The senior class of nineteen hundred and seventy-one presents

Quo Vadis

Sayreville,
New Jersey

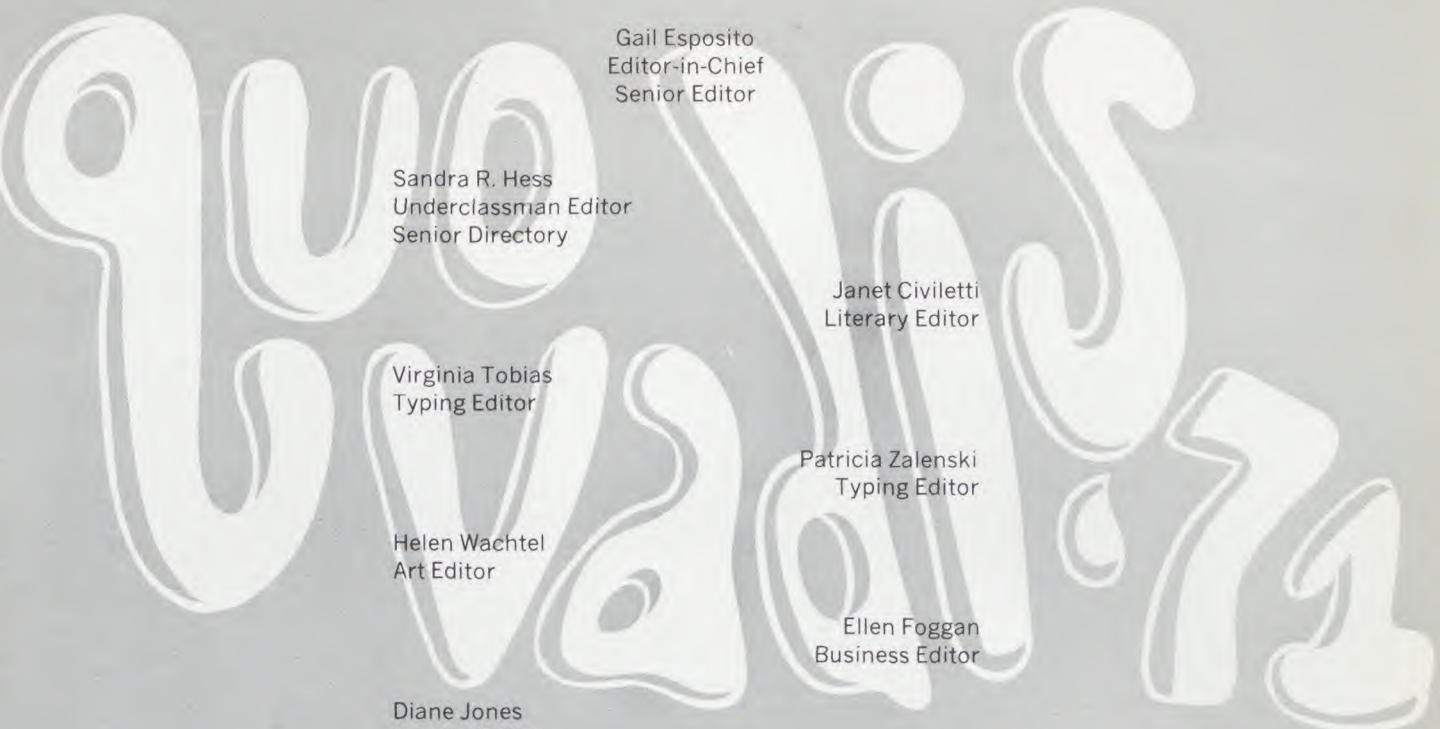

Foreword

Transition briefly stated is change. And change is what we have done in our years at Sayreville High. Transition is what we wish to express in this yearbook.

The Class of Seventy-One is the last class to enter SWMHS as freshmen. In our four years we have seen bomb scares, teachers' strikes, a dress code change, a soda machine by the gym and a school trip to Italy. These activities, along with all the conventional school experiences, are responsible for changes within ourselves. With the guidance of our teachers and advisors, we have become more aware of the contemporary as a result of new experiences, thereby better understanding ourselves. Along with our growth we have acquired freedom and, along with freedom, responsibility. Hopefully in this transition from freshman to graduate, we have matured enough to build and improve with our new-found freedom and to be worthy of responsibility. To our administrators, teachers, and advisors, we are grateful.

Seated l. to r.: Mrs. Elizabeth Marcinczyk, Mr. Cyril Rhatican, Mr. Andrew Piatek, Mr. Daniel Di-Paolo; Standing: Mr. Joseph Kupsch, Mr. John Haag, Mr. Edward Neminski, Mr. Laurence Weston, Mr. Douglas Cowan.

The Board of Education and the Superintendent of Schools are the overseers of the Sayreville educational programs. These capable men and women not only provide allowances for class trips and busses for athletic activities but also give deserving students an Annual Awards Banquet.

They've worked tirelessly and unselfishly during the past year to provide needed services that benefit all the students of the borough. The students here and now say "Thank You."

ADMINISTRATION

The cumulative forms of man's expression in a given culture during a particular time period form the legacy of that era. Man has a need to express himself and his choices combine to form an historical imprint. All expression, however, has two dimensions: one, negative and destructive; the other, positive and creative. Negative expression requires only the ability to criticize and leave voids; positive expression creates, fills voids, and advances man's horizons. All generations, therefore, must concern themselves with the cultural legacy they create — make yours a time of dynamic energy, not a cycle of desolation and waste.

GUIDANCE

The Guidance Department assists the student in assessing and understanding their ability, aptitudes, interests and educational needs. It makes available information regarding educational and occupational opportunities and requirements and helps the student to make the best possible use of these opportunities through the formulation and achievement of realistic goals.

Through the counseling relationships, the student is helped to understand himself in relation to the world in which he lives, to accept himself as he is and to develop personal decision making competency to resolve special problems.

FACULTY

Transition, turmoil and change — such are the elements which shape the forces for today's world and through which history teachers try to prepare students for contemporary living.

Emphasizing the maxim that concepts are more important than facts, teachers of United States and Modern European Histories, using both chronological and topical approaches, apply the "why's" of past history to understanding the modern world. Other elective subjects bolster such concepts with specific reference to the present. Civics, Economics, Current and Contemporary Histories analyze the social, political and economic conditions which contribute to the world in transition.

The goal of the History Department — to create better citizens — may be cliché. However, when students face world problems with real understanding, the resultant active, better-informed citizenry can transform turmoil into constructive change.

The mathematics program at Sayreville War Memorial High School serves two main educational purposes. The courses prepare students for future careers and job opportunities, while the clubs provide a medium for fun while learning.

Industrial mathematics, for students preparing for technical or trade jobs, has its base in construction and drawing, with the measurement of lines and angles. Geometry, algebra, and trigonometry provide a sequence for students interested in professional careers that require degree programs in universities. Sets, probability, and calculus are available as electives for students anticipating careers in engineering, mathematics, or teaching.

The mathematics program is not all work. Just for fun, the Math-letes function for students interested in unusual and different types of problems. A Math Club schedules activities of general interest, and usually sponsors an annual computerized dance.

SCIENCE

The two-fold goals of the Science Department demonstrate its outward look to the future. The department aims, first of all, to develop a student's scientific thought. Through observing and experimenting the science student discovers many amazing facets of life. This prepares a student for the many challenges he will meet in the outside world. Secondly, and of most value, the student will learn to think objectively and to apply his knowledge within a practical context.

More students are realizing the value of science; they are becoming aware of the scientific and technological advances in the world. This brings about a larger enrollment in the Science program each year.

ENGLISH

Students have a singular opportunity to develop skills and appreciations in their English classes. In the required courses, every effort is made to help the individual student to develop the language skills he will need as a worthwhile member of adult society as well as to introduce him to the ideas, philosophies, and controversies inherent in historical and contemporary literature. The student can develop his interests and abilities through a variety of activities such as individual and group projects, creative writing, dramatizations, small group discussions, film-making, or class booklets. Students who have special interests can pursue them further in the elective courses — Composition, Creative Writing, Drama I, Drama II, Journalism, Readings in Philosophy, Speech, or World Literature. It is anticipated that soon even more electives will be offered, and additional enriching experiences will become part of the regular curriculum.

The primary aim of the Foreign Language Department is to develop the ability of the student to understand, speak, read and write the language being studied. The offerings are in French, German, Latin, Russian and Spanish.

The student is required to take a minimum of two years of one language to cover the basic groundwork. For those who excel in the language and are interested in continuing the language in college, perhaps to pursue a language career, advanced courses in the third and fourth year are offered.

The Foreign Language Department has rapidly expanded in recent years and gives no evidence of slowing down its present rate.

BUSINESS

Although business education is normally thought of as vocational education, it includes many valuable personal-use courses. Some of these are recordkeeping, business law, and consumer education. These classes represent the only real opportunity many young people have of learning how to manage their own personal business affairs.

Federal statistics reveal that the average family head makes over $200,000 during his lifetime. He must provide himself and his family with basic necessities and with as many luxuries as he can afford, such as financing a home, providing an education for his children, buying insurance, maintaining tax records, etc.

Business law can help to provide him with an understanding of contract negotiations and how to avoid legal entanglements. Recordkeeping develops skills in keeping personal tax records, balancing the checking account, and budgeting. Consumer education develops his knowledge of effective buying.

These personal business courses can help to contribute to a more efficient and responsible future generation.

ART

Education aims to foster intellectual and social growth of every student, thereby developing worthy citizens. To this end, art and music education in high school aim to stimulate in the student the desire to create, and to help him improve the manner in which he expresses himself. At the same time, it aims to encourage the experience of appreciating by acquainting him with examples of the arts of various peoples, both of the present and the past. Thus, it is the purpose of the art and music departments to meet the general needs of all students as well as the special needs of those with outstanding promise and aptitude in the arts.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The Industrial Arts program offers to those who desire it a course designed to give the students a knowledge of the principles of industry and its methods of functioning.

Students are trained for competent performance in certain industrial and vocational areas. One prime objective of their training is to develop not only skills but attitudes which will allow the students to adjust more easily to the duties and responsibilities of adult life.

The opportunity to study industry is given in areas of metal work, machine shop, automotives, electricity and electronics, graphic arts, drafting, photography, plastics, ceramics, and wood. Upon completion of basic and advanced courses in these areas students are equipped to enter into industrial occupations in these fields.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The development of physical skill, strength and dexterity as well as a sense of well-being and sportsmanship may be described as the long-range goals of the Physical Education Department. Students are given the opportunity to excel in a variety of team sports such as hockey, soccer, softball and football. In addition, opportunities to develop dexterity at individual sports are also available in archery, gymnastics, track and field which range throughout the seasons from fall through early summer. Students are even invited to participate in coeducational activities such as square dancing.

The department is not limited to physical activities, however, as practical safety and service to the community are encouraged in classroom activities throughout a three-year study. A combination of practical demonstration and the widely-varied use of audio-visual aids bring subject matter in the fields of health, civil defense, first aids and community hygiene into practical perspective to the students.

With such a well-rounded program, it is hoped that the students will face the future physically and mentally fit to deal with the problems of the modern world.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Using cars donated by neighboring dealers, eligible juniors receive six hours of "on-the-road" practice as well as weekly classroom theory. Thus, students not only develop safety habits while driving, but also benefit from reduced insurance rates upon successful completion of the course.

Sayreville, in having this program, is participating in the current safe-driving program initiated by the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles to reduce the high accident rate in the state.

The ingredients for managing a successful home and family, or conversely in our modern world, a successful career and home, are readily available through the Home Economics Department.

Courses dealing with all facets of home living, whether it be a small apartment or a large home, include clothing construction, foods and nutrition, housing and home furnishings, child growth and development and family relations. Class and laboratory enable students to acquire the skills which they as career women, wives, or mothers, will find necessary.

This year, opportunity for additional skills are offered in the Beauty Culture course. Offered on a two-year basis, this class offers opportunity for study of hair care, cosmetology and preparation for state examinations for a beauty operator's license.

QUO VADIS

If you're reading this printed page, it means we've finally made the last headline. The battlescarred editors can now catch-up on much-needed rest after meeting deadlines often from 7 to 10 o'clock at night.

This year we tried to put together a yearbook that would recall for the senior class many of the ordinary and unusual activities of our class. Our creative writing abilities have reached their limit. We've plowed through literally hundreds of pictures and come up with these. The pictures and write-ups have become part of new-layouts to produce this book for the Class of Seventy-One.

Literary and typing editors Janet Civiletti and Virginia Tobias — "I'll write, you type."

Helen Wachtel, art editor — creativity in action.

Underclassmen editor Sandy Hess with faculty editors Wanda Niezgoda and Diane Jones complete a layout.

Can't we have some organization?!?

ECHO LITES

CINDY WIAMER, Editor-in-Chief, with advisor MRS. MARI PEARLMAN.

All those last minute details!!

Making plans for the next addition.

The 1970-71 staff of ECHO-LITES enjoyed a successful year with advisor Mrs. Mari Ann Pearlman and editor-in-chief Cynthia Wiemer.

Staff members will always cherish such memories as writing articles during eighth period for a 3:00 deadline, and furtively counting closets for a top secret project. Students will remember a welcome interruption of class, Echo-Lites bringing them the latest news in Sayreville High, literary attempts, stinging editorials, and never-ending satire on life in SWMHS. Faculty members are not likely to forget being cross-examined for a great "human-interest" feature, or the cry of "... But you have to let me out of class — it's for Echo-Lites!"

For both students and faculty, this was a good year for journalism at Sayreville High, and a memorable experience was gained from this organization.

Reporters of the press.

Can you find the two non-Council members?

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, made up of many hard-working students from all classes interested in the progress of our school, has a motto: "Work for those who have elected you." This year's active council members have achieved what seemed impossible in past years — a liberal dress code and a soda machine. The Council Calendar began with sophomore orientation, and then proceeded with Homecoming, Blue and Gray Week, and various raffles.

Outside school activities, the Council had been involved in many clothing drives, and a fund-raising movie for the March of Dimes.

Most of the Student Council's projects have been centered around student participation. They have realized that nothing can be accomplished without the active support and involvement of the student body.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Scholarship, leadership, character, and service are the foundations upon which the National Honor Society is built. In the fall of each year, the faculty chooses from the top ten percent of the senior class those students who best illustrate these qualities. In the spring, another election is held. At this election, another five percent of the seniors are eligible for membership. In addition, a highly selective group of outstanding juniors are also eligible for membership.

Following the spring election, the newly elected members are invited to a reception after school to celebrate their achievement. Later in the spring, the annual candle-lighting ceremony is held at which the new members are officially inducted into the society.

Sayreville High celebrated Homecoming 1970 on October 24 with floats on parade. The sophomores presented their float "Bomb the Rams", followed by the juniors' "Bombers are King" and the senior float of memories, "Plenty of Success." The Student Council float entitled "Dreams of Sunshine" carried the five Homecoming candidates, Bridget Potthoff, Kathy Barbieri, Mary Cegerenko, Donna Spezzi, and Beth McGuffey. Prior to the game, Beverly Dolgos, Homecoming Queen of 1969, crowned Mary Cegerenko the new queen. Assisting Beverly was Charles Cunliffe, Student Council President, who tallied the ballots and kept this "secret" until the moment of the coronation. To end a perfect day, Marie and her court were guests of honor at a dance sponsored by the Senior Class.

BIOLOGY CLUB

Under the guidance of Mrs. Angelina Romano, the Biology Club functions in many areas to serve the student body and faculty.

The Biology Club sponsors the annual Science Fair, and aids in the donation of prizes. The club also pays the living expenses for a student to study biology in a summer college program as well as awarding a scholarship to the graduate with the highest cumulative average in the scientific field. With its aim to encourage interest in the sciences, the Biology Club annually donates books to the school library. In addition to these numerous services, the club helps to beautify the school by maintaining the upkeep of the flowerbox.

SCIENCE FAIR

To stimulate student interest in the sciences, the biology club sponsors an annual Science Fair held each January. The participating students prepare exhibits which are designed to show a biological, chemical, physical, or technical principle.

In judging each demonstration, a number of elements are taken into account. These include creative ability, scientific thoughts, thoroughness, skill, clarity, and dramatic value.

Originality plays a large part at the fair, and prizes are given to those students whose exhibits excel all others. This year the Science Fair's grand prize was awarded to Donna Sedlak who showed gene interaction in fruit flies.

FALL PLAY

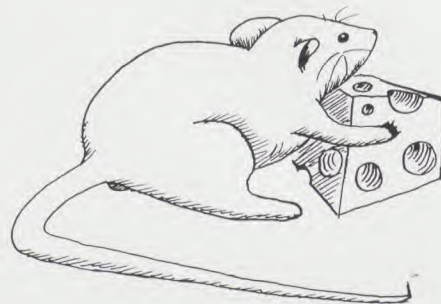

This year's fall dramatic production was "Flowers For Algernon" written by Daniel Keyes, from which the movie "Charly" was adopted.

The plot involves Charly Gordon, a retarded man who was not fully accepted by society. At the night school he attended, his teacher Alice recognized his deep desire for learning, and mentioned his name to two people involved in a "mind experiment". Upon passing all tests, Charly was operated on by the doctors and turned into a genius. The experiment had been previously tried only on a mouse, Algernon, and the operation had seemed to be a success.

Charly proceeded to gain more and more knowledge until he was truly the genius the doctors had hoped he'd become. He found mature love with Alice, but then things began to happen. Algernon died and Charly slowly regressed to a childlike retarded man again.

The cast of players included Robert Miglin as Charly, Tom Barrett as Professor Nemur, Linda von Gruchalla as Doctor Strauss, Kathy Nolan as Alice.

PAINT AND POWDER

While the cast of each school production works hard onstage at rehearsals, Mrs. Todd and her Paint and Powder girls work at their techniques behind-the-scenes.

Paint and Powder people, learned in the fine points of body makeup, eye makeup, and hair-styling, become instructors to the "new brushes" every spring.

The girls have a great deal of fun, and are a big part of Mr. Arvonio's productions, even though they can't act.

INTERNATIONAL THESPIAN SOCIETY

The goal of the International Thespian Society is to promote student interest in the theater. The Sayreville branch, Troupe #2884, is headed by Mr. Patrick Arvonio.

On the basis of an actor's roles and participation in plays, a pledge may earn points towards his membership. Ten points enables a pledge to become eligible for membership. When he has earned twenty points, he is awarded lifetime membership and receives a free subscription to a dramatics magazine for one year.

The Thespian Society is very active and has presented the school with many noteworthy productions.

THREE ONE-ACT PLAYS

February 20 marked the date of Sayreville's second annual presentation of three one-act plays. This year, Charles Dizenso's "The Drapes Come" starred Denise Dohn and Barbara Marguittel. The play was concerned with personality exchanging; what people are and what they would like to be.

Conrad Seiler's "Good-Night Caroline" featured Robin Powell, Phil Scibilia, Mike Lynch, and Rose Beavers. In this comedy, a burglar finds that robbing a house can be an expensive occupation.

The third one-act was an award-winning presentation written and directed by Sayreville teacher Patrick H. Arvonio. Entitled "Institutions," the play consists of ten players with only one retaining a single identity, Christopher, played by Chris Outlaw. The remainder of the cast is identifiable only by numbers. One through nine respectively were Lynne Garshgo, Charles Cunliffe, JoAnn Mackevich, Tom Barrett, Lisa Campanella, Vince Otero, Mary Anne Chanconis, Greg Evigan, and Donna Unkel. "Institutions" demonstrates existential themes and satirizes families, religion, business competition, and school.

The success of the One-Act plays secures their future place on the Sayreville stage.

SPRING MUSICAL

Presented on April 29, 30, and May 1, this year's musical warmed the hearts of each captive audience. The plot of "Hello, Dolly!" revolves around Dolly Gallagher Levi, played by Donna Unkel, and her persistent matchmaking. Talking herself in and out of trouble, she matches up Cornelius Hackle (Greg Evigan) and Barnaby Tucker (Vince Otero). She clerks at Horace Vandergelder's (Tom Barret) Feed Store with Mrs. Molley (Lynne Garshgo) and Minnie Fay (Denise Dohn). To Horace's dismay, Dolly also brings together his sobbing niece Emergarde (Kathy Nolan) with Ambrose Kemper (Charles Cunliffe). After a disastrous meeting with the "fetching" Ernestina (Rose Beavers), Horace realizes Dolly is the woman for him.

Donna Unkel's understudy was Joann Rucki. Other cast members included Charlie Palmer and Linda von Gruchalla.

LIBRARY COUNCIL

The Library Council consists of girls who give up study periods as well as their free time before and after school to work in the library.

Under the direction of Mrs. Lorraine Simko, the members are responsible for maintaining the order in the library. They're always ready and able to help find a book or magazine, and are never too busy to write out overdue notices.

The fund-raising ventures of the council include bake sales, candy sales and the annual book fair. The highlight of the year is a trip to New York where the girls can broaden their cultural horizon by visiting places of interest, attending a Broadway show, and dining at an exclusive restaurant.

CREATIVE FILM SOCIETY

A group of camera-nuts got together last year to create the Creative Film Society. Out of this organization, many original films have been made by its members. At each meeting, topics for films are discussed and instructions on camera operations are given by advisor Patrick H. Arvonio. The finer points of film-making can be seen in the films these hard-working and talented students produce.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The responsibility of educating tomorrow's society lies in the hands of today's teachers. With this task in mind, members of the Future Teachers of America Club prepare to enter the teaching profession.

Discussions, guest speakers, and trips to state colleges are among the means the club employs in preparing future educators. As a climax to the year's activities, the members have a chance to visit an elementary school for one full day in the spring. Here teaching methods are observed, and the members themselves may be allowed to take over a class for a time. This proves to be a valuable experience to the member, and her help is greatly appreciated by the teacher she assists. In addition, through fund raising programs, a scholarship will be presented at graduation to a promising future teacher of America.

Although the Sayreville chapter of the F.B.L.A. is only a small portion of the entire national organization, it is one to be proud of because it is the third in the nation in candy sales. The club has approximately one hundred members, striving to someday reach a zenith in the business profession through the excellent guidance of Miss Shirley Chalpinski and Miss Helen Turowski.

TEENS AGAINST POLIO

Students who care went on a fund raising adventure this year carrying out the T.A.P.'s creative projects with Mr. Newcomer, advisor. Raising money for the prevention of birth defects was the goal of Sayreville's T.A.P. or Teen Action Program. Committees were set up and from many volunteers, ten students from each class were selected to collect money in cans for their cause.

Heading the committees were the three co-chairmen, Ed Fallon, Rose Beavers, and Beth McGuffey.

Besides the can project, T.A.P. fund raisers raffled a Panasonic eight-track stereo tape deck. One committee provided a Saturday movie for Sayreville youngsters; Walt Disney's "A Tiger Walks."

The Teen Action Program proved a success this year raising much money, and hoping to help in the medical progress toward birth defect prevention.

ECOLOGY CLUB

Composed of students who have great concern for the condition of our environment, the Ecology Club is one of the newest clubs in the school.

Advised by Mrs. Linda Buono, the club's first project was an ecological display at the January Science Fair. The exhibit included the distribution of polluting-detergent lists, little ecology flags, and tape-recorded "earth music." Other projects of the Ecology Club were films, and an Earth Week program, including a school clean-up. In addition, the group worked in cooperation with the Sayreville Environmental group.

YOUTH WEEK

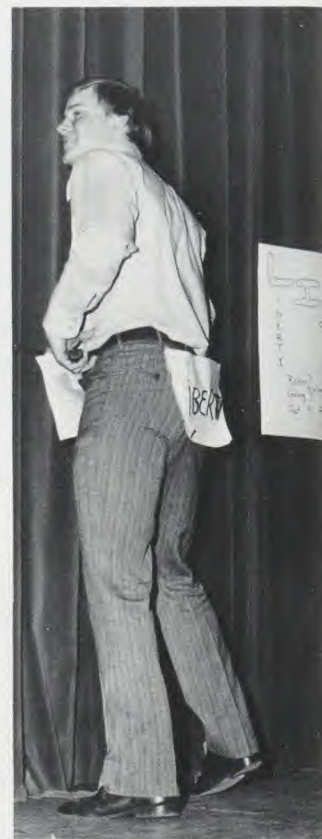

Each year campaign managers organize political parties for the student body to elect Youth Week officials. These offices include mayor, superintendent, Board of Education, and principal. This year the two parties were National and Liberty, led by campaign managers Shiela McVay and Barbara Rosenberg respectively.

On April 1, students who earlier had registered voted at the polls. The elected officials attended and conducted various meetings along with the real borough officials with both sides benefitting. The students recently passed a referendum allowing next year's officials to serve an entire year. This will make the Youth Week Program more meaningful and more effective.

BLUE AND GRAY WEEK

Instilling school spirit among students, Blue and Gray Week's themes proved humorous this year as each class, vying for the prize, donned costumes.

On Tuesday, the sophomores dressed as characters in American History, while on Wednesday, the juniors imitated comic book personalities. The spirit among the underclassmen was surpassed by the seniors who, on Thursday, dressed to the theme of the forties through the sixties.

The prize of twenty-five dollars was awarded to the group possessing the most enthusiasm. This year, as in the past, the seniors won with their hilarious outfits styled by their memories of what they and their parents wore. Blue and Gray Week ended with everyone wearing the school colors on Friday.

Under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Parks, the French Club has provided interested students with an increased knowledge of France and its culture.

At various meetings throughout the year, slides of France were shown. Some were slides which the club has purchased and others were slides which Mrs. Parks had actually taken in France.

The club members have undertaken several fund raising projects throughout the year. The profits helped finance the club's trip to New York to see Moliere's play, The School for Women. Afterwards, the members had a taste of French cuisine at La Crepe. The excursion helped familiarize the students with French culture.

In addition, the girls bagged confetti and sold it, to the great pleasure of many football spectators, young and old.

The girls also attended soccer games and often cheered the girls' hockey team onto victory. The members accumulate points which help pay for jackets at the end of the year. The Pep Club is our guarantee of keeping school spirit alive at Sayreville High.

SPORTS

FOOTBALL

Hard hitting, skillful blocking, and a lot of action constitute the makeup of a good football team and Sayreville's Bombers aren't lacking in any of these fields. The Bombers, with the strength and know how of the pro's, piloted into this year's season and gave it their best.

Head coach Tom Michaels led our boys onto the field with a burning desire to win, unsurpassed by that of the opposition.

With the help of four assistant coaches, Richard Denike, John Tyskiewicz, John O'Hara and Bill Horne, the Bombers turned out a record of scores where many were close margins. A true indication of the Sayreville athletes' prowess and incentive has not been shown by the season's record of three wins and nine losses.

The main point, however, is the ability that the Bombers have shown in gaining their ever-growing skill in handling opponents.

CROSS COUNTRY

This year's Cross Country team experienced a favorable season of eleven wins, one loss with high scoring by Ray Cerankowski, Ray Zamorski, Warren Whelan, and Mike Harrigan. The team was led by the capable coaching of Louis Carcich.

It proved to be an exciting season for senior Ray Cerankowski who made the Middlesex Second Team All-Country competition after having finished first ten times. He also set a new course record of 12 minutes 45.5 seconds after having broken the previous record four times.

The season came to an exciting close when, for the first time in our school's history, the team was able to participate in the Eagle Invitational Cross Country Run held at the American University, Washington, D. C.

With dedication, stamina, long hours of practice, frustration, and all-out team work, the girls sported a season record of eight wins and only one loss. The junior varsity team followed closely with their team record of seven wins to one loss.

Helping the girls on to all their victories was Joanne Marine scoring a grand total of thirteen goals throughout the season.

SOCCER

With most of the team experienced from J.V. soccer, knowledge of the game was a factor in a respectable 10-5-1 season. Having the State Tournament in mind, Coach Hefelfinger's men showed overwhelming determination. Key victories were a come-from-behind 3-2 win over South Brunswick and a 1-0 white-washing of a previously unbeaten, unscored-upon Colonia eleven. In the State Tournament, the team lost a 3-2 heartbreaker in overtime.

Team Captain Steve Gorrie was selected as All-County Forward and also received Honorable Mention of the All-State Team. Each member of the team gave 100% to the game as team effort and pride predominated the field of play.

WRESTLING

1970-71 brought an end to the "building years" of Wrestling at Sayreville High. The team now composed of experienced and knowledgeable wrestlers were on the threshold of a victorious campaign.

The grapplers flexed their power in early decisive victories over St. Mary's P.A., Linden, South River and P.A. High.

The team was led by co-captains Steve Fischer and Tony Polino, along with senior Doug James, also Polino won individual honors as he captured a second place in both the County and District Tournaments.

Sayreville's Bomber Cagers plowed into the 1970-71 basketball season with great determination. Under the qualified supervision of Coach Bill Otte, the Bombers piloted into each game using as many "fast break" tactics as possible to make up for the lack of height on the team.

Against strong competition throughout the county, the Bombers suffered a few setbacks, yet the inner desire shown by Captain Bruce Buckiewicz as well as Bill Campion, Nick Cegerenko, and the other players was strong all through the tough season.

The varsity team completed the season with a team record of six wins and sixteen losses.

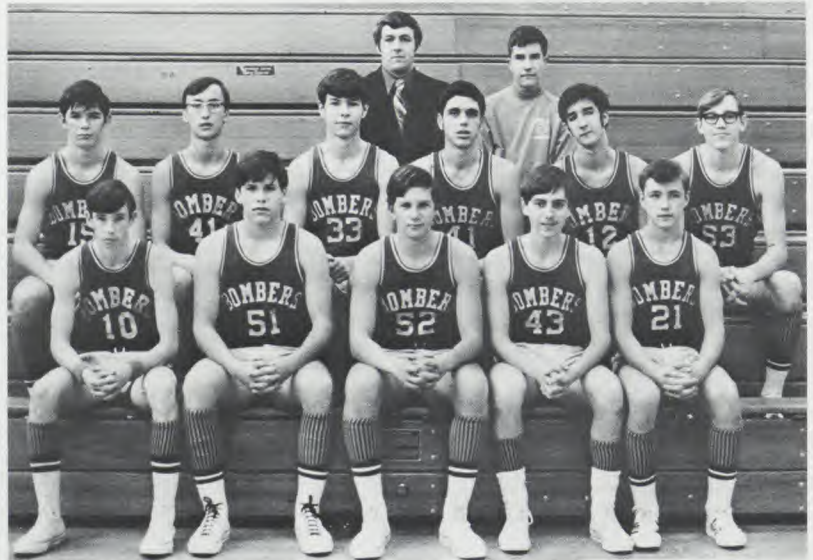

Sayreville has renewed hope against future competition coming from our very versatile junior varsity team, and our outstanding freshman team. The Bombers can look forward to a more successful season next year.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Possessing a good offense, a really tough defense, desire, and the spirit of "think basketball," this year's Girls' Varsity Basketball team came through as a real powerhouse.

Under the direction of Miss Judith Sunski, the five man team finished the 1970-71 season with a record of eleven wins and four losses. They were knocked out of the Holiday Tournament, but look forward to the first year of regional and state tournaments.

The team will only lose three varsity players and should prove strong again next year. The Junior Varsity had a struggle this year with inexperience, but had all the spirit and desire that Coach Marcia Westaby could have asked for.

Congratulations — Coaches Sunski and Westaby and girls for a fine season and your contributions in this year of Women's Lib!

BOYS' GYMNASTICS

Equipped with form, balance, and strength, this year's Boys' Gymnastics team combined its individual efforts into one great winning season. Under the capable supervision of Coach Jack Hefelfinger, the team pulled a season record of eleven wins and one loss.

With co-captains Howie Clark, Gary Guido, and Dan Hockenjos, the boys came through against the ever-toughening county competition.

In the State Sectional Competition, Clark placed first on the rings, while Hockenjos took third place for vaulting and high bar stunts.

With talented underclassmen coming up, Sayreville can look forward to another successful season in gymnastics.

GIRLS' GYMNASTICS

The 1971 season of the Girls' Gymnastics Team was profound in spirit as well as in skill. Unlike the boys' team, the girls competed in four events: Floor Exercise, Vaulting, Balance Beam, and Uneven Parallel Bars. The girls entered into competition with individual routines which called for continuity of skilled stunts, along with grace and poise.

Under the fine coaching ability of Miss Willis and Mr. Jack Hefelfinger, each member of the squad, along with co-captains Barbara Fodor and Donna Unkel, strove for perfection in their performances. The season saw a final record of 5-5. The girls are very proud of the team, coaches, and their manager Denise Dimakides, as well as the support which the school has given them throughout the gymnastic season.

CHEERLEADERS

Sayreville's cheerleaders launched a self-improvement plan this summer and gave us a season of expertly cheerful sports events.

Accompanied by a great enthusiasm for their work, the team spent a week at Glassboro State College's Cheerleading camp. Under Mrs. Miriam Fehrle's supervision, the girls exhibited their newly gained knowledge with various cheerleading styles and techniques. The girls also succeeded in improving their audiences' desire to participate.

SPRING TRACK

With a team of men willing to work hard to achieve ultimate success, this year's Spring Track is coached by Bill Doll and Bob Piotrowski.

Among the feats the Cindermen attempt are the hurdles, javelin, pole vault, and high jump. According to the coaches, the boys who score highest on each event are as follows: Ray Cerankowski running the one-mile, Bob Schiller on the high and low hurdles, Bill Harch rocketing the javelin, Roy Zamorski running the 2-mile, Mark Broin running the 440, Wayne Field throwing the shot-put, Nick Cegrenko on the high jump and tossing the discus, and Dan Salerno pole vaulting.

The team's relay men include Allen Ust, Gary Wallace, Mark Broin, and John Talbot.

With hopes of placing high in the Conference relays and Conference division meets, the Cindermen practiced hard and improved their skills this far.

Coaches Doll and Piotrowski, give their "friendly advice".
