Woodham is one of a group of Bayous Preservation Association volunteers who are testing the bayside waters near Blind Pass. Original plans called for testing for one year — six months before and six months after the dredging of Blind Pass — in order to quantify the effects of re-opening the pass. See story on page 2.

Blind Pass: Monitoring water quality before and after re-opening

By Karen Nelson
islander@breezenewspaper.com

For three months, volunteers from the Bayous Preservation Association have been measuring water quality at locations in Clam Bayou, Sunset Bay and Roosevelt Channel once a month in connection with the Blind Pass dredging project.

These measurements will be one of the indicators of the impact of the dredging, and were originally scheduled to be taken for the six-month periods preceding and following the dredging.

However, the hoped-for January 2007 start date for the dredging will probably be pushed back another six months because of requests for more information submitted by the Florida Department of Environmental Protection.

Clam Bayou readings are being taken by Tim Gardner and Doris Hardy; Sunset Bay and Roosevelt Channel are being handled by Greg and Ruth Woodham.

Tests are done for turbidity and color, dissolved oxygen, pH and salinity. In addition, samples from all four test locations Right: Tim Gardner and Doris Hardy on Clam Bayou. Photo has been brightened; Gardner was actually working with the help of a flashlight (held by Hardy) in the early morning (7 a.m.) light. Right: Gardner with a SECCI disk, which is used to measure both turbidity (or water clarity) and the color of the water. Below right: Greg and Ruth Woodham with their "portable lab" set up for business dockside on Roosevelt Channel. Below: Gardner comparing a sample of Clam Bayou water with a sample of distilled water to get a second reading of water color. The two sampling kits, which cost $1,000 each, were purchased by BPA. One kit is used to sample Clam Bayou; the second is used for Sunset Bay and Roosevelt Channel. Water samples are also collected and sent to the Lee County Environmental Lab, where additional testing is done.

Blind Pass Public Comment period ending

The 30-day public comment period to the Army Corps of Engineers re the opening of Blind Pass began on September 5. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers is the lead federal agency for the Blind Pass project; the Corps must issue a permit for the dredging to proceed, and they are coordinating with U.S. Fish & Wildlife, National Marine Fisheries, and other federal agencies who comment on the project.

Red Tide stats

Red Tide conditions in Southwest Florida as of September 22, 2006

Extensive sampling conducted this week detected Karenia brevis, the Florida red tide organism, both alongshore and offshore from Pinellas to Collier County, with the bloom extending farthest offshore west of Pinellas County. In Pinellas County K. brevis concentrations alongshore ranged from background near Tarpon Springs to medium along Clearwater Beach, Redington Beach, Ft. Desoto and the north Skyway Bridge Fishing Pier. Offshore concentrations ranged from not present 30 miles west of Anclote Key to high within 10 miles of Clearwater and Redington Beach. Concentrations in Manatee and Sarasota counties were generally highest nearshore with highest concentrations detected in the New Pass area of Sarasota. Patchy conditions remain in Charlotte and Lee counties, including areas of Gasparilla Sound and Pine Island Sound, where K. brevis concentrations ranged from not present to high. Both nearshore and offshore samples collected in Collier County contained concentrations ranging from not present to low. Several reports of fish kills have been received from areas of southwest Florida including Anclote Key, Indian Rocks Beach, Pass-a-Grille Beach, Desoto Point, Charlotte Harbor and Sanibel Island as well as reports from 12 to 30 miles west of southern Pinellas County. Fish kills and respiratory irritation are possible between northern Pinellas County and Collier County.

Populations of the marine cyanobacteria Trichodesmium were observed only along the western edge of the K. brevis bloom offshore. Trichodesmium can collect at the water surface and appear brown, green or white. Although non-toxic, at high concentrations this bloom may be mistaken for an oil or sewage spill.

The FWRI Red Tide Status Line is now available: FWRI updates the recording each Friday by 5 p.m. after sampling efforts for the week have been completed and analyzed. Red Tide Status Line: (866) 300-9399 (toll-free inside Florida only); (727) 552-2448 (outside Florida).

- That you are a property owner (nearby or adjacent).
- That you support the Blind Pass project.
- In this particular case, it would also be important to state why this project is a good idea environmentally. Sometimes the environmental agencies get so focused on possible potential harm that they miss the tremendous good. You can be helpful in pointing out the environmental good, such as increased tidal flow and water circulation, a healthier marine ecosystem, improved fish and are taken the day of the testing to the Lee County Environmental Lab for testing as corroboration for the on-site testing. The Bayou Preservation Association purchased the two kits used for the tests, at about $1,000 each. Judy Ott from the Charlotte Harbor Aquatic Preserve came down and showed volunteers how to use the equipment. (The test for dissolved oxygen, in particular, is very specific and involves several different steps and several different chemicals. And it must be done twice — and if there is a variance beyond the acceptable limit, the tests must be repeated.)

Noted the Woodhams, who live on Sunset Bay, "When we came here in the early '90s, the bay was just filled with birds. But then the pass closed and we lost the birds — the fish aren't here anymore."

Both Hardy and Gardner agreed that the culvert connecting Clam Bayou and Dinkins Bayou has improved the drainage. Hardy said that she had seen a mother manatee and baby in Clam Bayou the other day.

Gardner noted that it's very difficult to read trends in tidal saltwater because there are so many variables: wet season vs. dry season; humidity vs. drier air; seasons with unusual weather patterns like hurricanes. Data must be read over years rather than over months.

Master Gardeners new season opens with Vanasse Daylor on the Periwinkle replanting

The first program of the 2006-2007 Master Gardener Lecture Series will be on Thursday, Oct. 5 at 10 a.m. It's free and open to the public, and will be held at the Sanibel Library.

Bob Mitchell, landscape architect with Vanasse-Daylor, will give a complete up-to-the-moment presentation on the Periwinkle Way Restoration project.

This project — an extraordinary one for a city this size — was funded by over $1.5 million in Federal grants, matching grants from the city and donation of the Periwinkle Partnership of almost $180,000 (and an approved matching grant from Lee County of $167,000).

Bob Mitchell has worked closely with the Planning Department, the Department of Public Works, the Natural Resources

Department, the vegetation Committee and the Periwinkle Partnership to design and execute this ambitious project to restore the beautiful canopy along Periwinkle Way with specimens which will better withstand the special environment of a barrier island.

His visual presentation will outline the overall plan and the progress to date, describe and illustrate the "demonstration native gardens" planned along Periwinkle Way, describe the unique intersection demarcating taller specimen trees and the types of larger field-grown specimens planted for the canopy.

Bob will answer any questions from the audience following the presentation.

Seating is limited.

Finding the Ivory Bill woodpecker

BIG Arts and the J.N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge are pleased to welcome Bobby Harrison as he speaks Thursday, October 12 at 7 p.m. at BIG Arts Schein Performance Hall, 900 Dunlop Road, Sanibel.

Harrison will tell the story of the Ivory Bill's near demise and miraculous resurrection and discuss how it was rediscovered. The bird was long believed to be extinct when Harrison and Tim Gallagher, editor of Living Bird magazine, rediscovered the woodpecker in 2004 after decades of searching.

Students from The Sanibel School present the opening act for this evening of environmental drama with a tribute to "Ding" Darling's legacy with their play, A Wild Day, which follows the Lopez family on a visit to the refuge.

Tickets, $15 for adults and $5 for children, are available at BIG Arts 395-0900 or at "Ding" Darling Bookstore 472-1100.

"Ding" Days drawing planned for birding scope, binoculars

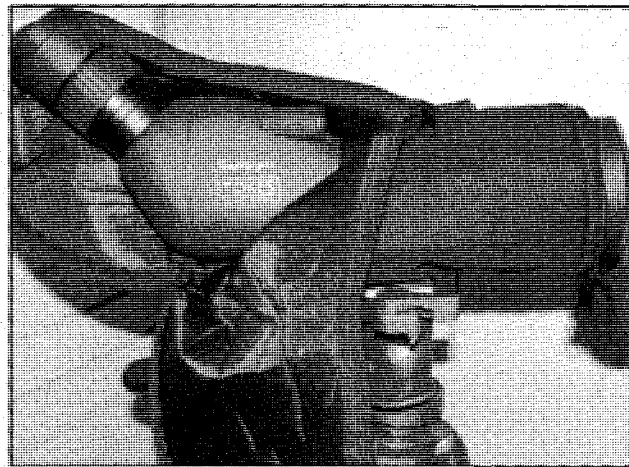

"Ding" Darling Wildlife Society will hold a drawing for top-quality birding optics equipment during its 17th annual "Ding" Darling Days birding and eco-festival, Oct. 8-14.

Vortex Optics has donated two prizes from its Stokes Birding Series, designed cooperatively with famous birding authors and personalities Don and Lillian Stokes, who winter on Sanibel Island. Their full line is sold in the "Ding" Darling Bookstore at J.N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge.

The first prize is their portable, angled Stokes Sandpiper scope with a 65mm objective lens and 15-45x zoom eyepiece, along with a lightweight tripod. Retail value of the rig is $449.98.

Second prize is a pair of 8X25 Meadowlark compact Stokes binoculars, retail priced at $99.95.

Tickets are available through the "Ding" Darling Bookstore, 472-1100 ext. 241, or at Sanibel Captiva Community Bank, 472-6100. A $2 donation per drawing entry ticket is requested to benefit Refuge environmental education; or

"Ding" Darling Wildlife Society will hold a drawing for a Vortex Optics Stokes Birding Scope and tripod, plus a pair of Stokes binoculars during "Ding" Darling Days.

$5 for three tickets.

The drawing will be held at 4 p.m. on Family Fun Day, Saturday, Oct. 14, 2006. Joe Hamilton, a representative from Vortex Optics will be on hand for the drawing. Winners need not be present to claim their prize. Hamilton will also be giving a demonstration on the proper use of binoculars on Thursday, Oct. 12, at 11:15 a.m. in the refuge Education Center.

"Ding" Darling Days, which runs Oct. 8-14, celebrates National Wildlife Refuge Week and the birthday of Jay "Ding" Darling, the refuge's namesake and father of the Duck Stamp program. The event is co-presented by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service, "Ding" Darling Wildlife Society (the refuge's "friends" non-profit), the Lee County Tourist and Development Council, the Fort Myers News-Press, and Tarpon Bay Explorers (the refuge's recreation concession). For a complete schedule of activities, log on to www.dingdarlingdays.com.

Sea turtle hatches on the islands

September 25, 2006

	2006 Nests	Hatchlings to Sea	Unhatched Eggs	Live in nest at dig	Dead in nest at dig
Totals	219	12,541	2,238	278	380

All Sanibel East End nests have hatched; there are three remaining on Captiva and five on the Sanibel West End. Sea turtle volunteers begin closely monitoring nests when they are due to hatch; three days after the hatch, the nest is dug. The shells of hatched turtles and any unhatched eggs are counted. If there are live hatchlings still in the nest, these are collected for release that night into the Gulf.

The Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation oversees the monitoring of San-Cap sea turtle nests.

Twinkling Star Sponsors John and Denise Beggs of Coldwell Banker Previews International and CROW's Anita Pinder holding one of the trees to be decorated.

Nearly fifty trees have been delivered and creative skills are being put to work by a number of different designers from Lee County in decorating unique, one-of-a-kind trees for CROW's first annual "Enchanted Forest" Festival of Trees scheduled for Sunday, December 3.

Sparkling and festive holiday trees will be featured at the Sanctuary Clubhouse in a silent auction, raising money for the Clinic for the Rehabilitation of Wildlife. The Sanibel Captiva Trust Company is the premier event sponsor. John and Donna Schubert are Angel Sponsors and Jane Reader Weaver of Preferred Properties of the Islands is a Silver Sleigh Level sponsor. At the Twinkling Star level, are John and Denise Beggs of Coldwell Banker Previews International. John and Denise have lived on the islands for more than 20 years, making Sanibel and Captiva their hometown communities. "CROW is a wonderful organization, and we are proud to be a sponsor for this event," said the Beggs.

"In addition to being surrounded by festive trees, guests will enjoy great food, dancing to the music of Danny Morgan, and a Boutique Unique to complement their holiday shopping," said event co-chair, Laura Sheft. "We also have Ray Gallo, a professional artist who moved to Lee County from Chicago, designing an amazing backdrop for photographs that guests will be able to take home with them," said Laura.

"The decorators were calling to see when they could get started," said co-chair, Birgie Vertesch. "We have some wonderful decorators, and I know the trees will be fabulous." The following people or businesses will be decorating a tree: Amy's Over Easy Café, Amy's Something Special Gift Shop and Laura Conway, Colleen Bauer, Bayfront Home Interiors, Beach Floor & Décor, Jaye Boswell, Inga Bredahl, Luc Century & Dee Sarage, Congress Jewelers, Cathy Contino, Brenda Curran, The Decorating Den, Mary Douglass, Floral Artistry (2 trees), Betty Gardner of the Shell Crafters, Nancy Green, Susan Gordon & Karen Richards, Melissa Gribble, Karen Hall, Jean Hallstead, Sally Hanser & Lytha Weston, The Holly Belles, Island Bake House, Island Paws, Liz and Daniel Kennedy, Lily & Co., Jewelry store, Dr. Amber McNamara, Lynn Morningstar, Norfleet Interiors, Periwinkle Cottage; The Party Guys, Anita Pinder, Spring Rosen, Carol Rothman, Sanibel Home Furnishings, Sally Seippel, Shirley Skaugstad; Chet Smith, Suncatcher's Dream, Murph Taragowski, Birgie Vertesch, Charmaine Yeadon. All of the trees are artificial and range in size from 2 ft to 6 ft. While the majority are the traditional pine trees, there are also palm trees and two crystal trees.

In addition to the event sponsors and decorators, there are also tree sponsors which help cover the cost of the trees. Tree sponsors are: Ann Arnoff, Bank of the Islands, Steve & Lena Brown, Congress Jewelers, Coral Veterinary Clinic, Debbie and John Friedlund Jay and Melissa Gribble, Dan Hahn Custom Builders, Kim Herres of Resort Quest, Holly Belles, Island Paws, Liz and Daniel Kennedy, Lily & Co., Ann Moran & Bob Wigley, Norman & Hermie Miller, Mike Pinder, Sanibel Home Furnishings, Laura Sheft, Suncatcher's Dream, Susan & Bob Tucker, VIP Realty Group, West Gulf Digital, West Wind Inn, Charmaine Yeadon.

"We are thrilled with the response thus far, and are confident the trees are going to be fabulous," said Vertesch. "Olde Sanibel Shoppes has four of their shops participating as decorators, which makes it fun". Amy's Over Easy Café and restaurant manager Tom Service will be decorating a four foot tree, Suncatcher's Dream and owner Daniel Moore Thompson will be decorating a 5 foot Christmas Palm Tree, Amy's Something Special, Amy Horton and Laura Conway will be decorating a four foot tree and Island Paws with owners Liza and Trasi will be decorating a four foot tree. While the others are still working on design ideas, Island Paws will be decorating in a dog and cat theme. "We're excited to be a part of this" said Trasi. "We hope a lot of people will attend, support CROW and bid on all the trees".

"CROW relies exclusively on private donations to operate, and it is events such as the "Enchanted Forest" Festival of Trees, that raise the necessary annual operating support for CROW." Said Anita Pinder, Community Outreach Coordinator at CROW. The December 3 event will be held at the Sanctuary Clubhouse on Sanibel. For more information about the event or to receive an invitation, please call CROW at 472.3644, ext. 5.

New extern at CROW

Julie Wheeler arrived at the Clinic for the Rehabilitation of Wildlife (CROW) to learn more about wildlife medicine and rehabilitation.

A native of Champaign Urbana, Illinois, Julie graduated in May from Trinity College in Hartford, Connecticut where she received a BA in Religion. While she plans to go to veterinary school in the future, she will be taking two years to enhance her education with animals and the sciences and get hands on training. One summer, Julie was a wildlife intern at the University of Illinois Veterinary School, where she got to know a former CROW extern and now veterinary student, Sara Deitschel. "Sara shared with me what a great experience it was working at CROW as an extern and encouraged me to apply," said Julie. "This is definitely a hands-on experience, and I've really enjoyed working with Dr. PJ, Dr. Amber and the other students and staff."

Julie also completed a summer internship at the Cape Cod Wild Care Center. At this point in time, Julie has every intention of studying wildlife medicine and becoming a wildlife veterinarian. "Wildlife medicine and rehabilitation is diverse, unique and a real challenge," said Julie. "I first developed an interest in wildlife medicine during my time at the University of Illinois Wildlife Clinic, and my time at CROW has served to reinforce that desire."

CROW receives no state or federal support and the importance of private philanthropic support is more important than ever. A non-profit veterinary hospital, CROW provides medical care for nearly 4,000 injured, sick and orphaned wildlife patients each year from all of Lee County, seven days a week, 365 days a year.

Catching up with Rotary

Last week...

Some citizens of Sanibel and Captiva let down their guard when it comes to worrying about crime here on our rather quiet and safe islands, but this week's speaker, Lee County Sheriff's Department Crime Prevention Coordinator, Stacy Payne had a few wise words of caution for all of us regarding crime involving fraud now running rampant in our society. Each and every one of us, whether young or old, are susceptible to these types of crime: Identity theft, telemarketing fraud, mail & internet fraud, home improvement fraud, mortgage fraud, investment fraud, care giver fraud, and the latest medicaid fraud.

Although these crimes are not entirely directed at our elderly population, a great many of these schemes involve the exploitation of seniors. A generation brought up on honesty and trust can be easily manipulated into trying to help out relatives and even complete strangers, by giving them access to their personal information and private documents. Two-thirds of elder financial abusers are family members or trusted advisors. The Lee County Sheriff's Office receives calls daily regarding these types of crimes and some hundreds more go unreported because people are embarrassed by have been taken advantage off.

Stacy spoke of the CASE (Communities Against Senior Exploitation) partnership program set up by the Sheriff's Department, which is a joint effort by community leaders to provide information regarding fraud prevention and victim support. Rotary is planning to partner with another community organization this coming season to hold a seminar on this important topic.

Stacy also spoke of the exciting new program, "Project Life Saver." This program serves client families who are providing full-time caregiving for a relative with Alzheimer's, severe dementia, extreme autism, and even some Down Syndrome cases. "Project Life Saver" provides life-saving radio frequency transmitter bracelets for these patients. As many of us realize, it only takes a few moments for someone like this to wander away from his or her familiar surroundings. Stacy said, "With this type of transmitter bracelet, a person is usually found within thirty minutes. Without it, the search averages around 9-10 hours." Although the bracelets and equipment used to track the radio signals are available now, the Sheriff's Department needs community-based service organizations to help fund the cost of this equipment. For more information regarding "Project Life Saver" call Stacy Payne at 239/477-1242.

If you would like to attend an upcoming Rotary meeting, or would like information regarding Rotary Club membership call Shirley Jewell 395-1099. Next meeting Friday, September 22 7 a.m. at the Beachview Golf and Tennis Club Restaurant. The speaker will be Tony Westland from J. N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge.

And this week...

If you've never been to the J.N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge here on Sanibel or if you haven't had a chance to visit there lately, you'll be missing something if you don't take advantage of the upcoming "Ding" Darling Days events at the refuge on San-Cap Road.

Toni Westland stopped by at our Rotary breakfast meeting this week to thank the Sanibel-Captiva Rotary Club for being a Sponsor and to give us an update on this year's festivities, informing us of a terrific lineup of activities and workshops starting on October 8th and running right through till October 14th. Toni's upbeat personality and generosity of spirit makes her a first-class ambassador for Wildlife Refuge.

The first "Ding" Darling Day was held seventeen years ago and with each subsequent year the event gets bigger and better. Although most of the activities held this year are free, a few special events such as Bobby Harrison's Bird Photography Workshop (fee $100) and a Bobby Harrison presentation at BIG Arts titled "Obsessed with the Ivory-billed Woodpecker" (fee $15 adults $5 children). To receive information about any of the upcoming activities at J.N. "Ding" Darling just give them a call at 472-1100 or go online at www.dingdarling-days.com.

Toni also spent some time reminding all of us of what the refuge has to offer on a daily basis (except Fridays) all year long: Wildlife Drive, hiking trails, the Bailey Tract with its fresh water habitat, Indigo Trail, canoeing, and kayaking in Tarpon Bay. Those of us that live here on Sanibel and Captiva are truly lucky to have this great National Wildlife Refuge right here in our own backyard.

Toni is also a fantastic salesperson and before she left Friday she had sold a number of tickets to our Rotarians for a chance to win one of two raffle prizes donated by Vortex Optics for "Ding" Darling Days: Grand Prize: a portable, angled Stokes Sandpiper scope along with tripod valued at $449 and Second Prize - a pair of 8x25 Meadowlark compact Stokes binoculars, valued at $99.95. Don't feel left out, you too can buy a ticket for this raffle at The "Ding" Darling Bookstore or Sanibel Captiva Community Bank. A $2 donation per drawing entry ticket is requested or $5 for three tickets.

Our Rotary Club supports the work done at the J.N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge and congratulates them for the great contribution they make to our Islands.

For information regarding upcoming Rotary Club Meetings or Rotary International club membership call Shirley Jewell 395-1099.

Kiwanis dig shells

Submitted by David A. Wright

Kiwanis dig shells, who on Sanibel doesn't? We have more shell shops than book stores. Shells on the beach, shells in our soil, shells in our lamps, glued to our mirrors. Cute little shell people and shell animals, shell shadow boxes, shell wreaths, shell fair... I'm sick of shells, but that's just me.

Sanibel and Captiva Island can also boast of the Bailey-Matthews Shell museum which houses a world class collection and exhibits. Each year the museum hosts fourth grade classes from around Lee County, providing the children a unique opportunity to view and learn about shells. A fun, educational field trip that can not be duplicated in most parts of the country. Unfortunately Lee County Schools no longer fund field trips, so how to keep those children coming to the museum? Enter Kiwanis and their gift of $1,500, enough money to sponsor approximately six classes. Bravo Kiwanis!

Duck Stamps, you know of them don't you? Proceeds from their sales help acquire and preserve important wetlands for water fowl habitat. "Ding" Darling is one beneficiary of the Federal Duck Stamp program; an excellent program but not the point of this story.

The Junior Duck Stamp program is a nationwide contest with over 70,000 entrants each year. School children from across America compete locally, then in their state and ultimately there is a national competition with cash prizes awarded to the top three finishers each year. But what is really significant to this story is that the program was started right here on Sanibel at the Sanibel School! Then principle Barbra Ward and art teacher J Boswell initiated the program for Sanibel third graders (my notes are poor, I don't know when all this began. I'm sure it was 10-plus years ago — I should be fired, again!).

It was a clever idea that incorporated conservation, environmental studies and art. So clever was the idea that it has grown in scope and impact to become important, and still a cool way to teach about the environment, conservation and art.

CHOOSE YOUR HOUSE WISELY

When you are looking for a home, there are some practical matters you should consider when making your selection.

1. Check the physical condition of the property.
2. Check the location. Are schools, shops, medical facilities and jobs convenient. Is the size of the land area suitable.
3. Assess the interior design. Will the layout work or can it be modified to suit your needs. Take into account your furniture, but don't let it dictate your decision.
4. If the house has been renovated recently, did the local building department issue a permit and was the work approved.
5. Is there any development or road construction planned for the general area.
6. Are tenants currently leasing the house?

You might have to compromise on some of these aspects, because no house is perfect. Enlist your real estate agent's help to consider these issues and choose the best home available.

Davies embarks on a journey to teach in Mozambique

By LAURA BLASKOWITZ
laskowitz@breezenewspapers.com

The community of Sanibel is based largely in volunteerism. From the city government to many of the programs that keep wildlife and native plants safe on the island, the heart of life on Sanibel is the generous spirit of many of its residents. It comes as no surprise then that David Davies, who grew up on the island, has left to offer two years and three months of his time to help educate others while serving in the Peace Corps.

Last Sunday Davies left Sanibel to journey to Mozambique. He does not speak Portuguese, the native language, nor has he ever been to the African country.

However his attitude is positive.

"I'm very open-minded and I think one of my most important qualities is that I grew up being adaptable. I could really go almost anywhere," Davies said.

Following graduation from the University of Central Florida with bachelor degrees in both political science and history, Davies decided to invest his time in helping others.

"I thought foreign service would be fun, exciting and interesting. I thought, 'Why not?' I've got two years to kill and I don't have any major plans," he explained. "I thought I could do something helpful. I could have some fun, but also do something where I wasn't just sitting on my butt in front of a computer. I would actually be getting a different perspective on things."

Since 1998, the Peace Corps has been working to provide services to the people of Mozambique. The main purpose of Davies' stint in the country will be to provide health education to the community where he is stationed.

Davies said he chose health education because of the AIDS epidemic. "They need anyone and everyone who can stomach the awful situation. The atmosphere is so depressing. Mozambique is relatively peaceful, but it's still quite dire."

Davies plans to develop after-school activities for children that include sports and art programs. "Just something that they can do that gets them out of the streets and back alleys and ghetto areas," he explained.

He also plans to provide information. Davies said, "I'm going to be learning about their situations and give them alternatives to participating in the behavior that spreads that disease. Mozambique is on the verge of their epidemic. I think maybe there is a chance that we can prevent that or slow it down until someone else takes notice."

In order to learn the language and adjust to his new life, Davies will spend his first three months in Mozambique with a host family. "Basically it will be about interacting with as many people as I can. Going out to the market everyday, getting into routines, making friends with people who understand that yes, you are an American, but you're here to learn something useful about them," he explained.

Following the months with the host family, Davies is required to take a test that will evaluate his ability to communicate in Portuguese. Where the Peace Corps will station him will be based on the how he scores on the exam. "Maybe I'll be with other volunteers or I'll be alone for a 50-mile radius," he said.

Whether alone or with others, one thing Davies is certain about is that he will be living in very different conditions. He said, "They say to be prepared for primitive life, meaning you would be lucky to have electricity and extremely lucky to have running water. They say you can live in a reed hut or a concrete block structure that looks something like a jail cell with more windows."

Davies looks at the barren life he will face as a challenge that he can handle. "I used to go up to Canada and do canoeing trips and guide trips where you could just not see anyone for days or a couple of weeks," he explained. "I think it's a decent warm-up for what I'm about to do. It doesn't substitute, but it gets me excited to do something like this. I'm not worried about living. My biggest fear is being accepted by the other people of the village."

Davies has been mentally preparing himself to live in a remote region in the northern area of the country. "When I was doing my interview they kept asking me questions like, 'Do you think you'd be OK in a remote situation for a long period of time? Would you be comfortable?' And I said, 'Sure. Why not?' I think based on those answers, they're going to put me in a remote area and I'm excited about that," he said.

During his time in Mozambique Davies will be making approximately 60 dollars a month. "They give you money to settle in, not a lot of money, just enough to live like the rest of the people in whatever village you are in," he said.

To keep in touch with his family and friends, he plans to send letters. Davies explained, "The best chance in getting mail out in a timely fashion is to find an American who is passing through. And it will be great for the people I keep in touch with as I go along. They had never wanted to know anything about Mozambique and now they will be experts."

Davies hopes that when he returns to the United States he will still have the drive to educate. "I would love to teach government and politics on a high school level. I think we need more government awareness at a younger age, even though I know young folks can't vote. It's amazing how little kids know and how in-the-dark some of their parents keep them of government, both domestic and foreign," he said.

While his future plans are still up in the air ("Two years is a long time," he said), Davies knows he has made the best decision for himself. He said, "When you're young, I think it's an important thing to do. Do things you won't be able to do again. Do something you know you won't be able to do in twenty years. This is a good choice."

Zonta: SWFAS Recovery Month celebration

Submitted by Peggy Newell

It was a dark and stormy night when a hearty troupe of Zontians braved the wind and rain to attend SWFAS' (Southwest Florida Addiction Services) celebration of National Alcohol and Drug Addiction Recovery Month, a 17-year tradition across the country. It was an evening of skit, speeches and dinner provided by members of the Residential Treatment Program, the Halfway House and Permanent Supportive Housing programs. SWFAS produces this event to recognize the hard work of those in recovery and their friends and family members.

Held on September 11, we acknowledged the anniversary and Cheryl Ray, the evening's emcee and SWFAS' Occupational Therapist added, "Addiction is a terrorist attack on an individual."

One of the first things one notices when attending an event at SWFAS is the upbeat, enthusiastic and loving atmosphere that envelopes everyone in the room. It is unlikely that it is always like that—there is, after all, real hard work going on in the recovery process. But the part observers see is the results of all that work.

After a lot of laughs and a few tears during the skits put on by each of the three groups at the facility, Executive Director Kevin Lewis spoke. He shared a number of statistics that clash with what the common impressions are about addiction. There is only one family affected by metham-phetamines for every 20 families affected by alcohol. Three out of four addicts are on the job. Addiction is "equal opportunity" — it affects people at all ages, all socioeconomic levels, all races and genders. "Addiction is a bad disease that strikes good people," said Lewis.

The evening ended in a lovely meal put on by SWFAS' own TLC Enterprises catering business. A good time was had by all.

SWFAS provides effective, affordable and comprehensive care to individuals and families impacted by addiction and other problem behaviors. For more information, go to their website <http://www.swfas.org/>.

SWFAS is one of three partners in the Lee County which Zonta of Sanibel-Captiva supports through its fundraising efforts during the annual house tour in March. This year the $15,000 grant will be used to create "The Zonta Learning Center" which will provide high-tech learning and leisure opportunities for the women of the Transitional Living Center at SWFAS.

The Zonta Club of Sanibel-Captiva is a service organization of professional women working together to provide hands-on assistance, advocacy, and funds to strengthen women's lives on the islands, in Lee County, and around the world through Zonta International. New to the island or feeling like you're alone? Several local organizations provide opportunities to gather with fellow islanders.

FISH needs volunteers

Friends in Service Here (FISH) is the volunteer service organization that extends a helping hand to fellow residents and visitors on Sanibel and Captiva in unpaid assistance for medical appointments, loans of health equipment, meal deliveries and other services.

With the end of the busy season, FISH is in need of additional volunteer help, particularly for off-island medical appointment transportation.

If you can spare a few hours for this worthy cause, call FISH President and Volunteer Coordinator Maggie Feiner at 395-2924.

BOTI gift to Community Church

Bank Manager Rob Lisenbee, We Love Our Islands winner Galina Polanco, Pastor Daryl Donovan, and Bank Customer Service Rep Elaine Smith

Congratulations to Galina Polanco, winner of the "We Love Our Islands" promotion sponsored by Bank Of The Islands. Galina was spotted with a "We Love Our Islands" decal on her vehicle. That won her the right to select which local non-profit cause would receive a charitable contribution of $400 from the Bank Of The Islands. With this contribution, $20,300 has been given to island non-profits through the Bank's "We Love Our Islands" program.

Galina chose the Sanibel Community Church to receive the Bank's donation.

"Galina won on her birthday, and was so happy to celebrate her special day by helping those in need," said Bank Of The Islands Manager Rob Lisenbee. "At her request, we are sending half the gift to the LOGOS program scholarships for children and the rest to the local ministry that assists island families in need. We're happy to split this 'We Love Our Islands' gift to the Church. It's an important opportunity to show how much we appreciate being your island bank."

Are you a past winner in the We Love Our Islands Program? Bank Of The Islands invites all past winners of the program to come by the bank to receive a limited edition silkscreen t-shirt. Galina and all future winners will receive their t-shirts at the time of the donation check presentation.

All islanders are invited to stop by the Bank at 1699 Periwinkle Way at the corner of Casa Ybel Road to get a free "We Love Our Islands" decal and details on how you and your favorite charity can become our next lucky winners.

Bank Of The Islands, a name synonymous with island community banking since 1974, has been voted "Best Island Bank" for seven years straight. Since 1999, Bank Of The Islands has received ten "Best of the Islands" Awards.

New Voice Club

New Voice Club of Fort Myers is a member of the Florida Laryngectomee Association and welcomes husbands and wives, sons and daughters or loved ones to join us at our monthly meetings at Lee Memorial Hospital in the Medical Staff Room (between the gift shop and cafeteria). The Hospital is just south of the Fort Myers Country Club on U.S. Route 41 at 2776 Cleveland Avenue. The 1st meeting this fall is on Friday October 6 at 1 p.m. Guests from Lee, Collier and Charlotte Counties are welcome.

Featured Speaker will be Denise Luna a

Speech Pathologist who is outstanding in her field and will discuss our needs and some recommended solutions and answer any questions after her chat. The Clubs goals are to support by caring about, helping, encouraging, listening to and involving laryngectomees and their families in the rehabilitation process. The club also provides the latest information, reassurance and guidance during the life crisis a laryngectomy represents. Refreshments are served to complete the fellowship. Call Betty for information at 574-9314.

Florida Rep. celebrates its enchanting ninth season

By LAURA BLASKOWITZ
lblaskowitz@breezenewspapers.com

The Florida Repertory Theatre will mark the beginning of its ninth season with what the area has grown to expect of the professional company: a passion for the arts and a drive to introduce theatre to those that have never before experienced the live art form.

Florida Repertory Theatre's producing artistic director Robert Cacioppo explained, "In America only two-percent of the population goes to the theatre. Our mission here is to bring people in to experience the fun. Theatre can do something that cannot be replaced by anything — and that's that it's live and immediate and very exciting."

Founded by Cacioppo in 1998, Florida Repertory Theatre has been building a reputation for quality artistic productions that rely heavily on the theatre experience rather than the need to make money.

"We're here to do quality work and a wide variety of work. We make our choices so that we have a really interesting, varied experience. I hope that every time an audience member comes they have a different experience," Cacioppo said. "I'm always looking for a variety of new plays and old, of romances and dramas, of comedies and thought-provoking works."

The theatre's ninth season includes pieces with settings that range from the gulf coast to London and Italy.

"We're doing a 400 year-old play by Moliere, Scapino, and we're doing a 1950s Broadway hit and we're doing one of the hottest new plays, Rabbit Hole. It was nominated for five 2006 Tony Awards. We're doing a mixed variety," Cacioppo said.

Associate director for Florida Rep, Bari Newport explained, "Everyone is really excited about our new season. It's a really good season. We call it 'enchanting' because we expect audience members to be enchanted. Theatre is an art form about imagination."

Performing in the plays put on by the company are actors from around the United States.

"There's a house that Frank Lloyd Wright built called Falling Waters right outside of Pittsburgh," Cacioppo explained. "He has this outdoor pool that he channels the water out of a stream and the outgoing water goes back into the stream. I look at the Florida Rep acting pool like that. We use the same people, but we always have fresh talent coming in."

Newport added, "Part of our mission is to nourish the actors."

As one of only 279 professional theatres in the U.S., the company employs actors from the Actors' Equity Association, directors from the Society of Stage Directors and Choreographers and professional set and light designers.

"We care deeply about doing excellent work. This is the biggest staff we've ever had. We have 33 people, so we have a lot of energy going into making it the best play it could be. That's what it's about. It's about the work," Cacioppo said.

The company's hard-work certainly seems to have paid-off. Last year 70,000 people attended their shows, 7,000 of which saw one of the company's productions for the first time.

"We produce eight shows, which is a lot for a community this size. What's great about this community is that they really support the theatre," Newport said.

A large portion of the audience are from the islands. Cacioppo explained, "We have a history. My wife started theatre on Sanibel 20 years ago. There are people who saw the first play and 21 years later, they're still with us. We have a huge following from Sanibel and Captiva."

A draw for many theatre-goers is the company's historic downtown Fort Myers location as well as their island roots.

"This theatre was built in 1908. It's the oldest brick building in Lee County. Thomas Edison used to walk down from his house to see the thing he invented, the movies," Cacioppo said.

Florida Rep has been an important part of the refurbishment of the downtown area. Cacioppo explained, "In 1991 the city of Fort Myers, with the help of Mikhail Baryshnikov who was investing in projects, raised a few million dollars and totally renovated the area."

Following the refurbishment, the city offered Cacioppo the rent-free space along with $100,000 a year to help finance a non-profit theatre company. He said, "In nine years, they have given us about a million dollars in funding. It's really helped to develop downtown."

To keep audiences coming back to the historic location, Cacioppo and Newport work diligently to find the most entertaining productions. "We are always seeing plays. We're making a living doing what we love, so we do it in our spare time and professionally," Cacioppo said.

For nine seasons the company has successfully chosen and produced hits. He said, "I don't think I've ever done a play here — and we've done 70 plays — that someone didn't say, 'This is my favorite play.'"

This season Florida Rep is getting national attention. "We brought in some new corporate sponsors. We brought in JetBlue and Starbucks," Newport said.

With such attention and with such a wide-range of shows, hopes are high for the new season. Cacioppo explained, "The greatest hope is to turn on lots of people to theatre. A sign of a great community is a community that has the arts, and we want people to know that there's this jewel downtown. We are an artist-driven organization. It really is something we love and we want this to be the best season we've ever had."

Florida Rep.'s 2006-2007 season:

Six Dance Lessons in Six Weeks

By Richard Alfieri

September 29 - October 15, 2006

Directed by Chris Clavelli

In this new comedy, set in a gulf front condo on the west coast of Florida, a widow of a Southern Baptist minister hires a dance instructor with strong opinions of his own. Through six lessons in swing, tango, foxtrot, and cha cha, the two reveal their deepest secrets and greatest joys to one another with a riveting climax. As Michael takes Lily in his arms for the last time their friendship melds with the music, the dance, and a brilliant sunset. This production is being directed by Chris Clavelli and stars Barbara Bradshaw and David Weincek.

Moon Over Buffalo

By Ken Ludwig

October 27 - November 19, 2006

Directed by Robert Cacioppo

This farce, by the author of Lend Me a Tenor, is a perfect piece of theatrical madness. We follow the antics of two aging, married actors who are members of a second rate acting company. When they think Frank Capra is en route to catch a matinee and that they have one last shot at stardom, all mayhem breaks loose! Unfortunately, Capra sees neither Cyrano nor Private Lives, but a disturbing (and hilarious) mixture of the two.

Greetings

By Tom Dudzick

December 1 - December 23, 2006

Directed by Robert Cacioppo

When Andy brings his atheist Jewish fiancé home to his very Catholic family for the holidays, "oh boy," exclaims his developmentally challenged brother, Mickey. That is, until an ancient, wise and witty soul inhabits Mickey's body and he exclaims, "Greetings." "A comic jewel" N.Y. Newsday, "a loving holiday wonder" N.Y. Post, and just plain "hilarious" New Yorker. Greetings will become as much a part of the winter holiday season as Jimmy Stewart and Ebenezer Scrooge.

Rabbit Hole

By David Lindsay-Abaire

January 5 - January 28, 2007

Nominated for five 2006 Tony Awards including Best Play

Directed by Maureen Heffernan

We are thrilled to bring to Florida this run away New York hit immediately after its premier season on Broadway. When a tragic accident turns a family's world upside down, everyone copes with the loss and the need for renewal in their own way. This could be your neighbor. Indeed this could be any of us. As improbably funny as it is heartbreaking, playwright David Lindsay-Abaire's dialogue brilliantly mounts a roller coaster of heartbreaking disappointment, forgiveness and redemption.

Enchanted April

By Matthew Barber, from the novel by Elizabeth von Arnim

February 9 - March 4, 2007

Directed by Bari Newport

When two frustrated London housewives decide to rent a villa in Italy for a holiday

ON EXHIBIT

FOUNDERS GALLERY AT BIG ARTS to open October 7 with "Art by the disabled," Lee Memorial Health System's Arts in Healthcare exhibit will open with an artists' reception from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at BIG ARTS, 900 Dunlop Road. The Bettie Page Boys (Leo & Krista Johnson and Jason Slaughter) will perform during the reception.

Arts in Healthcare is a nation-wide movement linking the expressive arts with the healing arts. Bringing art into the mainstream of traditional healthcare promotes the wellbeing of both those who are ill and their caregivers. This exhibit shows how all forms of art are integrated into the healthcare setting.

"Promoting the creative spirits of those that are disabled helps to increase their self-confidence and express their creativity," Sonia Arledge-Lomano, Lee Memorial Health System's Arts in Healthcare representative, said. "It greatly contributes to our workplaces and communities, and it extinguishes old stereotypes regarding disability by highlighting the achievements of people with disabilities and reinforces their significant roles in society."

Any disabled artist is welcomed to participate in the program. Over the course of the years, galleries have showcased more than 40 artists with different disabilities including stroke survivors, patients suffering from polio, multiple sclerosis, pulmonary disease, genetic disorders, visually impairment, depression, scoliosis, or spinal cord injury, and those with autism.

Phillips Gallery announces its new season with the October 7 opening of "10 People I Met While Working in Florida and joint reception."

Gallery hours are 9 a.m. - 4 p.m., Monday - Friday. Exhibit runs October 7 - 30. All artwork from this exhibit may be purchased directly off the wall or pedestal. For further information about this exhibit, information about upcoming events at BIG ARTS, to purchase tickets, or to sign up for workshops, stop by BIG ARTS, 900 Dunlop Road Sanibel, Monday thru Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., call (239) 395-0900, e-mail info@bigarts.org, or log on to www.bigarts.org.

Six Dance Lessons in Six Weeks opens new Fla Rep season

Florida Repertory Theatre is pleased to announce the opening of its ninth season on Friday, September 29 at 8 p.m. with Richard Alfieri's new comedy, Six Dance Lessons in Six Weeks.

The production stars Florida Rep veteran, David Weincek (Noises Off, Dinner with Friends, Absurd Person Singular, among others) and Barbara Bradshaw (nominated for 17 Carbonell Awards, Florida's equivalent to the Tony) in her Florida Rep debut. Under the direction of Chris Clavelli, who directed the Florida Rep hit productions of The Foreigner and Side Man, Wienczek and Bradshaw take us on a magical journey of companionship and understanding.

Six Dance Lessons in Six Weeks is the story of how dance brings two very different lives together. Lily, a retired widow living in a St. Petersburg condo, learns more than just how to dance when she signs up for her six lessons. She and her instructor, Michael, learn from one another, form a bond of unexpected friendship and connect as much off the dance floor as on it. Audiences will be delighted by this funny, touching and uniquely Florida story as they cha cha, fox-trot, tango and waltz along with Lily and Michael.

Barbara Bradshaw, as Lily, is well-known to the East coast and has performed extensively with the Caldwell Theatre Co., Coconut Grove Playhouse, Florida Stage, Stage Door Theatre, the Kravis Center and the Maltz Jupiter Theatre and the Seaside Theatre in Daytona Beach. This award-winning actress comes to Florida Rep from Flatrock Playhouse in North Carolina where she performed in over 70 productions. Last season she appeared in major regional theatres across the country including The Alliance Theatre in Atlanta and the Geva Theatre in Rochester, New York.

In addition to his past work with Florida Rep, David Weincek has appeared Off-Broadway in Party and The Dressing Room. He's worked with the Alabama Shakespeare Festival, The Cincinnati Playhouse, The Kennedy Center, The Goodman Theatre and just completed a production as Prior in Angels in America. David is also no stranger to the camera and has been seen in the films, The Stepford Wives, New York Minute, A Beautiful Mind as well as the upcoming production, The Departed. David's television credits include The Book of Daniel, Law and Order: SVU, Kidnapped and Saturday Night Live. In addition, he has a successful career in commercial and print modeling.

"This is the perfect play to kick off our ninth season," says Producing Artistic Director, Robert Cacioppo. "We have an excellent blend of off-the-wall comedy and real-life drama this year, and Six Dance Lessons in Six Weeks is a little of both."

Six Dance Lessons plays at Florida Repertory Theatre from September 29 - October 15. Performances are Tuesday - Saturday at 8 p.m., with 2 p.m. matinees on Wednesday, Sunday and selected Saturdays.

New this season, Florida Rep has added a Sunday evening "Twilight" performance at away from their bleak marriages, they recruit two very different English women to share the cost and the experience. There, among the wisteria blossoms and Mediterranean sunshine, all four bloom again, rediscovering themselves in ways that they, and we, could never have imagined.

The Rainmaker
By N. Richard Nash
March 16 - April 8, 2007

Directed by Robert Cacioppo

At a time of paralyzing drought, we find a girl whose father and two brothers are more worried about her becoming an old maid, than they are about their dying cattle. In this romantic comedy, all the characters are searching for something, be it love, courage, faith, or connection with a kindred spirit. When the sudden appearance of a fast-talking con man transforms them all, including himself, you've got a great American classic!

Scapino!

By Frank Dunlop and Jim Dale
April 20 - May 13, 2007
Directed by Bari Newport

Wily servants outsmarting their masters. Young lovers kept apart by their parents. Misers do anything to keep hold of their money. A mother blaming her son for his own kidnapping. In this irreverent adaptation of Moliere's Les Fourberies de Scapin, the Florida Rep ensemble returns to its farcical roots in this fast-paced romp through the „everybody,s got an angle%o streets of Naples (Italy, that is).

Rounding Third

By Richard Dresser
May 25 - June 10, 2007
Directed by Robert Cacioppo

Two Little League coaches, with quite disparate styles and philosophies on child rearing, argue their way to the championship game. The audience is the stand-in for the team, so the coaches speak directly to us about competition, character, punctuality and the importance of wearing the right equipment. This big new comedy is about Pee Wee baseball and the childish adults who complicate it.

A nostalgic farewell to Sheila Tardosky's Tree House gallery

After thirty years the gracious, soft spoken, British born Sheila Tardosky is announcing her retirement and closing the "The Tree House" located at 2330 Palm Ridge Road, Sanibel on 1 October 2006. Right now she is nearing the end of her "Retirement—Going Out of Business Sale" and featuring her one-of-a-kind fine gifts and art work at enviable never-before prices. With her beloved late husband, Arthur Tardosky they came here for a visit, fell in love with the islands and began asking themselves, "What can we work. With enthusiasm and bravado the husband announced, "Everyone loves her. Sheila makes this the kind of gallery where people make friends. Longtime customers like the Marners and others have continued to add the real perks to Sheila's career and she acknowledges, "I'm very gregarious and I need to meet people. The Tree House has been the perfect venue for me."

Hurry to "The Tree House" before its final closing and if you have not met Sheila Tardosky give yourself the gift of introducing yourself. Mr. Whiskers with his L.L. Bean fishing outfit and his animated personality will welcome you in his role as "The Tree House" mascot. On the walls hang some of Hilda Kaihlanen's "Island Primitives" with their universal appeal and find the Cat's Meow Collectibles which are best described as wooden stand ups of famous island places including among others the Bubble Room, Bailey's Store and The Mucky Duck. Each one has been hand carved and then painted in their true colors by Sheila Tardosky. Some of the treasured North Wind Bells from Maine with their melodious chime still hang in "The Tree House" and there is a "Noah's Ark" carved in a special dark wood with all porcelain animals from Uruguay. Also find some of the bird carvings by Jim Kaehney mounted on driftwood, including a pair of avocets and a great blue heron and in porcelain view a highly dramatic snook in leaping position with mouth open wide.

Since childhood Sheila recalls her own love of art. "Since I was eight years old, my favorite thing has always been drawing and painting. As soon as my cousin in London who was almost my age came to visit, the two of us would start drawing and painting. We just drew and painted together and pretended we were artists." Sheila has never stopped painting and today she paints in watercolor and creates with collage. Today her wish is to continue to paint and display her work in some of the local galleries and at exhibits. Her customers are extremely happy for Sheila and say, "Finally you're doing what you deserve and we'll always love you and remember "The Tree House". A true island icon in her own time!

do?" In 1980 Captiva was their choice. The island wasn't built up and this was like living in the country. They bought "The Tree House" which had been put up on pilings and soon earned its distinction as the only gift shop on Captiva. Local artists asked if they could display their paintings and the duo of art works and gifts increased its popularity.

After nine unforgettable years on Captiva the Tardoskys sold the house and chose "The Olde Sanibel Shoppes" as their new location. Sheila praises the business acumen of her late husband and calls him a master at finding where the perks were. There were some well established businesses and "Calamity Jane" was the restaurant highlight of the "Olde Sanibel Shoppes". Appropriately "The Tree House" vied for an upstairs corner location with two sides of light and the picturesque lake and fountain in the center area of these Shoppes lended added beauty and an irresistible invitation to visit and browse.

In September 2005 Sheila Tardosky relocated to Palm Ridge Road. "I didn't have any idea of closing at that time." Health problems requiring more of her attention plus the status of the current economy formulated her decision and with a bit of nostalgia yet with an upbeat tone she exclaims, "I think I owe it to myself." Her career is filled with memories of clients who return to "The Tree House" year after year including her longtime friends from Captiva and children and grandchildren from distant places. On this particular day during the last week before her closing, a couple from St. Louis who were just returning to the island visited Sheila to make a few final choices of art.

BIG Arts kicks off concert season

BIG Arts starts the concert season with an evening of fun for all ages with entertaining performers, good food, and danceable music Saturday, October 21, at BIG Arts, 900 Dunlop Road, Sanibel. Food and fun begin in the Boler Garden at 6 p.m. with concert and dancing at 7:30 p.m. in Schein Performance Hall.

Enjoy listening, tapping your toes, and dancing to the Blind Pass Band. If you haven't heard them yet, you'll be pleasantly surprised. If you have, you won't be disappointed.

Recently overheard after a Blind Pass Band concert: "I loved them! My husband, who hadn't dance in years, couldn't help but get on the floor and dance!"

Tickets are $20 for adults and $5 for children 12 and under. Tickets include food and concert. The meal will be catered by Rib City. Call or stop by BIG Arts for tickets.

If you love great food, fun company, jumpin' dance music, or all three, BIG Arts is the place to be on Saturday, October 21, when BIG Arts will be really big fun for the entire family!

Phillips Gallery kicks of season

BIG Arts is excited to kick off its Phillips Gallery Visual Arts Season with an Artists' Reception Saturday, October 7, from 5:30 - 7 p.m. at BIG ARTS, 900 Dunlop Road, Sanibel. Phillips Gallery celebrates the October 7 opening of "10 People I Met While Working in Florida. Scott Snyder, FGCU Gallery Director, is the guest curator for this exhibit. The Bettie Page Boys (Leo & Krista Johnson and Jason Slaughter) will perform during the reception.

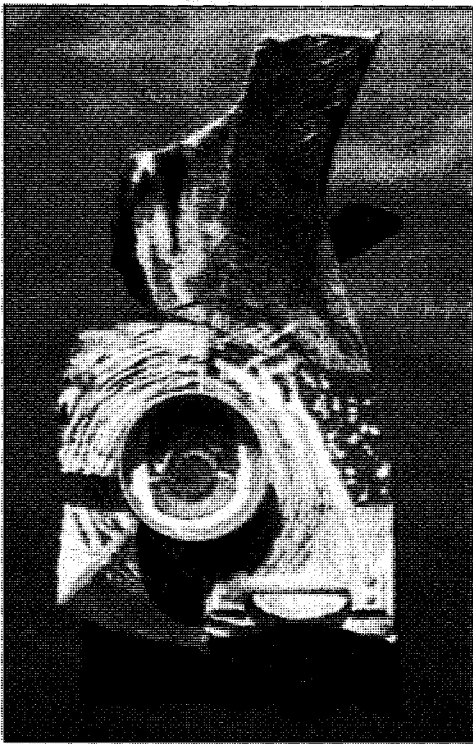

"When I first moved down to SW Florida, I was told how radically different Northern, Central, and southern Florida were demographically and culturally. With this in mind, I set out to contact artists from the three regions of the Sunshine State to see variations in the state's arts scene," Snyder said.

Andy Brown, Muriel Reyes, Sherry Rohl, and Anica Sturdivant are Fort Myers artists. Cape Coral will be represented by Carrie Custer while Ke Francis joins us from Oviedo, Rob Reedy from Central Florida, and Curtis Weatherall from Northern Florida. Miguel Guzmán and Deborah Joshua complete the 10 artists.

This must-see eclectic exhibit will showcase woodcut prints, colorful ceramics, ceramic/mixed media wall hangings, prints, sculptures, and a few surprises.

"Though this exhibit is a minute sampling of the variations, my intent is to showcase the familiar with the unfamiliar, the narrative with the abstract, and the beautiful with the humorous," Snyder said.

Founders Gallery announces its new season with the October 7 opening of "Art by the DisABLeD." The reception is for both galleries.

Gallery hours are 1 - 4 p.m., Monday - Saturday. Exhibit runs October 7 - 30. All artwork from this exhibit may be purchased directly off the wall or pedestal. For further information about this exhibit, information about upcoming events at BIG ARTS, to purchase tickets to productions, or to sign up for workshops, stop by BIG ARTS, 900 Dunlop Road Sanibel, call 395-0900, e-mail info@bigarts.org, or log on to www.bigarts.org.

Community Chorus practice begins Oct. 3

BIG ARTS announces the return of The Sanibel Community Chorus for the 2006-2007 season. Practice begins Tuesday, October 3, 7 to 9 p.m. in the Phillips Gallery at BIG ARTS, 900 Dunlop Road, Sanibel and continue through May.

Led by chorus director Carl F. Gnat, you are invited to join in harmony and make new friends. No auditions are required.

Recapture the joy of singing with The Community Chorus.

For further information about upcoming events at BIG ARTS, to purchase tickets, or to sign up for workshops, stop by BIG ARTS, 900 Dunlop Road Sanibel, call (239) 395-0900, e-mail info@bigarts.org, or log on to www.bigarts.org

Open Mics start Sept. 29

The Sanibel literary season begins today, September 29 between the hours of 4 and 6 p.m., with a Welcome Back Open Mic reading at The Bean on Sanibel. All are invited to read and listen to original and favorite selections of poetry and prose. Open Mic readings are informal. The only requirements are that performers sign the Reader's List and limit their reading time to five minutes. If you choose not to read, you are welcome to listen. Please come and share this entertaining afternoon with us.

For further information, please call Joseph Pacheco, 472-1280 or the Bean, 395-1919.

Alliance: Jean Dean retrospective

Acrylic artist Jean Dean was a prolific painter who won many awards and touched many lives with her art work. She passed away last summer, and the Alliance for the Arts is proud to remember and honor her lifetime accomplishments with a very special retrospective exhibit featuring selected pieces of hers. This show opens with a free to the public reception on October 6 from 5 - 7 p.m. The exhibition is sponsored by Florida Gulf Bank.

Jean Dean was known for her extensive use of color, and her work was recognized and exhibited across the United States and in Europe. One of her paintings was selected to hang in an All-Florida Show at the U.S. Embassy in Madrid, Spain. Her artwork also hangs in the Clara Barton House in Washington D.C. She's been a part of group exhibitions in San Francisco, New York City, San Diego, San Antonio, and all across Florida.

Perhaps as her most memorable contribution to Southwest Florida, Jean Dean founded the Open Doors art education program in 1989 for at-risk youth who show artistic promise. Children aged 7 to 12 are specially selected by their teachers for participation in this program. Her legacy continues through Leo and Krista Johnson, who guide students through "Open Doors" today.

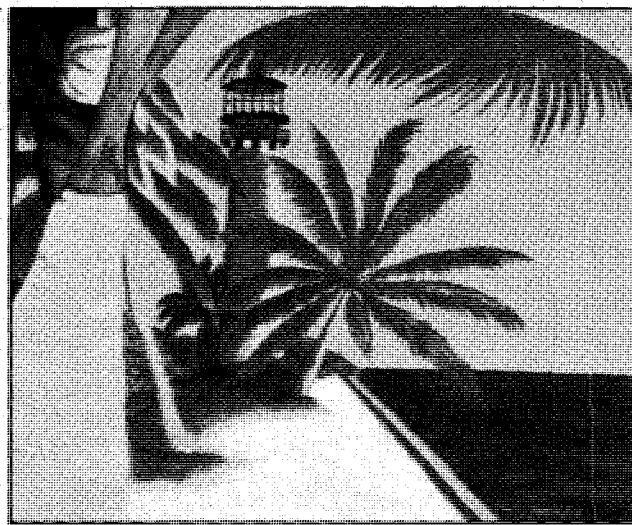

The Jean Dean Retrospective exhibit will fill the Frizzell Gallery at the Alliance for the Arts through November 6. In a special tribute to the artist, world-renowned flautist Kat Epple will play at the opening reception on Friday October 6 from 5 - 7 p.m.

Works of Jean Dean collected by Alliance members and remembrances by friends and fellow artists will be

Founders Gallery features Art by the DisABLeD

Founders Gallery at BIG Arts announces its new season with the October 7 opening of "Art by the disABLeD." This is a Lee Memorial Health System Arts in Healthcare exhibit. There will be a joint Artists' Reception for Founders and Phillips Galleries Saturday, October 7, from 5:30 - 7 p.m. at BIG Arts, 900 Dunlop Road, Sanibel. The Bettie Page Boys (Leo & Krista Johnson and Jason Slaughter) will perform during the reception.

Arts in Healthcare is a nationwide movement linking the expressive arts with the healing arts. Bringing art into the mainstream of traditional healthcare promotes the wellbeing of both those who are ill and their caregivers. This exhibit shows how all forms of art are integrated into the healthcare setting.

According to program founder and coordinator, Sonia Arledge-Lomano of Lee Memorial Health

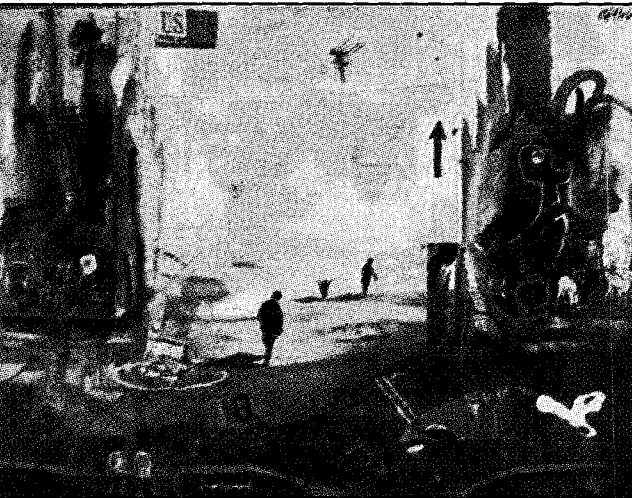

System's Arts in Healthcare, the arts represent a world of resources and opportunities for everyone. However, for those

Urban Expressions at the Alliance

Urban Expressions runs at the Alliance for the Arts through Sept. 30. Named after the genre coined by one of the featured artists, Marcus Antonius Jansen, the vivid and emotional pieces in this show draw a viewer into the heart of city life. Using images of big industry, street corners, construction sites, graffiti, and other cityscapes, Urban Expressions shines a spotlight on deeper issues such as poverty, homelessness, and overcrowding. The exhibition is sponsored by Fort Myers & Southwest Florida Magazine.

Jansen lives in Lehigh Acres, and his work is

Choosing the right water heater

(NewsUSA) - Having a large family with teenagers often means the last person in the bathroom in the morning rarely gets a hot shower. Fighting for time in the bathroom and then staring at a huge energy bill every month can be a cold shower for even the most frugal household. Rather than emptying your wallet every month, consider looking for a more energy-efficient water heater, such as the A. O. Smith Vertex.

"We see the need to provide energy-efficient products to our customers," said David Chisolm, brand manager for A. O. Smith Water Heaters. "The Vertex provides high-efficiency performance while allowing families the convenience of taking back-to-back showers without the threat of running out of hot water."

It may seem intimidating, but updating your water heater is not that difficult. Many of the newer, high-efficiency water heaters - such as the Vertex - have a similar footprint to older models, so there is little expense incurred when installing the new model.

According to Consumer Reports, figuring out the busiest hour of hot water usage on your average day will tell you what type of water heater will best suit your needs. Look at the first-hour rating of the water heater to tell you how much hot water can be delivered in an hour. To be the proper model for your situation, the water heater's first hour rating should exceed the number of gallons of hot water you use in your peak hour of hot water usage. Compared to a tankless or "on-demand" water heater, which delivers only a limited amount of hot water at a time, the Vertex water heater delivers a continuous supply of hot water, starting with 127 gallons of first hour rating at your disposal from the moment you turn the water on. For more information on the A. O. Smith Vertex, visit www.aosnewproducts.com.

Hot water consumption guide:

Two gallons for shaving;
4 gallons for washing your face and hands;
20 gallons for a 10-minute shower;
5 gallons of water for food preparation;
10 gallons to run the dishwasher;
20 gallons to run the washing machine.

Camcorders join digital TV revolution

(NewsUSA) - A quiet revolution is taking place in the world of home video. A sea change has occurred over the past three years as Americans have embraced high-definition televisions. Not only is the picture much better, but the shape has changed to a widescreen format like in a movie theater instead of the familiar boxy screen of a standard television.

The broadcasting industry has kept pace with consumer uptake of HDTVs by producing an explosion of content. This, along with falling HDTV prices, is fueling the popularity of digital television. The Consumer Electronics Association, a leading industry trade organization, projects that of the 30 million TVs purchased this year, more than 18.7 million will be digital.

"Once people experience high-def entertainment on TV, the next logical step is creating their own home movies in HD," said Linda Vuolo, director of marketing for camcorders at Sony Electronics. First to enter the high-def camcorder scene was HDV, a camcorder recording technology that changed the face of home-movie making. Using advanced video compression technology, HDV camcorders record video on standard, affordable miniDV cassettes.

Sony was the first company to bring to market a 1080i HDV camcorder, in November 2004. The company then introduced two additional models with small, lightweight dimensions and easy-to-use menu options at consumer-friendly prices. This year, AVCHD, a new recording technology for camcorders, is offering consumers even more choice in recording media. AVCHD makes it possible to produce power-efficient, compact camcorders that record high-definition video on familiar three-inch DVD disks, hard-disk drives or flash memory cards.

Both hard disk drive and DVD camcorders are becoming increasingly popular with consumers because of their random access ability, which makes it easier to watch and edit video footage. Now this convenience can be had in HD. This fall, Sony will ship two new high-def camcorders, which record in 1080i high-definition video and Dolby Digital 5.1 surround sound. One model records to familiar, three-inch digital video discs and the other onto a 30-gigabyte hard disk drive.

In-auto camera installation made easier

(NewsUSA) - Most people are used to seeing security cameras in convenience stores and on public buses, but the notion of similar technology in your Ford or Honda is a relatively unique one.

One company is doing its best to make the concept more mainstream by manufacturing a video camera mount specifically for the average driver. CruiseCam International Inc. started out creating a video imaging apparatus that integrated three video cameras, a recording device, a wireless microphone and a stealth microphone into a vehicle's existing passenger seat.

Originally designed to replace dashboard- or window-mounted systems for law enforcement personnel and race car drivers, the camera and recording device was built into the seat to increase safety and provide a better viewing vantage point. This design, the company says, provides complete containment of the system, away from the windshield and outside of the path of air bag deployment.

In that spirit, CruiseCam International has now created a mount for the mass market that weighs 1.5 pounds, works with all camcorders, can be installed in minutes and does not require the use of tools. The InCar CruiseCam camera mount will be available in Ritz Camera stores starting in October. Besides the obvious reasons for having a camera system inside your car, such as providing security from auto theft and related crimes, the company says this device can be an excellent training tool for first-time drivers.

"The CruiseCam camera mount reduces the liability for schools using video camcorders during over the road driver training and improves the students' understanding of what they did wrong by watching their video," said Scott Watkins, president and chief executive officer of CruiseCam International. "This is consistent with our corporate mission of being committed to improving vehicle safety."

Watkins notes that having a camera in a car can be beneficial because it holds drivers accountable, and thus improves driver performance. In the event of an accident, it can help establish proof of fault, as well as potentially minimize insurance costs and claims. For more information, visit www.cruisecam.com. CruiseCam International is a publicly traded company under symbol CCMJ on the Pink Sheets.

Local Realtors® attend FAR

Association President Arthur Corace was among sixteen members of the Sanibel & Captiva Islands Association of Realtors® who attended the Florida Association of Realtors® 90th Annual Convention and Trade Expo held September 13-17 in Hollywood, Florida.

Each year, FAR's Convention and Trade Expo brings Realtors® from around the state together to discuss and vote on key issues that shape their profession and association. In addition to committee meetings, members attend educational seminars on topics such as developing solid marketing strategies, using the latest computer technology and current real estate industry trends.

Some of the top industry speakers featured during the 2006 FAR Convention included: David Knox, who discussed how a changing marketplace can create sales opportunities, Simon Bailey, who offered tips on encouraging top performance, and keynote motivational speaker Steve Gilliland.

individuals with disabilities, it can be very difficult to have a venue to showcase and sell their work. Thanks to the help of Lee Memorial Health System's disABled artist galleries and venues such as BIG Arts Phillips and Founders Galleries, venues are provided.

"Promoting the creative spirits of those that are disabled helps to increase their self-confidence and express their creativity," Arledge-Lomano said.

Any disabled artist is welcomed to participate in the program. Over the course of the years, galleries have showcased more than 40 artists with different disabilities including stroke survivors, patients suffering from diseases of the foot and mouth, polio, multiple sclerosis, pulmonary disease, genetic disorders, visually impairment, depression, scoliosis, or spinal cord injury, and those with autism.

"It greatly contributes to our workplaces and communities, and it extinguishes old stereotypes regarding disability by highlighting the achievements of people with disabilities and reinforces their significant roles in society," Arledge-Lomano said.

Phillips Gallery announces its new season with the October 7 opening of "10 People I Met While Working in Florida."

Gallery hours are 9 a.m. - 4 p.m., Monday - Friday. Exhibit runs October 7 - 30. All artwork from this exhibit may be purchased directly off the wall or pedestal. ## OBITUARIES

Elsie M. Malone

Elsie Malone, the only child and namesake of one of the early island shell shop owners, died Sept. 21, 2006. She was 79. A resident of Fort Myers, she had moved off the island about 20 years ago.

Memorial Service

Elizabeth Waterman Eagleton

Whiff Eagleton died at home on July 27, 2006.

Her passions included preserving and communing with nature, sharing a good laugh with family and friends, exploring spirituality, gardening, crafts, world travel, tennis, skiing, water sports, reading, music, films and entertaining those around her — one might indeed call her a renaissance woman. She will be remembered especially for her dedication to the cause of conservation — hers was the very first yard certified by the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation in its Landscaping for Wildlife program.

A memorial service celebrating her life will be held at 11 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 30th, at the Sanibel Congregational United Church of Christ.

In lieu of flowers, love your children. Donations may be made to the charity of one's choice.

Fla Rep's Children's touring productions

Florida Repertory Theatre proudly announces its 2006-2007 season of children's touring theatre. The Imaginators and Thomas Edison: Fire of Genius are exciting and educational forms of theatre which will reach upwards of 12,000 students. They are available for bookings through May of 2007. These touring plays bring the unique and valuable experience of live theatre to schools and organizations in Lee, Collier and Charlotte Counties.

The Imaginators, by Dwayne Hartford is the story of three children and the power of their imaginations. Anne and her little brother, Tim, have just moved to a new town. Anne, embarrassed by her brother and worried that she won't fit in at her new school, refuses to play with Tim. In the garage of their new home, they meet the girl from next door, the fabulous Nina Frances Elizabeth Vanderhelden. Using moving boxes and other objects found in the garage, Nina takes an eager Tim and a reluctant Anne on a great make-believe adventure. This exciting and imaginative play highlights the value of teamwork and cooperation. The Imaginators encourages children and adults to embrace their individuality and explore their sense of play and creativity. This production is most appropriate for students in kindergarten through third grade.

The life of Thomas Alva Edison inspired Florida Rep's second touring offering, Thomas Edison: The Fire of Genius, by renowned children's theatre playwright Kathryn Schultz Miller, examines the landmark events in this great inventor's life. The genius himself takes the audience on his inspirational personal journey from a childhood full of troubles to his move to Southwest Florida. Audiences will surely enjoy this energetic and exciting look at the man behind the magic.

This is a world premiere production! Thomas Edison: the Fire of Genius was commissioned exclusively for Florida Repertory Theatre. Schools and organizations who book this tour will have the distinct honor of being among the very first audiences to view this important biographical play. This production is most appropriate for students in third grade and up.

Along with the 45-minute performance, each school receives an in-depth study guide featuring discussion starters, worksheets and activities related to the performance. Both productions also meet the Sunshine State Standards curriculum guidelines. Following each performance, the audience has the opportunity to engage in a question and answer session about the plays and the world of theatre, making Florida Rep's school tours a truly interactive experience.

Each school year Florida

Rep brings professional productions to around forty schools in the Southwest Florida. Florida Rep is always accepting of sponsorship and support opportunities to help bring this vitally important program to worthy schools in need. Through generous sponsorships from various organizations and individuals Florida Rep has been able to keep its performances accessible to all schools at about a dollar per student.

For more information on booking Florida Reps tours contact Jamie Carmichael, Education Director at 239/332-4665 ext 20.

Florida Repertory Theatre is located on Bay between Jackson and Hendry in the Historic Riverfront District. Visit Florida Rep online at www.floridarep.org

Kids and golf

(NewsUSA) - Many golfers who play as adults wish they had started at a younger age. Learning the game is much easier as a child and can help develop better hand-eye coordination. For those youngsters who show an interest, learning the fundamentals of golf will also help them develop life skills such as self-discipline and patience, according to the professionals at Las Vegas Golf Schools (www.gotogolfschool.com). Golf schools can provide flexible dates and formats for children to take instruction from qualified professionals, many of whom learned the game from famous golfers or teachers. Most schools will present a comprehensive overview of all aspects of the game. Candra Sumedhatip, the 2006 Nevada 3A girls golf player of the year, credits her success to the instruction she received from Jim Fonda at Las Vegas Golf Schools. "I'm a stubborn teenage girl with emotions, but somehow every weekend I go to lessons with Jim, he manages to work with me and help me progress and improve in my golf swing physically and work on my mental game," says Sumedhatip. Parents should look for instruction that includes full swing, short game, trouble shots, an understanding of how to practice and on-course instruction, where course management can be reviewed. Classes at Las Vegas Golf Schools include personalized instruction in a group setting, with unlimited use of the practice range and take-home video of your tee session. Golf schools can be effective in taking juniors to the next level, leading to college scholarship opportunities, business contracts and lifetime friendships within the game. Parents of golf students are encouraged to stay involved and learn when to push and when to ease up. Candra's father Kent saw how his daughter's confidence rose after her time with Fonda at Las Vegas Golf Schools. "After her first year under Jim's instruction, she wanted to join the high school team and compete in junior tournaments locally," he said. For more information, visit www.gotogolfschool.com/junior or call 800-543-7084.

Sanibel Soccer kicks off new season

The Sanibel Youth Soccer League kicked off its season Friday, September 22 with a full slate of games in the U6, U8 and U11 divisions. U15 action starts this Friday, September 29. A total of 184 boys and girls ages four through 14 are playing this year.

On the U6 field, the four and five year-olds played two games, many for the first time. Goal scorers for the Jacaranda team included Graham Kupsaw, Devin Welsh and Grant Ireland. Games are not scored in this division as the emphasis is on fun and education.

In U8, which consists of six and seven year-olds, the VIP Realty team prevailed over Mucky Duck. Jack Simmonds-Short led the way with three goals and Griffin Kupsaw added a fourth goal. Coach Rusty Kupsaw also had high praise for defenders Cameron Donovan, Deanna Craig and Richard Cleary.

The second U8 game was a tight battle between Baileys and Sandcastle Construction. Baileys prevailed 2-1 in a very close game.

The U11 division featured three close games. Zurbriggen Financial and Sanibel Home Builders played to a 3-3 tie. Southwest Florida Dental and Coldwell Banker also proved to be evenly matched with the game ending in a 2-2 tie.

In the third U11 game Prime Financial jumped out to a 2-0 first half lead over Aztec Plumbing behind goals by Michael Stufano and Kirk Williams. Thomas Rizzo and Robbie Gisewhite, however, led a furious Aztec comeback in the second half. The Prime defensive contingent of Ryann Mahaney, Ashton Gibson and goalie Andrew Turner held firm in the final minutes to preserve a 2-1 victory.

Games are held every Friday evening at 6 and 7 p.m. at the Sanibel School fields. Refreshments and food are provided by the East End Deli. Stop by and watch the youth of Sanibel in action.

BIG Arts Film Society

BIG Arts is pleased to announce the film schedule for the 2006-2007 Season. The ever-popular Monday night film series, "Windows on the World" will begin Monday, October 23 at 7 p.m. at Schein Performance Hall at BIG Arts, 900 Dunlop Road on Sanibel and will continue to the end of April.

This season marks the 11th anniversary of BIG Arts Film Society, and as in previous years, the Film Society's goal is to bring together a selective series of films for discriminating viewing and thoughtful discussion. The emphasis remains on presenting award-winning independent and foreign films, which generally may not receive wide distribution or may have limited engagements because they are not considered to have "mass appeal."

"Between our outstanding Monday evening series 'Windows on the World' and our Wednesday Matinee Series, shown in conjunction with Island Cinema, I think we have something to offer everyone," J.R. Pascal, Film society chair, said. "We have selected the best award-winning art and foreign films for Monday nights, and the Wednesday matinees, which will begin in January, are always the year's Academy Award contenders."

The Film Society also offers free Fan Club membership that is open to everyone. Members enjoy dinner with fellow movie lovers and engage in discussions led by local film critic, Priscilla Friedersdorf. Call BIG Arts to reserve a space for the dinner and discussion held the third Wednesday of each month — January 17, February 14, and March 14 — at The Bean of Sanibel following the film. Seating is limited, so make reservations at least one day in advance of the showing.

"Our Fan Club members have great discussions Wednesday evenings at The Bean following the films... and there is always friendly competition in who can pick which films

What would you like to see on the island that isn't here now?
By Laura Blaskowitz

"We just got here. We haven't seen too much. We saw it 30 years ago when it was more barren."

George Lambert
Lancaster, Ohio.

"Maybe better clean-up."

Austin Humphrey
Louisville, Ky.

"I can't think of anything. Maybe better seating."

Sandra Chapman
Leicester, England

that are going to win the big prizes," Pascall said.
To round out the Film Society season, BIG ARTS is offering a new Film Producers Master Class, Fridays, 2 - 4 p.m., January through February 8, 2007. The class will be taught by film company executive,

Raymond a. Boyce and film producer Jack Emery. The series should appeal to film buffs, those interested in making their own films, and those with an interest in film script writing.
Films for the first half of the season are as follows:
October 23 - Read My Lips (2003), France
October 30 - Grizzly Man (2005), USA
November 6 - Casanova (2005), Italy
November 13 - The Road Home (2000), China

November 27 - Match Point (2005), United Kingdom
December 4 - Enron: The Smartest Guy in the Room (2005), USA
December 11 - Top Hat (1935), United Kingdom
December 18 - Joyeux Noël (2005), France/Germany
Monday evenings' "Windows on the World" tickets, $5, are available in advance or at the door. Discount ticket books for Monday evening films are available for $52/12 (does not include the January 15 Special Film Event).

For the season's complete film schedule, to reserve your discount tickets, for further information about upcoming events at BIG ARTS, to purchase tickets, or to sign up for workshops, stop by BIG Arts, 900 Dunlop Road Sanibel, Monday th- Friday, 9 a.m. - 4 p.m., call 395-0900, e-mail info@bigarts.org, or log on to www.bigarts.org.

Smokey Joe's Café at B'way Palm

Broadway Palm Dinner Theatre begins its 14th Fabulous Season with the rock n' roll hit sensation, Smokey Joe's Café playing August 17 through September 30. Smokey Joe's Café was the winner of the 1996 Grammy Award for Best Musical and was nominated for seven Tony Awards; including Best Musical, Best Director and Best Choreography.

Smokey Joe's Café features 40 songs of Jerry Leiber and Mike Stoller, who are responsible for a chain of hits rooted in the rhythm and blues and rock and roll tradition. Their songs were made popular by music legends such as Elvis, The Coasters, The Drifters and Peggy Lee. The '50s and '60s hits include "Stand By Me," "Hound Dog, On Broadway,"

"Jailhouse Rock," "Yakety Yak," "Love Potion #9," "Ruby Baby," "There Goes My Baby," "Dance With Me" and many more.

Rock n' roll with Broadway Palm Dinner Theatre into their 14th Fabulous Season with Smokey Joe's Café playing August 17 through September 30. Performances are Wednesday through Sunday evenings with selected matinees. Broadway Palm is offering a Smokey Joe's Special and all dinner and show tickets are just $35. Tickets are now on sale and can be reserved by calling 239/278-4422, by visiting www.BroadwayPalm.com, or by stopping by the box office at 1380 Colonial Boulevard in Fort Myers.

Bway Palm's 100th show: The Full Monty

Broadway Palm Dinner Theatre celebrates its 100th production with the musical comedy hit, The Full Monty, playing October 5 through November 18. The book is by Terrence McNally (Ragtime, Kiss of the Spiderwoman) with music and lyrics by pop composer David Yazbek (Dirty Rotten Scoundrels).

Four-time Tony Award-winning writer Terrence McNally adapted the screen hit for the stage and added his unique brand of American comedy for the story, changing the location from England to Buffalo, New York. McNally said, "The show is about friendship, about being a parent. It's also about an image-obsessed society that says you have to look like Brad Pitt. This show is quite the opposite. It celebrates everybody for who they are."

The Full Monty is the hilarious story about six down-on-their-luck steelworkers from Buffalo who come up with a radical plan to make some quick cash and help a friend in trouble. Along the way they learn the importance of friendship and how to triumph over their nerves...and their clothes.

The Full Monty is directed by Seth Reines. Seth has directed Broadway Palm's Miss Saigon, Carousel and Man of La Mancha. Additional credits include set design by Evan Adamson; costume design by John White; with choreography by Jamal McDonald and lighting design by Russell A. Thompson.

The Full Monty has it all...heart, humor and a triumphant ending. Come and celebrate Broadway Palm's 100th production, The Full Monty, playing October 5 - November 18. Performances are Wednesday through Sunday evenings with selected matinees. Beginning October 24, performances are Tuesday through Sunday with selected matinees. Ticket prices range from $25 to $50 with group discounts available for parties of 20 or more. Tickets are now on sale and can be reserved by calling 239/278-4422, by visiting www.BroadwayPalm.com or by stopping by the box office at 1380 Colonial Boulevard in Fort Myers.

New season at Theatre Conspiracy

Theatre Conspiracy is proud to announce the opening of the first show of our 2006-2007 season. The End of the World Button by S.W. Senek, opens October 12th at the Foulds Theatre in Ft. Myers. Button, a finalist in our annual new play contest, is described by the playwright as a "stylized plea of desperation in recognized and displayed internationally from Paris, France to Memphis, Tennessee. His pieces make an impact, but leave interpretation to the viewer. In his artist statement, Jansen says, "I distort my work, in order to find truth and a new way of seeing. I leave 'imperfections' in my work, because it is through

'imperfections' that we learn."

He's joined on his exploration of modern society by Naples artist, Joan Sonnenberg. She's earned major acclaim for her industrial-themed and often large scale works both statewide and in other areas across the nation. Of her development as an artist, she says, "I discovered that alternating between realism and abstractions afforded me a new energy."

Sonnenberg's and Jansen's work will fill the Frizzell Gallery at the Alliance for the Arts through September 30, and both will be at the opening reception on Friday September 8.

The Alliance also welcomes special guests Heather Brooks, Mike Rogers, and Darrell Nutt of the Heather Brooks Band, performing street-wise urban funk original music for the occasion.

Work by Ernesto Masis will be on display for the first time in our member gallery.

The Alliance for the Arts proudly supports the artists and arts organizations in our area as the state designated Local Arts Agency for Lee County. The Alliance for the Arts galleries are open from 9 to 5 Monday through Friday and from 10 to 3 on Saturdays, located at 10091 McGregor Boulevard just south of Colonial Boulevard. Visit www.artinlee.org for regular updates, interviews and information about programs, exhibits, artists, and excitement our community has to offer.

New book by Marcus Antonius Jansen

Modern Urban Expressionism is Jansen's first book/catalogue showing a collection of the artist's "Landscape" paintings in mostly full-page spreads. The book offers a biographical overview about Jansen's world travels and the experiences that transformed his life from being a soldier to being an artist.

Viewers will find, photos and a critical essay by author Gerri Reaves, Ph.D., "From Exile to Redemption in the 'Prairies of Stone'" as well as a foreword by renowned digital artist Laurence Gartel, former computer instructor to Andy Warhol and fellow classmate of graffiti artist Keith Haring.

Special reviews by Monty Montgomery - president of the American Academy of the Arts, Florida and Jerome A. Donson, museum art specialist for the American Vanguard Exhibitions Europe (1963). The book will be available through Jansen's Galleries in Paris, Los Angeles and Atlanta as well as online bookstores accessible worldwide. For organizations or bookstores wanting to schedule book signings with the artist you may contact us anytime.

The book will retail for $49.95. It will be available in November 2006. Only a limited number of signed copies will be available.

Visit us online in our (order book) section for preview and more: www.marcus-jansen.com or write info@marcusjansen.com.
