The operation of the various departments of the New Jersey state police was described last night to members of the Rumson Republican club at Red Men's hall by Colonel Mark O. Kimberling, superintendent of the state police.

A short business session preceded Mr. Kimberling's address, with George Dwight, president, presiding. Alfred F. King, secretary, reported 11 new members, bringing the total membership to 673. A letter was read from Misses Nellie and Grace Foster asking the club to endorse the state park project on Mount Mitchell, Atlantic Highlands. The club went on record in favor of the park and will send letters to Maryland's representatives in the state legislature asking them to support the park bill which was introduced last week.

Colonel Kimberling explained how the state police are divided into three troops—troop A, with headquarters at Hammonton; troop B, Morristown, and troop C, West Trenton. In addition there are 25 sub-stations spread throughout the state. The organization is up to its full strength of 280 men.

The state police made 6,000 more arrests last year than the previous year and conducted 2,000 more investigations, the colonel said. There were 7,786 persons charged with crimes and 539 juveniles were apprehended.

The traffic bureau has 150 men at work. Colonel Kimberling said that 10% of motorists cause the most accidents. In his headquarters is a map showing the locations of all fatal accidents.

One of the important departments is the crime laboratory. Through microscopic examination of blood spots and pieces of clothing and car parts the state police are able to solve many cases.

Mr. Kimberling explained the workings of the identification bureau and the state-wide teletype system, which is also connected with seven other states.

State police play an important role in supervising school safety patrols in rural sections. They have trained 5,000 pupils, who protect 375,000 fellow students. The state police also have a first aid bureau to instruct firemen, teachers and factory employees in the methods of rendering first aid.

Testimonial For Edward G. Walder

35 Persons Attend
Dinner at Pleasant Inn

Edward Walder, who has resigned as Chamber of Commerce secretary, told 35 guests at a testimonial dinner last night at Pleasant Inn that if Walder were no longer to be in, live in and work in than Red Bank, I predict a great future for this town as it has everything in its favor, including one of the finest municipal governments to be found anywhere.

The dinner was tendered by the Chamber of Commerce and Hubert M. Farrow was toastmaster. The speakers, all of whom wished Mr. Walder the best of luck with his new secretarial job for the Chamber of Commerce at Gloversville, New York, were Mayor Charles R. English, representing the mayor and council; Councilman Harold S. Allen, representing the Sweepsakes Regatta association; Harry Isaacs of the Rowing association; Joseph Palmer of the Red Bank Benevolent association and Sidney Wain of the Red Bank Standard.

Other guests introduced included Herbert Edwards, secretary to the state auditor; Frank A. Accella, public relations head of the state Chamber of Commerce; Eugene File of the Asbury Park Board of Trade, and William Bradley, chairman of the committee in charge of the dinner.

Grams and messages of regret on not being able to attend the dinner were received from Freeholder Joseph C. Irwin, James Lang and Dr. Norman E. Titus.

A portable radio was presented to Mr. Walder by Mr. Farrow as a token of esteem from the Chamber of Commerce.

Members of the cast will hold a rehearsal at St. George's church Sunday and the rehearsal of the cast and chorus will be held at 4 o'clock the same day.

Parishes taking part include Trinity and St. Thomas' churches, Red Bank, St. James' church, Long Branch, St. Augustine and Trinity churches, Asbury Park, St. George's, Rumson, Middletown, Navesink, Shrewsbury, Little Silver, Eatontown and Highlands.

Testimonial Given Retiring Fire Chief

Raymond Brower Honored by
Firemen Last Night

About 75 members of the Red Bank fire department paid tribute to their retiring chief, Raymond Brower, at a testimonial dinner last night in the Roosevelt tea room. Councilman Harry G. Degenring, former president of the executive council of the department, was toastmaster.

Speakers united in praising Chief Brower for his devotion to duty, not only as chief during the past year, but during the many years he has served in the department. He was roundly praised for the efficiency that characterized his term as chief. Mr. Brower responded by thanking the members for their hearty co-operation and by wishing the new chief and his deputies a successful administration for the new term.

Hit-Run Charge Made Against Otto Gillig

Red Banker to Have Hearing Tonight
at Little Silver

Otto Gillig of Beattle park, Red Bank, will have a hearing tonight at 7:30 o'clock before Recorder Daniel S. Weiland at the Little Silver borough hall on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

Saturday afternoon a car driven by William Wichmann of Branch avenue, Little Silver, was hit by another car at the intersection of Branch avenue and Rumson road. Mr. Wichmann was going south on Branch avenue and the other car came out of Rumson road and turned north.

Mrs. August Schweers and her daughter Betty and son Thomas were in the rear seat of the Wichmann car and the three were badly shaken up. Mrs. Schweers has been confined to her home since the accident.

The driver of the car which came out of Rumson road continued on his way without stopping. Mr. Wichmann reported the crash to Police Chief Fred Ziegler and gave him the license number of the other car. A summons was served on Mr. Gillig by Chief Ziegler and Policeman John Stoye of Red Bank and he appeared Tuesday night before Recorder Weiland. He pleaded not guilty and was granted an adjournment until tonight.

Little Silver Growing Fast

Council Emphasizes Its Building Boom

Specifications for improving Lovett avenue with gravel were presented to the Little Silver mayor and council Tuesday night by the borough engineer, George K. Allen. On motion by Councilman Frederick T. Hurley the matter was referred to Mayor Oliver G. Frake, the road committee and the engineer with power to act.

Council approved an ad in the New Jersey League of Municipalities magazine, and Councilman Victor Satter suggested the following slogan be used: "Little Silver, the Fastest Growing Community in the County."

Mayor Oliver G. Frake paid to the $40,000 building boom the borough is enjoying. Borough Clerk Fred L. Ayres stated he has received numerous requests from various parts of the state for booklets concerning the borough.

Councilman Anthony L. McKim reported he has ordered five new street lights installed, as follows: two at Fox Hill, two at Colonial terrace and one at Sunnyside.

Councilman William H. Carhart, Sr., reported that the WPA brook cleaning project has been completed. "They did a wonderful job," he said.

"Y" Holds Father And Son Dinner

More Than 70 Attend Event at Little Silver

More than 70 attended the annual father and son banquet of the Little Silver Young Men's Christian association Tuesday night at the Rosevelt tea room, Little Silver. Fred Wegel was toastmaster and Rev. E. F. Reed, pastor of the Little Silver Methodist church, gave the invocation.

The guest speaker was Theodore D. Parsons, president of the Red Bank "Y". Mr. Parsons reminisced about his own boyhood and spoke of incidents that led to a comradeship between him and his father, Rev. Dwight L. Parsons. In speaking of the things that fathers look for in their sons, Mr. Parsons said that all fathers seek respect, loyalty and co-operation from their sons.

William Carhart, leader of the first H-Y group in Little Silver 20 years ago, told the attending of experiences encountered during the founding of the group and some of its early history.

Community singing was led by Leigh-Cobb-county secretary, with Mrs. Raymond Conklin as piano accompanist.

Others seated at the speakers' table were Howard Ungert, president and Albert F. Dieleman, treasurer.

During the evening Donald Lawes, former president and his son, Don, told the dinner. Donald Jr. is recovering from a serious accident and was praised by the members for his pluckiness in attending.

Pat Lee entertained with magic tricks following the speakers.

Crepe de luxe stockings are now only

1.04
3 PAIRS 3.00

Bamberger's hawk-eyed Bureau of Standards certifies these are the identical Crepe de luxe chiffon stockings that thousands and thousands of women bought at 1.25 a pair because the ordinary stockings wouldn't do. They have a dull, flat, tearing texture; a patented crepe-twist silk that helps ward off snags and runs. I know that Bamberger's has never nipped a penny off the price tag since they were launched three years ago. But now at last we can all afford these luxury stockings for at this new low price they are down almost to a dollar. Any woman who has ever worn the average dollar hose and then tried Crepe de luxe knows the difference at a glance!

DETAILS: Crepe de luxe stockings are exclusive with Bamberger's in New Jersey. They come in 3 weights; the favorite 3-thread green stripe for daytime, 4-thread blue stripe for walking, 2-thread red stripe for evening. All in exclusive colors. You save 21c on every pair! Hosiery • Street Floor

Chamber Groups Making Plans For Active Year

Various Committees Have Met and Organized This Week

Organization meetings of the several committees of the Red Bank Chamber of Commerce, are progressing as rapidly as the members can be summoned. Every day, so far this week, one or two meetings have been held in the office of the Chamber, and additional meetings are scheduled for the remainder of the week.

The committees that have met, after formally organizing themselves, in most cases made an analysis of the objects for which they were set up. They then proceeded to definitely outline methods of procedure to the end of the year.

The Survey Committee, under the chairmanship of President, T. D. Moore has segregated the members into fifteen one-man units to make a full and complete survey of the activities of Red Bank. This will include all types of business enterprises, professional activities, fraternal groups, social groups, utilities, educational facilities, religious groups, transportation facilities, municipal data and any other phase which might be inquired into by prospective residents or business houses. This information is to be kept up to date and ready for reference or distribution at a moment's notice. The work of the committee is a comprehensive and laborious task but the committee members are enthusiastic about the endeavor and believe such data will have many uses by those in the community desiring even specific information about our town which, now, is difficult to get impossible to secure.

The Youth Committee under the direction of Monsignor John B. McCloskey has a number of active members before it already. Due to out-of-town engagements, Monsignor McCloskey could not attend the first meeting Monday evening. Morris Miller acted as chairman. The first matter which engaged the attention of the committee was a celebration on Independence Day, the one of last year having met with great success. It was decided to again have such a celebration, and to work toward that end informally until after April 8 when the Y. M. C. A. Boy Scouts and Salvation Army United Drive now being held would be completed. This would relieve the committee members, many of whom are actually engaged in the drive. At the next meeting steps will be taken to secure the participation of every possible group in Red Bank and the vicinity to take part in the celebration.

Tuesday morning the Public Relations Committee met with Thomas Irving Brown, its chairman, presiding. The purpose of the committee is to handle all publicity for the community through the Chamber and to conduct such activities to improve relations between the public and business houses as are necessary. It was pointed out by Mr. Brown and reiterated by all of the committee members present that a special function should be to build up goodwill between Red Bank and the surrounding towns wherever possible. Several matters of immediate importance were discussed and as such as more data on the subjects taken into consideration are secured, certain recommendations will be presented to the Board of Directors of the Chamber for their consideration. Because of the nature and importance of this committee it was decided that regular monthly meetings be held, interspersed by such additional meetings as deemed advisable by the chairman.

Mayor Charles R. English, a member of the Public Relations committee, thought that as the Red Bank Chamber of Commerce, not only served Red Bank but also the surrounding municipalities, that the name of the organization should be changed and suggested that it be "Red Bank Community Chamber of Commerce." By unanimous motion this suggested name will be offered to the Board of Directors for their consideration.

Sidney J. Wain stated that many of the souvenir postcards showing scenes in and about Red Bank were well out of date and that an effort should be made to correct this unfavorable publicity for the community. The committee unanimously decided to take up this matter at once. The people of Red Bank and vicinity are to be urged to take a deeper interest in things locally, particularly those activities that mean a bigger and broader activity for community interests. This matter was brought before the committee by Harry Crawford, local manager of the New Jersey Bell Telephone company.

William Willey, local superintendent of the Prudential Insurance company, impressed upon the committee the necessity of interesting the community more deeply in matters pertaining to civic betterment and that an attempt should be made to bring these folks closer to the community activities and break down the existing barriers that will allow the Chamber to sell Red Bank and its neighbors to those who are a part of it.

There were two meetings yesterday. The first, the committee on taxation and legislation was held in the morning. This meeting was exceptionally well attended and the chairman, E. R. Conover, was never at a loss as to what the committee members desired to discuss. Animated enthusiasm abounded the entire session and while no definite program of action or any one subject was taken, it was generally decided that the Chamber should continue its endeavor to such matters as directly affected the residents of the community, rather than inject themselves in matters outside their sphere. Several proposals and suggestions were made matters of record to be investigated and reported upon at the next meeting. Insufficient data on these subjects prevented any definite action at this time.

The other committee meeting of the day was that of Membership, under Chairman, William D. Bradley and Tony Hunning. The basis of this meeting was a discussion of ways and means of following up the recent membership drive for new members of the Chamber and other pertinent matters absolutely attending such a committee. This is a very large committee which has been divided into four groups. Each member with certain single prospects every month until the possible number is secured. The result of the progress of this committee will be announced at such times as deemed to be the best interest of the Chamber.

The day was last of Membership, under Chairman, William D. Bradley and Tony Hunning. RED BANK BAHAI NEWS.

The final Bahai Forum of the current series will be held this Sunday evening at 115 Molares street. An open invitation is extended to all to attend. The guest speaker will be Edward Kinney of New York. Mr. Kinney is one of the foremost Bahai authorities on the Bahai activities in America for the past 20 years. The first Bahai meetings in the United States were held in the Kinney home at New York. Abdul-Baha, one of the trio of founders, was his guest during his visit to our country shortly before receiving a Knighthood from the British Empire for his humanitarian activities.

Mr. Kinney is noted in New York circles as an organizer and composer. He served as chief organizer and chairman at St. George's and St. Mark's in New York. As a composer of sacred music, he composed over 30 services used widely by organizers.

In a recent interview with Mrs. Bina, local Bahai secretary, Mr. Kinney recalled his early visits to Red Bank when he sailed from the Battery to Red Bank and up the Schuylkill river over 40 years ago. He told of many changes which have taken place throughout his lifetime in New York and remembered vividly when the trains were illuminated by candlelight, later supplanted by oil lamps and electricity. His American ancestry dates back 200 years, and his grandfather was illustrious as the first Commissioner of the Connecticut Cavalry and acted as an honorary pallbearer at the funeral of Henry Clay.

Mr. Kinney will speak on the World Order teachings given in the Bahai plan for a world federation. Another series of Bahai Forums will be held in the early fall.

LOUISE POWERS TO INTERVIEW OPERA COMMENTATOR

Hansel and Gretel Will Be the Topic of Program

A program of musical interest has been arranged by Louise Powers on her radio show's hour on radio station WBBB tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

An opera commentator of "Hansel and Gretel," will be given by Mary Capewell Gustafson and sung by Dorothea Dix Lawrence. Mrs. Gustafson has been conducting a series of recitals at the Round Brook Woman's club and the Griffith Music room at Plainfield. She has also appeared at Bamberger's tea room for a college scholarship benefit.

Mrs. Lawrence is a soprano and has sung at many concerts in several of the large cities of the United States in many different operatic roles. She will be remembered by WBBB radio audiences as the woman who spoke on her collection of antique Christmas cards, which is large and famous, and she has appeared on the "Hobby Lobby" program and talked about her hobby.

Hansel and Gretel will be the theme for Walt Disney's next picture and Mrs. Powers stated that she believes that this program will prove of exceptional musical interest.

SHREWSBURY FIRE COMPANY ANSWERS 27 GRASS FIRES

Extinguished Seven Yesterday—No Serious Damage Reported

Members of the Shrewsbury fire company have been kept busy during the past week answering grass fires throughout various sections of the borough. Fortunately no serious damage resulted. Yesterday members of the company answered 27 alarms and one still alarm.

So far this year the Shrewsbury firemen have reported 28 calls, 27 of which have been grass fires. Yesterday's six fires were the most calls the company answered in one day. Fifteen of the 27 grass fires occurred since last Thursday.

During yesterday's fires, members of the company barely had time to refill the booster tank. Such was the case when a still alarm was reported while both trucks were attending another fire. While attending the new apparatus and the other extinguishing a fire on White street, a still alarm came in for a fire in the rear of the property of George Silver, Sr., on Broad street. Several firemen, assisted by youths in the neighborhood, beat out the flames with coats.

One of the fires yesterday burned a fence on Patrick Aher's property on White street and came near destroying a number of chickens, but efficient work on the part of the firemen saved the chicken coop. A grass fire Sunday night did slight damage to Irving Krakowitch's garage on Patterson avenue.

Second Assistant Chief John Parker was in charge at yesterday's fires while Chief Lester G. Root was in charge at the fire last night at 9:45 o'clock on Silverbrook road.

EATONTOWN COUNCIL IN SHORT SESSION

A short session of the Eatontown council was held last night at the borough hall, with Acting Mayor Robert H. Higginson presiding.

Several resolutions were approved one for

County WCTU Spring Institute Next Wednesday

County Women to Meet in Manasquan Methodist Church

The Monmouth County Women's Christian Temperance Union Spring Institute will be held next Wednesday at the Manasquan Methodist church. The morning session will open at 10:30 o'clock with Mrs. Lydia Smith presiding.

The devotions will be in charge of Mrs. A. H. Sutphin and greetings will be offered by Rev. Charles Hogate, pastor of the Manasquan church. The response will be given by Mrs. M. L. Rarick. The appointment of committees will be made and the aims of the departments by the directors will be explained.

Mrs. Mary D. DuBois, president of the New Jersey W. C. T. U., will talk on the "Value of Institutions" and Miss Elma A. Mathis will lead a girls on "National Handbooks and State Reports." Miss A. L. Perinich will offer the noon prayer.

At 12:15 o'clock a box luncheon will be held with the Manasquan union serving tea and coffee.

An executive meeting will be held at 1:30 o'clock followed by the afternoon meeting which will start at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Charles Hogate will lead the devotions and Miss Kathleen Smith will offer the solo. Mrs. William H. Young will talk on "Youth Temperance Council." Miss Mabel Vaughn will speak on "Loyal Temperance Legion." Miss Mathis will address the group on "Roads to Success," and Mrs. DuBois, principal speaker of the afternoon, will talk on "Entering Open Doors."

Plan Summer Season For Boy Scouts

New Camping Program to Be Inaugurated— Hold Cub Session

Plans for the summer season at the Boy Scout camp at Allaire were developed by the camp committee of the Monmouth Council, Boy Scouts of America, at a meeting Tuesday evening at the Boy Scout office.

A new camping program will be effective whereby scouts will attend the scout camp at Allaire under the leadership of their scoutmaster, assistant scoutmaster, or members of the troop committee. "The scouts will do real scout camping this year," says William Buchsbaum, camp committee chairman, "and get a big thrill out of it."

Each troop will select its own site, erect its own camp, plan its menu and provide and serve its own meals. Provisional troops will be operated for scouts whose leaders cannot direct their own troop camps.

Each troop will carry out a full program of woodcraft, campcraft and scoutcraft. "The cost for the season will be greatly reduced under the new plan," according to Scout Executive Ernest M. Blanchard, "enabling many more scouts to attend." The executive board of the Monmouth Council met yesterday at the Council office in Asbury Park. The revision of the Council constitution to comply with the National Council recommendation was discussed. A committee was appointed to make detailed plans for the Annual Scouters' congress.

The parents of prospective cubs of the Red Bank Presbyterian Church, Red Bank, received their second session of training preliminary to the organization of the new cub pack. Russell Blackman of Red Bank is chairman of the Pack Organization committee and Dr. Lawrence Burdge, Red Bank dentist, is president of the Brotherhood.

BUN LEVELS AND BE SURE

Very often after seeing how well a cover crop has protected the land during the winter months, we pat ourselves on the back and think our troubles with erosion are over, forgetting that very often in less than a month after plowing some of our best top soil will go over to the neighbor's farm, according to observations made in over 20 years in Monmouth County by County Agent Douglas.

It is not enough to do a good job part of the year; it must be done throughout the 365 days if we hope for the best economic returns from every acre.

Mr. Neil M. Munch, Agronomist for the Freehold Soil Conservation District, has been making numerous observations on Monmouth county soils over the past three years and offers the following suggestions which the county agent thinks many farmers would do well to consider: strip cropping, contour planting, and the removal of steep slopes from cultivation, whether it be a large or a small area. Munch goes on to say that these control measures are most effective if started when the land is plowed, at which time one can take care of dead furrows and back furrows, to the best advantage.

Your Freehold Soil Conservation District is in position this year, through its organization, to give real service to those farmers who are not just sure of the best way to go about checking erosion after plowing. Munch says one of the best ways is to run levels on the land to determine the most effective way of plowing and planting. The District technicians are ready to render this engineering service. If you are interested contact your District supervisor, your County Agent, or your conservationist.

Eyes Wrong

While the fox is a member of the canine family and very much like a small dog, its eyes are catlike. . . . a dog's eye is very different from that of a feline. . . . it is more round in shape and has less difference.

Red Bank YMCA Scene Of Many Activities

EASTER DANCE

The largest attendance of young people that the "Y" has seen at the weekly Saturday night dance was in evidence Saturday night when more than 100 young men and young women danced in the "Y" gymnasium to the music of Eddie Griesbach and his "parade of bands" sound equipment. The gym was decorated with colored crepe paper rabbit silhouettes in keeping with the Easter season.

This was the 17th consecutive dance sponsored by the members of the Club Concordia, Boys and Girls, Hi-Y, and the Sea Scouts. The refreshments were donated by Mary Lou Delatash, Sally Porter, Mary VanNote, Jr., Lillian Ivins and Palmer Kingston. The beverages were donated by Benjamin H. Crute.

Miss Ruth Samuel was general chairman and her committee was composed of Mary Lou Delatash, June Smith, Janet Holmes, Mary Jo Garrison, Robena Evans, Mary Lou McDonald, Sally Porter, Bunny Dillon, Robert Davey, Zale Dillion, Emilio Panjul and Anthony Antinozzi, decorations; Ruth Samuel, Bob Simmons, George Ruddy, Palmer Kingston, Alex Belchek, Zale Dillion, refreshments; Emilio Panjul and Donald Snyder, tickets; William VanPelt, cloak room and Alex and Boris Belchek, George Shoemaker, clean-up. Mr. and Mrs. William M. Pellingale of Riverside, avenue were chaperons.

Miss Samuel has announced that next Saturday night's social would be a "Leap Year" dance. All young people of Red Bank and vicinity are invited to attend.

Among those attending were Dorothy Clayton, June Warner, Constance Wingard, Janet Holmes, Barbara Lovell, Jean Howland, Pat Blaisdell, Virginia Ryan, Beverly Bremer, Barbara Seely, Margaret Bonello, Mary Lou Delatash, June Smith, Mary Jo Garrison, Robena Evans, Mary Lou McDonald, Sally Porter, Bunny Dillon, Joyce Snyder, Marilyn Hadaway, Dorothy A. The executive board of the organization will meet tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. C. A. Alberts, president, will preside.

POTATO NOTES

By Ellwood Douglas, County Agricultural Agent

Probably no potato area in the United States has made more up-to-date changes in the industry during the past ten or 20 years than has Central Jersey. However, each spring in our rush, it is very easy to overlook certain things we know should be done.

This year some potato seed has probably been cut longer before planting than for many years before. It is not the length of time from cutting to planting that is important; it is the condition of the cut surface when planted. So often the grower does not need to ask "will it be wise to plant this lot of cut potatoes, since it does not like the look of the cut surface?" Immediately he knows, and rightly, that there is likely to be serious mortality in germination.

Some cut potatoes observed by the county agents show some of the finest, cleanest, best cured, cut surfaces that could ever be desired. It would seem that care in cutting, drying and storage is the determining factor.

About one ton of high-grade fertilizer per acre is the average amount found best for Monmouth county soils. If double strength is used, the same proportion is applied. Results are definitely showing that the fertilizer applied a little distance below the tuber and away from it on both sides is giving safer results and less chance of rotting than the old method of planting the tuber on top of, or often in, the fertilizer.

From one and one-half to one and three-quarters below the actual level of the field when the rows are smoothed up is still found to be the best depth to plant the tubers under most conditions in Monmouth county. A few plants an inch or less; still others below two inches. There are instances where the grower may get away with this more shallow or greater depth.

There is no reason why this season the farmers should receive any better return from a hurried and poorly prepared potato field or planting than in an average year. The number of days a field should be plowed and prepared before planting is less important than it is making sure a given number of operations are carried out on the land between plowing and planting in order to give a firm yet mellow seedbed.

On many potato fields in Monmouth county the past fall at least two kinds of cover crops were seeded. Here's hoping that during the growing season more growers will have an opportunity to observe both the vine growth status and also the yield of potatoes at harvest time from these two or more kinds of cover crops.

Blight, one of the worst enemies of potatoes, and especially one of the most serious that carries over in the seed, appeared last fall, during the winter and this spring. The grower is warned not to take chances in planting any seed that looks as if it were infected with blight. And no grower living has sufficient ability to do a perfect job in sorting a diseased lot of potatoes hoping to plant only clean tubers.

NEW STRAINS OF CABBAGE

During the past few years many yellow resistant early varieties and strains of cabbage have been introduced by reliable seedmen, and have been found to produce well under New Jersey conditions, observes C. H. Nisley, extension professor of vegetable growing at the State College of Agriculture, Rutgers university.

These new varieties and strains should interest many Jersey cabbage growers, Mr. Nisley says, for losses due to yellow in mid-summer cabbages have been prevalent in the state during very hot dry seasons.

Among these introductions is the Golden Acre Yellow Resistant strain, which is similar in type and earliness to the regular strain of Golden Acre. Another is the Copenhagen Market Yellow Resistant strain which produces round heads similar to the Golden Acre, maturing a few weeks later. The heads are uniform and of a true Copenhagen type. A third rather new strain is the All Season Yellow Resistant, which produces a flatter type of cabbage for both market and sauerkraut purposes.

Two of the later maturing, old stand-by varieties which are yellow resistant and still highly recommended are the Marion Market which resembles the Copenhagen type, and Bugner Yellow Resistant. The latter is a cabbage of the Danish type, gives large crops of slightly flat heads which are very solid and even. It is also a good storage variety.

RED BANK GIRL ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ferraro of Shrewsbury avenue announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Ferraro, to Andrew DePonti Sunday evening at a dinner party. Mr. DePonti is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Pietro DePonti, also of Shrewsbury avenue. The couple expect to be married in the fall.

Where Shall We Play?

This is the third of a series of articles prepared by C. F. Wilber, Director, Department of Conservation and Development and member of the New Jersey State Planning Board. These articles will deal with the present facilities for recreation in New Jersey and the urgent need for additional recreational facilities.

Prepared for The Register by C. F. Wilber, Member of the New Jersey State Planning Board, and member of the Department of Conservation and Development.

In spite of New Jersey's high population density, there are more than 2,000,000 acres of land in the state which are now virtually going to waste.

This apparently paradoxical condition is due to the existence of large areas of inferior soils, rugged topography and other conditions unsuitable to agriculture.

The little likelihood that more than a small fraction of these 2,000,000 acres will ever be needed or used for farming purposes, industry or urban expansion. A few hundred thousand acres might eventually come in demand for scattered country estates and summer homes, but most of this land will stand idle and unproductive until put to some public use.

This tremendous acreage, much of it wooded, is, however, ideally suited for such uses as state parks and forests, game preserves, and watershed protection. With the proper use of part of this land, the state could go a long way to solving its recreational problem.

Within less than three hours' ride of all of this wild land in New Jersey is concentrated nearly one-sixth of the population of the United States. Nowhere in this country does there exist any similar area so vast in close proximity to such masses of people.

Residents of New Jersey should indeed be thankful that poor soil, steep slopes and other natural conditions have prevented the use of this land for agriculture, industry or residential development. It should be one of the first duties of the state to prevent any deterioration of these areas. No longer should they remain inaccessible for the many recreational purposes they might well serve.

Based on surveys of land uses and recreational needs, the New Jersey State Planning Board has recommended that the state acquire and develop as much of this land as can be put to no better social or economic purpose.

The Planning Board suggests at least 1,000,000 acres be acquired over a period of several years. Since much of this area is relatively valueless and a considerable portion has long been tax delinquent, the price for a million acres would probably not exceed $15,000,000, an amount expended by New Jersey on state highway construction alone in some of its least prosperous years.

Within this million acres, certain sections should be selected carefully for development as state parks and other recreational uses. Other specific areas should be set aside primarily as wild life preserves or for the preservation of plant life, while still other sections would be utilized for the protection of water supplies.

FARM CROP NOTES

By Ellwood Douglas, County Agricultural Agent

The protein is the element in hay that the dairyman is after for his livestock; and whether he gets it from alfalfa, or timothy, or some other source, makes little or no difference provided of course the cost is not too great. Because of our increased knowledge about growing and harvesting timothy, it has become one of our most economical protein feeds.

While spoiled feed both concentrates and roughage, may contain rather large amounts of one or more of the important elements, it is unwise to bank too much on food value alone. The unpalatability of moldy or spoiled silage or musty hay is an important factor to be considered.

Recently some feeding tests were conducted with the use of various feeds, including soybean meal. While the soybean meal gave somewhat better results in the comparative feeding test, the cost of comparing soybean meal as well as preparing them for feeding, was apparently lost sight of. Both: cost of producing as well as feeding results must be considered in the picture, provided the feeder plans to grow the product.

Cutting hay at the right time and curing it properly become increasingly important factors, almost more important than the kind of hay grown. Lespedeza is a popular hay for certain sections of the county; provided it is properly handled, it is higher in protein than many other foods, but the least amount of careless cutting and harvesting quickly spoils the economic value of the crop.

Animal manures are an excellent source of organic matter; however, in too many instances only a small part of the real value of the manure is utilized. The time elapsing between the production of the manure and its application in the field, the condition of the field when applied, all are factors in the economic value of the product.

If that barley seeded in the fall of 1939 was on just average land, it might be a good investment to apply from 200 to 300 pounds of high grade fertilizer per acre, or just superphosphate alone. If we are to produce this crop economically in Monmouth county we should aim toward 50 to 60 bushels of harvested grain per acre, which is not impossible.

As the county agent writes these notes he has before him a map and a program covering a farm of nearly 200 acres, with the crops grown in 1939, and the contemplated set-up for 1940 and 1941. It is very interesting to note how easy, provided one takes time to do a little figuring, it is to work out a rotation that will conserve the soil and not only maintain but increase soil fertility and each year make it possible to produce crops more economically.

Substitutes will, at the best, always be substitutes; therefore a substitution for the use of the outcrop, or one of the other tools that does equally as good work means depending on the rainfall to pack the soil in as satisfactory away as the outcrop. Again we repeat, don't take chances this year.

Federal Housing Census Important

By Herbert U. Nelson,
(Executive Vice President, National Ass'n of Real Estate Boards.)

The work of the National Resources committee, now called the National Resources Planning board, is expected to be continued by act of Congress. This is good news both for industry and for citizens interested in the intelligent shaping of public policies. The committee has made some exceedingly useful studies of the resources of our country in land, minerals and forests and has also issued an interesting study on our cities. It is necessary that some national body undertake such broad general survey if we are to see from time to time where we are going and what we are doing to our assets.

Good, for the same reason, is expected Senate action making the appropriation that will give the go-signal to the census of housing, already authorized by Congress. Thoughtful people are beginning to realize, even more keenly than when this count was first suggested, how fundamentally important it is to business in many lines as well as to government itself to have definite facts concerning the housing and living standards of the people of our country.

We have had many estimates, some of them probably fantastic, as to the shortage of housing throughout the country. Both private business men and government agencies should know whether we need, as some say, millions of new homes or whether the actual need is for only a few hundred thousands. Only on the basis of exact information can sound business policies be formulated, and it is certainly impractical that long-range and important federal policies should be based on mere guesswork. Moreover, the federal government has a ten-billion dollar stake in housing and building at this time. The real estate industry is the one great field where nation-wide information concerning supply and demand is not now available.

A proposal to remove the limitations on the amount of F. H. A. insured mortgages which a national bank may purchase is embodied in a bill now before Congress, presented by Representative Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska. At present national banks may invest in such mortgages 60 per cent of their time and savings deposits, but in any event not more than the total amount of their capital and reserves. In the smaller towns and in sections where banking facilities are limited, this limitation has proved to be a retarding factor. Such banks are especially hard pressed to find good outlets for their capital other than real estate mortgages, proponents of the bill point out.

If this bill passes, it will broaden the part which banking institutions are able to take in the nation's housing program.

Mechanic P. T. A. To Give Dance

Members of the Mechanic street school Parent-Teacher association will hold a dance Friday night, April 5, at the school auditorium. All types of dances including square dances and elimination dances will be conducted to entertain guests. The general public has been invited to attend and Charles Gotschalk's orchestra will play for dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Singdahlsen heads the committee in charge. Assisting are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stillwagon and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bickler. Tickets may be obtained from any committee member or at the door the night of the dance.

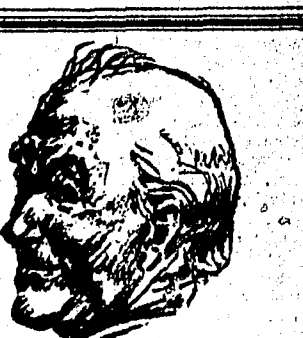

Wildlife Warfare.
Foreign soldiers who use skis for rapid maneuvers and white suits to make them invisible against the snow are only borrowing an idea from nature.

The snowshoe hare, because it has no defense except speed, is equipped with wide feet, which enable it to scamper across the snow with the greatest of speed. And this animal, which is sometimes known as the varying hare, changes its fur to white in the winter so it will blend with the background, just as do the soldiers on skis.—From The American Wildlife Institute.

Held on Charge of Stealing Pocketbook

Arnold Ferraro, charged with the larceny of a pocketbook from Mrs. Florence Howell of Bridge avenue, where he had a room, was held for the grand jury by Recorder John V. Crowell in police court this morning. The arrest was made by Captain Joseph Bray. The pocketbook contained a check for $50.

"The Star Spangled Banner" did not officially become the American national anthem until 1931.

"I know how . . ."

"You can get a job . . . providin' of course, you have trained yourself to do somethin' that business people need. I know times are hard (I been out of work for twenty years myself) but if you go to one of those business schools advertised in The Red Bank Register, and learn what they have to teach you; just put in a small 'Situation Wanted' ad in that same paper. You'll get a job!"

Annual Banquet To Be Held By Club

Several Reports Given at Board Meeting

The annual mother-daughter banquet of the evening group of the Red Bank Woman's Club will be held Monday night at Matawan. Mrs. Floyd King is general chairman and Mrs. R. Theodore Bixler will be toastmistress.

Plans for the banquet were discussed at a meeting of the executive board Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Burton Moore on South street. Assisting the chairman are Miss Janet Brown, Mrs. Frank Gilbert and Mrs. Donald Needham.

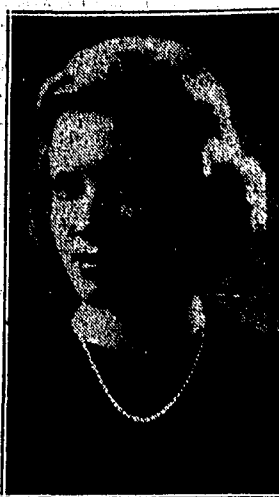

All officers and department chairmen submitted their annual reports. Mrs. Herbert P. Schaeffer, president elect, and Mrs. Lawrence Schilling, vice president elect, will attend a state conference of evening groups at Newark Saturday night. Mrs. Ross King, president, and Miss Gertrude Norman will also attend.

Any club member wishing to attend the conference should notify Mrs. Schilling.

Attending the board meeting were Mrs. Harold Dowstra, Mrs. James Powell, Mrs. Ross Wiley, Mrs. Edgar V. Denise, Mrs. Noel Leland, Miss Katharine Rogers and Miss Katherine Cross.

Rumson Girl's Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Edwards of Buttonwood lane, Rumson, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothea Karow Edwards, to Charles Morgan Shipway, son of Mrs. Charles Morgan Shipway of Princeton, former residents of Charleston, South Carolina.

DOROTHEA K. EDWARDS.

Miss Edwards is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Karow of Savannah, Georgia, and of Mrs. Richard S. Edwards and the late Colonel Edwards of Philadelphia. She was graduated from the Ethel Walker School at Simsbury, Connecticut, and will be graduated from Smith college this June.

Mr. Shipway was graduated from Lawrenceville school and Princeton university.

DIES AT 99

Mrs. Harriet J. Reid Forman of Freehold, who would have celebrated her 100th birthday in July, died Tuesday at her home. She was the widow of Samuel R. Forman, who was for many years engaged in the sale of horses. Mrs. Forman had lived at Freehold 60 years.

It gave to advertise in The Register—Advertisement.

Freehold Man Fined $7 at Colt's Neck

Henry Thornton of Freehold was charged with careless driving Sunday night after his car had become involved in an accident with a car owned by Everett Matthews of Colt's Neck, on the Freehold-Baton-town road. Mr. Thornton was arraigned before Recorder George V. Illmanese, of Colt's Neck and fined $7.

Julius Bookhalter of Verona was arrested last week on a charge of careless driving on state highway 84 at Colt's Neck and on arraignment before Recorder Illmanese was fined $5.

Navesink.

(The Red Bank Register can be bought in Navesink from William Kaskan at the postoffice.)

The Navesink firemen, like the other fire companies around here, are having their share of calls to grass fires. They were called out early Monday morning to the Patterson house fire at Chapel Hill. Monday afternoon they put out a grass fire on the old ball field and Monday night they extinguished a grass fire on First avenue.

Abelha Warrington, science teacher in the Leonardo high school, is still laid up with an injured knee. He was hurt in a fall from the roof of his garage, and his knee is in a cast.

Joseph B. Johnson has built a two-car garage in the rear of his home on Lake avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scott and daughter Edith of Jersey City and Jean and Doris Bartales of Bloomfield spent Easter with Mr. and Mrs. James G. Scott.

Adam Linzmayer, who was recently promoted in the County Gas company, is taking a six weeks' training course at Newark.
