The excitement of discovery, the joy of sharing, the companionship of friends: these are all facets of that world shared as teachers and students. The school environment is a microcosm of the larger world around it, and as a student matures, the school world gradually becomes a confinement and the desire to depart its security and concern arises and intensifies. Growth of body and expansion of mind join together to demand a wider world of action, learning and responsibility. The school world, shared for mutual purpose, terminates each year for those of its inhabitants who proceed in new and meaningful directions to the larger reality which surrounds them. May that world welcome all with gladness and fullness.

Guidance

The Guidance Department serves the needs of students in many ways. Helping each student to analyze and to appraise his own abilities, aptitudes, and values, the guidance staff, working individually with each student, helps him to select a suitable educational program. Each student's program is tailored to help him develop as fully as possible.

To assist the student in selecting his career choice, the counselors make every effort to acquaint the student with up-to-date files of pertinent educational and vocational information. In addition, group interviews with admissions directors of colleges, business and technical schools further help the student in his postsecondary plans.

The English Department has endeavored to provide each student with an opportunity to develop the language skills and the literary appreciations that should help him to live a significant and effective life. Because the scope of English is wide and the interests of students diverse, an elective program was introduced this year in lieu of the traditional senior English courses.

Sixteen courses, varying in length from one semester to one year, were offered. Included modern and classical literature; and skills courses in language, reading, writing, and communication. In addition, courses in philosophy, theatre, speech, journalism, and creative writing were also open to undergraduates for general credit.

The elective program is presently being expanded to include new courses in skills and special aspects or form of literature so that next year juniors will also be able to participate in the elective program.

The written record of the past is continually being re-evaluated in the light of new information. History is not static; it is dynamic—ever changing. The primary goal of the History Department, therefore, is not to provide a body of information for pupils to memorize, but to prepare each student to evaluate history in the light of his own experience. In order to be a good citizen, an American must keep informed on a variety of issues, on local, national, and international levels. Our world is becoming increasingly complex, issues are no longer clear-cut. The communications media—newspapers, television, and radio—pour out a torrent of conflicting views and vie for the public's attention. The student must be able to think critically in order to properly assess these conflicting views and sort fact from fiction. In addition, he must develop the capacity to express informed views.

History does not provide answers; it merely poses questions. Preparing students for living in today's world calls for a problem solving approach, rather than one which emphasizes rote memorization of facts. In addition, the contemporary trend toward specialization has become evident in our new elective program. In this program, a student is free to choose, from a variety of one-semester courses, the area which interests him the most.

New semester courses added this year include Conflicts in Colonial America, How the West Was Won, A Nation Divided, America as a World Power, and Psychology. The addition of these courses, and the plan for adding new ones, continues in the department's tradition to provide a comprehensive Social Studies program for the student.

The business education curriculum offers a variety of choices for the job-oriented student. He may elect data processing, bookkeeping, secretarial, clerical, or distributive education. These special areas will equip him with the knowledge and skills needed to satisfy the requirements for a position in business.

There is further training available in the cooperative programs: Distributive Education and Cooperative Office Education. The students enrolled in these programs attend school in the morning and receive on-the-job experience in the afternoon in a business work station.

Business subjects are not limited to the vocational students—they are open to any students who desires some business training. Provisions are, therefore, made for all students to satisfy their needs so that they can be successful citizens in an ever changing society.

The world of mathematics consists of a language to express, in symbols, ideas that the scientist can use to improve our way of life. Algebra, Geometry, and other mathematical subjects are designed to provide a foundation for the thinking process as well as provide tools for the students to use in his search for knowledge.

In our school, a variety of offerings are given so that the graduate will have a firm background in mathematics, and enough variety, to have a wide selection for their major field of study. In addition, the department strives to develop the basic fundamentals of mathematics which will help the student throughout his life. The course offering are complimented by clubs and extra curricular activities where interested students can try new problems and their solution.

The science department aims to meet the students' needs in regard to science in college, in industry, in society, and in everyday leisure time activities. All courses, both general and college prep, provide laboratory periods aimed to stimulate scientific curiosity and inquiry. Laboratory work is directed toward the development of skills in using scientific materials and apparatus. Emphasis is placed on student interpretation of the results of the experiments. Students can further develop their interests and curiosities through participation in the many clubs and activities which include Biology, Ecology, Aquarium, and an annual Science Fair.

Foreign Language

The primary aim of the Foreign Language Department is to help the student attain a facility in the language being studied—the longer the study the greater the facility. The cultural mores and general civilization of the foreign land whose tongue is being studied are presented in class.

The language clubs—French, German, and Spanish—try to promote foreign language learning outside the classroom.

The goal of the Art Department is to stimulate within each student a superior sense of creative attainment in either art history or fine and applied art.

Surveys in Art is designed to create a sympathetic understanding of arts of all ages as seen in appropriate perspective and viewed through the eyes of the present knowledge of human affairs.

Fine and applied art courses, emphasize creative art in practice. The student is presented with major ideas of the past, a secure foundation in techniques, and is encouraged to develop a deep personal expression and style.

To acquaint students with our rich and significant musical heritage, the Music Department offers choir, bands, musicals, concerts, and assemblies. These allow students to develop, demonstrate and appreciate vocal and instrumental talents as vehicles of communication depicting joy, sadness, despair, and hope. Music, thus, becomes an outlet for emotion or a source of it.

The Home Economics and Industrial Arts courses have, for some time been offered as an elective to students who choose to receive training in one or more industrial or home making areas. The advent of free selection of courses, geared to the interests of the students, has been taken as a challenge to be met by both departments. Such courses as automotive maintenance and household mechanics for girls and boys chef and tailoring classes are the newest additions. In all these courses consumer education and consumer awareness have been the main emphasis.

In-depth training of many industrial and home making skills still constitute much of the work in these areas of study. Although much course work is designed to be sequential in order, students have the option of selecting one or more years of study in any of the areas.

The in-depth study provided in advanced classes allows for student specialization and problem solving techniques that can be carried over into later life in such areas as mechanical trades, service trades, and home management.

The Physical Education Program aims to blend the development of physical qualities with that of a sound, healthy mind. The activities on the gym floor and the play field, together with classes in Health and Driver Training, serve to promote the all-around growth of students.

Students have the opportunity to increase their individual abilities through a variety of team and individual sports such as football, soccer, hockey, basketball, wrestling, gymnastics, and baseball.

The driver training program has been improved this year through the purchase of ten driving simulator units that develop the students' reactions prior to the actual road training.

Class of 79? Not exactly, but that's what many Juniors thought when they saw their high school rings. If you ever bought a pen with the basketball schedule on it or a team shirt you probably knew you were going to support the Junior Class. A new idea in Sayreville High was the film festivals. Left-over popcorn was sold after school the following day. Planning the prom and supporting the plays were new experiences for the Junior Class. These new activities provided for student involvement.

Sophomores

Adjustment is the word that best describes a student's first year at S.W.M.H.S. Learning how to survive within the structure of the school is an important step in the scholastic life of every student. Discovering where his classes are and how to get there through crowded halls, looking into the variety of activities the school offers, and working toward his life goals are all part of his learning process.

As the youngest group of the student body, the sophomore class was well-represented in school functions and activities. The class entered a float—entitled “We’ve Only Just Begun” in the Homecoming competition and also presented a skit for Blue and Gray Week. The class sponsored two dances which were well-attended, a candy sale, and a car wash in the spring, all of which raised money for the class as well as provided an opportunity for all students to participate.

The Editors and Staff of Quo Vadis try to capture the photographs as well as copy the people, activities, and events the students of SWMHS want to remember! Taking photos, arguing over copy and layout, and scurrying to meet those deadlines—Oh! those deadlines!!—constitute the task of the staff. But these events eventually end up in the printed form which is our Book—Quo Vadis '73.

Echo Lites

Editors racking their brains for novel ideas, reporters searching for unusual angles to liven up dull assignments, and staff members bordering on hysteria as deadlines zoom in, all characterize 1972-73 Echo Lites.

Even though data is sometimes gathered eighth period for an article due after school and occasionally there is a need to sit at the printer's until 5:00 trying to write one last caption or headline, the main objectives behind the publication of the newspaper, amid the confusion, remain the same: to exchange ideas and opinions as well as to inform the students and those interested in what's going on in the school system and the community.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society consists of members of the student body considered by the faculty to rank highest from the standpoints of character, service, leadership, and scholarship. Election into this society is a great honor, as membership is restricted. Members of this group engage in the same activities as other clubs. Each year they sponsor a dance and a candy sale as well as two teas to welcome newly elected members. They also participate in the annual Induction Ceremony.

This ceremony is a solemn yet entertaining occasion which includes reciting the National Honor Society pledge as a group, being inducted by Dr. Parnell, and enjoying a musical program, followed by a reception and refreshments.

Students have three opportunities to become members of the society, once during the junior year and twice during the senior year. Members of the society strive to do their best to make our world a good one.

The Student Council has chosen as its theme "Representation, Communication, and involvement," and as such has adopted projects to bring about the achievement of these goals.

Working under the premise that a spirited student body is an active one, the council invites the students to participate in community, national, and international drives. These drives include March of Dimes, Red Cross, Save the Children Federation Clothing Drive, and UNICEF. The council also sponsors intra-school activities such as Homecoming, Youth Week, Blue and Gray Week, and County Exchange Days.

In an attempt to serve as a representative link between students, faculty, and administration, the membership welcomes suggestions and complaints and properly channels them. As part of their communications liaison, the council posts and displays calendars of school activities.

The Student Council of Sayreville War Memorial High School is a member of the national, state, and county associations of high school councils and has been named an honor school of NJAHS for twelve consecutive years.

Homecoming is an annual project of Student Council designed to foster a spirit of togetherness between students and alumni. Here during the weeks of preparation members of the student body are afforded the opportunity to work together toward a common goal and, on the day itself, alumni are invited back to become, once again, an integral part of the whole that is S.M.H.S.

Homecoming 1972 saw Sayreville meet South River amidst the festivities of an autumn day. Invited to build floats, the sophomore class' was entitled "We've Only Just Begun," the junior class' "Could This Be Magic," and the senior class' award winning "The World of Alice." The Student Council float, "Saturday in the Park," carried Homecoming Queen Michelle Wovna and her court—Rose Daganya, Adele D'Alusio, Sandy Evigan, and Holly Wisniewski.

David a n d Lisa

Patrick H. Arvonio
Director

"Sensitive," best describes this year's fall production, David and Lisa. The plot centers around two emotionally disturbed children—David, a 16 year-old boy, who is mesmerized by time pieces and is paranoid about being touched, and Lisa, a schizophrenic, who for the most part has regressed to the behavior patterns of a four year-old child. Slowly, their association grows from the mechanical coldness of a clock mechanism to the warmth and discovery of a healthy emotional relationship.

Fiddler on the Roof

"You might say every one of us is a fiddler on the roof, trying to scratch out a pleasant, simple tune without breaking his neck." And on April 12, 13, and 14 our production of Fiddler on the Roof gave the town of Sayreville this thought to ponder. A good dramatic play with well-presented music. It was a beautiful and rewarding experience to all of those involved.

In a little Russian village called Anatevka, we meet a Jewish community and view their lives as they meet with hard and changing times. The major protagonist is Tevye (Mike Lynch) who introduced us to this life through his wife (Sue Shymanski), his five daughters, villagers, friends, and himself. Three of his daughters illustrated the changing times by finding their own husbands instead of leaving it up to the matchmaker (Kathy Guenther). Other things are changing in their surroundings, too, including the end of their life in Anatevka when forced out by the Russians.

The three daughters were played by Holly Wisniewski, Jo-Ann Rucki, and Debbie Hahneman. Other major parts included Phil Scibilia as Motel, Charlie Palmer as Perchik, Mike Cunliffe as Fyedka, and Lou Salvaggio as Lazar Wolfe.

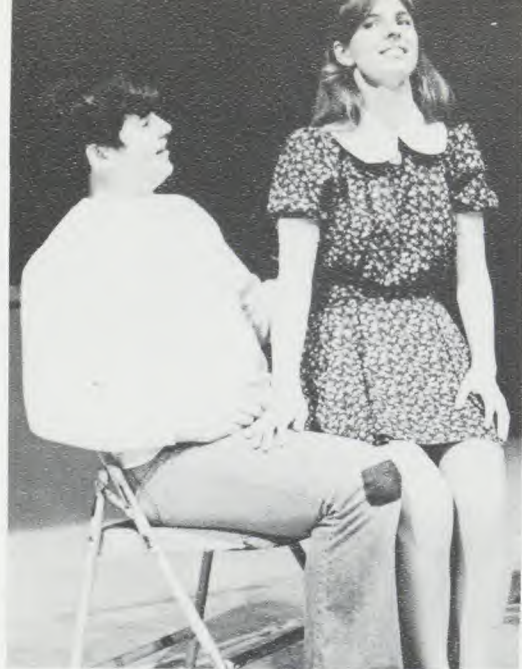

Mr. P. Arvonio-Director

Theatre Ensemble

Mr. Arvonio, Director

Holly Wisniewski, Student Director

A group of eighteen players with seven crew members, the Ensemble Company has been very active this year under the direction of Patrick H. Arvonio and student director, Holly Wisnieski.

Along with the Evening of Satire, they have done Alice in Wonderland, in grotesque style, which was taken to various drama festivals, and Peter and the Wolf, which was performed at the elementary schools in the district, for young audiences.

A meeting of the Theatre Ensemble usually begins with warm-up exercises to music, improvisations, theatre games, and group discussions. A rehearsal follows for one or two of the shows being done at the time. Meetings are informal and relaxed and the players have a good time while working together to produce an experimental theatre piece.

One Acts

February 9th and 10th marked the dates of the Sayreville Theatre Ensemble's presentation of three one-act plays. This year's One-Acts were devoted entirely to an evening of satire. The plays performed were Elaine May's Adaptation, Patrick Arvonio's award-winning Hangin' Around, and Jean-Claude van Itallie's T.V. The three plays revolved around a central theme—television's influence on the American public.

This year was the first time the One-Acts were presented on two evenings. Holly Wisniewski directed Hangin' Around, making her the first student to direct a Sayreville production.

International Thespian Society

The International Thespian Society is the backbone of Sayreville's theatrical interests. Producing One-Act Plays, and selling refreshments at the fall and spring productions are their two major projects. The Thespian Society also sponsors the award winning Sayreville Theatre Ensemble.

In order to maintain membership in the Society, a member must participate in all phases of theatrical production. After pledging, a person must accumulate 10 points to become a bonafide member. These points are obtained through participation in either the acting or various technical aspects of a production.

Each spring, the Society goes to the Bucks County Festival where the Ensemble competes with other high schools and all view a professional production by the Bucks County Playhouse Company.

Each year, through funds raised from different projects, science books are given to the library. In addition, books are given to the graduating senior who has compiled the highest average after four years of science.

Concert Band

1973: A MUSICAL ODYSSEY

On Saturday evening May 19, the concert band presented its annual Spring Concert, with the theme being "1973: A Musical Odyssey." Through the magical power of music, those present traveled through time and space to cultures and times very distant from our own.

Beginning in the future, with "Also Sprach Zarathustra," used as the theme for "2001: A Space Odyssey," the journey really centered around the three great composers who contributed most to the development of symphonic music. This portion of the trip moved from the late 1700's, the peak of the Classical Period, with the "Rondo-Third Movement from Mozart's "Concerto in Eb," featuring the French horn solo by Kathy Pennachio, making the transition to the Romantic Period using two themes from Beethoven's Third Symphony, the "Eroica," it finally reached the climax of Romanticism with the instrumental excerpts from Richard Wagner's operas in the "Wagner Showcase." The return trip home was made via the Irish folk tune used as the theme from "Profiles in Courage" (the John F. Kennedy March) and the 1960's London sound of the Beatles' "Michelle," "Eleanor Rigby," and "Yesterday." The full cycle journey ended in what is for every man the infinite future of "The Impossible Dream."

Varsity Hockey

The Varsity Hockey Bomberettes finished an impressive season with a final record of 9-3-1. Captain Dru Buoniauto came through with seventeen goals to give the Bomberettes the edge in many close games. The bulk of the remaining scoring was picked up by Seniors Lynette Fleischhauer and Carol Himey, with seven and five goals respectively. Coming up against some of the best teams in the state the Bomberettes dropped season matches to Princeton and to Roselle Park. The season was highlighted by the 2-1 East Brunswick victory and the 1-1 tie against Hightown in which Junior Diane Glinsky came through with the tying goal to finish the regular season. Sophomore goalie Karen Nelson came up from J.V. at mid-season to strengthen the Bomberette defense with thirteen saves. The team will be graduating ten of its fourteen Varsity players, making next year a building year. # CROSS-COUNTRY

Sayreville's Cross-Country Team's season had more ups and downs than its new cross-country course. With a new hill added to the course, the Bombers took on a demanding schedule which saw them face four of the top teams in Middlesex and Union counties in the first two weeks. Led by All-County runner Senior Ed Fraas and Gary Veit, the Bomber harriers completed the season with a 7 win 10 loss record. The highlights of the season were Ed Fraass, finishing tenth in the county and winning honors in the All-County and All-Conference teams. The outstanding players were Bill D'Amico who qualified for the First Team All-County, and Captain David VanWhy, who had eleven goals and nine assists this season, along with making the Second Team All-County in soccer. The highlights of the season were qualifying for State Tournament, where the boys lost, fighting a 2nd seeded Millville, 1-0. There will be thirteen seniors graduating, and three letterman returning, one of which is Bob Fuentes who scored thirteen goals and made six assists, giving a bright outlook to next year's team.

The 1972-73 Wrestling season showed improvement and success. The team's record was 5-9, the best record in five years. The wins came over St. Marys P.A., Perth Amboy, Carteret, Thomas Jefferson, and New Brunswick. This year's team is composed primarily of sophomores and juniors who show great promise. In addition the junior high team had an 8-5 record with many talented wrestlers coming to the high school next year.

Sayville once again had an outstanding performer in Dan Salerno. Dan's dual meet and tournament record was 20-2-1. Dan won the New Brunswick Christmas Tournament, the District Tournament, and placed second in the Region.

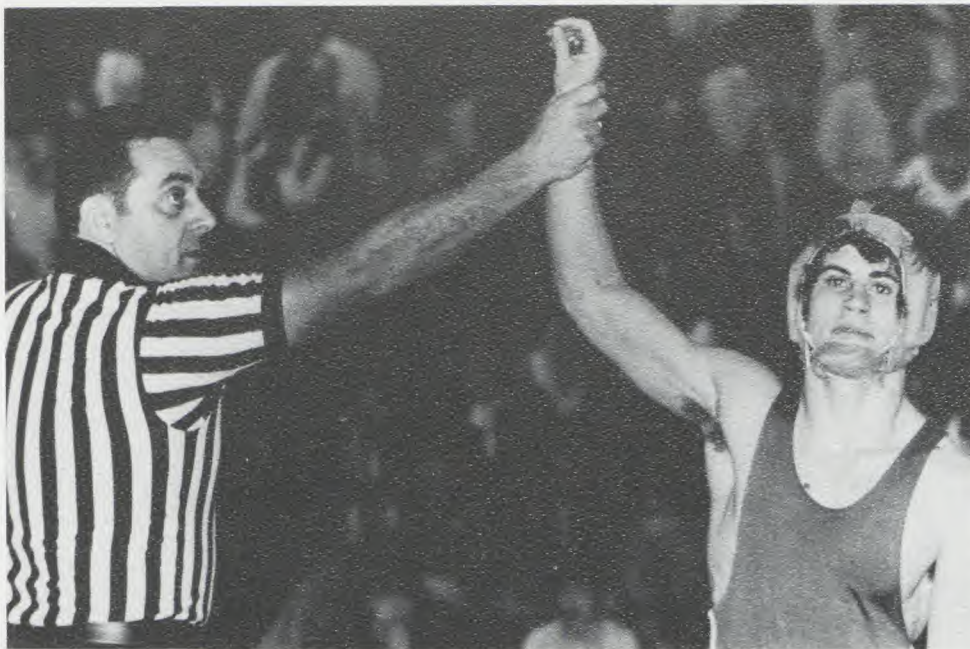

In general, the wrestling program appears to be improving. The coaches and wrestlers expect a winning season in 1973-74.

The Bombers have had one of the finest seasons in their history this year, finishing with a record of 21 wins and 8 losses. The team also gained second places in both the Central Jersey Group IV State Tournament and the County Tournament.

Steve Makwinski was the big gun in the Sayreville offense, scoring 527 points over the season and averaging 18.2 points a game. Though smaller than most opposing centers, Matt Walsh's aggressiveness under the boards gained him the lead in rebounds on the squad with 360 for the year.

In the guard positions on the court were Wayne Kreiger and John Wojcik, probably the best pair of guards in the county.

An unselfish group of players combined with a well-balanced scoring attack to make the 1973 basketball season one of the most successful ever.

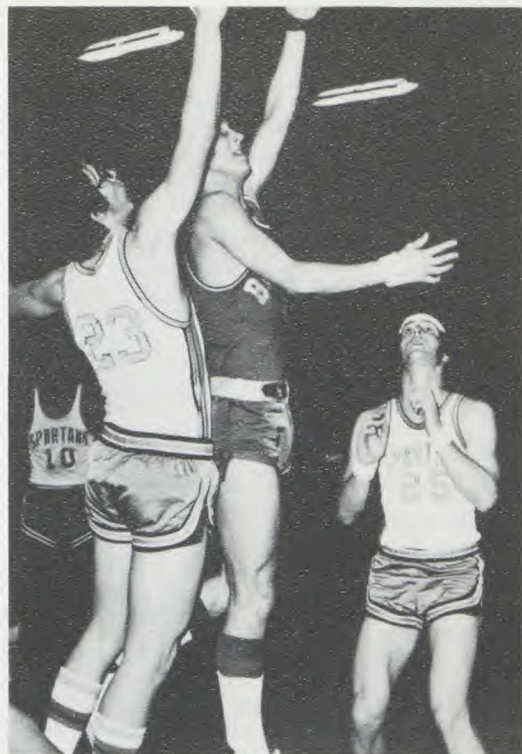

Happiness is harmony between Co-Captains and Coach.

Spartans become victims as Matt Walsh puts in two for the Bombers.

Aggressive?? Why not!!!!!!

John Wojcik defies the law of odds, 4 to 1, and still he gets a basket!

Admitting it's hard just to stay on the bench, Coach Dineen shows his approval.

Wayne Kreiger takes a long shot to help the Bomber cause.

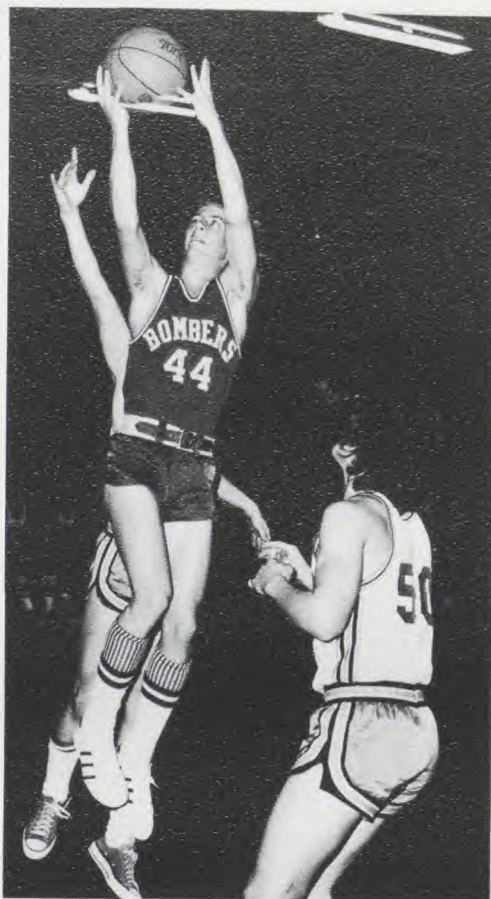

Ray Borup leaves opponents behind.

Boys J.V. Basketball

The Junior Varsity Basketball Team completed its season with a 10 win, 9 loss record for their 3rd consecutive winning season. The Junior Bombers were led by high scorers Beetle Bailey and Joe Hart, playmaker Bob Mayhew and top rebounders Jeff Georgiana, Ray Megill and Ken Kindlick.

The season was accented with good team play both offensively and defensively and was highlighted by a 46-42 upset victory over highly ranked South River J.V.'s.

Bob Mayhew goes up for two, despite double opposition.

Girls J.V. Basketball

This 72-73 year ended with a 6-8 record. The team consisted of 12 Sophomores and 1 Junior. Pat Zucek and Cindy Meyer led the team with rebounds and total points. The girls developed their individual skills and team play throughout the season. "Spirit" is what they had! Being a young J.V. squad, this should lead to a good future for the varsity team.
