FOREWORD

Our four years at Sayreville High School have been memorable ones. These were the years between; the time when carefree, we entered the high school world and then began to recognize the satisfactions and problems of a society soon to be our responsibility as mature adults.

True, the four years in high school are short; yet they are vital to every student. He has been enriched by the knowledge that surrounds him, aroused by the winning touchdown, and thrilled by the beauty and maturity of the Senior Prom.

Reaching our goal, graduation, brings a sudden awareness that these four years will always be remembered and cherished. Like our yearbook, our hearts and minds will always be brimming with little and big — but unforgettable — memories and experiences.

DEDICATION

As Quo Vadis celebrates its twentieth year of publication, we, the class of 1962, dedicate our yearbook to our Alma Mater, which has echoed our footsteps as we hustled to class and harbored so many of our emotions as we became young adults. Many secrets and memories will remain after we turn to face the world outside. The years may roll by, but we know that time can never change our heartfelt feelings for our school. Our dedication is only matched by its sincerity.

TO THE CLASS OF '62

Your graduation constitutes the epilogue to "The Life of the First Sayreville High School—nee Wilson School" (1939-1962) and celebrates the 20th publication of this book. My congratulations to You, the Building, and the Book on having "run a good course"!

May the Building continue to serve the community well, albeit in a different capacity!

May the Book maintain the upward trend of its stature and value!

Commend yourselves to God in the knowledge that through your faith He will help you to harvest, with joy and satisfaction, the fruits of your efforts.

To the Class of '62:

The Class of 1962 is the ending of an era of education at Sayreville High School. Just twenty years ago, in 1942, Sayreville was honored with its first graduating class. In June 1962, you are the last class to graduate from Sayreville High School.

Sayreville has indeed shown progress in the twenty intervening years. Our town has grown in size, our population in the school has tripled, but our philosophy of education, which was the guide to the training of the students of 1942, is still the steering wheel in the education of the Class of 1962.

As we review the achievement of all those who have graduated from Sayreville High School since the year 1942, we are impressed by one outstanding similarity: all the graduates have shown good character and true American loyalty. I know the Class of 1962, even as it ends the tradition of Sayreville High School, will continue to uphold the traits of good moral character and true American principles which it has received through the training of high type professional people.

I know that the Class of 1962 will measure up in all respects to those graduating classes which have gone ahead and have made a name for themselves in the world. In your world of tomorrow, you will reflect the training of Sayreville High School and will bring honor to its memory.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Our Board of Education consists of nine men elected by the community to manage the Sayreville School System as efficiently as possible. Meeting the problems of overcrowded schools, maintaining and improving our educational facilities—both intellectual and physical—has posed a challenge that they have met with integrity and ceaseless effort.

The Class of 1962 is grateful and wishes to express its sincere thanks to all the members of the Board of Education. Their untiring efforts have made our stay at Sayreville High School a most enjoyable one.

Scholarship — Leadership

One of the most outstanding groups at Sayreville High School is the National Honor Society. Membership in this organization is based on four requirements, termed, the "cardinal qualities worthy of encouragement in all schools". The students have been selected by the principal and faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. During an inspiring ceremony, those who qualified were made members of the National Honor Society. The Senior Class was proud to have them as their representatives in such an organization.

OUR WASHINGTON TRIP

Educational . . . Noisy . . .

November 6, 6:15 a.m.—a dream come true. Four years of hard work to raise funds; then we finally embarked on the Washington Trip—an experience treasured by every senior. Upon arrival, we lunched at the Shoreham Hotel where we resided during our stay in Washington. Following this, we visited the Thomas Jefferson Memorial and toured the Capitol, where we had our group picture taken. A hectic day completed, we returned to the hotel and dined. During the evening, we attended the National Theater, another memorable event guided by

Bedlam

Flashback—

Rollicking . . . Unforgettable.

Miss Walsh, our wise and moral principal. We then stopped at the Hot Shoppe for the traditional snack.

The following day, we visited Mount Vernon, Arlington Memorial Cemetery, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. We then returned to the Shoreham for dinner and checked out, leaving for home. We arrived at the high school at 11:30 p.m. We know that each of us in the Senior Class will always cherish and remember our trip to Washington.

George slept here.

Q U O V A D I S

With unbounding enthusiasm, the class of 1962 returned in the fall to S.H.S. as seniors. After Mr. Todd, our advisor, conducted the election of the editors-in-chief, literary editor, senior editor, art editor, and business manager, we began working on our central theme and senior section. Our weekly meetings soon began to give shape to our particular dream of our yearbook.

Many meetings later, after innumerable cakes, cookies, cups of coffee, pretzels, crackers, soda, headaches, laughter, pictures, writeups, and art work, we began to see a fuller image of our yearbook emerging—to our delight. The Quo Vadis staff is grateful to Mr. Todd for his untiring assistance, inspirations, and guidance in the production of our yearbook. Preparing Quo Vadis has been a pleasant and satisfying experience for the staff members.

As upperclassmen, they have reached one of the milestones in their years at Sayreville High. Under the guidance of advisors: Miss Gavron, Miss Jankowski, and Mr. Geletei, they have worked diligently for two years to attain their stature. One of the fondest memories is the Sophomore Sweetheart Dance at which Barbara Piatek and Ricky Paprota were crowned Queen and King. This year they finally received those long-anticipated class rings. Their officers in 1962 were: President, Marty Szarvas; Vice President, Barbara Piatek; Secretary, Joyce Samuel; and Treasurer, Mary Lou Lagoda.

They enjoyed the previous years at S.H.S., but they are looking forward to their senior year when they too, will be able to display their abilities to serve, enjoy, and become assets to our school.

As freshmen they found the program at Sayreville High to be a novel experience, but they also brought something new to the school. They comprised a very large class. Thus it became necessary for them to form a council having a representative from each homeroom. Their confusion overcome, they elected Ted Puchala, John Feltz, Phil Musso, and Vernon Applegate as class officers, and they then settled down to the routine of high school life.

As sophomores they had become full fledged citizens in our school. They began by electing their class officers: President, Phil Musso; Vice President, John Feltz; Secretary, Pat Dieker; and Treasurer, Judy Vitello. Under the fine leadership of their advisors, Mrs. Newton and Mr. Paul, they held several dances that proved to be enjoyable. The highlight of their sophomore year was the Sweetheart Dance at which a Sophomore King and Queen reigned.

COURSES Through Our Curriculum

COLLEGE PREP

The College Preparatory Course is designed for those of us who are desirous of entering professional fields after graduation from high school, in which a college degree is a prerequisite. The primary aim of this course is guiding the student in developing the ability to think intelligently, probing the depths of both subject areas and abstract ideas. He is encouraged to apply this ability: by comprehensive study in mathematics, science, language, and social and moral situations. When he graduates, he has the self-confidence which can only result from such a complete and well-rounded course.

We corrected our faults

COMMERCIAL

The Commercial Course is geared to prepare these students for the business world. An excellent background in typing, bookkeeping, and business law, form the base of the course. During the final semester of the senior year, fifteen weeks of office practice in jobs outside the school in neighboring communities enables the student to acquire additional skill and to understand and adjust to the life of an office worker.

By Willingness

GENERAL COURSE

Often students entering high school are undecided about their futures. For these students a General Course is available. Opportunity to learn about a variety of subjects is offered in order to assist them in ascertaining a type of work.

and Guidance

INDUSTRIAL

Many of our students are mechanically inclined and have creative ability. For these people who will be invaluable in maintaining the equilibrium of the daily lives of us all, is the Industrial Course. In this course, certain skills are developed, enabling the students to graduate, enter industry or private enterprise, and further themselves according to individual interests and ability. Training in woodwork, metalwork, mechanical drawing, cooking, sewing, home management and academic subjects prepare these boys and girls for countless occupations.

Laufnick, E. Bogusi, D. Switzer, R. Zeh, A. Wolff.

The scholastic award letter was approved by the Board of Education at the request of the Student Council and Youth Week Officials in 1960. The scholastic award letter is a large chenille "S" on which an open book is superimposed. Every year this letter is given with a certificate of award to any student in the high school who has maintained a "B" average in all subjects for the school year. The scholastic award winners' "S" is prized by all who receive it.

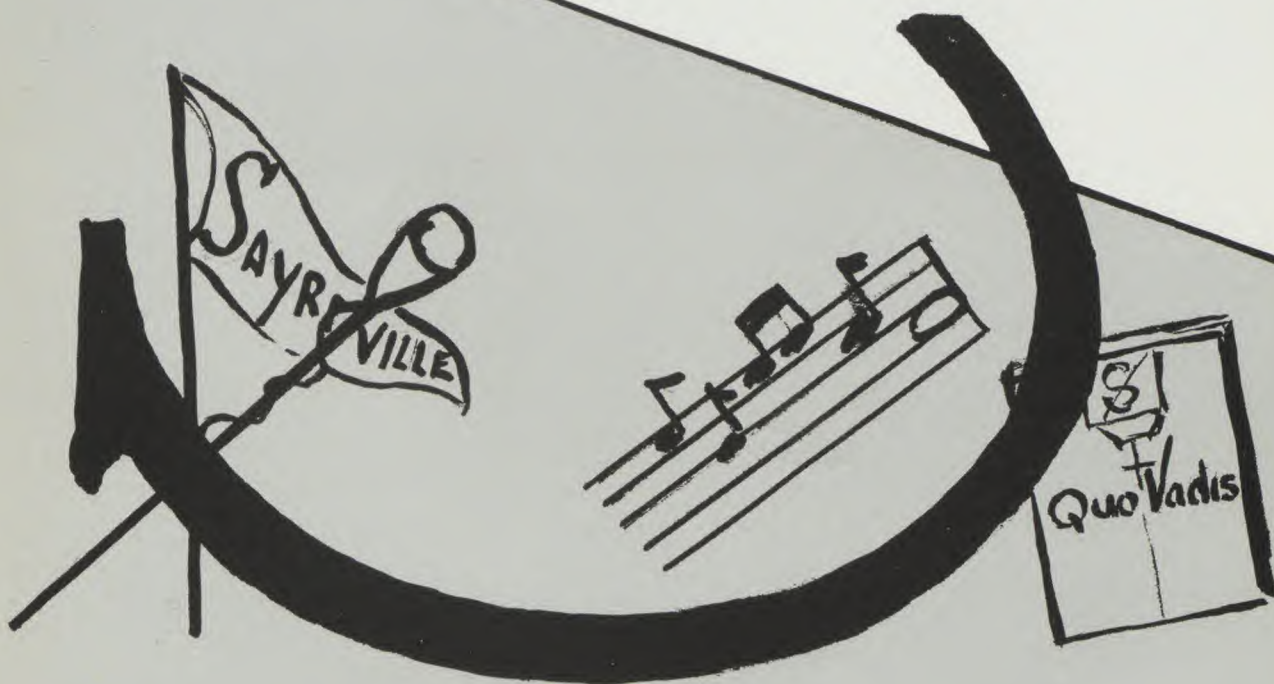

There is a desire by many to achieve this award of distinction. It can be displayed on a sweater in the same way that a varsity letter is used.

The number of awards is gratifying because it indicates that the students at Sayreville High School are interested in achievement. Those who are not able to excel in athletics are now rewarded for superior work in scholarship. These are the scholars who are honored by our school and our Board of Education each June. The S.A.W.s are the nucleus of our Honor Group.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is designed to represent the student body and to assist them in a variety of situations. Outstanding students are elected by their classmates. The Student Council advisors are Mrs. Angelica Marra and Mrs. Irene Arthur.

When Sayreville High was a new school, Student Council members were, naturally, inexperienced. As the years passed, the council has garnered and passed on a wealth of experience. Each year Student Council members have been challenged by a variety of problems and projects. Their response has resulted in numerous ideas that have been beneficial to both school and community.

Through the years, the members of the council have facilitated the development of interesting and educational programs which have included programs, clubs, faculty basketball games, and the introduction of scholastic letter awards, as well as the traditional athletic letters. Most outstanding has been the annual Youth Week Program. Drives to enlighten the student body concerning the problems which surround them have always been the interest of the Student Council.

This year, a new type of assembly program was initiated to inform the students about important school situations. These programs were enthusiastically received.

The Student Council has always worked for the benefit of the student body, and we hope that future members will continue in the same vein set by their predecessors.

In each edition, the editor wrote editorials and feature stories; the art editor collected ideas for illustrations; fashion editors alerted themselves to the latest fashions; and sports editors ferreted out many angles of interest in athletic activities.

Always eagerly read and reread were articles relating activities, honors, and student polls on pertinent questions. Each enjoyable edition was read and discussed by students and faculty alike.

Sporting a record of three wins and six losses, the Sayreville High School football team completed the final season at Memorial Field. Minus the experienced material of previous years, and with only a handful of lettermen, Head Coach Dill and his assistants, Mr. Reichenbach, Mr. Newcomer, and Mr. Sinuk, took the boys at hand and developed a light, but spirited eleven.

Sayreville's "Game of the Year" opened the season with the Bombers losing 33-19, to the South River Rams. The score, however, is not indicative of the way our team played. The game was tied 19-19 until the Rams broke away for two touchdowns late in the last quarter.

Following the loss to South River, the Bombers rolled to successive victories over Manville, Keyport, and Red Bank Catholic. Highland Park, Metuchen, Carteret, East Brunswick, and Bridgewater-Raritan then downed our team, but not without a struggle from the boys.

Steve Shigas, Ron Skwira, and Bill Pogers captained this year's squad. Pogers, fullback, Skwira, tackle, and Ed Gorchinski, end, were honored with places on the All-County teams.

Co-captains Ernie Adell and Paul Weiss, together with the senior members of the team, Tom Snyder, Ed Thalmann, and Roland Zeh, have done much to promote interest and participation in the sport.

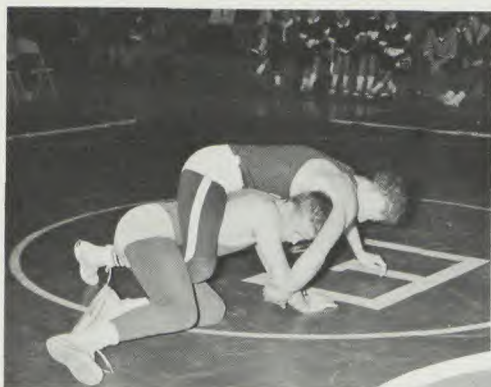

The loss of Joe Klosek early in the season hurt the Bombers. However, they came back stronger in the last half to post a final record of two wins and ten losses. With a majority of the team returning, including Garry Frazee, Richie Brunelli, Johnnie Reisert, Tom Burdak, Ed Acker, Ray Dwyer, and Bill Lehnert, hopes are high for a better season next year.

Sayreville Principal Leads the Exodus

WASHINGTON (AP)—"This is no play for 16-year-olds," said the lady school principal from New Jersey after marching 146 youngsters out of the National Theater during the opening of "Sunset in New York."

For a few minutes, last night's mass walkout stole the scene from the Broadway-bound comedy.

Right Thing to Do

Principal Miss Margaret Walsh of Sayreville, N. J., who brought youngsters to Washington on their senior class trip, told a reporter later, "We just came out because it was the right thing to do."

The exodus came about 10 minutes before the curtain fell on the first act of the show, a comedy about sex.

On the sidewalk outside, the principal told a show official, "It was my duty to bring them out." He said she was in tears. The youngsters giggled and chattered as they boarded two chartered buses for the trip back to their hotel.

"I had no idea what the play was like," Miss Walsh said later. "I thought it would be a nice evening. I had called the theater and they knew it was a school group coming. I'm sorry."

Embrace, Lights Go Down

The walkout signal came after a scene in which Pat Stanley and Robert Redford embrace and talk about sex—while the stage lights go down.

When the lights went on again, revealing Redford and Miss Stanley in bathrobes, the school children filled from the $1.75 second-balcony seats.

The audience, necks craned, stared up to the balcony as the youngsters paraded out of the auditorium and down the long stairs to the exit.

David Powers, press agent for the show, said dialogue after the blackout scene reveals that nothing really happened while the lights were off. "It's the most normal little sex comedy you've ever seen in your life," he said. "Something like 'The Moon is Blue.'"
