To give you yourself as we shall remember you, Red Bank High School as you shall remember it, and a record of our associations together—this has been our aim in presenting THE LOG. As you embark on new adventures, may you look back with fond memories upon the pleasant times we have spent together in this part of your voyage through life.

D E D I C A T I O N

To attempt to display here a picture of all the parents of us, the class of 1940, would be almost humanly impossible as well as uneconomical. Nor would we be justified in selecting from the class the parents of any one student, as a typical example of "model parents." We, therefore, dedicate our yearbook to the parents of the members of the Senior Class of 1940. Although publicly they are unorganized, our parents, by means of their long years of experience and sound judgment, represent the most influential factor in the progress and development of our system of education.

APPRECIATION

Amidst the jubilant feeling at graduation time, the graduate carries with him the most reverent respect and deepest gratitude for his advisers, Miss LeMaistre and Mr. Needham, who have been helpful and inspiring to us during our years in high school. They have encouraged our self expression in this Log of 1940.

KEEPERS of the LOG

The task of compiling the information found in the "Log" of 1940 went to a select group of students, who voluntarily offered their services, in hopes that the events of their school years would be diligently recorded, to be had as reference in future years.

The task was by no means an easy one, as it necessitated many long hours of labor and serious application on the part of each member of the staff. Old records had to be consulted, students interviewed, all phases of photography studied and practiced, teachers solicited, articles written, and then the transformation of these fragments into intelligible reading matter for the printer.

Each staff member was specialized in the role he played in the producing of this year book.

The laborious work soon became a pleasure and a delight as the writer became inspired by the forgotten memories now recalled during the completion of his work.

It is the staff's wish that its efforts will be compensated through the enthusiasm of each student over his copy of the "Log."

The OFFICERS

A D M I N I S T R A T I O N

The important man behind the scenes is Mr. Gilliland, whose many years of executive leadership and varied educational background has made him ideal for the position of carefully supervising and rendering advice regarding projects undertaken by our class.

Much of the success of the Senior Class has been a result of the guiding hand of Mr. Sieber. Without a doubt he has helped us remove many obstacles which otherwise would have hindered the progress of our class.

and FACULTY • 1940

The rank to which a member of the crew of a ship will rise depends entirely upon the intelligence and training his superior officers have received.

Each student, as a member of this crew, is eager to excel himself among his fellow classmates. Usually his method of distinguishing himself is altogether different from that of his classmates. He probably has the same subjects to study, the same fundamentals to learn, and possibly procure through time a noticeable command of the English language; but aside from these rudiments of knowledge he inherits, through constant observation and practice, many of the desirable traits of character possessed by his teachers.

The influential part played by our instructors, in developing the youth of our school to a standard of perfection capable of meeting the overwhelming competition offered by the modern business world, is of the highest importance. This task and major responsibility could not possibly be placed in a more efficient or capable body of workers, than the members of the faculty of Red Bank High School.

SENIOR OFFICERS

The success of any body of workers depends upon its leaders. With this thought in mind, the June class of 1940 elected as their leaders John Ritter, President; William Geroni, Vice-President; Evetta Bailey, Secretary; and Donald Wingerter, Treasurer. The February class of eighteen graduates, the smallest class that the school has ever had, elected George Trubin, President; Nick Sabolovsky, Vice-President; Jean Smith, Secretary; and George Ostrov, Treasurer.

Our June class president, John Ritter, has that vivid red hair which usually signifies a fiery temper, but Johnny's only mad when there's disorder in a class meeting. His assistant, Bill Geroni, is one of those "still-water-runs-deep" fellows, outstanding on the football field, and an all 'round sport. Secretary Evetta Bailey is another quiet individual, the teachers' delight and everyone's friend. That hard-working dues collector, Donald Wingerter, loves riding around in a station wagon in his spare time.

George Trubin, February class president, will always be remembered as one of the most friendly in Red Bank High. He's a brilliant boy, if there ever was one. Nick Sabolevsky, February's vice-president, is noted for his good humor and infallible wit, while the class favorite, Jean Smith, assumed much responsibility as secretary. Another good-humored, intelligent, and friendly fellow is the treasurer of the February Class of 1940, George Ostrov.

PORTS OF CALL

Besides having many of the states in the union represented by members of our class, we also have among us, four students who were born in foreign countries or in United States territory.

From faraway Bamberg, Bavaria, Germany, came Margaret Leitschuh to attend Red Bank High School. Our friendly neighbor to the north of us, Canada, sent us Allan Hamlet who gives Ottawa, Ontario, as his place of birth.

The land of swaying palms and natives in grass skirts, Honolulu, territory of Hawaii, is the birthplace of Jane Milliken.

Five thousand miles eastward of Hawaii we find the first residence of Marjorie Stewart, Estate Consuel, San Pedro De Macoris, Dominican Republic.

CLASS WILL

Last Will and Testament of the Class of 1940

We, the illustrious graduating class of Red Bank High School, Town of Red Bank, County of Monmouth, State of New Jersey, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and forty, being of good health of body, sound and disposing state of mind, declare this to be our first, last, and only Will and Testament.

First:

1. We bequeath to Mr. Edwin C. Gilland, our superintendent, respect, loyalty and friendship.
2. We bequeath to Mr. Harry Seiber, our Principal, our friendship and gratitude for that which he has given to us in the past.
3. We bequeath to our advisers, Miss Catherine Le Maistre and Mr. Donald Needham, our affection, heart-felt gratitude for their steadfast loyalty.
4. We bequeath to the rest of the faculty our best wishes, in hope that, with our departure, all their worries will end.
5. To the "Jolly, Genial, Juniors," we sorrowfully bequeath our senior dignity and our countless "privileges."
6. To the "Sophisticated Sophomores" we leave a few of our brains and the pleasing dispositions so abundant in our class.
7. To the "Innocent Freshmen" we bequeath our frivolity, fine sense of humor and our four years of faithful application.

Second:

- I, President John Ritter, do bequeath to Frank Long all my responsibilities. (poor fellow!)
- I, William Geroni, do bequeath to the football squad of next year my fighting spirit.
- I, Alex Sweel, do bequeath to Richard Hammer my knack of chewing gum.

In witness whereof, we, the Senior Class, the testators to this our last will and testament, have subscribed our name, the ninth day of May, in the year one thousand nine hundred and forty.

THE CLASS OF 1940

Witnesses:

Marjorie Ewing
Claire Lediard

Seated: Dorothy Thompson, Claire Lediard, Marjorie Ewing and Mrs. Kane.

SENIOR PLAY

On April fifth the senior class of '40 presented "Leave It to Youth," a comedy in three acts, by Ralph Birchard. The director was Mrs. Thomas Kane.

Dr. Raymond Alder, (John Ritter) distinguished scientist on the staff of Pacific Institute of Technology, has a very charming, but impractical wife, Lois (Helen Powers) and three up-and-coming children — Delphine, twenty, (Claire Lediard); Andy, nineteen (Robert Davey); and Bunny, fifteen (Rita Eitches).

Dr. Alder's salary would be sufficient if Lois were a better manager, but as it is, they have run steadily into debt, and now Lois has even borrowed money on their furniture. Consequently, she and the children are delighted when Mr. Engel (William Van Pelt) Vice-president of Synthetics, Limited, comes with an offer of fifty thousand dollars for a practical process for extracting cellulose from corn-stalks.

Delphine is especially delighted with Paul Devereaux (Zale Dillon), the young scientist Mr. Engel has imported from Paris to be Dr. Alder's assistant on the project; finally Dr. Alder, who is only interested in some vague business with the atom, is persuaded to take an interest in Mr. Engel's proposition.

Delphine's elation soon changes to gloom, however, when she perceives that her mother is going to monopolize Paul, just as she has monopolized Matt Moore (Alex Sweel) the young instructor in public speaking, and Lynn (Barlow Lippincott), one of Andy's classmates, and numerous other eligible men. Lois just can't help attracting people. She radiates such charm and spirit of youth that it makes people marvel at her, though at the same time she is desperately afraid of growing old. To reassure herself, she clings and thrives to the masculine attention that men give her; she keeps Andy off the football team, and Bunny in short dresses.

But Evie (Marjorie Ewing), Dr. Alder's research assistant, wants Matt; Delphine wants Paul; and Alice (June Methot) wants Lynn. They decide that something must be done about mother. Evie is elected to stage a flirtation with Dr. Alder in order to "wake up" Lois and make her jealous enough to stick to the home field. The plan works altogether too well. Lois is definitely worried by what she thinks is a situation between Evie and Dr. Alder. The consequent rift has so upset Dr. Alder that he hasn't taken an interest in the research for Synthetics, and the fifty thousand dollars shows little probability of being forthcoming, since Mr. Engel is about to call the whole thing off.

All of Lois' blocks seem to come tumbling down about her. Anticipating the fifty thousand dollars which Dr. Alder was to get from Synthetics, Limited, she has bought things and made promises. Now she sees the furniture about to be taken over by the loan company and jail staring her in the face because she can't make good her check for the rent. Andy has eloped with Opal (Dorothy Thompson), and even Bunny has a beaux, Dyke Butler (Donald Wingerter).

But just when things are darkest, the tangled threads begin to straighten out, with the help of Paul Devereaux and Lupe (Hana Ides), the Alders' effervescent Spanish maid. And when Lupe "feex—she feex!"

CLASS HISTORY

Our class had the misfortune of not being organized in its sophomore year. We did much to atone for this, however, in our junior and senior years. Two advisers were chosen: Miss Catherine LeMaistre for the February class, and Mr. Donald Needham for the June class. The officers elected in the junior year were as follows: John Ritter, President; Claire Lediard, Vice-President; Evetta Bailey, Secretary; and Donald Wingerter, Treasurer. The officers of the February class were: George Trubin, President; Nick Sabolevsky, Vice President; Jean Smith, Secretary; and Richard Davis, Treasurer.

Since the aim of our class was to raise funds for the "Year Book," we decided to hold a Bunco party in our school gymnasium. This took place in the month of March and was fairly successful. Next we decided to have two cake sales; the first of which took place in November, and second during the month of April. The first cake sale was extremely successful, netting us a clear profit of forty-six dollars. At Christmas time we sold wrapping paper and playing cards. The wrapping paper was quite well received, and some students sold as many as two dozen packages.

During the month of May, the Junior-Senior Reception, the most outstanding social event of the year, was held. The gymnasium was trimmed attractively with decorations of pastel crepe paper. The center was arranged in the form of a wishing well, and set off by a bridge, overhung with willow branches, in the corner. Michael Cardner and his orchestra furnished the music for dancing, and featured Claire Lediard as vocalist. This was the last event of importance in our junior year.

Our first meeting as a senior class was held in September, 1939, and approximately one hundred and fifty members were present. We elected our officers as follows: John Ritter, President; William Geroni, Vice-President; Evetta Bailey, Secretary; and Donald Wingerter, Treasurer.

We decided to take advantage of all the opportunities offered by the gridiron season. The girls canvassed the crowd with candy, while the boys sold programs of the ball games. Maroon feathers with "RED BANK HIGH" printed on them in grey, were sold at the games and throughout the school, at the price of ten cents apiece. With the close of the football season came Christmas, and we again turned to the selling of wrapping paper. As this was quite successful, we decided to sell Hammermill Bond Stationery which gave us a profit of about seventy dollars.

On January 30, the smallest February class in years held its Commencement exercises in the Junior High School Auditorium. The speakers were: George Trubin, Welcome Address; Benjamin Benincasa, Mantle Oration; John Ritter, Response; George Ostrov, Farewell Address. The guest speaker was Dr. Clarence Partch of Rutgers University. The baccalaureate sermon was held at the Lutheran Church with the Reverend Mr. Cowan officiating.

Our stationery sales declined somewhat around April 1940, and we gave a Pat Lee magician show which attracted many students from all the schools. We sponsored one more cake sale in the lobby of the Strand Theatre, and although the weather was quite disagreeable, we made quite a few sales. Fifteen of the girls in the class held a successful rummage sale in the Union Hose Fire Company house on Shrewsbury Avenue. This added the sum of fifteen dollars to the treasury.

The highlight of the senior year was the class play which featured a well selected cast. The title of the play was "Leave It to Youth," a Ralph Brichard production, and under the guidance of Mrs. Thomas Kane, English instructor at our school. A very enjoyable evening was brought to a close by dancing to the music of Jake Mazzaroppi and his orchestra.

June was the month of the greatest excitement. On the sixteenth, the baccalaureate sermon was preached by the Reverend Mr. Smith at the Methodist Church. Commencement took place on the eighteenth at the River Street School. The speakers were President of the Class John Ritter the welcome address, Helen Powers, the mantle oration, gift presentation by Jane Milliken and the farewell address by Allan Hamlet.

Thus we draw to a close the record of our activities as a student group, but mark the beginning of our entrance into a much larger field with many opportunities offered us on a much larger scale.

The objective of the Senior Art Guild is to promote the members' interest in art and its various allied subjects. This is accomplished by taking field trips and by studying the works of well-known artists which have been put on exhibition. The membership of the Guild is limited and is selected only from the most promising students who desire to develop their talents freely and independently.

Several of the outstanding activities participated in by a majority of the club members include a trip to the country for the purpose of sketching wild life, several visits to Asbury Park to view art on exhibition there, and a trip to New York City, the main object of which was to visit several museums of art. In addition the club had frequent recreational evenings of bowling and roller skating which were thoroughly enjoyed by all. Throughout the school year the Guild assisted the various dance and dramatic committees by making posters and advertisements. Preceding the Easter Holidays the members painted two large murals which were placed on exhibition in Asbury Park.

The Initiation Ceremony, which in the past has been one of the colorful high-spots of the year, was discontinued this year, but it is expected that next year will see its return.

CAMERA CLUB

The Red Bank High School Camera Club was started in 1939. It was officially organized in 1940 under the direction of Mr. Gerald B. Russell. The club is entirely self-financing.

The first thing the club did was to learn how to take, develop, and print pictures. Then the student members made a "dark room" in the Red Bank Junior High School and equipped it with all the necessary implements for developing and enlarging pictures.

At the football games of the season the Camera Club members were there with cameras taking shots of the teams in action, and individual shots of the players. During the winter, snapshots of the players in action and stills were taken. The Club made quite a bit of money selling these snapshots at reasonable prices, and many were used for the year book. The Club was also responsible for many of the pictures of the majorettes and the band.

A great appreciation is expressed to the Camera Club in all it has done for "The Log" in supplying and taking pictures of the various sports and activities of the school.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

The Commercial Club, under the supervision of Miss Leola Robinson, has been organized this year to bring together all commercial students. Its aim is to give the students a broader view as to what is going on in the business world of today. All students of Miss Robinson's 11A and 12A Shorthand and Typing Classes were urged to join.

Officers of the club were as follows: President, Ethel Clausen; Vice-President, Flavia Figaro; and Secretary, Louise Reynolds. The program committee consisted of Judith Smith, Margaret Leitschuh, and Violet Ryser. The executive committee, Janet Poxon, Lorraine Chameroy, and Nancy Barnes.

The meetings were made very interesting by having contests in spelling and rapid calculation, which is very important for all commercial students to master. Programs were presented about oral applications and interviews. They were demonstrated by different students showing the proper way to enter an office and the correct way of presenting oneself to the employer.

The Commercial Club has proved very successful considering that it is the first year it has been organized.

JOURNALISM CLUB

The Journalism Club of 1939-40 had several new important features. The editor, Anthony Antinozzi, a junior, had a column in a local newspaper besides approximately fifty poems which he had written. Louis Bianco had handled the business end of the paper.

The Club had also introduced free-movie tickets, sales coupons, song-and-movie title features, the All-American boy and girl contest, and had held Sunset dances on Thursday or Friday afternoons following publication of "The Round Table," the school paper. The admission was merely a copy of the "Table."

Varied were the activities of the Club. Every week news from the high school, written by school reporters, was sent to the local papers, particularly the "Asbury Park Press" for its special school page. The Journalism class also attended the Annual School Press Convention on April 16, 1940, held at the Asbury Park High School.

No advertisements were solicited from the local merchants. In March the senior class took charge of the "Table" and has run it ever since.

The staff, chosen by election, was as follows: Editor, Anthony Antinozzi; Assistant Editor, Joseph Lo Cicero; Business Manager, Louis Bianco; Interviews Editor, Miriam Goldin; Sports Editors, Evetta Bailey, Harold Bennett, Charles Katsin; Literary Editor, Lillian Lam-born; Briefs Editor, Lois Dilks; Art Editor, Violet Ryser; News Editors, Mary Lou Delatash, Lucy Herbert; Publicity Editors, Nettie Price, Evetta Bailey; Circulation Editor, Rose Bottagaro; Proofreaders, Rose Bottagaro, Carol Apgar; Typing Head, Miss Eudora Farrell; Business Adviser, Mr. V. B. Wells; and Editorial Adviser, Mr. Donald S. Klopp.

The Masquers Club, founded and established for the sole purpose of encouraging dramatic study in the high school, is one of the largest and most enjoyable clubs of the school. Its performances have always been accepted with the greatest of interest, for no production ever made by the Masquers has appeared without constant drill and training. The members of the club have shown an unusual degree of interest throughout the year.

The Masquers Club has two programs every year. One is a Christmas play presented for the pleasure of the high school students. This was received with great approbation by the student body for its high standard of performance. The other is a series of one-act plays which is presented toward the close of the year for the sake of financing the continuation of the club.

This group of amateurs is under the able supervision of Mrs. Barbara Kane who has devoted her time and ability to make its members more conscious of their hidden talents.

The High School Philatelic Society, under the supervision of Mrs. Barbara Kane, meets once a week during the Activities Period. The club has attained its limit of fifteen members who are especially interested in collecting first-day covers, first air mail flights, and new stamp issues. Its officers are Robert Blackman, President; Charles England, Vice-President; Jeanette Table, Secretary; and Hubert Farrow, Program Chairman.

Exhibits are held in the spring, at which time, each member enters a display of his specialty. The meetings are conducted differently each week, with various persons sponsoring quiz contests and guessing games. Questions are contributed by everyone about philatelic terms and diverse descriptions of sets and commemorative stamps. Each person in turn draws a question from the lot and strives for the hundred-point award given for a correct answer.

Every week a report is made on current issues, and from time to time a special report is given concerning the features of a particular issue. As an outside activity, the club hires a bus and travels to places of interest, such as the 1940 New York World's Fair. When a new member is admitted to the club, there are amusing initiations.

ROD & GUN CLUB

The Rod and Gun Club of Red Bank High enjoyed a very satisfactory year with its numerous activities. Mr. Steven O. Skakandy was adviser of the club.

The first activity undertaken by the club was duck hunting. Since ducks were plentiful in all parts of New Jersey, many of the members shot the number that they were allowed by law. The most plentiful spots were Shadow Lake, Barnegat Bay, and Little Silver Point.

The next activity was upland game hunting which followed some three weeks after the opening of the duck season. Many of the members were given the day off from school. Again, many of the members shot their full quota. Those who reached their limit in rabbits included Thomas Brereton, Richard Flock, and Donald Simpson. John Simpson rounded up his amount in pheasants and quail.

Deer season followed this with only one member, Tommy Brereton, lucky enough to bag a four-point, 150 pound buck.

Here a lull in the sportsman's life came, for trout season was four months away. But this time went swiftly by, for before we knew it, we had to get our rods, reels and boots out. Our adviser, Mr. Skakandy, who always has been a star fisherman, took the morning off from school and made an excellent showing. Many of the members know the brooks well and where the fish were since some of them had helped Benjamin Lane, the Game Warden, stock the streams.

In all, a very profitable year was spent by the Rod and Gun Club.

SPANISH CLUB

The purpose of the Spanish Club of the Red Bank Senior High School is to promote skill in speaking Spanish more fluently and to develop a more general interest in Spanish culture.

Los Caballeros Felices (translated, The Happy Gentlemen) is under the careful supervision of Miss Catherine LeMaistre.

Any person, who has had at least one year of Spanish may join this club and enjoy its various activities. Meetings are held once every two weeks, at which time dues are collected. At the end of the year, the active members of the club take a trip or in some way spend the money that has accumulated in the club treasury.

The Program committee, whose duty it is to plan the entertainment and program of the next regular session, meets before each meeting. Short skits, musical selections rendered by talented members, and games played in Spanish are among the many forms of entertainment enjoyed by the club.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, the most progressive and influential of all student organizations, began the school term with a new adviser, Mr. Vollin B. Wells, of the Commercial department. The "council" is composed of twenty-one members, a representative from each home-room in the school, and three members chosen from the student body at large. The members of the council must maintain a high standing in their school subjects, be active in school organizations, and abide by the constitution of the Student Council. At the initial meeting, held the first week of school, the officers for the first half of the school term were elected as follows: George Trubin, President; Mickey Long, Vice-President; Donald Wingerter, Treasurer; Jean Smith, Secretary; and Janet Holmes, Corresponding Secretary.

Beside the regular duties of organizing and operating the patrol system, the handling of all chapel programs, acting as an advisory board on student problems and the compilation of material for the "hand book," the Student Council undertook a number of entirely new projects to be completed during the school term.

In organizing the patrol system this year, an entirely new set of rules and regulations was put into effect. New posts were established, and the use of date stampers eliminated the possibility of "stray privileges."

The council organized an investigating committee to sound out the type of chapel programs most desired by the majority of students. A list of possible programs was compiled and handed to Mr. Sieber to aid him when making out the yearly schedule.

In February the officers for the last half of the school term were elected as follows:

Allan Hamlet . . . . .	President
Forrest Jacobus . . . . .	Vice-President
Mike Baden . . . . .	Treasurer
Esther Kaplan . . . . .	Secretary
Janet Holmes . . . . .	Corresponding Secretary

The Student Council Handbook, the goal and ambition of many a previous council, was started and is now complete, in its index and in much of the information to be used in its contents.

With an aim at increasing social activity, the Student Council took advantage of the four-year calendar movement, and gave a Leap Year

Dance in the high school gym on March 1, 1940. The success of this event cannot be overstated, as the attendance of four hundred people was well over any previous record. The delightful music offered by Bruce Cobb and his orchestra furnished the evening's enjoyment.

On April 19, 1940, the Student Council in conjunction with the Cheerleaders and the Basketball squad, gave a Spring Dance in an effort to obtain money to purchase new uniforms for the Cheerleaders. The entire sum needed was not obtained, but a fund was established for the purpose.

As compensation for their hard work the members of the council attended the county Banquet held at Buttonwood Manor with all expenses paid for out of the council fund.

The annual meeting of school newspaper editors at Columbia, New York, received the council's recommendation when they subsidized the trip made by two members of the staff of the Round Table.

To further the citizenship and increase student responsibility the council undertook the project of publishing a small pamphlet containing interesting facts about Red Bank High School and methods of improving one's citizenship. The facts obtained by the council members were highly authentic and were carefully rechecked for possible miscalculation. The booklets were eagerly received free of charge by the student body who in that way became more familiar with their school.

The BAND

Since the first roll of drums on the opening day of the football season, the maroon and gray band has engaged in a variety of activities—probably more so than in any other year. Prior to the present time, the band was well led by one majorette; but this year it boasted the addition of three.

The band consists of approximately forty players, one drum major, four majorettes, two flag bearers, and its leader, Mr. Donald Klopp. All of the members are required to attend at least eighty per cent of the rehearsals and concerts, and are awarded at the end of the year with "R's" or other emblems, according to the amount of points required.

Their first gala activity (other than the weekly football games) was their Hallowe'en parade. With masks and streamered batons, the majorettes strutted with the band to the Armory where they supplied the music for the costume contest parade.

This was followed by a series of colorful engagements. On December 14, 1939, the band was graciously invited to a banquet in their honor by the Rotary Club. In February and March there were the Lincoln's Day Parade and a concert at Steinbach-Kresge's Department Store in Asbury Park. Many rehearsals were necessary for these events.

The band brings its 1940 season to a close awaiting eagerly the next school term.

The ORCHESTRA

The Red Bank High School Orchestra is now one of the finest institutions of the school. This has been due largely to the very able leadership of A. Leroy Baker who also teaches music as a classroom study. In years past the orchestra was not always the outstanding organization that it is now; however, since Mr. Baker has taken over the leadership, it has grown much in prestige and excellence.

The personnel of the Orchestra has been much greater, at times, than it is now, sometimes exceeding forty pieces. The Orchestra this year is not so large; it is a more compact group of select, polished musicians. The Orchestra is also very proud of the fact that many outstanding musicians of the day were at one time members of the Red Bank High School Orchestra.

The Orchestra has not been as active in school affairs despite its remarkable ability. It has, however, played for all the graduations including the Aviation School graduation. It has played for assemblies and programs of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Recordings have been made of the finest numbers and each year a goodly number of the personnel are considered finished enough to play in the All-County Orchestra.

All classes have every reason to be proud of the accumulated accomplishments of the Red Bank High School Orchestra.

GIRLS' RECREATION CLUB

A sport for every girl and every girl in a sport. This is the purpose for the organization of the Girls' Recreation Club, usually referred to as G.R.C. It enables every girl who is interested in sports to play with or against girls of different high schools. It gives each girl a chance to make new friends.

The membership of the club has grown each year. In 1937, fifty-nine awards were made. In 1938 seventy-eight were made; in 1939, one hundred and twenty, and 1940 is destined to reach a peak of approximately one hundred and seventy-five awards. One hundred eighty-one girls belong to some part of the club and participate in any number of sports. This amount is one-half of the girls in high school.

This year the club elected Jean Smith, President; Ann Reuther, Vice-president; Sally Porter, Secretary; and Marjorie Ewing, Recorder. Mrs. Hermia Lechner, Physical Education instructress to whom the success of the club belongs, is adviser. Every sport comes under the guidance of the club. As many students come to school on buses, plans were formulated to enable them to engage in their particular sports during activities periods. All sports are organized on team basis and then class teams are chosen to compete in the final tournament. An effort is made to give all girls who are faithful a chance to compete with teams of neighboring schools during play-days. Twelve play-days were held this year.

Sports are based on the point system with awards for attaining a certain amount. Each girl who attends practices faithfully and also participates in individual sports, such as, roller skating, bowling, ice skating, horse-back riding, and swimming, can easily obtain an R, the highest award. This year Mrs. Lechner made another award available—small gold R's.

HOCKEY AND SOCCER—The fall sports usually attract a large attendance. A field day was held at Asbury Park with a representative group of six girls from Red Bank attending.

BASKETBALL—The largest amount of girls participate in this sport. This year 164 girls attended every practice. The senior team won the class tournament.

TUMBLING—This sport is limited to thirty girls. Meetings are held during the early fall and continue for a few months.

BASEBALL—There were ten teams organized this year with 145 girls reporting for practices.

TENNIS—About sixty girls play in the doubles tournament held on the municipal courts. Awards are made to the winners.

OFFICIALS' CLUB—Every season about fifty-five girls join the officials' club. This organization includes basketball referees, baseball umpires and hockey and soccer referees. This year five girls passed their Intra-mural Official Rating test. This was the most girls rated in any high school in the county this year.

CHEERLEADERS

The cheerleaders this year consisted of eight girls selected from the student body for their leadership and vitality. They have proved to be a source of encouragement and support to the student body throughout the athletic year.

Co-captains Margaret Sinnott and Janet Poxon, together with Audrey Carhart and Claire Lediard chose four new girls. These were Jean Smith, Virginia Haviland, Rose Bottagaro and Jean Robertson. With the mid-year graduation came the loss of Margaret Sinnott and Jean Smith who were replaced by Mary Murphy and Helene Jarvis. Previous to this Claire Lediard and Jean Robertson gave their places to Rose Recinelli, Lillian Baden, while Audrey Carhart became co-captain.

The cheerleaders attended every home game and provided their own transportation to the out of town games during both the football and basketball seasons.

When the football team was invited by the Lions Club to a dinner at the Molly Pitcher Hotel, the cheerleaders were cordially asked to be present, for the first time in many a year. The decorations for this occasion were done by the cheering squad from Red Bank. Later the Band and cheerleaders attended a banquet given by the Rotary Club.

With hopeful eyes turned towards next year and its activities the cheerleaders await a new season, new members and new uniforms.

F O O T B A L L T E A M

The 1939 football season of Red Bank High School has been considered by many as the most successful season in ten or more years. As the season wore on and victory followed victory, the Red Bank school spirit reached a new high. Games were attended by crowds of well-wishers and noise-makers until our husky outfit reached the climax by clinching the State co-championship of the group-three schools.

The coaching staff was ably headed by Mr. Richard Guest, a gridiron mentor of the first order. He was assisted by Mr. Ernest Gilliland and Mr. Carl Smith, both new members of the faculty. The genial inspiration of these coaches accomplished wonders in fostering a will-to-win philosophy in the team and in the student body.

Most of the ball-handling in the backfield was done by Geroni and Summonte, halfbacks; DeGeorge, fullback; and Baden, quarterback. All have played football since their ninth grade in school. The pivot spot in the line was taken by "Zeke" Hammell. The wing spots were controlled by Joe Eggleston and "Buck" Natale. The maintenance of the guard and tackle positions varied with the game, but on the whole they were held by "Dom" Scala, John Ritter, Esposito, and Jim Zager. There were also a great many second and third team boys who took an active part in saving the day during the last quarters of the games when their team-mates were somewhat worn out.

The method of the team this year was characterized by many "fake" plays. These are plays which are hidden from the opposing team and depend upon the element of surprise for their success. Also hand blocking, tackling, and quick headwork were deciding factors that determined the victories of our team this year.

Yes, Red Bank High School has a right to be proud of the performance of its football team this year. We Seniors bequeath the wish that the school will enjoy many similar gridiron victories.

Since about 20 out of a squad of 35 are returning next year, the chances are very favorable for a successful season in 1941. Mr. Guest is relieved to know that such veterans as Phil, center; Alfred Esposito, guard; Bob Davis, fullback; Forrest Jacobus, halfback; Bob Simmonds, guard; James Richardson, guard; James Wilson, halfback; and Phil Sakowitz, end, may be called upon to display their experience next fall.

Top: Mr. Guest and Mr. Smith giving preliminary instructions to Helmar Martens and "Zeke" Hammell.

BASKETBALL TEAM

The Red Bank High School cagers, having completed their most successful season since 1928, handed in their equipment.

In its first season of competition in the Central Jersey Conference the Maroon finished in a third-place tie with Carteret, and was beaten only by South River, Woodbridge, and Hamilton during the conference season. Although the team began with a slow and uncertain start, it gathered impetus by beating the supposedly more powerful Hamilton team in the early rounds of the tournament. The fact that it twice defeated Carteret during the season proves that it was second to South River alone.

The Maroon men were slow to learn Mr. Smith's system of play at the start. This was proven by the loss of four out of five games, but when finally trained to a new system, they sped through the nine of the last thirteen games winning an invitation to the Central Jersey Conference.

To Coach Carl Smith and Assistant-Coach Ernest Gilliland who have been the guides of the Maroon's cage destinies, goes a great deal of credit for the team's outstanding success.

Red Bank wound up its season with 523 points compared to 548 of their opponents. We lost eight games and won ten. In the Conference we lost five and won five.

The leading scorer for the Maroon was "Buck Natale," who finished the season with 112 points. Natale was pushed by Ray Vaccarelli, a dependable forward, with 70 points. The third place position was occupied by Herman Fazzone, better known as "Fuzzy."

Although often overshadowed by the Varsity, the J.V., under the guidance of Assistant-Coach Gilliland, turned in a superior record, defeated only by the Leonardo varsity team and the Baby Bishops of Asbury Park. Our J.V. team even defeated Asbury in a return game.

This stringy little team blasted its way through the Conference with a record of ten victories and no defeats.

It cannot be said of many J.V. teams that it had to enter the varsity competition to meet a better team. The final score found two

J.V. tossers well over the 100 mark. Eddie Wilson led with 126 points, while Pat Ambrosio tallied with 123. Third place went to Glover with 91.

Considering the handicap of entering a new system of play under a new coach, the Red Bank hoopsters can leave a record which has not been equalled since 1928.

Through graduation the following boys will be lost to next year's team: John "Buck" Natale, Robert Kislin and James Zager. From the remaining varsity squad the coaches will have Herman Fazzone, Raymond Vacarrelli, Thomas Vetterl, Phillip Sackowitz, Forest Jacobus and Jack Adler. From the championship J.V. quintet they will also draw such dependable players as Eddie Wilson, Pat Ambrosio, Eddie Kislin, Leon Glover and Monroe Cagle. From this group the chances for a very successful 1940-41 team are favorable.

The 1940 baseball team got off to a fast start this year defeating the Alumni, Saint James, and Woodbridge and losing only to Long Branch.

On the mound Al DeChicchio, veteran hurler, provides as much assurance of victory as any schoolboy hurler in this "neck of the woods." Phil Binaco and Ray Sargeant are two able pitchers. Although they are inexperienced Sophomores, they should provide DeChicchio with some rest, some relief from the rough routine which he followed last year.

Behind the bat for the Maroon is the hard-hitting Lou "Windy" Tomaine who is heading for a good year even with the greatest opposition.

The second, third, and shortstop positions are being held down by Tom Vetterl, Forest Jacobus, and Ray Vaccerelli respectively.

Al Duncan and Bob Howard, two Juniors are competing for the honor of filling the initial sack position although Coach Wiley may shift outfielder Bill Geroni to this position in an effort to bolster his defense.

The outfielders who are patrolling the far outposts of the athletic field include Bill Geroni, Chummy Stevens, George Kinkade, Al Esposito, and Pat Ambrosio.

Also on this year's roster are John Galatro and George Dwyer, catchers; Joe O'Connor, pitcher; Phil Sakowitz, pitcher; and Helmar Martens, infielder.

The season proved to be a severe test for all of these boys. Al McChicchio reached his twentieth birthday too soon, consequently the team was handicapped in the midst of the conference season with the loss of its veteran pitcher Phil Binaco and Joe O'Connor, both Sophomores, attempted to fill the gap, but the blitzkrieg of many of the conference teams overruled what might have been a successful season.

Mr. Ross Wiley, in addition to being the baseball coach, was appointed last year to the position of Supervisor of Athletics. It is he we have to thank for our highly competitive schedules in all sports and for the quality of our athletic equipment. In his quiet methodical way he has made himself an indispensable factor in our athletic organization.

The Red Bank High 1940 Track Team, although not especially outstanding, is balanced throughout and considerable strength is shown by its early practice.

In the mile, Harold Bennett, Senior track veteran of two years' experience, should place first in the majority of the dual meets and possibly some of the group meets. Tony Binaco, an up and coming Sophomore, shows much promise and should prove stiff competition for Bennett.

In the quarter-mile, Everett Jordan, a Junior, should take many firsts and seconds in dual and group meets. Don Hadaway, also a Junior, should provide the Maroon and Grey with plenty of points in the half-mile and quarter-mile runs.

In the dashes, Jim Wilson and Red Lippincott, both Seniors, show considerable promise. Hurdling for the Guestmen this year will be Red Lippincott, Bill Van Pelt, Don Wingerter, Bob Eichman, and Jim Wilson.

Turning to the field events, we see that Vince Soviero and Alex Sweel can be counted on for first and second in practically every meet in the pole vaulting event. The high-jump and broad-jump are weak spots, but the Sophomores should contribute to the filling of this gap. In the shot-put, Wally Heyer, a Junior, can place the iron ball 45 feet from his marker, and that is enough to take first in most schoolboy meets.
