Weigh Resources For New Hospital In Keyport Area

Need Established By Recent Survey In Northern Monmouth

Beginning at once, and continuing for three or four weeks, a group of hospital financial experts will conduct a survey to determine if resources are available in the central and northern part of Monmouth county for a new hospital. According to VanWinkle Todd of Matawan, president of the recently formed Community Hospital association. The association offices are located in Keyport.

The need for such a hospital has been definitely established by a survey conducted for the association recently by Col. Louis Jallado of New York. This survey disclosed that Monmouth county, as a whole, is generally deficient in hospital facilities and bed complement and that the central and northern part of the county was wholly without facilities.

It was brought out that 45,000 persons residing in the territory surveyed, were dependent upon pure chance on being admitted to hospitals in other areas which are already overcrowded and necessarily turning patients from their own sections away. The survey pointed out that this situation presented a serious menace to the health and welfare of some 10,000 families in the area.

"Now that the need is definitely established," Mr. Todd stated, "we must determine, as nearly as possible, whether the people of Central and Northern Monmouth will subscribe the necessary funds to erect a new and modern hospital in our midst."

The financial survey to determine these resources will entail consultation with industrialists, first aid squads, physicians in the area, service clubs, churches and other organizations, community leaders and officials, and a host of individuals. If it is determined that the resources and the demand are present, a financial campaign to raise the required sum will be started in the immediate future.

Ted Bretons Married 50 Years

Expected Home Soon From Miami, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Breton of Ideal Beach, Middletown township, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary February 21 with a party at Miami, Fla., where they are spending the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Breton have been in the real estate business at Ideal Beach for the past 20 years. Mr. Breton is also justice of the peace. They are expected home soon.

Jack Kofod, Miami Herald columnist, had the following to say about the Bretons in his column of February 19: "In these days of quick marriages and fast divorces, the case of Ted and Corinne Breton is one for the books. They have been together for 50 years. Corinne's mother took her to Kofod and Blais' music hotel. After seeing some of the acts, the little girl began to cry. 'Me next,' and was not satisfied until one of the ushers led her onto the stage and let her walk across."

"That was her start in show business. By the time Corinne was engaged to a Rockaway Beach theater, while playing on the sands a man watched her and said to a friend, 'When she grows up I'm going to marry that girl.'"

"He was Ted Breton, who was booked into the same theater as Corinne. He whipped up an act, which opened at the Strand theater in Philadelphia 50 years ago this month. These two worked together for 50 years. When the girl was 20, they were married."

"Corinne says: 'Ted is an invalid now, but his brilliant mind and loving nature are the same. He always will be the idol, who taught me all I know, and we are the same sweethearts we were when we were six and he was 20 years older.'"

New Zoning Law Passed By Council At Little Silver

Business, Residential Areas Re-defined; Lot Minimums Set

Little Silver's mayor and council Tuesday night passed on first reading an ordinance revising the former zoning law in the borough. Major changes include stretching the home frontages in some sections from 50 to 75 feet and also, in a few instances making acre lots mandatory.

The new ordinance will, provided it is adopted at the March 23 meeting, extend the business section from the railroad station north on Branch avenue. The minimum size of any proposed lots will be 50 by 150 feet. The proposed ordinance is printed in its entirety elsewhere in this issue of The Register.

The new law sets out the various types of residential and business zones and is intended to clarify the former ordinance. It is the product of more than a year's work by a committee headed by Mr. J. Taylor, executive director of the Green, William Cogan, Winfield S. Walnwright and Salem Davis. Its passage will mark the completion of one of the major programs Mayor Frank M. Gregory embarked upon when he took office.

Other business of the meeting included a report from Councilman Joseph C. Davoren concerning the condition of borough streets. He said a preliminary check showed that the borough might be $5,000 or $6,000 short of funds needed to repair road damage due to the winter's storms.

The D. C. Hembling Construction company received council's permission to build five houses on a 300-foot frontage area known as the old Hurley tract. Mr. Walnwright, the building inspector, said the permits for the houses would be issued after the ordinance is passed.

Speaking of the subject of taxes, one upon which he is deemed by many as an expert, Mr. Hendrickson said "our whole tax structure needs overhauling." "Too many tax powers are vested in the federal government," he said, and "certain types of taxes should be allocated to the states. Why should we have a federal gas tax? In New Jersey we frequently pay too much and get back too little."

Howard W. Roberts, county counsel, expressed pleasure following the senatorial primary candidate's talk at the enthusiasm of those present, and made a motion that the group unanimously endorse Mr. Hendrickson, which was seconded by Richard W. Stout.

To Break Ground For New Church

Easter Service At Highlands

Ground breaking services for the new Methodist church at Highlands will be held Easter Sunday, March 22, according to an announcement by the church trustees. The former church was destroyed by fire in February, 1947.

Shortly after the fire, the trustees started a campaign for a new church. The original goal was $70,000, but this figure has since been cut to $60,000. William Taylor of Little Silver, a member of the New York architect firm of Perez and Taylor, was instructed to draw plans and specifications for the new church.

Rev. J. Hillman Coffee, pastor, said Tuesday that there is $47,000 available, cash or in pledges. The work will start and the remainder of the money needed is not raised, the project will be stopped when the available money is spent.

The church board has selected a new building committee consisting of Mayor A. Meade Robertson, Clarence Matthews, J. Lester Why, and William C. Fahner. It was field and announced that Fred Kiefer and Daniel Mills have resigned from the board.

The trustees named Mrs. Hattie Walstrom as head of the Sunday school. Mrs. William Fahner as head of the W.S.C.S., and Mrs. Alice Johnson to lead the Fellowship circle.

G.O.P. Leaders Pledge Support To Hendrickson

State Treasurer Is Aspirant For U. S. Senate Post

State Treasurer Robert C. Hendrickson, aspirant for the G.O.P. nomination for U. S. Senator, received a public endorsement from Rep. James C. Auchincloss in an announcement made known at a luncheon Friday at the American hotel in Freehold. Speaking at the luncheon, Mr. Hendrickson urged action to limit the spread of Communism "in its tracks," and called for closer co-operation between federal and state legislators and an overhauling of "our whole tax structure." The party leaders at the reception pledged their support to Mr. Hendrickson.

County Chairman J. Russell Woolley revealed Mr. Auchincloss' endorsement as he told of a call he received from the Congressman in Washington Sunday morning wishing him the best of luck. The county chairman quoted Mr. Auchincloss as saying it would be a pleasure to campaign with Mr. Hendrickson and "to work with him in Washington."

Mr. Woolley said, in introducing Mr. Hendrickson, that he was "being drafted for this job." The luncheon came several hours after the announcement by Sen. Albert W. Hawkes that he would not seek re-nomination. Mr. Woolley said that both "Hawkes and Harper (Harry C. Harper, who is opposing Mr. Hendrickson for the nomination) are unfair to Governor Driscoll in attempting to make the people think he forced candidates on them." He said that he had attended the meeting at which senatorial candidates were discussed and "Governor Driscoll forced no one on anyone."

In his discussion of the problem of Communism, Mr. Hendrickson, who returned recently from Europe, said, "All you see in the newspapers is not only true, but an understatement." Mr. Hendrickson added, "The movement of Communism is going to increase unless we stop it in its tracks—and right soon."

"Action must be taken," he continued, "to save the free people of Europe. But first we must be strong at home." He said that there was a need in Congress for understanding between federal legislators "and the people back home." He said too many of the legislators "seem to get away from the people." In what he promised would be his first and last reference in his campaign to Senator Hawkes, Mr. Hendrickson said that one of the causes for such a lack of co-operation "has been eliminated today."

Mr. Hendrickson said as he praised Senator H. Alexander Smith, that he was "one of the first real statesmen we have had in many, many years."

Speaking of the subject of taxes, one upon which he is deemed by many as an expert, Mr. Hendrickson said "our whole tax structure needs overhauling." "Too many tax powers are vested in the federal government," he said, and "certain types of taxes should be allocated to the states. Why should we have a federal gas tax? In New Jersey we frequently pay too much and get back too little."

Howard W. Roberts, county counsel, expressed pleasure following the senatorial primary candidate's talk at the enthusiasm of those present, and made a motion that the group unanimously endorse Mr. Hendrickson, which was seconded by Richard W. Stout.

Notice To Our Subscribers

Beginning with the issue of the Red Bank Register of Thursday, April 1 the subscription price of The Register will be $3 per year, $2 for six months and $1.50 for three months, payable in advance. For many years the subscription price of The Register has been $2.50 per year. For a long time we have been considering advancing the subscription price per year by 50 cents, but hesitated to do so, although the increasing costs of publishing The Register were continually mounting. It now becomes imperative for us to make this decision.

We extend the courtesy to the present subscribers of The Register or any new subscribers to take advantage of our present rate of $2.50 per year between now and April 1, but at the $2.50 rate we will accept only a one-year renewal.

Civic Group To Elect Governors

Plan General Session For Middletown Area

The board of governors of the Middletown Neighborhood association will meet Friday, March 19, to map plans for a village-wide membership meeting in April according to an announcement by Henry L. Kramer, chairman of the board. Purpose of the membership meeting, which has been tentatively slated for April 23, will be to make a direct report to Middletown area residents on the accomplishments of the Neighborhood association in the past year.

"For a year now, we have been carrying on an extensive program involving civic improvements," Mr. Kramer, well known architect, said. "It is time to make an accounting of our stewardship."

Five new candidates for board membership will be sought at the April meeting to replace five whose terms are expiring. The full board, made up of 15, is staggered by one, two, and three-year terms. No board member can succeed himself.

A program of entertainment will follow the April business meeting according to George T. Deneen, who is in charge of organizing the public session.

Scheduled to attend the March 19 meeting are Governors R. C. Baird, Margaret B. Bartlett, Lily Collins, Thelma K. Joffe, Morton W. Lieberman, Sylvester Morris, Anne T. Elker, Clayton S. Shoemaker, Edwin H. Stanley, A. J. Van Horne, Joseph E. Labovoy, William Conover, Russell F. Anderson, Mr. Kramer and Mr. Deneen. The meeting will be held at the Lieberman residence.

A report also will be given at Friday's meeting on the results of the public utility commission hearing at Newark, March 10 over curtailed railroad schedules in Middletown village. The association, through its transportation committee, headed by Joseph Baxter, Jr., has been spearheading a fight against poor railroad service. This same committee represented the village in the recent protests over commutation fare increases.

Margaret Bartlett, head of the education committee, will make a report on the board of education's reaction to a suggestion, by the township university, be allowed to make a survey on the township educational set-up before a $500,000 school expansion program, now being considered, is voted upon.

The Neighborhood association, which was incorporated and registered at Trenton last June, is actively seeking the cooperation of similar groups in Monmouth county in order to coordinate action on matters of mutual interest such as commuting schedules and education.

Since its inception, the Neighborhood association has successfully fought a liquor application in the village, blocked zoning law changes that would have allowed a factory to operate within the village limits, forced condemnation proceedings on dangerous buildings, required adherence to building codes which were being violated, and brought about a state-sponsored traffic survey at five corners.

ASBURY LANDMARK CLOSED

Fowler's drug store at 806 Fifth avenue in Asbury Park, perhaps the last landmark of the days when North Asbury Park was a community by itself, closed Monday. Jesse Fowler purchased the store in 1915, but a drug store had been operating on the site for many years previous. The fixtures and furnishings, which are about 85 years old, came from the Hotel Endicott in New York city. The museum of art at Philadelphia is seeking to purchase the complete furnishings of the store, but it is unable to finance the deal at present. The Metropolitan museum in New York wants items of this type only if they are over 100 years old.

Pt. Lauderdale, Fla., has 263 miles of waterways, half of which are navigable by light craft.

Anderson Given Jail Sentence

Telephone Worker
Gets 1 To 3-Year Term

Charles Anderson, 56, of 364 West Park avenue, Oakhurst, was sentenced Thursday by Judge J. Edward Knight to state prison for one to three years for the embezzlement of $23,000 from the New Jersey Bell Telephone company during the last seven years.

Judge Knight declared that he was being very lenient in imposing sentence because the telephone company and the indemnity company, which posted bond for Anderson, had both interested for him. He said that it had not been for their intercession he would not have hesitated to impose the maximum sentence.

Anderson, who entered a non-vult plea before Judge Knight February 2, worked for the telephone company for 37 years. His duties during the period when he embezzled the funds included emptying pay phone coin boxes and auditing the money collected from them. Alvin E. Newman, Asbury Park attorney representing Anderson, appealed to the judge for 15 minutes to show clemency, arguing that Anderson had led an exemplary life in his community and that he had made restitution.

Judge Knight said that Anderson had known what he was doing, and that "certainly he knew he was violating the law." He did not feel that the fact that the defendant had made restitution was cause for mitigation. However, the fact that the telephone company and bonding company did not seek possession, and the fact that Anderson was no longer eligible for a pension with the telephone company led him to be "very lenient in this case."

Anderson voluntarily committed himself to Marlboro, but a report from Dr. J. Berkeley Gordon indicated "absolutely nothing wrong with him and no psychiatric abnormality."

Judge Knight said that most of the money which was taken had been invested wisely and that the $3,000 profit made on the investment would be returned to Anderson, while the bonding company would keep only the $23,000.

Letters from reputable and outstanding members of the community and church received by Judge Knight attested to Anderson's fine record. Judge Knight added that his colleague, Judge John C. Giordano, said that he had known the defendant a long time and was shocked to learn of the charge.

Local Police Request

Detainers For Bronx Men

Red Bank Police Chief Harry T. VanNote, Sr., has requested the prosecutor's office to file detainers for two Bronx men arrested in New York Saturday night for the theft of a car here Wednesday night of last week. The men were arrested on charges of 18 thefts in the New York area and for suspicion in connection with New Jersey thefts, including the car theft here.

The men, Edgar Martin and William English, Jr., have admitted thefts of trucks from a Long Island laundry and thefts of material from lumber yards and taverns on Long Island. When they were arrested the keys of a car owned by Jean R. Conover of Tinton Falls were found in their possession. Red Bank police records show that thieves broke into Frank Syckle's garage at 142 West Front street late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning of last week and stole the Conover car, which was being stored for the winter. They also stole $50 worth of tools from the garage.

Keyport Club Raises $2,000 For Canteen

The goal of the Keyport Kiwanis club drive to raise $2,000 to expand facilities for the youth canteen, sponsored by Keyport post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has been topped according to a report made by Harvey G. Hartman, general chairman. The chairman stated that $2,200 has been obtained by a house-to-house canvass and through special gifts.

Mr. Hartman explained that donations are still being received and that on Saturday, March 13 in the V.F.W. canteen a check for the amount collected in the drive will be presented by the Kiwanis club to the V.F.W.

"I am sure," Mr. Hartman said, "that the results of this campaign have proved that the residents of Keyport are aware of the necessity for providing adequate and wholesome youth recreational facilities. The returns from the campaign have been most generous and the reception of the campaign heartening to the sponsors," he added.

RED BANK MEN SENTENCED

Richard Savastano, 26, of 41 Drummond avenue, Red Bank, was given a one to three-year suspended sentence in state prison, placed on probation for one year and ordered to pay costs for possession of a machine gun. He pleaded non-vult February 24.

John "Bebe" West of Red Bank was ordered to Rahway reformatory for an indeterminate period for larceny of a motor vehicle and was given a suspended sentence for assault with intent to rape. He had pleaded non-vult to both indictments.

Chamber Getting Ready Early For Holiday Display

Monmouth Street
And Shrewsbury Ave.
Should Be Included

The March bulletin of the Red Bank Community Chamber of Commerce made its appearance last week and there is an appeal therein to merchants to send in their contributions to the chamber office toward the elaborate electric display next Christmas season. Voluntary contributions are based at the rate of $2 per front foot on street-floor establishments and $25 flat for other floor businesses as of this date. The committee hopes it will be able to add Monmouth street and Shrewsbury avenue to the streets decorated the past season, but this, of course, depends upon the remittance received from these areas.

The Chamber is proposing a courtesy and retail clinic. The idea is for the sales folks in the stores to have a refresher course in retailing in order to give customers better service.

New members of the chamber are Steinbach company, 121 Broad street, and the Red Bank Parcel Delivery, 53 Chestnut street.

President David W. Russell has announced the appointment of Frank A. Smith of Sears Roebuck and company's Red Bank store as a new director of the chamber.

According to the bulletin Red Bank led the United States in food purchases in 1947, averaging $443 per person, and that retail sales in Red Bank are nearly three times that of the national average. The bulletin also states the Second National Bank and Trust company of Red Bank has more deposits than any other bank in Monmouth county, and Red Bank has more regular daily train commuters than any other town in Monmouth county.

New residents of Red Bank or those who made recent changes of addresses are William Lamberson, Chapin avenue; Aaron Breslow, Roy E. Gerard, Love Lane Bridal shoppe and George Allotta, West Front street; Astrid S. Dagsvarian, East Front street; Patsy N. Ricci, Bank street; William H. Robinson and Barry Speer, Leighton avenue; Raymond P. O'Neill, Jr., and Cornelius Avery, Shrewsbury avenue; Charles H. Orchid Promenade Has A $1,000 Prize

The annual orchid promenade, to be staged on the Asbury Park boardwalk Easter Sunday, will be climaxed with the award of a $1,000 ensemble of fashion merchandise to the most smartly dressed woman, from 16 to 60, chosen by the judges from the throngs of holiday strollers. Judges riding along the walk in roller chairs, will select 100 of the most smartly attired strollers, who will receive corsages of orchids. The $1,000 fashion ensemble will be presented to the outstanding winner among the 100 orchid recipients as they parade across the stage in Convention hall to receive their corsages. Among the judges who will make the selections, will be outstanding personalities from the stage, radio and field of fashion. The event is officially sponsored by the city of Asbury Park as the opening of the resort season.

Rotarians To Visit Seaside Park Tonight

A delegation of Red Bank Rotarians will attend charter night at Seaside Park tonight. Long Branch, Asbury Park, Point Pleasant, Lakewood, Freehold and Matawan are also sending representatives.

The Rotarians are asked to reserve Tuesday and Wednesday, April 13 and 14, for the district conference which will be held at Asbury Park. Past President of Rotary International Thomas Warren will be the speaker at the dinner April 13, and Past District Governor Samuel Kessinger of the 182d district will be the speaker at the luncheon meeting April 14. Both affairs will be held in the Berkeley-Carteret hotel.

Marine-View Savings & Loan Ass'n Provides Easy Home Financing

The Marine View Savings and Loan Association of Atlantic Highlands, now in its tenth year of operation, continues to show a steady increase in assets and in members' savings accounts. The assets as of December 31, 1947, amounted to $1,623,495.32, an increase of $187,145.58 over the year 1946. Members' Savings accounts now aggregate $1,282,273.52 or an increase of $287,456.31 over the year 1946. These savings accounts are held by 735 members who have insurance on their accounts up to $5,000 as provided by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an instrumentality of the United States Government. Included in the assets are first mortgage loans on homes amounting to $1,386,975.77. United States Government Bonds of $104,000.00, stock in the Federal Home Loan Bank of New York of $25,000.00 and cash on deposit of $58,064.29. Reserves and Undivided Profits now aggregate $155,546.76, which is over 10% of share liability and which reflects the strong position of this progressive savings and lending institution.

The Association is very active in the mortgage lending field and has ample funds for the purchase, construction or reconduction of homes or for the purpose of refinancing existing mortgages on homes. The directors, officers and staff of the Association will extend any service possible to borrowers making application for mortgage loans for any of the above purposes.

The Association believes that this is one of the best and safest ways for the Federal Housing Administration for the purpose of making FHA Title I loans. These loans are for the purpose of improving, repairing or remodeling existing homes and the procedure to obtain such loans is very simple. The borrower signs a note for the loan and there is no bond and mortgage required, thereby eliminating the fees required in connection with a mortgage loan. The loan is repaid over a period of one to three years out of the borrower's income and this is a very satisfactory and convenient way for home owners to obtain the necessary funds to protect the investment they have in their homes.

The Marine View Savings and Loan Association is especially interested in service possible to borrowers

Waterbury Progressive Real Estate Firm

From a small office on Oakland street in 1925 to the large, well-staffed present offices at 16 West Front street is the story of the progress of Tolston Waterbury, Red Bank realtor. Beginning as a one-man agency nearly 25 years ago, Mr. Waterbury has become one of the leading realtors of the Red Bank area, and is responsible for some of the most important real estate transactions negotiated in the shore region.

Recently returned from Florida, Mr. Waterbury stated: "It is always good to return to Red Bank. Each time I make a short trip I seem to sense the changes that are occurring almost daily here in Red Bank. It is my belief that within a very few short years Red Bank will become one of the leading residential locations in the state. More New Yorkers than ever before are learning of the advantages of our community. I look to see sweeping changes in the appearance of our business center." It is this kind of thinking that has been responsible for the growth and development of Mr. Waterbury's real estate business.

Believing that the interests of the region are of prime importance and are best served by careful planning, Mr. Waterbury's staff are constantly offering their services as real estate counselors. In approaching the real estate market in this manner, the Waterbury organization has been able to save considerable time for clients and has had unusual success in securing fine properties for them.

In addition to real estate sales the Waterbury organization offers rental service, mortgage loans, appraisals and insurance. Property listings include homes, farm lands, income properties, commercial buildings and summer houses.

Mr. Waterbury has long been associated with various local civic and fraternal groups and presently holds membership in the Rotary club, Red Bank Elks club, United States Power Squadron, United States Coast Guard auxiliary, the Monmouth County Insurance Agency association and is vice president of the Monmouth County Board of Realtors.

Wilhelmina Dobbins Widely Acclaimed As Local Fashion Center

This is the time of the year when many women are interested in a new spring wardrobe. When the better-dressed women of Red Bank and environs speak about clothes, their conversation generally reverts to Wilhelmina Dobbins & Company, as they know this long established firm will have the kind of apparel that is illustrated in the leading fashion magazines.

Thanks to quality merchandise and the recommendations of satisfied customers, Wilhelmina Dobbins & Company at 63 Riverside avenue, has become the Mecca for fashionable women.

The business was expanded into a company about a year ago when Mrs. Dobbins took as her partner Miss Elsie deCamp, noted designer formerly with Josephine Sanders of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Tina Rusch, a renowned stylist with Mary Black of London. A new innovation, a bridal department, has met with popular favor as held under the personal supervision of these ladies, a bride and her attendants can be completely outfitted in ready-to-wear or custom-made gowns.

As fashions must be ordered months ahead, dresses are chosen on the reliable basis of fine materials, original design, practicality and that exclusive quality known as good style. Several days each week are spent in New York city selecting new models personally from the same houses that

Patterson Agency Offers Valuable Insurance Advice

Statistics have proven that insurance is of incalculable value to every business, regardless of size; and a necessary protection from damage to life, limb or personal property. Many people think of insurance as merely accumulations of money. They picture corporations taking it in with one hand and paying it out with the other. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The real meaning of insurance is freedom from worry over financial matters.

The C. Irving Patterson Agency at 60 Broad street, Red Bank, is one of the old established and reliable insurance firms in this section of the county. Miss Dorothy M. Schlichting, who has owned and operated the business for the past ten years, is well informed in general insurance and is always at your service for information or advice on any matter pertaining to insurance for the protection of your business or investments, also personal injury, accident or sickness.

Miss Schlichting points out that a large percentage of people today are under-insured. As everyone knows, the replacement cost of a house has more than doubled since 1933, yet few have increased the insurance on their homes sufficiently to protect themselves. Also the cost of furniture has had an appreciable increase, and most people have neglected to increase their household furniture coverage. Many people do not realize that in the event of accident on premises that they own or rent, the tenant's owner is financially liable. For a small sum each year you can be relieved of this worry.

The C. Irving Patterson Agency represents only the leading, first-line insurance companies. When you place your insurance with this agency, you will have the proper coverage in a well established company that specializes in the particular type of insurance you require.

Hazards are ever increasing, and it is only through the medium of insurance that we are able to gaze into the future with absolute security.

First National Bank, Eatontown, Maintains Record Of Integrity

The First National Bank of Eatontown was organized November 16, 1911, when that borough was not the thriving community it is today. The bank opened for business April, 1912, and rapidly attained the confidence and trust of the townspeople. The borough and the bank have in reality grown together, each serving the other. As the borough grew, so did the deposits in the bank increase; reflecting the prosperity of the borough and the sound conservative banking services offered the public.

The responsibility for the foundation and progress of the bank can be credited to the ability and foresight of the original officers and directors: Melvin A. Vankoot, president; Joseph W. Johnston, vice president; J. W. Conrow, cashier. Directors: Otto Applegate, Henry I. Schanck, George Wilkins, Jr., William I. Conover, Henry Wolcott, Harry M. McKaig, Melvin A. VanKeuren, Joseph W. Johnston, George A. Stelle, Anthony Deed-meyer and J. W. Conrow.

The First National Bank of Eatontown has continuously met the requirements of the residents of the borough and surrounding communities for all forms of banking and it takes pride in the broad coverage and complete services they offer the public. The officers are always pleased to confer with clients relative to personal loans, mortgages, business loans, savings accounts, checking accounts, investments or any other matter of a financial nature. The bank is a member of the Federal Reserve System and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

From the earliest years of the bank's history and continuing on down to the present, the bank has been under the direction of a board of directors and officers who have combined within themselves the best element of progress and conservatism. While a relatively small group, it has been composed of men of widely varied activities. This policy has supplied continuity of good management, and the public can be assured that the same policy pursued in the years to come will give them the same type of management they have enjoyed in the past 36 years.

The present officers of the First National Bank of Eatontown are: Seely B. Tuthill, president; George B. Whitfield, vice president and cashier; Daniel S. Weiland, vice president and counsel, and Charles F. McMenamy, assistant cashier.

Albert S. Miller Co. Oldest, Largest Shoe Firm In The County

The Albert S. Miller Shoe Company, now one of the largest and oldest retailers of men's and women's footwear in Monmouth county, is the outgrowth of a small business that was originally started over 100 years ago. Back in 1846, a retail shoe store was established at No. 18 Broad street, Red Bank, and it has been a going concern at the same address, continuously and without interruption, although operated under several ownerships.

The first proprietors were John Bergen & Son, who conducted the business until 1900, when it was sold to Ford & Miller. The next change in ownership occurred in 1912, when Albert S. Miller purchased the business from Benjamin Ford. The present owners, Albert S. Miller Shoe Company, was organized in 1937 by Albert S. Miller, his son, William A. Miller, and Benjamin A. Crate. Since 1941 the business has been operated by Benjamin A. Crate and William A. Miller, son of the late Albert S. Miller.

The Albert S. Miller Shoe Company maintains a merited reputation in the trade through modern merchandising and reliable business methods. The firm is recognized as the shoe stylist of Monmouth county, as they carry an exceptionally large and complete stock; all standard brands of the best manufacturers. The Miller Shoe Store is a very modern, well appointed retail establishment, comparing favorably with any metropolitan high grade shoe store.

Right now, with the spring season just around the corner, this firm has a good selection of the latest fashions in footwear for the entire family. Among the brands are: Florsheim, and Nun Bush shoes for men; Gold Cross, Selby's, Style-see, Selby Arch Preserver, Florsheim, Hill & Dale and Rice-O'Neill shoes for women. For the children, Stride Rite and Pro-Tek-Tiv, and also Daniel Greys's Comfy for women and Evans slippers for men.

The successful shoe merchants of today must be particularly careful that every customer receives the kind of footwear that not only attracts the eye, but also the type of shoe that will be comfortable and accurately fit the feet. Shoes are the one item of apparel that must be absolutely correct, and it is therefore advantageous to trade at a store where the exclusive business is the selling and fitting of footwear. The Albert S. Miller Shoe Company meets this requirement.

Frank Seigfried Leading Merchant In Bayshore Area

Fifteen years ago Frank Seigfried opened a small hardware store at 115 First avenue, Atlantic Highlands. Realizing from the start of his business career that the only sure way to win and hold customers was to sell only the best products and give dependable service, it has since proven a successful venture. In 1940, larger quarters were required and the business was removed to his own building at 117 First avenue, and today this store is one of the leading retail establishments serving the residents throughout the Bay Shore area.

The Seigfried store carries a complete and varied assortment of merchandise. Space does not permit us to list all the various items as it really runs into several thousands. Suffice to state that it consists of general hardware, marine hardware, boat supplies, mechanics' equipment, supplies for contractors, builders and plumbers; farm implements. The housefurnishing section of the store is well stocked with all that is new and modern in kitchenware, garden and lawn supplies, household paints, gifts; also the standard makes of radios, Bendix home laundry equipment.

Under the heading of "Norge" washing machines, there are various household electrical appliances.

Frank Seigfried thoroughly understands the hardware business and modern merchandising methods. He has kept abreast of the times and in close touch with the needs and requirements of the residents in the communities he serves; always offering reasonable products of dependable manufacturers. The store is known as a reliable place of supply for all contractors' materials, tools and equipment. Remember the business slogan at Seigfried's store is "Yes, We Have It."

Frank Seigfried has always been one of the progressive merchants in Atlantic Highlands, and the progress he has made in the past few years is surely deserving of public comment. He has always taken an active interest in civic affairs for the welfare of the borough.

To those who intend to send flowers or a growing plant to a friend or relative for this joyous holiday, may we suggest a visit to the greenhouses of Bridle & Latham; as there you will find an unusual selection of flowers and plants, many especially designed for Easter.

Howland Jones Motor Co. Retains Prestige For Reliable Service

The automobile industry has made vast strides forward in the past 20 years, and the Howland B. Jones Motor Company of Red Bank has steadily kept in pace with the trend of the times. Through extensive research and experimental work the industry has built better automobiles, and by constant installation of all the modern equipment and facilities, the Howland B. Jones Motor Company has offered local motorists the best in servicing and repairing all makes of cars.

The firm started business in 1927 under the trade name of H. B. Jones Cadillac Company, and in 1932 when Mr. Jones became the local Oldsmobile distributor in addition to the Cadillac dealer, the name was changed to the present title, Howland B. Jones Motor Company. It is a complete organization, active in every branch of the industry, and among the leading automobile dealers in this section of Monmouth county.

The new 1948 Cadillac and the Futuramic Oldsmobile are now on display at their showroom, located at 8 Maple avenue. While awaiting delivery on one of these popular cars, we suggest that the best way to keep your old car in good condition is to have the mechanics of this firm give it a good check-up and overhauling. Regular inspection prevents those little annoying troubles from becoming major repair jobs at a later date, and "Blue Coral" is a new process of polishing that protects the finish of the car.

The service department is widely acclaimed by local motorists for its prompt and reliable workmanship. Fred Langendorf, manager of the service department, formerly held the same position with the Packard Motor company. He has been connected with the Jones firm for the past three years, and several of his factory trained mechanics have also been with the firm several years. Modern merchandising methods and equipment keep charges reasonable and on a large overhauling job, convenient terms can be arranged.

Careful motorists have long realized that when the Howland B. Jones Motor company service their cars, the work will be done correctly the first time and they will have no further trouble from the same source. The prominence attained through the years is the result of dependable products, efficient workmanship and prompt courteous service.

Road-Ad Service Design Modern Neon Displays

The manufacturing and designing of Neon displays and signs is an art that requires skill and experience; as they are used not only to attract the eyes of the public, but also to obtain the desired results of publicity. Many of the large and attractive Neon signs used by business firms throughout Monmouth and Ocean counties, were executed and designed by the Road-Ad Service, Inc., located at 49 South Main street, Asbury Park.

The Road-Ad Service, Inc., now one of the largest manufacturers of electrical displays in this part of the state, is the outgrowth of a small sign shop started about 40 years ago by Jacob Slavin. The original business venture was in painting commercial signs along the highways; hence the trade name. When Julius and Harold Slavin, sons of the founder, became active members of the firm, the activities centered around the new and modern Neon displays and Cold Cathode fluorescent lighting for stores, offices and factories.

The Road-Ad Service has the latest appliances and equipment of the trade and experienced mechanics, therefore they can turn out the kind of Neon work and Cold Cathode installations that are most effective. Julius and Harold Slavin thoroughly understand the various requirements of the business and offer suggestions and ideas so that their customers will have Neon displays that are different and out of the ordinary.

There is no contract for any kind of Neon sign work or Cold Cathode lighting that is too large for this firm to handle successfully, and none too small to receive their usual prompt attention. They will gladly submit an estimate and in many cases the cost may be less than anticipated due to their modern merchandising methods and volume of business.

Road-Ad Service, Inc., finishes all contracts exactly as per specifications, all work is guaranteed and every effort is made to have the job completed at the time specified. A phone call will bring a representative to give you information and new ideas on Neon displays.

Harry's Lobster House Noted For Variety On Menu

When someone in the party asks "where shall we go tonight for dinner," some place that features seafood is the answer with many residents of Red Bank and environs to get into the car and do not stop (except for traffic lights) until they arrive at Harry's Lobster House at 1124 Ocean avenue, Sea Bright. This popular restaurant follows the pattern of the best New York seafood places—personalized supervision, all fresh fish and shell food expertly prepared and cooked to please the most exacting customer.

George Krauss, the owner of this establishment, personally collects his seafood from the daily catch at the markets, to insure its freshness and quality. No order leaves the open front kitchen until it has passed the inspection of the experienced chef. The public is always welcome to inspect this kitchen and see the exact care that is taken in the preparation of seafood, the immaculate cooking utensils and the huge ovens and broilers.

Harry's Lobster House is now serving the public for the 28th consecutive season. It has long been famous for superior cuisine that satisfied expensive tastes inexpensively. Broiled lobster of the choice quality, is one of the house specialties. Oysters and shell fish are never opened or prepared until the waiter gets an order from the patron. The menu offers all seafood in season and at the top of the list is a delicious shore dinner.

The bar at Harry's Lobster House is attractive and inviting. It is supervised by a master bartender and as it is well stocked with the popular brands, just order your favorite cocktail to be made with your particular liquor, and it will be served exactly as you like it.

George Krauss caters to many banquets as his establishment has facilities and the necessary equipment to serve about 300 people. Many organizations, meetings, and private parties hold their social functions regularly at this popular restaurant. For your further enjoyment while dining, or just to while away a pleasant evening; Wilber Gardner, well known entertainer, will be at the piano to play your favorite songs.

The Lo Piccolos Planning Many New Innovations

The owners of the Candle Light Gift Shop and the Fair Haven Market are making extensive plans to keep pace with the rapid growth of their favorite community—Fair Haven—which, according to Joe and Peg Lo Piccolo, is the best residential spot on earth. Several years ago in The Register, Joe predicted that Fair Haven would grow by leaps and bounds. He adopted a slogan: "Shop in Fair Haven and Watch It Grow." And grow it did. Today it is one of the promising communities in Monmouth county.

We learned from Joe some secrets about his plans for 1948, and also that the Fair Haven Market will soon be wearing a "new look." The latest model frozen food cabinets have already been installed and are operating successfully, and a new International panel delivery truck is in service. A different line of merchandise, exclusive in this territory, will be introduced to the public. Already many new products and delicacies are arriving from New Orleans and the Southwest that Joe purchased during his recent trip South. Also new and modern methods will be adopted, which will make available better merchandise at lower prices.

Peg Lo Piccolo, has outgrown her Candle Light Gift shop in the past two years, and is now in the throes of planning and remodeling the shop according to her own ideas of what a gift shop should really be. She purchased the original Candle Light building adjoining the postoffice and had it moved across the street alongside the Lo Piccolos residence and Joe's Fair Haven Market.

Imports and California candies are arriving daily for her shop, which Peg purchased at the New York gift show last month. Many new and exciting numbers will be given "first showings" in April, as well as some new, exclusive lines designed for the Candle Light by local craftsmen. The Candle Light shop will reopen as soon as alterations are completed, the exact date to be announced later. In the meantime, all gift sales are being made from the Fair Haven Market, where Peg has set up a unique Easter parade of bunnies, cards, candles and toys.

A visit to Fair Haven's two most progressive shops will prove an adventure for gracious living. The Fair Haven Market is always out for customers and visitors alike, so why don't you stop in and visit with Joe and Peg at the Fair Haven Market. "For those who enjoy good things" and the Candle Light shop "For gifts that are different."

Douglas Electric Repair, Service All Type Motors

The most important of any electrical machinery is the motor, that apparatus which makes the wheels go around. No machine, large or small can give the desired results unless the motor is kept in good condition. Regardless of how careful one may be, motors will get out of order due to ordinary wear and tear; and when this happens the services of the Douglas Electric company can be of incalculable assistance as they specialize in this branch of the electrical industry.

Douglas Electric company is located at 35 East Front street, Red Bank, and during the 16 years it has been established, has attained a county-wide trade. The firm has the necessary facilities, equipment and experienced mechanics for the repairing, rewinding and overhauling of motors of any size or type; and as a consequence they number among their customers manufacturers, plants, retail stores, home owners and motorists. Manufacturers and retail merchants depend on the Douglas Electrical company to keep their motors and ventilating fans in good running order; home owners require their services for refrigerators, air burners, washing machines, water pumps and air conditioning units. Motorists know from experience that this firm offers dependable work on ignition, motor tuneup, carburetors, bat-

The Wittenberg Nursery Reliable Source Of Supply

Some of the most beautiful established and homes in Monmouth county are located in the Red Bank area, and the grounds of many of them show the results of landscaping done by William H. and August Wittenberg. Many dwellings throughout this locality have acquired a beautiful setting through correct placing of shrubs by these able craftsmen.

The Wittenberg Nurseries, located on Monmouth road, Oceanport, has attained high repute in all branches of the landscaping and nursery business, and their 20 years of experience is passed on to many customers who want fine nursery stock. They have the facilities and equipment to handle orders of any size or requirements, and their efficient method is your assurance that the results of their work will prove very satisfactory.

Shrubs and plants exert a powerful influence on the beauty, or lack of beauty, to the average dwelling. Indifferent planting, however, will not achieve the desired purpose, and like any other business, landscaping must be studied and applied in the work that is done correctly and the ground surrounding the home made more attractive.

Many of the evergreens, shrubs and plants that one sees on numerous estates throughout the county have probably been grown at the Wittenberg Nurseries. You can depend upon their nursery stock to be of the finest quality, and under the proper care, cannot fail to become an indispensable part of the decorative plans of landscaping. The use of planting materials is the surest sign of culture and prosperity in any community.

Wittenberg Nurseries offer a complete and economical nursery service that will meet the approval of the most particular home owner. Charges are reasonable, and on a large contract convenient terms can be arranged. Nursery stock is not an expense, simply a small investment that almost invariably returns many times the cost, by the added value, beauty and improvements to your property.

Scott Funeral Home Faithfully Serves Bereaved

Every thinking man and woman upon whom the responsibility of making funeral arrangements may some day fall, is urged to select a funeral director in advance of need. The Scott Funeral Home, located on Church street, Belford, is non-sectarian in character and offers every modern convenience. It has always been a paramount principle of Larry Scott to render a thoughtful and comprehensive service; adhering to the smallest request, so that the services will leave lasting and priceless memories.

Baseball Practice Begins

Coach Thomas Phipps, Red Bank high school baseball coach, called a meeting Monday in room C for all baseball candidates.

Because of baseball practice, there were many boys who could not attend this meeting.

The meeting got under way with Coach Phipps announcing that he will not stress juniors or seniors, but will concentrate his attention on freshmen and sophomores, so that he will have better teams coming up each year. Although freshmen cannot play or accompany the team while traveling, Coach Phipps said he will give a number of freshmen uniforms, so that they will get experience by practicing with the varsity.

Junior-Senior Reception

The committee chairman for the Junior-Senior reception of Red Bank high school were chosen by Walter Stearns, junior class president, and the executive committee of the junior class at a meeting held February 26.

The committee chairmen are: program, Adelaide Hoyt; refreshments, Dean Haviland; invitations, Barbara Kuhl; music, Robert Sumners, and chaperons, Richard Harrison.

The Junior-Senior reception will be held Friday, May 7, and will be given in the gymnasium in Red Bank high school. Miss Ruth Williams is the class adviser.

The decorative motif and the orchestra remain to be chosen at this time. — Cecelia Marmelstein.

Richard Seidenzahl

Red Bank high school has a new seamstress in its midst. Richard Seidenzahl, a sophomore boy, is taking sewing in Miss Elma Repp's home economics class.

Richard says that he enjoys taking sewing, and he has made an apron for his mother. His presence with a group of girls doesn't bother him at all, he says.

Richard says he plans to make a long corduroy jacket. His reason he says for taking this course is that he plans to be a dress designer when he is graduated from high school. — Barbara Estelle.

Girls' Basketball

Red Bank high school's girls' junior basketball team met defeat at the hands of the Asbury Park girls' team in the Red Bank high gymnasium March 2, by the score of 30 to 8. Asbury led at the end of the first period, 7-3.

At the end of the half, Asbury had more than doubled its previous score, while Red Bank made only two points. The score was then 13 to 5 at half time. At the end of the third quarter the score was 26-4 with Asbury in the lead.

After the game, there was an ice cream treat for both the teams.

Players for Red Bank were M. Shomo, Elaine Jordan, Shirley Simms, Doris Wilson, Gloria Sanderson, Alyne Wright, Margie Estelle, Helen Brancadora, Anne Merrill, Rosemond Neal, Barbara Ciglia, Clara Miller, Beverly Bacon, and Josie Puglisi. New Track Coach

Louis J. Jacobs, boys' physical education instructor of Red Bank high school, will assist Vincent Palindino, head track coach, in guiding the Maroon Buccaneers cindermen this year. It was announced by Frank J. Pingitore, director of athletics.

Mr. Jacobs replaces Clement Jablonsky. The new coach will coach both running and field events. The two coaches will divide the chores according to their specialties.

Mr. Jacobs is a former Red Bank high school athlete. He later attended Lafayette college. After graduation in 1934, he was head coach of all sports at Rumson high school, coming to Red Bank in 1941. He served in the armed forces and was discharged as a Lieutenant in the Medical Corps of the Army.

A large squad has been working out at the Red Bank armory under Mr. Palindino. A large task faces the head coach as only seven letter winners are returning to his group. Several meetings have been held for the purpose of showing instructional films in track.

— Robert Wilson.

TASTE THE TRUE-TO-NATURE GOODNESS

There's New Glamour in the Way it Goes

TAKE the glamour of its tapered gracefulness for granted, if you will. One glance tells you it's tops.

Take an inside peek at its newly fashioned interiors — and see if you're not dazzled by the luxury that greets your eyes.

But wait — just wait — till you learn what makes this banner beauty run off with the year's high honors on the highway. Dollars to drachmas — you'll fairly itch to get in and GO!

For now your right foot commands a Fireball power plant that's as eager as a panther on the prowl — yet is so quieted in purr and pulse you barely sense its telltale throb.

Now you slip through traffic or light out cross-country as relaxed as a baby with his bottle — in a body that's bountifully big, cozily cushioned, and insulated against the usual noises of traveling.

Now you experience the first scientific system ever devised to shield a car's ride against road noise, shake and the vibration build-up that previously took advantage of an automobile's tendency to play sound box.

Now you ride the washboard roads and cobbles as though they were carpet — thanks to coil springs all around — plus extra-low-pressure tires, carried on Buick's own wider, more stable Safety-Ride rims.

And last but not best, if a Roadmaster's your choice, you can enjoy the really effortless driving — in a new kind of drive that not only frees you of gearshifting, but that doesn't even shift itself!

It's Dynaflo Drive® — a drive that's devoid of all halt, lag and hesitation through all speed ranges — because here, for the first time, the power plant itself does what gears used to do.

Fact is, you'll find the new Buick sparkling with more than a score of new advances — in ten brilliant models that span three series and give you your choice of three wheel-bases and four power ratings.

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, Mutual Network, Mondays and Fridays

So why dally? Here, certainly, is the dilly of the year for smartness and roominess — for the newest in driving ease and riding relaxation — and for all those basic bounties that are forever Buick's.

Place your order with your dealer now — whether or not you have a car to trade — and hasten the day when you'll reach those motoring heights you hanker for.

*Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster models only.

Cadillac
 PRESENTS
 THE New STANDARD OF THE WORLD!

Today, the world has a new standard by which to measure motor cars. For Cadillac has taken a great stride forward—one of the greatest, perhaps, in its entire history of automotive pioneering. As is always the case when a new Cadillac is introduced, the advancement embraces every phase of automotive goodness. The exterior appearance is wholly new, and represents the soundest principles developed in years of research. Interior design and finish are a complete departure, and add immeasurably to comfort, beauty and convenience. Performance is finer in every way, for the great Cadillac chassis and engine have been thoroughly refined. And vital improvements in factory equipment have raised even Cadillac's high standards of manufacturing. In fact, all the attributes which have contributed to Cadillac's reputation as the world's premier motor car have been made more pronounced. Regardless of the price class from which you expect to select your next car, you are cordially invited to view the new Cadillac—now on display in our showrooms. When the standard of the automotive world has been so decidedly raised, it should be of interest to everyone.

Cadillac's basic characteristics of design are fully apparent in the front view of the 1948 model. Bumper and grille are even more massive. The symbolic V ornament and crest have been pleasingly refined to harmonize with new, low hood lines.

Viewed from the rear, the 1948 Cadillac shows a complete departure in design. The full-width rear window improves appearance and safety. Smart "radiator-type" fenders, protected by sturdy bumper uprights, give an appropriate touch of fleetness. Note the wide, low rear deck.

Alert Patrolman

Saves Safe And $4,000

Patrolman Robert Fleming of Long Branch foiled an attempt early Monday morning by a thief or thieves to carry away a safe containing an estimated $4,000 from the Jersey Central Power and Light company office at 10 Third avenue, Long Branch.

While making a routine check of the Third avenue business district, Patrolman Fleming observed a man in a partitioned section beyond the business office, and immediately fired a shot through the front door. He then rushed to the rear of the building where he found a rear window open but no trace of the thief or thieves. He called headquarters and Patrolmen Benjamin Kaplan, Grozel DeShopie and George Huhn and Detectives Peter F. Hyland, William Walling and Acting Detective Rocco N. Bonforte came to the scene.

Police Chief Thomas J. Marks said the safe had been moved a few feet toward the open window before Patrolman Fleming arrived. The safe, which weighed about 350 pounds, was kept in a wash room in the rear of the office. Chief Marks said that the police were in possession of several good clues which may lead to the identity of the would-be thief or thieves.

CADETS ON HONOR ROLL

Two cadets from Red Bank are among those who earned places on the second quarter honor roll at Bordentown Military Institute.

Cutlery Plant To Be RebuiltMillion Dollar Fire At Englishtown

Over a million dollars' worth of damage was caused by the fire which swept the Englishtown cutlery plant Friday morning. Firemen from five communities battled the fire from 5 o'clock until after 7:30 before the flames were brought into check. They were hampered by freezing water lines and a general lack of water, while the thermometer hovered slightly above zero.

Fire Chief Theodore Narozanick of Englishtown said that the exact cause of the fire was unknown, although it is believed to have been started from a spark in one of the blower fans. Only a guard was on duty when the fire was discovered. He called Police Chief R. B. Vanderhoef and, although the local fire department rushed to the scene, the flames were already shooting high in the air. A call was put out for assistance and companies from Freehold, Marlboro, Hightstown and Jamesburg responded.

Arthur Meyer, vice president of the company, said that the loss, which might reach $1,250,000, was adequately covered by insurance, and that the plant will be rebuilt as soon as possible. In addition to the structure, the burden of the intricate machinery and stock of steel stored in the building. All of the records in the plant were destroyed, but Mr. Meyer said that he thought the most essential records could be pieced together from the company's executive offices in New York. The firm has another plant at Willingford, Conn.

One of the most serious aspects of the fire was the resulting temporary unemployment of the 475 employees. The company, which hired over 1,000 during the war, had employed as many as 900 until recently, when a decline in business forced a lay-off.

Salt Water Fishing License

For years we have realized the importance of creating a fund to be used solely for the purpose of our marine resources, and in order to accomplish this we have advocated that a salt water license be required to fish in the water in New Jersey. Our contention is that money paid for fresh water licenses comes out of the pockets of fresh water anglers and therefore should not be used for any other purpose than to improve fresh water fishing. Every time we have brought this matter up it has met with the same old worn-out argument: "How can you charge a man for fishing in salt water when he has to pay for fishing in fresh water lakes and ponds and rivers, but you have to pay to fish in them, it isn't that you pay to fish in fresh water, but that you pay in order to have fish to fish for. If there were not fish there would be no license. Therefore, before it is too late, let us pay a small amount for the study and research of marine life and the enforcement of present laws."

In line with this comes a tentative outline for a plan to be presented to New Jersey State Federation of Sportsmen's clubs at its next meeting to be held March 18 at the Stacy Trent hotel, Trenton, at 8:30 p. m., as follows:

"Creation of separate tide-water division within the network of the council set-up to act on the vital problems confronting us and our marine resources. Some method of raising revenue to support an adequate tide-water division of the council to promote, study and regulate our important marine resources, including adequate funds to be set aside for the scientific, biological study and research of our marine problems through a seat at Rutgers."

"This is a controversial subject, and is here offered for your consideration and thoughts. We do not think there is any doubt in anyone's mind that our marine fishing is our last standing virgin resource in this and other states here in the most thickly populated area of our nation."

"Every other form of hunting and fishing in our state is 'put and take.' Unless we act wisely and use our tide-water resources well, we will be in the same position not too many years hence. In the past 25 years we have, with you, seen decided changes both in the quantity and quality of fish and shellfish. There is a decided need to increase the minimum length of most of our salt water fishes offered for sale and regulation to mesh size in commercial nets."

"In order to finance this plan it is suggested that there be a $1 salt water license for individuals and 50 cent license for transients, good for 60 days."

"In order not to work any hardship on party-charter and rowboat operators, all persons fishing from these to be covered by set license for unit operation. Charter and party boats, $1 per unit head, based on average capacity of boats operating in state waters. Rowboats $2 per year, tide water only. Commercial interests in the fish and shellfish industry, including the State Fish and Game Council, $45,625.25 for licenses for boats, nets, etc."

How Would the Money Be Used

"Forty-five per cent law enforcement to check violators, check pollution to its source, help in field operation of biologists, etc. Forty per cent of biological survey, laboratory equipment and field equipment, biologists, salt water hatchery development, pollution study as it affects marine life, study of all fishes and their habits and environment, state marine building fund, subject to approval of Marine Research board named by the governor. Fifteen per cent reserve fund, capital building fund, bond payments on same, etc., subject to Marine Research board's approval and state legislature. It can be done if you sportsmen give it your support."

The above is contained in a report by Harry C. Stille, president of the New Jersey State Federation of Sportsmen's clubs. We feel that all this deserves the support of the sportsmen of New Jersey.

A Farmer, Sportsman Speaks

During the week Ted Parmy of Tinton Falls paid us a visit. He was upset about a condition which existed on his farm last hunting season. We have known Mr. Parmy some 40 years, have hunted and fished with him and know him to be a true sportsman. He never refused anyone permission to hunt over his farm, provided the hunter had the good manners to ask that permission. Last season he signed a contract with the Fish and Game Council allowing the state to stock his property, with the understanding that it would be open to the public. "Never again," said Mr. Parmy, "will I allow my farm to be stocked. Swarms of gunners swarmed over my fields, destroying patches of cultivation, tramping down a field of soybeans so that it was nearly impossible to harvest them. Instead of coming to the house and asking if it was all right to hunt, many of them walked across the fields like a swarm of locusts. Other farmers of my acquaintance have had the same experience. No wonder the gunning news are becoming more restricted each year."

In talking about the increase in predators, Mr. Parmy suggested that one possible reason might be that in the old days, when a dollar was a dollar, and hard to get, every boy had a string of traps. They not only trapped muskrats but everything else, including fox, skunk, weasels of opossum. To-day very few boys spend their time trapping. It is easier to ask the 'old man' for a buck," said Mr. Parmy.

We are inclined to agree with him. Certainly predators are on the increase. This fact was brought to our attention after an extended ride with Game Warden Karl Kristiansen covering the territory back of Middletown. There was a light covering of snow and everywhere we went there were tracks of fox and skunk. We also passed several packs of dogs running wild. Between 100,175 hunters, disease, natural enemies and no cover, is there any wonder why upland game shooting in New Jersey is on the way out?

A number of sportsmen's clubs have on record as advocating the shooting of pheasants. We believe this would be a good move for this reason: In recent years natural pheasant propagation in the wild has been practically nil and as it costs as much to liberate a hen bird as a cock, why not allow the hunters to shoot them before they die of other causes?

In talking to the watchman at the Tinton Falls reservoir, Sunday he advised us that there are a number of good sized yellow perch being caught below the falls, and as the water clears up, fishing should improve.

At the present time there are no restrictions for fishing on the company's property below the dam. The gate is open, and you can have your catch up to the river-bank. While at the reservoir we fancied we heard the first feeble peeps of the peepers. Soon they will be in full cry. Tinton Manor reservoir is a beautiful spot to spend a sunny afternoon in the early spring.

Awarded For Catch Of Large Sailfish

John W. Swanson of Crest drive, Little Silver, was aboard the charter boat, "Jean Dare", skippered by Capt. Earl Dare of Brielle, when he caught a 6-ft., 11-in. sailfish last week in Florida waters. He is being awarded a bronze sailfish button by the Stuart Sailfish club which sponsors the annual fishing tournament at Stuart, Fla.

The heaviest sailfish entered to date weighed 87½ pounds and the longest caught by a man measured 8 feet, 4 inches, and by a woman, 7 feet, 10 inches. The contest closes April 30.

Caseys Bow Out In Metropolitan Catholic Tourney

Chaminade Quintet
Rolls Up 60-38 Count;
Eddie Bahr Nets 15

Red Bank Catholic high school's basketball team traveled to Brooklyn Sunday afternoon to make their debut in the Metropolitan Catholic high school tournament, an annual event sponsored by the Catholic Council, Knights of Columbus. While the Red Bankers threw an early scare at a highly rated Chaminade high quintet, the localites were subdued, 60 to 38.

Chaminade had a season record of 13 wins, five losses which was racked up against competition which rated them among the better New York teams. The fact that RBCH jumped off to a 6 to 0 lead was more than a little surprising to the New Yorkers, but it wasn't for long that the invaders were to enjoy such prosperity.

The victors crased the margin and moved into a lead they never relinquished in a display of set-shooting one might experience in college-brand ball. Four straight shots tipped the ball through the cords without touching the basket's rim. The counters were made from distances as far out as 40 feet.

Red Bank employed a zone defense, which proved ineffective on the massive K of C court, particularly since the opposition was dead-end on set shots from all distances. Chaminade possessed the talent to make frequent substitutions of their ability, another factor proving in its favor.

The scoring might have been kept to respectable proportions except for a Red Bank lapse in the third period, in which the winners posted 21 points to Red Bank's insufficient three. Red Bank's in contention up to that point, having trailed but by nine points at the half-time rest.

At the third session began, Coach Adam Kretowicz substituted freely to give the regulars a rest. The switch proved Red Bank's undoing, for before the varsitymen were back in action, Chaminade had moved to a 20-point advantage. The winners boosted their count mainly on their ability to crowd out Red Bank, repeatedly stealing inaccurate passes before it was moved down court.

Eddie Bahr and Jack Maloney continued their excellent play, Bahr taking high scoring honors with a 15-point total. Danny Welch had nine to share second-place in the scoring with Johnny Peterson, capable Chaminade center. Welch's play was not up to some of his past performances. He missed several lay-up chances and could not fully utilize the height advantage he enjoyed over the opposition. Of his nine points, five were made via the free-throw route.

Red Bank brought their total up in the last quarter, mainly in the final three minutes when Chaminade cleared the bench.

Welcomed Strangers Arrive

We have suddenly become an optimist. Spring has arrived, regardless of what the weather man says. Tuesday morning we were awakened by a familiar chirp, chirp, chirp. It was not a robin, and it was not one, but four perched in our apple tree. They were plump and fat and their red breasts were a sight for sore eyes.

Later in the day the air was rent by a song like the anvil chorus. Rushing to the door we found the air was rent by a song like the anvil chorus. Rushing to the door we found the air was rent by a song like the anvil chorus.

A letter from Fred Fletcher, director of George Rupprecht's fishing contest, states, in part: "It looks like the contest this year is going to be the biggest ever. In fact, up to this writing, the entries are 600% ahead of last year, which was the biggest year we ever had. An additional feature this year is the new citations to be awarded for minimum weights. The citations are beautiful and something as the years roll by, that the recipient can look back upon with pride and fond memories."

Stripped bass bill, senate 177 which provides for no netting of striped bass, is in the hopper. After being read it was referred to the senate Game and Fisheries committee. If you want this bill to become law, flood your legislators with letters and telegrams. How else can they know your wishes? Give them something to back them up.

It looks like the gentler sex will have to dig down in their slacks and come up with three bucks if they intend to do any fresh water fishing. According to a bill, which was presented by Assemblyman Shugart, female anglers are required to secure a fishing license.

Another bill up for consideration will require all citizens to register their firearms. This bill was introduced by Assemblyman James Sanderson of Essex county, and was sponsored by Attorney General Walter VanRiper. The measure is meeting with heavy opposition by sportsmen throughout the state, and there will be a public hearing on the assembly chamber, State House, at 8 p. m. March 23.

"Blood Suckers"

We were sitting in Sal's tavern, Shrewsbury avenue, Red Bank, enjoying a helping of "meat balls on a plate," when we happened to overhear the following conversation: "Dan, do you remember the old days, some 40 years ago, when we were boys at May's Landing? How an old haggard had washed ashore and we kids used it as a diving platform. How when one of us would accidentally slip and fall over backward into the water in the hull of the scow and we would scramble out as fast as we could, all covered with blood suckers, and that our arms and legs looked like the quills on a porcupine's back. How we would grab a clam shell or a piece of broken glass and scrap them off before they could have time to imbed themselves in our flesh."

The above conversation was overheard by Dan Herbert and George Grob, Red Bankers who were hanging over boyhood days.

"What's a blood sucker?" asked Fred Homan, who was listening in. "I'll bet they were leeches," Fred

Three Identical Games Bowled By Sal's Tavern

Unusual Feat Rolled
In Businessmen's Loop;
Airport Inn In Lead

Rolling three 865 games, Sal's tavern bowlers sprung the season's first unusual series Monday night in Businessmen's league competition to sweep their match against Sal's barbers. The 2395 also proved to be their highest total of the year.

Big guns for the tavern men were Leon Smock 225, Ed Wade 216 and team captain, Al Quibny, with 212, and a 570 series.

Airport Inn continued its leadership, moving out to a five-game advantage over all-portside advantage representing Tony Boncorse's lefties. Bill Truex took high game honors with 232.

Balbach Plans Boxing Show

To Feature Asmar,
Golden Gloves Champ

Hugh Asmar, the Keansburg youngster who won the state 118-pound Golden Gloves title a few weeks ago, may be the featured performer in an amateur boxing show at Balbach's auditorium in Keansburg, provided plans being formed by Bill Balbach materialize. April 19 has been set as the tentative date of the show.

If the show is presented, it will mark the first time in seven years that the formerly popular fight programs take the spotlight in Keansburg. Among the problems facing Balbach is obtaining a suitable opponent for Asmar. He is a highly respected amateur for his weight and opposition up to this point has not been abundant.

Another Keansburg lad, Jerry DeCapua, who has been boxing the best in flyweight and featherweight classes, is scheduled to meet Natale Bruno of Asbury Park. Bruno reached the finals in the Jersey Golden Gloves. DeCapua is best known for his exceptional bout with Al Ardito, state flyweight champ, in the Red Bank armory ring last year in the firemen's benefit show. While Ardito was given the decision over DeCapua, it was a highly unpopular one with the fans, who soundly razed the A.A.U. officials. DeCapua, incidentally, will defend his title in Newark A. C. next Wednesday.

Two Star Bouts Set For Saturday

Asbury Wrestling
Has Twin Attraction

The wrestling show at Asbury Park armory Saturday night will be featured by two star bouts. Marvin Mercer of Reading, Pa., will meet Francois Miquet, the French champ, in one match and "Stu" Hart, the Canadian title, will tangle with Ardel "Don" Kludred, former University of Michigan griddle, in the other.

Miquet is well known to Asbury Park mat fans, having been undefeated in the shore ring since coming from France. Mercer is expected to give Miquet his best opposition to date. Hart was a favorite in Asbury Park before leaving on a Canadian University States tour, and his opponent has been impressive since turning pro. Kludred began his mat career at Michigan and knew great success in college competition.

In the preliminaries Jim Burnett of New Zealand will make his Asbury Park debut against the Ironman, Milo Steinborn. Lou Farin of Hoboken and Gus Raps of New York star the cover off in the opening tilt at 9 p. m.

Atlantic Highlands Five At Rutgers Tonight

Atlantic Highlands high school's Tiger basketball team met Point Pleasant tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Rutgers University gymnasium in the N.J.S.A.A. tournament.

If the Tigers can bring home a win, they will travel to the same court tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. to meet the winner of the Carteret-Sayreville game.

Maureen Wins Again

Maureen O'Brien, Red Bank's promising 16-year-old swimming star, showed her ability is not confined to her specialty, the backstroke, by adding another medal to her long list Friday night at Harrison in coping the 100-yard medley in 2:10.4 while competing in the A.A.U. events in the R.C.A. pool.

We have suddenly become an optimist. Spring has arrived, regardless of what the weather man says. Tuesday morning we were awakened by a familiar chirp, chirp, chirp. It was not a robin, and it was not one, but four perched in our apple tree. They were plump and fat and their red breasts were a sight for sore eyes.

Later in the day the air was rent by a song like the anvil chorus. Rushing to the door we found the air was rent by a song like the anvil chorus. Rushing to the door we found the air was rent by a song like the anvil chorus.

Red Bank keglers lead the doubles parade. Tom Arnone and Frank Palandrano are at the top with 1260, followed by Ray and Tony Suzzo with 1238. Caseys Bow Out In Metropolitan Catholic Tourney

Chaminade Quintet
Rolls Up 60-38 Count;
Eddie Bahr Nets 15

Red Bank Catholic high school's basketball team traveled to Brooklyn Sunday afternoon to make their debut in the Metropolitan Catholic high school tournament, an annual event sponsored by the Catholic Council, Knights of Columbus. While the Red Bankers threw an early scare at a highly rated Chaminade high quintet, the localites were subdued, 60 to 38.

Chaminade had a season record of 13 wins, five losses which was racked up against competition which rated them among the better New York teams. The fact that RBCH jumped off to a 6 to 0 lead was more than a little surprising to the New Yorkers, but it wasn't for long that the invaders were to enjoy such prosperity.

The victors crased the margin and moved into a lead they never relinquished in a display of set-shooting one might experience in college-brand ball. Four straight shots tipped the ball through the cords without touching the basket's rim. The counters were made from distances as far out as 40 feet.

Red Bank employed a zone defense, which proved ineffective on the massive K of C court, particularly since the opposition was dead-end on set shots from all distances. Chaminade possessed the talent to make frequent substitutions of their ability, another factor proving in its favor.

The scoring might have been kept to respectable proportions except for a Red Bank lapse in the third period, in which the winners posted 21 points to Red Bank's insufficient three. Red Bank's in contention up to that point, having trailed but by nine points at the half-time rest.

At the third session began, Coach Adam Kretowicz substituted freely to give the regulars a rest. The switch proved Red Bank's undoing, for before the varsitymen were back in action, Chaminade had moved to a 20-point advantage. The winners boosted their count mainly on their ability to crowd out Red Bank, repeatedly stealing inaccurate passes before it was moved down court.

Eddie Bahr and Jack Maloney continued their excellent play, Bahr taking high scoring honors with a 15-point total. Danny Welch had nine to share second-place in the scoring with Johnny Peterson, capable Chaminade center. Welch's play was not up to some of his past performances. He missed several lay-up chances and could not fully utilize the height advantage he enjoyed over the opposition. Of his nine points, five were made via the free-throw route.

Red Bank brought their total up in the last quarter, mainly in the final three minutes when Chaminade cleared the bench.

Racial Prejudice Charge Dropped

Lack Of Evidence
Ruled By Crowell

A charge of refusing to serve "refreshments" because of racial discrimination, filed against Anthony Mazzocco, part-owner and bartender of the Sheridan bar, West Front street, was dismissed in police court Friday morning by Recorder John V. Crowell, for lack of evidence. The recorder said there was no evidence of racial discrimination in violation of the civil rights act of this state.

The charge was filed by Sgt. Augustus Paige, a Negro, who is stationed at Tilton hospital, Port Dix. He and his companions, another Negro soldier and two white soldiers, alleged that drinks were refused Paige and the other colored soldier, Corp. Carl Campbell, also of Port Dix, because they were Negroes. They testified that Mazzocco refused to serve them on grounds that they already had had too many drinks.

Sgt. Paige testified that he and his friends attended a movie at Fort Monmouth Wednesday evening of last week. He said they came to Red Bank by bus after the show, and then went to the Sheridan bar. Sgt. Paige testified that they all went to a booth by the bar. Paige said he went to the bar to get drinks for all of them. He ordered a rum and coca-cola for himself, a beer for Corp. Campbell and ginger ale for the two white soldiers, who were minors.

Sgt. Paige testified that as he placed his order, the bartender told him that he had had enough to drink. His order was refused. According to testimony, Corp. Campbell and the two white soldiers left the bar and walked down the street where they talked with Corp. Stopper, an M. P. from Fort Monmouth. Corp. Stopper went into the bar and asked Mazzocco why the men were not being served. When the bartender told the M. P. his reason for not serving the men, the M. P. did not question the bartender, but later told the soldiers they could report the matter to local police.

Under questioning by Ernest Fusano, Red Bank attorney representing Mazzocco, Corp. Stopper testified that the men were not drunk or disorderly. When asked by the court how he knew this, he said that in his experience with the military police, he was able to tell a drunk, and further testified that the soldiers in question had not been drinking for at least six hours before he saw them.

Sgt. Paige testified that this was his first visit to Red Bank and that he thought at first the refusal to serve him was in jest. He said that every time he requested the order, the bartender went to the other end of the bar. He said that he and his friends were not drunk.

Corp. Campbell upheld Sgt. Paige's testimony. Mr. Fusano requested that the charge be dropped because he claimed a bar is not one of the establishments which is included in the civil rights act. He added that a bartender is on a spot in a situation of this kind because on the one hand his license may be revoked by the A.B.C. if he violates the civil rights act, and on the other hand, he had the right to refuse to serve anyone he judges to be drunk.

Testimony disclosed that Mazzocco had refused to serve all the soldiers, white or Negro, and for this reason Recorder Crowell said no discrimination was shown. Recorder Crowell said there was no evidence of racial discrimination, and that he could not hold the defendant for the grand jury.

Ira P. Katchen, Long Branch attorney and representative for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, appeared for the soldiers. After the hearing, he said the case would be appealed to the A.B.C. The bartender's judgment of the soldiers' condition will be the main point at issue, he said.

Mr. Fusano opened his remarks in court by saying that his client and himself believed in the civil rights act, and that the refusal was made on the grounds of the bartender's judgment.

Mr. Katchen stated that a record of the hearing has been sent to the A.B.C. along with a request for a hearing by that body.

Food Prices Take 2 Per Cent Drop

Still 13 Per Cent
Higher Than Year Ago

Retail food prices dropped 2.03 per cent in February as compared with January, according to "New Jersey Farm and Retail Food Prices" monthly survey of the State Department of Agriculture. The decline in the price of essential food items was in keeping with a nation-wide trend.

D. T. Pitt, statistical supervisor, reports that in February the average retail prices of 83 household food necessities were 13.3 per cent higher than in February a year ago, and 117.3 per cent above the level of August 1939, the month before war broke out in Europe. The purchasing value of the New Jersey food dollar this February fell to 46 cents, buying less than half as much as in pre-war 1939.

Tracking the New Jersey price trend, Pitt reported that foods began one of the upward swings in January 1947 and reached a peak in January 1948. However, this February lower retail prices were noted for meat, fats and oils, eggs, and in a lesser degree, sugar and cereals and dairy products. On the other hand, fruits and vegetables, beverages and chocolate, as well as cereals and bakery products rose in average price.

Comparing reports of the past two months in a breakdown of average retail prices for individual items, the survey reveals that in February as compared with January the group of meats registered a drop amounting to 6.04 per cent. Cuts of beef were 5.92 per cent cheaper in February; pork, 9.95 per cent cheaper; veal cutlets, 0.87 per cent; lamb, 5.04 per cent; and poultry, 4.44 per cent. This important commodity group was 11.66 per cent higher in February of this year than in the same month a year ago, and 131.7 per cent above the August 1939 price.

The group of fruits and vegetables, marking a seasonal advance, was 2.83 per cent higher in February than in January. Fresh commodities rose 3.27 per cent but canned fruits and vegetables were fractionally lower in February as compared with January of this year. Dried items were fractionally higher in February. This group in the household food budget was 15.86 per cent more than in February 1947 and 137.3 per cent above August 1939.

AS LONG AS SHE LIVES

Mrs. Mary Wooster Sutton of 159 Starr Hill road, Groton, Conn., a former resident of Red Bank, writes us the following in sending her check for renewal of her subscription:

"Here is a check for my expired subscription of your excellent newspaper, which I intend to date as of March 16, so that it will be in your hands when the expiring date arrives, and it will be a memento as to my regular date as long as I live and 'in my right mind'."

"I find much published work, which interests me. Perhaps I enjoy most the 'Events of Years Ago From Register Files,' because the various persons mentioned are pleasant memories. For instance, 'Mrs. John H. Cook,' 'Miss Mary Mount' and from 1890 to 1900 I was in close touch with those who were my pupils or my fellow-teachers."

"Accept my congratulations upon the present condition of each number you issue nowadays, and I intend to be a regular subscriber as long as I can read anything."

"With best wishes for you and your helpers."

SO MUCH FOR SO LITTLE

Mrs. Robert B. Anthony of Albany, Mo., formerly of New Hampton, Mo., in asking us to make a change in her address, states: "I get great pleasure out of reading your paper. Being so far from home it is my only source of getting the news quickly. My friends out here tell me it is such a big paper for so little."

 Chapter Birthday

Army of the Potomac chapter, Daughters of the Union, 1861-1865, Incorporated, of Atlantic Highlands, celebrated its sixth birthday Tuesday night at a dinner at Willoughby Inn, Fair Haven. A large cake with patriotic decorations and small American flags was the center of the decorations.

Mrs. Ernest M. Swingle of Loch Arbour, chairman of the nominating committee, reported the following slate of officers, which were elected. They will be installed at the April meeting: regent, Mrs. Elizabeth Snyder Neill; vice regent, Miss Ethel M. Sculthorpe; chaplain, Mrs. Anna E. Brown; secretary, Mrs. Watson Wetherlie; treasurer, Mrs. Ella B. Clark; registrar, Mrs. Charles Patterson; Sr. historian, Mrs. Ella B. Clark; librarian, Miss Anna M. Reitz; color-bearer, Mrs. Ernest M. Swingle; and directors, Mrs. James Seiler and Mrs. Oliver R. Hatfield.

At present there are 20 members, but the chapter desires to enlarge its membership in conjunction with the National Society drive for 100 new members during the coming year in New Jersey. Any woman whose ancestors fought in the Civil war during the years 1861-1865 in the Union army is eligible for membership. Any persons interested in so honoring their Civil war ancestors are asked to contact Mrs. Neill at Atlantic Highlands, or Mrs. Swingle at Loch Arbour.

Mrs. Wetherlie, retiring regent, gave her report of her three-year term of office. Mrs. Neill, retiring treasurer, in giving her annual report, noted that the chapter had donated to the Salvation Army, Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Lincoln Memorial scholarship fund and Grace Nettleton home for girls in Harrogate, Tenn.

Mrs. Neill, who organized Army of the Potomac chapter March 9, 1942, in Atlantic Highlands, was the first regent of the chapter. At the time of its installation they had the honor of having Mrs. Louise Ward Watkins of Pasadena, Cal., president-general of the National society, install their officers. Mrs. Ernest M. Swingle, who is state regent of the New Jersey society, will install the newly elected officers at the April meeting, which will be held at Mrs. Swingle's home in Loch Arbour.

Members will attend the New Jersey state meeting to be held April 8 at Boyonne and the National society congress to be held in New York at the Hotel Pennsylvania April 13 and 14.

For anything that hampers the circulation of people in a community; slows down the activity on which its progress and prosperity depends—What's the answer—Wider streets and other municipal improvements—? Such things can help. But the best answer is to move more people with fewer vehicles! And Boro Buses do just that. Yes... in terms of people carried, Boro Buses utilize city streets seven times as efficiently as private automobiles! Increasing use of Boro Buses makes any community a more efficient community! First Aid Contest Friday At Asbury
Sponsored By Scouts And The Red Cross
Arrangements have been completed for the first annual Monmouth Council Boy Scout first aid contest to be held tomorrow night in the Convention hall at Asbury Park. This event is sponsored jointly by the Monmouth Council Boy Scouts of America and the Monmouth county Red Cross county chapter and will be the first of its kind to be held in the county.
George R. Schneider, director of this event, states that "the contest is the outcome of serious thought by the sponsoring organizations due to the ever increasing toll of serious accidents and the need of a knowledge of the skills of first aid. It is hoped that the public will take the opportunity to witness this free demonstration of first aid and that the contest will awaken the general public to the advantages of this knowledge. The training of the teams entered in the contest will equip the individual scout with the necessary fundamentals of first aid and he will be of invaluable assistance in the event of an accident."
Sixty-three teams will compete for honors to be awarded for proficiency in executing the first aid problems.
Assisting Mr. Schneider are John W. Northrup, Boy Scout executive and John E. Hopkins, Red Cross. Other men assisting the general chairman are Charles Brabin, Charles S. Smith, Thomas Schneider, Vernon Ralph, Russell L. Tetley, Howard Howland, Morgan C. Knapp, H. R. Thompson, and C. B. Clark.
The Bob Eberle, Jr., memorial band of the Asbury Park Legion post will furnish the music under the direction of Frank Bryan.

CATSKILL Automatic COAL BURNER

For long years Seaboard Service has been searching for a coal burner that met every rigid requirement of our own heating engineers... and up to now, after hundreds of investigations, until we saw the Catskill in operation, we had been unable to find a coal burner that Seaboard Service could give its unqualified seal of approval.

After every test of efficiency, economy-of-operation, dependability and sturdiness of design we have at last found the automatic coal burner we were seeking.

The famous CATSKILL Automatic Coal Burner is the last word in automatic coal heat. Smart in appearance, quiet, clean and trouble-free in operation, Catskill is easily installed in your present furnace... no matter what type of heating system you now have... hot water, warm air or steam.

Put an end to that eternal furnace-tending... stop running up and down stairs to shovel coal, to shake the grate, to shovel ashes. End forever, the unhealthy, wasteful variations in temperature that can't be avoided with uncontrolled heat. The cost of installing a Catskill is surprisingly small. Phone us today for full details.

Long Branch Invites To Its Free Parking Areas

Elsewhere in this issue the City of Long Branch is advertising its free parking areas and inviting Monmouth folks to enjoy them. The principal one of these was made by the city buying and razing nearly two blocks of old and dilapidated houses only a block from Broadway. It is hard surfaced and brightly lighted. Another parking area on Third avenue is ready, another it owns. It also has another in the uptown business district, where it plans a new one.

For summer use it has a large parking place on Chelsea avenue just off the ocean front. Mayor Kiernan's department used the surplus dirt in grading this to fill in washouts made by storms back of the boardwalk. Long Branch claims the best free parking facilities of any state municipality.

Taxpayers Group Compares Debt

Red Bank Makes Good Showing

"Do you know your town's capital debt? How much was it twelve years ago? What is it today?" These three questions are asked taxpayers of Red Bank, Long Branch and Asbury Park by the Monmouth county taxpayers association.

"With many taxpayers disturbed at the increase in local tax levels," said Edward H. Schulze, association president, "it should be brought home to every intelligent citizen that since they must pay for the costs of government, figures which accurately show their town's financial condition are not dry statistics but affect their individual pocketbooks, as they will see when they get their 1948 tax bills."

"Financial interests, as well as private investors, who invariably are counted upon to supply outside capital to build up a community," continued Mr. Schulze, "naturally cutlously check on the town's net debt, as compared with assessed valuations, and how much that debt has been reduced or increased over the past ten years or more."

Calling attention to the following figures compiled for the association by Walter T. Durbey, State Director of Local Government, Mr. Schulze points to the drop in assessed valuations, from 1935, of approximately three million dollars in Long Branch and some seven million dollars in Asbury Park. Red Bank, since 1935, however, shows a reduction in assessed valuations of less than a million dollars. "Everytime you see a building torn down and only a vacant lot left, or everytime some property is exempted from taxation, remember it means assessed valuations go down and your taxes go up," said the association's spokesman.

On the per cent of net debt to assessed valuations, whereas in Long Branch it was 6.91 per cent in 1935, in 1947 it rose to 12.82. In Asbury Park, whereas in 1935 it was 28.54 per cent, reduced valuations have increased the ratio, in 1947, to a net capital debt equal to 39.58 per cent of all the city's assessed properties. Red Bank, on the other hand, shows only 1.25 per cent net debt compared with its assessed valuations.

Long Branch net capital debt has risen from $1,233,960 in 1935 to $1,921,269 in 1947. Asbury Park shows $4,404,384 in 1935 and $9,098,000 in 1947. Red Bank's net capital debt was reduced from $440,700 in 1935 to $123,800 in 1947. The only community of the three to have achieved such a good showing over a 12-year period.

Grand Jury Hands Down Indictments

Charge Keansburg Man With Assault By Car

Two gambling charges were among the 12 indictments handed to Judge J. Edward Knight Thursday by the December term grand jury. Hans Hoffman, 55, of 427 Coolman avenue, Ashbury Park, who was indicted for lottery, was arrested in a cigar store he operates on Cookman avenue December 22 while awaiting trial on a charge of bookmaking.

Henry Overton of 1400 Springwood avenue, Ashbury Park, was arrested in a raid by Asbury Park and county police the same day. Overton, who was indicted for bookmaking, was seized in a first floor apartment at 1137 Springwood avenue.

Preston Dutcher, 54, of Maplewood avenue, Keansburg, was indicted on two counts of atrocious assault and battery with an automobile. In an accident December 27 on route 36 near First avenue, Atlantic Highlands, Dutcher's automobile struck William Tighe and his 11-year-old daughter, and Dutcher allegedly continued on to his home where he was apprehended. Mr. Tighe was hospitalized for a few weeks after the accident.

Dean W. Harney, 25, and Adolph A. Kulets, 22, both of Newark, were indicted on a charge of receiving stolen goods. They were arrested by Middletown township police after an anonymous phone call November 26 from a woman who said she heard them discuss an outboard motor which she believed was stolen. They admitted having the stolen merchandise valued at $200, but they said that they had purchased the material from two men for $16. The stolen goods were from the home of E. Roland and J. Coutourier of Shore road, Port Monmouth.

FINED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

George MacDonald, owner of the Raritan hotel, Main street and Francis place, Keansburg, was fined $50 Monday night by Henry Schweizer, Keansburg recorder, on a charge of violating the borough's closing-hour ordinance. MacDonald pleaded guilty to keeping his bar open until 4 a. m., while the ordinance calls for 2 a. m. closings. The violation occurred over the week-end.

Oceanport Firemen Want New Fire House

At a meeting of Oceanport borough council Thursday night a delegation of Hook & Ladder company voiced an appeal for support of the construction of a new fire house, which may include facilities for a borough hall.

Randolph Stromberg, chairman of the firemen's building committee, told the council that the firemen have been raising a building fund for several years, but the amount raised was not sufficient to erect a structure, which would meet the needs of both the firemen and the borough. The firemen are seeking financial support from the borough for the proposed structure.

In the discussion Mr. Stromberg suggested the borough take a first mortgage on the building, but the council was advised by Attorney Charles Jones that government bonds are the only securities which the council is allowed to purchase.

Mayor C. Kenneth Riddle appointed a committee composed of Councilman Adrian Clough, Felix Foglia, Paul Sommers and Harry S. Koch to meet with the firemen for further discussion of the proposal.

Rowboat Renters Object Of Criticism

A delegation of residents from the Blackberry point and Goose-neck sections of Oceanport voiced strenuous objections to the borough council Thursday night concerning the language and actions of out-of-town summer renters of rowboats.

William W. Allman, borough recorder, led the residents in the complaint against the "conduct and abusive language" of summer visitors who use rental boats for crabbing and fishing. Marshall Van Winkle, Jr., stated that the abusive language of the renters was especially harmful to the young people and offensive to women on shore. Several bathers received severe cuts last summer from bottles and trash thrown from the boats. Edwin MacIntyre and William Fenley told similar stories as they registered their complaints.

Mayor C. Kenneth Riddle instructed Attorney Charles W. Jones to contact Borough Engineer J. Wesley Seaman and determine if the rowboat concession is located on borough-owned property.

These cars were driven by Samuel Pryor of Newark, Edward Holland of New York city, Hugh Sannels of Newark, Eva Levine of Long Branch, Harold R. Croate of Belmar, Sadie Farrell of 24 Washington avenue, Rumson, and Olive Wetzel of 12 Tilton avenue and Samuel Salimbene, both of Red Bank. There were no injuries. Thomas Gopsill Will Not Run

Expects To Retire From Politics—
4 Republicans Vie For Council

The political picture in Red Bank has cleared considerably as the deadline for filing petitions at midnight tonight approaches. Mayor Charles R. English, who filed his petition last week as a candidate for re-election in the Republican primary April 20, will be unopposed. The possibility that Councilman Thomas M. Gopsill, also a Republican and who has been diametrically opposed to Mayor English on several occasions, would run for mayor has been eliminated.

Mr. Gopsill told The Register last night that he would not run for mayor and neither would he seek re-election to the council, or to the Republican county committee. He said that he was seriously considering moving to the suburbs, and that he could not make a political fight, knowing that there was a strong possibility that he might move out of the borough. He has served on the Republican county executive committee 21 years, and has been a councilman 24 years.

P.U.C. Reserves Decision On Stop At Middletown

Commuters Launch Bitter Protest At Newark Hearing

A group of Middletown township commuters yesterday launched a bitter complaint with the Public Utilities Commission at Newark about the abandonment of the 6:45 a. m. Middletown stop of Pennsylvania railroad train 702.

While hearing their complaint and promising that facts presented would be studied, Commissioners John E. Brophy and Joseph A. Buswell reserved decision on any action that may be taken in the matter.

Speaking in behalf of the township were Freeholder Victor E. Grossinger, Joseph L. Edwards, township committee member Lawrence Carlson Jr., township councilor Henry L. Kramer, president of the Middletown Township Civic association, Harry Parks and several other township residents. Answering for the railroad was Michael H. Strollo, New York and Long Branch R. R. supervisor, and General Passenger Agent Howell of the Pennsylvania.

Complaints brought out that up to 25 Middletown township residents daily have used train 702 to reach their places of employment in uptown New York. With abandonment of the stop by this train, they said, commuters now have the choice of proceeding at their own expense to Red Bank or Matawan to intercept it, or of waiting for a central R.R. train to stop at Middletown, 6:55 a. m. from this train, passengers who want to go uptown New York must change to a Pennsylvania local at South Amboy. In this way, they asserted, their arrival at uptown New York is considerably delayed. Delay, in some cases, it was said, would cause some workers a loss in weekly earnings. Also remarked upon was the serious threat to real estate valuations presented by inadequate transportation to and from New York and Newark.

Holding that the abandonment of the early Pennsylvania stop presented no real gain in time to other of the train's passengers, the complainants presented evidence showing that on recent mornings train 702 was being held over in Newark for as long as four minutes before going on to New York. The Middletown stop, they insisted, took only one or two minutes to make. They added that before the Middletown stop was discontinued, the wait at Newark was two minutes or less. Hence, they could see no improvement had been made.

The railroad representatives contended that train 702 now was averaging an arrival at Pennsylvania station seven minutes earlier than had been possible under the old schedule. However, the old schedule provided stops at Perth Amboy, Elizabeth and South Street, Newark, now also discontinued.

Prior to the Newark meeting, about 50 residents of Middletown township communities met at a mass protest meeting at town hall last Monday night to prepare their arguments.

Parking Meters To Be Asked For By The Chamber

Better Traffic System And More Parking Facilities Needed Here

At the March meeting of the directors of the Red Bank Community Chamber of Commerce, held yesterday morning at the borough hall, President David W. Russell disclosed the result of the recent questionnaire put before the people of Red Bank as to what the public thought was most needed for Red Bank's advancement.

Better traffic arrangements and more adequate parking facilities comprised 25% of the answers. Twenty per cent of those filling questionnaires said they should have a new railroad station, with improved railroad service. New industries were sought by 12%, 10% urged street extensions, principally Broad street to the river, Drummond place through from Peters place to Front street and Hudson avenue northward to Front street. Quite a few urged a booster campaign, "Buy in Red Bank." Others urged more county-wide advertising of Red Bank and a more elaborate interior modernization of some of Red Bank's antiquated business houses. Among the questionnaires received, the new Reade theater proposition was unanimously endorsed and there were a number of suggestions for adequate housing for the low income group, including the building of a new apartment house, a member of the board, stated that West Red Bank is sorely in need of such improvement.

President Russell and Ray Taylor, executive secretary, recently made a thorough inspection of the public parking space in the heart of Red Bank's business district, an exclusive of the borough-owned parking place, Red Bank at the present time can only accommodate 720 motor vehicles, of which 462 can be accommodated on the streets and approximately 250 on the off-street spaces, not including the former Bagdad property on Wharf avenue, which seems to be "too far" for most folks to walk into the business district, although it is only approximately 100 yards away from Broad and Front streets.

The consensus was that Red Bank, in order to accommodate the business that rightfully wants to come here, must immediately provide for the parking problem. The sell will appear before the mayor and council at their next meeting, advising installation of parking meters. The type of parking meter advocated is what is known as the "penny type," one cent for 12 minutes, two cents for 24 minutes and five cents for an hour, with a one-hour parking limit in the more congested areas, and a two-hour parking limit in the outlying districts of the business center.

According to official figures, Red Bank is second in the nation in ratio to population. The city of Los Angeles has a passenger car density of 2.9, with Red Bank 3.25. Resolutions of sympathy were ordered sent to Mrs. Hubert M. Farrow on the recent death of her husband, Mr. Farrow's death caused a vacancy in the audit committee, and President Russell appointed Edward H. Conway of the Seacoast Finance company as Mr. Farrow's successor.

The Red Bank Parcel Delivery and Steinbach company were accepted as new members.

A report of the Christmas decorations was made, showing there are yet a few firms who have not paid their assessments in full. The retail trade committee reported they had held a recent meeting and had considered Wednesday closing hour for the summer months, and these will be announced in the near future.

It was suggested by this committee that the merchants should sweep their sidewalks daily and not sweep the store trash into the street, but pick up same and deposit it with the store refuse. They also suggested that merchants keep their store windows lighted until 9 p. m., or later, in order to allow for the window displays for the benefit of folks who come into town evenings.

Training programs for the benefit of employers and clerks alike is advocated for the near future. It was brought out before the Chamber officials that there is no need of modernizing our stores if our sales forces are not modernized at the same time.

Mr. Conway went to great length in telling about the proposed Welfare Planning Council, a county-wide plan inaugurated by the Junior Service League of Red Bank, and which would embrace all the charity activities of the county under one general head, thereby eliminating duplication of effort and money.

Signal Corps Develops New Radio, Voice Truck

A new 2½-ton radio and voice communication truck, from which telephone and typed messages may be sent and received simultaneously, has been developed by Army Signal Corps engineers at the research and development laboratories at Fort Monmouth.

The truck is now on a test tour through the South and Midwest, and its operators are in daily communication with the headquarters here. The truck can send and receive radio voice and teletype communications while in motion or stationary, and it is planned to have the truck flown in a large Air Force transportation plane, the C-82, at Greenville, N. C., to test its operation in the air.

The equipment, which can stand all climatic conditions is being made to provide actual service conditions during its current road test. No hand keys are used in sending communications. Any person who can use a typewriter or a standard telephone can send communications from the unit. In service the truck would save costly delays in assembling and installing equipment.

Fair Haven Group Protests Condition Of Private Street

Delegation Appeals To Mayor And Council —To Hold Conference

Dartmouth road, a private street in the new development on Hance road, near Hidge road, was described as a "hog wallow" by Chief Warrant Officer Albert Benfer at the meeting of the Fair Haven mayor and council Monday night. Mr. Benfer was one of a group of property owners in that area who appealed to the borough officials for assistance in correcting certain conditions, which they claim are unsightly and unhealthy.

With regard to Dartmouth road, Mr. Benfer said the developer, Harry Dutchy, promised him some time ago he would fix the road, but Mr. Benfer added that nothing has been done, and that Mr. Dutchy now says he will get it done some time this year. The group felt a builder should be required to agree to these conditions on paper before a building permit is granted, and were told there is nothing in the law which makes it mandatory. Dedication of the road to public use could not be accomplished, Theodore D. Parsons, borough attorney, told the delegation until the developer complied with provisions of the ordinance on the acceptance of streets. It is purely a private contract, he said, and the borough has no jurisdiction in the matter.

Complaints were also made about cesspools flowing over and backing up. Mayor Edgar V. Denise said this is a serious problem and one that should be settled by the board of health as soon as possible. It was stated by several persons at the meeting that in the area mentioned it is difficult to keep water from seeping into the cesspools, and that at this time of the year the condition is greatly aggravated.

Councilman Russell H. Minton said the council is studying a fire code and building code, which he believed would remedy some of the conditions in the future.

Councilman Tony Hunting asked that the matter be referred to the streets and walks committee, a conference with Mr. Dutchy and the home owners. He said he believed something constructive would result from the conference.

In the delegation in addition to Mr. Benfer were David Brewster, George W. Mascyn, John Liddell and Paul Meszoros.

Councilman Jesse McInry reported that members of the fire company had completed a collection of high school age playing pool in the fire house. He said in the future minors will be ordered out of the building by the police unless accompanied by a fireman.

In his police report, Councilman Arthur H. Riemann said the new police car is in use and that the department has established a new post at the Knollwood school. Mayor Denise thanked the officers for their co-operation in being on duty at the school from 11:30 to 1 o'clock. Instead of receiving their regular pay for this off-duty service they will take time off Sundays.

Mr. Riemann said a dog census was started March 15. Dr. Edwin F. Stewart, health officer, reported 78 births, 37 deaths and 13 marriages in the borough in 1947. There were 111 cases of communicable diseases and 15 cases of dog bite.

Building permits were issued last month by L. Lynwood Minton, building inspector, as follows: Mrs. Adelo Joseph, one-room addition, west side of Fair Haven road, $1,200, and Factory Built Construction Co., new house, corner Hunting lane and Hance road, $12,000.

PATROLMAN STRICKEN

Patrolman Albert E. Newman, Jr., of Oldfield place, one of the younger members of the Red Bank police department, was stricken with a mysterious ailment this week while on duty. He was taken to Riverview hospital in the local first aid ambulance, and is under treatment by Dr. D. V. Manahan of 55 East Front street. Consultations have been held and tests are being made to determine the cause of dizziness and double vision. He is a son of Police Lieutenant Newman.

Car Driver Sued For $70,000

Fair Haven Accident Is Basis Of Suit

Suit has been filed in Monmouth County Common Pleas court by Theodore J. Labrecque, local attorney, of 99 Grange avenue, Fair Haven, and in Monmouth County Circuit court by Mrs. William J. Lynch, of 34 Lincoln place, against Muelson Johnston, 24 of Nutswamp road, Middletown township, as a result of an accident at Grange avenue and River road, Fair Haven, January 24.

The accident is the one in which two children, Katherine Labrecque and Susan Lynch, were injured while attempting to cross the street. Fair Haven, after alighting from an east bound bus at 6:15 p. m. The Johnston car was traveling west, toward Red Bank.

Mr. Labrecque and Mrs. Lynch charge that the Johnston car was being driven at an excessive rate of speed without regard to the condition of the weather. They each seek $50,000 damages for their respective children and $5,000 each for themselves as compensation for the loss of their children's services.

In a hearing following the accident, a careless driving charge filed by the Fair Haven police department against Mr. Johnston was dismissed by Red Bank Recorder John V. Crowell because of the lack of evidence to warrant the charge. Mr. Johnston contended he was traveling 20 miles an hour when the girls ran out in front of his car and they were struck.

Mr. Labrecque and Mrs. Lynch are represented by the firm of Parsons, Labrecque, Canzosa & Combs of Red Bank while Mr. Johnston will be represented by the firm of Cox and Walburg of Newark.

John M. West, Tax Collector, To Be Opposed

His Middletown Opponent Will Be Announced Tonight

The major news out of yesterday afternoon's session of the Middletown township committee was that John M. West of Middletown, tax collector for many years, would definitely have opposition in this year's Republican primary April 20 just who his opposition will be will not be absolutely certain until the midnight deadline tonight for filing petitions.

Several battles for membership on the Republican county executive committee are also in the making. Edwin H. Brasch of Nutswamp former county road supervisor, will run for an elective office on the Republican ticket for the first time in his political career. He will run for committeeman in the fifth, or Lincoln-Tivoli Plaza, district. Mrs. W. Gilbert Manson, wife of one of Mr. Brasch's lieutenants, has filed in opposition to Mrs. Geraldine L. Thompson of Lincoirt for committeewoman. Mrs. Manson and Mr. Brasch will be strongly opposed by Mrs. Thompson, a member of the regular Republican organization who has not yet filed, according to present indications.

Mr. Brasch, who is on the outside looking in as far as the regular Republican organization is concerned, locally and in the county, was not reappointed to the county road post after attention was attracted to certain road work at River Plaza. Mrs. George N. Wagner of the Country Club estates has filed a petition as a candidate for committeewoman in the eighth or Riverside Heights district in opposition to Mrs. George M. Bodman of Nutswamp.

Edward W. Wise, Jr., of Locust, Red Bank attorney and past commander of post 2179, Veterans of Foreign Wars of Middletown township, is opposing David Jackson, Navesink storekeeper, for Republican committeeman at Navesink.

A fight is in the offing for Republican executive committeewoman in the ninth Leonardo district, and other contests will probably be revealed tonight as the filing deadline nears.

The township committee yesterday passed an ordinance authorizing the purchase of $20,000 worth of road equipment. An ordinance was also introduced authorizing an emergency expenditure of $8,000 for the repair of road damage caused by this winter's storms.

Polio Institute To Open In State

Rex Williams Tells Plans To Lions Club

Rex Williams, state administrator of the Sister Elizabeth Kenny foundation of New Jersey, guest speaker at a meeting of the Red Bank Lions club Tuesday at the Holly Pitcher hotel, said that the Sister Elizabeth Kenny institute, the east would open about April 1 at the Jersey City Medical center.

In reviewing the fund drives of the foundation, which were started three years ago, Mr. Williams said that "we were forced to launch these drives when Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, refused to provide support for the Kenny institute at Minneapolis, Minn. Establishment here in the state of the first Kenny institute in the East and the largest treatment and training center for polio in the world is something of which we can all be proud."

Mr. Williams added that the institute will not only serve as a place for treatment but would serve as a place for further study of the disease.

Another guest speaker was Miss Valerie Harvey of Australia, recognized as the greatest Kenny technician in the world, who will be in charge of the Kenny technician training at Jersey City.

Miss Harvey stated that the training course is of two years' duration and that a thorough knowledge of medicine, anatomy and polio is needed, to become a Kenny technician. "It is our hope," she said, "that nurses throughout this area will take advantage of this opportunity to learn the Kenny method."

She added that the institute at Jersey City will occupy two floors of the Medical Center building and that six trained technicians from Minneapolis will be on the staff. In addition to the talks, Lions club members were shown a film, entitled "So They Shall Walk," which illustrated the work of the student technicians at the Minneapolis institute.

Thomas S. Field, Jr., chairman of the speaker's committee, announced that next week's program would be conducted by Dr. James VanNostand, a past president of the club and chairman of the committee for the blind. Entertainment is to be provided by blind persons from northern New Jersey. Several Monmouth county blind persons have been invited to attend the program.

Secure Special Aid For Polio Victim

National Foundation Furnishes Equipment

Special equipment has been rushed to Monmouth Memorial hospital, by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to aid in a day and night struggle for the life of a 23-year-old wife and mother.

Mrs. George Leone of Main street, Keyport, was admitted to the hospital Sunday. Her case was diagnosed as a bulbospinal type of infantile paralysis, which prevents swallowing and involves paralysis of the arms, legs, neck and back.

A tracheotomy, an operation that enables a patient to breathe by means of a tube inserted in the neck, was performed by Dr. Arthur Strauss of the hospital staff. The operation had to be done in the patient's room because of the emergency.

The tube made the use of standard respiratory aids, such as the iron lung, impractical and an emergency appeal was made to the New York headquarters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. They promised to rush delivery of a special respirator so that it would be available if needed.

Today, the bedside battle continues. Mrs. Leone, mother of a seven-month-old child, is receiving the Dr. Nicholas S. Ranshoff cure and intensive physical therapy treatment for polio and the hospital reports her condition as "improved, but still critical."

Welfare Board Member Criticizes Hospital

Criticism of Monmouth Memorial hospital's handling of a county welfare patient last month was made by Mrs. Allison L. S. Stern, a member of the county welfare board at its meeting Tuesday.

Alex LePage, the patient, was denied admission by the hospital admitting room January 9, when he was taken to the hospital for treatment of a circulatory disease which could not be cared for at the welfare home. He was brought back to the home, only to be taken back to the hospital January 14 in such a condition that he had to be admitted as an emergency patient for amputation of a leg. He died February 9, and an autopsy disclosed the cause to be arteriosclerosis and a cardiac condition.

Mrs. Stern said Miss M. Marie Crawford, supervisor of the welfare home, had been informed by the hospital that the gangrenous leg was not ready for amputation at that time and that the institution was too crowded to accept the patient before the operation was possible.

Frederick Victor E. Grossinger, a member of the board, commented that the hospital board of governors investigated admission practices several months ago when a similar situation arose. Miss Rhoda Southall of the bureau of old age assistance also criticized the hospital for discharging an elderly patient, "about to draw a last breath" when further treatment was impractical.

TEMPLE SPEAKER

The service at Beth Miriam temple in Long Branch tomorrow night will be in honor of the Long Branch chapter of Hadassah, at which time Rabbi Lefkowitz will speak on "My Visit to the Rothschild Hadassah University Hospital." While in Jerusalem Rabbi Lefkowitz paid a visit to the hospital and went on a tour of inspection through the clinics and the hospital wards. In the course of his talk he will discuss the role of the Hadassah hospital in the life of present-day Palestine Jewry.

tem would cause the morale of the old teachers to drop in the case of a new teacher being added to the staff with a high salary because that teacher was needed. Board President Alston Beekman, Jr., said the clause was included in the plan to cover exceptional cases, and it predicted it would not be used often. It was a matter, he said, of either dropping a special course in the school or being able to pay a special teacher a little more to keep him in the system.

Mr. Beekman added: "We do not need to apologize for our salary schedule, and believe it second to none in the county."

Before the vote was taken Mr. Haviland moved that all material in the minutes of the board concerning teachers' wages and employment should be included in the guide. The guide also includes provisions fixing the salaries of school employees, other than teachers.

Fifty petitioners requested the board hold a referendum on before May 18 to re-submit the proposal of purchasing the Spring street and Harding road tract for a new school. The petition said that the state has indicated that the school system here will be removed from the state-approved list if certain improvements are not made. The petition also states that no previous proposal has been presented by the board to handle the alleged needed improvements.

Most notable signatures on the petition were those of Charles B. Gallagher, Leo K. McKee and Charles Irwin, former school board members. Gallagher was the leading exponent of the plan, which was defeated in referendum twice last year. The petition requested inclusion of all improved property on the tract.

Other signatures included those of Donald W. White, former school board member; Mrs. Rose Podell, Roger Ryan and Mrs. S. M. Hoffman, defeated school board candidates in the last elections; Samuel Wolfenstein, Sylvester St. Hoffman and Mrs. J. Schreffleser, a member of the Junior-Senior Parent-Teacher association.

On motion of George W. Bray, the petition was held over to a future meeting for discussion.

The board expressed willingness to participate in a program which would set up a kindergarten at Fort Monmouth. Under the proposed plan the fort would provide the school room and the facilities there, while Red Bank would furnish a teacher. The plan will be studied more in detail. A request by Edwin C. Gilland, supervising principal, that the boundaries for new pupils attending school next year be fixed was rejected, as the board felt the matter be held over until the Fort Monmouth kindergarten matter was settled. Mr. Gilland had been requested by the board to draft a boundary plan, which would serve as a guide in telling children which schools they should attend.

Charles B. Hembling, chairman of the building and grounds committee, appointed Tuesday night, was instructed to proceed with plans to waterproof the north side of the River street school. About $6,000 is in the budget for this project. Harry Heaviland is the other member of the building committee.

After hearing a report by Mr. Gibson, chairman of a special insurance committee, the board voted to increase the insurance on the schools one million dollars. A binder will be placed on this insurance until a complete survey is made.

Bowes Will Appeal Settled By Niece

Resident Of England Receives $15,000

An appeal from the probate of the will of the late Major Bowes, J. Bowes, radio showman, has just been dismissed with the consent of the appellant, Gertrude Jane Temperley, by Judge John C. Giordano in the Monmouth County Orphans court.

Mrs. Temperley is a resident of Sussex, England, and a niece of the late Major Bowes.

The will bearing date February 15, 1945, was attacked by Mrs. Temperley on the grounds that at the time of the making of the will, Major Bowes was mentally incompetent and was subject to undue influence with regards to the making and supposed execution of the will. The will had been offered for probate by Abner Goldstone, the named executor.

The settlement of Mrs. Temperley's case and the dismissal of the petition by order of the court, will not allow the settlement of the estate by the executor to proceed in accordance with the directions of the will.

Under the terms of the will, there were many bequests to friends, relatives, former employees and various charitable and religious institutions, including St. Patrick's cathedral in New York city. The will sets up the Major Bowes fund of St. Patrick's Cathedral to be administered under the direction of Archbishop Spellman. It directed that the archbishop should, in his sole discretion, use and disburse the said funds for the beautification of the interior and exterior of St. Patrick's cathedral and for the use of such charitable institutions as in the sole discretion of the archbishop would accomplish the most good.

Mrs. Temperley's mother, Carolyn Bowes Tompa Brandenburg, was a sister of the noted radio entertainer, who died January 11, 1946, at Rumson.

Major Bowes' will was probated both in New York and at Monmouth county.

The amount of the settlement received by Mrs. Temperley was not made public, but was reported to have been the sum of $15,000.

Mrs. Temperley was represented by Theodore D. Parsons of Parsons, Labrecque, Canzona & Combs, Breslin & Breslin of Hockessin represented the Bowes estate.

Railroad Worker Gets $500 Judgment

George Battle of 21 River street, a former employee of the Central Railroad of New Jersey Tuesday received a $500 judgment against the railroad at a trial held at Freehold. Through his attorney, Edmund J. Canzona, of the Red Bank law firm of Parsons, Labrecque, Canzona and Combs, Mr. Battle contended that he was injured in October, 1945, while employed as an engine worker when a fellow employee released steam from an engine causing Battle to fall from a scaffold and injure his leg.

The railroad contended that Mr. Battle was not injured as a result of being knocked off the scaffold by the release of steam, but that he had picked a fight with the other man. The trial was attended by high school pupils of Middletown township, Red Bank and Manassas as part of their school activities.

The settlement of Mrs. Temperley's case and the dismissal of the petition by order of the court, will not allow the settlement of the estate by the executor to proceed in accordance with the directions of the will.

Although the 1947 Christmas Seal campaign of the Monmouth County Organization for Social Service seems long lost in the past, Mrs. Leon W. Conrow, seal sale chairman, declared today that it is not too late to make a return on the seal sent out in November. She pointed out that March 31 marks the official close of the 1947 seal sale on a national basis and the county association must account for all seals by that date.

Receipts amounting to $25,673.80 have been received since Christmas day. There still remains $2,820 outstanding in order to meet the goal of $28,500. Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson, president of the association, points out that the extensive tuberculosis control program is supported by seal sale funds. Stating that the projects of the association have helped "make this a safer, more healthful place in which to live," Mrs. Thompson said the people "cannot afford not to support its work."

The 1948 plan of the association is directed toward the goal of a chest x-ray for every adult. "People may have the disease and spread it to others before they realize they are ill," states Mrs. Thompson. "Early tuberculosis can, however, be discovered by means of the chest x-ray. That is why your tuberculosis association, your health department urge every adult to have a chest x-ray. The case finding activities of the association are financed by the sale of Christmas seals."

The cast is headed by Anne Natalie, who plays the title role of "Penny". The play, a comedy in three acts, concerns the choice of a star to play in a new Hollywood motion picture. Opposite Miss Natalie, and playing the lead male part, is Wilbur Bishoff, who portrays, "Kerry", Penny's boy friend. The play presentations of the play will be given March 15 and 17 to the student body of the school. Proceeds of the presentation will go into the class treasury and will be used for expenses of a proposed trip to Washington.

Name Is Changed To Tinton Falls Civic Association

Shrewsbury Township
Group Has New Vice President, Committees

A proposal that the Shrewsbury Township Civic association revert to its original plan and that the name be changed to the Tinton Falls Civic association was approved at a meeting Monday night in Tinton Falls school. Frank H. Arlinghaus was appointed vice president, a position formerly held by Leon Williams of Pine Brook. New committees named were executive, J. Ritchie Smith chairman, Mrs. Gerald F. Nagle, Alfred Roberts, George Stevens, Dr. Baxter L. Clement; membership, Mrs. R. Bloomfield-Brown chairman, Mrs. John C. Rohrey, Mrs. Allen E. Crawford, Mrs. Wellington Wilkins, Sr., and Edwin C. Reed. The second Monday of each month was selected as regular meeting night.

The resolution, which states the reason for the reorganization, and describes the geographical boundaries of the area to be served, follows:

Resolved, that the Shrewsbury Township Civic association revert to its original organizational plan as hereinafter restated, and that the name of the association be changed to the Tinton Falls Civic association.

In proposing a return to the original concept of the association's civic activities, our members should be reminded that the association was first designed as a small regional group. With each successive meeting, however, more and more residents from other districts, attracted by the aims of the organization, attended the meetings, so that its activities and influence rapidly expanded far beyond its original limits. The unsatisfactory as long as it was the only association dedicated to the benefit of the township. However, during recent months, our neighboring districts have formed civic organizations of their own, patterned along the lines of the Shrewsbury Township Civic association, but dedicated to the problems peculiar to their respective districts.

Again we must be reminded that an important detail of our original program was to work and plan for the development of the township in association with other groups as they were organized. Though coming from different districts, our aims can be identical, although our problems be dissimilar. We maintain that in working efficiently as individual units we will work more efficiently together on township problems. In view of these new developments we can now avoid becoming an overgrown, unwieldy organization, and along with our neighboring groups, concentrate on the strengthening of our respective organizations by working for 100% membership in our allotted areas with a corresponding greater interest and support from the residents.

In view of the foregoing, our present name, Shrewsbury Township Civic association, becomes a misnomer, and will no longer properly identify the group or the region it represents. We recommend that the name be changed to the Tinton Falls Civic association. Incidentally this will make it possible for the regional associations to be known collectively as the Shrewsbury Township Civic associations.

The area to be served by the Tinton Falls association is contained within the following boundaries: Starting at the corner of Sycamore and Shrewsbury avenues and including the properties located on the north side of Sycamore avenue, proceed east to Pine Brook road, then north to Riverdale avenue, then west on Riverdale avenue, including properties on the north side of that avenue, to Nut Swamp road. Then to follow Nut Swamp road and the township boundary line to its crossing Sycamore avenue at Cook's Mills. Thence to the Tinton Falls-Way side road at a point midway between Tinton avenue and Pine Brook road. Then east to Hope road. Then north on Hope road to the township boundary, at which point proceed on a line northeast of Vail Homes to the intersection of the township boundary and the Jersey Central railroad tracks. Then follow the township line to the starting point, the corner of Sycamore and Shrewsbury avenues.

The Shrewsbury Township Civic associations can best serve the interests of the township by forming an executive committee composed of representatives from each group, which will meet regularly, or when necessary, to consider and recommend appropriate action on the broader problems and developments affecting the township.

April and May activities for the Junior group of Monmouth chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, were arranged at a meeting last week at the home of Miss Frances Sherwood in Carocourt. The group will entertain members of Monmouth chapter at their next meeting, Wednesday, April 14, and will hold a special pilgrimage of historic sites and buildings in Shrewsbury and Freehold May 22.

A $5 contribution was sent to the Easter Seal fund, which aids crippled children. A report of the 51st anniversary meeting of the Continental D.A.R. chapter at Plainfield was given by Mrs. J. Spann Jeffers and Mrs. Charles E. Moeller, Jr.

After the meeting members gave a bridal shower for Miss Katharine M. Child.

Expert to Address Monmouth's Poultrymen.

"Brooding and Rearing Problems," a timely poultry topic right now, is to be the subject of a discussion by Professor L. M. Black, the Extension Poultryman of Rutgers university, at a poultrymen's meeting in the Howell township school Wednesday evening, March 17 at 8 p. m. Professor Black is well qualified to discuss this subject, having been a member of the Rutgers staff for nearly 25 years and having traveled over the state during most of that time.

The meeting is open to every interested poultryman in Monmouth county, according to County Agent Clark. The arrangements for the meeting have been made by the F. L. P. Farmers Union Co-operative association, Inc., at Farmingdale, and the program has been prepared by the Monmouth County Extension Service.

Poultry Manure Has Value

If properly applied, poultry manure, is an excellent fertilizer for the leafy crops such as lettuce, cabbage and spinach. Its first value is as a source of nitrogen which these leafy crops need, says C. H. Nissley of Rutgers.

Where large amounts of poultry manure are available at a low cost, vegetable growers would do well to use it and to use it for growing other crops by mixing 300 to 500 pounds of a 20 per cent superphosphate and 140 pounds of 60 per cent of muriate of potash with each 2,000 pounds of dried dropping poultry manure. The mixed product will be equal to about 1,000 pounds of a 4-10-10 commercial fertilizer.

Too Much Water in Your Soil

Is there often just too much water in your soil, especially in the spring? Sedges, weeds, poorly graded yields, and uneven maturity of crop often result from too much water and too little air, says County Agent Clark.

A waterlogged soil is choked for lack of air. This lack shows up as a darker colored surface soil and yellow and gray mottling in the subsoil. In extreme cases the subsoil may become blue-green. Iron hardpan is another result.

K. P. Wilson, soils expert of the Soil Conservation Service, explains that in a waterlogged soil, the big granules melt down to a sticky batter. The small particles swell, and the soil sponge seals itself against the free movement of water and air. Nutrients bacteria and earthworms drown, plants suffocate.

A drowned soil also loses its workability. It clods easily and won't scour off the plow. It is difficult to work down into a good seed bed. Furthermore, the best time to work such a soil is very limited since it always seems to be either too wet or too dry.

To renovate such a soil, a co-ordinated drainage program is necessary. For help on this and technical advice see your county agent and your Soil Conservation District technician.

Plowing Under Cover Crops

When cover crops are planted in the fall, they should be allowed to stand and grow as long as possible in the spring. They should, however, be plowed under at least two to three weeks before the seed of plants of the crop following are to be planted, warns M. A. Clark, agricultural agent.

The time to plow under cover crops depends largely on the top growth which the cover crop has made. In many instances the practice of applying a part of the fertilizer to the cover crop and plowing it under at the same time has worked out advantageously.

The ingredients of the fertilizer, especially the nitrogen, will help decompose the green material and at the same time a portion of the potash and phosphorus is placed in the ground to a depth of from 6 to 8 inches, which is the root zone of the majority of common vegetable crops.

Advise Caution With New Insecticides

Recommendations for the control of vegetable insects in New Jersey in 1948 will be available for distribution within the next few days. These recommendations will be available free from the College of Agriculture and Agricultural Experiment Station, New Brunswick, or from the Monmouth County agricultural agents. They will be printed on cardboard so that they may be hung up and referred to throughout the entire season.

Much has been published about some of the newer insecticides and one who is thinking of using them should read the whole story. In many instances the last paragraph will read like this—"is definitely a poison to rats and rabbits, but toxicity to higher animals has not been fully determined. The material should be handled carefully."

Other paragraphs may end with the statement that the material should not be used until further experimental work has been done to see what effect it may have on the plant and also on human beings who might eat the plant on which it is used.

Killing the insect is one thing, but whether or not the insecticide will affect the plant growth or harm humans is another, so follow the recommendations of the experiment station for 1948.

Skillful Cow Care Heads Off Trouble

The most important time in a cow's life from the management standpoint is through her dry and freshening period, observes Enos J. Perry, extension dairyman at Rutgers university.

He states that a study of the methods of successful dairymen shows that they are on the job in such a skillful way during this period that hard luck doesn't happen to them often.

According to Perry, what often happens is this: A high producing cow completes her lactation in poor flesh and then she is fed too much of a milk-inducing ration to improve the condition. The udder starts to swell and it usually is inconvenient to allow the cow to exercise or even to be in a box stall.

Most dairymen dislike bathing and massaging the udder as an aid to prevent swelling, and as a consequence when the cow freshens, her udder is badly swollen and red and frequently lacking in normal circulation.

Such an udder usually ends up with one or two unbalanced quarters. To make matters worse, such a cow often has a retained placenta which in turn brings on loss of appetite and breeding trouble later.

"It is a serious mistake to allow a cow to end her lactation thin in flesh and then feed her grain heavily in the dry period," Perry explains. "This tends to cause her to put on soft flesh that bags up quickly with attendant swelling. Instead, feed her a little more grain than the orthodox rules of 1 to 3 or 1 to 4 called for during the last two or three months of the lactation."

"When such grain feeding is accompanied by all of the good quality roughage that she can clean up, the cow will reach the end of her milking period in a smooth condition of firm flesh. Only a few pounds of grain will be needed daily during the six to eight weeks dry period, and under troubles and difficulties after calving usually will be avoided."

"A box stall and exercise help, too. Ninety per cent of all cows hauled in this way, freshen with a pliable udder that has no serious swelling, the placenta is voided in a few hours, the appetite is keen and within a few days a good start is made on another profitable lactation."

How to Fix Up Last Year's Spring Outfit

For many folks the proverbial Easter outfit will simply be the re-appearance of last Spring's Sunday best. But lengthening the skirt, doing a professional job of pressing and perhaps adding a new blouse or other accessories to the outfit can do wonders.

Let the hem down first, if you haven't already done this, advises Mrs. Lotna K. White, Monmouth County Home agent. A little longer skirt, even though it isn't the latest, does much to build up your morale. Then press the skirt or dress and coat carefully. Even if this was done before the clothes were put away for the winter, they're bound to need a bit more pressing before appearing for Easter.

When pressing wool garments, use a heavy press cloth. Dip this in warm water and wring it out well. Place it over the part to be pressed, and pat with a warm iron. The steam formed not only removes the wrinkles, but helps brighten the fabric. After this steaming, cover the part with a dry cloth and press briefly. Be careful not to dry out all the moisture from the wool. If you do, you'll find it gets a shiny, over-pressed look. When you've finished the whole garment, carefully hang it on a hanger and let it dry.

For rayon garments, press them on the wrong side, using a lightweight pressing cloth or tissue paper. Don't dampen the cloth, because this may destroy the crepeiness.

A new blouse can often perk up the old suit. Do you have a rayon sheer or print dress that has outlived its usefulness as a dress? Perhaps it will be ideal for a blouse—that is if it blends with the suit. The new blouse styles with pleats or tucks down the front are natural for the use of old fabrics. Hide the pleatings under a pleat, and no one will be the wiser. Blouses with yoke effects are also possibilities, especially when you have small pieces with which to work.

Check on your slips, too, before setting out to wear your Spring clothes. If the slips aren't long enough, put lace on the bottom, or use a big band or ruffle for a more tailored ones. You may even find you can use the best parts of one old slip to lengthen the others.

Home Economics Briefs

Even though 95 per cent of the homes in New Jersey are electrified, many of them have outgrown their wiring systems. They were planned originally just for lights, and now have to carry the load of electrical equipment, too. Perhaps you should get an electrician to check the wiring in your home to see how it can meet your present and future needs.

Housewives who responded to plans to cut consumption of eggs last fall, can now satisfy the family appetite for them. This is the season to use them liberally, because in the Spring of the year egg production normally increases.

To clarify solid used fat from pork, beef and lamb, pour hot water over the fat. Add one cup of water for each cup of fat. Heat this mixture slowly for 10 minutes. Stir well. Strain through a clean cloth. Chill. When the layer of fat that comes to the top is hard, pour off the water. Scrape off any material that may be clinging to the under side. Also, get as much of the water as possible out of the fat. Clarified fats won't keep indefinitely, but they will keep somewhat better than those that aren't clarified.

Never use hot water to try to remove egg stains, for heat makes them much harder to get out.

Cheese made from whole milk contains about one-fourth protein, one-third fat and water, minerals and salt, says Mrs. White, Monmouth County Home Agent. The proportions vary depending on the variety of cheese. Besides being a concentrated rich protein food, cheese is high in vitamins A and B complex, and the minerals it contains are calcium and phosphorus. An ounce of cheddar cheese, now often called American cheese, is about equal in food value to one egg, a glass of milk or two ounces of meat.

Cheese dishes can be popular substitutes for meat, especially when home-makers make full use of the many different varieties of cheese that are available now. Remember that serving more cheese in place of meat will help keep the food bills a bit lower.

Know Your Government

HOW ABOUT THE TAXPAYERS?

Which way are the fiscal winds blowing at the State Capitol? Will the State legislators reach into the taxpayers' pockets for additional millions to meet Governor Driscoll's proposals for the next fiscal year? Or will they hold that spending line until proposals are put into operation to give the taxpayers a fair amount of governmental service for a fair amount of tax dollars?

If the Legislature goes gunning for the taxpayer by passing tax bills which already have been introduced, Jersey's citizens will have to fork over $35,500,000 in taxes on cigarettes, gross receipts, and beer. The average Jersey family then could be hit for $30 a year in new taxation.

To save the taxpayers from this unjust imposition, a slow-down in State spending is urged while a program recently introduced to re-open State expenditures is being effected.

In direct contrast to the new tax plan of the State Administration, which experience shows would foster "freer" spending, the program includes an unbiased study of the State Administration to ferret out all factors contributing to high cost and inefficiency, a legislative "task force" to eliminate all unnecessary spending as such a team of Legislators did in 1938, and realignment of the Teachers Pensions and Annuity Fund to save the taxpayers several million dollars annually.

The New Jersey Taxpayers Association says: "As part of a 10-point plan, such a program has been forwarded to the Governor and the Legislature by this Association as the forerunner of a series of recommendations to save the taxpayers millions. Here's the smart approach to keep the Ship of State off troubled fiscal waters."

If the Legislature decides to set the Ship sailing on an increased spending voyage blown by winds of new taxation, it will be the taxpayer who'll end up on the rocks.

Signs of spring are in evidence. The bark is brightening on willows and colored twigs dogwoods. Pussies are pushing out on willows. In fact, they are well-developed on some early-blooming kinds. Early spring migrant birds are drifting back, so we must get at our garden.

Finish up the pruning of shrubs, trees, fruit plants. Grapes will "bleed" but usually this will do them no harm.

Some vegetables may now be started indoors if you have facilities for growing the seedlings. Don't sow seeds too early if you cannot properly take care of transplanted seedlings. These need space and sunlight for proper development. Make a coldframe. Cabbage, broccoli and cauliflower may be started now.

Fertilize the lawn early, but use a complete fertilizer (5-10-5) about 2 1/2 pounds to 100 square feet. This gives the lawn grasses a good start. Apply lime only if a soil test shows the need. Too much lime is about as bad as too little.

If you want sweet peas, get the seeds in the ground early. Peas start plants in small pots or paper or veneer bands and set them out when the soil is fit to work. An early start will help to get them in bloom before the hot weather that is fatal to best blooming.

The rummage sale held Saturday by Presbyterian talent workers at borough hall was well patronized. William Davis, who is a patient in Allenwood hospital, is reported steadily improving. He plans to spend Easter at home.

A box supper social will be held next Monday at 6:30 p. m. in the Presbyterian chapel.

State House Letter

Trenton, N. J. (AP)—The State house was probably never as "hot"
as it was this week when Maj. Gen.
Clifford R. Powell unleashed a series of blasts against Gov. Driscoll.

Charging Driscoll with a political dictatorship, Powell tendered his resignation as chief of staff to the chief executive. Driscoll refused to accept the resignation, and Powell later said he would continue "to serve as a soldier."

The political fire was ignited by an alleged telephone call made by House Majority Leader Hugh I.
Mehorter (R-Gloucester). Powell said Mehorter called Assemblyman Albert McKay (R-Burlington) to direct him "to tell me I would have to get in line for State Treasurer Robert C. Hendrickson," a candidate for the Republican U. S. Senate nomination.

Commanding General of the N. J.
National Guard, Powell told Driscoll he was willing to support the candidacy of Harry C. Harper for the Republican senate nomination.
He said he was resigning "to spare you (Driscoll) the necessity of making good the threat to eliminate me from your cabinet."

Powell in his letter of resignation said McKay was told to "invite my attention to the fact that 'Governor Driscoll made Cliff Powell with one stroke of the pen and could break him with one stroke of the pen,' and also that the governor proposed to be extremely tough with all persons who did not support his candidacy."

Powell added, "last Friday you summoned me to your office and clearly indicated there was no room in New Jersey government for anyone who would not support Hendrickson. You certainly proved to be extremely tough at that time. If this is democratic action, it is Joe Stalin's type of democracy."

Driscoll later asserted there was a misunderstanding. Driscoll, who is supporting Hendrickson for the nomination, said he had no objection to Powell or any other state official "exercising their citizenship in any way they choose" but that he was seriously concerned with the implications of the chief of staff "becoming campaign manager in a political campaign."

The governor asserted that in a conversation with Powell last week he had made that point clear. At the time, he said, he was under the impression Powell was to act as Harper's manager.

Powell's resignation did not affect his $10,743 annual salary as commander of the 30th Armored division, the state's national guard unit. The post of chief of staff is non-salaried.

Powell, who lives in Delanco, Burlington county, was a candidate for the GOP nomination for governor in 1937, losing to Rev. Lester
H. Clee. Hendrickson was Clee's manager in that campaign.

In his letter to Driscoll, Powell said: "This is the first time during my 35 years of service that a governor has tried to force his political will upon the national guard, or that one of its officers has been threatened with liquidation if he did not support a candidate for the governor's choice."

"I have fought two wars against dictatorship and to preserve democracy only to find that great pressure has been made in the creation of a dictatorship in my native state."

The day after his initial blast on Monday, Powell issued another statement in his attack on Driscoll.
He emphasized an earlier charge that Hendrickson was running against his will only because Driscoll had ordered him to do so.

Denying a report he was withdrawing his resignation, Powell said he would never withdraw it and added he proposed to oppose Hendrickson, whom he called a hand-picked candidate.

"Bob Hendrickson admits that he has to take orders from the governor and is a candidate only because ordered to run," Powell said.

The attacks by Powell follow a similar blast last week by Senator Albert W. Hawkes of Montclair, who withdrew Friday as a candidate for re-election. In bowing out of the Republican primary, Hawkes charged Driscoll and other leaders with "an attempt to rule or ruin the state." Driscoll replied that "the charges xxx are patently false."

His withdrawal reduced the senatorial field to three candidates,
Hendrickson, Harper and City
Commissioner Herbert F. Myers, Jr., of Hackensack.

Hawkes' withdrawal statement said: "Gov. Driscoll, Senator Smith (R-N. J.), and Robert C. Hendrickson, supplemented by their man Friday, Lloyd Marsh, the little political boss from Passaic county, have formed a South Jersey coalition in an attempt to rule or ruin
the state."

"If these New Deal Republicans are successful in their scheme to take over both U. S. Senatorial posts they will have a stranglehold on the party."

Hawkes announced his intention to seek re-election last December while Driscoll and other party leaders, who looked upon him as "too conservative," and out of step with the state's views on foreign policy, sought an opposition candidate.

The senator had been silent on his candidacy since the unfavorable reaction to his "hate Roosevelt" speech at the annual Washington dinner of the N. J. State Chamber of Commerce. At that time he said:
"I have never hated anyone longer than overnight. There is one exception—and he lies buried in Hyde Park."

Legislature

The legislative reconvened Monday after its annual mid-winter recess, but took little action. A batch of bills was introduced, but few were passed or acted upon during a short session.

One legislative measure offered this week looked as the subject of controversy—with opposition expected mainly from sportsmen. The bill would require persons possessing firearms to obtain a permit

from a county court or common pleas judge.

Under the proposed law, a person under 18 years of age would be barred from receiving a permit but would be allowed to use a gun if he is a licensed hunter and is accompanied in the field by an authorized adult. Permits would be issued to each possessor at $1 for three years. Those having guns after July 1, without a permit would be subject to conviction for a misdemeanor.

Sportsmen have indicated opposition, asserting their constitutional rights to own guns are being violated. Because of the expected opposition, the bill, introduced by Assemblyman James Sanderson (R-Essex), was referred to the house's game and fish committee headed by Frank W. Shershin (R-Passaic).
Shershin set March 23, at 8 p. m.,
for a public hearing on the measure.

The proposal to regulate the possession of guns was made last week by Attorney General Walter D. VanTiger, who saw such a move as an effort to curb juvenile delinquency. The proposal was made in the wake of a wave of juvenile crimes in North Jersey municipalities.

Board of Education

The state board of education confirmed Commissioner John H. Rosshart's reappointment of Albert M.
Bean as Camden county superintendent of schools. The board, however, failed to take action on the appointment of a Hunterdon county superintendent, which post was made vacant by death.

Keyport Council Adopts Budget

Applegate Objects To Amendment

Keyport's amended budget for 1948 was adopted Monday night at a three-hour meeting of the borough council which featured a protest by Charles E. Applegate, Keyport's only Democratic councillor, and an aspirant to the mayoralty
in the coming election, against Major Peter O. Weigand's supposed failure to call for a public hearing on the budget at the previous meeting.

Councillman Everett Poling, Hop-la and George Davis claimed that the mayor had indicated a public hearing, but since there was no one present at the meeting to protest or approve, he had gone on to the amendment.

Mr. Applegate insisted that the mayor had failed to call the hearing because he, Mr. Applegate, had a statement to present at such a hearing, objecting to the budget in its present form. Mr. Poling asked him why he didn't call the mayor's attention to the supposed omission at the time, and Mr. Applegate replied, "That is up to the mayor, not to me."

When the amended budget was presented, Mr. Applegate again objected. He said that he was not objecting to the change, but to the principle involved.

The contract for surfacing Clark street was awarded to Charles J.
Hesse of Belford. An ordinance to prevent all night parking was laid for a sewer extension into Architectural Tiling company was passed. The company will pay for three fourths of the cost while the borough will stand for the one quarter, not to exceed $4,000.

The collector's office will be closed from March 10 to 20, during which time Collector George Birch will be on vacation.
Ordinances providing for five per cent increases in base pay of borough employees, for improvement of the shore front, and purchase of a chlorinator, a truck and a snow plow, were passed on first reading.
A resolution was adopted providing for bonuses for borough employees.
