Proposition To Be Placed On Ballot In November

The mayor and council of Rumson last Thursday night adopted a resolution providing for a referendum on a proposal to increase salaries of the members of the police department $500 annually.

The resolution was introduced by Councilman Charles B. Harding, chairman of the police committee. He stated it was being introduced at the request of the police department. The council, without making any recommendation for or against the increase, worded the resolution to the effect that the governing body favors the request of the police department in obtaining the sentiment of the voters.

The proposition will be included on the November ballot. If approved, the chief of police will receive $4,100, the captain $3,740 and the patrolmen $3,400.

Residents of Meadowbrook avenue submitted a petition requesting the council to accept the street for public use. The petition also requested that curbing be installed on the street at the property owners' expense.

At the suggestion of Councilman Harold J. Goetschius, chairman of the road committee, the matter was referred to the borough engineer, George K. Allen.

Councilman Harding reported the installation of traffic flashing warning lights at the intersection of Ridge road and Bellevue avenue and Ridge road and Avenue of Two Rivers. Two new police cars are expected to arrive this week.

An ordinance calling for cutting hedges and bushes at least 25 feet back at intersections was adopted. The ordinance also places a minimum height of three feet for hedges and bushes.

Councilman Randall M. Keator, Jr., reported completion of the bulkhead on the sewage plant property at West park, and Mr. Goetschius reported that the resurfacing of Ward avenue has been completed.

Councilman Peter H. E. Cummings, finance chairman, reported collections at the half-year mark were 45.5 per cent, which is basically the same as last year.

New Caramel Shop Opens Near Hotel

Business To Feature Special Ice Creams

Frank Peterson and Lou Apostolou, former owner-operators of the Caramel Sweed shop on Broad street, have sold their Broad street business, and last Thursday opened a new establishment to be known as the Caramel Ice Cream shop.

The new business is located on Riverside avenue, between Morford and Bridge avenue, just below the Molly Pitcher hotel.

Mr. Peterson and Mr. Apostolou purchased the site from Joseph G. McCue. At one time the building housed the real estate offices of the late Mabel Cox and later the McCue interests had their Red Bank headquarters there.

The building has been remodeled into an attractive modern shop, designed by the owners and William P. Scott, building contractor. The shop has a seating capacity of 65, and facilities for curb service. Ample parking space, for more than 40 cars is available.

The shop has been decorated in Delft blue and gray, and features a long modern fountain on one side with wide picture windows in the back, and booths with seats covered in blue leather, on the other.

Other decorations include modern blue and white indirect lighting and blue and white block-design linoleum flooring.

Mr. Peterson has been a Red Bank businessman since 1934, when he opened his former business. The new shop will feature home-made ice cream which is made in a special building on the property, called the "ice-cream room".

The modern ice cream freezer is capable of making 40 quarts of ice cream in five minutes. Two large storage freezers are also built in to the building, where the ice cream will be stored. Ice cream will be sold by the pound and in special large containers for parties. This portion of the business will be in charge of Mr. Peterson, and he is planning to feature along with the regular flavors, chocolate, vanilla and strawberry, unusual flavors which are his own special recipe.

Mr. Apostolou will manage the soda fountain, assisted by John Kussa, who was also associated with the men in the other business. The fountain will feature sodas, sundaes and desserts, which are all home-made. Sandwiches will be served as well as a special line of snacks, and light lunches.

Special Sale One week only. Men's white and novelty striped shirts, $1.66, value up to $2.95. Home Outfitting Co., 146 Monmouth street, Red Bank.—Advertisement.

Lincroft Scouts Granted Charter

Boy Scout troop 110 of Lincroft and Holmdel received its charter last Thursday night at a charter dinner given by the Kiwanis club of Lincroft and Holmdel, which sponsors the troop. The dinner was held at the Lincroft Inn, with members of the club and the newly organized troop attending.

Arthur B. Sickles, lieutenant governor, a Scout since 1910, presented the charter to the Scouts. Other credentials were distributed by James Howard—to Scoutmaster Charles Applegate and to members of the troop committee. Scoutmaster Applegate then lined up his troop and presented them with membership cards and Tenderfoot pins. Guest at the dinner was Morgan C. Knapp, assistant commissioner of Monmouth County Boy Scout Council.

The troop committee is headed by Mr. Howard. Assisting him are Henry Cross, Gerard P. Domidun, David Timidalski, George Boyte, Richard Hammond and Harold Kelly.

Boy Scouts attending, who have become charter members of the troop, are Albert Boylan, Cecil Sprung, W. Chandler White, Jr., James W. Howard, Jr., Thomas Erickson, Jack Silcox, Ronald Mitnick, William Hallman, Peter Howard, Francis Joseph Kelly, Bob Slaven, Eddie Check and George Cross, Cub Scout. The troop holds its meeting Monday nights at the Lincroft fire house.

Three pieces of fire apparatus and two ambulances were purchased at a cost of $33,400. The company made a contribution of $5,200 toward the cost of purchasing the lot on River road on which the firemen hold their fair, and toward the war memorial park directly across the street.

A few weeks ago the company bought a lot at the corner of River road and Battin road as a site for a new fire house. The cost was $7,500. One of the latest contributions was $500 toward the cost of a community baseball field.

All these gifts were made possible, said Mr. Sickles, through proceeds received from the annual firemen's fair at Fair Haven.

Mayor Edgar V. Denise said it was "gratifying to hear the report," and he urged the residents of the borough to show their appreciation by patronizing this year's fair, which runs from July 31 to August 7 inclusive. Mr. Denise recalled several instances in which the firemen contributed to the school. One, he said, was a basketball net costing $400 for the Willow street school.

The firemen for the new fire house has a frontage of 287 feet on River road and 400 feet on Battin road.

A general meeting of the committee in charge of the annual harvest home and bazaar of St. James church, to be conducted the week of August 23rd, was held in the auditorium of Red Bank Catholic high school Monday evening. Miss Mary Burke acted as secretary.

Mr. Ralph Kilzen was appointed chairman. Rev. Joseph Sheehan will be in charge of the supper committee; the bazaar committee will be under the direction of Rev. Edward W. Hughes. It is planned to have a feature attraction each evening. There will be a fashion show August 23d, the supper will be held Wednesday evening; the bulk now on display in front of Red Bank Catholic high school will be awarded Saturday evening, August 28.

Committees and their members are: tickets, Mrs. Fred Crine, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Harry McCormick, Mrs. Rita Douglas, and Misses Margaret Ward and Margaret Kelly; refreshments, Mrs. Joseph Alexander and Mrs. Thomas Corcoran, and fancy articles, Mrs. Ella Wiltshire, chairman.

General committee: Mrs. Cecelia Domitoni, Mrs. Gladys Garvey, Mrs. Lavinia Hintelmann; Mrs. Lawrence Roche, Mrs. Edward Healey; Mrs. Joseph Laurino, Sr.; Mrs. James H. Anderson, Mrs. Andrew Dedick, Mrs. Mae Ryan; Mrs. Florence Kauf, Miss Mary Gail, Mrs. Julia Kniff, Mrs. John Finnegan, Mrs. Clayton Held, Mrs. George Knapp, Mrs. Edward Daubenschmidt, Mrs. Elizabeth Merriman, Mrs. William Cross, Misses Bernadette and Veronica Emmons, and Fred Crine, Joseph Laurino, William Domitoni, Frank Wise and John Gault, Jr.

The bazaar will be held at the home of Virginia Mary Sodality will furnish a hand-made Afghan to be disposed of at the bazaar. Members of the sodality committee are Misses Patricia Ruddy, Virginia Macho, Dorothy Hoffman, Vera Cotton, Jean Patterson, Joan Coughlin, Louise Crisp and Betty Kniffin.

Firemen's Gifts To Fair Haven Total $97,880

Arthur B. Sickles Tells Boro Officials Of Contributions

Arthur B. Sickles, former mayor of Fair Haven, told the mayor and council there Monday night that since 1921 a total of $97,880 has been expended by the fire company on fire-fighting equipment, civic improvements and contributions to welfare work, churches and schools. Prior to 1921, Mr. Sickles said the fire company's contributions included purchase of land and erection of present fire house and erection of a fire alarm tower.

Mr. Sickles grouped church, school and welfare contributions and community Christmas parties together. These totaled $51,250. During the depression years, the welfare board of the fire company provided clothing, food and shelter for most of the borough's unfortunate families.

The over-crowded conditions in the Tinton Falls school have led to agitation for the construction of an addition to the school. No time for a referendum has yet been set. The school board, faced by a substantial increase in enrollment in the fall, advanced the proposition for temporary use of rooms in the Alfred Vail recreation hall. Application for such use was made to the CHRA and tentative approval obtained.

At the June meeting of the board of education it was decided that all the pre-primary and first grade classes would be housed there until the projected school addition is completed. Many residents of Vail homes, understanding the situation and interested primarily in the school, have accepted the temporary curtailment of activities customarily housed in the recreation hall but some have circulated a petition protesting the use of the building for school purposes.

The recreation hall includes an auditorium, kitchen, nurse and doctor's rooms, two rooms used for boy scout and other activities and two rooms originally set up as a child care center. The building is well lighted and heated and has good recreational facilities. The rooms originally intended for the child care center have been in use for some time, one by a co-operative nursery, and the other as a church, with Rev. Edwin A. Seaburg serving as pastor.

The backers of the petition appeared in the church on the Sunday morning. The school board has agreed to minimum interference with community use of the building for the customary activities, but the nursery school would have to be temporarily eliminated. The church would function as usual from Friday to Monday, although some feel that the atmosphere surrounding the room would be destroyed by its use during the week for secular purposes.

In any event, objections to the proposed plan are working hard. No other space is available in the township, and the board considers this plan the only alternative to a session school, difficult in a rural area.

The whole problem is also tied up with another petition which has been reported in an earlier issue of The Register and which originated with Lieut. Col. Emil Engel of Tinton avenue. This is a request to the legislature for permission to evict from the township the whole Alfred Vail project, put up during the war to house war workers, and containing a number of workers in Fort Monmouth and the Signal Corps laboratories.

No statement has been made as to when this will happen in the approximately 200 children from Vail homes who expect to receive their education from Shrewsbury township incidentally, the budget report issued by the Shrewsbury township board of education earlier this year states that a profit of better than $60 a child is made by the inclusion of Vail homes children in the local schools. This, it was reported, results from a payment to the board of about $20,000 in the coming year, plus unusually heavy state aid payments for Vail homes children.

The question as to how this loss in revenue would be made up by local taxpayers has not been answered by proponents of the "eviction" petition. The latter feel that Shrewsbury township has always been predominantly rural and that the presence there of the housing project threatens the accustomed way of life.

More Excitement Brewing In Twp. Of Shrewsbury

Vail Homes Problem Added To School Building Program

The unaccustomed calm which has prevailed in Shrewsbury township since primary time promises to be disturbed soon if recent happenings are any indication. To the ever-present split over school costs and the projected school building program is added the proposal of "evicting" the Alfred Vail homes, the FPHA development located in the township.

The one familiar figure missing from the present embroigle is the supervising principal, Russell G. Ranney, who has been a leader in the fight for better schools since his arrival two years ago. Mr. Ranney, an infantry captain in the ORC, is on temporary active duty for the summer at Fort Monmouth, and is reportedly enjoying the peace of army life.

The over-crowded conditions in the Tinton Falls school have led to agitation for the construction of an addition to the school. No time for a referendum has yet been set. The school board, faced by a substantial increase in enrollment in the fall, advanced the proposition for temporary use of rooms in the Alfred Vail recreation hall. Mass Tomorrow For War Veteran

Middletown Man Killed in France

A solemn high requiem mass will be offered Friday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, Keyport, by Msgr. John F. Burke for T/4 Michael Bonifacio of Headen's Corner, who died August 12, 1944, at Brest, France, from battle injuries received three days before. The body arrived at the Day funeral home, Keyport, yesterday.

Tonight members of the American legion of Keyport and the Catholic War veterans organization of St. Joseph's church will conduct services at the funeral home. Burial will be held tomorrow morning at Mt. Olivet cemetery. Bearers will be members of the Middletown township fire company of Headen's Corner, of which the deceased was a member.

T/4 Bonifacio was born in New York when he died. He was attached to Company C, 25th Armored Engineers Battalion and had posthumously received the Bronze Star. Bonifacio entered the service March 18, 1942, and received his basic training at Fort Belvoir, Va. He was sent overseas in December, 1943.

4 Bonifacio was born in New York city, son of the late Frank and Anna Bonifacio. He had been a member of the Middletown township fire company of Headen's Corner and was a carpenter-contractor by trade.

Surviving are two brothers, Donald Bonifacio of Keyport and Frank Bonifacio of Red Bank, and four sisters, Mrs. Rose Gallatro of California, Miss Elaine Bonifacio of Red Bank, Mrs. Emma Contallo of Newark and Mrs. Mary DeStacio of Bronx, N. Y.

Officers are Jack Keane, councilor; Mrs. Alice Downen, associate councilor; Mrs. Myra Fox, vice councilor; Mrs. Olive Crofton, associate vice councilor; Mrs. Grace Scott, guide; Roland Scott, secretary; Mrs. Barbara Hoyer, associate recording secretary; Miss Norman, treasurer; Mrs. Keane, financial secretary; Charles Downen, outside guard; Mrs. Cora Downen, inside guard; and Harry Downen, trustee.

A Pollyanna birthday party will be held at the next meeting Tuesday and members observing their birthdays during July and August will be honored.

Woman Injured In Rumson Accident

Mrs. Martha Krainski of South River was injured Saturday afternoon in an automobile accident at the intersection of Black Point road and the Avenue of Two Rivers, Rumson.

According to Capt. William Barr, who investigated for Rumson police, car driven by Mrs. Mildred F. Anderson of Black Point road and Anthony E. Krainski, husband of the injured woman, collided damaging both vehicles. Mrs. Krainski was taken to the office of Dr. Stephen Casagrande by Mr. Anderson. There were no complaints.

Cats driven by Matthew Caha of Newark and Malcolm D. Horton of 107 Forrest avenue, Fair Haven, collided Sunday at the intersection of Ridge road and Bingham avenue. Rumson Patrolman, Beth G. Johnson investigated. There were no injuries.

POSTPONE HEARING

Osborn Park City Manager J. Oliver Armstrong Friday permitted a one-week postponement in the hearing for Patrolman Anthony Carrino, who has been under suspension since a fatal shooting in which his service revolver was used. A gun used by Carrino's foster son, Anthony Carrino, Jr., 15, went off when the boy was engaged in a scuffle with Charles Bowles, 17, June 29. The Bowles boy died the next day. A complaint was filed by Police Chief Leroy E. Holloway charging Carrino with violation of a departmental regulation on the care of weapons.

Minimum Housing Standards Urged Through V.F.W.

Push Legislation To Protect Veterans From Profiteers

The prompt establishment of "minimum building standards" for all veterans' housing has been strongly recommended to the Veterans Administration by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Benjamin Ross, Adjutant of V.F.W. post, No. 438, Red Bank, started today.

The V.F.W. suggestion was the result of a letter sent to Commander-in-Chief Ray H. Brannaman by Carl R. Gray, administrator of Veterans affairs. The letter revealed the V.A. is giving serious thought to setting up such a plan and the views of the V.F.W. were requested.

Increasing complaints by veterans of sub-standard construction in new housing projects, Mr. Ross declared, have prompted the V.F.W. to advocate for many months effective legislation to protect the veteran from unscrupulous housing profiteers.

Mr. Ross explained that the V.F.W. feels the code must not be so rigid as to retard construction of houses in any way, but it should have sufficient teeth in it to give full protection to the veteran who is not familiar with housing construction.

It is believed that all major veteran organizations will stand behind the program the V.A. is studying. Also, there is no reason, Mr. Ross says, reputable builders should not endorse the proposal as a means of protecting veterans from "jerry builders" and forcing fly-by-night operators to build suitable houses or get out of the industry.

A White House conference was recently held, Mr. Ross stated, at which representatives from major veteran groups conferred with top government housing officials regarding the proposal. The conference was initiated by the V.F.W. to form a program for handling veterans' complaints and aimed at eventual elimination of causes for such protests.

Tex Bencke And His Orchestra

Tex Bencke and His Orchestra, who will appear at Convention Hall, Boardwalk, Asbury Park, for one week starting July 14th, through July 20th, has the largest aggregation of musicians and vocalists in the popular dance music field. There are 29 musicians and six vocalists.

Tex Bencke

Tex Bencke is the number one dance orchestra in the United States. He has just broken all records at the Capitol theater in New York city, being held there for eight weeks in March and April of this year. Well over a million of his fans have seen him there. His latest recording of "St. Louis Blue March" is quickly climbing to number one position in the most requested record in America.

Featured with Tex Bencke are the "Moonlight Serenaders", one of the most popular quartets in the music business. Pete Candoli, trumpeter, is an esquire award winner. Also featured is Jack Sperling, natural drummer man.

Tex Bencke and His Orchestra is famous for their unique arrangements and song styling and of course Tex Bencke is still one of the nation's leading saxophonist and novelty vocalists.

New Jersey Tea is the popular name of Ceanothus Americanus, a white-flowered plant that Indians and early settlers used in making tea.

Chamber Bulletin

The July issue of the Red Bank Community Chamber of Commerce bulletin appeared in the mail Monday morning.

New members of the Chamber are the China and Glass shop, 57 Broad street; Welcome Wagon Service, 107 Monmouth street, and the Asbury Park Press, Asbury Park, whose Red Bank office is in the Doremus building on Broad street.

An appeal is being made to the merchants to send in their contributions now to the Christmas decoration fund. The assessment is based on $2 per foot front of each respective business house.

Robert Reoussille is soliciting answers to a questionnaire to the Red Bank business and industrial firms as to whether a Red Bank exposition should be held this fall in the Red Bank armory.

New residents or those who have changed their residences since the last bulletin was listed are Linus C. Richardson, Richard C. Dahlman and Dorothy Simms, Riverside avenue; Lloyd C. Nelson, Mount street; Douglas B. Gardner, Pinckney road; George Belovus, Garfield and Grant places; Edward Buonano, Westside avenue; Albert G. DeMere and Louis Alataas, Spring street; Helen T. Hungerford, East Front street; David M. Barton, South street; Edward Kennedy, Irving place; Charles M. Fountain, Harding road; Nicholas P. Mazucco, Beattie park; Jessie M. Corbett, Leighton avenue, and Coronne Saunders, Shrewsbury avenue, Red Bank; Douglas Downs, Shrewsbury; Leon A. Buckalew and Edward F. Rogers, Middletown; Ulysses G. Allen, The Cellar, Inc., Harry Zager and Alphonso Palumbo, Fair Haven, and Charles P. Burns, Little Silver.

Assign Local Soldier To Infantry In Japan

Pvt. Jesse Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Johnson of West Bergen place, Red Bank, has recently been assigned to Company K, 24th Infantry, at Camp Gifu, Japan, a part of the 25th Infantry (Tropic Lightning) division, commanded by Brig. Gen. Everett E. Brown.

Pvt. Johnson entered the army in January, 1948, and received his basic training at Fort Dix. He departed for overseas duty in May.

F. W. Barker,
Patent Lawyer,
Dies At Home

Fair Haven Man
Represented Ford
In Auto Suit

Frederick William Barker, 63, of 119 Hance road, Fair Haven, former patent attorney for the Ford Motor company, died last Thursday evening.

Mr. Barker was born in London, England, son of the late Walter and Amelia Elizabeth Bonney Barker. He received his education at Whitgift school and Croydon academy, England.

A patent attorney in the early days of the automobile, Mr. Barker represented Henry Ford in the famous Selden suit in the early 1900's. At that time Selden claimed a patent on all automotive power. Several large motor companies went along and paid heavy fees to the Selden company for the right to use this power. However, Ford, leading a small group of automobile manufacturers, contested and eventually won the suit.

With the advent of the airplane, Mr. Barker became associated with several aeronautical manufacturers. He was director and treasurer of the V. J. Burnelli Airplanes, Inc., of New York city; director of the Central Aeronautical corporation and served as director and president of the Aeronautical society of America during World War I. He also served on the United States Board of Aviation during that war.

Other organizations to which Mr. Barker belonged are the New York Patent Law association, the St. George society of New York, the British Schools and Universities club, the British Luncheon club of which he had been president and vice president, and the Rumson Country club.

Mr. Barker was also an author. In 1916 he edited the "Aero-World", a periodical, in 1920 he penned the book, "Epitome of the World's Patent Laws", and in 1926 he wrote a book concerning contamination in life and how to gain it. His latest book, "Invention Is The Center of Aeronautics", was written in 1922. Mr. Barker had also contributed to several magazines and newspapers.

At his death he was still practicing patent law. In 1938 Mr. Barker married Mrs. Constance Beatrice Reynolds Barker. She died in 1918. Ten years later he married the former Mabel M. Parker, who died last April. This marriage took place at New Rochelle.

He was an ardent sportsman enjoying golf and other outdoor games. He was an expert chess and bridge player.

Mr. Barker, who had been a resident of Fair Haven 12 years, is survived by two sons, Conrad Walter Barker of Old Greenwich, Conn., and Mark Stanley Barker of Montville, and three daughters, Mrs. Dorothy E. Hurst of Rye, N. Y., Mrs. Amy E. Macdonald of New Jersey and Miss Edythe C. Barker of Washington, D. C.

W.S.C.S. Meets At Sea Bright

August 14 Date Set
For Church Fair

Plans for the annual Sea Bright Methodist church fair to be held Saturday, August 14, under sponsorship of the choir, were arranged at a meeting last Thursday night of the Woman's Society of Christian Service at the parsonage. The fair will be held on the church property on Ocean avenue.

Mrs. Lillian West, chairman of the recent cake sale held by the choir, reported that which will go into the W.S.C.S. treasury. Plans for the setting up of tables for the fair will be completed at the next meeting of the society to be held Thursday, August 12, in the lecture room of the church.

Announcement was made of the gift to the church of a carpet from Mrs. B. G. Pasukus, summer resident of Ocean avenue.

After the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Emily Stevens and Mrs. Bertha Griffin. Present were Mrs. Stephanie Swenson, Mrs. Mabel Kanehl, Mrs. Violet Johnson, Mrs. Eleanor Johnson, Mrs. Helma Johnson, Mrs. Eleanor Lindsay, Mrs. Sarah Layton, Mrs. Selma Swenson, Mrs. Bertha Griffin, Mrs. Alberta White, Mrs. Emily Stevens, Mrs. Stolle, Mrs. Lillian West, Rev. and Mrs. Joseph S. Eldridge and granddaughter, Louise Powell.

SEEK HOTEL BILL VETO

Attorney General Walter D. Van Riper urged Governor Driscoll last week to veto or seek to put teeth in a compromise bill to improve fire safety in New Jersey hotels. "When it is realized," said Van Riper, "that if the bill recently passed should become law, the penalty which could be imposed for not providing proper safety standards against fire for overnight guests in hotels where lives of a large number of persons are at stake is less than that provided for the catching of a fish out of season, it quickly becomes apparent how ineffective this bill would be preventing violations of the law and how it would completely fail to protect hotel occupants."

Dishes are much easier to wash if they are rinsed as soon as possible after eating; then plates, serving dishes, sauce dishes and platters may be stacked.

Baker Submits Annual Report Of Improvement Association

Following is the annual report made by Newcombe C. Baker, president of the Rumson Improvement Association, at the 37th annual meeting held recently at the Rumson Country club:

Tonight marks the completion of the 37th year in the life of the Rumson Borough Improvement Association.

While on the whole, nothing untoward has occurred, your officers and members of the executive committee have kept alert to the happenings in the community and have achieved, I believe, creditable results.

Through the financial assistance of our association and the efforts of William H. Hintelmann, chairman of the Rumson Shade Tree Commission, the Accurate Tool company of Newark, New Jersey, sprayed 495 elm trees, 143 for the borough and 352 on private property, at a cost to the association of $594.60. The results have been fairly gratifying although a few cases of the Dutch elm disease have appeared this year. We recommend to all members that they contact either their own local tree men or the Accurate Tool company and have their elms sprayed this year.

The condition of the body of water known as Polly's pond became quite unbearable last summer. Our association brought the matter to the attention of the borough council who took immediate action to remedy the situation. Funds were set aside for a survey of the pond and, through the efforts of our state senator, Stanley Herbert, a bill was introduced in the State Legislature to dredge the pond entrance to allow a free flow of water in and out. At present the funds have not been appropriated to effect, the commencement of the work, but we are advised efforts are being made to have this accomplished.

In order to try and stop the recurring damage to property at Haloween, our association, in collaboration with the fire companies, the P.T.A. and other civic organizations, arranged a parade and fancy dress party at the Rumson high school. The affair was very well attended, and the usual trouble for the Police department was practically eliminated. We hope to continue this effort this summer and have contributed $100 to the Rumson Recreation committee, who with the same civic bodies, have arranged for a summer play school for the younger children of the borough.

Through the good offices of our Mayor, J. Edward Wilson, and our Borough Clerk, Albert A. Kerr, Jr., our vice president, Mr. Despard has arranged for a series of band concerts to be held at two-week intervals in Victory park. The Atlantic Highlands Municipal band, consisting of 50 musicians, will conduct the concert which started on the evening of June 29th. Our association has underwritten this project by subscribing $300 and we hope that the concert will prove of interest and pleasure to the residents.

The pamphlets giving the names, addresses and telephone numbers of business and professional people located in the borough, met again with the unusual demand. We printed 400 copies and all were used up almost immediately. This year we are planning to print 500 copies and hope that they will increase the business in the community and be of help to the residents.

Negotiations for bus service on Rumson road finally came to naught due to many reasons. The Borough bus company did all they could to work out a plan, but various regulations of the Public Utility Commission made the idea unfeasible.

The real estate situation is in the shade. Considerable new building has occurred and in spite of high costs seems to be continuing. Our association has kept its eyes on the various developments which have been started with a view to preventing any building which might be detrimental to the community. The Planning Board and the Zoning Board of Adjustment appear to have the situation well in hand and we should like to commend both of them and the borough council for their wide-awake attitude in this regard. Good developments are an asset to the community and should be encouraged, but ill conceived ones should not be allowed to start.

The tax situation continues to be as good as can be expected with rising costs of all services. Assessed values increased $95,000 during the year, the second increase since 1931. With rising values these assessments should continue to increase as building continues. For the benefit of our members who are not taxpayers, we submit herewith the notes of the Mayor and Council enclosed with the current tax bills and outlining the reasons for their record in keeping down borough expenses as well as they have.

To Rumson taxpayers: Your tax bill for the first half of 1948 was sent you before the requirements for the county, local schools and the Borough of Rumson were determined, and in accordance with state law, was figured at one-half of your total tax for 1947. The enclosed bill for the second half of 1948 is adjusted to make up the total required for the entire year. The tax rate is $5.865 for each $100 of assessed valuation, an increase of $0.03 over 1947. You will no doubt be interested in the reasons for this slight increase and the other pertinent facts which follow:

Ratables (total assessed value of property on which the tax rate is figured) increased again this year. This increase amounts to $96,045, bringing the total to $6,855.30. It is not large enough to have much effect on the tax rate, but is a continuing good sign and it is hoped will increase from now on.

The major items of increase in the borough budget are salaries, $6,900 and materials $1,275. By effecting certain economies it was possible to grant an increase in wages to our municipal employees, without effecting a substantial increase in the tax rate.

Your municipal government is continuing to make every effort to practice economy and at the same time to maintain efficient operations throughout the Borough. In comparing the figures shown on the reverse side, it will be noted that the cost of the local schools has been reduced by $6,440.25 and the Board of Education should be commended for this saving. The total for municipal purposes of $127,850.16 shows a slight increase over last year and is accounted for by the increase in salaries. It will also be noted that the county figure has increased by roughly $7,000.

Your borough government will be glad to answer any inquiries and will welcome suggestions at any time.

The Mayor and Council, Borough of Rumson, N. J.

As you can see from the treasurer's report, our income last year was $600 and our expenses $1,167, leaving a balance on hand of $9,775. The largest item was, of course, the elm tree spraying. In the item of stationery and printing was the cost of the booklets which I referred to previously. We made our contribution to the New Jersey Taxpayers association and believe that this organization is doing an excellent job throughout the state.

The rural free delivery service seems to be functioning satisfactorily, but I should like to again call the attention of the members to the dilapidated condition of some of the mail boxes. The mail boxes themselves are not attractive, but can be made so with a little effort, and it is our hope that all members will do what they can to keep their mail boxes in an attractive condition.

In the report of the Monmouth County Mosquito Commission, you have been advised that if you contemplate any public affair and would like to have anti-mosquito spraying done, you may call Red Bank 6-0870 and receive from the commission as much co-operation as possible.

For the benefit of new members, I should like to say again that our association was organized and exists to watch out for the interests of the residents of the community. We do not contribute money to situations where the community in general is solicited so that there will be no duplication of contributions. Our executive committee embraces residents of the community interested in practically all of its activities and organizations. It includes real estate men, members of the board of governors of the Rumson Country club, Sea Bright Beach club, Sea Bright Lawn Tennis and Cricket club, Rumson Country Day school, Monmouth Memorial hospital and Pitkin hospital, besides businessmen in the community. We are non-political and everyone serves without compensation.

We should like to thank, on behalf of the Association, all our members for their co-operation and support and trust that every member will bring our attention to any matter they deem should be attended to during the coming year.

Newcombe C. Baker, President.

The good things of prosperity are to be wished, but the good things that belong to adversity are to be admired.—Seneca.

Holmes Resigns From State Post

Elberon Man Subject Of Jetty Controversy

Frank D. Holmes of Elberon resigned this week as state director of navigation. The controversy over a $1,000,000 jetty project near his home is continuing.

Mr. Holmes, whose resignation will not be effective until October, at which time the post would have been abolished, admitted he may have been indiscreet in having interest in properties which are enhanced by construction of jetties with state funds under his direction.

The experimental jetty construction, designed to control beach erosion, has been under investigation of Governor Driscoll since disclosures that Mr. Holmes was one of several private property owners whose beachfront benefited by formation of ocean swimming pools.

The T-shaped jetties have been under construction several years. The state navigation council Monday postponed the award of contracts for two more at $125,000 each. Mr. Holmes resigned at this meeting.

Some council members had attempted to persuade Mr. Holmes from resigning. No action has been taken by the governor. Mr. Holmes has held the navigation position since 1938.

In announcing his resignation Mr. Holmes said, "The director felt that, in the light of the present controversy, his action, while entirely honest, could be construed as being indiscreet as a public official. He requested that the council accept his resignation as director effective in three months."

WANTS TO BUILD PIER

John J. Flemm of Portland road, Highlands, has made application to the New York corps of Army engineers to construct a pier in the Shrewsbury river, one-half mile south of route 36, Highlands. Mr. Flemm proposes to construct a pile-and-timber pier eight feet wide and 120 feet long. The entire structure will extend 132 feet into the water.

Any criticism of protest regarding the proposed work, from the standpoint of navigation, should be submitted to the engineer's office immediately.

FREEHOLD REALTY

Thieves last Thursday night broke through a rear window and then smashed through two walls to the gain entrance to the main office of the Monmouth County Realty Abstract company at Freehold.

Police were notified of the entry when the office was opened Friday morning. The only article missing was a pair of glasses belonging to an employee.

Fish Or Cut Bait

The municipalities which have banded together to fight the proposed increase in commutation rates of the Central Railroad of New Jersey need approximately $20,000 to fight the case. Most of the money will be spent to retain a nationally-prominent law firm, which has been successful in similar battles. This fee covers auditors' costs as well as that of the lawyers.

It appears to be the consensus of expert opinion that the municipalities have an excellent chance to defeat the railroad if this case is properly handled. It also appears that this may be the last opportunity the municipalities have to put a halter on the high-handed railroad methods.

Divided among the many municipalities concerned the required $20,000 does not represent a burden to any one city, borough or township. This is a case where the municipalities have an opportunity to demonstrate by early contribution just how much they think of their commuters and just how much interest they have in the future growth of the shore. The fight is being made on the basis that fare increases should be commensurate with service. This is definitely not a time for municipalities to be shortsighted, or penny wise and pound foolish.

Firemen's Generous Gifts

Arthur B. Sickles, former mayor of Fair Haven, presented a picture at Monday night's meeting of the mayor and council of his borough of the many contributions made since 1921 by the fire company to the borough. These gifts totaled $97,880, and were made possible through proceeds from the firemen's annual fairs.

Mr. Sickles' talk before the council is one of which the fire company has every reason to be proud. The contributions include $51,250 to churches, schools, $33,400 for the purchase of three fire trucks and two ambulances, $12,730 for the purchase of land for public use and $500 toward laying out a community ball field.

Without taking anything away from other volunteer fire companies—they're all doing a fine job in their respective communities—we don't know of any other organization, in a community of comparable size, which can produce a record equal to that made by the Fair Haven firemen.

There is an angle to this which may go unnoticed. It pertains particularly to the taxpayers of Fair Haven. Almost all of the gifts made by the firemen included purchases of fire equipment and land which otherwise would have been paid for through general taxation. In addition, the company's welfare board helped the borough's unfortunate families in depression years and lightened the tax load at a time when many property owners had difficulty keeping their taxes paid up. Some of the gifts also meant additional savings in taxes beyond the actual costs. These savings were in interest charges which the borough would have had to pay on loans obtained in order to buy fire trucks and land.

The citizens of Fair Haven owe a great debt of gratitude to their volunteer firemen.

Behind The Ocean Surveys

Recognized analysts have surveyed the ocean along the North Jersey coast, and have come forward with reports that differ but, by majority decision, should be comforting to our citizens, particularly the parents. Three of four of them have listed as immediately safe the beaches which concern most of us in this vicinity.

These analysts are Dr. Daniel Bergsma, director of the New Jersey Department of Health, Trenton; Capt. Homer E. Carney, U. S. Army medical inspector, Fort Monmouth; Dr. Joseph Einmons, health officer, City of Long Branch, and Clarence V. Ekroth, a nationally-known bio-chemist who has his own laboratories in Brooklyn.

These experts have pointed to some of the illnesses directly traceable to polluted waters—infantile paralysis, dysentery and typhoid. Pollution itself is traceable to raw sewage pumped into the water. A New York city newspaper stated that one gallon of such sewage is pumped into every 100 gallons of clean water entering New York's upper bay. Once there, tides and currents carry the germ-laden waste around to the bathing beaches.

Captain Carney said that early in June pollution was serious enough to cause the closing of the Fort Hancock officers' beach. The condition there, he said, had cleared up enough by June 29 to permit the reopening of the beach. But, he said, it would be closed again the minute pollution is found to rise beyond the danger mark. He said changes can occur within hours, and blamed the state department of health for not making more frequent tests, and communities for not conducting tests of their own, for safety's sake. Long Branch does make such tests, weekly, not only of its own waters but also up and down this section of the coast. It is to be commended for this leadership.

The point we wish to stress is this: Enough evidence has been gathered to show that sewage pollution of our Jersey ocean waters sometimes exists, sometimes dangerously. The record traces most of this infestation to New York's open sewers, and some, but little, to local inadequate sewage disposal plants. We know this to be a dangerous year for infantile paralysis. There have been, nationally, over 2,500 cases with summer not yet half over. Polio can get a start from bathing in unclean water.

We conclude that the United States government, through its public health service, should make a demand upon New York city, through its department of health, that adequate sewage disposal plants be installed for the protection of millions of people, New Yorkers and Jerseyites, who use public waters to get relief from summer's heat. Borough councils of our section can appeal to the state for support, citizens can act through their congressmen who now are seeking election, to make a rounded ultimatum that New York act to cease this contamination.

Needed: Vocational Guidance

The Monmouth County Board of Freeholders is to be commended for the position it has taken regarding the establishment in the county of a centralized vocational school.

The position is this: "We approve, in principle, vocational education for that part of our youth it would help. We want some form of vocational training included in our school system. But we do not want to jump into any venture certain to raise the burden now carried by the taxpayers without first being sure, and having these taxpayers convinced, that result will prove worth the investment."

That attitude, taken by elected officers who have within their power the right to make vocational school expenditures as they deem proper, seems particularly appropriate to these days when the taxpayers' dollar already is so severely strained.

The Freeholders went to the trouble to examine minutely vocational school systems of Middlesex and Ocean counties and Allentown, Pa.

They found interesting programs, worthy of partial adoption at Toms River and at Allentown. They have gained an insight into what phases of vocational schooling are particularly adaptable to the population and employment requirements of our largely rural area. They know what training would be of lesser value to the county, and know where they want to go from here.

What has been impressive in their report is the apparent effort to survey Monmouth's existing school system. It must be determined if vocational activities could be introduced as a specialized part of the educational program.

This, the Freeholders' report showed, could eliminate the need for much elaborate and expensive building. It would reduce transportation to a minimum. It would result in the widest possible use of available school facilities. Present instructors could be used to a large extent. Education would be kept largely a local matter, controlled by school boards of the various communities concerned. Vocational students would gain the feeling they are a part of academic school bodies—participating in the same extra-curricular activities, joining in the pride of being members of the same team, altogether on the same social plane as their academic schoolmates.

What the Freeholders have done is to issue a call for free public expression. They want to know what vocational courses would be of the main value to the county. Only students who can get jobs upon graduation will have the education that makes their time of study worthwhile. Employers must furnish information as to the type of training a student should have to make him most valuable to their business or industry. What kind of graduates will they actually hire?

The Freeholders already recognize vocational training is needed in Monmouth county. They do not need to be told that again. They want only to know what vocational courses, how and where they should be started, and a guide as to how extensive the program should be.

We consider it to be an obligation of the civic-minded and educationally-sound citizens to help in this planning. We feel members of all county boards of education who based their claim to election upon intelligence also should come forward with detailed and reasonable advice. From a merger of general thought on this vital subject, full and prompt action may be taken.

Editorial Views Of Other Papers

(The opinions expressed in the Editorial Views are those of the Editor and do not necessarily carry the endorsement of The Register.)

BOUND APPROACH TO VOCATIONAL TRAINING

The board of freeholders has prepared a highly informative preliminary report on the advisability of offering vocational training to persons of high school age in Monmouth county. After a careful study of vocation training procedures in Middlesex county, at Allentown, Pa., and at the Dover township school in Toms River, the board transmits its findings to its constituents with a promise to continue its study and with a request for public discussion that will crystallize opinion.

Possibly the most pointed conclusion reached by the freeholders is revealed at the end of its report: "What we would like to emphasize is that we think that the need is for discussion of the 'operation' of a vocational school and not the 'idea.' We think the latter is pretty well settled."

It seems generally agreed, in other words, that vocational training is desirable for that group among young people of high school age whose aptitude lies in the direction of the crafts. But concerning that vocational training program would be desirable and operating such a program are two entirely different things. How great is the opportunity for vocational school graduates in this area? Should we construct one or two vocational training schools and transport pupils from all over this extended county to them, or should we integrate vocational training in the high schools? What courses should be taught in Monmouth county vocational training program? To what extent should prevailing plant facilities and equipment be used? And how would the expense of a vocational program be met?

These are the practical problems to be faced by the board of freeholders and they demand the interest of every citizen. Unfortunately they are blandly ignored by many who heedlessly recommend the "idea" of vocational training without concerning themselves with the practical problems involved. It is comparatively easy for educators who would extend their empire to shout for vocational training schools. It will not be so easy for the taxpayers who must pay for such schools or for the administrators who must operate them on a basis of public service.

The freeholders point out that the people of Monmouth county engaged in an advisory vote on vocational training in 1940 and they rejected the proposal. But as the present proposal is based on the results of a general ballot expressed a choice in the vocational training referendum. The freeholders are sympathetic with those who failed to vote: "If they did not have sufficient information can they be criticized for not voting?"

We commended the board of freeholders for their intelligent approach to the problem and we recommend its report to every citizen in the hope that he will also give serious consideration to all the many angles involved before reaching a conclusion on the vocational training question. Some day we assume that a greater degree of vocational training will be offered in Monmouth county. But unless it is carefully considered, such a program could easily prove so impractical and costly as to defeat the purposes for which it is intended. A considered approach, such as the freeholders are pursuing, represents the only way of effecting constructive improvements in our educational program.

N.L.R.B. AND MR. LEWIS

A year ago when the Taft-Hartley Act had been law for only a few days, Mr. Lewis and his lawyers succeeded in wresting a contract from the coal operators which ingeniously circumvented the law's provisions. But on that occasion his path was made comparatively easy by two circumstances. First, he had obtained certain positional advantages in the bargaining before he began negotiations; second, only part of the law had become operative at the time the agreement was entered into.

It appeared a fortnight ago, when Mr. Lewis signed a new and extremely favorable agreement with producers representing about 90 per cent of the bituminous industry, that history was about to repeat itself. But this conclusion failed to reckon with the other 10 per cent of the industry, the so-called "captive" mines, operated by the integrated steel companies. Spokesmen for this group expressed their willingness to go along with the other 90 per cent in the concessions granted under the new contract, but demurred at signing such document until it had been revised to accord with the Taft-Hartley Act. The provision to which the company objected specifically was that which called for granting the miners a "union shop." They had no objections, the operators said, to the union shop itself, but they insisted that it be set up as prescribed under the labor law. This means that there would have to be a referendum of the union members, conducted by the N.L.R.B. That, in turn, would mean that Mr. Lewis and other officers of the union would have to qualify to use the facilities of the N.L.R.B. by filing non-Communist affidavits—a move which the mine chieftain and his associates have beligerently rejected up to now.

The captive mine operators, convinced that a contract which ignored the provisions of the Labor Act, would be an illegal contract, not only refused to affix their signatures to such a document, but took the case to the National Labor Relations Board. Meanwhile, the workers in these mines remained away from the pits in numerous instances, and the operators, in turn, would mean that Mr. Lewis and other officers of the union would have to qualify to use the facilities of the N.L.R.B. by filing non-Communist affidavits—a move which the mine chieftain and his associates have beligerently rejected up to now.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

POSTAL WORKERS' RAISES

East Orange, N. J.
 July 12, 1948.

The postal employees of New Jersey wish to express their thanks and appreciation to the citizens of New Jersey for their support of the recent pay increase granted to the postal employees. A bill granting all postal employees $450 pay increase was recently signed by the President.

Henry Anderson, Perth Amboy, chairman of the New Jersey Affiliated Postal Employees Legislative committee, stated that without public support of the postal employees, the higher wages granted this pay increase, and the general public in this state have always rallied behind the legislative campaign of the postal employees for higher wages and better working conditions, stated Mr. Anderson. We do appreciate this fine support and we who deliver the mail will always give the American people the best postal service that is in our veins, continued Mr. Anderson.

We are also appreciative to the two United States Senators and the 14 Congressmen from this state. In the past years we have always had the entire New Jersey Congressional delegation behind our legislative campaign for higher wages and betterment of working conditions, continued Mr. Anderson. Without their help and influence we too would have many other obstacles to overcome, continued Mr. Anderson. They all testified before the House and Senate Committees on Post Offices and Civil Service and urged a permanent increase of $800 for us, stated Mr. Anderson. In the final week of the last Congress it was agreed by leaders of the House and Senate to grant a raise of $450 to all postal employees. We are hopeful that in the next session of Congress that the committee will give due consideration to a reclassification of the postal grade, bring them up to the present levels to meet the ever increasing in the high cost of living, concluded Mr. Anderson.

The postal employees in New Jersey are the only state in the nation which have a statewide legislative committee organized among all affiliated postal employees groups. This state legislative committee conducts all campaigns on the legislative objectives. This committee has the support of all consolidates the efforts of all postal employees under one committee to coordinate all phases of the campaign for beneficial legislation. The committee was organized in 1938.

The state legislative committee also wishes to express its thanks to the press of New Jersey for their fine co-operation and support in our recent salary drive.

Thos. F. Flanagan,
 Publicity Director.

ORCHIDS TO US

Warren G. Gaiter,
 Box 551
 Tuskegee Institute, Ala.
 July 6, 1948.

Through the past twelve months I have eagerly read every issue of your splendid weekly. Since I am a Red Bank taxpayer, I am especially interested in those civic, political and social aspects that affect the expansion and growth of our community. I find your paper gratifying in every sense the varied interests of one who is genuinely concerned about the direction in which his community is traveling.

By all means let me continue to forward my copy of the Red Bank Register.

Very truly yours,
 W. G. Gaiter.

AIDING AMERICANISM

BATTLE OF MONMOUTH MEMORIAL SERVICE

Sponsored by Monmouth County Organization of the American Legion

Editor, Red Bank Register, Red Bank, N. J.

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the committee I wish to express our sincere appreciation for the fine co-operation and coverage you gave our annual memorial service held June 27 at Old Tennent.

Your generous publicity of this event contributed greatly to its success as well as aiding the Americanism program of the American Legion.

Sincerely yours,
 Morris Miller.

EVENTS OF YEARS AGO FROM REGISTER FILES

Fifty Years Ago.

Miss Carrie Sandt, a teacher in the Red Bank Baptist Sunday-school, entertained her class at luncheon at the Octagon hotel at Sea Bright. The luncheon was in celebration of Miss Sandt's birthday. The members of the class who attended were Lillian Applegate, Grace Brady, Grace Davis, Eva Mount, Nellie Wilson and Lissie Doig.

The women of St. Catherine's church at Morrisville, held a fair and festival in the woods. Mrs. Michael Toney and Mrs. James Kelly had charge of the provision stand. The dance platform was in charge of William Kelly and Michael Toney. Fifty dollars was cleared.

Mrs. A. L. Mytinger of Shrewsbury avenue celebrated her birthday with a party. Among the guests were Misses Maggie Riddle and Alice and Sarah Barklow, John Chadwick, Frank Noble, Arthur Wymbs, Harry Dickman and Waldo Hunter.

Malcolm Barrett, son of Captain P. Barrett of Atlantic Highlands, was severely injured in a skirmish in which his regiment was engaged at Santiago. Barrett was a member of Company M of the 71st New York regiment and was shot four times.

Angus Phillips caught 80 bluefish off the point of Sandy Hook with hook and line. The total weight of the fish was 300 pounds. The market price was ten cents a pound. The previous week Charles Davis sent 1,200 pounds of weakfish to New York. A few days later he received $2 for the entire lot. He said an commission merchant said there was a glut of weakfish on the market.

The belt on the gas engine in E. P. Mager and Son's butcher shop at Atlantic Highlands got caught in the shafting and pulled it down. A good deal of damage was done to the interior of the engine room before the engine was finally stopped by George Magee. The engine was used to run an icemaking machine.

A patriotic service was held in the Methodist church at Navesink Rev. J. W. Nickleson and William A. Sweeney read papers pertaining to the work of the Red Cross society. A collection of $6 was taken up. Mrs. C. A. Mount and Mrs. W. E. Parsons of Locust Point were appointed representatives of the Red Bank society at Locust Point.

T. V. Chevalier of Little Silver Point, entertained several guests with a trip to Pleasure Bay. The horses were driven by J. B. Rue, and A. J. VanKelt acted as bugler. During the ride home, Miss Edith Stewart mounted the box and handed the reins. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. George L. Chevalier, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Randall, Mrs. Annie Rathbun, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Owen, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Alaire, Jr., Misses Stewart, Ida Hayes and May Rathbun, Fred Fisher and William Keller.

A foot race was held in the team near Garrigan's hotel at Oceanport by a number of small boys at that place. The distance was 100 yards. The boys made up a purse of 25 cents, of which 15 cents went to the winner and ten cents to the second boy. The race was won by William Green, and Roy Ward was second.

Six Fair Haven persons were injured during the past week. David Bennett, machinist, had his fingers of his left hand while at work repairing the machinery on the catamaran Highland Beach. Charles Van Brunt cut the thumb of his right hand nearly off while cleaning his wheel. Mr. Hester Jones was splitting wood and in raising the axe she cut a long gash in the top of her head. John Martin and Theodore Parker were racing on Fair Haven road. Martin was ahead and he hit a dog, which upset him. Parker was riding so close to Martin that he was unable to turn out. He ran into Martin and was thrown from his wheel. Martin was bruised and the skin was scraped off his body in several places. Parker was not hurt. Henry Minton, a carpenter, employed by Ambrose Brower of Red Bank, was at work on Frank Blaisdell's new house on the river bank. A hatchet fell from the floor above and struck Minton on the hand, cutting it badly. Benjamin Handrickson ran a nail in his foot while walking in the river in his bare feet.

The Epworth league of the Little Silver Methodist church held a patriotic social on the paragonage lawn. One of the features was a weighing contest. Two plates of ice cream was offered as a prize to the couple weighing the most. This was won by Rev. J. William Lee and Mrs. William C. Lippincott.

J. N. VanHorn, who had started the News at Eatontown a short time ago in opposition to James Steen's Advertiser, stopped publishing the paper and went to Atlantic Highlands, where he took a position on the Press.

Mrs. Sarah B. Frost, widow of Benjamin Frost, died at Middletown, N. J., was 92 years old.

Over a dozen applications for the position of letter carrier in Red Bank had been received by Robert C. Trafford, who had been appointed as clerk of the examining board. Three were to be appointed.

Miss Julia Flannigan and Edward Kelly, both of Headden's Corner, were married at St. James church by Rev. James A. Reynolds. Miss Mamie Flannigan, a sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Michael Maloney was groomsmen.

Captain Thomas P. Brown bought four lots at the corner of Wharf avenue and Union street from Daniel W. White. The plot sold to Captain Brown was 150 feet on Wharf avenue and about 157 feet on Union street. Mr. White paid $5,500 for the four lots when Arthur Brown, Miss Gladys Taylor, Mrs. Emma Parker, Mrs. Mary Little, Mrs. John Martin and Mrs. Elizabeth Parker.

Harold P. Collins of Keyport was appointed assistant cashier of the Manaquan National bank.

About $500 was cleared at the Fair Haven Methodist church fair and supper. Mrs. Lewis Smith was in general charge. Those who had charge of the booths were Mrs. Raymond Doughty, Mrs. Zella Richards, Mrs. Arthur Crozier, Mrs. Clarence Smock, Mrs. Harvey Little, Mrs. John M. Hizer, Mrs. Arthur Brown, Miss Gladys Taylor, Mrs. Emma Parker, Mrs. Mary Little, Mrs. John Martin and Mrs. Elizabeth Parker.

Twenty-Five Years Ago.

The annual farmer's picnic on Henry Cross' place at Holmdel, surpassed all its predecessors for pure unadulterated fun and a general all-around good time. About 1,000 persons were present. The big event of the day was a horse show pitching tournament to determine the championship of Monmouth county. It was won by the Holmdel team, consisting of John Jeffrey and Thomas Kasey. The prize was a banner. In the other events blue and red ribbons were prizes. In a 25-yard hopping race for boys, George Ely of Holmdel was the winner. Margaret Westerby of Holmdel won a 75-yard hoopie race. Howard Chamberlain of Middletown village proved to be the best baseball thrower. He threw a ball 87 yards. Among the girls Miss Alida Helwig of Port Monmouth made a baseball throw of 178 feet. An amusing event was a centipede race in which the Holmdel team was the winner. The winning four were George Ely, Fred Allgor and James and Vincent Howard. Another contest that was amusing was a race between girls in sacks. Josephine Bennett of Nutswamp was the winner. Men over 40 years of age competed at baseball throwing. Daniel S. Ely of Holmdel, who was vice president of the Broad Street National bank of Red Bank and a member of the Holmdel township board of education, was the winner. He threw a baseball 183 feet, ten inches. An event which drew many spectators was a potato race between young women. Miss Helwig made the best record. George Probasco of Freehold won a race in which the contestants ran on their hands and feet. Harold Holmes of Holmdel was first in a 100-yard dash for men. In a similar event for boys under 17 years of age, George Ely was first. In a tug of war between teams representing Holmdel and Middletown village, the Holmdel team was the winner. Josephine Bennett won a 50-yard race for girls.

The carpenters' union of Red Bank served an ultimatum, with the threat of a strike on the factors of this section. They demanded a wage of $8 a day by October 1 and said if they didn't get it they would go on strike. They were receiving $7 a day.

A party was given by Miss Florence Jackson of Leonardo to a number of her friends. Among those present were Misses Betty Buck, Ella Spoinburg, Johanna Smith, Ida Mayel, Helen Rempler and Mildred Donaldson. Joseph Stryker, James VanMeter, Bud Barthelme, William Reilly, Raymond McLaughlin, Malcolm Leonard and Howard Gaffey.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Keenburgh Methodist church cleared over $200 at an entertainment given in the fire house. Among those who took part in the entertainment were Mrs. Thomas Sanford, Mrs. James Wylie, Rev. and Mrs. Oliver Aggar, Paul Foulkes, Helen Roarke, James Wylie, Mrs. Ida M. Hopper, Isabelle Seelye, Almeta Paynter, Mrs. William P. Dodd, Mrs. James Seelye, Mrs. Harold Cowley, Mrs. Ailda Waitte, Mrs. Albert Stanford, Mrs. William Ramsey, Mrs. James Bilson, Mrs. Charles Morrissey, Mrs. Harry Beaman, Mrs. George Matthews, Mrs. Stephen Broadner, Miss Nettie Hathaway and Miss Clara Schuck.

Miss Eva Green, daughter of William I. Green of Shrewsbury and Wilmot Quinby of Solebury Pa., were married at the home of the bride's uncle, Rev. Charles E. Green of Hudson Falls, New York, who performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Samuel Foster of Belford was at the Long Branch hospital as the result of an accident. She was struck and knocked down by a trolley car in the village center. The car dragged Mrs. Foster about 90 feet. The skin on one of her hands was scraped off and her hand was badly cut. Mrs. Foster was 67 years old.

Calvin Algor of Eatontown accidentally shot himself with a revolver. The bullet lodged in his hand, and it was removed at the Long Branch hospital.

Anna M. Daugherty, aged 13 years, daughter of Bernard Daugherty of Keyport, died of heart disease.

Harold P. Collins of Keyport was appointed assistant cashier of the Manaquan National bank.

About $500 was cleared at the Fair Haven Methodist church fair and supper. Mrs. Lewis Smith was in general charge. Those who had charge of the booths were Mrs. Raymond Doughty, Mrs. Zella Richards, Mrs. Arthur Crozier, Mrs. Clarence Smock, Mrs. Harvey Little, Mrs. John M. Hizer, Mrs. Arthur Brown, Miss Gladys Taylor, Mrs. Emma Parker, Mrs. Mary Little, Mrs. John Martin and Mrs. Elizabeth Parker.

The Play "Hay Fever"
At Deal Conservatory

Noel Coward's comedy, "Hay Fever" was presented Tuesday at the Deal Conservatory theater at Deal to run through Saturday. This is the third production this season. "Hay Fever" concerns itself with the incomparable Bliss family. Each member of this ultra-Bohemian family invites a guest for the week-end unknown to the rest of the family. There is only one guest room in the Bliss household and this provides the comedy as the family tries to make the best of the bewildering situation.

Mildred Gehr, who starred in the opening production at the theater, "Androcles and the Lion", plays the leading role, that of Judith Bliss. She is supported by Meg Stuart, Maury Brofman, Gordon Sterne, Barbara Smith and David Hoddeson. Bette DeWitt, a former Copacabana dancer who was Miss Greater New York in 1942, plays the siren role of Myra Arundel in the show.

Alexander Schults is the director; Jack Harris, designer; Dolf Attianese, stage manager; Max de Novellis, lighting; and Jane Harmon, properties.

Autoist Seen Stealing
Pet Pedigreed Dog

Tuesday of last week, at about noon, a household pet, resembling a miniature collie, belonging to the family of Mrs. Helen Quackenbush of Rumson road, Little Silver, was stolen in the vicinity of the Quackenbush home, between Prospect and Birch avenues, near Cross street. The dog had been in the Quackenbush home for nearly ten years and naturally the family was greatly attached to the animal. The dog is a pedigreed animal and its loss has upset not only Mr. and Mrs. Quackenbush but their children and grandchildren very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Quackenbush have informed The Register that the dog was seen being stolen by a passing autoist and through certain information the car license is known, and if the dog is returned no questions will be asked.

The Quackenbush family lives in the third house west of Prospect avenue on the north side of the street. Their telephone number is Red Bank 6-1672.

St. Ann's Carnival Opens Tomorrow

The carnival for the benefit of St. Ann's church, Keansburg, which will be held on the church grounds, on Cary avenue, will begin tomorrow night and last through Sunday, July 25.

In addition to the Flying LaMars, who will appear nightly beginning Monday, July 19, in a series of aerial gymnastics never before seen in this area, the committee has arranged for other entertainment. A special prize will be awarded nightly.

HIGHLANDS BEAUTY.

June Loder of 55 Sea Drift avenue, Highlands, was among 35 finalists chosen in a contest for the roles of Queen Titania and members of her Royal Court to reign over the Asbury Park baby parade. Eight other girls from the shore area were selected by judges at New York Monday after sitting through almost 1,000 photographs submitted to the committee during the past three months. Final selections will be made tomorrow before the full pageantry committee of the baby parade.

RED BANK ACCIDENT

Cars driven by J. Harold Hurley of 376 Shrewsbury avenue and J. Russell Samuel of 9 Prospect avenue, Little Silver, collided last Thursday at the corner of Maple avenue and Chestnut street. There were no injuries.

Novel Theater
Opens At Sea Girt

Interesting Method Of Ringside Seating

A novel idea in stage presentations has been started at the Ringside theater at Sea Girt Inn, and the opening play last week starred Lillian Gish in Noel Coward's play, "The Marquise." This week the company will present the play, "The Voice of the Turtle," starring Faye McKenzie in the role created by Margaret Sullivan in the Broadway production.

Faye McKenzie

The Ringside theater literally provides ringside seats for all. The stage is a large carpet in the center of the ballroom and the audience sits in rows of chairs along the edge of the dance floor, viewing the action from all sides. The audience enjoys the fun of watching stage hands set the scene for the play, while the cast enters the stage from various sections of the room.

The fact that there is no scenery, no backdrops or curtain is not missed because the actors play their lines to all sides. One spectator termed the staking method as "just like sitting in your living room and watching a theatrical company present a play in the middle of the room." Lighting effects are so arranged from the ceiling that they play a strong light on the actors' faces and cast no shadow whatever on the stage.

The Ringside theater idea is the brain child of Jacob A. Weiser, New York theatrical producer and director, who had his first ringside production in a prize fight ring at the Long Beach stadium. Just before the war he was planning to re-model a Broadway theater for this manner of play presentation, but instead worked with the USO camp shows. For USO he directed and managed many plays and vaudeville acts which were given at home and overseas.

Following "The Voice of the Turtle," Ringside theater will present "Eliza Landi" in George Bernard Shaw's play, "Pygmalion." Plays will change every week, with opening night Tuesdays and matinees Wednesdays and Saturdays until Labor day.

Belmar Couple
Married 50 Years

More than 50 persons attended the open house on the occasion of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Applegate of Belmar recently.

The couple were married June 27, 1894, at New Monmouth. Mrs. Applegate is the former Miss Laura Ann Lisk, daughter of the late Charles and Eliza Lisk, Matawan. Beldford. Their three children, Mrs. Charlotte Hakes, Salt Lake City, Utah; Mrs. Gladys Shibley, Farmingdale, and Louis Applegate, Belmar; five grandchildren and three granddaughters were present for the celebration.

GET RID OF POISON IVY

Poison ivy can be killed by spraying with Ammate or 2, 4-D, says County Agent M. A. Clark. If Ammate is used one pound of the powder should be dissolved in a gallon of water. If 2, 4-D is used be sure to get one of the ester forms, cautions C. S. Garrison, extension farm crops specialist at Rutgers university. Spray plants until they are wet being careful not to injure the trees or shrubs on which they may be climbing, say the experts.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE

SPRAYING and dusting are important and necessary garden activities, but like everything else around the garden, there's a right and a wrong way to do it.

DO IT THIS WAY—When you are applying poisonous insecticides, protect your hands with gloves. On windy days work with your back to the wind to avoid contact with toxic, irritating liquids or fumes.

GARDENS need plenty of moisture. In dry weather it may be necessary to supplement rainfall by watering with a hose. Here's what gardening authorities recommend: When the soil is dry and powdery several inches down, wet it to a depth of about six inches. A thorough watering once a week should be sufficient. Daily light sprinklings, the experts say, tend to bring plant roots to the surface and do more harm than good.

State To Collect $162,411,162 During The New Fiscal Year

The state expects a total revenue of $162,411,162.25 during the new fiscal year of 1948-49, which started July 1, according to the Budget Bureau, Department of the Treasury.

Two entertainment taxes make up 16% of the total. Anticipated beverage revenues add up to $14,900,000 or 9%.

Another portion of the New Jersey tax dollar consists of inheritance taxes, which will amount to $8,000,000 or 5% of the total.

Close to 8% is expected from departmental and miscellaneous taxes. This category includes such familiar revenues as hunting and fishing permits, fertilizer taxes, advertising space permits, revenue from correctional and penal institutions, rentals from housing, banking and insurance taxes, and many other minor sources.

All of the above taxes are counted upon as revenue sources for future years. However, there is a portion of the 1948-49 budget which will not be available again. It is in so-called non-recurring taxes, which total 17% of the budget, and amount to the sizeable sum of $28,139,609.

General and highways taxes make up 14% of this non-recurring revenue. These two taxes showed surplus balances at the beginning of the current fiscal year, but this money will probably not be available next year.

The state's share of past due railroad taxes will definitely not be available again. This amounts to $5,070,000 or 3% of the total.

This situation arises from the fact that since 1932 New Jersey has been receiving a share of railroad taxes, which had been tied up in litigation.

All of these back railroad taxes have now been paid, which means that some replacement will have to be found in the future if the same total in revenues is to be available.

Judge Giordano Orders Probate Of Heyer Will

Mr. And Mrs. Leonard
Mount Receive
World War II Bonds

The full contents of the will of the late Edwin R. Heyer, Marlboro, mechanic with the county road department, was disclosed Friday by the office of Surrogate Dorman McFaddin, following the probate order by Judge John C. Giordano on June 17 after litigation in Orphan's court.

According to the testimony in the hearings, Mr. Heyer, who died during the snowstorm last December 28 from over-exertion in helping to clear roads from snow, had lived for several years at Matawan with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ziegler. Mr. Heyer had made the Zieglers residuary beneficiaries in the will but after moving from the Ziegler home he deleted the residuary clause, worth about $28,000, from the will on February 1, 1947. The Zieglers lost their plea in court that the deletion was not intended to have been permanent and that Mr. Heyer did not intend to omit them as beneficiaries.

Fifteen cousins, as next of kin, claim that insofar as the residuary clause is concerned, Mr. Heyer died intestate.

The will as probated, specifically provides that Leonard Mount and his wife, Elizabeth, receive the war bonds Mr. Heyer bought in World War II, including December, 1945.

Fred Harrison was named to receive the Patterson house, owned by Mr. Heyer, on the Holmdel-Keyport road. Clarence Ziegler said during the hearings that he and Mr. Heyer remained good friends. He said Mr. Heyer moved because Mrs. Ziegler was ill and they wished to sell their large home. Mr. Ziegler is one of the executors, the other being Leonard Mount. The will was drawn September 29, 1945.

Edward Ziegler, Matawan, who died May 18, bequeathed $12,000 and income from the rest of the estate for life to his wife, Violet V. B. Ziegler. Following the death of the wife, 30 beneficiaries will receive $499 each, for a total of $14,970. FINED ON HEALTH CHARGE

Harold Bayard of West Orange, a property owner in Laurence Harbor, was found guilty of allowing his septic tank to overflow and run into the road, in Laurence Harbor police court Friday night, July 2. He was fined $25 by Recorder Maxwell B. Mayer. The charges were made by the Madison township board of health.

Any Place is "Next Door" by Long Distance

• If you haven't used Long Distance lately, you're due for a pleasant surprise. New circuits have eased the load so that 95 out of 100 calls go through while you hold the line. Improvements in transmission have made a difference too—you'll find it hard to realize that you're not talking to someone across the table from you.

• Long Distance is a good example of the way your telephone service is constantly increasing—both in quality and value. In 1918, a daytime station-to-station call to San Francisco cost $18.50 for three minutes of conversation. By 1928, the cost had been reduced to $9. Today the same type of call costs you just $2.50, exclusive of tax.

An Important Statement to Home Owners Who Do Not Now Have Combination Windows and Doors

Here's Why Weather-Seal
Uses Only California Coastal Redwood

Nearly 2000 years ago, when Christianity was born, there was started on the other side of the world a virgin stand of sturdy timber . . . destined to become the world's most magnificent trees.

Neither weather, blight nor insects could conquer its great resistance. In 1769, when the Spanish Padres first glimpsed these giant trees, standing 250 feet toward the sky and 8 to 16 feet in diameter, they named them Redwood, because of their color.

Weather-Seal uses only California Coastal Redwood. It is tough and strong, world famous for low shrinkage and high resistance to decay . . . seems to be "eternal" in its wonderful health and strength. After fourteen years of research, in all types of material both wood and metal, we have found nothing to equal it for beauty and permanent, satisfactory performance. That's why we guarantee Weather-Seal doors and windows, in writing, for a lifetime.

Harold A. Etling
President

With Weather-Seal, you change winter panes to summer screens in a jiffy. A few turns of an exclusive screw fastening and windows and screens come out easily.

Let it rain . . . let it pour! You'll always be sure of draft-free, rainproof ventilation the year around. You'll know the real meaning of finger-tip weather control.

All the rich, lustrous beauty of America's most magnificent wood is permanently yours with Weather-Seal. They'll dress up your home . . . add beauty and style.

You'll say "Great" twenty times a minute!

YES, every time you breathe (and that's 20 times a minute), you'll thank the good judgment that put you in a Packard!

For only in a Packard can you get a constant flow of crisp, fresh air—even when you're standing still, with windows closed.

At the touch of a button, you can create your own breeze—fresh, crisp, circulating air . . . completely changed once every minute.

On the road, you cruise refreshed with windows up. No more nerve-wracking wind noise. No more wind-blown hair.

And when winter comes, you keep right on making your own weather. Just set the dial for the temperature you want—the rest is automatic.

So why not start getting some real fun out of your breathing? See your Packard dealer—let him give you a demonstration of the industry's most efficient heating and ventilating system.

You'll find it's one of a multitude of good reasons for placing your Packard order now!

Hintelmann Makes Secretary's Report To Rumson Organization

William H. Hintelmann, Jr., secretary of the Rumson Borough Improvement Association, submitted the following report at the association's 37th annual meeting recently at the Rumson Country Club:

Your Secretary takes pleasure in submitting at this, the 37th annual meeting of the Rumson Borough Improvement Association.

Since our last annual meeting, the Rumson Planning Board has approved the subdivision known as "Auldwood", situated on the north-west corner of Bellevue Avenue and Ridge Road. This property was acquired from the Borough of Rumson by the Rumson Country Club three years ago. The large residence on the property has been demolished and the property has been subdivided in acreage parcels ranging in size from one and one-half acres to four acres each. The Planning Board also approved the subdivision of the 44-acre tract owned by the Warwick Corporation situated on the north side of Rumson Road, east side of Bellevue Avenue, and extending to the shore of the South Shrewsbury River. This property has been subdivided in tracts of one and one-half acres or more each. The Planning Board meets the second Monday evening each month at 8:00 o'clock in the Borough of Rumson who so desires may attend these meetings.

The Borough of Rumson Shade Tree Commission advises us that during the planting season in the fall of 1947 a total of 96 new shade trees were planted along the borough streets. The varieties selected were Norway maples and Schwedler maples. Six trees were planted on the west side of Bellevue Avenue, south of Rumson Road, 15 trees on Lenox Avenue, between Narumson Street and Lakeside Avenue; four trees planted on Lakeside Avenue, between River Road and Lenox Avenue; 17 trees planted on Rumson Road, between Lenox Avenue and Narumson Avenue; seven trees planted on Waterman Avenue, between Rumson Road and Washington Avenue; the remaining trees were replacements located in various parts of the borough.

Re: Dutch Elm Disease—Our members will recall that at the last annual meeting of our association your secretary was authorized to advise the Shade Tree Commission that the Improvement Association would pay the cost of spraying all elm trees located on private property in an effort to check the ravages of the Dutch Elm disease. Three hundred and fifty-two large elm trees located on private property were sprayed with DDT in May, 1947. The Accurate Tool Company of Newark with a power spray known as the Accurate Full universal insect control unit. This unit is powered with an airplane motor and the work was effectively done. In addition to the trees sprayed on private property the borough of Rumson had nearly 200 of its elm trees sprayed on the borough streets. The borough street trees were again sprayed in May of this year.

Four giant elm trees situated on the west side of Buena Vista Avenue and one giant elm tree situated on the east side of Conover Lane were found to be infected with Dutch Elm disease and were removed and burned by the Shade Tree Commission. Mrs. C. L. Despard directed the attention of the Shade Tree Commission to two large elm trees on the west side of Buena Vista Avenue in front of her property which are now affected with the Dutch Elm disease. The secretary of the Shade Tree Commission immediately wrote to the Department of Agriculture to ascertain whether or not anything could be done of a remedial nature. An inspection of these trees was made this afternoon by a Mr. Kintner of the Department of Agriculture of the State of New Jersey and he reports that it is absolutely essential to have these trees removed immediately, as they are so badly affected by the Dutch Elm disease nothing can be done to save them. Mr. Kintner further advised the Shade Tree Commission that the spraying of the elm trees with the DDT emulsion is a very helpful factor in arresting the spread of the disease. He further said that feeding the trees through fertilization of the tree's root growth is also a splendid help.

The elm trees lining the streets of Rumson will be sprayed again about the middle of July and if at that time any private property owners would like their trees sprayed, the Shade Tree Commission will be glad to co-operate with them. The cost of this spraying work will be $2.50 for the first tree sprayed and $2.25 for any additional trees.

Re: Mosquito Control—I am submitting herewith a report from the President of the Monmouth County Mosquito Commission and this report is self-explanatory.

Re: Public Water Supply—Borough of Rumson. Under date of April 6, 1948, C. L. Despard, President of the Rumson Country Club, forwarded to your secretary a report which Judge Thomas Brown received from the Department of Health of the State of New Jersey.

It showed that the water supply by the Monmouth Consolidated Water Company is a safe potable water supply for human consumption. Appended to this report was a chemical analysis of water. This report is in our files and available for any member to see at any time.

Respectfully submitted,
William H. Hintelmann, Jr.,
Secretary.

Keyport Firemen Fight Plant Blaze

Fire broke out in the Nord company chemical plant, Broadway and Clark Street, Keyport, last Thursday evening damaging much equipment in the building.

Police say the fire started when a spark from a welder's torch ignited in the 35-square foot building. The Keyport Engine company unanswered the call but other Keyport companies were summoned when the firemen realized the dangerous possibilities in a chemical plant. After a two-hour battle the firemen were able to save all chemicals. Two ambulances stood by, but there were no injuries.

Wish you had Wings? Why bother!

You've been there, we know — trapped in the crawling snarl of a sunny weekend's traffic — tangled in the huffing, puffing push of a city's busiest rush hour.

And more than once you've wished for wings — so you could duck all this, dodge the jostle, the push, the stress and strain.

Well, look about you, good sir, for the long, sleek new Buicks with the word "Dynaflo" on their taper-thru fenders.

They've got the answer — to easy, open-road flight and to the spot where traffic's densest and the driving tension greatest.

With Dynaflo, you just sit there, press the gas treadle — and steer!

At a crawling 5 mph, you roll as smoothly, easily, lightly as at a winging 45.

At every opening left by a stalling, laboring neighbor, you have instant-quick power-surge to let you take advantage of it.

Upgrades? A little pressure on the gas treadle handles them. Stop signs? Your foot brake stops you, holds you — till you can feed the gas and go.

You forget shifting entirely — in fact, no gears ever shift as you drive — yet the moment any bottleneck breaks, you move smoothly, swiftly up to boulevard speeds, pacing the pack.

Smoothly did we say? The word is hardly adequate. This velvety lift, this soaring swoop of power, this utter freedom from any break in your stride are things you need to experience to judge.

Why not try it out? Your dealer will do the best he can to arrange a trial — just as he'll take your order any time, whether or not you have a car to trade. See him — and you'll stop wishing for wings!

What's different about DYNAFLOW DRIVE?

To an efficient new pump (left above), Buick engineers have added a true turbine (right) and an ingenious new supercharging assembly (in hand) which produce a torque-bearing action in starting and accelerating. The result is the new device on any American passenger car which is the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and a simple control gives you manual selection of power ranges and direction.

Billed as the greatest air demonstration in history, the exposition will carry an airpower significance to national security. It will feature the accomplishments of the U. S. Air force and recognition of the first year of the organization's status as an independent fighting force within the department of defense.

The Monmouth squadron has been invited to participate with metropolitan squadrons in the celebration.

Trees Need Good
"Summer Drinks"

Watering trees seems like such a simple chore. Yet many home owners fail to do it properly. Brief daily hosing or sprinkling is entirely inadequate, particularly during the hot, dry weather prevailing in July, August and September, according to Billy White, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

Thorough soaking once or twice a week, depending upon the weather, is a must. The home owner would be well advised to adjust his hose or small sprinkler to run very slowly, allowing for complete saturation.

The practice of brief daily watering wets only the surface and encourages shallow root growth, as roots will turn upward seeking moisture. It is most important that the entire root system, which is at least equal to the spread, be saturated.

Systematic watering is necessary with well-established home trees. It is even more vital with newly planted trees. In transplanting, the tree's root system is restricted and the area of ground from which it can obtain moisture is greatly limited.

For two or three years, newly planted trees need great assistance from the home owner. This is especially true when they have been taken from natural environments in grove or forest. There soil retains moisture for long periods. Under artificial conditions, a tree must depend upon outside help during dry periods.

County Women Elect Officers

Mrs. Thomas White of Keyport was elected president of the Monmouth County American Legion auxiliaries at a meeting Friday at the Keansburg Legion post home. Officers will be installed by the state president, Mrs. Fred Suttle of Washington, North Jersey, at the August meeting at the Keyport Legion post home.

Others elected were Mrs. J. D. Hoy of Long Branch and Mrs. Ealdio Rodriguez of Highlands, vice presidents; Mrs. Edith Enrly-Freehold, treasurer; Mrs. Ann Cheney, Union Beach, historian; Mrs. Mortimer E. VanSauter, Red Bank, chaplain and Mrs. Walter Church, Bradley Beach.

Large Enrollment At Playgrounds

Are Supervised By Community Y.M.C.A.

Close to a hundred boys and girls are registered and actively participating in the program at the Rumson and Monmouth county Red Cross playground supervised by the Red Bank Community Y.M.C.A. The week's schedule includes various types of group and individual athletic events, hand crafts, nature lore, hikes and trips, dramatics and music.

Beginning Monday an opportunity will be given for boys and girls to take part in "learn to swim" classes to be conducted at Frelbot's pool, Port Monmouth, under joint supervision of the Community Y.M.C.A. and Monmouth county Red Cross chapter. Swimming lessons at the pool will be given by trained Red Cross instructors.

Approximately 120 children are enrolled in the Little Silver "Y" playground and are enjoying a similar program as at Rumson. William Adams, director, arranged a parents' night program for last evening at the school field, featuring a father-and-son softball game, and checkers and games tournaments between mothers and daughters. A ball game is scheduled for tonight between the local team and one from the Branch avenue playground. "Learn to Swim" classes are also offered.

Eaton town community playground has enrolled 200 children who are participating in the second week's activities. A mother-and-daughter softball game was played Tuesday, a doll show was staged Wednesday and a ball game is planned for tonight. The playground is under supervision of the Community Y.M.C.A. and is being directed by Rev. Durham V. Reising and two assistants, Miss Martha Hayes and Miss Hope Wolfkamp.

The Community "Y" is conducting a summer day camp at the building on Riverside avenue. The co-directors are Miss Marilyn Jordan and Gilbert Bennett. Events of the current week include outdoor and indoor games, varied handicrafts, hikes to nearby camp areas, swimming trip to Sea Bright, bus trips, stunts, dramatics and nature lore activities.

A July Bride

Mrs. William R. Krenza

Miss Theresa Ann Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley B. Cook of Eford, was married Sunday to William R. Krenza, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Krenza of Yonkers, N. Y. The ceremony was performed at St. Mary's Catholic church, New Monmouth, by Rev. Robert Bulman. William Kooz, Yonkers, N. Y., was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. William Mulligan of Atlantic Highlands at the organ.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a candlelight satin gown with marquisette yoke, long sleeves ending in points over the hands, full length train, head trimming and a peplum at the hips. She wore a halo-styled beaded headpiece with a finger-tip length veil and carried a prayer book with a marker of white orchids and white satin streamers.

The attendants were Mrs. Albert Murphy, Port Monmouth, aunt of the bride, matron of honor, and Miss Mary Rita McDermott, Bedford, and Mrs. Paul Juliano, Yonkers, N. Y., sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaids. They wore taffeta frocks with ruffled shoulder effects, tight bodices, full length skirts, accented hips and matching mitts, in yellow, aquamarine and orchid respectively. Their halo headpieces were made of tiny flowers to match their colonial bouquets.

The bride's mother wore a powder blue street length crepe dress with lace sleeves, complemented by navy blue accessories and a corsage of orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore a turquoise blue gown with navy accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Edward Vyke, Yonkers, N. Y., was best man. The ushers were Paul Juliano, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Albert Cook, brother of the bride.

A reception for 100 guests followed at Crystal Brook inn, Eaton town. Upon their return from a wedding trip to the Adirondacks, the couple will live at 32 Fairfield road, Yonkers, N. Y.

Mrs. Krenza attended Middle town schools and was graduated from the Wilfred Academy of Beauty Culture, Newark. Mr. Krenza was graduated from Saunders Trade school, Yonkers, and is employed as a tool and die maker by Otis Elevator company at Yonkers. He served three and one half years in World War II with the

For The Patrol Boat Fund

The regatta committee of the Monmouth Boat club, of which Chester Apy of Little Silver is chairman, is disposing of a nine-horsepower Johnson outboard motor on the cooperative plan and which will be awarded at the Labor day dance to be held at the clubhouse. The proceeds from this co-operative sale are to be used for the patrol boat fund, which the committee states is the best type of insurance on the lives of the young people sailing in the club's races.

BEN PARKER hit the jackpot Sunday afternoon. He is a member of the select "Hole in One" club by virtue of scoring an ace on Fort Monmouth's seventh hole.

Leon had waved Ben's party through on the seventh and thus saw at close range what will be Parker's conversation piece for many a day.

We can report that Mr. Parker is holding up well under a barrage of congratulatory pats on the back. It is, after a fashion, "old stuff" with Sir Benjamin.

GEMS AND DIAMONDS—Locals most likely will be able to see Long Branch's Larry DeVito in action Sunday.

Game time of Red Bank's V.M.C.A. softball league is 8:30 p. m. They play on Red Bank high school's athletic field.

St. Louis Browns will hold a three-day tryout camp in Somerville beginning July 29. Players in the 17-23 age group are eligible.

PLOWING UP THE FAIRWAYS—Amos T. Dwight, grand gentleman and fine golfer, Friday at Fort Monmouth scored a 79.

TURF TALK—At Monmouth Park clubhouse's main gate is a sign reading "Jackets Must Be Worn in the Clubhouse. No Slacks."

Monmouth continues to rack up mutual figures. Even with eight claiming races on Thursday's program the handle hit $1015,406.

Elberon's Milton F. Uermeyer Jr., our old battery commander, a regular spectator at the big races.

Hugh H. Fontaine, whose yacht is docked at Irwin's, is a former trainer for Brookmeade stable, owned by Mrs. Dodge Bloune.

Big Nose, pre-season favorite to cop yesterday's Futurity, has been retired for the season.

"Serenade of the Bells" might be an appropriate theme song for Monmouth Park.

MUSHKY JACKSON'S wrestling shows each Tuesday night at Balbach's auditorium continue drawing good crowds.

MAUREEN O'BRIEN, Red Bank's charming aquabelle, Sunday at Detroit missed a chance to compete in the Olympics.

The young lady worked hard the past year and a half. She had her sights centered on the Olympics.

Besides experience, Maureen was spotting several years to her competitors in the age department.

INCIDENTS AND INCIDENTALS—Coach Tom Phillips and his missus Sunday observed their 11th anniversary.

Tomorrow At Keypoint

The current Jersey Shore league-leading Red Bank Towners make their first appearance under lights tomorrow night at Keypoint when they meet the Keypoint Legion nine.

Undeclared thus far, the Towners will be seeking their ninth win of the year.

Result of last week's round were: Mr. Bryan defeated Schuyler Van Vechten 1 up, Dr. Martin A. Quirk defeated Oliver A. Victor 3 and 1, Matthew J. Scammell defeated C. Frederic Neilson 2 and 1, Bruce E. Allen defeated Phillip E. N. Greene 1 up, Arthur E. Pettit defeated Newcombe C. Baker, Jr., 1 up, Carlos D. Kelly defeated Amory L. Haskell 2 up, Howard B. Jones defeated Lawrence E. McDonnell 3 and 1, and Mr. Coe defeated Anthony L. McKim 2 up.

In other play Mrs. F. J. Burghard, Sr., teamed with Mr. Victor to win Sunday's Tomstones tournament. They used up their final stroke in the 19th cup.

The Brooklyn Dodgers will conduct a tryout baseball school at Waters stadium, Perth Amboy, for players between the ages of 17 and 23.

The school will be headed by Chief Metropolitan Scout George Sleser, member of the Hall of Fame and one of the game's all-time first sackers.

Players are asked to bring their own uniforms, gloves, and spikes. Other equipment will be furnished.

Promising athletes who indicate an interest for professional baseball will be given an opportunity to join the Brooklyn Dodger organization.

Red Bank Clothing, A.C.W.A. Post Wins

Play in the Community "Y" softball league continued last week, with Red Bank Clothing defeating J. H. Kelly 4 to 3 and A.C.W.A. local taking Coast Enterprise 10 to 3.

Tom Cusick was the heavy hitter in the Clothing win. He had three for three, including two doubles. Charlie Nill pounded two hits, including a two-run triple.

McCall hurried the labor group to victory, gulping up only three hits. He also had a perfect day at the platter, getting two for two and scoring twice.

Dan Dillione Elected County Bowling Prexy

Dan Dillione was elected president of the Monmouth County Bowling association when that group met last week.

Other officers for '48-'49 are Fred Morris of Eatontown, vice president; Paul Albrecht of Red Bank, second vice president; Ellsworth Barker of Keypoint, third vice president; Harold Denegar of Allentown, fourth vice president; Eddie Bahr of Highlands, secretary and treasurer; and Richard Ned of Leonardo, Rudy Zipper of Oakhurst, Ben VanNoy of Asbury Park and John Callendo of Long Branch, executive committee.

Vulcan's Forge Is Top Weight For Saturday

$15,000 Lamplighter Has 15 Probables; Page Boots Second

The release of weights for Saturday's $15,000 Lamplighter handicap at Monmouth Park finds 15 of the 70 eligibles remaining "probables" for the week-end mile and a sixteenth race, led by C. V. Whitney's Vulcan's Forge under 125 pounds.

Vulcan's Forge is a problem child at the moment, the winner of the Providence Stakes and Withers Mile is but one of five named by Whitney for the Lamplighter.

Among certain starters in a preliminary rundown of candidates are Joseph M. Roebbling's Macbeth (120), Glen Riddle farm's Faraway (119), Short Brook farm's Pennant Day (119), Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Skystrider (114), Leo Gerogroski's Noble Hero (114), Woodland farm's Picture Card (114), Artist Life (114), a stablemate to Macbeth and Mrs. M. E. Whitney's Singing Step (114).

Pennant Day recently ran the fastest six furlongs of the meeting. If the Lamplighter's mile and a sixteenth is not beyond his capabilities he figures to be in the thick of affairs from start to finish.

Among probables, any or all of which may drop into the ranks, are Greenlee stable's Up Boat (118), Mrs. E. L. Hopkins' Three Rings (110) and William Hells' Bucephalus (105).

Saturday's Lamplighter, named in honor of a famed thoroughbred of old Monmouth Park days, is a major prep for the August 7 renewal of the $25,000 Choice stakes at Monmouth Park.

The preliminary bout brings together Irish George Flynn, unbeaten here, and rough Herbie Freeman. The Irishman's record shows that he fares quite well against heavier opposition but he will have to rely on more than his record to subdue Hefty Herbie.

A 30-minute bout tosses Jim Szleky, Hungarian entry into U. S. wrestling, up against reliable George Bruckman of Washington, D. C. The opening bout at 9 p. m. pits Stu Smith, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania, against Milo Steinborn, a reliable performer.

Miquet—Sharkey Top Wrestling Show

Wrestling at Asbury Park armory Saturday night brings together Francois Miquet, French top-notch, and Texas "Babe" Sharkey, Miquet, boasting a winning streak of 17 straight, will have to put forth all of his agility and nimbleness if he hopes to outlast the gigantic "Babe." Sharkey disposed of his last opponent, George Macri-costas, in less than five minutes of fierce wrestling.

The Belford Blue Sox decisively downed Cliffwood Royals Sunday afternoon 6 to 1.

Red Bank Towners Post Another Win

Club Freehold A. C. 18 To 8 To Maintain Undeclared Status

The Red Bank Towners continued their undefeated streak Sunday at Freehold when they posted their eighth victory of the Jersey Shore League campaign.

A free-scoring affair, the Towners were tied in the sixth inning, 8-all. It didn't take the league-leading Towners long to move into power, however, because the county seaters were generous enough to come through with some sloppy fielding.

It wasn't all Freehold errors, though. The three Red Bank tallies in the seventh came up singles by Bob Scott, Jim Taylor and a double by Johnnie Ellis.

Among probables, any or all of which may drop into the ranks, are Greenlee stable's Up Boat (118), Mrs. E. L. Hopkins' Three Rings (110) and William Hells' Bucephalus (105).

Fort Monmouth Team Captures Army Diadem

Lieut. Ken Hughes of Fort E. Friday at Fort Monmouth county club captured the first Army championship by defeating Col. Joe Dobson, one up on the 20th hole.

For the 18, Hughes fired a one-over par 73 to Dobson's 76.

Hughes began the match in a pletic fashion, birdieing the first three holes. It gave him a temporary two-hole advantage, Dobe shooting a birds and two pars, the end of the first nine, however Dobson was one up.

Fort Monmouth's golf team, made up of Cpl. Walter VanHall, Cpl. Jack Vornhalt, P.F.C. Jack Moloney and Capt. George Guccopieri, captured first Army golf championship with a composite 36-hole of 636.

VanHall had scores of 78 to pace Monmouth's shotmakers.

Another big attraction in match between the popular Muel Marvel and Steve Goo of Bayon. The Marvel thrilled a rainy crowd of 700 with his victory over Rocco Colombo at last Tuesday mat gathering at Balbach's.

A third match being staged at Balbach's was a three-hole match between Knaburg's favorite son, Lou Schlich, and Lou Gruber.

Red Bank Clothing, A.C.W.A. Post Wins

Play in the Community "Y" softball league continued last week, with Red Bank Clothing defeating J. H. Kelly 4 to 3 and A.C.W.A. local taking Coast Enterprise 10 to 3.

Tom Cusick was the heavy hitter in the Clothing win. He had three for three, including two doubles. Charlie Nill pounded two hits, including a two-run triple.

McCall hurried the labor group to victory, gulping up only three hits. He also had a perfect day at the platter, getting two for two and scoring twice.

Dan Dillione Elected County Bowling Prexy

Dan Dillione was elected president of the Monmouth County Bowling association when that group met last week.

Other officers for '48-'49 are Fred Morris of Eatontown, vice president; Paul Albrecht of Red Bank, second vice president; Ellsworth Barker of Keypoint, third vice president; Harold Denegar of Allentown, fourth vice president; Eddie Bahr of Highlands, secretary and treasurer; and Richard Ned of Leonardo, Rudy Zipper of Oakhurst, Ben VanNoy of Asbury Park and John Callendo of Long Branch, executive committee.

SURF, FIELD AND STREAM

Timely Notes On The Great Outdoors

BY STEW VAN VLIET

Could it possibly be that a striped bass trolling has hit the skids in the Sandy Hook area and that it will remain in a mid-summer slump until the fall migration? Or is it the moon? Which ever it is, trolling has proceeded very poor results over the past week-end. Full moon arrives July 20, so if the bass are still here they should show some action by that time.

When we say that trolling in the Sandy Hook area has "hit the skids" we don't mean to imply there were no fish taken. Those who have been out at day-break have been getting a few, but nothing to compare with the New Deal runs of a week or two ago. It is possible that with all the big fish sent out of the Hook area that a school has been depleted. We counted as many as 40 to 60 at trolling at the same time. Some were any "skunked," and many caught eight or ten to a boat. A rough guess, suppose 50 boats caught ten bass every 24 hours, making a total of 500 fish. Suppose this continued for 30 days results, 1,500 fish. Even at that rate there is a lot of fish taken and may have to wait until other arrivals before the sport picks up.

Jetty Jockeys Rewarded

While the trollers are in a slump can be definitely stated that the fishermen have come into their own. The run, which started last week, is continuing at top speed. The following scores were reported: Crammer's tackle shop, Long Beach, George Egan 17 pounds, 4 ounces, Paul Becker 16 pounds, 14 ounces, 7 pounds, L. B. Rivlin 14 pounds, 8 ounces, Joe Mazza 15 pounds, 16 ounces, respectively; Inley Cranner, Sr., 17 pounds, 5 ounces, Inley Cranner, Jr., 5 pounds, 5 ounces, Ziegler 19, and 5 pounds, 5 ounces anglers all from Long Beach with the exception of Howl Ziegler, who is from West angle. All the bass being caught hitting shoulder or soft calico and sand bugs.

The best fluke fishing is in the rewsbury river from Highlands the Rumson bridge. The conditions in Sandy Hook bay are as follows: first porgies have arrived, catches up to 12 and 14 to a net. Plenty of small seabass, jacks very poor. Weakfish are in all numbers. Fluke scarce but proving. Along the shore line, the scarce. A good run of king mackerel, bluefish and kings off pier, and tunc very plentiful about 60 miles off Brille, reported used for the Mud Hole, where they should arrive about August 1.

60 Pounds vs. Three Ounces

When any one mentions a three-ounce rod, one would probably associate it with brook trout or fresh water fish. The former learn that 40-28 and 26-pound green heads were used on a three-ounce glass rod, considered it to be for the book. Frank of Shrewsbury accounted for the first three, while Bill Hazel of Bradley Beach took a pounder.

The Santoy No. 3

Saturday morning at 8 o'clock Santoy No. 2, Capt. Fred Farley will leave its berth at Pullen's basin, Rumson, for a day ashore after the 35th anniversary of banks and automobile dealers, will be guests of the Seat Finance company, 60 Broad street. This will be the second use of the Santoy No. 2 in which writer participated. The first, in 1946, turned out most successfully. Every one caught fish, and we hope we can say as much this outing.

Chalk up a new member of the ped bass fraternity—Dr. Fred Remus came through in a big way. His first striper weighing 35 pounds, and he took it on the "hook," Capt. Addison Howland Rumson, Lester Lovett, Shrewsbury, was the other member of the party, but he failed to connect. We understand that Doc Remus is using his trophy mounted by Fred Remus of Neptune.

With Apologies to "Casey Jones" come, all you apartment, if you want to go fishing, that happened to the fishes and the birds and the deer. Some smart politicians, Always busy as bees, a chance to hold Of your license fees.

It is 8-27 is the law of the land, if you lost control Of your game warden band, longer do they roam Through the woods at night looking for the fellows who are not in the wardens in the true sense of words; say play cops and robbers, instead of saving birds.

Transferred these fine men, and now they report to the chief of the state, you have no one to blame For this terrible plight, copying yourselves, Who refused to fight, is not too late now, if you are willing to dig, if you wire your congressman, Elgerty Rig.

Being our first attempt at, we hope you will not be too in your criticism. The object of this attempt being to improve every sportsman in the state, as well as throughout the state, that if you fail to prevent 8-27 becoming law, you might just well put your guns and rods away and forget that there ever such a thing as hunting and fishing in New Jersey. If it happens here it can happen in every part of the union.

Up in arms against this bill is against your interests—gets you and your children, or write your congressman. Some one is in a hurry to get passed; it has been given

Horseman Makes Catch

Hugh H. Fontaine of New Orleans, La., holds a 60-pound tuna he caught Sunday 30 miles off Atlantic City. With him, left, is Hugh Grant of Bradford, Pa. Both gentlemen are summering in Red Bank. Their yachts are at Irwin's dock. Mr. Grant landed a 167-pound tuna, but was forced to leave it in Atlantic City due to lack of transportation space. The men are horse owners who are campaigning at Monmouth Park. Mr. Grant's Tarpot Kid won Saturday's second race at Monmouth to pay $57 for $2 win tickets.

Track Again Plans Turf Charity Ball

To Hold Event Saturday, July 31

Monmouth Park Jockey club will present its second annual Turf Charity ball at the seaside track Saturday, July 31, following the running of the $15,000 Molly Pitcher Handicap, according to an announcement made today by President Amory L. Haskell.

All proceeds are again to accrue to charity. Track officials hope the evening will prove more successful than last year when upwards of $12,000 was realized and distributed among non-profit, incorporated institutions serving the health needs of Monmouth county.

Last year two orchestras were hand during the evening. Professional talent from New York also entertained. The same entertainment will be provided July 31. Booths are to be set up throughout the grounds and many unusual features are planned.

"Institutions which shared in the 1947 Charity ball included Monmouth Memorial hospital, River-view hospital, Monmouth County Welfare House, Monmouth County Tuberculosis hospital and other worthy organizations," said President Haskell. "A permanent committee, including the most prominent citizens of Monmouth county, was set up to allocate the funds, and this committee will again be active in handling details for the 1948 charity ball."

Tickets are to be put on sale at the race track, and at other points throughout the county, later this week following a meeting of the committee with Haskell and other officials of Monmouth Park.

Bayshore Knights Meet New Officers

Bayshore council, Knights of Columbus, held its first meeting under its newly-elected officers last week. The organization of its five-point program resulted in the appointment of Harold Reynolds, general program chairman; Harold Martin, membership committee; Joseph Duffy, fraternal activities; George Oldroyd, council activities; and Frank Cofield, publicity committee.

Good Dog Photos Being Sought For National Contest

Here's Opportunity To See How Good Your Pup Really Is

The Gaines Dog Research Center, New York city, has advised The Red Bank Register that it is offering $1,125 in prizes for good, interesting dog pictures in a contest sponsored as part of the approaching observance of National Dog Week this fall.

In order that all interested in photography may have a fair chance for the prize money, entries will be accepted in three distinct classifications—amateurs, members of camera clubs and professional photographers. In each of the first two groups there is a first prize of $250, a second of $175 and third of $125, while in the professional photographer class there is but a single prize of $350. In the Camera club classification an additional $25 prize will go to each of three clubs which the winners of first, second and third prizes will have named as their membership affiliation. All winning entries will become the property of the contest sponsor, who also holds the privilege of purchasing any other photographs authorized in the contest at prevailing market prices.

Circus To Play At Little Silver

Hunt Brothers Show To Perform July 21

The Hunt Brothers circus, featuring trained elephants, will have a one day's stand July 21 on Victor Satter's estate, Little Silver. Performances will be given at 2 p. m. and at 8 p. m.

Mr. Satter has offered the circus use of the grounds on the condition that part of the proceeds are given the Little Silver fire department.

The circus, which played in Monmouth county last year, has added several new acts. One of these is the St. Leon Troupe from Australia, a group of six teeter-board gymnasts. The DeRizka family, consisting of mother, father and four daughters, are talented high wire artists. Other new acts include the Powell tight wire duo, new clowns; the Janiers, aerial bar performers and Dave Nimmo and his cowboys and cowgirls.

The trained elephants are under the direction of Roxy Bush. Other animal acts include trained horses, ponies, dogs, mules and monkeys.

FRIDAY CAKE SALE

The Mary Mount chapter of the Women's Missionary society of the Red Bank Baptist church will hold a cake sale tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the Strand theater lobby. Mrs. Edmund Westberg is in charge and will be assisted by Mrs. Florence S. Holmes, Mrs. Homer C. Methot, Mrs. Arthur Ryerson, Mrs. William Atkins and Miss Dorothy Brown.

Auxiliary To Help At Firemen's Fair

Members of the auxiliary of the Atlantic township fire company at Col's Neck will take charge of the refreshment booth at the fire company's fair the week of July 17. The fair will be held on Route 34, south of the traffic light at the intersection of Col's Neck.

Plans for this activity were arranged at a special meeting Monday at Big Brook farm, Vanderburg, home of Mrs. Christine S. Conover, with Mrs. Arnold Conover as hostess. Arrangements were completed for the auxiliary picnic to be held Wednesday, August 4, at the Boy Scout camp at Scobeyville. Discussion was also held on the convention of the state auxiliaries in October at Haledon.

The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Leroy Daniels at West Freehold.

War Dead Returned

Pvt. Joseph Beverly

Pvt. James Overton

The bodies of three men who lost their lives in Europe during World War II have been returned to the United States. It was announced Monday by the army.

They are Pvt. Joseph Beverly of Eatontown, Pvt. John J. Short of Matawan and Pvt. James O. Overton of Keansburg.

Pvt. Beverly was 33 years old when he was killed January 18, 1945, in Luxembourg. He had joined the service in February, 1944.

Before entering the service he had been employed 14 years by the John Dean paint shop of Oakhurst. Pvt. Beverly was originally from Buena Vista, Va. He was a son of Mrs. Catherine Beverly of Long Branch and Cornelius Beverly of Buena Vista.

Pvt. Beverly had been a resident of New Jersey 18 years. He married the former Miss Augusta Ludwig of Tinton Falls 16 years ago.

Surviving besides his wife and parents are two sons, Joseph Beverly, 13, and Norman Beverly, 10, and a daughter, Virginia Beverly, 15; six brothers, Harry Beverly of Wall street, Red Bank, Benjamin Beverly of Pine Brook, Robert and Cornelius Beverly of Asbury Park and Charles and Forrest Beverly, both of Buena Vista, and two sisters, Miss Margaret Beverly of Long Branch and Miss Bertha Beverly of Buena Vista.

Pvt. Short, 20, had been in the service eight months when he was killed in October, 1944, at Hamm, Germany. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Short of Matawan. He was an infantryman with the Third Army.

A graduate of Matawan high school he was employed at the Red Bank Bendix plant before entering the service.

Besides his parents he is survived by a brother, Charles Short of Matawan and four sisters, Miss Patricia Short, living at home; Mrs. Stork Shower For Mrs. John Schultz, Jr.

A stork shower was given for Mrs. John Schultz, Jr., of Sea Bright, recently by Mrs. William Gaynor and Mrs. Mamie Walker at the home of Mrs. Russell McCue of Rumson.

Attending were Mrs. Joseph Ciejka, Mrs. Edward Johnson, Mrs. Irving VanBrunt, Mrs. James VanBrunt, Mrs. Mollie Murphy, Mrs. Jacob Felt, Mrs. Otto Peil, Mrs. Thomas Vetter, Mrs. William Kelly, Mrs. Robert Robbins, Mrs. Frieda Kennedy and Misses Patty Sinclair, Doris Walker, Betty Sammon and Gladys Niederer.

SUES THEATER.

George K. Schmidt, owner of a Highlands grocery store, recently received $500 in a suit against the Paramount theater of Long Branch. The suit arose after Mr. Schmidt tripped over a mat in the foyer of the theater in March, 1947. He was incapacitated for some time after the accident. Mr. Schmidt was represented by Theodore D. Parsons, senior member of the law firm of Parsons, Labrecque, Canzona and Combs.

Local Residents Meet Spellman

Attend Pontifical Mass in Japan

Capt. and Mrs. Harold Hill, former local residents now living in Japan, attended solemn pontifical mass, pontifical benediction and reception for His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman when that noted prelate visited abroad.

Mrs. Hill is the former Miss Geraldine Sullivan of Middletown. Her husband formerly conducted Commercial Sign company. He is stationed with the 70th division in Yokohama.

Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen delivered the sermon at the mass at which more than 40 priests took part. At the reception following mass, the Hills met both the cardinal and the monsignor. Upon learning that the Hills were from this section, Cardinal Spellman told them he knew the territory well, having

Street Opening Law Passed

Highlands Adopts
Utility Ordinance

A street opening ordinance was adopted Monday night by the Highlands mayor and council.

The new law stipulates that before any streets are opened for utility work, the worker must receive a permit from the borough clerk and leave a $15 deposit. When the work is completed and the street closed, the money will be returned.
However, if the street is not closed to the satisfaction of the street department, that body will close the street properly and charge the closing to the utility worker.

Councilman Louis Loder, Jr., reported that he and Craig Finnegan, civil engineer, had examined as closely as possible the outfall sewer line which extends to Sandy Hook.
He said that a diver will be engaged to examine reported breaks before specifications can be drawn for repair work.

Councilman Loder also requested that the building ordinance be amended so that semi-fireproof homes on 25 foot lots could be built two-and-a-half feet from the property line rather than five feet as current laws specify.

Joseph E. Sedlar was given a $680 contract to repair the roof of the fire house. Garbage truck bids were deferred.

Stamp Club Entertained By Mr. and Mrs. Morton

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Morton entertained last Friday evening at their spacious home at Riverlawn, Fair Haven, overlooking the Shrewsbury river. Their guests arrived early in the evening and after strolling over the grounds and out onto the private pier were escorted to the veranda, where an evening of sociability was enjoyed. Part of the evening was spent indoors, where Mr. Morton, who is president of the Monmouth County Philatelic society, exhibited a general collection of philatelic covers and oddities, as well as unusual books and pictures pertaining to Monmouth county. A collection of early U. S. adhesives and covers very neatly arranged in special volumes were shown by Wesley Crozier of Fair Haven. This is the first of a series of social events to be conducted by officers and members of the society, and it was a success in every way. During the evening refreshments were served. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Hollowbush of Allenhurst, and Mrs. Thomas Irving Brown, Wesley Crozier and Robert Williams of Fair Haven; William Ward of Rumson, Alexander D. Cooper, James Hollywood and Leon Reusselle of Red Bank, Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Quetch of Wana-mauck and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Dequins of Long Branch.

Couple Leaving For Tacoma, Washington

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Summers of Little Silver are leaving next Thursday for Tacoma, Washington, where he will enter the College of Puget Sound. Mrs. Summers will take up social studies.

The young couple will visit an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bradford and a cousin, Richard Summers, in Logan, Utah, and will stop at Seattle to spend a short time with Mrs. Summers' folks.

Irving Summers was born in Red Bank but has lived in Little Silver since childhood. He was graduated from Red Bank high school and attended Monmouth Junior college one year.

While serving in the U. S. Navy the young man met Miss Martha Cooke in Seattle and married her June 22, 1947. The wedding took place at Embury Methodist church, Little Silver, with the pastor, Rev. Dr. Furman A. De Maris, officiating.

Mrs. Summers was born at Boone, N. C. where she was graduated from the high school before moving to Seattle. She also attended Monmouth Junior college at Long Branch.

The couple have been active in Embury church, where they have been teaching in the Sunday school. Mr. Summers is president of the youth fellowship group of that church and also of the New Brunswick sub-district society.

"Bill" Miller Returns To His Alma Mater

The Register received a pleasant call Tuesday morning from "Bill" Miller of San Raphael, Cal. Several years ago Bill was a pupil at Mrs. Georgie B. Hazard's private school on East Front street. While under the tutelage of Mrs. Hazard he enrolled as one of the Red Bank Register's group of newsmen and was on the street every Thursday afternoon with his teacher as a chaperone peddling Monmouth county's great weekly.

This is Bill's first visit to Red Bank in seven years and he is amazed at Red Bank's growth and its modernization of the business district, giving it a real city appearance.

It was not necessary for Bill to sell Registers for a few extra pennies, as his folks are well-to-do, but they wanted him to have the experience of rubbing shoulders with the boys who were compelled to earn a little extra money toward their maintenance.

Bill in his conversation with The Register's publisher said his experience as a Register newsmen has helped him materially in his business career.

While in this vicinity Bill is the guest of Mrs. Hazard.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Laubmeister are celebrating their tenth wedding anniversary today.

Will Be Guests At Church Lawn Party

The congregation of the Chapel of the Holy Communion, Fair Haven, will be guests Saturday afternoon of Rev. and Mrs. Christopher H. Snyder at the rectory at Elberon. The occasion will be the sixth annual lawn party given by the vicar and wife.

There will be surf bathing, games and motion pictures. A covered dish supper will be served on the lawn. George B. Moxley is general chairman. Mrs. Edward Bennett, president of the Ladies' guild, is chairman of the supper committee. Myron V. Brown has charge of transportation, James Wenner, the arrangements, and Charles Ammack, entertainment. Assisting the committees are George Cotton, Fleider Cross, George Hennessey, Mrs. Myron V. Brown, Mrs. George Cotton and Miss Elizabeth Scowcroft.

The party group will leave the Fair Haven parish house at 2 p. m. and the committee has asked that as many cars be available as possible.

Funeral Directors To Nominate Officers

The annual dinner meeting of the Funeral Directors' association of Monmouth and Ocean counties will be held Wednesday, August 11, at 8:30 o'clock at the Beacon Hill Golf club, Leonardo. The meeting will be presided over by Harry C. F. Worden.

Highlighting the business will be the elections of officers. Nominations will be placed before the group by Max S. Campbell, Tom River, chairman; C. Ensley Clayton, Adelphi, and F. Gilday Freeman, Freehold. Host will be H. Lawrence Scott of Belford.

The 4th annual convention of the state group will be held September 14, 15, 16 and 17 at Atlantic City. The state board lecture will be held Thursday, September 16, at 1:30 p. m. Earl T. Newcomer, author of "Profitable Mortuary Management," will be the speaker. His subject will be "Business Ethics and Business Management."

Red Bank Man Gets Accident Settlement

Richard J. Jones of 87 East Sunset avenue recently settled a suit against Jerome and Murray Abrams of Plainfield and Murray Levy of Brooklyn. Amount of the settlement was $1,150.

The suit resulted from an accident last August at Bradley Beach when Mr. Jones, a passenger in a car driven by his son, Jerome Jones, was struck by a car owned by Hyman Abrams and driven by Mr. Levy. Mr. Jones was represented by Theodore J. Labrecque, a member of the law firm of Parsons, Labrecque, Canzona and Combs.

Lovett's Seeks Drainage Relief

Asks Little Silver For Catch Basin

In the absence of Mayor Frank M. Gregory, Council President Frank Dean presided at Tuesday night's meeting of Little Silver's mayor and council.

At one of the shortest meetings in several years, council heard a complaint of Lovett's nursery, in which a catch basin was requested for their property on Ridge road. The nursery, through their attorney, Theodore D. Parsons, said that water draining from Hance road caused a flooded condition in a section of their property.

Borough Clerk Fred L. Ayers was directed to contact Mr. Parsons, asking permission for Councilman Joseph Davison and Borough Engineer George K. Allen to directly contact Lovett's on the matter. Mr. Allen said he believed the property was located in Rumson, but that in any event he did not believe the drain from Hance road affected the nursery.

Councilman Chester Apy told council he would attempt to find a method to lessen the hazardous traffic condition at the point where Harding road meets Ridge road. Mr. Apy, who is police committee chairman, said there had been two serious accidents at that intersection and that some remedy is necessary.

Now, here is a CULTIVATOR that really knocks out weeds

Some folks say a cultivator ought to "let air into the soil," "help retain moisture" etc. We say you cultivate to get rid of weeds. The other things are important, but knocking out weeds is number one. And we'll show you the cultivator that does it.

What's more, this cultivator can be attached to the Ford Tractor in about a minute! Now, that is a big advantage... especially when changing from cultivating to mowing and back again. Time saving is money now.

Study the pictures! See how easy cultivating is with Ford Hydraulic Touch Control. Let us demonstrate this cultivator for you... Rigid or spring shanks.

Aphids Cause "Honeydew" Drip

"Honeydew" may mean a delectable breakfast fruit to most people, but to property owners it indicates the presence of one of the most obnoxious insect pests—the aphid. Honeydew is the sticky aphid excretion that drips from trees onto sidewalks, parked cars and even onto sparkling summer duds. In late July and August this nuisance is usually most pronounced.

And at this time, reports M. W. Staples, field supervisor of the Davey Tree Expert Co., his company is deluged with inquiries from home owners as to the cause of sticky, dripping leaves.

Aphids, commonly called plant lice, are small, soft-bodied insects that live by sucking juice from leaves and tender twigs. Trees which they commonly infest include apple, arbutus, birch, black cherry, spruce, boxelder, birch, cypress, hawthorn, hickory, linden, pine, poplar, red cedar and tulip-tree.

The Norway maple is one of the special favorites of aphids. Often they infest it in such tremendous numbers that the sticky honeydew drips steadily onto walks, cars or persons beneath. Leaves may fall prematurely in alarming numbers.

Aphid infestations are often accompanied by hordes of ants, which have no special interest in the trees, but instead, are attending the aphids to obtain from them the sweet excretion which is a prized item of ant diet. So diligently do the ants follow the suppliers of this food that aphids are some times called "ant cows."

Nicotine sprays are the accepted curbs for the aphid pest, the Davey expert advises. However, it is important that neighboring trees be sprayed along with the infested ones. If they are not, the possibilities are great that all trees will be reinfested within a few days.

Atlantic Highlands

Cars driven by William Martin of Leonardo and Thomas Mitchell of Navesink, collided Sunday evening on Memorial parkway. Officer Nelson Morrissey, who investigated, reports that there were no injuries. Parallel parking on both sides of First avenue went into effect Friday. The new street markings were painted that day. The borough had been delayed in this venture as dry streets were necessary for the project.

The firemen's fair will be held August 25 through 28 on a lot in the rear of the borough hall. A four-door Chrysler sedan will be awarded the last night of the fair. Charles D. DeVesty and son Robert, summer residents of Bay Head, Saturday visited Mrs. Charles E. DeVesty.

The Lions club held the first meeting of the club year Monday night at the Homestead Inn. Herbert W. Posten, new president, was in charge. The club is planning a ladies' night August 31. A delegation is expected to be sent to the International Lions' convention July 26 at New York city.

Members of the Methodist congregation, meeting Wednesday night of last week at the Masonic temple, were unable to form definite plans for the construction of a new church. Another meeting is scheduled for next week.

Welcome Spence of Navesink was taken to the office of Dr. Abraham Rosenthal Sunday night by the First Aid squad. He was found lying on Navesink avenue suffering from loss of blood. Police Captain James Eglio said that Spence had been involved in an argument with Ethel Fuller, also of Navesink, and he accused her of cutting him.

New gas storage tanks are being installed at Bud Whitmore's service station on River road. The new tanks have a capacity of 6,000 gallons, 2,000 gallons more than that of the old tanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Cameron of Irvington have returned home after spending a week's vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cameron of Clay street.

Norman Cameron EN 1/c is home on a 94-day leave from the Navy. A veteran of six years he is stationed at San Pedro, Cal., but upon his return he will serve two years re-enlistment at Kodiak, Alaska. Donald Hughes, a cousin, accompanied him from California.

Vincent T. McGrath of river road is among 34 men placed on a state eligibility list for promotion to the position of assistant engineer, highway, as the result of a civil service examination held May 8.

Cary driven by J. B. Mochartia of Ruman and Vincent Caposina of Orange collided Tuesday evening at the intersection of Ridge and Harding roads. Capt. Carl Jakubec investigated.

Councilman and Mrs. Arthur H. Rieman and family are on a two weeks' motor trip to New York state, Thousand Islands and New England.

Truth and love are two of the most powerful things in the world, and when they both go together they cannot easily be withstood.—Cudworth.

Officers Pleased After Full Week Of Transportation

Jersey Shore Bus Lines Operating Between Shore And Pennsylvania

Officers of Jersey Shore Bus Lines, Inc., reported Tuesday after the first full week of operation of the new bus line between Allentown, Bethlehem and Easton and Matawan, Keyport, Red Bank, Fort Monmouth, Easton, Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, that they were well pleased with the traffic carried, and it shows the need for direct transportation service upon this route.

Jersey Shore Bus Lines, Inc., was formed a few months ago to provide transportation between Allentown, Bethlehem and Easton and the North Jersey shore. There is no direct transportation of any kind available to over 500,000 people living in these cities and surrounding municipalities in the Lehigh valley and these nearest New Jersey beaches. This new bus service has been planned to meet the needs of those living in this section of Pennsylvania by giving them direct, dependable, comfortable and convenient transportation service to the North Jersey shore and the Monmouth park race track. It will also be convenient to many in this section who have occasion to travel in the opposite direction.

The Interstate Commerce commission recently authorized the operation of the route after hearings held in Newark last April upon the corporation's application. Representatives of the Asbury Park Chamber of Commerce, the board of trade of Easton, many hotel men from Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, as well as terminal operators upon the route, and a group of people who wished to use the service appeared and testified in favor of the application. A few days before the July 4 week-end several new deluxe Diesel-powered motor coaches were delivered to the corporation, and with these the service was begun July 3. These buses are the latest models available and offer the best in dependability and comfort.

Schedules provide for a three-hour trip from the terminal at Allentown to the beach at Asbury Park without change. Stops are made at terminals on the route in Monmouth county to permit passengers to reach all North Jersey shore beaches through the use of local bus routes. Trips are so arranged that those using the service may easily make the return trip the same day, with ample time for the beach and boardwalk, or to enjoy the racing program at Monmouth park race track. Low excursion fares are available to make the daily outing more attractive. Besides, seats are reserved, so a comfortable trip is assured.

Edward W. Carric, Matawan lawyer, is president of the corporation and John Barber, also of Matawan, is secretary-treasurer and general manager. The main office of the corporation is at 123 Main street, Matawan.

State House Letter

Trenton, July 15 (AP)—Director of Navigation Frank D. Holmes of Trenton has resigned his post in the Conservation Department, but the investigation into a $1,000,000 jetty project near his Elberon residence is being continued.

Holmes, under fire for his part in the project, submitted his resignation Monday. Controversy over the jetties began last week when it was revealed that state funds were being used to build "ocean swimming pools" for private beach owners south of Long Branch. At least five of the T-shaped seawalls were already protecting estates at Elberon, the reports said.

Then it was learned that Holmes, who had worked on the jetty project, owned one of the homes and beaches fronted by the development. Asked for an explanation by Gov. Driscoll, Holmes asserted everything was "open and above board."

"I thought my home almost three years after the project was initiated," said the $9,000-a-year navigation director. "The project has been given plenty of publicity since it began by seashore newspapers."

Holmes said construction of the jetties was authorized by the 1940 legislature as an experiment in combatting beach erosion. After the initial work was sanctioned the navigation council allowed maintenance funds to be used for completion of the project.

It will have eight jetties when finished, Holmes said. He admitted all the jetties would be built in front of privately owned buildings and beaches.

His resignation was handed in at a navigation council meeting, during which the members voted to postpone contract awards for two more jetties at $125,000 each. The resignation takes effect October 1, the same day Holmes faced loss of his job through reorganization by the Department of Conservation.

Holmes, known as "the admiral" for his work with the State Naval Militia, served as navigation director since 1939.

With his resignation Holmes issued the following statement: "The council members of the division of navigation held a very lengthy meeting on the question of the present newspaper controversy over the director's interest in property adjacent to shore protective works. All angles of the controversy were discussed, and it was the unanimous consensus of opinion of the council members present that there were no illegal acts committed by the director, it having been brought out that he had discussed his contemplated purchases and realty transactions with the council members from time to time."

"The director felt that, in the light of the present controversy, his actions, while entirely honest, could be construed as being indiscreet as a public official, and requested that the council accept his resignation as director, effective in three months."

Raritan Bay Unsafe
Dr. Daniel Bergsma, State Commissioner of Health, has disclosed that the Raritan bay area had the state's only unsafe bathing beaches. Reporting on a survey of coastal waters from Lawrence Harbor to Beach Haven, Dr. Bergsma said those adjacent to five Raritan bay beaches showed a higher bacteria count than is safe for bathing.

Other unsatisfactory beaches were at Long Branch, Asbury Park and Ocean Grove, the health commissioner said. He added, however, that samples collected at those three areas were well below the bacterial limit, and that swimming there was permissible.

The five unsafe beaches in the Raritan bay section are at Lawrence Harbor, Seidler's beach, Keyport, Union Beach and Keansburg. Dr. Bergsma said samples there were above the bacterial standard on both food and ebb tides, while the Monmouth county waters were found defective on food tide tests only.

He named Ideal Beach, Leonardo, Atlantic Highlands and Highlands at Raritan bay localities in which the ocean water showed a safe amount of bacteria.

Salvation Army Gets $4,500 Check

The Salvation Army in Red Bank came $4,500 closer to its goal for building improvements when a check for that amount was presented by Elmer Heese, retiring president of the Red Bank Rotary club, to Capt. Newton McClements, officer in charge of the Red Bank Salvation Army.

In May, the Rotary club organized its members to raise funds for a local organization that was meeting ing a community need. The beneficiary was the local Salvation Army, which has been striving the past two years to raise money to improve and expand the present facilities for service to Red Bank and the surrounding area.

head would be named by a nine-man council with the governor's approval.

The proposed Fish and Game council would be given broad powers over hunting and fishing, including the right to set limits, provide penalties and determine methods of catch and kill.

Cigarette Cartons $1.80
The New Jersey Cigarette Tax Bureau has set a minimum of $1.80 for cartons of standard brand cigarettes.

Testing its first price list under the new cigarette "fair trade" act, the bureau late last week prohibited consumer discounts on carton sales unless the vendor can prove his cost of business is less than the 8% markup prescribed by law. This action has been taken, the bureau disclosed, to prevent sales of cigarettes below cost.

Earlier a basic minimum price of 18 cents a pack had been set for standard brands. A complete price list put out Friday established minimums ranging from 18 cents for low-priced brands to 32 cents for imported types.

United Republican Campaign
Albert B. Hermann of Milltown has been named as executive director of the 1948 Republican campaign in New Jersey. It will be the first time in 20 years all Republican campaign activity in the state has been under unified direction.

Appointment of Hermann, who is secretary to Senator F. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), was announced by State Chairman Lloyd E. Marsh. Marsh indicated the new director would co-ordinate efforts to elect Thomas E. Dewey President, and State Treasurer Robert C. Hendrickson, U. S. Senator.

Track Application Denied
The New Jersey Racing commission has rejected an application for permission to build a pari-mutuel trotting track in Gloucester county. The commission turned down the application for financial reasons after a hearing June 30, in which the proposed track was attacked as "sinful" and "immoral."

Local Company Gets Road Bid
Atlantic Highlands To Fix Grand Avenue
The Mutual Contracting company of Atlantic Highlands was low bidder Tuesday night at that borough for resurfacing work on Grand avenue from East Lincoln avenue to Memorial parkway.

The mayor and council were unable to award the contract, as the work must first be approved by the State Road department. The amount of the bid was $3,799.56. The state will reimburse the borough for 50% of the cost. The resurfacing of Grand avenue has been divided into two sections for financial reasons.

Councilman Everett Curry stated that he had heard favorable and unfavorable reports concerning the parallel parking on both sides of First avenue, which went into effect Friday. It was reported that new parking arrangements for the railroad station parking lot would be made.

Mayor Waldron P. Smith assured council members and citizens as far as pollution was concerned, local waters were safe for bathing. An exception to the zoning ordinance was granted Edith Murtha of 15 Third avenue to convert her two-family apartment house into a three-family dwelling.

NOVICE COOKS WATCH THE CLOCK

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

One way to learn to cook, if you are a bride, is to get your husband to help you. If you persevere you may even write a cook book with him. That is what happened to Jean Mattimore, who has just co-authored "Cooking by the Clock" (Farrar & Straus), with her husband, Clarke Mattimore.

Neither of the Mattimores—by their own confession—knew their way around a kitchen when they decided to try housekeeping together; after they learned how to cook various dishes out of various cook books they still ran into trouble. Somehow or other they never could get the darned meal on the table all at one time, and all at the right temperature, and state of doneness. They realized their difficulty was the usual cook book with its individual recipes—they'd write a "meal book."

So their book charts its own course and outlines menus that tell exactly—by diagrammed clocks—when to start to prepare each dish, how to cook everything in the proper order—and have things ready when they're supposed to be. The Mattimores have done an admirable job. Each of their book's 30 or so menus gives recipes, an appropriate shopping list, the staples to be used, the utensils needed. In addition to the menus there are a number of other chapters—one that gives helpful hints, one on "Great Cup That Cheers," one on Hors D'Oeuvres.

Here's a sample menu and recipe:
Hamburgers with Barbecue Sauce
Corn on the Cob
Frozen Fruit Salad
Buttered Rolls
Chocolate Upside-Down Cake
With Whipped Cream
Coffee

The "Cooking by the Clock" recipe for Frozen Fruit Salad on the above menu interests me because every once in a while someone takes me aside, whispers something about a very special "quickie," and offers me the recipe. It always turns out to be a variation of this frozen fruit salad. Here is the Mattimores' directions for it:

Frozen Fruit Salad
1 package cream cheese (3-ounce)
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 No. 2 1/2 can fruit cocktail
Mash the cheese with a fork and blend in mayonnaise. Drain the fruit cocktail, saving the juice for another meal. Mix the fruit with cheese and mayonnaise. Put in tray in freezing compartment of a mechanical refrigerator and allow at least two hours to freeze thoroughly before serving. (Do not make this salad too far in advance or it will freeze solid). Cut in squares and serve on crisp lettuce. The Mattimores know it is important to serve salads frequently—and the following recipe of theirs demonstrates the kind of dressing a man likes. If your husband will not collaborate with you on the whole meal, perhaps he'll take over the greens department. Here is the dressing that will help build his salad reputation:
Anchovy Dressing
(French Dressing With Chopped Anchovies Added)
1/2 cup olive oil
1/2 cup wine vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1 clove garlic
6 anchovy fillets

Royall Tours Fort Monmouth

Army Secretary Praises Personnel
Referring to the Army Signal Corps installation at Fort Monmouth as "a most important installation, so necessary to the national welfare," Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall also complimented post personnel on the confidence and efficiency displayed during his five-hour tour of the post Monday.

At a luncheon given in the secretary's honor at Gibbs hall, Mr. Royall said he appreciated the "intelligent and courteous treatment" he had received on his visit, and indicated his desire to again visit the post at some future date.

He arrived at the Lakehurst Naval Air station by plane Monday and was met by Brig. Gen. Francis H. Lanahan, Jr., and staff officers from Fort Monmouth. The secretary was given a 10-gun salute on his arrival at Fort Monmouth, and then toured the Army Signal Corps training school, the Research and development laboratories and saw the activities at the Reserve Officers' Training Corps summer camp at Camp Wood.

He was informed of the developments in communications, photography, weather forecasting, radar and other branches of electronics. He also witnessed the man-made sub-zero weather in the climatic chambers of Squier laboratory.

Secretary Royall was accompanied on his Fort Monmouth trip by Col. Kirk Lawton, deputy chief signal officer; Col. E. R. Petzing, office of the chief signal officer; Col. George S. Eyster, public relations division, Department of the Army, and Lieut. Col. R. D. McKinney, logistics division, Department of the Army.

With Gen. Lanahan were Col. Elton F. Hammond, Col. Paul L. Neal, Col. Harold G. Miller, Col. Louis J. Tatom, Lieut. Col. James V. Carroll, Col. E. A. Rudellis and Lieut. Col. Charles S. Hays.

BEACH BEAUTIES!

Not to be overlooked in this year's galaxy of charming beach fashions is the white sharkskin suit, eyelet trimmed. The very young miss can wear her ruffles fore and aft this season and be as cute as a wink. The swimmer can have a rayon faille suit with straps that button on for swimming comfort and off for a smooth tan.

This year's simplified short hairdo has been created to order for beach beauties. Its charm is in its simplicity, but its success is in the hands of its creator. When you are ready for your new coiffure, visit the Vogue Beauty Salon, 16 White St., Red Bank. Phone Red Bank 6-0646 for an appointment.

Apply Dusting Mixture To Corn

Early Application Is Important

Sweet corn growers in New Jersey are warned by C. H. Nisley, Rutgers vegetable specialist, to start dusting with a five per cent DDD (not to be confused with DDT) dusting mixture beginning when the silks are from two to four days old. The application should be repeated at four-day intervals. If the small worms are found, before the corn silk, dusting should be done at once.

Corn earworm eggs and larva have already been seen in New Jersey on sweet corn, and early application is especially important in the control of this insect. After the worm has entered the tip of the ear, it's too late to dust. The mineral oil treatment should then be used according to the recommendations of the Experiment Station circular No. 413, which may be obtained from the County Agricultural agent.

Preparing Soil For Fall Crops
Growers are finding it difficult to prepare the soil for the fall vegetable crops because the ground is too wet to plow. Rather than plow the ground in this condition, many farmers find that it helps to loosen and air the soil by using a deep tillage harrow or a special cultivator attached to the tractor, says County Agent Clark.

The long teeth will penetrate the ground eight to ten inches and will thoroughly loosen the soil. By following this practice no manure, fertilizer, or liming material which was plowed under in the early spring will be brought to the surface, and it is the opinion of some bacteriologists that this is a good practice. By following this procedure weed seeds will be kept deep in the soil and will not trouble the next crop.

Side Dress Lima Beans
Because of the unusual amount of rainfall since the lima beans have been planted they may require an additional application of nitrogen, according to M. A. Clark, Agricultural Agent. The Fordhook variety requires more nitrogen than other varieties to mature a heavy crop. A side dressing of from 200 to 300 pounds of nitrate of soda, or 160 pounds of sulfate of ammonia, or 200 to 125 pounds of ammonium nitrate to the acre applied along the row and cultivated into the soil will supply this needed nitrogen. Chicken manure spread along the row and cultivated into the soil also will help to keep this popular variety of beans growing well and help mature a heavy crop.

Carrot Blight Is Increasing In New Jersey
Some carrot growers in New Jersey noticed that a certain proportion of the planting last fall developed bushy tops and woolly roots and were difficult to pull at harvest. This is a disease which is caused by the Aster Yellows virus, which also attacks other cultivated crops and is probably most severe on fall lettuce, says County Agent Clark.

The virus is spread by an insect—the six-spotted leafhopper. To control the disease kill the six-spotted leafhopper which carries the disease from an infected plant to a healthy one, spreading it throughout the acreage. The materials recommended are the same as those recommended for the six-spotted leafhopper on lettuce. Consult your agricultural agents or the insect control chart.

Side Dress Corn To Increase Yield
An extra side dressing of nitrogen will boost corn yields. About 50 pounds of nitrogen to the acre is about right, says county agent Clark.

This extra shot of nitrogen will be especially helpful on corn fields which were not manured this spring. C. B. Garrison, specialist in crops at Rutgers, calls attention to tests made by the Agricultural Experiment Station in which corn yields were increased when 50 pounds of nitrogen to the acre were applied at the last cultivation.

On fields where only fertilizer was used, much of the nitrogen probably has been lost because of too much rain, the crops specialist explains. It seems that the corn plant needs plenty of nitrogen when the ear is making. Often the "firing" of the lower leaves is blamed on dry weather when the trouble really lies in a need for more nitrogen.

Fifty pounds of nitrogen would be applied in a side-dressing of 300 pounds of nitrate of soda, 250 pounds of sulfate of ammonia or 180 pounds of ammonium nitrate.

Bulletin Reports Milk Flow Study
When dairymen deal with the tough problem of keeping the flow of milk even throughout the year, they may have to give more attention to their feeding practices as well as to season of freshening. Weather conditions also may have more of an effect than dairymen think on seasonal variation.

John W. Carnross, of the Agricultural Economics department at Rutgers university, calls attention to a new bulletin prepared by representatives of agricultural experiment stations in co-operation with the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in Washington. The bulletin reports results of a study made by the committee.

One of the conclusions drawn by the committee is that season of freshening may not be as important as it has been considered in seasonal production. This does not mean, Carnross points out, that season of freshening is unimportant, but rather that other factors also need attention.

Perhaps some farmers may find it worthwhile to improve their feeding practices especially in late summer, he suggests. Then, too, individual cows differ in their month to month production. Normal seasonal changes, or perhaps the amount of sunshine also may have their effects.

Carnross reminds farmers of the continued seriousness of the problem. In the New York market, milk producers supply only a little more than half as much milk in November and December as in May and June. But consumer demands stay the same throughout the year.

Red Bank Boy Runs Into Car

Seven-year-old Joseph Bucklew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Bucklew of 27 West Front street, ran in front of a car Saturday afternoon at the intersection of Broad and Wallace streets.

The driver, Thomas Kucyala of Sea Bright, took the boy to River-view hospital, where he was treated for leg and arm cuts. No charges were made against the driver.

Fire Department Organizes Band

To Start Next Week; Instruments Needed

A meeting of the band committee of the Red Bank Fire department will be held next Thursday at 7:30 p. m., at the Hook and Ladder fire house on Mechanic street.

John Luckenbill, instructor of the department band, and supervisor of the Red Bank high school musical department, will explain the band setup to the members.

Rehearsals will start the following week, and probably will be held in the benevolent association rooms on Catherine street. LeRoy Deacy, chairman of the band committee, and James A. Worden, secretary, are receiving applications for membership in the band.

The committee is still looking for some instruments that could be used and would be glad to call for them and pay for all repairs that might be needed. Persons wishing to donate or loan instruments to the band have been asked to call Peter MacDonald, 68 Wallace street, Red Bank 6-0297-J; Angelo Claglia, 204 Shrewsbury avenue, Red Bank 6-1841, or Milton Enrie, 61 Maple avenue, Red Bank 6-0539-W.

Man Fined $200 At Keansburg

Marvin G. Syvertsen, 37, of Cliffwood, was fined $200 and had his driver's license revoked for two years Monday night by Keansburg Recorder Henry Schweitzer on a charge of driving a car while under the influence of alcohol.

According to police, Syvertsen struck the rear of a car operated by Thomas Coyne of New Brunswick Sunday evening at the intersection of Highland avenue and Sea Breeze way, Keansburg. After the accident Officer James Beatty took Syvertsen to the office of Dr. Frank A. Meile, who pronounced him drunk and unfit to drive a car.

"We Would See Jesus" is the sermon theme of Rev. Roger J. Squire for Sunday morning service. The pastor and choir will render the anthem, "This Sanctuary of My Soul," Wood, Richard Warner, tenor, will sing the solo, "Consider the Lilies," Scott. The organ prelude will be "O God Be Merciful Unto Me," Bach, and the postlude "Now Thank We All Our God," Karg-Elert.

Mrs. Kenneth Way will supervise the nursery during the hour of the morning service to enable parents of young children to attend the worship.

New members will be received into church fellowship at the morning service.

Memorial altar flowers for Sunday will honor the memory of J. J. Carhart and will be presented by Mrs. Edwin Carhart, and daughter, Mrs. Charles Senior, Jr.

The pastor will be guest preacher at the 3:30 p. m. service in the Elberon Memorial church. Rev. Harold A. Besley, dean of Duke university, is the preacher at these vesper services during the summer.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST Red Bank

Services in First Church of Christ, Scientist, 209 Broad street, Red Bank are held Sundays at 11 a. m. Sunday-school at 11 a. m., and Wednesday evenings at 8:15 o'clock.

"Life" is the subject for Sunday, July 15.

Golden Text: "As the Father has life in himself, so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself." (John 5:26).

Sermon: Passages from the King James version of the Bible include: "Thou wilt show me the path of life, in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore." (Ps. 16:11) Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "If life were in mortal man or material things, it would be subject to their limitations and would end in death." (p. 331) "Because life is God, life must be eternal, self-existent, life is the everlasting I AM, the Being who was and is and shall be, whom nothing can erase." (p. 289).

BAPTIST Red Bank

At the 11 o'clock service of worship the guest preacher will be Dr. Herbert Hinton, home secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission society. The organ prelude will be "Chant sans paroles" by van Coena. The choir will sing the anthems "In Heavenly Love Abiding" by Heysler and "So Panteth My Soul After Thee" by Enners.

A cake sale for the benefit of the choir fund will be held in the lobby of the Strand theatre tomorrow morning by Mary Mount chapter, Women's Missionary society. Mrs. Edmund vomSteeg is chairman of the committee in charge.

On Sunday five of the young people will leave for the Baptist Junior High Camp near Bimstown. Those planning to attend are Ann Stryker, Ruth Schwenzer, Betty Jane Lawrie, John Crawford and Albert VanNostrand.

Your Garden

Gardeners who like to have geraniums and other flowering plants in the house during the winter, should be acting now. Of course, plants can be brought to flower in the house only if a window that permits exposure to direct sunlight practically all day is available.

Nothing less than three hours will allow any flowering results.

The best plan to follow is to root cuttings of flowering plants such as geranium, fuchsia and winter flowering begonias within the next few weeks. After the cuttings are rooted, pot them in small pots and as soon as new shoots develop, pinch them back to make the plants more compact.

When the small plant has filled the pot with roots, repot in the next larger size pot. Plants in too large pots will not grow as well as those brought along as suggested.

Satisfactory blooming plants of some of the annuals may be developed in the same way. Sow seeds of ageratum, petunia, alyssum, Broomhelia speciosa by the middle of August. Sow plenty of seeds so the best plants can be selected.

Pot the seedlings, as many as you will need, and keep them growing by repotting as indicated by the root development. Pinch these back to make the plants bushy. If you have especially fine specimens of these in the garden, cuttings may be rooted.

Such plants, freshly rooted from cuttings or grown from seed will give much more pleasing results than old plants dug from the garden at the approach of frost.

All this moist weather has made conditions very favorable for garden bugs.

The gardener may find foliage of many plants—primroses, violeta marigolds, hollyhocks, and such with marks of feeding but no insects can be found. Often the slug is responsible. This animal feeds usually only at night and hides during the daytime in debris and under boards.

Usually, but not always, the mica-like trail left by the animal can be seen. When primroses, violets, and other flowers are being damaged, some gardeners go out armed with a flashlight and a darning needle.

Where damage occurs, place a piece of board near the spot. In the morning, lift the board and there are the culprits. Some persons get satisfaction out of piercing slugs with a darning needle or sprinkling salt on them to see them dissolve.

Sometimes when poison bait is used, it is placed under boards to make it less available to birds. There are special baits on the market. However, a dust or spray of arsenate of lead will be effective.

A ring of hydrated lime around plants that will stand it is also effective, if there are no harboring places inside the ring. Here is a case where a mulch may prove detrimental, as it supplies lodging for the pest.

When cream is to be whipped for a dessert topping, allow two or three tablespoons of sugar and three-quarters to one teaspoon of vanilla for one cup of cream.

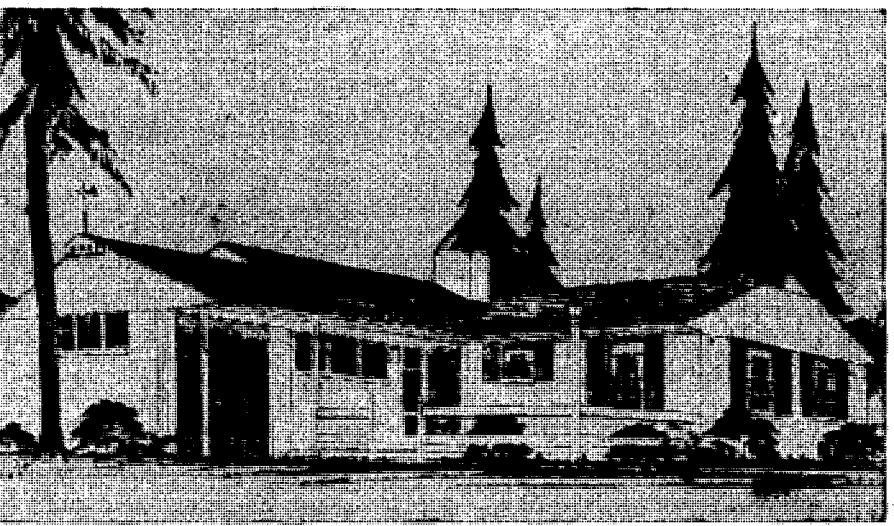

Melba toast may be made from leftover bread; it should be cut in thin slices, spread out on a baking sheet and toasted in a slow (300 F.) oven for 1 to 20 minutes.

Chopped or shredded corn stalks are absorbent and make just as good bedding as straw.

Ranch House Is Urban-Rural Favorite

HOME OWNERS QUESTION BOX

Q—How often should I water my lawn?
A—Once or twice a week is sufficient if the soil is no drier than average. The ground should be moistened to a depth of about six inches. Light sprinklings help weeds more than grass.

Q—How closely should lawn grass be mowed?
A—Once and one-half to two inches high. Short cutting exposes the roots to the hot sun.

Q—What makes paint blister?
A—Paint blisters or peels off woodwork when there is an excessive amount of moisture in the wood. When blisters are opened, they are sometimes found to contain water.

Q—Is fire-resistant roofing worth the additional expense?
A—It would be, but it definitely is not necessary to pay more. Fire-resistant asphalt shingles, the most popular of all home roofing materials, actually are among the least expensive kinds, both in first cost and in maintenance.

Q—What causes cakes to rise higher in the center than at the sides?
A—Too much baking powder, too much flour, too much mixing or too hot an oven.

THAT SOUTHERN SUNSTROKE
Paint is more likely to loosen and fall from the south side of a house than from the north side, explains the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The reason: Greater exposure to the sun.

Its likable informality and its good looks have made the modern ranch-style home a favorite for both rural and urban living. This example was designed by Walter T. Anicka, 617 South Forest St., Ann Arbor, Mich.

Planned to fit on a 50-foot city lot as easily as on large country acreage, the house is 45 feet wide. It contains 1,185 square feet, ample for the comfort and convenience of the average family.

In the interest of economy, the design does not include a basement but does have a utility room with sufficient space for a heater, laundry equipment and storage.

Added economy is achieved by the architect's choice of wide clapboards for exterior sidewalls and a roof of fire-resistant asphalt shingles. The architect recommends white siding with roof shingles of a contrasting color.

The terrace in the rear and the porch in front provide facilities for outdoor living. The terrace, living room and adjacent dining room combine to make one integrated unit.

A built-in breakfast corner is part of the kitchen. Both bedrooms have cross ventilation. Interior doorways are located so that any room is easily accessible from any other part of the house.

Detailed plans and specifications are available from Walter T. Anicka, 617 South Forest St., Ann Arbor, Mich., by referring to his Plan No. 812.

What You Are Seeking

The advertising section of the average daily newspaper we find many expressions of need, such as home or help or employment wanted; and often a personal column implying loneliness or the need of healing broken family relationships. This is all typical of a society in which one may hear another say, "If only I had a home of my own, I should be so happy"; or "If I had somewhere else to work, things would be different." Many times the attainment of the desired end leaves something still lacking.

The truth is that most people are really seeking God. "But I am not seeking God," one may say. "I have never been attracted to Him. As a matter of fact, it makes me rather uncomfortable to speak of Him. Let me be practical and keep my feet on the ground. A mighty feast sitting on a heavenly throne has no appeal for me."

Such a concept of God has no appeal to any intelligent person. . . . To understand Him one must learn His true nature. To the question, "What is God?" Mary Baker Eddy has replied in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 485), "God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love."

"To speak of God as Principle seems rather cold," you may say. "But it is really cold? A dictionary defines the word 'principle' in part as follows: 'Justice, equity, integrity; source, origin, cause.' Do not these words apply intelligently to the Supreme Being?"

To speak of God as Love is in accordance with the Scriptures. "God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4:16). How practical is this name for God! . . .

The writer remembers a road through lonely country which suddenly twisted up a steep hill and curved around a rock. On the rock was painted in large letters, "Prepare to meet thy God" (Amos 4:12). . . . To meet God is not something which happens only after death. God is Life, and we meet Him in every activity every day. We are constantly with Him; God, being Life, is a law of annihilation to death. Did not Jesus prove this for us when he raised Lazarus, restored the widow's son, revived the daughter of Jairus, and finally stepped from the sepulcher triumphant in the glory of unconquerable Life?

Our activities are governed by intelligence when we remember that God is our Mind. We are not subject to material limitations when we prove that in reality we are the children of Spirit. Fleishy failings and the ugliness of materiality find no foothold in our thought when we know that our true self is Soul. Truth is another name for God. "We shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free," our Master promised (John 8:32). You shall indeed know God and God shall make you free. Our Father is so near and so real that when we seek Him with understanding He is all we need. When we know Him we have All. — The Christian Science Monitor.

Raise You Wins Jersey Futurity

Eatontown Second In Tight Race For Two-Year-Old State Breeds

Cortright Wetherill's two-year-old filly, Raise You, yesterday made her second appearance at Monmouth park a winning one. Victory brought her the $10,000 New Jersey Futurity of 1948.

Actual value of the race was $9,920. It brought Raise You's winnings to $31,770, made via three wins and a third in four appearances. The last victory registered by the classy filly was the Colleen Stakes at Monmouth. Before that she came home first in the Polly Drummond Stakes.

Given top weight of 119 pounds, the bettors made the winner an eight-to-five choice. Another favorite, J. M. Roebing's triple entry of Champlain, Pervivale and Copper Hill, went off at two and one-half to one. Best they could do was a fourth place for Pervivale.

Johnny Green rode the Tom Kodrock trained winner, which was bred at Roebing's farm, the property of Country Life farm of Maryland. Its present owner is an Abington, Pa., resident.

Mrs. Alfred Roberts of Eatontown's Renegade farm came close to adding another name to her fast-growing list of winners. Her Eatontown, an 8 to 1 shot, was barely beaten. The crowd was given a further thrill when Eatontown's jockey, Bobby Strange, filed an objection with the stewards. While it was overruled it added considerably to the excitement a three-horse finish had caused. Less than a head separated Raise You, Eatontown and the third-place colt, Var. Prices were $5.20, $3.50 and $3.20 for the winner; $6.20 and $4.40 for Eatontown, and $6.80 for Var—a 17 to 1 outsider.

The crowd was 2,000 less than last year and bet about $280,000 less. Attendance was 15,112. Mutual play hit $1,000,000. Decline in the attendance and betting in the two weeks, but it is not so alarming as that experienced by other tracks throughout the country.

Biggest amount of betting was in the eighth race when $156,700 was handed to the "Iron men." Next betting favorite was the day's feature when $152,560 changed hands. The daily double paid $40. R. J. Martin was aboard Burdman to win the first race. Porter Roberts rode the odds-on-favorite, Hulla-balo, to victory in the second.

First race, claiming; $2,500; four-year-olds and up; mile and 1/16th. Burdman $17.80, $3.20, $7.7. Tamo $8, $5.20. Pervivale $10.40.

Second race; $5,000; three and four-year-old maidens; mile and 1/16th. Hulla-balo $4, $3.20, $2.50. Squilla $12, $6.40. Great Fun $5.60.

Third race; $3,000; two-year-olds; five and one-half furlongs. Harbortown $15, $6.40, $3.20. Hero $6.60, $5. Whitford $2.40.

Fourth race; claiming; $2,500; three-year-olds; 6 furlongs. Electrical $15, $3.40, $3. Grand Entry $6.80, $3. Filament $5.

Fifth race; claiming; $2,500; four-year-olds and up; 6 furlongs. Time Stitch $4.50, $2.50, $2.60. Moss Cook $5.20, $2.50.

Sixth race; Futurity of 1948; $10,000 added; two-year-olds foaled in New Jersey; one and one-quarter miles. Raise You $5.20, $3.50, $3.20. Eatontown $6.20, $4.40. Var $6.80.

Seventh race; claiming; $2,500; three-year-olds; mile and 1/16th. One-year-olds; mile and 1/16th. I. M. $10, $5.40, $3.60. D. H. $10.20.

Eighth race; claiming; $2,500; four-year-olds and up; mile and one-quarter. Burma $14.60, $7.20, $4.40. Casin $7.60, $4.20. Great $5.60.

Recipes Can Cut That Grocery Bill

MEAT MUFFINS With half a pound of beef

ZUCCHINI SQUASH Cheese sauce supplies protein

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you've been watching your food bills soar and your pocketbook sag, it is usually your main dishes that cost the most—those main dishes that supply your family with a good portion of the protein they need for body-building and tissue repair. How can you give your family an adequate supply of the necessary protein and yet keep food costs down?

When our national diet was looked at recently by government experts they found that last year more than two-fifths, 41% of our protein came from meat, poultry, fish, eggs, dairy, beans, peas and nuts. One-fourth—25%—came from bread and other cereal foods. Milk, cheese and ice cream provided another fourth. With these three food groups to call upon you can see that we need not have protein-deficient diets, even when it is necessary to economize. Here is how a mother of a family with both eyes on the budget can make main dishes add up so that they save money and yet supply plenty of nutrition.

Take meat. The first thing to do if your meat bill is too high is to use thrifter cuts. Swiss steak—one of the most delicious of beef dishes—is made from either round steak or chuck. With 3/4 pounds and the following recipe you can make a main dish that will serve four hearty appetites at two meals. Beef brisket, beef short ribs, ox joints, liver and kidneys, fresh or smoked tongue, shoulder of lamb or veal, are some of the other thrifter cuts that offer the same protein, the same B vitamins and the same minerals as more expensive roasts, steaks and chops.

When it comes to poultry, stewing chickens or fowls are usually a more economical buy than broilers, fryers or roasting chickens. As a rule, they cost less per pound and have a higher proportion of meat to bone than broilers or fryers. From a five-pound dressed fowl—dressed weight means that the bird has been bled and picked but not drawn—you get about two pounds of waste, including viscera, head, feet and bones, and about three pounds of chicken meat, including giblets. This makes enough meat for the main dish for several meals for a family of four if one of the chicken dishes is extended.

Fish are a boon to budget-watchers because there are so many varieties and some of these varieties—whether fresh, frozen, salted or canned—can always be found at a reasonable price. Because eggs are an important source of protein it often is economical to use them for a main dish as well as to supplement other proteins in a meal. Dry beans and peas are economical sources of protein—but their proteins are not complete by themselves. When a meal features split pea soup or a pot of baked beans, it is a good practice to serve a cheese salad or a dessert containing milk, cheese or eggs to round out the food value. Or use the beans with a limited amount of meat, as in chili con carne.

Bread and cereal foods may be used in dozens of ways to make a protein dollar go further. They are economical extenders for meat, fish, eggs, cheese.

Senior Ladies' Auxiliary Meets

New Members Join, Reports Rendered

Thirty members attended the July meeting Monday night of the Senior Ladies' auxiliary of the Monmouth Boat club at the clubhouse. Mrs. Howard Ungerer, Mrs. David Innes and Mrs. Charles Eichman were elected new members.

A report on the July 5 supper was rendered by the chairmen, Mrs. LeRoy Quackenbush and Mrs. O. E. Davis, and gave some interesting facts. Two hundred and seventy persons were served in one hour and ten minutes' time by use of a new serving system. The 16 women serving have received many compliments. There were more than 70 donations of foods received, which provided ample supplies for second helpings for those who so desired.

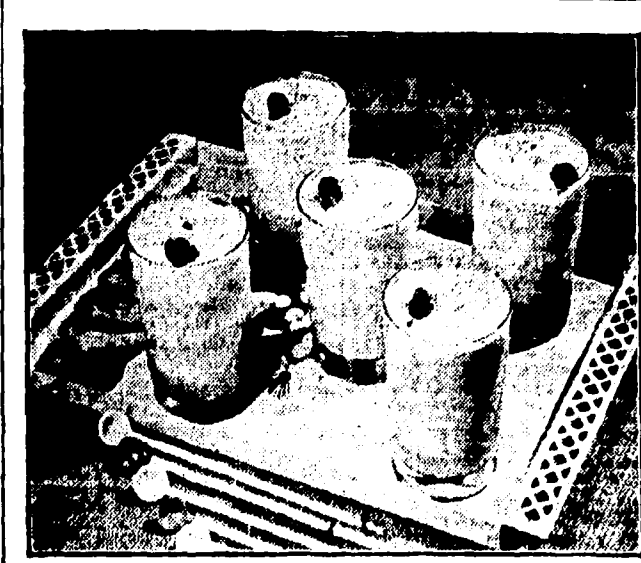

A new letter and card system was used for the first time which proved of great value to the chairmen. A supper reservation notice was posted ten days in advance of the supper in the main clubhouse for the benefit of any member who had not received a letter or card.

At the conclusion of the meeting the auxiliary members were invited to join with the men in witnessing the interesting radar demonstration given by Bell Telephone company representatives.

Make Refreshing Milk Shakes At Home

Warm weather seems to call for cool, yet satisfying refreshments. And nothing is more delicious for in-between-meals or for lunch, than a tall glass of fresh fruit milk shake. If the milk shake is served after a game of golf or tennis, or a strenuous whirl through the garden, perhaps small wafers will be a welcome accompaniment.

The smart homemaker will plan to keep a supply of milk and ice cream stored in her refrigerator so the whole family can enjoy their nourishing goodness.

RASPBERRY MILK SHAKE

3/4 cup fresh raspberries
1 1/2 cups milk
Few grains salt
1 pint vanilla ice cream
Few whole raspberries
Wash berries, drain well and crush with a potato masher; measure, and combine with milk, salt, and three-fourths of the ice cream in a shaker. Shake until mixture is a smooth blend. Pour into four 6-ounce glasses and top each glass with remaining ice cream and 1 or 2 whole raspberries. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Rotary Cogs

The annual clam bake of the Red Bank Rotary club will be held next Wednesday at McGuire's grove, starting at 3 p. m. Howard Leon and Edward J. Macklin have charge of the tickets. William G. Sherwood has issued a challenge to the Red Bank Lions club for a soft ball game.

The speaker at last week's meeting of the club was William Gilmore of the Research Institute of America. His topic, "Crossroads of America," demonstrated the inroads of Communism in labor relations through a very entertaining film.

Secretary B. Allen Parker has appointed Charles B. Gallagher, Mr. Sherwood and Edmund J. Cannon, in addition to Mr. Macklin and Richard H. Barnett, to assist him in getting out the Rotary Cogs.

Visitors at the meeting included Robert Graham and Arthur Deas of Long Branch, B. Rossmeier and C. Forjone of Metuchen, John Jackson of Nutley, Edward Waters of Jersey City, J. R. Moore of Philadelphia, H. E. Rogers of Carlisle, Pa., and W. T. Rice of Santa Cruz, Cal.

Monmouth Park Notes

Saturday's starting field in the $15,000 Lamplighter Handicap at Monmouth Park was widened today when word was received by Race Secretary John Turner, Jr. of the intentions of the Maine Chance Farm and Mrs. E. L. Hopkins. The former plans to ship a double-barreled threat of Jet Black and Succession from New York, while the Hopkins silks will be carried by the consistent Three Rings.

Monmouth Park's training race has signified up in recent days. Joe Casar came out to lead with 7 winners, with William J. Hirsch and Tommy Heard, Jr. deadlocked with 6 scores apiece. Eugene Jacobs and B. P. Bond are also in the thick of things with 5 each.

Although Jimmy Stout leads the jockeys with 19 wins, Dave Gorman has been coming with leaps and bounds in recent days and is now tied with Jack Turner, Porter Roberts for second place with 14. The riding race also promises to be a big-bang affair right to the finish in the quest for the watch annually donated by the Monmouth Park Jockey Club for jockey honors.

Mr. Goss L. Stryker, prominent Maryland breeder and owner and former president of the Laurel State Fair, arrived for Wednesday's yearling show. He was accompanied by Humphrey Finney, field secretary of the Maryland Horse Breeders' association.

The youngsters took over Monmouth Park's stable section Wednesday morning when New Jersey yearlings poured into the track for the second annual yearling show. Some were bedded down; other nervous ones went to peacefully grazing in the infield, bending an occasional interested eye on the grandstand and running strip, so soon to be the arena of their activity. Trainer Preston M. Burch of the Brookmeade Stable arrived from New York to judge the juveniles.

Overnight rainfall again resulted in a change of track conditions at Monmouth Park, the course turning up sloppy for training activities. There were few scratches, however, the program holding up well.

Apprentice Mike Sorrentino left for New York for a riding engagement; at that point, but will return to action locally today. Another departure was Frank Lullo who is visiting home in Chicago. He will also swing back into action later in the meeting.

Two prominent motion picture stars are to be guests of honor at Monmouth Park today when Joan Caulfield and John Payne visit the course for the day's racing. They are currently co-starring in the famous stage play, "Voice of the Turtle," and will make a presentation to the winning owner in that race.

Several Lamplighter Handicap candidates were on Wednesday's training strip, prepping for the week-end stake. Artist Life and Maubeth, Joseph M. Roebing's hopefuls, went a handy mile in 1:44, 2/5 around the "dogs" and Faraway breezed five furlongs in 1:06.

The Christiana Stable's Camargo, full sister to Alexis but as prominent in her own right, earned a starting berth in the July 31 renewal at Monmouth Park when she sped a last mile and a sixteenth in the Red Bank Handicap at the local course. Her time of 1:44 3/5 was excellent.

Jack Haley, radio and screen star, will present a wreath of roses to the winner of the "Inside U.S.A. Purse," feature event at the Monmouth Park race track Monday. The S.S. Sandy Hook will transport members of the cast to the course.

BARN SET AFIRE

Lightning started a fire Tuesday night in the hay loft in a barn owned by Oliver Adams on route 15, Eatontown. Fire Chief Leon Smock of Eatontown estimated the damage at $2,500. Ten tons of hay were burned. A cow was suffocated and a calf was carried off by flames.

Helis Stock Farm Tops Yearlings

Take "Best in Show" For Second Year

A chunky bay colt, son of Valinda Orphan—Pamela C—won honors for the Helis stock farm of Jobstown for the second time in as many years when he was crowned "best of the show" at Monmouth park yesterday morning. More than 550 New Jersey bred juveniles appeared at the track to be judged by the famous Brookmeade stable trainer, Preston M. Burch, who had a strenuous time separating four colts and four fillies before awarding top honors.

Leaders of the colt class for foals of 1947 were the Helis stock farm's winning Valinda Orphan—Pamela C. colt, a Rounders-Loveday chestnut from the same stable; Mrs. Dora V. Kellogg's bay by Dell-Rad Moon, and Helis' chestnut by Valinda Orphan-Highline, the latter a full brother to Big Nose, last year's head man.

The Carolyn K. stable dominated the filly division, sending out winners of both first and third place, the former a bay daughter of Valinda Orphan-Miamate, and the latter the bay offspring of Valinda Orphan-Bill's Sister. Mr. Andy Schuttlinger's bay by Lochinvar-Battle Smoke split the pair, with fourth award to the Woodland farm's chestnut filly by Knave High-Pillarita.

The first two leaders of each group were returned to the ring, at which time the Valinda Orphan colt was adjudged the best of the show, winning narrowly over the Carolyn K. stable filly.

A crowd numbering nearly 500 was on hand for the judging, joined later in the morning by the afternoon racing attendance. Sprinkled liberally among the visitors were breeders of New Jersey, Maryland and Virginia, as well as racing officials from the States. They were unanimous in declaring that, for class of entries and general conformation, the 1948 show widely excelled last season's inaugural display of juvenile worth, an indication that breeding in New Jersey is on the ascendancy.

Mrs. Dormant Fires 81 At Deal

Cops Ladies' Golf; Advances In Tourney

Mrs. James Dormant of Monmouth Beach yesterday at Deal Golf club fired 81 to lead the ladies in their weekly jaunt. Playing with 10 handicaps, Mrs. Dormant also qualified for low net prize. Ladies' par at Deal is 73. Net prizes went to Mrs. C. T. Williamson of Phalanx 64-76, Mrs. J. Joseph Connor of Red Bank 92-116-76, Mrs. Samuel Halper of Middletown township 95-118-77 and Mrs. Thomas O'Callahan of Deal 97-120-77.

In the quarter finals of the president's cup play Mrs. Dormant defeated Mrs. William Klopman 3 and 2, Mrs. Halper defeated Mrs. O'Callahan 1 up, Mrs. William Sullivan defeated Mrs. Connor 1 up on the 19th and Mrs. Norman Badenhop defeated Mrs. Kate Dison 3 and 2.
