Understanding our health when body is hot and humid

Actually, while the header of this column may apply to the current weather here is Florida, I am not referring to the ambient temperature. I am talking about the inside of our bodies. Hopefully, if our thyroid glands are working properly, and we have a little functioning brown fat, our bodies are maintained at a warm 98.6 degrees. It is at this temperature that our enzymes are happiest, and we naturally feel more energy. Things work better when the enzymes are nice and warm. I have found that most people's body temperatures run cool, even in hot weather like this.

ting old...I used to be able to do this..."

But pain should not be a natural consequence of advancing age. We should proceed into old age with our bodies intact. Or relatively so.

I have often referred to the Alcat test that can pinpoint food or environmental triggers of inflammation, and consider it to be an invaluable tool in improving health. (Go to Alcat.com for more information) Some food allergy panels test for IgE or IgG reactivity. These tests can be very helpful, but many doctors now lean toward the Alcat test that measures white cell response to potential allergens. I like the 150 food panel and have personally found it to be incredibly useful in keeping me pain free. But you can test for molds and fungi, for medications, for food additives, and others, and the results can pinpoint just why you hurt when you can discover no other physiological triggers.

If you are interested in the Alcat panel, ask your doctor to recommend it. You may be surprised at the results.

But what happens when we have a hot spot? What happens on the inside of our bodies when we have an active inflammation? Well, things get really interesting because the body always tries to maintain homeostasis. When inflammation is raging, in either small defined areas or in body systems, the body has specific mechanisms to deal with it.

We often know when we are inflamed. Something hurts, like our knees, fingers or backs. We have trouble getting out of bed in the morning, or we have trouble bending over to tie our shoes. We think, "I'm get-

Keep pesky summer bugs at bay-- naturally

By JANE BRICKLEY

breezenewspapers.com

Summertime can be notorious for drawing swarms of irksome insects biting and stinging whoever wanders through their midst.

But if you're tired of spraying yourself down with sticky, stinky chemicals, there are some natural alternatives available on the island to replace those cough-inducing sprays.

Carol Simontacchi, the owner of Sanibel's Island Nutrition Center, says there is one natural option people can use to keep away bugs and treat their itchy bites.

The product Simontacchi recommends is called Buzz Away and she carries it in both spray and towelette form, the latter being good for application on small children.

According to Simontacchi, Buzz Away repels mosquitoes, gnats, ticks, blackflies and no-see-ums.

Buzz Away is a natural blend of citronella oil, eucalyptus, cedarwood, peppermint and lemongrass. "It really does work. It is very effective and you smell very herbal," Simontacchi added.

"Years ago, they used to say you should eat brewer's yeast or garlic-- but it doesn't work," Simontacchi noted in regards to natural methods for keeping away mosquitoes.

Simontacchi also recommends a homeopathic product called Apis Mellifica to treat bites. "It takes away the stinging, burning and itching immediately. It's also good for fire ant bites."

The Island Nutrition Center is located at 1633C Periwinkle Way and is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information about holistic products and natural alternatives, call Carol Simontacchi at 472-4499 or visit www.islandnutrition-center.com.

JANE BRICKLEY
Carol Simontacchi, the owner of Sanibel's Island Nutrition Center shows a natural mosquito repellent.

Ways to keep the bugs away

If you don't want to spend a lot of money on fancy techniques or stinky sprays, check out some of these anti-bug home remedies. Whether they're just old wives' tales or not, at least some of them are good for a laugh!

To keep them away:

■ Keep ants from crawling up a picnic table by standing each leg in a small pan of water.

■ Fly repellent for pets: two cups vinegar, one cup

Avon Skin So Soft, one cup water, one tablespoon Eucalyptus oil, one tablespoon citropella oil. Put in a spray bottle and spray dog's coat.

■ Prevent mosquitoes from breeding in rain barrels by applying 1 tablespoon of olive oil to the water's surface.

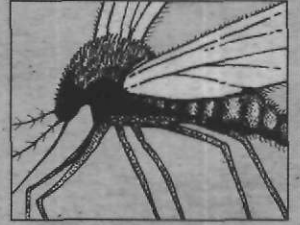

■ Try mixing a spray-solution of mint oil and rubbing alcohol and applying it before you go out.

■ Mosquitoes hate the scent of fabric softener sheets, so try tying one to your belt or beach bag for some added protection.

Native plants help draw butterflies to island homes

By ELLA NAYOR

enayor@breezeandisland.com

Gazing at butterflies flitting around your home can be an easy venture, provided you don't mind doing a bit of planting.

And with the help of the Sanibel-Captiva Conservation Foundation's Native Plant Nursery staff, you can be on your way to creating a butterfly habitat.

The islands actually draw a number of butterflies, including the Long Tailed Skipper, Ceraunus Blue and the state butterfly, the Zebra Longwing.

Aside from the aesthetic lure of butterflies, the often brightly-hued insects are also considered important as plant pollinators, and as food for other animals (birds, mammals, amphibians, spiders and other insects), according to butterflywebsite.com. There are about 120,000 species of butterflies in the world — 10,000 in North America, according to the website.

The winged insects are also considered sensitive to changes in the environment, and can act as a warning sensor about unhealthy changes.

To have these blue and golden colored butterflies fluttering around your garden or lanai, the appropriate host plants must be available, said SCCF Landscaping for Wildlife Educator, Dee Serage-Century.

And contrary to popular thought, it's not the flowers that butterflies eat from that bring the insects. Rather, it's the plants suitable for reproduction that are the lure.

"If you don't have the plants that they lay their eggs on, then you don't have the butterfly," Serage-Century said. "If you just plant ones to nectar on, you will only get the butterflies that are there."

So instead of planting flowers, Serage-Century says butterfly enthusiasts must concentrate on finding the right host plant that matches the butterfly desired at the home.

For instance, if you looking for Giant Swallowtails to take up residence at your home, wild lime is the plant of choice. It's the the unique chemistry of different plants that draws specific butterflies to roost and lay eggs, Serage-Century explained.

Other things to consider when creating a butterfly habitat is the seasons. Some butterflies — like the Giant Swallowtails — come around in the spring and fall while the Zebra Longwing makes its biggest showing during the summer.

Sanibel is actually home to some unusual butterfly varieties, such as the Eastern Pygmy or the smallest butterfly in the U.S., according to Serage-Century.

Learning the life stages of butterflies is also important in maintaining butterflies around the home. SCCF has its own butterfly house on its campus. The screened enclosure houses the Zebra Longwing and has its different growth phases, from egg to fuzzy caterpillar to pupae available for viewing. And just in case you were wondering how long it takes a butterfly to emerge from its silky cocoon — two weeks.

Since specific native plants are good for the area wildlife, Serage-Century encourages people to let the nursery staff help in creating a residential butterfly habitat. The nursery staff will help figure out a design that best suits the residence and needs of the butterflies hoping to be attracted.

Jenny Evans, who works in the nursery, said the agency will actually make a one-time housecall to assess the homeowner's habitat needs.

And here on the islands butterflies seem to have a steady following.

"We do get a quite a few people looking for butterflies," Evans added.

PHOTOS BY VANDY MAJOR
 The Zebra Longwing is the official Florida State Butterfly.

The Zebra chrysalis looks like a crumbled dried leaf. It is distinguished by tiny gold mirrors. In about 10 to 14 days the adult butterfly emerges.

SCCF Landscaping for Wildlife Educator, Dee Serage-Century, holds a pamphlet about butterflies, behind her is the butterfly at SCCF. All the literature, and plants, that people need to provide habitat for butterflies are available at the Native Plant Nursery.

The Zebra Longwing larva, as you will see them eating the leaves of the passion vine. In about two weeks the larva be ready to make a chrysalis.

ARTPOEMS at BIG ARTS

Artwork inspired by poems and poems inspired by artwork

BIG ARTS hosts "Art Poems" this summer, a touring exhibit of visual art inspired by poetry, at the Founders Gallery. The exhibit features the work of 12 poets and 12 visual artists who collaborated to create artwork inspired by a poem or a poem inspired by an artwork.

This transmedia collaboration has been on display around Lee County since mid-March - highlighting the interaction and marriage of the two media - art and poetry.

Artist Carol Rosenberg, who was inspired by poet Lorraine Vail to create You Bring Out the Poet in Me, said,

"By taking the time and skill to interpret the artwork the poet has shown precisely how a piece of art can be seen in a different context. This is the same thing that happens when a viewer goes to a museum or gallery. The viewer puts his own meaning into the artwork and it no longer becomes just the artist's story."

The visual impact of the artwork is enhanced with fresh images once the poem is read, drawing the viewer into the art to appreciate and discover unsuspected nuances and qualities.

The ARTPOEMS exhibit has traveled to other locations on Sanibel, including Tower Gallery, Hirdie Girdie Gallery and the Sanibel Public Library, as well as Ferrari Gallery in Cape Coral.

BIG ARTS Founders Gallery is open from Tuesday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. this summer. Art Poems exhibit will be displayed until Sept. 20.

For further information about ARTPOEMS at BIG ARTS, or to sign up for workshops, or to become a member, stop by BIG ARTS, 900 Dunlop Road Sanibel, call (239) 395-0900, e-mail info@BIGARTS.org, or log on to www.BIGARTS.org.

Load up with one-of-a-kind items at Noah's Ark

By JANE BRICKLEY

jbrickley@breezeenewspapers.com

Noah's Ark, the thrift store behind the almost 50-year-old St. Michael's and All Angels Episcopal church, will be holding a bag sale on Friday, Aug. 15. At the event, shoppers can fill up a bag with whatever they can fit for only $3.

According to Bettie Modys, the August chairperson for Noah's Ark, more than 100 eager deal-seekers regularly gather in St. Michael's parking lot on Tuesday and Friday mornings, waiting for the shop to open.

With everything but large home appliances in stock, Noah's Ark has a sizable selection of gently used clothing, Christmas items, dishware, furniture, bicycles, children's toys and accessories, light fixtures, televisions, small kitchen appliances, computer accessories, board games, wall art and collectibles for sale at reasonable, thrift store prices.

"We also have a boutique rack where you can get a designer dress for only $10 or $12 (and) a huge book section," said Modys.

The purpose of the annual bag sale is to clear out the entire store before they shut down for the summer and to make room for new items in the fall.

"When we reopen in the fall, we'll have all kinds of Halloween and Thanksgiving things," Modys added.

The premise of the bag sale is very simple (provided you arrive early enough to get the good stuff).

"You buy a grocery bag from us, like a big Bailey's bag, for $3 and fit whatever you can in the bag. And larger items that you can't fit into the bag are drastically reduced," explained Modys.

Noah's Ark has stopped accepting donations for the summer because the goal of the bag sale is to completely clear out all the items in the store so that new items can be brought in for when the store reopens in the fall. The store will be closing for the remainder of the summer, from Aug. 15 until Sept. 30.

Summer hours, Fridays and Tuesdays from 9:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., will continue when the store reopens in October, but once November rolls around, the store will be open Monday through Friday for the same three hours every morning, including the first Saturday of each month thereafter.

The money from the bag sale goes to support various charities locally, nationally and internationally, said Modys, adding that the church also maintains a fund for outreach and natural disasters worldwide.

Any items left over from the bag sale are also donated to charities.

"Noah's Ark is run by the Episcopal Church Women (ECW) of Southwest Florida with the assistance of a few very good men," explained Modys, noting that the daily operations of the store and the processing of all incoming donations are performed entirely by volunteers.

"It's fun. It's truly a lot of fun with a lot of hard work," she added.

"The volunteers really work their hearts out," said Edie Huggins, St. Michael's parish administrator.

"Between now and bag day there will be lots of sales," explained Modys.

The male lab mix's owner was found due to his microchip but he declined to claim him. He told the officer that Animal Services could keep him because it was too much trouble to take care of him. Dark Star has a wonderful personality, is housebroken, and deserves a loving owner who appreciates the loyal companionship he has to offer.

Faith (ID: No. 406947) was found on Animal Services' property. Before the staff could even put the spayed domestic short hair up for adoption she became ill, improved, and then had a relapse. Faith has recovered and is ready for a forever home so she doesn't have to wander around looking for her next meal. She has a sweet personality.

Where Were You On July 20, 1969?

By Joseph Pacheco

On the eve of my 39th birthday, wheeling the TV cart into the living room of my center hall colonial with my wife and in-laws and my eldest daughter Randy on her grandfather's lap, (four-year-old Allegra asleep in her room), five pairs of human eyes drinking in the incredible — men on the moon, greatest scientific feat of all time, and I still struggling with the rabbit ears antenna to make the image clearer;

Armstrong's carefully prepared "one step, one leap" metaphor milking in best Madison Avenue style the great moment for what it would always be worth;

my father-in-law and I engaged in speculation about how Jewish astronauts could observe Rosh Hodesh, or say the prayer to the new moon while standing on it, my daughter interrupting, "Grandpa, I know the prayer by heart;"

then all of us quiet for a long time —

my last hope that it might be a hoax gone, I felt bereft — beauty and belief and fancies once owned proudly now replaced by a lifeless sphere;

next day, my birthday, having been declared Moon Day, the New York Times printed its special edition with several poems by poets including Archibald Macleish, some acclaiming the achievement, others lamenting the loss, a feast for poets but my muse silent, lifeless.

Since then, the moon reminds me from time to time that on that day a member of my species trampled on her face, violating with one irreverent step a million years of magic and myth and wondrous gazing — brother Apollo's module chariot pulling from afar and away from us the last ebb of silver dream.

Winner announced for coloring contest

The winner of The Islander's July coloring contest is nine-year-old Hazen Williams of Port Charlotte! We loved Hazen's use of bright, imaginative colors and hand-drawn addition of a bright orange sun, a palm tree, a crab, fish, lawn chairs and a beach umbrella!

We received a lot of entries and it was very hard to choose a winner. The entries that received an honorable mention are: six-year-old Sean McCloy of Newark, Ohio, eight-year-old Trent McCloy of Newark, Ohio, six-year-old Parker Williams of Port Charlotte, 10-year-old Lauren Lockard of Sanibel and an anonymous entry from Indianapolis.

The next contest theme is pirates (see coloring picture on right). Entries are due Friday, Sept. 5.

Pirate Tales!

Legend has it that these islands were a home for pirates. In the 1800s this area was called the "Buccaneer Coast."

It is rumored that Jose Gaspar, a Spanish nobleman gone bad, captured and looted ships from the Gulf. He took the fairest ladies to "Isle de los Captivas," or Captiva Island, where he held them captive until their ransoms were paid in gold.

Legend continues that there is gold buried all over Captiva Island. Pirates did indeed use these islands as safe ports, but we may never know the complete truth about Gaspar or his gold.

Digital photo, Internet classes offered

There are two new classes scheduled to begin at the Sanibel Senior Center, located at 2401 Library Way. Cost for these classes are $25 for members and $35 for non-members:

• Discovering The Value Of The Internet — Thursday, Aug. 21 from 1 to 3 p.m.

This seminar is for you if you are new to the Internet or haven't used it much. Discover how to find information that is useful and fun, such as booking travel plans, ordering tickets, tracking your stocks or favorite sports teams, accessing government information, finding recipes, gardening tips, movies, music and, of course, online shopping. Easy? Safe? Find out what you need to know.

• First Steps: Digital Photos — Thursday, Sept. 25 from 1 to 3 p.m.

You've taken great photos... now what? There are still a few steps between having filled memory cards and organizing, viewing, printing, storing and sharing your photographs.

This "first look" seminar will get you started on a way to get those photos out of your camera and into an album or sent to your family and friends.

(The interest level will determine if further, more detailed seminars or hands-on workshops are offered.)

For additional information about these classes, or other Island Seniors programs, call 472-5743.

BIG Arts founding member Bill Phillips passes

Long-time islander William Phillips, beloved husband of Laverne Phillips, passed away peacefully after a long illness on Aug. 1, 2008 at the Shell Point Pavilion in Fort Myers. Laverne and one of his daughters were with him. He was 88.

Born in Cleveland, Ohio, he was the only son of Ina and George Phillips. He was an Eagle Scout and received the God and Country Award before he graduated from John Hay High School. After graduating from Antioch College, he joined the 83rd Spearhead Division of the Infantry and served as First Lieutenant in the European theater. He received five battle stars and the bronze star for his service during World War II.

Following the war, Bill and his family moved to Berea, Ohio where he started work at Glidden as an accountant. In 1964, he was named president of the company. Four years later, he was named President and CEO of International Multifoods and he and his wife moved their family — parents, son, foreign exchange student and two German shepherds — to Minnesota. They moved to Sanibel Island in 1985 after he retired.

Bill was appointed chairman of the 9th District of the Federal Reserve Board. He also served as a director of the Firestone Company, Soo Line Corp., Northern States Power, Heileman Brewing and Norwest Bank.

In addition, he was a trustee of both Baldwin Wallace College and Hamline University and served on the school board in Berea. He was a member of Rotary International and of the Chambers of Commerce of Cleveland, Minneapolis and the United States.

"Bill exemplified integrity," former BIG Arts executive director Liz Fowler said. "His sense of honesty and fairness was evident in all he did, and he inspired those of us who worked with him to be diligent, hardworking, fair and family-minded. Bill never said an unkind or disparaging word."

As a philanthropist, Bill supported and volunteered for the arts and other non-profit organizations. He was chairman of the church council at Sanibel Community Church. His other passions included tennis and his Macintosh computer. Over the years, his extensive travels took him to six continents.

During its formative stages, he served for 13 years as treasurer of BIG Arts.

"Were it not for Bill and Laverne Phillips, the Barrier Island Group for the Arts would be but a fading memory," former BIG Arts board member and reporter for the Island Reporter Jill Goodman said. "Over 25 years ago, the community-oriented arts group was floundering for the lack of leadership, and was about to cease to exist. BIG Arts needed strong, forward-thinking leadership, fundraising talents and — most important — passion for the arts in order to revitalize and energize an all-volunteer organization.

"When I approached Bill and Laverne about the prospect of heading up BIG Arts, the Phillips — who had just retired full-time to Sanibel — barely hesitated. Bill, an esteemed CEO, chairman of several lofty corporations and various organizations, rolled up his sleeves, and the husband and wife team steered BIG Arts forward and upward to what it is today."

"There is no amount of thanks and gratitude his friends and the community can give to this totally unselfish, honorable and giving gentleman. The world is a sorrier place without him," she added.

"Bill was my mentor and friend. Numbers were our common ground," Jean Laswell, former BIG Arts Administrator, stated without a moment's hesitation.

"All that I achieved professionally on Sanibel began with Bill's instilling in me his concrete belief that one plus one always equals two. Close enough was never a substitute for exactly right. BIG Arts' growth and success are due in large part to Bill's financial integrity and hard work. It is his lasting gift to Sanibel. He was a caring, kind and wonderful man who always took time to help family and friends. I will miss him forever."

"On his 80th birthday," Fowler added, "Laverne hosted a fantastic celebration and I recall all of us toasting his kind, humanitarian spirit. Bill has been a pillar of our community. His knowledge and responsible management was instrumental in creating the organization that BIG Arts is today. He was our 'go to' man whenever we needed a fact, figure or event recalled."

"We will all miss Bill, but I, for one, will always remember the things he said and did that made me a better person and BIG Arts a better place."

"I thought the world of Bill," Laura Hesse said. "I was the bookkeeper (unless, of course, they had something else for me to do, especially during the summer) at BIG Arts. So needless to say, he was my mentor as well. 'After I'd worked for Bill for years, one day someone told me (or I got it in my head somehow) that he had worked with Alan Greenspan. I couldn't talk to him for a whole day... I was so nervous and in awe!'"

"He and Laverne are both so great and they were certainly ahead of their time. They had an idea about BIG Arts that turned Sanibel into a place where the arts would never be overshadowed, and they made sure that the BIG Arts Fair went on all those years. Neither one of them was ever an employee — always a volunteer. Must have been billions of hours they put in."

"When I heard that Bill had passed away, I felt as though I had lost a family member," BIG Arts office manager Marina Dowling said quietly. "From my very first day at BIG Arts, Bill made me feel welcomed and appreciated. Without fail, he would stop, take my hands in his and say something that just made me feel good. No matter what brought Bill to BIG Arts — meetings, evening events or just to see how the office and members were doing — his presence made a positive impact on the day. Bill will be remembered daily for how he has touched all of us at BIG Arts."

In addition to his wife of 65 years, Bill is survived by his children — Karen Veronica of Mt. Gilead, Ohio; Connie Tressel and her husband, Richard, of Columbus, Ohio; and Scott Phillips and his wife, Mary Kay, of Michigan City, Ind.; his seven grandchildren — Hope Manley and her husband, Dion, Andrea Benson and Rod, her husband, Mike, Ben and Luke Tressel and their wives, Megan, Allyson, and Rachel, Christina Phillips, and Thomas Phillips and his wife, Michelle; and 10 great-grandchildren — Shea, Reston, Reza, and Stacia Benson, Lila Manley, Logan, Quincy, Zoe, and Jack Tressel, and Marshall Phillips.

A celebration of Bill's life will be held at Sanibel Community Church on Saturday, Aug. 9, at 10:45 a.m. The family suggests in lieu of flowers donations be made to BIG Arts, 900 Dunlop Road, Sanibel, FL 33957 or to Sanibel Community Church, 1740 Periwinkle Way, Sanibel, FL 33957.

Q&A with Sanibel librarian Candy Heise

Candy Heise is the reference librarian at the Sanibel Public Library.

Where did you grow up/What was your childhood like?

I was born and raised in Florida. During my childhood, I lived in Jacksonville, Plant City, Mount Dora, Lake Wales, and Winter Haven. I consider Winter Haven my hometown, mainly because it is where my mother was born and raised, and where most of that side of my family still lives.

What did you do after high school?

After High School, I joined the WAC (Women's Army Corp), which became part of the Regular Army about the time my tour of duty (three years) was over. My MOS (Military Occupation Specialty) was Personnel Records Specialist. I had my basic training at Ft. McClellan, Ala., then to Fort Polk, La. for MOS training and my first permanent duty assignment. Then went to Hanau, Germany for the next duty station, and ended my time in service there.

What brought you to Sanibel?

My job! I had moved back to Florida after living 23 years out of state to care for my terminally ill mother in Winter Haven. I applied and was interviewed at several different public libraries in Florida when I was ready to get back to being a librarian. Sanibel was the BEST offer I got!

What kind of hobbies/interests do you have?

Other than reading, I love to play Scrabble, Upwords, and other board games. I also love cards games like Canasta, Uno, and Phase 10. I am also a news junkie - I have to read CNN and other online news sources with my morning coffee, while also having the local news and Good Morning America blaring out of the television.

What's your family like?

I have three sons - ages 32, 25, 23. Randy Jr. works for Sprint in Kansas City, Daniel is in the Air Force, stationed in Germany, and has a son named Adam, who is four. Jonathan and his wife Brandi live in Scott City, Mo., and have Hannah who will turn three on Nov. 1st, and are expecting a boy at the end of November.

Why did you become a librarian?

I started working part time in a Library after I had graduated with a BS in Elementary Education. At the time, I was not looking for a full-time job teaching or full-time anything. Eventually I did work full-time in that Library, then accepted a scholarship to get the MLS (Master's in Library Science).

What do you do in your free time?

I volunteer three hours a week on my day off in the Shell Museum Library, and I work in the gift shop there on Sundays.

What is your favorite book?

My favorite book? I loved Pippi Longstocking as a child, but nowadays my favorite authors are Carl Hiaasen, Tim Dorsey and Janet Evanovich, to name a few - actually I have a long list of authors that I have read every book they have written, and can't wait for the next one - well, those who haven't gone and died like Ed McBain, that is.

What do you like most about Sanibel?

What I like most about Sanibel is it reflects the Florida of my childhood - like no place else in Florida possibly could these days - not even Winter Haven. The small town atmosphere, more trees and vegetation than concrete, andmost importantly - THE AWESOME LIBRARY! - with a great group of co-workers.

(Compiled by Jane Brickley)

Eye of the storm

Can you believe that the woman you're married to is a category five hurricane? She is if her name is Katrina.

Shell Shocked Art Stevens

And what about the bartender in one of Sanibel's popular watering holes? Would you trust Charley to make you a very dry martini? After the havoc he reaped on Sanibel Aug. 13, 2004? I will no longer identify Charley with anything that's dry.

You might think that it's pure coincidence that some of the people in your lives share names with some of the deadliest hurricanes in history — like Andrew, Ivan and Dennis. But look at the Andrews, Ivans and Dennises you know and tell me that you don't want to punch them in the face.

Take Katrina, for example. A very sweet name. I'll bet that every Katrina you know is sweet, pure and good. But Hurricane Katrina devastated New Orleans and destroyed areas in the entire Gulf region, including many parts of Florida. Is that sweet, pure and good?

I'll bet you think that the names of hurricanes are chosen at random by meteorologists down at the hurricane center. Fat chance. They pretend that the choices are random but in reality they choose hurricane names after people they want to get even with.

"You know that arrogant maitre'd who kept us waiting an hour for a table last week? Pierre? Hey we've got a deadly one coming up. It's a Category 8 with winds up to 200 miles an hour. It's heading straight for Las Vegas and it looks like it's going to rip all the blackjack tables out of their sockets. Let's call it Pierre. He'll never keep us waiting again."

Another meteorologist chuckled. "Hey, I've got one. You remember that waitress at the diner who spilled ketchup on my lap and laughed about it? Well her name is Brittany. The maps tell me that a Category 12 hurricane is due next week. She's got winds up to 300 miles an hour and can carry the entire island of Cuba right into Greenland. Brittany's gonna be her name, my friends. That waitress will never spill ketchup again."

So that's my theory about hurricane names. Meteorologists sit around gleefully thinking about people they know who somehow or other rubbed them the wrong way. The moral of this story is be careful how you treat hurricane meteorologists. Or you too will have to bear the shame of a hurricane being named after you and your friends hating you ever afterwards.

Am I getting through to you, Englebert?

Eco-friendly hair product company benefits 'Ding'

Biolage, producer of hair care products, is piloting a groundbreaking green campaign that will benefit J.N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge. And you can help!

Containers are accepted through Aug. 13.

WINK-TV aired a segment about this special project on June 9; you can view it at <http://www.winknews.com/news/local/24269039.html>. Beauty product containers can be dropped off at:

Why do shells wash ashore?

Beaches can be thought of as the restless battlegrounds between ocean and land. The shifting sands are controlled by winds, tides, currents, and the angle of beach slope. The beach is a graveyard for offshore species up-rooted by stormy seas.

Live shelled animals can be thrown onto the beach by storms but can't survive for long on dry sand and only a few species, like coquinas, live on wet sand. The rest live under water and wash ashore after they die. Generally, shells found on the beach are the hard external remains of these sea creatures.

The broad beaches on the Gulf of Mexico are pounded by strong waves, while on the lagoon and bay side of barrier islands the quiet beaches are narrow and mixed with fine mud. Beaches constantly are being changed in size and nature by the moods of the seas.

In general, winter storms bring shells into shore and summer calms take them away.

There are billions of living shells offshore along Florida's 80-mile wide continental shelf that extends for thousands of miles from Alabama to the Lower Florida Keys. A small fraction of them reach our shores, particularly after storms. Miles off the coast of Sanibel the water is less than 40 feet deep. In comparison, in the Florida Keys the depth could be as much as 300 - 800 feet. The gradual slope of the Gulf bottom off Sanibel's coast acts like a ramp and allows large numbers of shells to roll onto the beach. The gentle slope also assures that many shells arrive in undamaged condition.

Sanibel juts out into the Gulf of Mexico in a westerly direction instead of hugging the coast line in a north/south direction like most barrier islands. When cold winter winds from the north or northwest blow across the island they push the surface waters away from the land. Bottom currents are set up in the direction of the land to replace the surface waters. This uproots live shells and brings them ashore, often in vast numbers. These storms are common in December and January when cold fronts pass through the state. During times of southerly breezes, especially in the summer and early fall, gentle surface currents pile up against the island. The extra water retreats in the form of bottom currents, taking beach shells and sand back out to sea. On rare occasions, violent summer thunderstorms from the north reverse this cycle.

Most live shells that wash up on shore are destined to end up as dead specimens. In time, they erode and crumble up into beach sand. You can see more living mollusks at low tide and at night. Check the tide schedule with the Shell Museum, local newspapers, or the Internet and be sure to obey the local shell laws.

"Ding" Darling sponsors several family programs through August

As part of its ongoing mission to reconnect families with the great outdoors, the J. N. "Ding" Darling National Wildlife Refuge on Sanibel Island has initiated three free education programs during summer vacation, two in partnership with the Bailey-Matthews Shell Museum.

Mommy & Me invites preschoolers accompanied by a parent for alternating Friday visits to the museum and hikes along the refuge's Indigo Trail. (The shell museum program is free; but admission fees do apply for those who wish to tour the museum.) Dates for Mommy & Me Under the Sea at the shell museum are June 6 and 20, July 18, and Aug. 1, 15, and 29; for Mommy & Me Next to the Sea at the refuge, June 13 and 27, July 11 and 25, and Aug. 8 and 22. The programs will be held from 9 to 10 a.m.

Family Craft & Story Hour teaches children about a certain refuge species by first reading about it, then engaging in hands-on activities and crafts. It takes place every Tuesday June through August at 10 a.m. Family Beach Walk meets at Sanibel's Gulfside Park for a one-hour exploration of the refuge's gulf-front Perry Tract at 9 a.m. every Monday June through August. A shell expert from Bailey-Matthews Shell Museum will accompany refuge interpreters on the walk. Note: Parking fees at Gulfside Park apply.

For more information on the refuge summer programs, call Ranger Toni Westland at 239-472-1100 ext. 236.

The refuge summer family programs are made possible through funding from the "Ding" Darling Wildlife Society, a non-profit, friends-of-the-refuge organization that supports the Education Center, "Ding" Darling Days, and other educational programs at the refuge.

To join DDWS and become a friend to the refuge, stop in at the Refuge Education Center, call 239-472-1100 ext. 233, or visit www.dingdarlingsociety.org.

Obituaries

Dee Congress

Long-time Sanibel Island resident and jewelry store founder Dee Congress passed away on Aug. 5, 2008. She was 65.

Congress had battled cancer for three decades and spent her last days at home, under the care of Hope Hospice.

The Congress Jewelers stores in Bonita Springs and Naples will be closed on Thursday, Aug. 7 until 2 p.m., and the Sanibel Island location — which is the original store — will be closed all day in her memory.

Funeral services are scheduled for Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at Temple Beth El on Winkler Road in Fort Myers. In lieu of flowers, the family suggests contributions to Susan G. Komen for the Cure, P. O. Box 12848, St. Petersburg, FL 33733.

Dee and her husband, Larry, launched Congress Jewelers from a showcase in a Sanibel shoe store in 1983. They later opened the Periwinkle Place store that served as a gathering place for residents and visitors returning to the island. Their sons, Scot and Doug, took over the business when Larry and Dee retired in 1998.

"She was a wonderful person, always positive and caring," said her son, Scot, president of Congress Jewelers. "She was the force behind our stores' commitment to community service. Our family, our employees and her many friends will miss her."

A quote from Dee Congress on the company Web site reads, "Being involved in our community has always been important to our family, and just because I am retired, that is a continued priority. As most of you know, Larry and I are blessed with seven grandchildren, and they are truly the wonderful part of our lives. Family dinners and babysitting make retirement well-rounded. Watching our boys take our vision of Congress Jewelers to the next step and beyond is incredibly exciting to watch and enjoy."

Dee and Larry Congress were married in 1961 and have four children. Congress Jewelers has grown to five locations.

Summer months offers three vibrant services at SCC

Sanibel Community Church continues to offer three opportunities for worship each Sunday during the summer months.

During the cool morning hours, an 8 a.m. Traditional service is held, concluding with participation in the Lord's Supper.

At 9 a.m. the Praise Team leads an exuberant Contemporary service, which includes a kid's church time for children ages third grade and younger.

Another Traditional service is offered at 10:45 a.m., with powerful traditional hymns and organ music. Dr. Daryl Donovan, Senior Pastor, gives a practical Biblical message at all three services.

Also at 10 a.m., cool refreshments, as well as coffee and snacks, are offered in the Courtyard. Childcare is provided for all three services. Feel free to come dressed casually to any of the services -- all are welcome!

Sanibel Community Church is located at 1740 Periwinkle Way (next to Jerry's Market). For more information, call 472-2684.

DINING ON THE ISLANDS IS A TROPICAL EXPERIENCE

FISH helps needy families put food on their tables

Barb is a 32-year-old mother of three small children. Her husband, Don, was injured in a construction accident and has been unable to work for the past three months. Barb's income as a waitress barely covers their rent and utilities. The family is struggling to put food on the table. She worries every day. "How will my family survive?" Escalating gas and food costs are taking their toll. Barb's children are now limited to one glass of milk and juice each day. Meat and fish are now a luxury.

What assistance is out there? Food Stamps?

Did you know a family of four cannot earn more than $2,238 a month to be eligible for food stamps? Did you know that the maximum monthly amount a family of four can get in food stamps is $542? What do you do when your monthly food stamps are used and there is no food to put on the table? Where do you go?

This is just one of a growing number of individuals and families coming to FISH this year. Dazed and scared they come to FISH for help. How does FISH help? FISH maintains a food pantry at its Walk-In-Center. Milk, juice, eggs, meat and poultry are items needed on a weekly basis. Can you help you island neighbors in need? Donations may be dropped off Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. All donations are distributed to islanders in need.

F.I.S.H. of Sanibel, Inc. is a non-profit, all volunteer run organization assisting Sanibel and Captiva islanders and visitors with a wide range of services. For more than 25 years FISH has been a "neighbor-helping neighbor" by offering services of non-emergency transport on and off the Island, a daily hot meals program, temporary loan of health equipment, in-home visitation, person-to-person telephone calls, hurricane preparedness information and health care referral service. A monthly Alzheimer Support Group and monthly Friendly Faces Luncheon are also sponsored by FISH. The Walk-In-Center which opened in September 2007 is staffed with volunteers, meeting with individuals and families, and providing information on the services FISH provides as well as services provided by others.

F.I.S.H. relies on community support to fund all programs including a subsidized meals program, maintaining equipment, overhead for the Walk-In-Center, and an emergency financial assistance program for individuals and families. F.I.S.H. is now accepting donations of food items which will be delivered directly to island families in need.

The Walk-in-Center is located in the Village Shops at 2340 Periwinkle Way, Unit I-1. It is open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Thursday.
