To be Free . . .

Freedom has many and varied meanings, but freedom to an American is a way of life. It is an existence in which he is given the opportunity to fully participate in society. More important, however, is that he can strive as an individual to maintain and preserve the democratic tradition.

It is the job of each successive generation to sustain within and spread abroad the democratic philosophy. Every responsible American should defend his ideals when they are challenged, whether he be in the courtroom or classroom.

We owe much to the soldier who gives his life, to the orator who lends his voice, and to the writer who with his mighty pen protects and perpetuates the American way of life. For this is the existence in which we believe, and we shall strive to uphold this belief as we emerge into adulthood.

BOARD OF EDUCATION — SEATED: Mr. John Stanik, Mrs. Joan Clark, Mr. Danny DiPoalo, Mr. Joseph Kupsch. STANDING: Mr. Eugene Hayden, Board Attorney; Mr. John Haag, Mr. Cyril Rhatican, Mr. Lawrence Weston, Mr. John Zebro, Mr. John Zollinger.

BOARD of EDUCATION

Working in the better interests of our community, the Board of Education consists of nine devoted, industrious members. As representatives of our citizenry, the Board has as its objective the proper education of today's youth — tomorrow's adults. The Board establishes guidelines and policies for a meaningful academic program and supplementary extracurricular program so that each student may receive the utmost from his educational experience.

As Sayreville grows, so must the educational facilities. The Board is constantly working to enable the school system to grow with it. The continued expansion, organization, and operation of our school system is due to the efforts of the Board, to whom we extend our sincere appreciation.

Board Secretary Robert Fleming.

GUIDANCE

CARMELITA LUCITT
Seton Hall University, M.A.
Guidance Chairman

The most important problem facing the high school student is what he is going to do in the future. Preparation for the future begins in high school. The function of the Guidance Department is to help each student analyze and appraise his own abilities, aptitudes, and values and to select a suitable educational program in the light of this self-appraisal. The student is then encouraged to develop to his maximum capacity in accord with his needs, interests, and goals. Complete development of each student must take place on a social level as well as an academic one. The Guidance Department, by encouraging the student to expand socially as well as intellectually, aids in the development of a well-rounded individual.

The ability to communicate via the written and spoken word is a requirement for meaningful existence in our modern world. As our society becomes increasingly computerized, we are sometimes lost in the hubbub of activity. Self-expression becomes rare, sensitivities are diminished, and values change. The English Department aids in the development of a complete individual. The student is involved in a progressive program in which he is exposed to the literature of the past and present. As his exposure or educational experience increases, his character and personality grow. The student learns to communicate his own ideas and emotions through effective and efficient writing and speaking. Interpretive reading and attentive listening enable the student to absorb and analyze the ideas of others.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Although the world is constantly shrinking, lingual and social barriers are expanding. Knowledge of a foreign language is a social and personal asset. The ability to converse fluently in a foreign language and to appreciate another country's culture is characteristic of a broadminded person. Our French, German, and Spanish courses have been extended to four year programs, thus making possible a more thorough study of the language. Latin, from which many languages are descended, is offered on a two year basis. All courses begin with the audio-lingual approach and culminate in the translation of the literature. At this point the student attains an understanding of other people, thereby a better understanding of himself.

SOCIAL STUDIES

To understand the present and plan for the future, every person must be acquainted with the past. Though situations may change in time or setting, the problems facing every generation of Americans have all arisen from our desire for world peace and freedom. The objective of the History Department has always been to create a responsible participating citizenry. This year a weekly research program has been initiated. This enables the student to develop research techniques, to develop a scientific attitude, and to learn the historical method. In preparation for the responsibilities of adulthood, the student investigates the social, economic, and political problems of the twentieth century. An aware citizen is a good citizen, and one who is able to critically study the past is also capable of controlling the future.

Science, as we know it today, has become a separate and unique component in our daily lives. A high school student is curious about many areas of science. Each science student has the opportunity to solve problems by performing experiments and to learn about new scientific advances. However, most important, science teaches the student to think critically and to understand his relationship to the wonders of the rapidly changing technological world in which he is growing up. Rather than a series of cold facts, science has become a gratifying experience for the individual.

MATHEMATICS

When a student walks into a mathematics' class, he leaves a world of indecision, uncertainty, and imprecision and enters a fascinating world where precision, accuracy, and directness rule supreme. To the initiated student, the x's, y's, and strange symbols represent a language which can simplify the complexities of our new technical world. Measuring and computing solutions to problems are the prime concern of the shop math student. In algebra and geometry, the student concentrates on general principles of mathematics whose application is years off. Our universe follows a set of mathematical laws and principles. Application of proven principles to our individual lives results in more ordered and productive futures.

BUSINESS

Although the primary concern of the Business Department is the training of students to meet the needs of the business world, its aims also include the development of the mental and physical qualities of the student. It recognizes the fact that a student needs more than proficiency in typewriting, stenography, book-keeping, and other skills. The ever changing needs of business require that prospective employees be resourceful, adaptable, tactful, have a good command of written and spoken English, and be able to get along with their co-workers. Therefore, the business curriculum strives to meet the philosophy of our school by preparing students to "assume intellectually the duties of life, and advance constantly in the knowledge required to lead happy, useful lives."

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The Industrial Arts program is designed as an exploratory venture into the worlds of materials, machines, products, and processes that comprise our industrial society. The student develops his creative tendencies in his individual projects, which are supplemented by demonstrations and lectures. One of the prime objectives of the course is development of such attitudes and saleable skills that will enable the student to adjust more adequately to the duties and responsibilities of adulthood. In addition the student gains an insight into industry and its functions, appreciation of good design and craftsmanship, and information about the various occupations. The student becomes acquainted with all facets of the industrial world through the drafting, graphic arts, electronics, ceramics, auto mechanics, wood, and metal shop courses offered.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Sportsmanship, leadership, cooperation, and enthusiasm are important elements of our physical education program. The student participates four days every week in an invigorating program of team sports, individual sports, rhythms, and group games, and one day a week in a progressive health study program. Social, mental, emotional, and physical development and maturation are definite outcomes of this program. When a student learns that there is no "I" in the word "team," he has gained wisdom which will be an asset to him as he prepares to accept the responsibilities of adulthood. The well-rounded individual, physically and mentally fit, is what our school attempts to produce. Our physical education program aids in attainment of this goal by making the student aware of the people around him and by teaching him the importance of individual contribution toward a common goal.

HOME ECONOMICS

The recipe for a successful home and family calls for a cup of knowledge and a tablespoon of experience. Both ingredients are readily available through our Home Economics Department. The course provides instruction in food preparation, child care, sewing, housing, home furnishing, budgeting, and family and personal relationships. Classroom and laboratory experiences develop the practical skills characteristic of an efficient homemaker. The importance and responsibilities of the modern homemaker are examined during class discussions. The Home Economics Department implants in each student the confidence and knowledge that will enable her to be a good wife, mother, and homemaker.

MUSIC

Music is an elevated form of expression understood by all men throughout history. Music can communicate joy, sadness, despair, and hope. Music can be an outlet for emotion or a source of it. The Music Department's goal is to bring this universal possession within the grasp of our students. To acquaint them with our rich and significant musical heritage, the Music Department conducts the glee club, bands, musicals, concerts, and assemblies. These allow the students to develop, demonstrate, and appreciate vocal and instrumental talents.

ART

Crude etchings on cave walls, classic Renaissance masterpieces, psychedelic creations of the present—art is a diary of man's existence, a history of human creativity. Endeavoring always to instill in every student an aesthetic awareness of his surroundings, the Art Department offers courses on a one to three year basis. Basic art reproduction skills are taught initially. Gradually, the student progresses to free-hand sketches, water paints, and oils. Class projects are apropos to the season. The corridors, stage, and classrooms are showplaces of the art student's talents.

To be an Underclassman . . .

A class ring, a prom bid, a heart full of memories—these and many more priceless experiences are definitely a part of the junior year at Sayreville High School. To be active and interested has been a successfully accomplished goal for the Class of 1969. Launching their yearly activities with the election of class officers and Student Council representatives, the junior class quickly set a fine example as "upperclassmen." Their participation in the annual Teens Against Polio campaign and support of the dramatic activities is indicative of their spirit and enthusiasm. The time and effort contributed in these activities is a worthwhile investment. Through a greater acceptance of responsibility and increasing ability to formulate and fulfill plans, the Class of 1969 has been made aware of the initiative and foresight necessary for their next role—that of a "mighty Senior."

Junior class officers Walter Miros, Vice-President; Janet Hunkele, Secretary; Linda Carney, Treasurer; and Bob Gaspertich, President, look forward to a bigger and better year.

Guiding the Juniors through their first year as upperclassmen are Mr. John Hefelfinger, Mrs. Suzanne Emma, Mrs. Linda Buono, and Mr. Theodore Wybraniec.

Collecting from the Juniors: Donna Hahneman and John McDonnell.

The Big Day arrives!

But I need my Vitamin C.

If at first you don't succeed . . .

Juniors have culture!

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS: Bob McFadden, President; Gary Unkel, Vice-President; Lorraine Vargo, Secretary; and Anne Elwood, Treasurer.

Between the confusion of the freshman year and the excitement of the junior year, is a space of time categorized as the sophomore year. In this period of increased activity, the Class of 1970 has done much to have its voice and talents recognized. Honorable mention during Blue and Gray Week is only one of the honors taken by the class. The annual Sweetheart Dance, brightened by the presence of the sophomore royalty, was a social success. The key word for this year's sophomore class is definitely self-reliance. They are proud of their new status and eagerly anticipate the exciting role of upperclassmen.

Advisors Mrs. Vija Hazners, Mr. Richard Kahrman, Mr. Thomas Michaels, and Mrs. Marcia Wybraniec make that in-between year count.

Sophomore "TAPpers" Penny Lyfko and Ralph Arden.

The Soph Royalty: Robert McFadden and Linda Supak.

Now what?

Well, you can't win 'em all!

What is a freshman? To the surprise of the upperclassmen, he is an active member of the student body. Working in his own, often confused way, a freshman displays a great amount of innocent eagerness. To be a "frosh" is an exciting, exasperating, maddening, and stimulating experience. His initiation into high school life may be difficult. But once he has adjusted to the additional responsibilities, the "frosh" is eager and willing to contribute. With the help of their advisors, the newly-elected class officers led their class through a highly productive year. Not only was their dance a grand success but their Teens Against Polio candidates made a fine showing. Their vigorous participation in all aspects of school life indicates a highly successful and enjoyable high school career.

QUO VADIS

The words "Quo Vadis" come from Latin and are translated "Whither Thou Goest." The cover of our yearbook may ask where you are going but the contents tell you where you have been. "Quo Vadis '68" is a pictorial record of the academic and extra-curricular activities at Sayreville High School during the 1967-1968 school year.

Starting in their junior year, the editors, with their advisor Mr. Gerald Stefanski, attend yearbook conferences and lectures to learn the fundamentals of yearbook editing. The real work begins in the fall and continues until spring. During these months it is not unusual to see a solitary light burning in the Publications Room. The task is a huge one, the responsibility great, but the rewards many. For when that special day comes, every graduate takes with him three very special things—a heartful of memories, a diploma, and a yearbook.

Acting as the directing power and organizing force of the activities sponsored in Sayreville High School, the Student Council is the embodiment of leadership, responsibility, and participation.

Under the guidance of advisor Mrs. Angelica Marra and assistant advisor Miss Marianne Kwiatkowski, the entire student body has been represented through various council programs. Open meetings and "Complaint Day" gave students a chance to voice their opinions; a "Keep the School Clean" campaign and "March of Dimes" drive gave them a chance to prove their interest. Blue and Gray Week, Homecoming, Youth Week, the Sing-a-Ling, Freshmen Orientation, "Player of the Week" showcases, and the Teens Against Polio campaign are some of the many Council sponsored activities. The Council also adopted a foreign child, sent packages to needy families, and sponsored a foreign exchange program. Throughout the year the members of the Council worked not for themselves but for the betterment of Sayreville High School.

Members of the Press.

What we need is creativity.

Promoting school unity by keeping everyone aware of the current news and happenings, Echo-Lites covers all aspects of student life via news, features stories, and sports articles. Controversial editorials and humorous cartoons and features comment directly and subtly on school and community conditions.

As an educational experience guided by Mr. William Bauer, Echo-Lites enables students to learn various newspaper techniques and to develop writing skills. Workshops are organized in which the section editors introduce new staff members to the world of journalism.

The highlights of the journalists' year are attendance at the annual National Columbia Convention in New York City and the election of outstanding student journalists to Quill and Scroll, the national honor society for high-school journalists.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The highest honor the faculty can bestow on a student is election to the National Honor Society. Election to the society is a distinct honor as it represents the recognition of the traits of outstanding scholarship, leadership, character, and service in the student.

With the aid of advisor Miss Annette Sowa, the society provided a year-long tutoring service and held successful fruitcake and brownie sales, the proceeds of which went toward their scholarship fund.

The highlights of the year included the Christmas dinner, the Annual Reception, the Induction Ceremony, and the Spring Picnic.

NATIONAL THESPIAN SOCIETY

A relatively new organization at Sayreville High, the Thespians spent most of the year establishing the basis for operating the society and for admitting new members. The officers, with the aid of their advisor, Miss Ruth Zdanewicz, worked out a point system which established the minimum credits needed for election to the society.

Originality was a keynote in the Thespians fund raising activities. In the fall they sponsored a candy apple sale, the first of its kind at Sayreville. The club also manages the refreshment concession at the dramatic presentations.

There are many services which are vital to a successful program of high school dramatics. One of the most important of these is provided by the members of the Paint and Powder Club. Their skills—converting Sayreville's thespians into anything from monsters to South Sea islanders—have been a major contributing factor to the success of all our theatrical endeavors. Under the direction of Mrs. Irene Todd and with the advice of experts in the field of make-up, the girls are constantly increasing their skills and improving their techniques to maintain the high standards of performance established by the club.

SOUTH PACIFIC

To be on a South Sea island surrounded by palm trees, native girls, flowers, native girls, boor's teeth bracelets, and native girls was the ambition of the cast (specifically, the sailors) and crew of this year's Junior-Senior Musical. The story evolved around a love affair between a cockeyed WAVE, Nellie Forbush, and a dignified plantation owner, Emile d'Becque, portrayed by Sandra Campbell and John Januszewski, respectively. Adding a touch of color to the set were the vivid characters of Luther Billis and Bloody Mary, alias Bill Kennedy and Rochelle Mauro.

The play was a grand success due to the creative efforts of Directress Miss Ruth Zdanewicz and Choreographer Mr. Leo Muller. The crew's efficient handling of the technical aspects of the production under the direction of stage managers Debbie Devlin and Eileen Beebe was an important factor in the success of the play, as was the excellent job done by the orchestra, set decorators, make-up artists, and costumers. "South Pacific" was the culmination of many hours of work by students and faculty members, all of whom are to be applauded.

ARSENIC and OLD LACE

On the night of December 15th, Sayreville became the "scene of a crime." In the warmly lit living room of two sweet, gentle spinsters, many a weary traveler met his fate in a glass of wine. The white-haired darlings were portrayed by Rose Burns and Karen Downey. As they offered their arsenic wine to their guests, Teddy, insanely portrayed by Bill Kennedy, dug their graves in the cellar, which was really the Panama Canal. Or is it the other way around? Add to the situation a drama critic (Henry Zupko), a minister's daughter (Gretchen Brown), a fiendish plastic surgeon (Danny McCarthy), a willing patient (Ken Murch) with an uncanny resemblance to Frankenstein, and some bumbling police officers, and an uproarious comedy is the result. The initial bewilderment and confusion was soon replaced by the best medicine of all—laughter, and the play ended as a grand success.

Fashion ran the gamut in the halls of Sayreville High this year. Sponsored by the Student Council the purpose of Blue and Gray Week is to foster school spirit. The week began with the junior theme—Sports Day—and the halls were alive with tennis "champs" and football "pros." The sophomore's theme was Circus. Students and faculty stiffened at the crack of the lion-tamer's whip while the clowns and tightrope walkers followed the popcorn venders through the halls. The "Frosh" "flapped" around in fringed skirts and raccoon coats in reliving the fashion popular during the Roaring Twenties. Always eager to honor their parents, the seniors donned the garb of high school students during the 1940's and 1950's. They not only captured the money prize but also aroused puzzled looks from their parents and teachers, who were probably thinking, "We never looked like that!!" Friday, Dress Up Day, concluded the fun week. Robert Burns, had he been in Sayreville High, would never have said,

FOOTBALL

Teamwork and desire were the keynotes of this year's football squad. This season, the Bombers were faced with a long, hard rebuilding program. However, a great team effort and the diligent coaching of mentor Tom Michaels and his staff were the main assets of the Sayreville team. The all-important victories came against Hamilton, Steinert, and Piscataway. Even though they failed to break even on their seasonal record, the Bombers were never a team to be taken for granted. Their consistently good performances on both offense and defense made them worthy opponents for all their adversaries.

Guiding the Bombers to a successful season are this year's coaches: Michael Wagner, Joseph Nita, Head Coach Thomas Michaels, Norbert Smith, and Ronald Gundry.

Soccer, introduced at Sayreville only last year, came into its own as a varsity sport this year. Under the direction of Coach Jack Hefelfinger and his assistant, John Rennie, the Bombers entered their first season of varsity competition. The Bombers were an exciting, explosive team. A fast, heads-up offense and an effective defense were responsible for this rating. The performance of the 1967 soccer squad has earned the sport an important niche in the ever-widening Sayreville sports scene.

BASKETBALL

For the Bomber cagers, the 1967-68 season was one of innovation. The first was the emergence of a new coaching staff which saw Mr. Tom Pugliese as the varsity coach, assisted by Mr. John Rennie. Under Coach Pugliese the Bombers employed many new tactics, including a new man-to-man defense. A lack of any significant height on the team was the only factor which kept them from improving their record of 10-11. Good sportsmanship and a unique brand of team spirit made this year's team a credit to the uniform they wore and to the school they represented.

Aving the fans as well as the opposing teams with their dazzling display of "powderpuff" basketball, the girls showed themselves to be one of the better teams in the area. On the court the girls have combined aggressiveness with hospitality and congeniality and have shown themselves to be an integral part of the Sayreville sports' picture.

WRESTLING

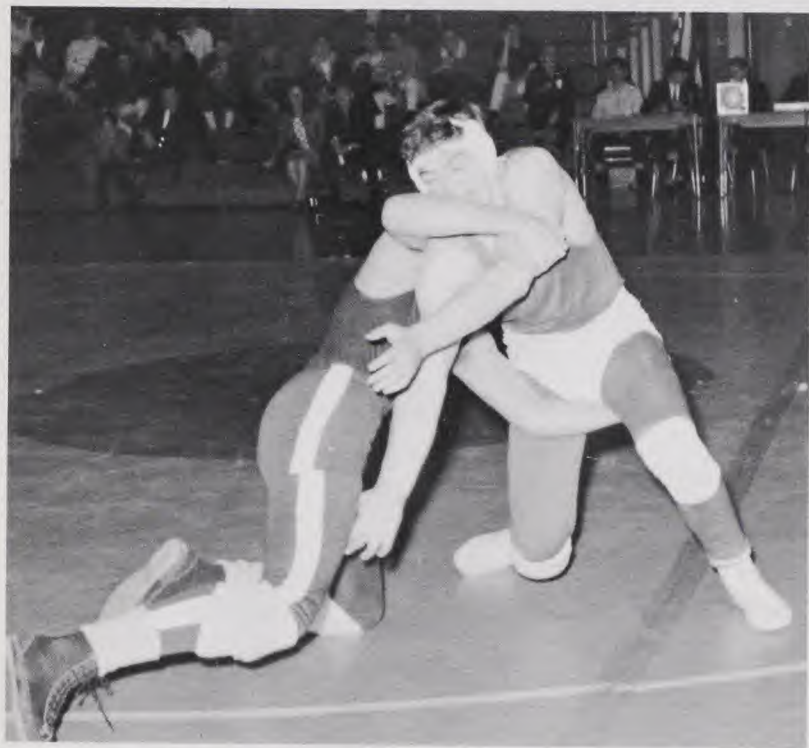

Sayreville High is justifiably proud of this year's wrestling team. The team worked quite hard, and finished the season with a record of 4-7. The key word of the team was perseverance. All during the season, the wrestlers could be seen running around the school or gym, doing their calisthenics, and practicing their skills. A keen sense of team spirit and pride in individual accomplishments were two of the team's assets. Their display of good sportsmanship in an understandably rough sport typifies the ideals of high school athletics.

Guiding the team to a successful season are coaches Robert Decker and Lynn Paul.

Keeping a close watch on the meet are captains Mike Stanjeski and Vinnie Marcello.

1967 VARSITY GYMNASTICS TEAM — 1ST ROW: J. Dahl, H. Giles, J. Orlasky, J. Kehoe, C. Farfel. 2ND ROW: G. Brown, G. Guido, W. DeMauro, K. Pynckels, T. Tighe, R. Kenny, T. Scott. 3RD ROW: D. Domzal, E. Tengelics, D. Musso, D. Tengelics, J. Lieb, D. Mosakowski, T. Unkel, E. Yanoski, E. Kowalsky.

Gymnastic captains John Orlasky, John Dahl, and Gene Tengelics.

During their second year of varsity competition, the Sayreville War Memorial High School Gymnastic Team did extremely well. In compiling a season record of 7-3, the Bombers have proven themselves to be skilled gymnasts. Team solidarity was the key to their success. Excellent showings in the individual events, as well as good team performances, were the decisive factors. With a large number of underclassmen on the team, Coach Jack Hefelfinger looks forward to another exciting year.

GYMNASTICS

Training Sayreville's Gymnasts is the job of Coach Jack Hefelfinger.

Coach Hefelfinger helps Tom Tighe perform the difficult "yamashita" vault.

Herb Giles performs the difficult "iron cross."

Tom Scott displays his prowess on the parallel bars.

Ed Yanoski demonstrates his top-notch side horse routine.

Gene Tengelics swings up into his fast paced high bar routine.

Marie Rathbun approaches for a stoop vault.

Jill Monath practices a handstand for her free exercise routine.

Lu Criscuolo prepares for a cartwheel.

Poised and still before her dismount is LouAnn Farfel.

Successfully completing a vault is Marie Rathbun.

Nancy Veit begins her dismount.

The girls' coach, Mrs. Janet Hefelfinger, is flanked by the team co-captains, Anne Elwood and Jill Monath.

GIRLS' GYMNASTICS

Poise, grace, athletic ability, and appearance are the factors taken into consideration by the judges at a girls' gymnastics meet. They are also an accurate description of the members of our team, who combine all these ingredients and come up with the end result — victory. Ably coached by Mrs. Janet Hefelfinger, the girls entered their first year as a full-fledged team this season. Hard hours of practice on the uneven parallel bars, balance beam, side horse, and free exercise routines are their formula for success. We applaud the opening of this new area of endeavor for girls with an interest in athletics.

BASEBALL

The 1968 season was successful for the Sayreville War Memorial High School Baseball Team. The return of several varsity lettermen from last year was a favorable factor for the team. Backed by a strong pitching staff, veteran fielders, and experienced coaching of Mr. John Wortley, the Bombers enjoyed another fine season. The success of the team depended heavily upon strong hitting, quick thinking, and fast fielding. The 1968 baseball team has carried on the winning tradition at SWMHS.

Shipman, K. Sopher, W. Rathbun. 5TH ROW: E. Farley, G. Buyofski, A. Fodi, R. Pinkowski, J. Platt, B. Macko, D. Hess, J. Treichakowski.

TRACK and FIELD

The leadership of a new coach and the advantage of a year-round running schedule contributed greatly to the success of the track team this season. The trackmen had gained valuable experience in running cross-country in the fall and indoor track during the winter. The training program of Coach Ron Gundry also contributed to the overall excellence of the team.

The high point of the season was the hurdle relay team. The four-man team, composed of Jerry Carney, Bill Rathbun, Paul Szawaryn, and Ron Gutkowski, smashed the national record for the high hurdles. The 1968 track team will long be remembered in the annals of sports at Sayreville High.

Coach Ron Gundry gives some pre-meet instructions.

"I just CAN'T do it!"

Captain Jay Mascari and Coach Ron Gundry confer before a meet.

CROSS COUNTRY

Cross-country running was just introduced at Sayreville War Memorial High School this year. Aspiring to make a good showing in their novice year, the members of the team could be seen running their course around the school and the various athletic fields. The long, hard hours of practice paid off with a record of 6-4. Cross-country has now become an accepted part of the fall calendar of sports at Sayreville.

Homeward Bound.

Sunday afternoon on the freeway!

1967 TWIRLING SQUAD — BOTTOM ROW: B. Horter, L. Monks, K. Gilde, D. Norel. TOP ROW: B. Skurka, J. Conlin, D. Kukulski, M. Bjelka, D. Kozlowski, M. Montemurno.

Leading the squad is captain Dale Dube.

TWIRLERS

Stepping out with the marching band during the football season are Sayreville's twirlers. Under the direction of Mrs. Suzanne Emma and led by captain Dale Dube, the twirlers work out routines to accompany the band's half-time shows. Their original routines and displays of twirling skill are a highlight of the season, and add to the enjoyment of the Saturday football games. The twirlers plan to broaden their scope by entering competitions against other twirling units.

One, two, cha, cha, cha.

The squad is under the direction of Mrs. Suzanne Emma.

1967 VARSITY CHEERLEADING SQUAD: C. Kutz, N. Weston, K. Offenburger, N. Hefferman, C. Dohn, J. Kloc.

CHEERLEADERS

A familiar sight at all Sayreville War Memorial School sports events are the cheerleaders. Their spirited yells and snappy routines are an integral part of every sports event at Sayreville. This year a new straight-arm style of cheering was introduced. This technique gave each cheer a distinctively new quality. The sight of the spirited girls in the "blue and gray" at all games and meets is both an encouragement to the athletes and an invitation to the student body to support their teams. The 1967-68 cheerleading squad has certainly carried on the fine tradition of cheering at Sayreville.

Capability and congeniality are the trademarks of their advisor Mrs. Miriam Ferhle.

Always smiling and full of pep are this year's captains Ann Pulnik and Marge Zeller.

1967 JUNIOR VARSITY CHEER-
LEADING SQUAD — KNEELING:

Zuke stretches for the deuce.

One, two, three, KICK!

A study in concentration.

Sayreville's own Andy Capp!

"All right, recruit, where's the shine on those shoes!"

Some friendly advice from Mr. Recine.

"Tag, you're it!"

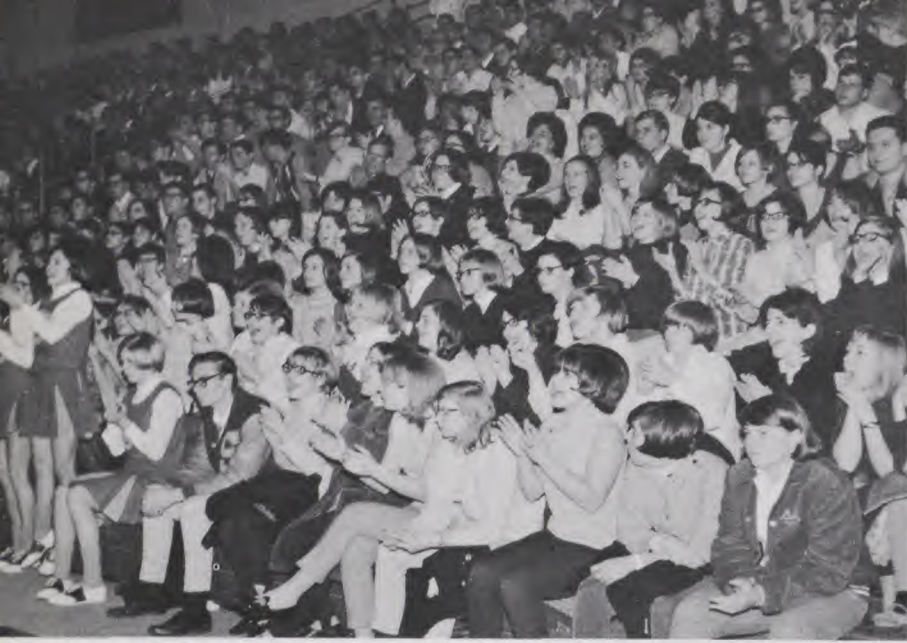

The start of another great Homecoming.

A real knock-down, drag-out game.

Bombers on the move.

... to be spirited!

ALMA MATER

Ring out its fame
With praises ever new,
Extol its name
Our Alma Mater true;

With heads up-raised
And hearts that lead us always,
To victory, our Alma Mater,
Sayreville High.
