FOREWORD

"Educated men are as much superior to uneducated men as the living are to the dead."

—Aristotle

So it was for those who lived during the "Golden Age of Greece," so it is for us—the Class of 1964—who are living in the twentieth century.

DEDICATION

To the teachers of the ancient past who have given us great truths, to our own teachers who have guided and taught us, and to the teachers of the future who must educate tomorrow's students we dedicate our yearbook.

ADMINISTRATION

DR. RICHARD S. POLLACK
Superintendent

MR. VINCENT ABBATIELLO
Assistant Superintendent

Man's problems tend to persist. Throughout the ages man has sought the purpose of life. No single answer has been found that is acceptable to all but the search has led to the development of many philosophies. One thought that has been basic to many philosophical dogmas is that "Truth" is the goal of all thought and, as a corollary, that thought must be based on knowledge. Since knowledge accrues through education, the educative process becomes the basic essential to a successful life. That this has been recognized for many centuries is attested by the philosopher and teacher Pliny the Elder who said:

"Man is the only one that knows nothing, that can learn nothing without being taught . . ."

May the experiences and contacts that you have had in our school system contribute to your search for Truth and your ultimate success and happiness.

R. S. Pollack
Superintendent

MR. HENRY COUNSMAN
Principal

The world today owes a great deal to the Ancient Greeks. From them came many of our ideas of democracy, our ideas of beauty. From them came much of our learning. Socrates, one of the most famous of the Greek teachers, taught that the greatest good in the world is knowledge. He believed that if a man knows what is right, he will do what is right.

Through the efforts of your teachers, you have been led to discover what is right. Treasure that knowledge. Keep it as a guide for a bright and successful future.

Vice Principal

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Board of Education, composed of nine elected members, and aided by a Secretary, Attorney, and Superintendent, strive to establish policies and promote the quality of education in the public schools of Sayreville.

The students at the High School receive many of the benefits from the Board programs. These include financial aid to the Extra-Curriculum activities, the maintenance of clean modern buildings and grounds, and the planning for future needs of the school system.

ENGLISH

The English department presents an extensive study of grammar and literature to students throughout their four years of high school and endeavors to instill within the student an appreciation and understanding of ancient and modern literature.

During his first two years, the student becomes acquainted with various types of literature, including mythology, poetry, and prose. Various periods and authors of American literature are covered during the junior year in addition to a short course of grammar. English IV is concerned with the development of literature and drama, with accent on the authors, periods, people, and culture of England.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

In past years, Sayreville offered three foreign languages to students—French, Spanish, and Latin. This year German has been introduced into the curriculum with much success. The student studies the language itself, its origin, the country where the language is spoken, and the culture of the people. The second year offers a more detailed study of grammar with more emphasis on conversation. Advanced study in French, Spanish, and Latin are devoted mainly to becoming more proficient in the use of the foreign languages.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Sayreville High School is proud of its fine social studies department which offers courses in Modern European History, World History, Contemporary History, Geography, and the required U.S. History I and II courses. Through these courses, students are given a better understanding and knowledge of the important countries of the world and their governments. Such knowledge begins when, as freshmen, students are required to take World History—a newly established phase in Sayreville's social studies program. Not only does World History serve as an introductory course, but provides the student with the basic ideas of history and democracy. The faculty of Sayreville is constantly endeavoring to impress upon the students the importance of history and the reflection of the past as mirrored in our twentieth century world.

SCIENCE

For students interested in practical and advanced science, the science department offers various courses in Basic Science, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. Students with a special interest in Biology and having completed one year, may further their study of the subject through Advanced Biology. Weekly laboratory periods are provided for students studying Chemistry and Physics wherein students learn laboratory procedures through various experiments. These laboratory periods provide the student with a realistic and basic knowledge of the course he is studying.

The Mathematics Department offers a comprehensive six-course program for the students that are preparing for professional fields. In addition to two years of algebra, one and one-half years of Geometry, and one-half year of Trigonometry, two elective courses are offered, one in Logic, and the other in Calculus. Students in this program are encouraged to do individual work projects. They also compete with each other and with other schools in mathematical contests.

For the student who will enroll in a technical school, or work full time after graduation, vocational courses in mathematics are offered. These courses include topics for the basic shop and drafting courses, as well as a year of Shop Mathematics. This latter course includes Logarithms and Triangle Trigonometry to prepare students for jobs in the machine and electric fields.

HOME ECONOMICS

The home economics department has courses geared to train and produce wise homemakers of the future. Courses such as Foods and Nutrition and Clothing and Textiles stress upon the student the importance of balanced and appetizing meals and the basic fundamentals of fashion. Senior Homemaking is a new course this year and is offered to senior girls. This course is designed to acquaint the student with the problems of maintaining a home, preparing wholesome meals and raising a family encountered by modern homemakers. Through this training, a broader knowledge of domestic difficulties and the ability to deal with them is acquired.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

For those students who like to create, the industrial art department trains students in the skills of shop work. Such training includes metal work, wood work, and auto mechanics, all of which are developed through basic and advanced courses of study. Other courses of study open to students are Electric Shop, Graphic Arts, Printing, and Drafting. Work in these courses prepares students to enter industrial occupations or professions in one of these fields of study.

ART

The courses offered by the Sayreville High School art department cover the basic art principles, advanced techniques, and art appreciation. The chief aim of the art department is to give the students a broader knowledge and understanding of art.

This is accomplished by students maintaining display boards, designing sets for the school theatrical productions, and individual projects that are placed on display or entered in competition at county art shows.

INSTRUMENTAL

Students learning to play instruments can put their efforts to work by joining the marching band, dance band, or concert band. Band members who have performed well enough through the year are given the opportunity to compete, and if fortunate enough, be chosen for All-County Band.

Not only do these courses endeavor to develop musical talent, but also provide the student with a better understanding and appreciation of various types of music.

BUSINESS

The business department has the task of training students in the fields necessary to fill the many positions in offices. The students are prepared to meet the various positions of the business world through such courses as Office Machines, Record Keeping, Typing I and II, Stenography I and II, and Business Law. In addition to classroom instruction, students in the Office Training Program are allowed to put their acquired skills to use by working in various offices during the second semester of their senior year. This type of training gives students a head start in the business world and provides valuable experience.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

Distributive Education is a business course which enables students to become acquainted with the fundamentals of buying and selling. During the course of the year, students enrolled in the Distributive Education program are given the opportunity to fill various positions of department stores in the area.

Not only does this on-the-job training provide the students with valuable experience, but it enables him to become realistically acquainted with this facet of the business world.

Distributive Education students also maintain the newly established Blue and Grey Shoppe which makes available to students various school supplies at a moderate price.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical Education is an important part of Sayreville High School's curriculum. Students are taught the importance of physical fitness, and during gym classes acquire skills in tumbling, apparatus, and sports. Also included in the Physical Education program are health courses which are covered during the freshman and sophomore years. Upon reaching his junior year, the student is introduced to Driver's Education which is followed by First Aid in his senior year. These courses provide the student with a better understanding of himself and those around him.

FRESHMEN

All of us were once freshmen and we will always remember that first hectic week of school when we could not open lockers or find the right class. The Class of 1968 experienced this inevitable confusion. But after becoming acquainted with their new home, they continuously surveyed their surroundings and endeavored to follow examples set for them by the upperclassmen.

This freshman class is one with an unusual number of ambitious members. Soon after, election of class officers took place under the guidance of the class advisors. Then homeroom presidents and Student Council representatives were chosen. Two freshman students participated in "Teens Against Polio." We hope that their stay at Sayreville War Memorial High will be an enjoyable one.

SOPHOMORES

The Class of 1967 returned to Sayreville High this year without the qualms that accompanied them last year as freshmen on that first day of school.

As sophomores, they jumped into the swim of many school activities. First on the agenda was the election of officers and sophomore homeroom presidents. These students and their advisors—Mrs. Irene Todd, Mrs. Phyllis Galbraith, Mr. William Bauer, and Mr. Robert Lawson—worked co-operatively for the good of their class. They participated in "Teens Against Polio" and held two dances. The most memorable of these was the traditional Sweetheart Dance, the highlight of the evening being the crowning of the sophomore King and Queen.

With arrival of spring, the sophomores proudly ordered their class rings which will arrive early next year.

With two successful years behind them, the Class of 1967 may look forward to two even greater ones in the future.

A prized moment—receiving school rings!

The Class of 1966 participated in many school activities this year. Their return to school was quickly followed by the election of class officers—those hard-working students who had the responsibility of guiding their class through a financially and socially successful year. They did this with the aid of their advisors—Mr. Gerald Stefanski, Mrs. Frances Hode, Mr. Walter Kawalec, and Miss Rosanne O'Donnell. Soon after elections, school rings arrived—an experience that will long be remembered by every junior. Gaity and decorations came with the usual assortment of dances which ensued through the fall and winter providing memories and entertainment for the class of '65. A policy of electing a president from each junior homeroom to insure better student representation was established. After Christmas recess, elected members of the class took part in "Teens Against Polio." As juniors, they also took part in Youth Week elections. With the arrival of spring came the participation in the Junior-Senior musical production, Camelot, which proved a rewarding experience. But by far, the most memorable experience was the highlight of the year, the long-awaited Junior Prom. After many hours of preparation, the Class of 1966 enjoyed their first formal affair—one which will never be forgotten.

With nothing but success behind them, this ambitious class will undoubtedly have a truly great senior year.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, under the direction of Mrs. Angelica Marra and Mrs. Irene Arthur, is composed of student representatives from each class. This year, one of the main goals of the Council was to promote a closer student-teacher relationship. Also, it has tried to give each student a voice in school activities.

The Student Council sponsored several assemblies, a dance at the opening of basketball season, "Teens Against Polio," "Save The Children Federation" clothing drive, Youth Week, and Homeroom of the Month contests. New policies established this year were the election of homeroom presidents and an organized permit system in the parking lot.

To promote inter-school relations, our Council sent delegates to the Rutgers Convention, county meetings, and participated in Student Exchange Day.

Sayreville High School's Student Council works for the benefit of both the students and the school.

"The Golden Age of Greece"—our Homecoming Float.

Everyone hard at work to meet the deadline.

QUO VADIS

The selection of the Editorial Staff in the spring of 1964 marked the genesis of the twenty-third edition of Quo Vadis. In September of 1964 the layout and organization of pictures and write-ups began, with editors and staff working co-operatively to be sure that Quo Vadis 1965 would be completed by March.

"The Golden Age of Greece" was selected as the yearbook theme, revolving around students, administration, and all facets of life at Sayreville War Memorial High School.

The Quo Vadis staff and the entire senior class wish to express their gratitude to Mr. James Todd, yearbook advisor. Without his help and patience through long hours of preparation the production of this book would have been an impossible task.

Quo Vadis 1965 will always bring a feeling of satisfaction to those who helped create it. It will be cherished by every senior, for whom this book represents the tears and laughter, sorrows and joy of four unforgettable years.

ECHO-LITES

Echo-Lites, Sayreville High's newspaper, is published five times a year to help promote students' interest in activities and journalism.

In each edition students may enjoy feature stories, sports, fashions, news, and various columns. The entire staff works together to produce a paper which is informative, interesting, and enjoyable to both the students and faculty.

With Mrs. Helen Pfeiffer as advisor, Echo-Lites is a member of Quill & Scroll, the National Honor Society for High School Journalists. Each year one issue is devoted to articles on tuberculosis and for this, Echo-Lites has been presented six times with the Stephen Crane Memorial Award by the Middlesex County Tuberculosis and Health League.

A new policy adopted this year was that of weekly work-shops, where various points of journalism and writing techniques were taught, helping to prepare those underclassmen who will someday take over the publication of Echo-Lites. These workshops, it is hoped, will help the newspaper to be as successful a publication in the future as it has always been.

ADVISOR

Mrs. Laverne Bauer

The Sayreville chapter of the National Honor Society this year is composed of thirty nine juniors and seniors who have been selected for membership by the faculty. This selection was based on scholarship, leadership, service, and character. In order to be eligible for membership in the National Honor Society, each student must have maintained a B average, have participated in school activities, and have rendered services in various forms to the school. Mrs. Laverne Bauer has sponsored the endeavors of this group.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PLAY "Seventeen"

The main theme of the Junior-Senior Play "Seventeen" presented on November twenty-first was teen-age problems. Willie Baxter, who had just turned seventeen, faced the problems of growing up—coping with his unsympathetic father, a tormenting kid sister and an overly sweet girlfriend. The solutions to these and other problems led to a very enjoyable and entertaining evening.

The play was under the direction of Mr. Frank Malanowski. All who attended must agree that his play was a huge success and a credit to all who participated.

As the house lights dimmed in the auditorium of S.W.M.H.S. on the evenings of April 22, 23, and 24, the audience was happily expectant—and a little doubtful—wondering if this year's joint musical production presented by the junior and senior classes would equal the success of last year's "The King and I." As the curtain opened, all doubts vanished. Camelot, by Lerner and Loewe, with all the pomp and pageantry of an age gone by was a tremendous success. It was an enchanting tale of King Arthur, Lady Guenevere, and the Knights of the Round Table.

From the first meeting of Arthur and Guenevere to the last dramatic scene, Camelot is a mixture of light comedy containing both tragic and romantic elements. Among the most impressive scenes were the love scene between Lady Guenevere and Sir Lancelot, the jousting tournament—one of the most colorful, and the final battle which concludes the production.

The roles of King Arthur, Lady Guenevere and Sir Lancelot were portrayed by Bruce Guenther, Alice Kolb, and Ken Wojcik, respectively. Joe Kolsby became Mordred, King Pellinore was played by Alfred Pawlowski, Morgan Le Fay by Veronica Muth and Nimue by Susan Cox. Many knights and ladies of the court were included in the cast and helped to make Camelot a memorable experience for everyone.

The undertaking was again directed by Mr. Charles White and Miss Ruth Zdanewicz. Various teachers and students aided with the many aspects of the production such as music, choreography, and makeup. To these people, the junior and senior classes of 1965 wish to express their gratitude for making Camelot a great success.

COLOR GUARD

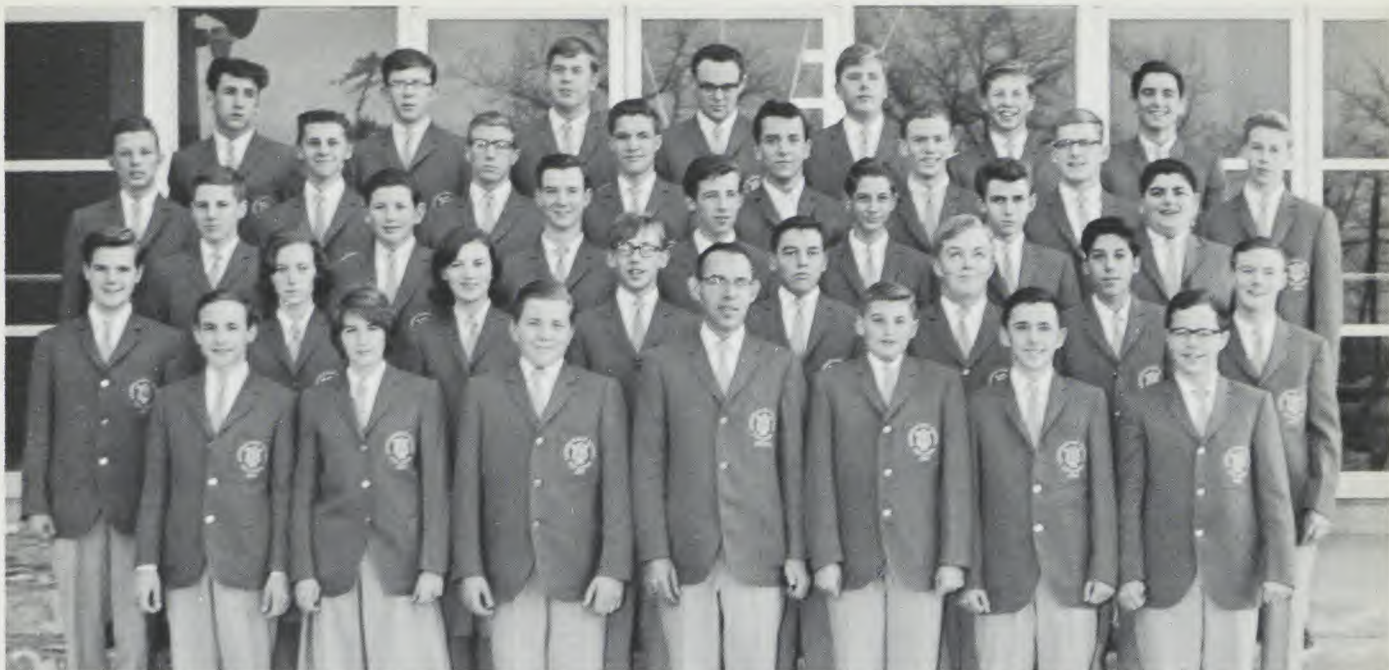

Bearing school and national colors, the 1964 color guard added a patriotic note to the festivities of football season. The squad, with new flags and rifles, led the band and twirlers onto the field for the national anthem. At half-time, two members of the color guard entertained the crowd with an excellent gun-twirling routine. The squad, under the direction of Mr. Mount, was enlarged to seven members this year.

MARCHING BAND

This year was one of great improvement for the SHS marching band. Due to the efforts of its director, Mr. Allan Mount, the band was outfitted with new blue and gray uniforms and new musical scores.

Football half-time was a treat for the crowds as SHS proudly marched onto the field. In addition to excellent marching routines, they presented such humorous skits as "Dr. Ben Crazy," a take-off on television medical shows, and "Campaign Capers," a spoof on smalltown senators.

Through the efforts of Mr. Richard Donelon, who teaches instrumental music at SHS, the number of qualified musicians in our school has increased. Thus, the band has grown in size and quality. It endeavors to improve itself more each year.

TWIRLERS

Sayreville High School's 1964 twirling squad has indeed shown true skill. They have won the admiration of many through splendid shows of various routines. The high-strutting girls, sporting new uniforms of blue and white, are under the fine direction of Mr. Allan Mount.

An added feature of the squad is Sayreville's twirling soloist, Anita Protenentis. Twirling two batons of fire at half-time shows has astounded spectators every time.

These qualities make the twirling squad outstanding and one of which our school can be proud.

GLEE CLUB

Sayreville High School's Glee Club, directed by Mr. Allen Mount, is comprised of girls with an interest and ability for singing various types of vocal arrangements. The club gave added holiday cheer to the Christmas variety show by singing an assortment of carols and entertained with a medley of songs at the annual Spring Concert.

BIOLOGY CLUB

The Biology Club is under the supervision of Mrs. Angelina Romano and provides opportunities for students to further their knowledge of biology. The club members participate in activities such as field trips and various projects.

CLUBS

LIBRARY COUNCIL

The Library Council is under the supervision of the school librarian, Mrs. Lorraine Simko. This group is comprised of students who work in the library before classes and during their study halls, serving the entire school.

MATH CLUB

The Math Club is sponsored by Mr. James Todd and Mr. George Evanovich. The club's main purpose is to develop problem-solving abilities and to promote a competitive spirit among the members. These "mathletes" periodically compete with math students from thirty other participating schools.

LITERARY CLUB

The Literary Club was organized under the direction of Mrs. Doris Resh. The members enjoy reading and discussing and writing poetry and prose. This year foundations were laid for the establishment of a literary magazine, Etuerpe—the music of lyric poetry.

GYM CLUBS

The boys' and girls' Gym Clubs are under the supervision of Mr. Jack Hefelfinger and Miss Patricia Rummings, respectively. The club meets weekly and endeavors to develop advanced skills in gymnastics, tumbling, and on apparatus. An all-important sense of good sportsmanship and fair play is promoted through friendly competition among the students.

Under coaches Inman and Nita, the basketball team ended the 1964-65 season with an 18 and 6 record. Hot all year, at one time they rolled off eight straight wins until stopped by Lakewood in the first game of the state tournament.

Jeff Osowski highlighted the season by breaking all Middlesex County scoring records. Fine rebounding by Bob Nita and Richie Marcus, as well as excellent ball handling by Bob Burdak, Wally Senkowski, and John Karlowitz added up to a successful season.

Although the Sayreville High wrestlers did not break the .500 mark this season they did manage a 4-7 record; tying last year's mark as the winningest season in Sayreville's wrestling history.

The boys were led by two new coaches: varsity mentor, Mr. Robert Decker, and J.V. coach, Mr. Arthur Schillar, along with managers John Gavel and John Murphy.

The team was whipped into shape by co-captains Gary Bodak, John Bergeron, and Bill Hausler, who also turned in very fine seasons. Gary went undefeated in regular season competition and John set a school record for the most pins in one season.

"What are you doing here?"

"Okay, I'll give you my homework."

No more spaghetti before the meets.

Go, Denny, go!

Although the team has lost all veteran weight men, the prospects for this year are still bright. Seniors Osowski, Thompson, Hausler, and Wallace form the nucleus of the team. They are backed solidly by Elwood and Mandy. Coaches Smith and Newcomer have been training the field and runners intensively.

CHEERLEADERS

The 1964-1965 cheerleading squad was truly a spirited one this year. Under the direction of Mrs. Miriam Fehrle, the girls displayed true school spirit by cheering the Bombers on to victory many a time. Perhaps their most prominent role during the year was their reproduction of the multitudes of signs throughout the football and basketball seasons. "Beat the 'Spatans'" will never be forgotten as well as the fun shared by all.

The Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Reserve Squads have completed a satisfactory year and did a fine job, a little bit of color and vivacity wherever they went.

ALMA MATER

Ring out its fame
With praises ever new,
Extol its name
Our Alma Mater true;
With heads up-raised
And hearts that lead us always,
To victory, our Alma Mater,
