SHELLS

Sabine Adamson (left) with sisters Solange and Emmanuelle, from Collingwood, Ontario found a spotted shell on the Tuesday before Thanksgiving while digging through a big pile of shells near Beach Access 7. People told her that she had a special shell. Sabine had noticed the junonia at the Chamber visitor center and remembered the spots; her shell seemed to look like the junonias they could find in the shell books. However, after stopping by the Islander office (where we told her it was not a junonia but took her picture because it was an interesting shell), she and her dad found a shell just like it at She Sells Sea Shells, identified as a Babylonia. The Islander gave Ed Hanley of Neptune's Treasures a call to find out more: it's not a local shell, so it either traveled a long way or someone with a quirky sense of humor planted it. Mr. Hanley noted that Babylons are found in the Pacific and Indian Oceans. But any way that you look at it, it was a rare find for Sabine on Sanibel — she might be the only person ever to find a Babylon on a Sanibel beach.

Ed Vogel from Kulpville, Penn. e-mailed this photo to us. While staying at Pointe Santo de Sanibel over Thanksgiving with his family, he took a bike ride on Thanksgiving morning to West Gulf Drive, Beach Access #2. He says that he knows it's "a good shelling beach at high tide" — and it was — he found this junonia. There were some other regular shellers there and one of them took this photo. He and his wife, Barbara, have been coming to Sanibel for 20 years — and it's the first junonia either has found. "We are both confirmed competitive shellers and she still can't believe I found it," he noted. Also down for the holiday were his son, daughter, son-in-law and three grandchildren — ages six, three and one — "all of whom are now acquiring a shelling interest."

Lion's Christmas trees on sale now

The Sanibel-Captiva Lions Club has begun their annual Christmas tree sales at the corner of Periwinkle Way and Lindgren Boulevard.

Lions tree sales chairman, Bill Sadd, encourages you to purchase early. According to Sadd, "You'll have a better choice if you buy early. Trees can be stored until brought inside by cutting an inch or so from the tree base, putting the base in water and storing in the shade and out of the wind."

Tree prices will be the same as the last two years, except for the biggest trees which are up $5 due to a supply shortage. Sadd says, "If you want a ten foot tree, better get to the lot early."

Decorative Christmas wreaths will be sold again this year, as well as tree stands.

All profits from the tree and wreath sales go to Sanibel-Captiva Lions Charities, Inc. During the course of the year, this money will be used to provide college scholarships, to fund the Florida Lions Camp for handicapped children, to provide guide dogs for the blind and deaf, and to help other charities such as: Special Equestrians, Fish (Friends in Service Here) of Sanibel and more than a dozen others.

Luminary will light up the islands Friday and Saturday

The Chamber is proud to host its annual Luminary Festival on Sanibel and Captiva Islands — Friday, Dec. 1st, on Sanibel and Saturday, Dec. 2nd, on Captiva. Luminary Festival is a community-wide holiday event that brings together residents, visitors, businesses and organizations, promoting goodwill and community spirit. Some of our visitors make early hotel reservations especially for the event.

As you "travel the trail," look for the many fun places to stop and enjoy. There will be an opening ceremony, complimentary trolley service, Santa visits, photos with Santa, a live nativity scene, music and activities for the entire family. The entire trail will be illuminated with candles and lights.

Get an early start on the Luminary Trail at the Sanibel Community Church's Holly & Ivy Bazaar tomorrow, Dec. 1st, from noon to 9 p.m. Among the items available will be lit and decorated Christmas trees, hand-painted ornaments, candles, and lots of baked goods, chutneys, jams and jellies. A Silent Auction will also be held.

Start early and enjoy the fun. The church is next to Jerry's Market on Periwinkle Way. Call 472-2684 for more information.

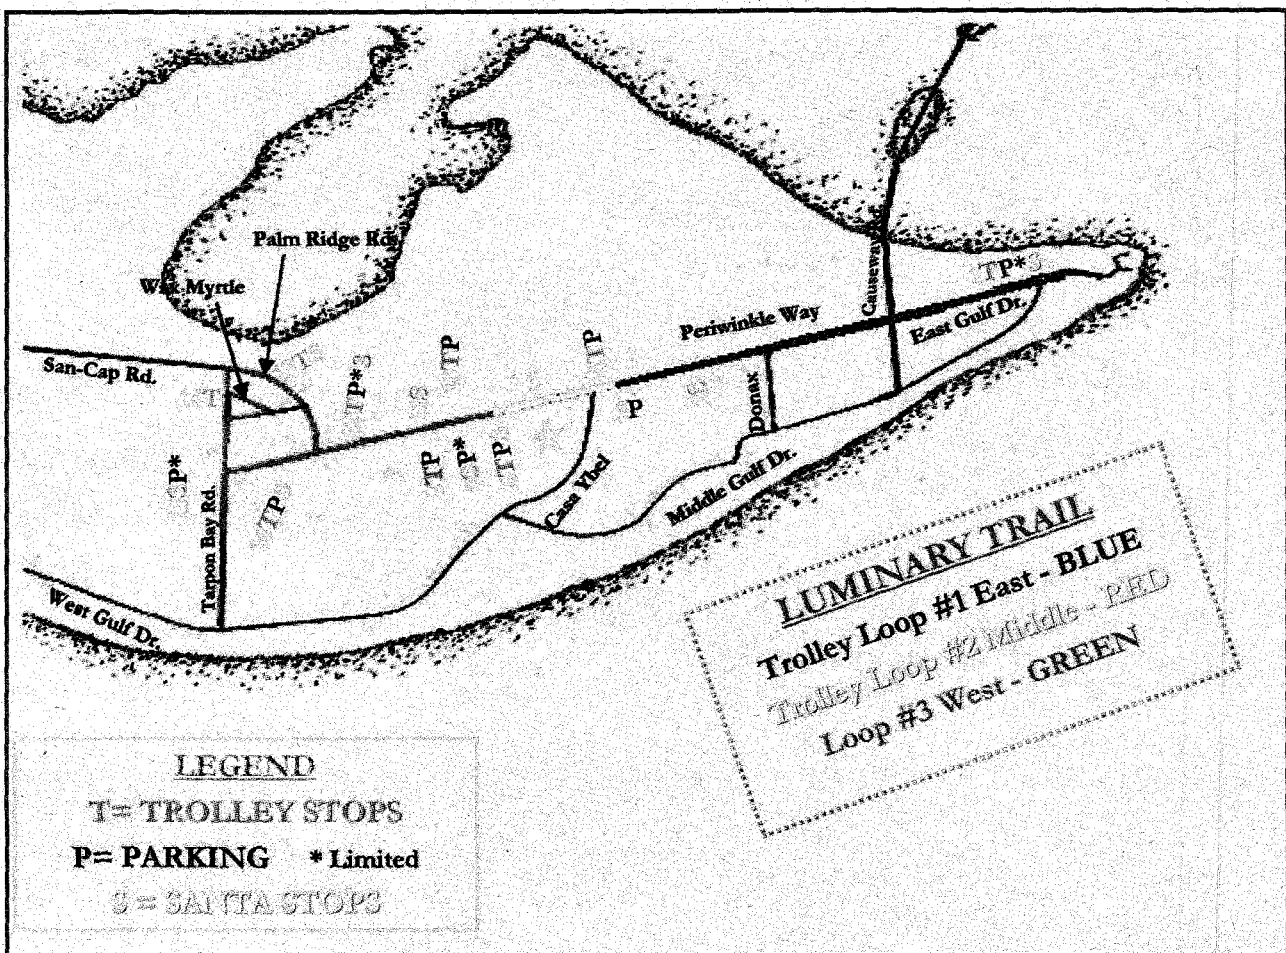

Checking the trolley map will help you plan your evening so it (and you) will move smoothly.

Tahitian Gardens will have a steel drum band — Tribal Love — and all the shops will be offering some kind of nibbles and beverages. There are rumors that ShinyObjects and The Sanibel Glassblower may have shish kabobs and Wilford & Lee various teas to sample. Tommy Dixon will be offering several different kinds of cheeses and Island Bakehouse & Cheese Shop will have tasty bits of its specialties and perhaps some hot cider (especially if it's cold out!).

Periwinkle Place is hosting Santa Claus for pictures with Santa, and a reggae band will be serenading Luminary strollers. All of the Plaza's stores will be giving out tastes of something different — from sandwiches and shrimp to cookies and champagne.

Eileen Fisher Boutique on the Periwinkle end of Forever Green Center will have refreshments, and Mermaid Kitchen will be offering samples of their magnificent, to-die-for cakes. This location is a stop on Santa's itinerary, as well.

C. Turtles in Sanibel Square will be open with snacks and liquid refreshments.

In The Village Shops on Periwinkle, one of the scheduled trolley stops next to St. Michael's, Schnapper's Hots will be serving free hot dogs under the auspices of Why Knot. The store itself will have little knickknacks for the kids. Just across the boardwalk, the Polish Pottery Shoppe is thanking its customers with the beer and wine to go with the hotdogs. William E. Wilson Goldsmith will be open and "receiving visitors" with light refreshments during the evening. As many people know, the Village is undergoing extensive renovation and shops are unable to offer the full-scale glitz of some previous years.

Tropical Sense Soaps and Scents in Palm Ridge Place has a holiday soap special going on — buy six bars and get the seventh free! Owner Kathy Santy has tons of all-natural stocking stuffer ideas for the whole family, as well, and, on Luminary night, is offering a 10% discount on individual soap slices.

Hungry Heron — just a few steps away — will have snippets of its famous Key Lime Pie and coffee.

Amy's Something Special, Suncatcher's Dream and Island Paws — all in the Olde Sanibel Shoppes at the end of Periwinkle — will be lit up and open with hot and/or cold snacks, wine and soft drinks.

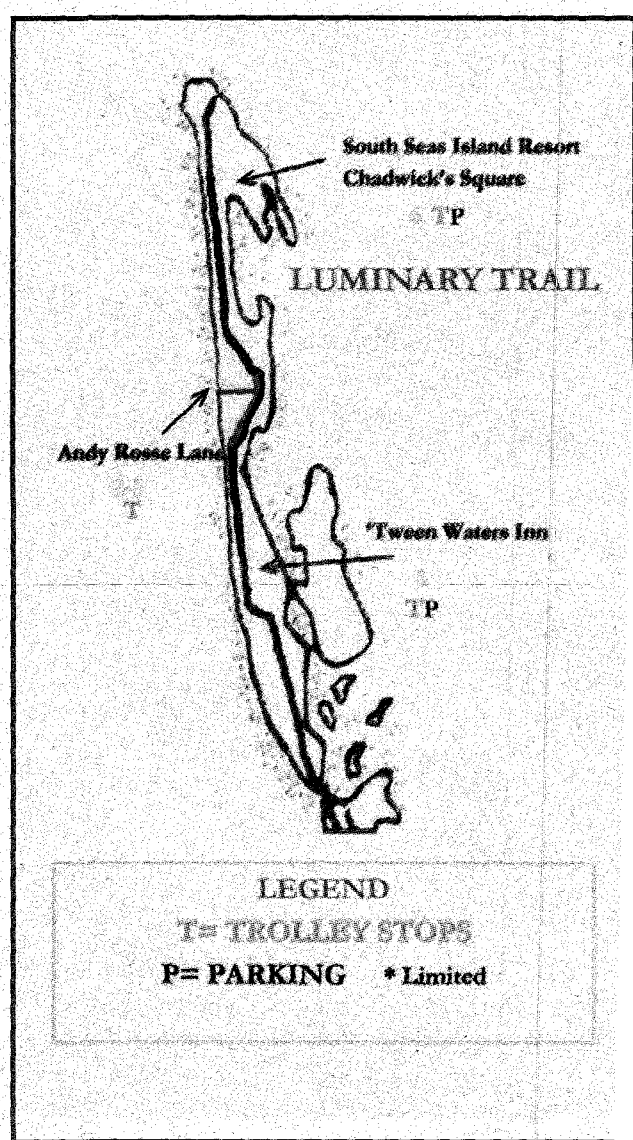

Across the street in the Bailey's Center, The Shell Net (in the corner of the ell) will be holding an open house with refreshments and a quartet from the Cypress Lake Band playing in the corner of the plaza near the front door of the shop. Bailey's will have eggnog and cookies and...

Gasparilla's Grill will be pouring free wine and offering cheese and crackers. And... !!! NEWS FLASH !!! on Fridays from 4 to 7:30 p.m. for the rest of December and all of January (with the exception of Dec. 29th) Gasparilla's Grill will be donating 50% of its proceeds to PURRE (People United to Restore our Rivers & Estuaries)!

After the Luminary festivities (around 8:30 p.m.), plan to get together with your family, friends, and neighbors in the auditorium of the Sanibel Community Association for an After Luminary Community Café & Coffee House. Live music, arranged by Danny Morgan Musical Services, will feature folk artists Pat McCune and Rosie Emery.

McCune is one of America's true masters of the 12-string guitar — many place him in a league with such notables as Leo Kotke. Pat has toured all over the USA as a featured artist at many folk festivals and recently won two national songwriting competitions. His authentic folk and blues vocals lend tremendous credibility to the songs he picks. You will truly enjoy his magical talent.

Emery's musical career first began in the coffee houses of Cambridge and London, England. An appearance with the Cambridge Players at the prestigious Edinburgh Festival in 1972 got her hooked on performing and she's never stopped! After moving to Canada from Morocco in 1980, Rosie co-hosted the Montreal, CTV television show, Bits & Pieces, with partner Peter John Bailey. The award-winning magazine-style half-hour show featured music videos of songs penned and performed by Rosie and Peter as well as interviews and performances by local artists and other music industry legends.

The music starts at 8:30. There's no admission charge — live music and coffee are the Community Association treat. The event is sponsored by the SCA Board members Mike Kelly, John Madden, Ann Arnoff, Gordon Schopf and Robbie Roepstorff. Desserts and cold drinks will be available at minimal charge and there will also be a cash bar.

Walk (or ride) the Luminary Trail to the Community House tomorrow evening, Friday, Dec. 1st. If you run out steam early, in the North Room from 6 until 8:30, punch a cookies will be available and the Shellcrafters will be displaying their wares for sale (terrific holiday gifts from Sanibel!).

Fifth graders honored by mayor

By LAURA BLASKOWITZ
 lblaskowitz@breezenewspapers.com

Mayor Carla Johnston met with Tylor Compton's 5th grade class at The Sanibel School to commend them for their environmentally conscious efforts to combat Sanibel's water issues. In addition, Johnston informed the class that they have been awarded a grant from the "Ding" Darling Wildlife Society to continue their experiments with mangroves.

"You all know a whole lot more than a lot of adults do," Johnston said. "This is a thank you to all of you for coming and speaking up and being part of making a difference."

Compton's class questioned panelists at WGPU's Oct. 29 "Water Woes" forum. In honor of their commitment to improving the quality of water on Sanibel, Johnston hand-delivered letters and pins to the students last Wednesday.

While visiting Compton's classroom, Johnston explained how the city has faced the water issues. "Any of you ever look at a puzzle and think, 'Wow. That's too complicated. We'll never be able to put it together.' That is a little like dealing with the water problem," Johnston said. "You have to figure a strategy like finding the corners or figuring out the color scheme. You put it together piece by piece by piece by piece."

Johnston explained that the city will soon know how their work has affected the decisions made by the Army Corps of Engineers. "We'll soon know whether we've made any progress on that one piece. Then there's a whole lot more pieces. I'm delighted that you came [to the forum] and tried to do that. I'm hoping that you decide you like solving puzzles and will be crazy enough to run for mayor."

When Johnston and Compton announced that the class had been awarded a grant from the "Ding" Darling Wildlife Society, the students cheered. "We are looking for chances to be helpful," Compton said.

The money from the grant will go towards equipment needed to work on their mangrove study. Their experiments include the effect of heat on growth, whether fresh or brackish water will produce more growth, the effect of the nutrient-rich releases from Lake Okeechobee, the effects of temperature on growth, and of water affects the growth of mangroves.

Compton complimented her students for their hard work and eagerness. She said, "I know your voices are powerful."

Luc Century ornament at Refuge Store

A long-running holiday tradition at the "Ding" Darling Refuge Store, the Luc Century etched-glass ornament for 2006 is now available. It features one of the refuge's most beloved and trademark creatures, the roseate spoonbill.

"Sanibel artist Luc Century has been creating his ornaments exclusively for our store for five years. Every year he features a different refuge native, and this year's promises to be one of our most popular," says Store Manager Lise Bryant. "We also carry Luc's keepsake ornaments from the past five years with no collector's mark-up."

Bryant reminds holiday shoppers that The Refuge Store carries children's nature books, games, and toys, plus a complete line of birding field guides and other refuge-related books. Profits go directly toward environmental education programs and services at the refuge.

"Our Stokes birding binoculars and scopes make great gifts for serious birders," she says. "We sold 13 in one day during the Thanksgiving weekend."

"If you want to give a meaningful gift to a loved one and to wildlife at the same time, think about a membership to 'Ding' Darling Wildlife Society," says Jim Sprankle, president of DDWS, which operates The Refuge Store. "Or how about a contribution in honor of a friend or family member?"

DDWS is a non-profit, friends-of-the-refuge organization that supports the Education Center, "Ding" Darling Days, and other educational initiatives at the refuge.

Historical Village looking for former Schoolhouse students

The Sanibel Historical Village and Museum's most recent addition, the old one-room schoolhouse, is waiting for class to begin. Former students-- those who attended before 1963-- are being sought for an invitation to a special, formal opening and bell-ringing.

Today's islanders who spent school years here have recalled classmates... "He was a real trouble-maker... She played second base..." With their lists, museum volunteers have contacted some and begun the search for Diane Ballinger Schwartz, James Jack, Pamela Holtzman Purdy, Ray Rhodes, L.G. Rhodes, Gordon Tracey, Marth and Mary Cole, Marietta Hiers, Gerald Johnson, Bill and Rose Halveston, Christine, Vivian, and Patsy Henry, the Carroway children, Jim and June Poulton and Richard Montieth.

Please call Jody Brown (472-9570) or Deb Gleason (472-4432) with addresses, telephone numbers or other contacts for these folks and any more.

REMEMBERING THOSE LESS FORTUNATE

BOTI collecting Christmas gifts

As Christmas approaches, Bank Of The Islands is asking their customers and island neighbors to contribute unwrapped gifts for needy children in our community. Starting December 1, islanders can choose an ornament from the tree in the Bank lobby. Each ornament will indicate the age of a boy or girl you can buy a gift for.

"We're so happy to be partnering with Friends Who Care on this special holiday gift drive," said Bank Of The Islands President Robbie Roepstorff. "It's a great way to show how honored we are to be a part of this wonderful island tradition."

The deadline to choose an ornament and deliver an unwrapped gift to the Bank Of

The Islands lobby is December 12.

"Any gifts received after the 12th will be delivered to the Brightest Horizons Mission and Child Development Center," said Roepstorff. "Santa is coming to Bank Of The Islands on December 21 from 11 a.m. - 2 p.m. to visit with island children. After hearing the wishes of our island children, Santa will deliver any additional gifts to Brightest Horizons."

As always the bank's freshly baked cookies will be available for visitors every day between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. All islanders are invited to stop by the bank lobby at the corner of Periwinkle Way and Casa Ybel Road.

Friends Who Care

This has been another difficult year for many families as a result of hardships that have been caused by job loss, the economy and personal tragedies. If you know of anyone that needs assistance, please contact Friends Who Care at 472-5152.

The Thanksgiving week is generally a time to give thanks for our family, friends, health and well-being. The words of thanks and giving are a part of the efforts of Friends Who Care, a Sanibel-based group organized to assist families and individuals during times of need. This year, Friends Who Care, with the assistance of other local organizations, will provide Thanksgiving dinners for families on the island. Friends Who Care distributed many gift certificates for turkeys, including all the trimmings. Thanksgiving is a time to consider our blessings and be thankful for what we have. Sharing with those families that may be less fortunate is a wonderful feeling of caring.

Salvation Army's Angel Trees

The Salvation Army is gearing up for the 2006 Christmas Cheer campaign, and we need clubs, classes, families and businesses to help. Our Angel Tree program helps provide children with clothing, underwear and shoes, in addition to the other gifts that are provided by The Salvation Army. Last year, over 2,000 families in crisis registered for The Salvation Army Christmas Cheer program - over 5300 children under 12. Angel Tree cards are available from The Salvation Army, and each card lists a child, boy or girl, and their clothing size. Donors simply shop for new clothing in the size needed, and return the clothing to The Salvation Army - no gift wrapping is required. Angel Tree donations should be dropped off by Monday, December 4, 2006.

The Salvation Army Angel Tree Program is ongoing through the month of November, 2006. Your participation as a sponsor of our Angel Tree Program can make an important difference in many lives during this holiday season. With the generous help of community groups, businesses and individuals, last year The Salvation Army distributed over 48,000 gifts and clothing items to children and over 2,300 Christmas food baskets. For more information on the Angel Tree Program, contact Kathie Ferrie at 239/278-1551.

First tree sprouts in the "Enchanted Forest"

CROW's first annual "Enchanted Forest" Festival of Trees, Sunday, December 3, 2006 at the Sanctuary Clubhouse, Wulfert Road, Sanibel, sprouts its first tree from Presenting Sponsor, The Sanibel-Captiva Trust Company. The tree is displayed, until the event, at the Trust Company offices on Periwinkle Way. Talented artists and designers in our area are putting their creative skills to work on the nearly fifty trees entered in the event.

The Sanibel-Captiva Trust Company enlisted their design partners, Sally Hanser and Lytha Weston of "Art By Lytha And Sally" (www.artbylythaandsally.com), to create a whimsical and magical tree entitled, "Tiddly Winks Tree House." Also, under the tree, will be gift-wrapped presents for children. "We're happy to continue our five year tradition of supporting Sanibel and Captiva charities by donating our artwork, and contributing to our community," said Lytha and Sally. "Art By Lytha And Sally, is a company that specializes in transforming environments. This incredibly creative team started event and party planning years ago, but now have added a new dimension to their business by expanding into interior re-design, and home makeovers," said Laura Sheft event co-chair. "These spectacular and festive holiday trees will be featured at the Sanctuary Clubhouse in a silent auction, raising important philanthropic support for the Clinic for the Rehabilitation of Wildlife. This is a brand new event for CROW, and the response has been outstanding," said Birgie Vertesch event co-chair.

Richardson bicycles 100 miles

On Sunday, Oct. 29, months of hard training paid off for island resident Peggy Richardson. On that day Peggy rode in and completed the Intercoastal Century Bike Ride which began and ended at Cocoa Beach, Fl.

She participated as a member of the Southwest Florida Team in Training to benefit the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. Peggy began her training four months ago. In order to be strong enough and have the endurance necessary to ride a 100 miles in one day, it was necessary to train at least three times a week with short rides of 25 miles each and then participate with the team each Saturday for longer rides, which began at 25 miles and ended up being as long as 90 miles.

She also cross-trained on the "off the bike" days with swimming and walking as well as weight training. The summer months were hot and humid but she persisted and is very happy she did.

Not only did she realize a personal goal of completion of such a long ride but she was able to raise nearly $2,300 to benefit the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. Nearly 50 team members from Tampa to Naples met and rode as a team. Together the team raised about $125,000 for the society. Peggy is a full-time island resident and owner of Seahorse Cottages on Sanibel's East End. She is also a volunteer for FISH and serves as assistant secretary on their Board of Directors. Though the ride has passed you will continue to see her out riding on Sanibel. She plans on doing another Century Bike ride for the same cause next year.

Bank donates to CROW

CROW's Carol Rothman, Bank Manager Rob Lisenbee, and We Love Our Islands winner Velma Gavin

Congratulations to Velma Gavin, winner of the "We Love Our Islands" promotion sponsored by Bank Of The Islands. Velma was spotted with a "We Love Our Islands" decal on her vehicle. That won her the right to select which local non-profit cause would receive a charitable contribution of $400 from the Bank Of The Islands. With this contribution, $20,800 has been given to island non-profits through the Bank's We Love Our Islands program.

Velma chose CROW - the Clinic for the Rehabilitation of Wildlife - to receive the Bank's donation.

"It's so great that Velma chose to support CROW," said Bank Of The Islands Manager Rob Lisenbee. "Some people may not realize that CROW may be located on Sanibel, but they treat injured wildlife from all over Southwest Florida and need all the help they can get. We're happy to make this 'We Love Our Islands' gift to CROW. It's an important opportunity to show how much we appreciate being your island bank."

All islanders are invited to stop by the Bank at 1699 Periwinkle Way at the corner of Casa Ybel Road to get a free "We Love Our Islands" decal and details on how you and your favorite charity can become our next lucky winners.

Holistic Health Notebook:

Living in harmony with gut critters

We seldom think of bacterium as friendly but we should. We cannot live without them. The good kind, of course. Those critters lurking on spinach leaves do us no good at all. Stay away from them. And while you're at it, feed the friendly guys inside your guy well, because if they are healthy and hungry, they keep the unfriendly guys at bay for you.

But we're getting ahead of our story. I've been talking recently about two medical/nutrition conferences I attended, and am providing you with the short version of what I learned. According to Dr. Nigel Plummer, approximately 100,000 billion (yes, with a B) viable bacteria make their home in our guts. Think you're clean? Approximately 1,000 billion bacteria live on your skin. Two hundred species of bacteria live in your mouth, and up to 500 species reside in your gut. Makes you not want to kiss anyone, doesn't it?

As we age, however, the number of viable friendly bacteria diminishes, and the number of unculturable microflora raises to about 80%. In other words, about 80% of your friendly bacteria cannot reproduce.

Why is healthy bacteria so important? They are essential to the normal anatomical and physiological development of the intestinal mucus. They help facilitate cell development and turnover, and assist in the motility, secretions, and absorption of food in the small intestine. They are part of the body's immune system. They provide non-immunological protection against infection, and stimulate the maturation and balance of the immune system from birth and throughout life. They function as part of the body's metabolic detoxification pathways. This last function is getting more important every year, as according to the National Research Council, there are over 100,000 chemicals in use in our environment, and 1,000 new chemicals are introduced every year.

One of the most toxic elements in the environment is mercury. Methylmercury is particularly dangerous because it is rapidly and completely absorbed from the gut, has a long retention time in the body, and effectively penetrates the blood brain barrier where it targets and destroys neurological tissue.

The main route of excretion of mercury in man is via the colon. Here is really where the bacteria jump in and give us a hand. One of their main activities is binding heavy metals for enhanced excretion in the feces. However, antibiotic use leads to significant reduction in excretion of total mercury and lower amounts of mercury in the feces. The half-time elimination of mercury increases from a normal of ten days to over one hundred days after antibiotic treatment. Suppression of friendly bacteria by antibiotic use raised mercury concentration in all tissues, particularly in the brain.

Other enemies of friendly bacteria are chlorinated water, alcohol and sugar. Bad stuff. Kills them off.

What is good for the bacteria? A diet that is rich in many types of fiber, particularly vegetable fibers. Those fibers build a "nest" for the bacteria, and provides food for them.

Holistic Health

Carol Simontacchi

I always recommend using a blend of friendly bacteria, combined with FOS (fructooligosaccharides) that provides a good meal and helps them implant in the gut. Who should use friendly bacteria on a regular basis? Anyone who uses antibiotics, drinks chlorinated water, eats sugar, has had any type of gut issues like diarrhea, or regularly eats processed foods. In other words, just about all of us.

For more information, contact Carol at the Island Nutrition Center at 472-4499

it's winter in the midwest and northeast — but it's peak butterfly season on Sanibel.

Gayle Edwards, a master gardener instructor, will be the guest speaker. She is regarded as a top authority on the butterflies of Southwest Florida. She founded and supervises the butterfly garden at the University of Florida Extension in Fort Myers. Gayle has a fascinating and colorful presentation of the many vibrant local butterflies. Her presentations at regional conferences are always a favorite.

She will show you the host and nectar plants that will bring butterflies to your garden in less than a week. These plants are available at the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation Native Plant Nursery on Sanibel.

Handouts will be provided. The lecture is free and open to the public. Seating is limited. Thursday, Dec. 7, 10 a.m. at the Sanibel Public Library on Dunlop Road.

Beachview Men's Golf Association

Don Hummel, who has won a handful of club championships, breezed homw with the Beachview Men's Fall Classic championship. Hummel put together a pari of 74s in the rain-delayed event whichw ee good for net 63s and a 17-stroke victory.

The hottest competition came out of the Gold Flight which another frequent club champion, Jerry Kohmescher, won on the tournaments' final hole. Ralph barton went to the 12th tee — his last hole — with a two-shot lead. The tricky par 3, over water and heavily mounded, extracted a 7 from Barton and that allowed Kohmescher and his bogie 4 to win. Kohmescher scored a net 64-68-132. Bill Blankenship took third with a 139.

Tony Baldino was runnerup in the A flight to Hummel with a net 143, one shot better than Marty Gallagher's 144. Robb Cutler caught fire in the second half of the two-day classic and broke out of a lethargic pack with a net 63 to capture the B flight prize. Cutler trailed badly after a first round net 78 but finished with a 141 total. Dan Valentine with 74-70 and Tom Bolon with a 73-71 shared second after 144, three behind Cutler.

With the first "major" of the season out of the way, the nov. 18 event was a foursome two-ball... choosing the best two balls on each hole. Barry Humphries captained the winning team linking up with Jack Tukey, Dave Bugby and Bud Ristow for a 144 net. It took a scorecard playoff to nip Orlon Nunn, Stan Sheft, Richard Chocel and Karl Johns, who also fired 144. Third place (by just a single point) went to Rich Rompala, Tony Baldino, Don Rice and John Moores.

Beachview Men's Golf Association celebrated Stableford week around the Thanksgiving holiday and it was a fitting choice. The Saturday Modified Stableford was a point tournament with each member of a foursome winning points starting with one point for a net par and on up. This meant that the winning team of Mike MacKey, Jack Tukey, Dan Valentine and Duane Thurow — weith a total of 88 points — beat par by 17 strokes. The PGA Tour plays a similar point tournament, called the International, once a year.

David Wisely, Mark Ryan, Richard Chocel and Al Krause took second place with 82 points. Orion Nunn, Russ Bilgore, Rod Verblaaauw and Dan Keys missed second by a single point and spent the rest of the day wondering where they missed a vital putt. On Tuesday, amid chilly temperatures and nasty wind, only a few hardy players showed up for the Very Modified Stableford tournament. The points in this one started with a point for net bogie and so on. The rumor that points are awarded for finding the course, not falling out of the cart and locating a new or old bridge on Sanibel is simply not true. Anyway, Mark Ryan, Bob Ritchlin and Rich Rompala combined for 68 points and the prize.

Capt Dick's Recipes:

Pan fried grouper with almonds

Ingredients:

3 lbs. boneless, skinless grouper fillets
(or snapper or orange roughy)
1/2 c. unpeeled slivered almonds
1/2 tsp. allspice
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. black pepper
1/2 tsp. cayenne pepper
2 tsp. ground cumin
1-1/2 tsp. paprika
1/4 c. olive oil
1/2 small bunch parsley, coarse stems removed Lemon wedges for garnish

How to:

Rinse the fillets and pat them dry with paper towels. Check the fish for bones and remove with tweezers, if necessary.

In a food processor, combine the almonds, allspice, salt, pepper, cayenne, cumin and paprika. Pulse until finely ground, but do not over process or the nuts can become oily.

In a shallow baking dish, spread out the nut/spice mix. Dredge the fillets in the mixture, one at a time, shaking off the excess.

In a large heavy skillet, heat the olive oil over medium-high heat. Fry the fillets for about three minutes on each side, until light brown. With a slotted spatula, remove the fish to a warm platter or individual serving plates and scatter with parsley sprigs. serve with wedges of lemon.

Color is the theme of the art display which will be hanging in the Sanibel Library until Dec. 4.

From the intense richness of color in individual flowers, to the soft luminous colors of Florida landscapes with sunlight and dappled shadows, local artists Eleanor Harries and Betty Weise have created a most interesting exhibit.

Plein air painting is a special favorite of Weise, who works in watercolors, creating interpretations of what she sees, whether it is the play of light and shadow, or the pattern of a sunset through the trees.

Harries, working in oils and pastels, has been most recently focused on painting large single flowers. Some, the exquisite small flowers of native plants, are portrayed with the same grandeur as the popular hibiscus.

Both artists hope that the viewer will better appreciate our island and region, perhaps seeing with enhanced vision.

The Sanibel Library is on Dunlop Road, 472-2483.

Brodersen receives Award of Excellence in Digital Art

By LAURA BLASKOWITZ
lblaskowitz@breezenewspapers.com

Local artist Pam Brodersen recently was honored with the Naples Art Association Award of Excellence in Digital Art at the 45th Founders Exhibition. Held at the von Liebig Art Center in Naples on Nov. 17, the event was one of the largest in the Art Center's history.

Brodersen described the award as an affirmation. She explained, "There's a very big stigma about digital art. By winning the award, that verifies the fact that people are accepting digital art as a fine art."

In the post modern world the question of what constitutes fine art is often clouded by technological advancements. "Part of the problem is they advertise point and shoot cameras--no brainer stuff. Then you put it in a computer program and make it a painting. You can do that, but that's not the kind of work I do. I think there are a lot of people who feel that that is what computer art is," Brodersen said.

Working with the computer fuels her creative energy so much so that she keeps an alarm clock in her studio that will notify her when it is time to eat. "The hours just fly by," she explained. "Often there's as much time spent in digital art as there is in other art because there are so many possibilities. Everything is the same in digital art. You're still working with color. You're still working with values. You're working with composition. You're working with emotions."

While the tools Brodersen uses to create her work make traditionalists uneasy, the skill she employs to construct her pieces is unquestionable. A professional photographer in Chicago, Ill. for 25 years, Brodersen's work stands out for her sensitive handling of light, color and movement.

She said, "As an artist, I'm totally involved in everything I do on the computer. Sure I use a computer because that is my media. The computer is a tool for the artist as a hammer and chisel are for a sculptor."

Curator for the von Liebig Art Center Jack O'Brien said, "She is at the forefront of photography. She started in traditional photography and moved completely into digital which is where everyone will end up, I predict. She has a tremendous use of colors."

Starting in photography for advertising, Brodersen worked with a large format 8 by 10 camera. "I did what's called tabletop still-life. I worked for Kellogg and McDonalds and Sara Lee. I'm used to manipulating things around in front of the camera," she explained.

From her work in traditional photography, grew her appreciation for digital. She said, "If you were going to do a bowl of cereal and you wanted flakes flying in the air, we would have to rig them with little wires and monofilament lines. Nowadays, you can shoot the bowl and get each one of the flakes and do it in the computer. It's just taking what we used to do manually one step further."

At the Naples event, Brodersen's work "Evening Light" was one of over 500 entries. Only 179 were chosen for the exhibit, and out of that, only 23 won awards.

She explained, "That's been a piece that I've liked a lot. It's based on a photograph and then I went in and added and deleted. I reworked the colors."

Inspired by natural imagery, "Evening Light" is indicative of Brodersen's style. "I use strong colors. It varies depending on mood or subject. The subject dictates the style," Brodersen said.

As for showing in Naples, Brodersen said, "It's a little outside of my community. It's a bigger venue. I admire the people who run it and the artists that jury the show."

While "Evening Light" will be on display at the Founders Exhibition through Jan. 7, Brodersen will be showing with internationally renowned sculptor Jud Nelson at BIG ARTS in the Founders Gallery from Jan. 6 through Jan. 31.

Spirit of the Season at Broadway Palm

Broadway Palm Dinner Theatre's Holiday offering is a spirit-filled, spirited cornucopia of caroling, dancing and festivities celebrating this most wonderful time of the year. This annual extravaganza proved once again to be a good old-fashioned evening of fun and seasonal delights for the entire family. The lobby and the entire theater is beautifully decked out in all sorts of holiday finery — from hundreds of twinkle lights outside to the dozen-or-so Christmas trees dressed in rainbows of colored baubles and toys along with giant gingerbread houses and floral bouquets inside — filling our wondering eyes with holiday splendor. Marie Jagger-Taylor, a very creative, talented young woman has choreographed and directed this charming, old-fashioned, mini-spectacular.

The show opened quite simply with a processional fanfare played by several members of the chorus playing handbells and the full orchestra under the direction of Loren Strickland. This turned out to be a perfect introduction, a nice old-fashioned traditional accompaniment for ringing in the delightful "Impressions on a French Carol,"

"O Holy Night," "Carol of the Bells" and "Ring the Bells at Christmas." What a blessed relief from the usual blaring, frenzied commercialization of these lovely songs. The Holiday Handbells was a simple, elegant treat for eyes and ears.

Following this peaceful prologue we found ourselves at the North Pole for a hilarious visit to Santa's Workshop — bound to be a favorite for all the young at heart. Here we met not only the Big Guy in the red suit, but also three appealing youngsters, Olivia Miller, Samantha Prabakaran, Chad Williamson, and a whole mess of mischievous, cool elves in shades singing a job description of what it means to be a Santa elf and what happens to all the letters written to Santa. One of the youngsters, Chad, was on a mission — he needed to change his original request letter to Santa. His latest demand had me in stitches, when it turned out to be a serious dead-pan delivery of "All I Want for Christmas is My Two Front Teeth."

The joyful noise that followed and closed the first half of the program was the entire company pouring out rousing Gospel versions of "Go Tell It On the Mountain," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," plus a full-voiced and thrilling rendition of "Beatitudes" by Shelese Franklin and Robert Harris and an equally invigorated interpretation of "Some Children See Him," belted to the rafters by Michael Quinchett. The segment ended with the three youngsters — Olivia, Samantha and Chad — enacting their version of the nativity scene as the chorus chanted "Away In the Manger."

The second half of the program kicked off with 12 good sports — members of the audience — who not only got into comic headgear but right into the comic madness of physically acting out the "Twelve Days of Christmas." These folks deserve not only an A for effort, but also a bottle of Aleve for all the muscle pains they may be enduring after those full-out bodily labors. Three French Hens turned out to be a madcap male audience member as a cancan dancer, while the winning Nine Ladies Dancing chap shook a mean maraca while doing the Samba. You had to see it to believe it is all I can say.

"Winter Wonderland" turned the Broadway Palm Dinner Theatre into a Victorian greeting card come to life, creating exactly the right winter wonderland setting for the holiday songs and dances in this pretty section, where snowflakes fell and Frosty the Snowman magically came to life. The silver and white scenery by Kristian Perry shaped the Palm's stage into a magical ballroom ideal for the lilting choreography of "The Christmas Waltz." Glamour and glitz

Marty Grosz Quartet recalls Fats, Louis and pals

It will be a grand time at BIG ARTS when Marty Grosz takes the stage Saturday, December 9, at 8 p.m. According to the critics, Marty Grosz is today's foremost jazz rhythm guitarist and chord soloist. He is virtually the only major jazz guitarist who doesn't use an amplifier. This makes him either the last remaining proponent of the acoustic guitar tradition in jazz or the lone harbinger of a new non-electric movement.

One of jazz music's great comedians (his spontaneous monologs are often hilarious), Grosz is a brilliant acoustic guitarist whose chordal solos bring back the sound of Carl Kress and Dick McDonough of the 1930s, while his vocals are very much in the Fats Waller tradition.

Since 1950, Grosz has been recording and touring with such groups as Dick Wellstood's Friends of Fats, Yank Lawson and Bob Haggart, Charlie Byrd, and the New York Jazz Repertory Orchestra directed by Dick Hyman (with whom he appeared at the White House.) In 1986 Grosz became a charter member of The Classic Jazz Quartet, for whom Grosz wrote most of its arrangements.

As a featured single Grosz has made guest appearances on Public Radio's A Prairie Home Companion and Fresh Air with Terry Gross, and on NBC's Today

Marty Grosz

Show. He was spotlighted at Carnegie Hall during the Cool Jazz Festivals and, more recently, at New York City's prestigious 92nd St. Y concerts and at the Vineyard Theater in Manhattan.

Jazz Foundation fundraiser at Ellington's

It's that time of year again! Ellington's is hosting another Jazz Foundation of America fundraiser. December 9 and 10 from 7 - 11 p.m. For those of you who may not be familiar with this wonderful organization, please take the time to check on-line, particularly in the Emergency Musician Rescue arena, which has been overwhelmed with calls for help from musicians all along the gulf coast, post-Katrina. They are truly dedicated angels in the lives of people who need it the most. www.jazzfoundation.org

Here's the line-up: Johnnie Mae Dunson (she wrote thousands of lyrics for Elvis, Muddy Waters and more!) will perform along with vocalist Jimmy Norman (30 years as the lead singer of the Coasters!), Davell Crawford (phenomenal piano and vocals straight from New Orleans!) and other surprise performers. Our own Danny Sinoff Quartet, featuring Dan Miller on trumpet will also perform!

It's going to be two memorable nights of unforgettable music from the Jazz and R&B legends who created it! Let's all pull together to make this the most successful fundraiser ever!

Violinist Ayano Ninomiya at BIG ARTS

On Thursday, December 7, at 8 p.m., BIG ARTS will present violinist Ayano Ninomiya with pianist Timothy Lovelace. Ayano Ninomiya is the recipient of many awards, including second prize at the Walter W. Naumburg International Violin Competition, winner of the Astral Artistic Services' National Auditions, and the Lili Boulanger Memorial Award. An active solo recitalist, Ninomiya recently gave her highly acclaimed New York recital debut at Carnegie Hall's Weill Recital Hall under the auspices of the Naumburg Foundation.

Ninomiya received high praise for her debut recording, The Book of Moonlight, which features the complete works for violin by composer Larry Bell. The recording was chosen as one of the Top 10 Classical CDs released in 2003 by Philadelphia's City Paper. Ninomiya was born in Takamatsu, Japan, but has lived in the United States since the age of one. She graduated magna cum laude from Harvard College in 2001 and received her Master's degree from the Juilliard School.

Timothy Lovelace, the assistant professor of collaborative piano and coaching at the University of Minnesota, is an active ensemble pianist, soloist, conductor and continuo player, most often performing as a collaborative pianist.

Thanks from Sanibel on Parade producers

Bravo! Bravo! For the cast and crew of the recent Sanibel Community Association's Dinner Mystery Theatre production of Sanibel on Parade.

It was a grand full evening of fun and frivolity and playwrights Shirley Jewell and Gloria Baker want to thank our amazing cast: Sarah Ashton (Novella), Randy Boone (Ricky), Jo Anna Bowers (Honey), Linda Gornick (Heather), Kelly Greten (Meshell), Norma Hagan (Fern), Dave Yudowitz (Caspean), and John Carney (Detective Leopold Columbo) for bringing our somewhat strange characters to life.

Quoting one of the many notes received after this production, "Congratulations on Sanibel on Parade. It was a great evening. A well-written and well-acted show. What was so great - It recaptured the old Sanibel spirit - a true Island evening - the thing we don't want to lose! - I loved it!"

We would, also, like to give special thanks to our very talented supporting players: Jack Luizer (Crowd Control Officer), Karen Nelson (Reporter), John Schuetz and Tanner Horsely (our very handsome Chippendales) and many, many thanks to Nanette Marchiano, our script supervisor. Thanks too, to Billy Kirkland of Billy's Segways (for providing the Segways) and Ken Frey of Sellstate Realty (for providing the golf cart).

This community production was a fun way of bringing back some of that old Sanibel fun! Laughter and applause rang out all evening and we thank everyone for making this sold-out event such a great success. Get your tickets early next year.

SERVICE CLUBS

Rotary: This week

Submitted by Shirley Jewell

Rotarians must have known they would be missing the daily deluge of phone calls and the large volume of mail they were receiving during the recent mid-term political campaign and election, so they most wisely invited Lee County Supervisor of Elections, Sharon Harrington to come and give us an after-election fix for our political souls.

Sharon is a true professional in her field. She impressed us all with her confidence and dedication to making each and every vote counted truly representative of the votes cast.

Sharon said, "that the unsung heroes of any election is the poll workers" and poll workers are needed in 171 precincts in Lee County. The training of poll workers provides the backbone of good poll management and they are trained to prevent voter fraud and other infractions at our polling sites.

This year we also had a two-week period of early voting opportunities. Four sites in Lee County were available and 29,914 votes were cast during that two-week time frame. Lee Counties' cost for four early voting sites and staffing was $44,157. This early voting option, although costly, brought in a significant increase in the number of votes over previous years. The number of registered voters in Lee County is currently 326, 933. 48% of eligible voters went to the polls this mid-term election and 25,389 absentee votes were cast. Sharon also made note of the fact that many of our eligible voters do not vote in mid-term elections. Some Lee County voters may not be year-round residence and only want to vote in national election.

Electronic voting machines have caused concerns for voters and many have asked for some kind of receipt or a copy of their ballot. Sharon explained that, at the present time voting machines can't give voting receipts. There may be a possibility of receipts in the future. The reason we don't get copies of our ballot is because of the potential use in vote buying. Sharon indicated voters would never receive a full copy of their recorded ballot.

The #1 concern for the board of elections is voter fraud. In this year's election provisional ballots were used if there was any question regarding voter eligibility. There were 536 provisional ballots this year as compared with 35 in 2002. Provisional ballots are researched and crosschecked before any of these ballots are counted. Be assured if you are a registered voter and have voted only once in the election, your vote was counted.

When during any election cycle there are close election races, a paper trail is provided by the electronic voting machines. An examination of race under-votes (no votes) and over-votes (too many votes) for each candidate is reviewed. A determination is then made on the count and election results are given. As the Lee County Supervisor of

Sharon Harrington

Elections, Sharon could not stress enough how important it is for each and every voter to use the review page provided on your voting screen. If there is a flashing light, review carefully before pushing the button to cast your vote.

Rotary: Last week

Submitted by Shirley Jewell

Well, I don't know if you're a great college football fan, but I do know that most of the Sanibel-Captiva Rotary Club members are. So it came as a pleasant surprise that at this past week's meeting our official greeters Friday morning were none other than the dynamic duo of Woody Hayes and Brutus from Ohio State. They came to help us get all fired up for the then upcoming big game between Ohio State and Michigan over the weekend. Don Russell, club sergeant-at-arms and crazed Ohio State Fan led the shenanigans. Rotary members seized the moment to have a little fun and cheer or jeer for Don's alma mater. In case you missed the game, Ohio State won.

Would you believe, our guest speaker then had to follow all this frivolity and bring us back to reality of "The Dangers of Phosphate Mines in the Area?" Bill Byle came down from Charlotte County to highlight the risks of phosphate strip mining to our area. Phosphate strip mining is a risk to our environment, economic vitality, and quality of life. Quoting one of the many handouts Bill brought with him, "Phosphate strip mining threatens water resources. This, in turn, threatens drinking water supplies, fish, wildlife, and Charlotte Harbor. For Charlotte County, the risk is substantial, but did you know that 64% of Charlotte Harbor is in Lee County? The economic consequences to our area are potentially devastating."

"Strip mining influences the water quality and habitat of Charlotte Harbor estuarine system and impacts the larger watershed area. Charlotte Harbor stretches from the headwater of the Peace River southward to Estero Bay. The watershed of Charlotte Harbor covers 4,360 square miles." Bill said, "An ideal environment for a productive estuary system and healthy habitat for marine life is a [properly balanced] saline condition. Phosphate mining has caused the interruption of freshwater flow to the upper Peace River [by] stripping the land of its minerals, soil, and sand [leaving] pits of hard tar-like soil. This non-porous condition inhibits rainwater's flow: [the] flow of freshwater is one-third less than its historic levels. At the same time [that] diminished flows of freshwater have been reaching the Harbor via the Peace River, the lower portion of the Harbor has been deluged with excess levels of freshwater from the Caloosahatchee River. The natural ebb and flow of the bay waters into the river waters (saline) created the conditions that allow the emergence of breeding grounds for our aquatic life. We no longer have those natural conditions."

Phosphate mining, although not alone in its negative affect on our waters, is a large contributor to our current water quality problems. To quote another of Bill's handouts, "When mining changes the land, it changes water flow. It's the plants, animals and people downstream who live with the consequences." Check out the web-site www.thephosphaterisk.com for more information on this topic.

The Sanibel-Captiva Rotary Club meets every Friday at 7 a.m. at the Beachview Restaurant, Par View Drive on Sanibel.

Kiwanis: What island kids should know

Submitted by Bob Wimbush

How many times have you wished, "Why can't my kid learn everything he ever needed to know to live on Sanibel all in one place?" Fortunately, it's possible, in the "Sanibel Skills: What Every Island Kid Should Know" program at the Sanibel Sea School.

An informal poll of real life experiences indicated most Kiwanians would have become even better men today had they learned these skills from the Sanibel Skills curriculum: much earlier.

1. How to open a coconut — "Dammit, Irv, I got the rum in, now how do I get it out?"
2. Knots — "Anybody got a knife?"
3. How to pole a boat — "I'm from Sanibel, I know how to pole a boat. Any manatees/drawbridges/pine trees/ multiple use or bike paths or Segways involved? I'll poll 'em. Just tell me who you want to win."
4. Cast net skills — "Snook eat greenbacks, and so do we."
5. Canoes and kayaks — "Oops!"
6. How to recover a swamped canoe — "That's a $300 cell phone."
7. How to dock a boat — "Not to worry... You do have insurance, don't you?"

Sanibel Sea School's goal is to promote marine conservation through education through a series of day camps for kids and through field trips for adults. Given the cut-backs in public education, Sea School is also a great place to send — oops, great advantage to offer — your over-active grand children where they will actually learn something. Or, leave the little darlings by the pool with the maid and take yourself out. Both relieve stress.

Most Sea School activities are hands on and involved with some of the school's ongoing research, so don't look for a lot of crafts projects coming home. The Sea School does real-world work, not make-work. According to Sanibel Sea School Owner, Bruce Neill, kids who invest sweat equity also "develop appreciation and a sense of importance for both science and the particular projects." He tells of one ADHD student's total immersion in a project for sampling, calculating the occurrence of a particular shell along a mile of gulf. He worked non-stop for hours trying to design meaningful sampling techniques. Other projects include Red Tide sampling, sea bird observations, fish population studies, distribution of shells and other "death assemblages," and of course, mangrove research.

Although a 501(c)3, The Sanibel Sea School is profit driven. Call 472-8585 to inquire about Kid, Teen, and Adult programs and tuitions. Or ask Bruce to come speak to your group. Get him started on mangrove habitat or biogeochemical cycling systems.

Kevin Lewis of SWFAS at Zonta

Submitted by Ruth Woodham

Kevin Lewis, chief executive officer of Southwest Florida Addiction Services (SWFAS), was the speaker at Zonta's recent breakfast meeting. Lewis has 22 years of service with SWFAS and has been the CEO since 1993. In this position, he is responsible for directing the entire scope of treatment services for the oldest and largest not-for-profit substance abuse treatment program in Southwest Florida. The center serves Lee, Collier, Charlotte, Glades, and Hendry counties.

Lewis told the group that alcohol remains the primary substance for abuse and impacts one in five Americans. Alcoholism is a disease that affects all parts of society. Seventy-three percent of the overall substance abuse population is male and twenty-seven percent is female. He noted that patients have gotten younger in the years that he has been involved. The focus for treatment has also undergone change. What used to be seen as an acute problem is now seen as a chronic disease that requires a strong community support system with advocacy as a vital part. For the past two years, SWFAS has been exploring innovative new approaches to treatment as part of a prestigious grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.

Southwest Florida is the lowest-funded region in the state for substance-abuse services for adults. At the same time, the at-risk population in our region has nearly tripled in the past 20 years. SWFAS' Detox program is operating with one bed for every 32,000 adults at risk, while there is one jail bed for every 250 adults. This represents a tremendous deficit, resulting in numerous negative consequences, including up to 30 adults being held monthly in the Lee County jail, inappropriate admissions to mental health centers, and local emergency rooms being over-burdened.

Currently SWFAS is conducting a campaign to raise $8 million for a new detoxification center. Lewis presented a video, created pro bono by Chaos Productions, which

'Four Eyes' at The Alliance for the Arts

Landscapes, architecture, people, and places. Emotions, memories, drama, and impressions. Picture perfect moments captured with the click of a button to be remembered forever. Sorting through the snap shots, some stand out — each zooming in on the subject and speaking volumes about the experience. Those are the ones chosen for framing and personal scrapbooks. The Alliance for the Arts puts on display the artistic photo albums of four talented Lee County photographers, and views the world through their eyes. "Four Eyes" opens at the Alliance for the Arts on Friday December 1, 2006 from 5 to 7 PM.

In this exhibit, every picture is 16 by 20 inches, including the frames. The uniform appearance draws the focus to the subject of each photo, and each photographer has a different subject matter in mind. James Fleming says he prefers to photograph places that show ways that Floridian newcomers reinvent themselves. He hand-colors photographs presenting Ft. Myers in hyper-real saturated "technicolor". Charlie McCullough looks at photography as a way to share his special memories with his audience. He captures the moment in a way that lets the viewer relate. His imagery focuses on life on Sanibel Island, Florida, where McCullough still lives. Bruce Gora's black and white images come from all over the world. Describing his work as "architectural abstraction," Gora distills the shadows, light, details and textures of buildings to bring out the majesty, life, and a new appreciation of his subjects. Jeff Mudgett's international subjects are captured in vibrant color. As an architect, he's interested in the history and splendor of structures; as an artist, he strives to capture the emotion and awe such places inspire.

The Alliance also welcomes special guests from the Gulfcoast Symphony, who will play during the opening. Peggy Starks will display her photo art as the featured artist in our member gallery.

The Alliance for the Arts proudly supports the artists and arts organizations in our area as the state designated Local Arts Agency for Lee County. The Alliance for the Arts galleries are open from 9 to 5 Monday through Friday and from 10 to 3 on Saturdays, located at 10091 McGregor Boulevard just south of Colonial Boulevard. Visit www.artinlee.org for more details of all the excitement our community has to offer.

Jazz pianist Jon Weber at the Schoolhouse

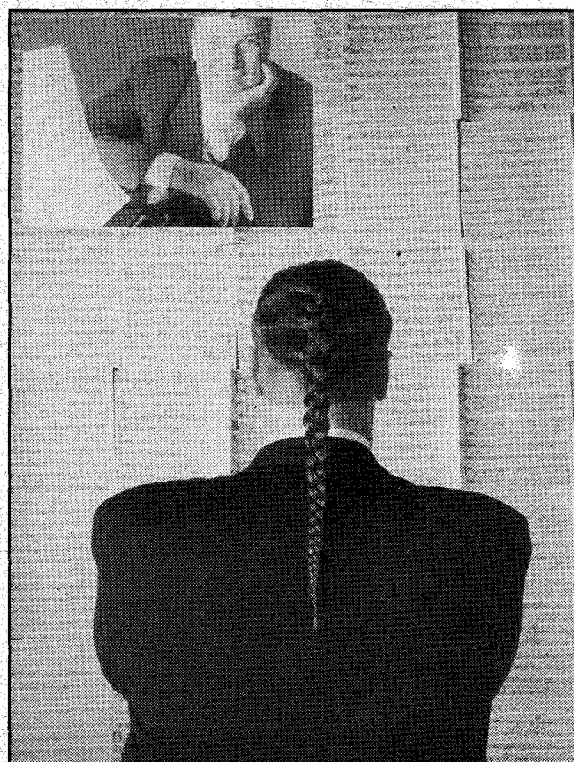

A special performance Dec. 8 and 9

The Schoolhouse Theater will feature one of the most gifted and entertaining pianists of our time, Jon Weber, for a two-night engagement on December 8 and 9. Weber is not only an extraordinary jazz pianist who has recently performed at Carnegie Hall in New York, but also a virtual human encyclopedia of modern music. Audiences around the world have delighted in asking Jon if he knows a particular song — only to have him expound upon the writer/composer of the music, when the music was written and published, and other details that make Weber's knowledge, in addition to his musical ability, remarkable.

"Jon Weber is perhaps the most entertaining musician I have ever enjoyed," commented Art Cassell, president of The Schoolhouse Theater Board of Directors. "Whether Jon is playing the piano or fascinating the audience with his incredible knowledge of the writers, composers, and performers of the time, the entire show is something everyone will enjoy."

Weber began playing piano at age three on a toy organ. By six he internalized 2000 standards from his Grandma's piano rolls, reharmonizing, improvising, and constantly shuffling the deck rhythmically and harmonically. Jazz insiders from all over the world have discovered this intelligent, young talent. The Chicago Tribune says about Weber's album, Simple Complex, "...Even Weber's most ardent fans could not have guessed that the man can write and arrange at such an exalted level."

"This is not a piano recital, it is entertainment," quipped John Schubert, The Schoolhouse Theater board member and Weber fan. "To experience this talent at these prices is a real value and treat for island residents and visitors; we should all thank John and Mary Jo Boler for sponsoring this performance." Another big thanks extended to Steinway Piano Gallery of Bonita Springs for providing the piano he'll use for his performances.

Seats are limited and going fast, so be sure to get yours today! Tickets for Weber's performances are $35 and can be reserved by calling the Box Office at 472-6862.

Until I learned to call the trees by name--
Friends and neighbors well remembered
Far-flung acquaintances nodded to--
The world was only green

Now, bug-loud nights have opened wider
As careful ear discerns the varied calls
Of crickets, katydids

What more complexity
Has passed me by

Tanya Hochschild lives on Sanibel Island. She is a member of Writer's group 3. "Evalina's Room" is from a memoir about growing up in Apartheid South Africa. Evelina Mxanti (Evie) was her nanny.

Evalina's Room

By Tanya Hochschild

Evie's bed takes up three-quarters of her room. Its four legs are on bricks so the tokoloshe can't jump on her when she's sleeping and slit her throat. We believe in the tokoloshe, a hairy dwarf-like creature, sent by malevolent spirits, usually at night, to cause illness, injury and even death. Evie has told me he only spooks black people. Why? I ask. Because she says, white people don't believe in him, so he's got no power over them.

She lifts me onto her bed, because I too can't climb onto it. I lie on her embroidered cover and watch her rubbing cream into her face.

"Why do you do that?"

"Because it makes my skin lighter," she answers.

I tell her, I lie by the pool to get darker, and she laughs. We sing the chorus of the popular Jeremy Taylor song, "Tell me, tell me why, I want to know the facts, why all the black people want to go white and the white people want to go black." Evie is my second mother, my third parent.

On her wall she has a picture of Sir Seretse Khama, the black King of Bechuanaland, and his white, English wife Ruth. She loves the picture, tells me Bechuanaland is on our northern border, how Sir Seretse is so clever he went to England to attend Oxford University, then he met Ruth Williams, a clerk, and married her. When I ask her if there are any mixed marriages in South Africa, she says one word in three words, A part heid, that mean two words apart hate. She explains further, "Immortality Act" — it's illegal." I nod, as if I understand.

We are in her room one day when the radio beeps three times and then ends with one long beep. It's the One O'clock News. The stern voice of the announcer reports that a notorious black gang, the Msomi Gang, is terrorizing the township. I know Evelina's last name is Msomi. I tell her I can keep a secret and ask her if she's related to the Msomi Gang. Tears of laughter fill her eyes, she slaps her black knees. I notice her legs are brown, but her knees are black and she takes me and rocks me backwards and forwards repeating, "No! No!"

Evie's favorite song is The Tennessee Waltz. She sings it to me all the time, very soft and very slow.

"I was dancin, with my darlin' to the Tennessee Waltz."

Evie's sweetheart is Roderick, a driver for a company in Johannesburg. I always hope the police won't raid whenever Roderick sleeps over. Evie's little room became very crowded when Eric, named after my elder brother, is born. Evie carries him, wrapped in a blanket on her back as she works in our house. He sleeps with his head against her back. We love him.

One morning Esther comes to my mother, they talk quietly and my mother follows her to the servants, yard, telling us not to come. Eric had died during the night.

Later I knock on Evie's door but there is no answer. It is only a few weeks later Roderick is killed in a car crash.

My mother phones a black taxi company, who drives Evie to Park Station, where she takes a train to a town near her kraal.

"We have given her leave and she will come back when she feels better," my mother explains to us.

"But she didn't say goodbye," I cry.

"Because it's not goodbye," Mom answers.

"I want to write to her," I insist.

"That's very nice, but I do not have an address."

I sit with Spotty in the garden. Evie knows everything about me, the way I eat my soft-boiled egg, then turn the empty egg over so the unbroken shell is on the top and pretend I haven't touched it, how I say the multiplication tables, my favorite shirt. I don't even know where she lives. Softly I begin to hum, "I was dancin, with my darlin'"

Icarophobia

Am I afraid of flying or falling?

The sight of the plane stuffs Adam's apple deep down my throat, heart plunges into belly. Forehead sweats ice.

Photo ID and shoes removal offer nervous respite and comic relief like humor at a wake.

Boarding's announced, I ask for a second vodka. Front window seat delays my boarding till the very end.

Am I afraid of flying or falling?

Clumsy taxiing, ominous minutes on runway, menacing roar, ungainly heavier-than-air lift and climb.

Cruising at height that could piss off Apollo, seat belt lights turned off, what about hubris? Third vodka relief due within minutes.

After each air bump I wonder how we stay up without propellers, trapped hot air or flapping wings.

Am I afraid of flying or falling?

The third vodka has worked its magic: Adam's apple and heart pop back in place, brain buzzes and soars with bravado.

I am not afraid of flying or falling!

In the pocket of toilet I calculate: my urine skims over Earth at 722 feet per second, plus or minus relativity.

I toy with possible headline: Condemned passenger ate hearty snack of salted peanuts.

Turbulence tumbles my euphoria down into panic, my wife squeezes my hand in reassurance, seat belt light chimes on.

I am afraid again of flying and falling

"Journey's end lies round the bend." Apollo's chariot shaky as we descend through dark towers of cumulo-nimbi,

Zeus flashing in the distance. I close my eyes, landing gear thumps into place, an eternity passes until tires screech on runway and engines roar in reversal, then graceful and grateful taxiing toward terminal. Relief and hangover allow me to wonder:

Why am I afraid of flying or falling?

would be the words best used to describe the guys in white ties and tails joined by the eye-catching dancing ladies in costumes by Mary Atkinson. Naughty-but-nice best describes Cheryl Hoffmann's performance of "Santa Baby" while five dancing high steppers made like Radio City Music Hall's Rockettes (Broadway Palm's very own Palmettes, perhaps?).

"Home for the Holidays," which closed this year's Christmas celebration, was a mixed bag of goodies from the comical enactment of "Twas the Night Before Christmas" to Nathan Albert's touching interpretation of "Old Fashioned Christmas" and the entire company's rendition of Irving Berlin's timeless classic "White Christmas." The finale, "We Wish

You a Merry Christmas" sent the audience off into the night joyfully satisfied and chock full of holiday cheer.

This year's Spirit of the Season is a lovely reminder of what this season is truly all about — the spirit and in some small way the spiritual portion of the season, with less emphasis on the spending of the season. Spirit of the Season manages to express all the joys and celebrations in a touching, musical offering sure to put you in a holiday mood. This is bound to be, as it is every year; one of Broadway Palm's most popular presentations, so tickets will sell out fast since the show has a limited engagement — a Dec. 25th closing. Best phone 278-4422 pronto for your festive fix and, when you call, be sure and tell 'em Marsha sent you.

Sanibel Fly Fishers meet Dec. 7

Norm Zeigler with a snook

Sanibel Fly Fishers Vice President Bill Higgins will give a slide show and presentation about fly fishing opportunities around Sanibel at the club's monthly meeting 7 p.m. Thursday, December 7 at the Sanibel Captiva Community Bank on Library Way.

The Sanibel Fly Fishers club is a member of the International Federation of Fly Fishers, seeking to promote fly fishing, conservation and education. The club is for anglers of all skill levels, from beginner to expert. For more information call Norm Zeigler 395-9442, Glenn Pittard 481-7362 or Bill Higgins 542-3451. The club meets the first Thursday of every month from November through May. Meetings are open to anyone who would like to attend.

The fish houses of Pine Island Sound

The Sanibel Captiva Conservation Foundation is offering the last historic Fish House boat trip of the year on Monday, December 5 from noon until 4 p.m. The trip departs from McCarthy's Marina on Captiva and cruises by "Ding" Darling's Fish House on the way to Barnacle Phil's on North Captiva. After a stop for lunch the boat heads east to the fish houses of Captiva Rocks.

These structures sheltered commercial fishermen in the early 20th century. Pine Island Sound and the surrounding waters have been known as a rich fishery resource for hundreds of years. Learn about the salt fish industry and how refrigeration revolutionized fish processing.

Research conducted by SCCF, will be highlighted on the way to a special little island called Demere Key. Utilized by the Calusas for ceremonies, Demere has had many uses through the ages.

The price for the cruise is $45, not including lunch. For reservations and information call 472-2329. The Conservation Foundation's Education Director, Kristie Anders, leads this cruise. Reservations should be made no later than 10 a.m. on Monday, December 5, the day of the cruise.

Unique Holiday Boutique

Saturday, December 2, is the day of the "Unique Holiday Boutique" being held at Sanibel Congregational Church, 2050 Periwinkle Way, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The "Unique Boutique" features local artists and donated goods including fine art, crafts, jewelry, pottery, baskets and books. Holiday poinsettias and Christmas cactus will also be available. There will be a silent auction.

The Unique Holiday Boutique is sponsored by the Sanibel Congregational Women in Mission (SCWIM) and all proceeds will support area missions helping children, women and families. For more information call the church office, 472-0497.

Donald Wiles James, Jr.

Donald James, Jr., a resident of Sanibel, died Nov. 10, 2006 in Tampa, from complications following surgery. Born November 16, 1930 in Nyack, N.Y. to Donald Wiles James and Katherine Adelia Woodward he was raised in Port Washington, N.Y.

James received a BA in Economics from Haverford College in 1952 then served in the Army Security Agency as a Chinese language translator in Okinawa and Taiwan during the Korean War. He received an MBA in International Business from Columbia University where he was a Bronfman Fellow and a Harriman Scholar. At Columbia, he co-founded the first U.S. branch of AIESEC, an international exchange program for business students that recently celebrated its 50th anniversary.

In 1958, James began work at Pan-American Life Insurance Company and remained part of the insurance business until his retirement. In 1962, he moved to West Hartford, Conn. to work with the Life Insurance Marketing & Research Association where he was senior vice president. In 1982, he formed D.W. James Associates, Inc. a consulting firm specializing in compensation and planning for the life insurance industry.

James was an avid genealogist and co-authored several articles identifying the origins of the James family of Newport, R.I. He was a life member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society and the Newport Historical Society. He was also a enthusiastic tennis and bridge player and had belonged to the Hartford Tennis Club, where he founded a USTA New England sectional tournament honoring the late Walter Rapp, and joined the Dunes Tennis Club when he came to Sanibel. He had achieved Top Ten ranking in Men's singles in the New England region for his age group before suffering a stroke in 1998. He was a member of the Bridge Club at MacGregor Point and was working toward his Life Masters.

He discovered Sanibel in 1981 and each year spent more time here until he became a full-time resident in 1997. He had served as a director of the Shell Harbor Home Owner's Association, and remained active in the Sanibel-Captiva Rotary Club.

James is survived by his wife of 47 years, Nancy Burke Teass James, of Sanibel; his son and daughter-in-law Stuart Woodward James and Karen Simroth James of Afton, Va.; his daughter and son-in-law, Payton Leigh James-Amberg and Sean Michael Amberg of Corvallis, Ore.; and his sister and her partner, Ann Woodward James and Mari Margaret McLean, of Pataskala, Ohio. His dearly loved grandchildren, Katherine Anne James, James Christensen Amberg and Maren Elizabeth Amberg, will all miss their "Fopper."

A memorial will be held at Oakland Cemetery in Sag Harbor, N.Y. at the convenience of his family. Memorial donations may be made to the New England Historic Genealogical Society in Boston, Mass., or the H. Lee Moffitt Cancer Center & Research Institute in Tampa.
