Foreword

As the Class of 1963 stands poised on the threshold between adolescence and adulthood it is with the confidence of having been prepared during our years at Sayreville High that we begin our sojourn into a world of "new horizons" open now before us. Within these pages we record the bittersweet memories of school life at Sayreville War Memorial High School.

To the classes that follow—whose students will experience as we did, through scholarship and service, the subtle molding of a full-grown character—this, our yearbook, is dedicated. May they always remain true to their Alma Mater, perpetuate its finest traditions, and uphold its dignity and honor.

SAYREVILLE WAR MEMORIAL HIGH SCHOOL

SAYREVILLE, MIDDLESEX COUNTY, NEW JERSEY

DEDICATION — DECEMBER 1, 1962

TO THE CLASS OF '63

New people are christened—new ships are launched—new books are published—new behavior is learned—new schools are dedicated.

Your class has the honor of being the first to graduate from the Sayreville War Memorial High School; so you in a sense are dedicated to and identified with it.

It is my sincere hope that your dedication will, with the help of God, contribute substantially to your success in fulfilling the promise of the "new horizons" which now beckon you.

May the energy of your minds be joyfully spent in molding its phantasmagoria into a reality of peace, good will, and plenty.

To the Class of '63

New horizons, extra performance, unbounded confidence, persistence of a dream, are what the future is offering to the Class of '63. The new horizons are a challenge to devise means to carry on the spirit of individual enterprise. The habit of unbounded confidence and the use of talents culminate in making dreams come true.

Your Alma Mater has a share in both the past and the future. It is significant that the world of the Class of '42 was no less uncertain than the world of 1963. The size and stature of your Alma Mater is measured by the high-level performance of the graduates. Her source of strength and character is in the students who in successive generations have kept alive ideals.

The progress of your Alma Mater will be a summation of your efforts and accomplishments. So walk on the sunny side of the street proud and full of plans for the future.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Becoming a member of the National Honor Society is an accomplishment of which to be proud. Members are chosen from the Honor Group—each candidate of which has sustained a B average throughout his high school years—on the basis of scholarship, leadership, citizenship, service, and character by the principal and faculty. On March 8 of this year, the twenty-four members of the Honor Group were inducted into the Society during a solemn candlelight ceremony.

The highest of honors one can receive is to be selected valedictorian of his class. Sayreville High's two top students, Marianne Kwiatkowski and Alan Wolff, having produced excellent work and maintained a four year straight A average were co-valedictorians. Barbara Barnett and Rita Bauman were named Salutatorian and Terterian, respectively. Both girls have maintained excellent four year averages.

Seniors visit Mt. Vernon*

WASHINGTON,

Prominent in each Senior's memoirs is the Washington Trip—an eventful day excursion when the Seniors visit the capital city. The separate day-journeys were held on Monday, November 5 and Wednesday, November 7.

The grounds of Mt. Vernon blanketed with snow provided a pleasant setting by which to dine. Those adventurous and hardy enough toured the grounds of our first president's home. In the city of Washington, a tour was conducted through the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. The Seniors then proceeded on to the Capitol and were guided through the various chambers, after which all assembled on the lawn for the group picture. Another place of fascination was the Smithsonian Institute through which the class was free to stroll at will.

Before leaving for home, the Seniors observed another tradition and fared at the New York Avenue Hot Shoppe. Bringing the end to a delightful day and the close to a memorable event was the arrival of two dimly lit buses on the high school grounds transporting their weary passengers—chaperons and students alike—home.

CLASS ADVISORS

Mr. Lynn Paul, Mr. John Simko, Mrs. Monica Newton, and Mr. Charles Koenigsberg.

The Class of '64 initiated its annual activities with the election of Junior officers, who then worked diligently for the remainder of the year in planning the class' various activities. Among the most memorable of these were the Junior Play and the Junior-Senior Prom—both of which were held in the spring. Too, another pleasant event evolved about the presentation of class rings.

All was made possible through the co-operative efforts of the class as a whole, its advisors, and its officers who together are to be congratulated for a most successful year. Surely will they find such success in even greater measure in their final year here.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

After successfully completing their first year at Sayreville High and finally acquiring that "accustomed look," the Sophomores re-entered school in September well prepared to strive for the attainment of this same desirable goal. Thus, soon after the initial weeks of exciting adjustment had passed, work was begun. The first matter to be dealt with was the election of class officers—for these representatives then, with the invaluable aid of the advisors, could, at all times, be turned to when problems arose or activities were to be planned. Highlighting the events on their yearly agenda was the Sophomore Sweetheart Dance at which time the class King and Queen were crowned. This, together with various other activities, has been definite proof of the final achievement of their goal—the last two years being as wonderful and as happy as those enjoyed as underclassmen.

FRESHMAN CLASS

The Freshman class, newest addition to the halls of the high school, was also its largest. Thus, after much ado had been spent in settling down and becoming acquainted with their surroundings, they held the election of class officers. These representatives then, together with the advisors, worked perseveringly in coordinating the '62-'63 activities. The most important event, the Freshman Dance, was held in the spring. However, this was only the first in a chain of very successful events which shall inevitably accompany their years here.

Curriculum

LIBERAL ARTS

Offer skills in . . .

ENGLISH

The Liberal Arts program provides for the student intensive training in the fields of English, Social Studies, and Foreign Languages. Concerning the first, one is not only able to become skilled in all facets of the English language and its literature, but is also given the opportunity to acquire a knowledge of speech, dramatics, and the newspaper through courses in Basic Speech Experiences and Journalism. In regard to the second, the student finds himself able to participate in various classes of history—World, Modern European, and Contemporary—and in the study of Economics and Vocational Civics, as well as in the required U.S. History I and II courses. Lastly, for anyone so inclined, there are periods that may be spent in the world of foreign languages—be they French, Latin, or Spanish.

CHEMISTRY

PHYSICS

From the practical to the advanced, from the basic to the honor course—it is in this way that the range of science studies afforded here can best be described, for certainly the variety of classes in the fields of Mathematics and the Sciences leave little to be desired. There are, of course, the standard offerings of both made available—these being Algebra, Geometry, and Trigonometry in the one and Biology, Chemistry, and Physics in the other. However, they alone do not comprise the program. Additional courses that augment the usual, and satisfy the appetite of the more interested student may also be taken. Thus is one afforded the opportunity to delve further into the world of advanced and modern math as well as that of science. Too, for the less interested student basic, applied, and practical classes are existant.

BUSINESS TRAINING

TYPING

Equipped to satisfy the needs of everyone, the curriculum also offers a very detailed study of the business world. Here, in this program, the student is given excellent training in every facet of business, so that he will be most prepared to spend his days as a secretary or businessman. The courses afforded are many. Constituting this program are not only Typing, Notehand and Stenography, but also General Business, Record Keeping, Office Machines, Economic Geography, Selling, Distributive Education, Business Law, Business Problems, and Bookkeeping. To complete this study, Office Practice and General Clerical Practice are provided for work experience.

STENOGRAPHY

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Offer basics in . . .

MECHANICS

The courses which are included in the Industrial Arts program have been designed to accommodate both boys and girls. For the future homemaker there are various classes in which she may enroll, so that her knowledge in this field might be broadened. Among the offerings are Foods and Nutrition, Clothing and Textiles, The Home and Its Furnishings, and Personal Development and Family Relations. Then, to encourage and develop the talents of an industrially-minded boy, several courses of study are afforded him. They include work in the various shops — Electrical, General Machine, Metal, Wood, Graphic Arts, and Automotive, as well as in Drafting — both Basic and Advanced.

MUSIC

Upon enrollment in any one of the fields constituting the Fine Arts program the student can be certain that only the best in training and most invaluable in experience shall present themselves. Too, he may be assured that the offerings made available in this program of Art, Music, and Physical Education shall be numerous. Thus, the lover of art itself might choose to study extensively in Basic and Advanced Art, as well as in Art Appreciation and Art Workshop, while the devotee of music may elect to participate in any of the very rewarding classes of Band, Orchestra, Harmony, Chorus, and Music Appreciation. Finally, there has been planned, for the welfare of every student, a developmental program of physical education. In addition, four years of health are to be had. They revolve about the following studies—Personal Health and Hygiene, Community and Mental Health, Driver and Safety Education, and First Aid.

The Student Council is the official representative body of the students, having as its aims the encouragement of the practice of good citizenship, the promotion of school spirit, the encouragement of good scholarship, and the betterment of student-faculty relations. Composed of elected, responsible students, the Council strives to convey a favorable image of the student body. Its duties are many and varied. The Council serves as a sounding board for student opinion, an agency for the welfare of students, a clearing house for student activities, and an integral part of the educational system. With the assistance of advisors Mrs. Angelica Marra and Mrs. Irene Arthur, the Council attempts to make Sayreville's high school one of which students may be proud.

MR. JAMES TODD

Beginning with the selection of the editors and staff members, work on this twenty-first edition of Quo Vadis began. Since it is the first yearbook in the new Sayreville War Memorial High School, every effort has been made to present a realistic picture of teachers, students, ideas, activities, and attitudes. Through after-school meetings and many hours of dedicated work, the various jobs were accomplished—ranging from the selection of the cover to the laying-out of the supplement that will accompany this edition.

The Quo Vadis staff expresses its sincere gratitude and appreciation to Mr. James Todd. Under his patient guidance and direction, the staff has experienced a most rewarding endeavor in the production of the class yearbook.

BUSINESS CAREERS

Mrs. Frances Hode explains the career opportunities in different fields of business to make the students aware of the necessary qualifications and duties involved in each occupation.

FUTURE SECRETARIES

By practicing the specialized duties of an efficient secretary, members of this club, directed by Miss Arlene Fain, prepare themselves for a position in the business world.

BUSINESS ETIQUETTE

To foster understanding of the requirements of the business world, Mrs. Grace Mershon instructs her students through lectures, discussions, and readings.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS

Mrs. Mary Dulemba explains the essentials in the operation of the machines used in the business world while teaching club members the proper use of office equipment.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

Working on mathematical puzzles and problems stimulates this group, under the direction of Miss Annette Sowa, in their interests in the concepts of modern mathematics.

CHESS CLUB

Developing traits in students that will enable them to participate more skillfully in chess and other related activities, Mr. Daniel Newcomer leads discussions on all phases of the game from the opening play to checkmate.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

By taking photographs of assemblies, dances, sports meets, and special events the members of the Photography Club, directed by Mr. Geletei, gather material for use by the student body.

MICROSCOPE CLUB

Mrs. Lorraine Jones teaches students the proper use of the microscope and affords them the opportunity for extensive practice in preparing and examining slides. Each member keeps a scientific portfolio of his findings.

HORTICULTURE CLUB

Guided by Mr. Matthew Prusik, the members of the Horticulture Club germinate seeds, graft plants, and learn to recognize and prevent insect damage in an effort to gain knowledge concerning the practical usage of plants.

JETS

Members of the JETS participate in research projects pertaining to engineering and applied science. Under the direction of Mr. George Evanovich, the JETS National Engineering Aptitude Test is administered to members to determine their aptitude for the field of engineering.

VISUAL AIDS

Mr. Lucian Wnukowski and his club members assist the visual aids department of the high school by caring for the present visual aids and designing and constructing new equipment for future use.

RADIO CLUB

Mr. Joseph Baloga fosters interest in "ham" radio communication and in hi-fi and stereo music reproduction with the members of his Radio Club.

COLLEGE SKILLS

Maintaining the objective of developing the reading and vocabulary skills necessary for college, club members under the guidance of Mrs. Marie Parnell constantly strive to achieve excellence in these areas.

FRENCH CLUB

Mrs. Vivian Barron and her French students will promote a better understanding and a deeper sense of appreciation for the customs and ideals of the French people through games, skits, and trips.

FTA

Mrs. Angelica Marra helps the members of the Future Teachers of America Club to identify the qualities, traits, and aptitudes which are basic to successful teaching; to acquire knowledge of the history of the public school; and to secure accurate information on vocational opportunities in education.

SPEECH CLUB

The Speech Club focuses the attention of its members on all the basic aspects of their spoken English to aid them in obtaining clear and exact knowledge of the intricacies of public speaking. Mr. Charles Koenigsberg leads this group.

RED CROSS CLUB

Mrs. Irene Arthur and the members of this club work in conjunction with the needs of the American Junior Red Cross, especially in the realm of aiding hospital patients in small, but meaningful ways.

CREATIVE WRITING

In order to help the student develop his original characteristics in creative writing, Miss Lois Jankowski works with club members to aid them in the pursuit of better writing standards through the organization of group projects.

LATIN CLUB

Mr. Walter Kawalec and the members of the Latin Club study the history of the Latin language and delve into Roman culture and civilization. They also acquaint themselves with the influence Rome had on modern-day civilization.

ECHO-LITES CLUB

With the assistance of the newspaper editor, Mrs. Helen Pfeiffer explores the mechanics of producing a newspaper with her club members. Talks on the laying out, writing of copy, and editing are given to those interested in becoming future journalists.

READING IMPROVEMENT

Under the guidance of Mrs. Irene Todd, club members strive to acquire increased facility in the handling of reading and study materials, to improve comprehension, and to increase reading speed.

TEEN-AGE-BOOK CLUB

Club members, guided by Miss Carmelita Lucitt, gain interest and insight to good literature through the selection of books from the library and from round table discussions concerning them.

LITERARY CLUB

Miss Laverne Gavron aims to lead club members to the great depth, breadth, and maturity to be found in books. These students participate in discussions to enlarge their appreciation of modern and classical literature.

LIBRARY CLUB

During their free time, the members of the Library Club aid Mrs. Lorraine Simko in the many jobs necessary to the maintaining of the library. In this twofold operation, the students gain knowledge of the library while providing service to the school.

VARSITY CLUB

Boys who have earned a varsity letter in any sport are eligible for membership in this club, under the supervision of Mr. John Danna. They aid in any school activity when help is requested and intend to set up a scholarship fund for future students.

COIN CLUB

By discussing and studying unusual and rare coins, trading coins, and displaying interesting specimens, Mrs. Phyllis Galbraith and her numismatists share ideas for more enjoyment and satisfaction in coin collecting.

SPANISH CLUB

To develop an awareness of the culture of Spanish speaking people, Mrs. Catherine Ludlow and her club members use records, filmstrips, and foreign magazines.

TRAVEL CLUB

Providing her club with a panorama of interesting people and places, Mrs. Joan Romatowski conducts the Travel Club on a basis of exploring the customs and interests of places near and far. Club members gather posters and make reports on the various points of interest.

SENIOR DRAMATICS

Mr. Frank Malanowski and his Senior thespians endeavor to present drama as a cultural farce while they learn basic acting techniques. They exhibit their capabilities each year in the annual spring play—this year's being entitled "All in the Family."

AUTOMOTIVE DESIGN

Mr. John Resh conducts a survey of those expressive qualities inherent in the appearance of automobiles with special emphasis on their two dimensional representation.

BOYS' GYM CLUB

Mr. Homer Dill instructs and aids the boys in the Gym Club as they endeavor to develop advanced skills and techniques in gymnastics, heavy apparatus, and tumbling. The boys have presented a fine tumbling exhibition and plan more assemblies during the year.

TWIRLERS CLUB

Girls interested in leading Sayreville High School's marching band in its many appearances work with Mr. Allan Mount to develop the necessary skill and form.

DRAMATICS CLUB

Through individual readings and dramatizations, group play presentations, and original script writing, each member of the Dramatics Club, directed by Mr. William Mulrennan, has the opportunity to participate in some form of self-expression.

GIRLS' GYMNASTICS

Under the supervision of Mrs. Miriam Fehrle and Mrs. Vera Stricker, members of Leaders Club and Girls' Gym Club develop the ability to perform advanced skills on apparatus and mats. They practice on the rings, ropes, horse, buck, and parallel bars.

ADVERTISING DESIGN

Mr. Vincent Modzelewski endeavors to acquaint club members with the field of advertising design and its purpose and scope. This is accomplished through various group projects and the viewing of filmstrips.

JUNIOR DRAMATICS

Preparation for the Junior class play is the main objective of this club, organized by Miss Doris Poplowski. Students interested in dramatics are given a first hand chance to study the art in all phases—from behind the scene make-up to on the stage production.

CHEF CLUB

An Annual Chef's Club Dinner and a bake sale are the projects for Miss Patricia Lynch's all boys club. She teaches these boys the basics of cooking and meal preparation.

GIRLS' DRAFTING

In order to gain some appreciation of drafting and how it is used in every day life, the Girls' Drafting Club, under the direction of Mr. John Dresser, participates in oral reports covering the basic concepts and practical application of drafting in relation to current topics.

BOYS' DRAFTING

With the assistance of Mr. John Simko the pupils utilize the drafting technique of freehand sketching to express their original ideas for shipwork and home projects. Following completion of the basic sketches, drawing aids are used to transpose them into workable drawings.

EMBROIDERY CLUB

Mrs. Monica Newton teaches the girls in this club its fundamentals of embroidery, knitting, and sewing. This presents them with an appreciation of the intricate hand work involved in these activities.

FOOTBALL

Sayreville War Memorial High's Bombers compiled a very deceiving record of 3-6. Although in final statistics the squad outscored their opponents 110-90, they lost five games by a total of twenty-one points. The highlight game of the season was the Bombers versus state ranked Carteret in which the Ramblers were trounced 25-6.

Not overshadowed by the seasonal record were many fine individual performances. The Bombers were widely proclaimed as the best 500 football team in the county. On the All-Middlesex County Football Squad, Bomber captain Ed Gorchinski was named to first team end and to first string group on the All-State level. Co-captain Marty Szarvas was named second team fullback, tackle John Tyskiewicz made third team, co-captain Bob Anderson became halfback, and center Walt Keller received an honorable mention.

Congratulations to all the boys who helped mold our defense minded team and best wishes for the unqualified success of next year's squad.

It was a much improved basketball squad which took the floor for Sayreville High this year. Behind a well balanced attack, the cagers beat some formidable opponents and again carried the Sayreville banner into the State Tournaments. This was an unusual season as the team sputtered, then spurted its way through twenty-two games. Overshadowing the few heartbreaking defeats were some thrilling victories. But this team accomplished something of immeasurable importance—it re-established Sayreville as a basketball power.

WRESTLING

Wrestling came into its own this year at Sayreville High. Due to increased student interest, there was a good turnout for the team and a jump in attendance at the meets. This was primarily a rebuilding year with sophomores and juniors holding better than half the posts. With a year's experience behind them, they should make Sayreville a winning team in 1964.

TRACK

Sayreville has been looking forward to one of its best track seasons this year. The team should have a perfect balance of experienced veterans and improving new prospects to insure the strong intrasquad competition which pushes athletes to excel. The return of Middlesex County shot put champion Ed Sowa will give Sayreville strength in the weights, and, if some of the new men come through, the team will have an edge over its opponents in the track events.

Over the winter Sayreville inaugurated a cross country program. There were only three meets this year, but next year a full schedule will be played. Since this year's team was comprised primarily of underclassmen, the team should have a solid nucleus next year.

Putting his trust in this year's team with six veteran lettermen—Rick Paprota, Ed Kozicki, Richard Kupcha, Terry Popowski, Dennis Dzergoski, and Phil Musso—coach John Wortley is optimistic for this season's record. Too, the success of the team depends upon a fine crop of promising underclassmen. They are expected to bolster an inexperienced pitching staff and to fill openings in the lineup left by last year's graduates. If they come along as is expected, Sayreville will have a fine baseball team for years to come.

Bat boy: John Wortley, Jr. First row, left to right: R. Kornacki, T. Rummel, J. Bettoli, Coaches V. Recine, J. Wortley, and H. Dill; M. Weresow, P. Musso, J. Bartkowitz. Second row: P. Slovik, S. Gozora, T. Popowski, M. Diffin, M. Mazuroski, D. Dzergoski, H. Clayton, W. Traszka, J. Greenhaus. Third row: R. Kupcha, F. Churchman, R. Paprota, E. Kozicki, J. Williams.

ALMA MATER

Ring out its fame
With praises ever new,
Extol its name
Our Alma Mater true;
With heads up-raised
And hearts that lead us always,
To victory, Our Alma Mater,
Sayreville High.
