A good grade on a test puts a smile of pride on Alison Amarescu's face.

After a hard day at school, Al Budny and Laurie Chernow relax for a few minutes.

With the look of enthusiasm, Mr. Shaner and Mr. Tripold discuss the band activities.

Not content with the knowledge he already has, Mr. Piccuirro searches for more theatrical information.

TIMELESS MEMORIES

Time is a baffling quantity. It passes very slowly while waiting at the bus stop on a cold January morning or sitting in the most boring class of the day. It rushes by so quickly at the proms and graduation, that the precious moments are lost forever.

The passage of time is explained clearly when a period of events comes to an end. The last day of school demonstrates a part of life that has passed away. This is the time when questions are asked by students as to whether or not the time has been used wisely, or if enough has been accomplished. To find the answers to these questions, every student must sit and think of the events that were anxiously hoped for and the moments that were enjoyed. In the search for answers, time gives us its greatest gift- memories which are cherished forever.

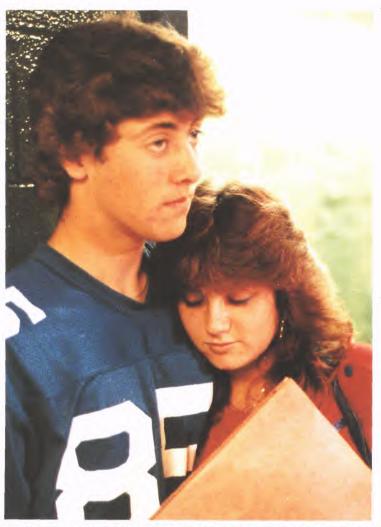

This issue of Quo Vadis is a tribute to the students and a reflection of the memories of this past year.

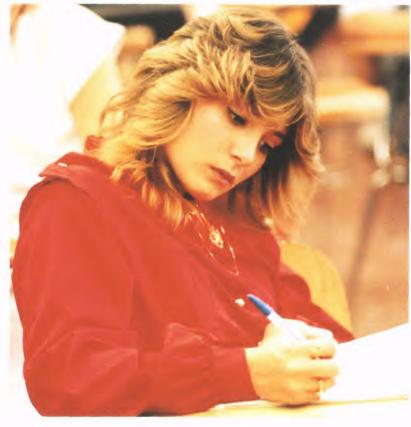

Education affects everyone these days, even Cabbage Patch Kids

IMAGES FOREVER

Reflections are what dreams, hopes, and memories are made of. These three are essential parts of the school year. Dreams are visions which explain how doing something today can change tomorrow. Students may dream of opportunities, college educations, and future successes. Hopes become ambitions which encourage students to exceed their present levels. Memories are images of the past as they were, or should have been. Dreams and hopes save memories that reflect the past, present, and future.

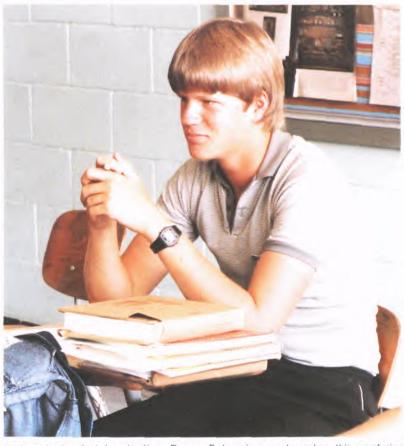

Between periods, Michele D'Alessio and Mike Montario enjoy a few moments together.

Pausing for a moment, Mary Ann LaMein thinks of a new idea for her writing assignment.

With a happy grin, John Kawalec looks to the clock as he sees the day is almost over.

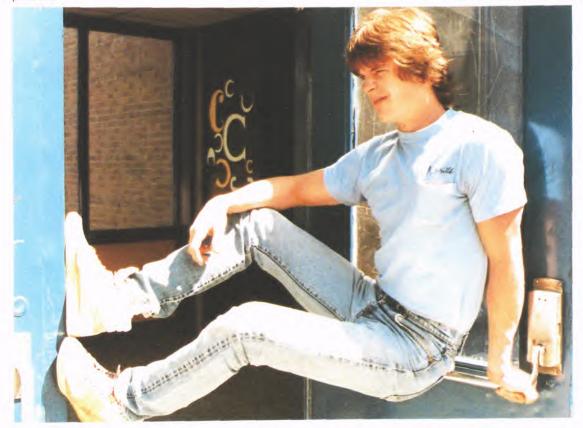

With a look of determination, Danny Peters is sure to solve this confusing problem.

An arm rest is the best method of concentrating on schoolwork as

As Mike Anthony finds a convenient spot to relax, he thinks about what to do on such a beautiful day.

While sitting outside, Lisa Cahose relaxes as she thinks about what she has for homework.

OUT WORKIN'

Although life is filled with infinite joys, a good deal of time is spent working. 6½ hours of a typical student's day is devoted to school and learning. But the time to work does not end when the last bell rings at 2:30 P.M.

Most students find themselves rushing off to beat the time-clock at one of the numerous fast-food joints, supermarkets, or local stores. It is here that a whole new learning experience begins. Before finding a job, most students never could have imagined the fantastic experiences which have now become routine and repititious.

Remember the first time the milkshake machine exploded? Or what about that proud feeling of accomplishment when the manager asked for a thousand dollar "cash pick-up" from your register. And, of course, who could forget the everyday dealings with difficult customers and clients.

Many of today's young workers will gain valuable work-experience that will aid them in their future occupations. Others, unfortunately, may find that they have gained nothing more than a few dollars in the bank. Whatever the case may be, they have all learned a few things about people in general. Then again, that is probably the most important work experience today's young adults will ever encounter.

A quiet atmosphere is best for working, illustrated here by Dawn Brown.

Before the period ends, Anthony Vermeal quickly jots

QUITTING TIME

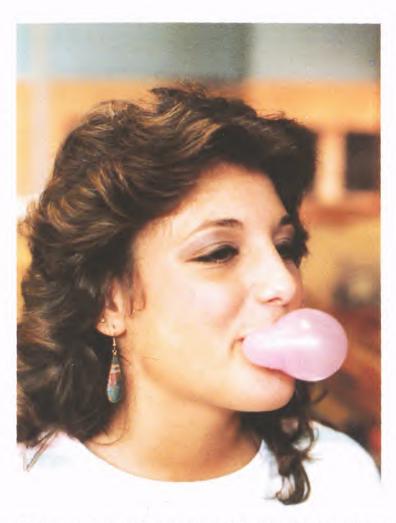

After a hectic day of work, everyone needs to take time off to share light moments. Whether it is a joke shared in the halls, or riding home on the 2:30 bus, students need to relax and enjoy themselves.

Once the schedule and classes have become dull and repetitious, a free moment is not only a necessity, but it is also greatly welcomed. Since students love to goof-off, what could be more pleasing than a pep rally or a class competition assembly instead of those mundane morning classes? But the excitement does not end when the school year is over. It continues from fall football games to the spring musical leading up to graduation.

The memories of these care-free moments will never be forgotten. They are more than just a time to play, they are a time to grow and learn.

As Kevin Gaul works on his new project in woodshop, thoughts of the future enter his mind.

LEARNING-THE KEY TO DISCOVERY

Each moment of our lives is spent learning. Whether it be academics, socializing, or extra-curricular activities, something new and useful is always discovered.

Academic achievements prepare students to attend college, start their own business, or continue the trade they learned in high school. Students who plan on attending college gain specialized training in their future occupations. Those students starting their own businesses will depend on their knowledge of relationships to keep their customers coming back. And those who find jobs at garages, printing shops, or construction companies must continue to learn the latest production techniques, as well as how to operate new equipment.

The discovery process does not end with graduation. No matter which path the SWMHS students choose to take, it will always lead to new learning encounters.

"What's small and green and has 5,000 legs?" "I don't know," says Rupal Desai, "but it's under my microscope!"

With eagerness, Danny Parinello and Stan Mazurkiewicz attempt the new music given to them by Mr. Shaner.

THE ART OF EXPRESSION

... Art. Drama. Production. Creativity is expression. The ability to create takes talent and years of practice. In SWMHS there are many outlets for creative energies.

The flow of a paintbrush on a canvas, the crescendo and decrescendo of a classic musical score, and the roaring of applause in a packed theatre, are all the rewards for hours of practice and rehearsel. By participating in art shows, concert band, and the school's theatrical productions, those extremely gifted students receive an opportunity to enjoy the feelings of accomplishment and pride from their completed masterpieces.

But the circles of creativity also encompass the world of history, academics, and shops. The tension and excitement of creative competition is well-known to all members of the Olympics of the Mind, DECA, and ACT teams. However, even non-competitive activities such as cooking, photography, and industrial arts offer the imaginative mind a doorway to stretch out into the world of reality.

Through the art of expression, many students have found a method to state their personality. Creative forces surge in most of us. Just learn to let loose!

STRAIGHT FROM THE HEART

School years are a period of learning, growing, and maturing. While spending day after day with one another, students are constantly exchanging ideas, ambitions, but most of all, friendship. These feelings of closeness are the causes of smiles, hugs, and great weekends. But, it is also a source of strength which gets most people through hard times as well as good ones.

However, the sharing experience also extends to the teachers, who both in and out of the classroom, give their time and effort to help their students learn and grow.

The heart of sharing is in granting someone time, help, and support. But mainly it is in giving a part of yourself. By sharing, students become wiser, more well-rounded indiviuals which is one of life's ultimate rewards.

During lunch, Beth Roberts and Tom Jasionowski share a few minutes together on a beautiful afternoon.

A WINNING SEASON

Although the Boy's track team faced a challenging group of opponents, they managed to maintain a 5-4 record. Due largely to underclass talent, there was a noticeable increase in enthusiasm on and off the field.

To highlight the winning season, superrunner, Tom Luther, thrilled spectators by winning the 800 meter in the County Final, and being inducted to Central Jersey's Group IV Team.

Despite Coach Noble's departure, the team is expected to continue to improve in seasons to come.

A CHAMPIONSHIP SEASON

Chalking up an impressive record of 18-7-1, the Varsity Baseball Team captured the Middlesex County Championship. A winning year was inevitable due to a strong pitching staff, consistent hitting, and dedicated teamwork.

Captain Sean Gallagher, a senior, aided by fellow senior Brian Bielak, juniors Tom Lasko, Kevin Hourahan, and Bob Tomaszewski, sparked the diamond with their impressive talent. Sophomore Chuck Frobosilo's outstanding pitching produced an 8-3 record including a terrific no-hitter against top rated St. Joseph's.

To round out an outstanding season, Coach Gozora was named Coach of the Year by the MCAC. Sean Gallagher was named to First Team All-County while teammate Tom Lasko was named to the Second Team.

SHOULDIS LEADS TEAM

The girl's Varsity Softball Team had an exciting season due to their 7-13 record. Patti Cumber and Lori Shouldis led the team at bat as well as on the field. Patti had a batting average of .317 with 13 RBI's and had a golden glove on first base as well as in the outfield. Lori batted a .298, had 15 RBI's, never struck out, and played the field in every game.

A two-hit victory over ST. Mary's and a ninth inning win over J.P. Stevens were the team's most memorable moments. Chrissy Romel and Lori Shouldis were chosen to the Second Team All Conference for their outstanding performances.

The '85 season looks very promising after losing only four players. Good luck in the coming season.

DOUBLE HEADER

Although they lacked experience, a talented and confident JV Baseball team ended the season with a respectable 10-9 record.

Under the leadership of sophomore captains Chris Cook and Ed Maciorowski, the team shows steady improvement throughout the season. By beating their opponents by an average of 6 runs per game, their potential was clearly demonstrated. Their success was capped by a 12-0 pounding of a tough Cedar Ridge team.

Outstanding individual performances were turned in by junior Gerard VanPell and sophomores John Clayton and Chris Garbowski.

With quite a few talented players returning, Coach Gryzwacz is confident of the team's future and foresees success in the '85 season.

The JV Softball team had an outstanding season, ending the year with a 15-2 record. According to Coach Popowski, this record was the result of a total team effort.

Although the team received no awards this year, special recognition should have gone to pitchers Lynn Buckler and Laura McBride, who led their team struggle with 10-1 and 4-1 records. Debbie Squicciarini also deserved special acknowledge as the team's leading hitter, due to her .438 batting average. Dynamic Dawn Hefelfinger rounded out the trio of top hitters with the average of .415. The most improved player on the team was sophomore Christa Delucia who raised her batting average more than 100 points during the season and led the team with 19 RBI's.

Highpoints of the year included a 7th inning victory over tough East Brunswick and a 10-9 win over the previously undefeated Edison team.

``LOVE'' IT

Despite a 7-17 record, the Boys' Varsity Tennis Team displayed more improvement and potential than previous years.

Evidence of individual improvement was reflected in Senior Phil Livoti's successful move from 2nd doubles to 2nd singles. At 1st singles, sophomore Ed Chin proved his maturing tennis ability during many difficult matches against state and nationally ranked players. Most consistent in their position was the match up of Junior Gregg Pachkowski and sophomore Tate O'Connor at 2nd doubles, who were occasionally called upon to play 1st doubles. Other notable players were Frank Snyder, Al Ciprich, Tom McCarthy, and Steve Despirito.

Looking to the 1985 season, the return of Gregg Pachkowski, Tom McCarthy, juniors Ed Chin Tate O'Connor, Steve Despirito, and sophomore Al Ciprich will be a major "advantage" for the team.

SWINGERS

An early-season injury to Coach Larry Helwig sent the '84 Golf Team off to a shakey start. Fortunately, Coach Jack Hefelfinger stepped in to lead the team to a 5-15 record.

Lacking seasoned veterans, the Bombers had to rely on underclassmen to carry the team. Captain Mike Eckstrom and senior Paul Platkin led their inexperienced team to victories over top-rated teams. Fine performances were also turned in by juniors Steve Hollender, Chris Dieker and Bob Delgesso, Mike Eckstrom was named to the Second Team, All-Conference.

Coach Hefelfinger commented that the young team now has experience to take into the '85 season. He hopes that by bringing their stroke average down to 45 or better, the '85 season will be very successful.

Excellence Acknowledged

The traditional lighting of candles and receiving of pins highlighted the May 9th induction ceremony of the National Honor Society. The 53 juniors and seniors who were inducted had been chosen for membership on the basis of the four NHS Qualities: Leadership, Scholarship, Character and Service.

Following brief comments about each of the Qualities by officers John Mazurkiewicz, Sherri Szarvas, Paul Travisano and Kathleen Drwal, Mr. Dill inducted the new members. When each new member had lit a candle and received a pin, the entire membership repeated the NHS Pledge.

Entertainment during the ceremony was provided by the Jazz Ensemble which played "Harlem Nocturne" and "The Preacher." Paul Travisano sang "Breaking Us In Two."

Following the ceremony, the 400 parents and friends who had attended joined the membership for a reception in the cafeteria.

After receiving his pin, Butch Hoover lights his taper from the candle representing knowledge.

Canada Or Bust!!

The Sayreville Marching Band traveled to Canada in April, 1984 to compete in the Toronto International Music Festival. During their 4 day stay, the students took the opportunity to meet band members from other nations as well as enjoy the sights and sounds of Canada.

Upon entering the country, the musicians were treated to the spectacle of Niagara Falls. Once in Toronto, they visited the CN Tower, the Ontario Science Museum and the colonial Pioneer Village.

The band members did not venture to Toronto merely for a vacation. Their turn to compete came on the final day of the festival, Saturday, April 28th. Their effort was amply rewarded. The Bomber Band was the only group at the competion to receive the Bronze Medal. Head band director Kevin Shaner and drum major Janet Dell accepted the award on behalf of the entire group.

On Sunday, the band, filled with pride, left Toronto to return to New Jersey. Throughout the trip home, everyone compared their souvenirs and happy memories.

Shining with pride, Mr. Shaner and Janet Dell display the band's bronze medal.

By George!!

Broadway hit Sayreville in the spring of '84 when the Theatre Society performed the musical "George M". The play recreated the life and music of George M. Cohan, who was one of the most popular song writers and performers of the first quarter of the century.

The hard working and dedicated cast members produced star quality performances. The lead role, George M., was portrayed by Todd Fenstermaker. Other leads were played by Elissa Unkel, Tim O'Connell, and Lauren Post.

After the last performance and several standing ovations, Lisa Cooney and Lori Ann Foster received the Actors Recognition Awards for extraordinary dedication to the High School theatrical cause. However, credit should go to all of the actors and actresses who danced and sang with such liveliness and that the audience will never forget George M., or want to!

ENCHANTED CAFETERIA?

Girls just want to have fun!

It was time to pull off the faded jeans and concert T-shirts and slip into flowing pastel evening gowns and sharp tuxedos. The brisk evening wind announced it was early May—Prom Time.

For some, the Junior Promwas the first formal occassion they had ever attended; the jitters most people felt the night before made THAT perfectly clear.

After meeting all the parents and taking rolls of pictures, it was time to head for the High School cafeteria. Along the way, visions of greasy cafeteria food and backless metal chairs almost made many couples turn away. How could they use the cafeteria for such an important event?

Nonetheless, everyone bravely marched through the doors. INCREDIBLE!!!! What happened to the broken metal chairs? Where were green, yellow, and blue murals on the walls? They were nowhere to be seen. By some form of magic, the casual cafeteria was transformed into an elegant ballroom.

The room radiated in silver and purple pastels. The table settings reflected the soft light which came from nowhere and music enchanted the senses. Young couples danced in the romantic setting as the hours flew by. The time to leave had arrived. Good-night kisses were exchanged under a moonlit sky.

Monday morning it was back to jeans and T-shirts, back to the lunch-time cafeteria. Looking around after that magical evening, it was difficult to believe that any of it had actually happened. But the memories are there, and memories are proof enough.

Moved by the magic of the prom, Andrea Vail and her date gaze off into the stars.

As the band played ''Open Arms'', Kathy Palmer and Anthony Vella share a tender moment.

Senior "CLASS"

Chauffered limos, girls in the latest style gowns, guys in tuxes, waiters and waitresses serving horsd'oevrs in the lounge . . . was it a Rockefeller reunion? No! It was the Senior Prom. The guests were the Sayreville students, who were transformed into one of the classiest groups to hit the Somerset Hilton.

As the evening progressed, formality diminished as the excitement escalated on the dance floor. The couples "Danced the Night Away" and only stopped for aching feet and dinner.

All was not frenzy and excitement, however. Adding a touch of tenderness to the evening, Joanne Zarick sang and Bunnie Thomas serenaded the couples. As the lyrics touched everyone's hearts, the couples swayed to the bittersweet music.

When the music ended and the evening had come to a close, everyone agreed it had been a very special event. For them, the prom marked the beginning of the end of their senior year.

Delighted with their roses and the company of their dates, Lisa Heimel and Carolyn Butitta smile with pleasure.

In a quiet moment, Brian Stollar and Debbie Emma check their program to see what the rest of the evening holds in store for them.

We Made It!!

A brilliant blue sky greeted the members of the class of '84 as they gathered at Memorial Stadium on June 20. There, the seniors were honored for their efforts and achievements during their school years.

Before the diplomas were presented, salutatorian Jeff Hollender reflected on the past twelve years and presented the graduating class with sound advice for the future. Valedictorian Matthew Bauer urged his classmates "not to be afraid of the future but seize the day with confidence and pride."

Bringing a moment of humor to the ceremony, Reverend Anne Roth presented the class with a worn and tattered running shoe. When the laughter died down, her message was a serious one: "Take a step into the future."

While the speeches emphasized the future, Lisa Cooney reminded the graduates of the past when she sang "Memory." The band also added to the occasion with a lively rendition of the "Liberty Bell March."

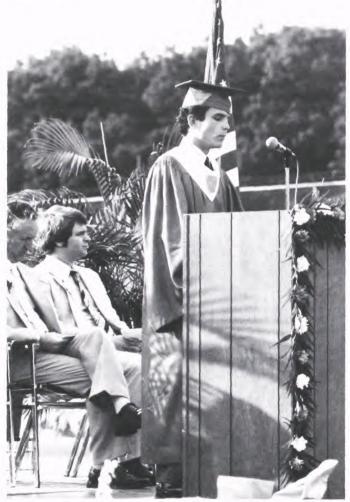

After the presentation of awards and diplomas, the new graduates flooded off the field to join their proud families. The feeling in the air was very clear: SCHOOL IS OUT!

With the burst of energy, Joni Mayer, Fred Deiker, and Sherri Twardy enjoy a pregraduation celebration.

After graduation, Jimmy Bartkowitz and Donna Dell share a tender moment.

The Valedictory is delivered by Matt Bauer.

Saluditorian, Jeff Hollender, speaks to his fellow classmates.

A spirited "Liberty Bell March" is performed by the Sayreville Band.

The seniors take time to contemplate their future during the graduation ceremony.

165 Years Of Service

During 1984, there were several members of the faculty who retired after many years of dedicated service to the Sayreville School District. They include Mrs. Irene Arthur, Mr. John Simko, Mrs. Lorraine Simko, Mr. Frank Malanowski, and Mr. Vito Recine

MRS. ARTHUR, a graduate of New York University, began teaching in Sayreville in 1942. At that time, she taught science at Wilson School, which was then the High School. While she always continued to teach, Mrs. Arthur also served as Chairman of the Science Department. At the time of her retirement, she was the Supervisor of the Math and Science Department.

With a great deal of leisure time at her disposal, Mrs. Arthur has been spending time in Florida, reading, gardening, and renewing old friendships.

A veteran of the Second World War, MR. SIMKO began his higher education at Rutgers University. He received his B.S. from Trenton State College and later completed his M.S. at Seton Hall University.

Mr. Simko began teaching metal shop in Old Bridge and then came to Sayreville where he taught drafting. In the future, he plans to pursue one of his favorite activities: traveling.

retirement December 1st, attended Trenton State College and obtained her M.A. at Monclair State College. She began her 40-year career teaching elementary school in South River. In Sayreville, she served as Librarian for Wilson School and the War Memorial High

During her retirement, she intends to read, travel, browse for antiques, cook, and "go with the flow."

MR. MALANOWSKI graduated from Mt. St. Mary College. He began teaching English in this school system in 1957.

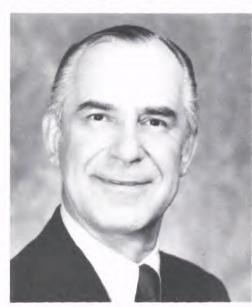

Mr. Malanowski's retirement promises to be a very active one. Besides looking after his three children, he intends to catch up on his reading and crossword puzzles.

MR. RECINE, a certified athletic trainer and registered physical therapist, began his career at New Brunswick High School. In 1962, he became head trainer at Sayreville.

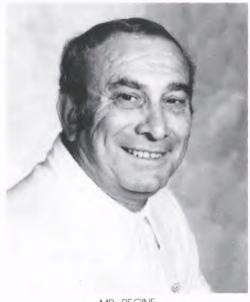

During his years here he was very actively involved both locally and nationally in athletics. For his dedication to his work, he received many awards, including the Certificate of Appreciation from the U.S. Olympic Committee and the Distinguished American Award. He was appointed to the Trainer's Hall of Fame in 1976.

SCHOOL COMES TO LIFE

Under the searing August sun, SWMHS began to come to life. The parking lot, which had been deserted all summer, teemed with baton twirlers, musicians and pom-pom girls. The sound of blaring trumpets and the commands of drill instructors echoed around the building.

On the practice field, the sounds of coaches' whistles and the grunting of the football team practicing their tackles could be heard. Band camp had begun and the football team was getting in shape for the opening game.

In addition, more "pre-school" confusion took place in the main foyer of the building. Naive sophomores were being trampled by tough upperclassmen in the race to get their schedules for the coming year.

Unfortunately for the sophomores, the summer schedule rush was just a sample of what they could expect from the first week of school. Juniors amused themselves by directing lost sophomores into dead-end closets and non-existent elevators.

Then there were the seniors ... The war-torn veterans strutted out of school (noses held high) at 12:09 with shiny new car keys dangling from their fingers.

Fortunately for everyone, the school year quickly settled into its normal routine. Classes met, homework was assigned and tests were given. The sophomores finally found their classrooms and everyone was ready for the long stretch to Christmas Vacation.

Unfortunately, it slowly became clear that things were NOT normal. Any student who read the local papers became aware that a teachers' strike was in the offing. Red T-shirts worn by many faculty members added fuel to the whirling rumors.

Performing a necessary, but unhappy task, Mrs. Bulla and Mrs. Romatowski walk the picket line.

The Homecoming nominees wait for their introduction at the first pep rally

Despite their hard efforts the sophomore class is defeated by the seniors.

SURE ENOUGH

Sure enough! On the morning of October 2nd, students who hadn't listened to WCTC and came to school found sessions cancelled and the teachers, secretaries and cafeteria workers on the picket line.

During the two weeks of the strike, student opinion was divided on the merits of the job action. In the opinion of junior Lisa Cupo, "The reason for the strike was justifiable, but it should have been settled over the summer. We lost valuable time which can never be replaced."

The return of the striking staff marked the beginning of a very hectic period. After having missed so many days of regular classes, students found themselves heavily burdened with "catchup" work.

The rest of the fall was not without its high points, however. The Spanish Club pepped up October with its Fall Festival. In addition, the end of the month marked Homecoming.

The Fall Pep Rally started the Home-coming celebrations. Usually held out on the field, this year fans were forced indoors due to rain. It was quite an experience to hear the entire Marching Band play indoors!

Spurred on by the cheerleaders, Student Council President Cindy Fingerlin introduced the fall sports teams. Homecoming Queen candidates Ellen D'Arpa, Dana Larsen, Sherri Martin, Michelle Stofan and LeeAnn Uszczak were introduced.

been waiting for — the Tug of War. Selected sophomore, junior and senior homerooms had been training for this moment. In spite of fierce competition from the underclassmen, Senior Homeroom A-82 emerged victorious. Their early lead in the Class Competition backed up their motto, "First to be the Best".

Saturday, October 27, 1984 was a day filled with countless memories for the people of Sayreville. The members of the classes of '44, '54, '64, '74, and '84 gathered at the stadium for a special reunion. SWMHS students had put in many hours of preparation to create a festive air for the event.

The individual classes had prepared Spirit Desplays to express their pride in their school. The sophomore display featured a large balloon with a basket of Cabbage Patch dolls. Their theme was "Newest Achievers Ready to Fly High". The junior class presented the topic "Peace". The seniors reminded everyone that they were the "First to be the Best" with the cartoon character "Ziggy" in cap and gown.

At halftime, the Marching Band presented its award-winning show. During the show, the band formed an honor guard for the presentation of the Homecoming Queen candidates and their escorts.

With much fanfare, Sherri Martin was crowned Homecoming Queen by Elissa Unkel, '83 Homecoming Queen. An emotional Sherry stated, "I was honored to be chosen Homecoming Queen and am proud to carry on the tradition."

To end a rather exciting month, students and some faculty members celebrated Halloween. The halls were filled with odd characters dressed in a wide variety of outlandish costumes. Since fashion this year dictated "neon" colors were in style, however, it was sometimes difficult to decide who was dressed for the holiday and who wasn't. One teacher actually complimented a student on the excellence of her costume only to be told, "I'm not wearing a costume, these are my real clothes!"

THINGS THAT COUNT

the fall. Was President Reagan, already in his 70's, fit enough to handle another 4-year term? Would a woman on the Democratic ticket hurt Walter Mondale's chances of being elected? Did Mondale even have a chance of winning? These and other issues had to be considered by seniors who were casting their first ballot in the Presidential Election.

November was a landslide month. President Reagan carried every state except Minnesota and the District of Columbia. Sayreville experienced its own landslide victory when the football team shut out South River in the annual Thanksaiving game.

On December 7th and 8th, the Theatre Society presented Thornton Wilder's three-act play, THE SKIN OF OUR TEETH.

The play presented two eras simultaneously. Set in a modern N.J. suburb, Wilder traced the history of mankind from the Ice Ages, through the Great Flood to the ultimate disaster of nuclear war. The everyday lives of Mr. and Mrs. George Antrobus (Todd Fenstermaker and Lauren Post) and their maid, Sabina (Chris Koprowicz) were presented amidst the tragic events. Although the production was brilliantly performed, the play was not well received by the audience. As Wilder himself stated, "the play comes alive only under conditions of crisis."

As December progressed, bits of red and green started peeking out of doorways. Bulletin boards took on a festive air. Spanish and French students began making the decorations for their Christmas Festival. The Student Council trimmed the Christmas Tree and created the holiday display in the main fover.

Meanwhile, the music department was gearing up for the annual Christmas Concert. On December 11th, the holiday audience was treated to performances by the band and chorus. The chorus performed the selections "That Holy Night", "Light the Legend", "Exsultate Deo", "Alleluia", and the "Christmas Song". The band played "A Christmas Festival", "Sheep May Softly Graze", and "Rudolph's Christmas Concert".

MID-YEAR CRISES

Student Council continued to keep the warmth of the season alive. They made their annual visit to Middlesex General Hospital to brighten the season for the patients. Dressed as Santa's Elves and Santa himself, they distributed gifts to the patients.

Finally, the much-awaited vacation arrived. Whether they traveled or stayed at home, everyone had the opportunity to relax and catch their breath before the arrival of the most grueling month of all — January.

Bitter cold weather greeted the returning vacationers. Those who had traveled south for the vacation weren't ready for the sub-zero windchill factors. As a matter of fact, no one was, not even the building. Frozen pipes in A-64 burst, flooding the room and part of lower A Corridor. One student was observed doing the backstroke down the hall on the way to the gym.

Battered by wind, cold and flood, students began preparing for Mid-Year Exams. Sophomores, approaching their first set of high school exams, were very nervous. Juniors were anxious to be done with them. The seniors were perhaps the most panic-stricken of all. These exams were the last grades needed for class ranking and college records.

To add to the confusion and panic of the students, the exam schedule was reorganized and rescheduled. Questions such as "Is our exam in-class or 2-hour", "What happens if we have a snow day?", and "What movie is playing?" were not uncommon.

Once the much-dreaded week of January 28th was over, the entire school breathed a collective sigh of relief. Exams were over and everyone, students and teachers alike, had survived.

The weather in February was unusually warm and everyone felt the need for an early case of Spring Fever. St. Valentines Day offered an excellent opportunity. The Student Council did a booming business in carnations and ECHO LITES sold an ocean of "Cupid's Correspondence".

student body, the Student Council sponsored School Spirit Week. For five solid days, the school blossomed with a bizarre array of bandanas, sun glasses, sweats, concert T-shirts and hats.

To further color the atmosphere of the hallways, each class created a vivid display case. The First Place Award went to the Class of '85, whose theme was "Seniors Have Memories". The "Juniors Have Today" and "Sophomores Have Dreams" earned the Classes of '86 and '87 2nd and 3rd place awards respectively.

To end the week, the continuing Class Competition spurred selected members of each class to compete against each other in the Almost Anything Goes assembly. The Class of '86, with 70 points, left the competition victorious — upsetting the seniors.

The seniors became nervous when, early in the competition, they came in last in the Wheelbarrow Race. Fortunately, they were able to save face as they edged their way up the scoreboard by winning the Basketball Throw and the Hockey Jump. However, the juniors were just as "psyched" and full of energy when they cleanly won the Pie Eating Contest and the SCooter Race.

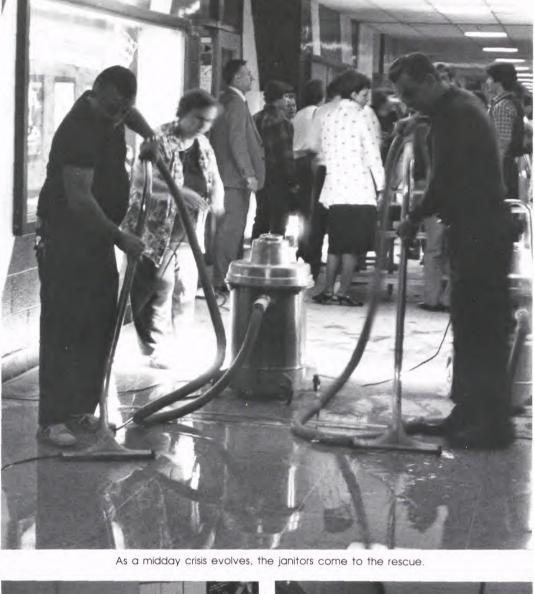

The end of School Spirit Week did not signal the end of competition within the school. As soon as the display cases had been dismantled, they were immediately filled with colorful posters. It was Foreign Language Week.

Sponsored by the language clubs, students were invited to submit posters which depicted the theme, "The Future is Yours, Learn a Foreign Language". 1st Place was awarded to Carol Zamorski, 2nd to Cindy Lockie and 3rd to Charles Heise.

While looking at the displays of posters in the showcases by the library, one could hardly avoid noticing the throngs of students inside poring over research materials. It was time for term papers.

The escaping groans told the story. Bewildered students wandered around looking for "catchy" topics. Should it be "Chivalry and the Feudal System",

TERM PAPERS TAKE OVER

"Mark Twain and His Humor", or "The Oedipus Complex"?

Finally, with a topic at hand, the outline had to be dealt with. Students wondered how to organize their material into a logical sequence which their teacher would appreciate. Where did the Roman numerals go? Did we really need to organize so much?

Once completed, the outline didn't seem so bad. It even resembled the models seen on the board in class. Unfortunately, the most difficult task lay ahead — the notecards. Now, everyone in the library had a growing pile of index cards at their side. Facts were recorded, indexed and re-organized. From those cards, the rough draft became a reality.

The last step of THE PROCESS had finally arrived. Students with rings under their eyes from a sleepless night of hunt-and-peck typing proudly bore sheaves of neatly typed white paper to class. The term paper was done! Over! FINITO!

With term paper trauma behind them and spring in full bloom, everyone finally had time to enjoy life. The Theatre Society brightened spirits with George Bernard Shaw's MY FAIR LADY. The exciting performances of Todd Fenstermaker as Prof. Higgins and Alicia Dietsch as

GOOD TIMES AHEAD

Eliza Doolittle highlighted the musical.

Meanwhile, girls started talking hemlines and styles. Guys were being led to the "Formal Shop" to be fitted for tuxes with ruffled shirts to match their dates' gowns. Bids were paid for and flowers were ordered. Post-prom parties were planned.

The Class of '86 held their prom in the transformed cafeteria on May 4th. Everyone who attended enjoyed a dinner catered by the Sayreville Bar and danced to the music of "Babe".

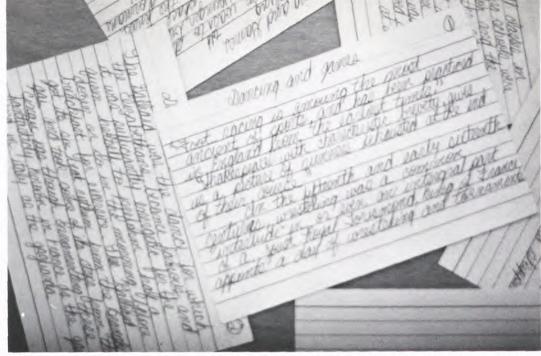

In the interim between the Junior and Senior Proms, the Concert Band and Chorus presented the Spring Concert. They captivated their audience with a selection of light melodies.

On May 31st, the Senior Class held their prom at the Westmont Country Club. The seniors and their guests danced and swayed for hours to the music of "Flossy".

As the spring festivities subsided, the long-awaited month of June arrived. As the month crept by, the wait for the LAST DAY seemed endless. The pace slowed down and more and more students saved their cumulative absences for a day of "fun in the sun". Oversized radios blared and students walked blindly down the hallways wearing their sunglasses and shorts.

The threat of forthcoming exams did not seem to matter — NOTHING mattered so close to the end of school.

As the month passed, the temperatures climbed and the humidity reached uncomfortable levels. With months of training and competition behind them, the athletes finally had time to relax in the sun.

DREAMS BECOME REALITY

What had seemed almost impossible in September had finally become a reality. The last day of school had finally arrived. Members of the senior class awaited their diplomas at the graduation ceremonies. With proud parents and friends in attendance, each graduate walked to the stage for his personal moment of achievement.

Underclassmen left the school knowing that in September another year of high school would be awaiting them. But for the moment, they were happy to start summer jobs or enjoy the sun and shore. The chatter and laughter of the freed students faded away from the parking lot. As the last of the students headed out of the building, the lights were dimmed in the deserted hallways as the last echoes of the year faded away.

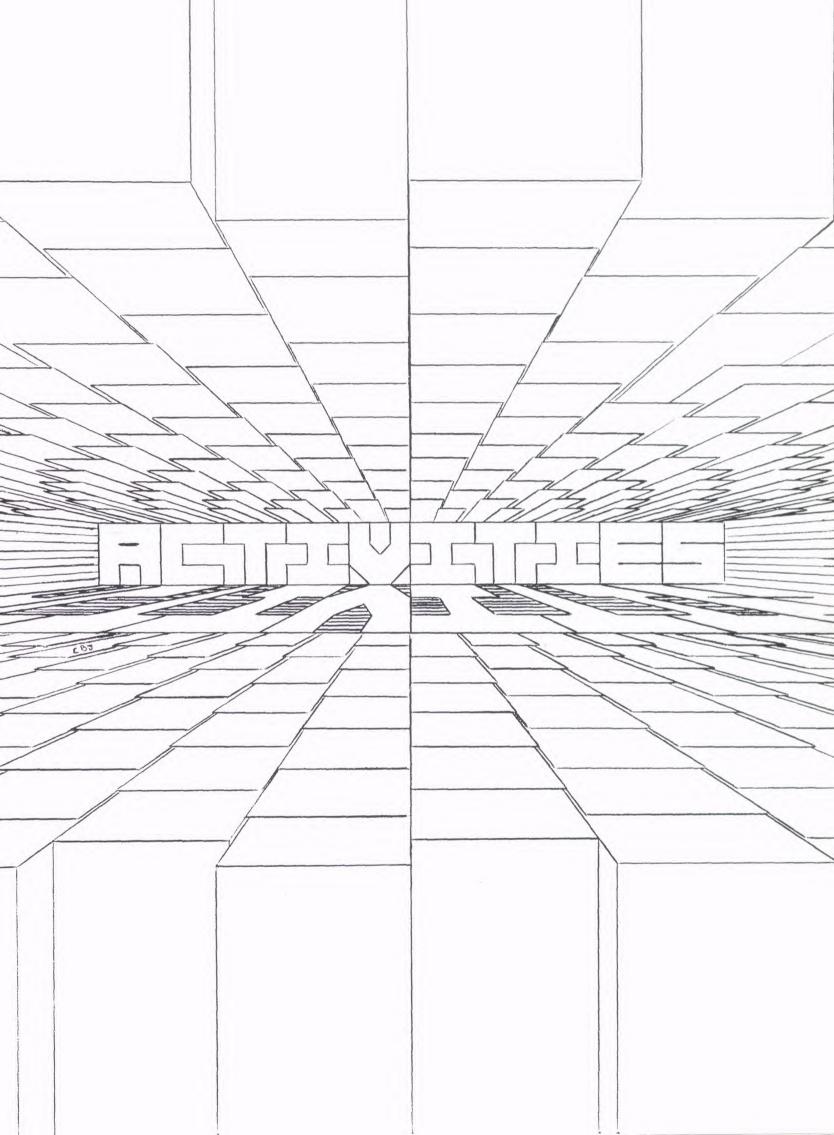

The buses pull out for the last run of the school year.

As the final bell rings, classrooms are left empty until next September.

KEEPING TIME

It was a busy year for the Marching Unit. With 9 half-time shows, 5 competitions and several parades, the members had no time to rest.

The band's year began in the unbearable August heat of band camp. The sweat-drenched musicians and band front members struggled to produce a newer and more complex show. They spent hours refining difficult maneuvers such as the "Unicorn" and the "Exploding Balloon". Their efforts eventually paid off.

The band executed the "awesome" show in winning form. The excited crowds cheered as flowing curves gracefully swirled into a tight "Gentleman's Bow Tie". Such elegance and mastery proved to be appealing to the judges as well. The Bomber Band took second place at the East Brunswick competition and had an all-time high score at the E.M.B.A. championship at Morris Knolls.

CLUBS BOOST TEAMS

The Women's and Boys' Varsity Clubs help to support the athletic programs in the school. They also work to improve school spirit.

The Women's Varsity Club evolved from a girls' basketball club. It expanded to include support for all girls' sports. Membership is open to all members of the student body supporting the girls' teams. The members continually strive to recognize their female athletes. This year, with the support of its 35 members, the Women's Varsity Club planned to buy track sweats and hockey shirts. They also planned an end-of-the-year dinner.

The morale-boosting Boys' Varsity Club was founded to improve the athletic program in the high school. The club's major concern is to improve the image of the athletes and increase the appreciation of their hard efforts. The club's membership consists of approximately 100 male varsity letter winners. The profits from their fund raising efforts were to be used for the benefit of the athletes.

IT'S YOUR MOVE

Going into B-11 on Monday afternoons proved to be a dangerous move. World War III was fought in the otherwise innocent-looking science classroom. 12 CIA agents were discovered shooting down a rocket-launching Porsche.

The members of the Games Club enacted these and other roll-playing games such as Top Secret, Car Wars and Iluminati. They spent endless hours developing strategies for these mind-boggling mental exercises.

Under the watchful eye of Mr. Klitzke, the members also delved into the complexities of other types of games, including three-dimensional chess.

The gamesmen did not travel to competitions or vie for high awards. They played their games for pure pleasure.

Bubbly personalities and captivating smiles help both the athletes and fans endure the blistering sun and freezing temperatures.

This year, the Ecology/Biology Club devoted its time to improving the environment. Club members were active every season of the year, striving to bring beauty to their school and to others.

In the fall, students spent a cold afternoon planting tulip bulbs in front of the school. As Christmas approached, their traditional wreath decorated the library. When spring came, they brought their efforts to the building itself, sponsoring a "Clean School Environment" program.

Spring also brought joy to the residents at the Oak View Nursing Home. The students made beautiful floral arrangements to bring the new season indoors for those who couldn't go outside.

While the Ecology/Biology Club enjoyed the seasons, members of the Math Club spent their time indoors.

In their monthly sessions, the club members challenged themselves with some of the most complex mathematical problems ever seen in this school. The tests they took gave them the opportunity to hone their mathematical abilities.

Getting Down To Business

The high school business clubs offer students the opportunity to develop the necessary skills to be successful in the competitive world. Through the efforts of DECA and FSA, students gain needed experience before choosing a career. They are more than just after-school activities, they are extensions of the business program.

DECA gives its members the chance to increase their vocational understandings, social intelligence, leadership qualities and civic consciousness through participation in regional, state, and national competitions. Through the breakfast program, M&M sales and poster-calendar sales, the club raises money to finance their competitions.

This year the club also sponsored a DECA day at the beach, and an end of the year employee/employer banquet.

This year the FSA opened it's membership to sophomores and juniors. By belonging to the Raritan Bay Chapter of the Professional Secretaries International, underclass members had the special opportunity to spend a day at the office working with women from the PSI. Besides the annual installation luncheon, the girls participated in a typing contest, Secretaries Week, a get-together at Middlesex County College and a social. The year ended with a formal banquet for the girls, their employers, and speakers from the business world.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

The foreign language clubs help students to develop a better understanding of different cultures. Club activities range from holiday celebrations and dinner trips to New York to presenting plays. Many students take advantage of the opportunities these clubs provide.

This year, the Spanish Club ventured to Newark for a dinner at El Europa. A fine meal was served and the students and advisers had the opportunity to mingle with other dinner guests.

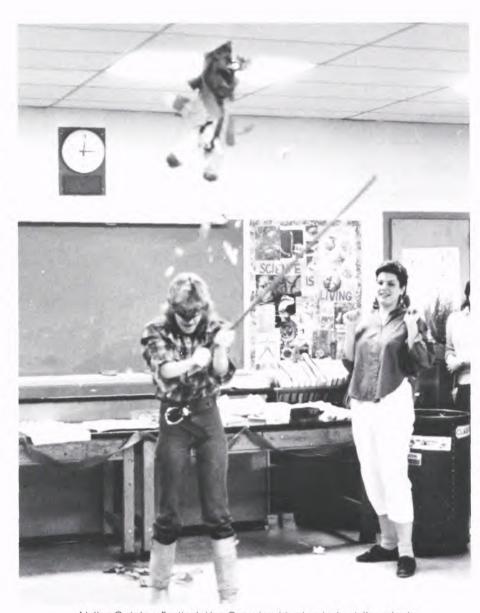

Later in the year, the Spanish students showed their bi-lingual talent by putting on a play at the junior high. Their other activities included a Columbus Day party, an International Holiday Festival and an end of the year trip.

While Spanish Club members were busy learning about the cultures of Spanish-speaking countries, French Club members were busy making mousse au chocolat and croissants for their parties. Other club members spent their time writing to French pen pals. Everyone devoted time to raising money for an end of the year trip.

The German Club also devoted time to fund raising by selling gummy bears. They took a dinner trip to Winkleman's to sample German cuisine.

LANGUAGE HONORS

Many students study foreign languages, a few excell. Those who complete at least three years of Spanish, French or German with outstanding grades are elected to membership in their respective Honor Societies.

The students are inducted into the societies in candlelit ceremonies in which they promise to be advocates of foreign language learning.

This year, the members of the Spanish, French and German Honor Societies have worked hard to keep their promises. They have developed programs to teach elementary students and to tutor fellow high school students.

The members designed coloring books for elementary and special education classes to help them teach their languages. The Spanish Honor Society also sponsored a crafts program which included the making of the traditional pinata.

While spending a great deal of time planning their programs to help others, the students also raised funds to improve themselves. Through their efforts, they were able to treat themselves to the opportunity to order a meal from the menu of a fine foreign restaurant.

TIME FOR OTHERS

Service to the school has long been an important function of the NHS. During the '84-'85 school year, Society members worked to raise funds to buy computer software for the school. They also established a long-term goal to develop a program in which members would help fellow students to become computer literate.

Aside from devising this computer program, they also planned several other activities including the May Induction Ceremony and the two new-member receptions. At graduation, members displayed great pride in their organization by wearing Honor Society banners which they bought through their own efforts.

BOOKS! BOOKS! BOOKS!

Much of school life involved the written word. Text books, novels, newspapers and magazines filled the school and tumbled out of lockers.

The members of the Library Council were instrumental in helping to keep the flow of written material in order. Members assisted the librarian in many ways. Belive it or not, stamping books was not the only function of the Council membership! They also filed magazines, delivered A-V equipment, processed new books and shelved returned ones. The members also worked with their fellow students to locate research materials.

The Reading for Pleasure Club approached books from a different perspective. Their goal was to get students interested in reading for personal enjoyment.

To help students on their way to leisure reading, the club sponsored a Book Fair in March. The selection of books for sale included a wide variety of popular titles as well as course related materials. Through this and other fund-raisers, the club hoped to get enough money to buy books for study halls.

ABILITY SHINES THROUGH

Why would a person sit for hours on end building balsa wood structures or cars? What's the motivating factor in trying to find out the number of dimples on a golf ball or naming possible uses for a million bars of soap? These and many other perplexing problems draw creative individuals to the Olympics of the Mind and Academic Competition Teams.

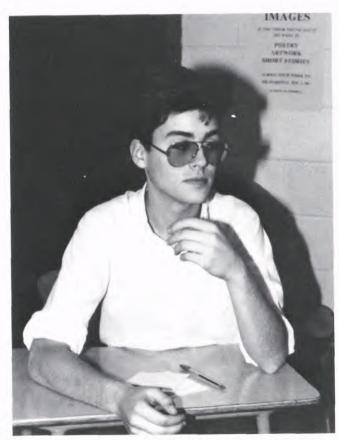

As a part of the National Olympics of the Mind organization, students in OM competed against other schools in spontaneous problem solving. They also developed long-term projects such as creating an original musical piece or constructing a robot to complete a specific task. The team competed in the local, regional, state and national levels.

The Academic Competition Team is an interscholastic competition in which students sharpened their knowledge of history, math, science, literature, music, art, mythology, geography, the Bible and sports. The team competed in the Bridgewater Raritan Invetational Tournament of Excellence and the Perth Amboy Decathalon of Knowledge.

According to supervisor Carla Sutherland, "Activities like OM and ACT allow for certain types of intellectual freedom and creativity that can't be found in the regular classroom situation. Students involved in these activities never accept the meaning of the word 'impossible' and challenge the inevitability of what many others consider probable."

I don't know how to use it, I just work here.

Hmmm . . . let's see.

SPIRIT BOOSTERS

Free time — what's that? If you're a member of the Student Council, or know one, you may have heard that very question. Student Council is one of the busiest groups in SWMHS. The Council meets twice a month to discuss such school issues as student spirit, assemblies and pep rallies. Between meetings, members can be found selling candy and flowers.

This past year, preparations for School Spirit rallies and fund raising for the Arthritis Foundation occupied many hours of planning. The fall, winter and spring sports rallies, Homecoming and the Almost Anything Goes assembly were just a few of the spirit-boosting programs sponsored by the Council. Everyone worked hard to include every student in the school in the fun.

The hard work and long hours devoted by the members of the Student Council helped to increase interest in school activities and boost the morale of the student body.

KEEPING CURRENT

Whether it was a difference of opinion about school lunches or wearing shorts to class, ECHO LITES served as a forum for students and faculty alike. Published between October and June, the newspaper enjoyed the readership of the entire school population.

Through the "Letters to the Editor" and "Editorial" sections, ECHO LITES functioned as a medium through which different opinions about a wide range of topics could be aired. According to Editorin-Chief Shaun Ferguson, "The most interesting thing about working for ECHO LITES was knowing that a wide variety of people were reading our publication and that they felt free to respond both negatively and positively."

Besides moderating the opinions of the students and teachers, the newspaper also kept students informed. Articles discussed school news and sports, the latest movies and records, as well as general topics of interest.

Adviser Judy Mischne and the members of the ECHO LITES staff spent long hours writing, editing, and laying out the newspaper. They worked towards their common goal: to publish the best newspaper possible.

THE YEARBOOK ZONE

A207—the place where no one is named Bubba; the place to go to find the world's smallest violin. Yes, this is the yearbook room where through deadlines, late-night meetings, and strikes, the '85 QUO VADIS yearbook staff banded together to create YOUR yearbook.

Stephanie Wasik (a.k.a. Xan) was the top banana, head nut, the Editor-in-Chief. She was the one who managed to keep relatively calm during that first deadline-Black Monday. This was in spite of the craze-inducing cries of, "Where are the typists?!?" Despite all of her hard work and sore 12wpm fingers, Stephanie still found time for some real interesting phone conversations.

With whom did she have those conversations? That brings us to our Layout Editors, Brian Coyle and Jana Golub. They were the people in charge of actually drawing up all the pages of QUO VADIS. To do that took a lot of creativity. Their brilliance was not limited to 3R layout forms, however, they were also single-handedly responsible for inventing our own "Quo Vadis Language" which, to date no one but they can understand.

Speaking of incomprehensible-let's talk Copy—Copy Editors to be exact. Stan Jadwinski and Debbie Nowikow worked hard all year—finding things to write about, getting people to write what should be written, editing what people had written, and attempting to murder one another. If the idea of homicidal Copy Editors suprises you—you mustn't have heard of the Lords of Chaos—Birth and Decline.

Then there was our Underclass Editor, Maria Protonentis (Sunni Day). The name says it all. Except that she had a few quirks about cabbage and some weird "hang outs" like the boys bathroom.

Mention of Maria brings us to our photographer, Gregg Pachkowski. He may have seemed serious, but he was really quite a practical jokester (just ask Sunni). He sometimes got carried away, literally, especially at holiday parties. For a photographer, it's ironic that he was the most camera-shy member of the staff.

Head Captioner, Noelle Pascucci, was a fun person whose captioning ability grew while her patience shrank. This was perfectly understandable, though, because hers was a tough, pressure-filled job. For Noelle, there was one compensation. Although she almost lost her mind, her vocabulary did improve.

At the other end of this rather insane spectrum, was Activities Editor, Lisa Mergel, who always remained her calm, collected self.

Finally, there were the QUO VADIS Phantoms—Roland Munoz, Stacey Gondek, Harry Applegate, Lisa Silva, Chris Jones, and of course, Suzie Kupsch (alias—Sabrina). Although we rarely saw them, their work was always finished and usually on time.

The successful completion of the '85 yearbook called for much hard work on the part of the staff and advisers. The difficult tasks were made more pleasant by the staff's sense of humor. A final bit of yearbook wisdom—RELAX. Don't do it. LA!!!

The effects of the first QUO VADIS deadline on Stacey Gondek and Brian Coyle were only temporary - we think.

Harry Applegate works hard to get his financial records up to date.

Miss Johnson helps Stephanie make some tough decisions.

DREAMS BECOME REALITY

There are many opportunities for creative students to express themselves in this school. Quite often, aspiring authors, poets and artists submit their work to the school literary magazine, IMAGES, and get to experience the exhilaration of seeing their creations in print.

For the past two years, the adviser for IMAGES has been Mr. Patrick Marotta. IMAGES has had a reputation for excellence and has won first place awards from the Columbia Scholastic Association. Mr. Marotta has seen to it that this tradition of high standards has been upheld.

Mr. Marotta once said in reference to IMAGES, "The yearbook and newspaper show what we thought and what we felt. IMAGES is a publication where reflections of dreams are transformed into reality."

BOMBERS SAVE BEST FOR LAST

Loyal fans of the rebuilding Bomber Football Team received a real treat this Thanksgiving. They witnessed the crushing defeat of arch-rival South River by a socre of 26-0. The final results reflected the most points scored by a Sayreville team against the Rams since 1944.

Also adding excitement to the 4-5 season was a heart-stopping victory over Madison Central. The defeat marked the first time Sayreville had beaten Madison in 15 years.

Thanks to a Ken Gaasbeck recovery on the opponent's 3 yard line in the 4th quarter, the Bombers were able to return the ball 83 yards in the next 12 plays. With less than 4 minutes remaining in the game, the team continued their offensive and crossed the goal line to bring the final score to 13-40.

The '84 team was headed by captains Chris Dieker (TE), Butch Hoover (C), Jeff Cassella (T) and Derek Haley (S). Leading the team in tackles were Haley and junior Mike Bouchard with 96 each. Other outstanding players included seniors Cliff Repetti (Q) and Bob Tomaszewski (DT).

Although 1984 saw undeniable improvement on the field, the Bombers won't rest until they have completed a winning season. "Our motto in '85," stated coach Milton Theodosatos, "will be 'BETTER THAN 5 IN '85 AND GET EXCITED!"

Running against the clock, Chris Dieker makes a final attempt for a Sayreville victory.

Down The Field

This year's JV Football team faced a difficult season. With many JV players being drafted by varsity, the team concluded a 1-5-1 season. Although the record was far from impressive, the JV squad did upset Cedar Ridge by a score of 35-14. The team also managed to tie Madison Central with a score of 12-12 in the last quarter. The Bomber line-up included Darren Lange (DB), Steve Simon (QB), Chris Cook (LB), Matt Sullivan (TE), Ron Zimmerman (DG), Paul Westbrook (T), Billy Dwyer (G), and Jeff Fuller (C).

As with the JV team, the sophomore football players used the 1984 season to build up their skills. In spite of an 0-6 season, many team members dis-played talent. Team members included Chuck Smith (DT), Rob Howardson (T), Mike Bell (RB), Chuck Heise (FB), Gary Pierson (T), Glen Haber (T), Gary Wycoff (C), Mike D'Alessio (R) and Bob

ON THE WAY BACK

1985 was an unforgetable year for the Boy's Varsity Basketball Team. In contrast to last year's 2-20 record, the team finished 12-11 this year. The final results reflected Sayreville's first winning season in 5 years. Owing to the return of many talented seniors, the team emerged victorious over some very difficult opponents.

Led by seniors Phil Esteves, Rich Nehila and Ken Gaasbeck, the team upset a tough South River by a tight score of 53-51. Equally rewarding was the team's 79-48 defeat of Hoffman at the annual Meadowlands game.

Showing steady progress during the season, the Bombers concluded the year by winning the last five games by a minimum of seven points.

Under the guidance of coach Vin Laorano, the Boy's JV Basketball Team's 13-9 record marked their first winning season in 7 years.

With the valuable performances of sophomores Chris Giordano, Mark Piatek and Joe Coyle, the Bombers started the season with a spectacular 54-43 upset over Madison Central. The victory was followed by exciting defeats of South River, Cedar Ridge and JP Stevens.

With half the varsity lettermen returning next year and seasoned players from the JV team moving up, '86 promises to be an exciting basketball year for Sayreville.

GIRLS TAKE CONFERENCE

Playing some remarkable games, the Girl's Varsity Basketball Team won the Conference Championship this year. With a season record of 19-7, the girls also reached the state semi-finals.

Coach Sherry Popowski attributes the teams outstanding record to a balance of speed, endurance, and good eye-hand coordination.

On the way to the championship, the dribblers managed to put some new records on their books. In a rousing defeat of South Brunswick (92-32), the team set a new scoring record. In addition, senior Terry Lockwood, who made first team, All-Conference, broke Sayreville's single-game rebounding record.

Outstanding performances were turned in by a number of team members. Vanessa Carney led the team with 101 assists, averaging 4 per game. Terry Lockwood led in steals with 96, followed by Laura Ortiz with 60.

The 84-85 JV Girl's Basketball team also had a terrific season. Coached by Janet Ryan, the team completed the season with a record-setting 18 wins and 2 losses. The JV's also set another school record with a winning-streak of 12 games.

Individual performances throughout the season which contributed to the record included those of sophomores Madeline Clegg and Nancy Ferguson. Clegg led the team in total points with 158. She also led the team with 70 steals. Ferguson led the team in total rebounds with 183.

SPIRITED!

The Girls' Tennis team suffered through a disappointing 4 and 15 season, yet they managed to keep their spirits up. Never losing heart, seniors Judy Milligan, Karen Leber, and Marie Maliszewski encouraged their fellow team members to "never give up", even after they were forced to forfeit 3 games during the strike. The girls did manage to pull out victories over Perth Amboy, Woodbridge, Edison, and Cedar Ridge, however. According to Coach Nicholiason, "The future of the team looks brighter because many players will be returning next year."

Karen Leber smashes another long return.

DIVE IN!

With few boys to balance the squad, the '85 Swim Team faced a difficult season. Team members did have the satisfaction of beating Madison Central with a score of 103-65.

On an individual basis, a number of swimmers turned in outstanding performances during the year.

Senior Stacy Jablonski was cited by coach Linda Tice as the most outstanding swimmer on the team. "She can do almost any event."

Diver Reyne Borup added to the team's record. She has won in the counties for the last 4 years. She has also ranked in the top 10 in the state and Eastern competitition.

With some "hot" 8th graders coming up next year, Coach Tice looks for improvement in the team's record. However, she feels that, aside from the feeling of accomplishment that comes from team work, swimming offers individual challenges. "With the Swim Team, the student can stand out individually in a given event. Swimming is also a sport for life."

Perfect stance makes the dive for Diane Garbowski.

ENDURANCE PAYS OFF

The Boys Cross Country Team finished with a 7-2 season. Their 2 losses were forefeits caused by the teacher strike. Fortunately, they went on to capture the central Jersey and Middlesex County Championships.

Due mainly to Senior experience, the long distance men never 'ran' out of success. At the all groups meet, they captured 5th place, and for 2 weeks of the season, ranked 6th in the state. According to Capt. Tom Luther, "The highlight of the season was our victory over highly favored Madison Central." Tom, along with teammates Greg Cavaliere and Tim Newsome, made the 1st team All County, Furthermore, the team finished the season ranking 9th in the state, and Coach William Doll was named the conference and County Coach of the

The Girls Cross Country team, led by junior Lori Halcomb and freshman Cathy Hunter, completed a winning 5-3 season. Mrs. Carney was impressed with the entire team for bringing their times down by 3 minutes or better. Appropriately, the girls ran their best times of the year at the state tournament. Making a name for herself, Lori Halcomb made the 2nd All-Conference and All County teams. With the entire team returning, next year should be even more successful.

THE WINNER IS . . . SNOW!

How could one describe the '84-'85 Winter Track season? The season that almost did not take place! The horrible weather during midseason forced the cancellation of ten meets. Yet, the team was able to wrap up the season with a record of 6 and 3.

The squad placed third in the East Brunswick Relays, second at the Lehigh Relays, fourth at the County Relays, and fifth at the County Meet.

Two outstanding team members, senior Tom Luther and sophomore Greg Cavaliere, were named to the All-Conference Team. Tom also placed fifth at the State Meet.

A Balancing Act

The Boy's Gymnastics Team's hopes for the state championship were dashed by injuries to key team members. The season started out with a string of impressive victories. However, midseason injuries sidelines Joe Vitale and Pete Michel.

One compensation for the team was Jim Reynolds' outstanding individual season. Jim qualified for sectional competition in all-around and, at the novice tournament, took 3rd place on the rings and 1st place on the high bar. Jim also came in 4th place 16 times this season, setting a new Sayreville mark.

In spite of the disappointing season, Coach Hefelfinger feels hope for the next year. Coach Hefelfinger feels, "If they work out during the off-season and don't get hurt, we'll be in the hunt for the state championship."

This year, the Girls' Gymnastics Team had a very successful season. They finished the year with a record of 5-2-1. Team captains for the 1984 team were Reyne Borup and Diane Garbowski.

The season held many remarkable moments for the team. During the county meet, Sayreville scored their highest over-100.65 points. Senior Diane Garbowski had a great individual record, finishing 6th in the all-around of the state sectionals and 8th all-around in the finals.

THE BEST EVER

The 1984-85 Wrestling Team compiled an 11 and 3 dual-meet record, which was the best performance in the school's history. The team captured first place at the Woodbridge Christmas Tournament for the third consecutive season and later placed fourth in the County Tournament. The wrestlers nearly succeeded in snaring the District 20 Tournament and crowned 3 District Champs: Tony Castronovo, Gerard Van Pell, and Mike Bouchard. The team was also victorious over Cedar Ridge and Edison for the first time. According to Coach Zaleski, it "was the best Bomber Wrestling team ever."

Senior Co-captain, Tony Castronovo, completed the season with a record of 21 wins and 4 losses. Tony was also the first Sayreville grappler in 9 years to advance to the State Tournament.

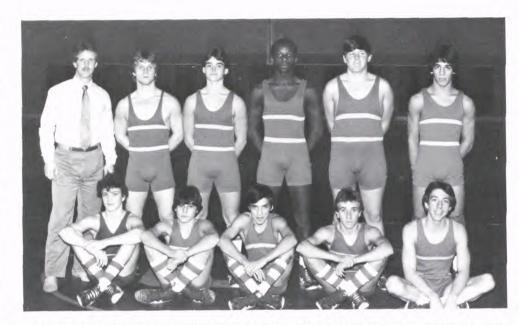

Coach Zaleski stated that "next year's team looks promising because 6 Varsity lettermen are returning."

This year's J.V. team completed the season with a 5-6 record. The less than impressive performance was not the wrestlers' fault, since the team was forced to forfeit in the upper weight divisions.

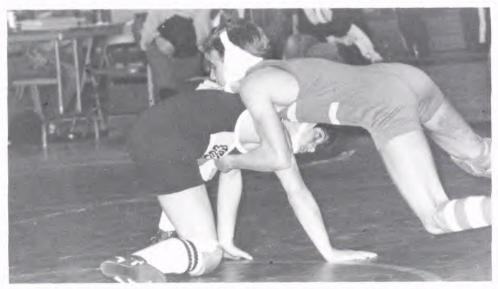

And the winner is Fred Obado!

TRUE DEDICATION

This year, the Varsity Field Hockey Team really proved their dedication to their sport. In October, when the team was just beginning to play as a cohesive unit, the season was interrupted by the two-week teacher strike.

During the strike, senior captains Joyce Winkler and Denise Valinoti as well as junior captain Shelly Mayernick exerted their leadership and organized informal practice sessions. Thanks to their perseverance, the team managed to end the season with a creditable 4-5-3 record.

Included in their record was a heart-stopping double overtime victory over top-ranked Metuchen in the quarter finals of the county tournament. Thanks to the skills of veterans Vanessa Carney and Terry Lockwood, a last minute one-on-one shoot-out with the opposing goalie ended the game a 2-1 score.

Terry Lockwood aims for the winning goal.

VICTORY!

This year's JV Soccer Team left it's mark on the record books, finishing with an undefeated 6-0-3 season.

Acording to coach John Ciszewski, "the team's hard work, ability to play diffrent positions and excellent team work on everyone's part" were responsible for the impressive results.

Although most games ended with devastating scores, Coach Ciszewski considers the team's most rewarding preformance to be the pressure game against Cedar Ridge which resulted in a 2-2 tie. Of the team's many "massacres", Coach Ciszewski particulary enjoyed punishing East Brunswick Vo Tech with a score of 10-1.

The team scored a total of 30 goals for the season and gave up only 5 goals. Dave Smith led his teammates with 9 goals, while Greg Davis and Tony VanWagenen added 7 each.

To cap the victorious season, team members reversed the usual giving of awards, Coach "C" told QUO VADIS that he was "really happy to receive a plaque from 'my team' in appreciation for a good season."

With a happy grin, Coach C. congradulates his sucessful team.

HANGING TOUGH

1984 was a memorable year for the Varsity Soccer team. Led by senior captains George Evanego, Drew Napurano, and Marc Caruso, the "Blue Wave" finished with a 7-9-1 season, Sayreville's best in 10 years.

Although the teachers' strike halted regular practices, the team won 3 games during that period without the benefit of daily drills.

Highlighting the season was the 3-0 victory over tough rival Hoffman in which only 6 shots were allowed on Sayre-ville's goal. In addition, the team qualified for both the state and county tournaments for the first time in 10 years. Both George Evanego and Chris O'Conner received honorable mention at the All-County level.

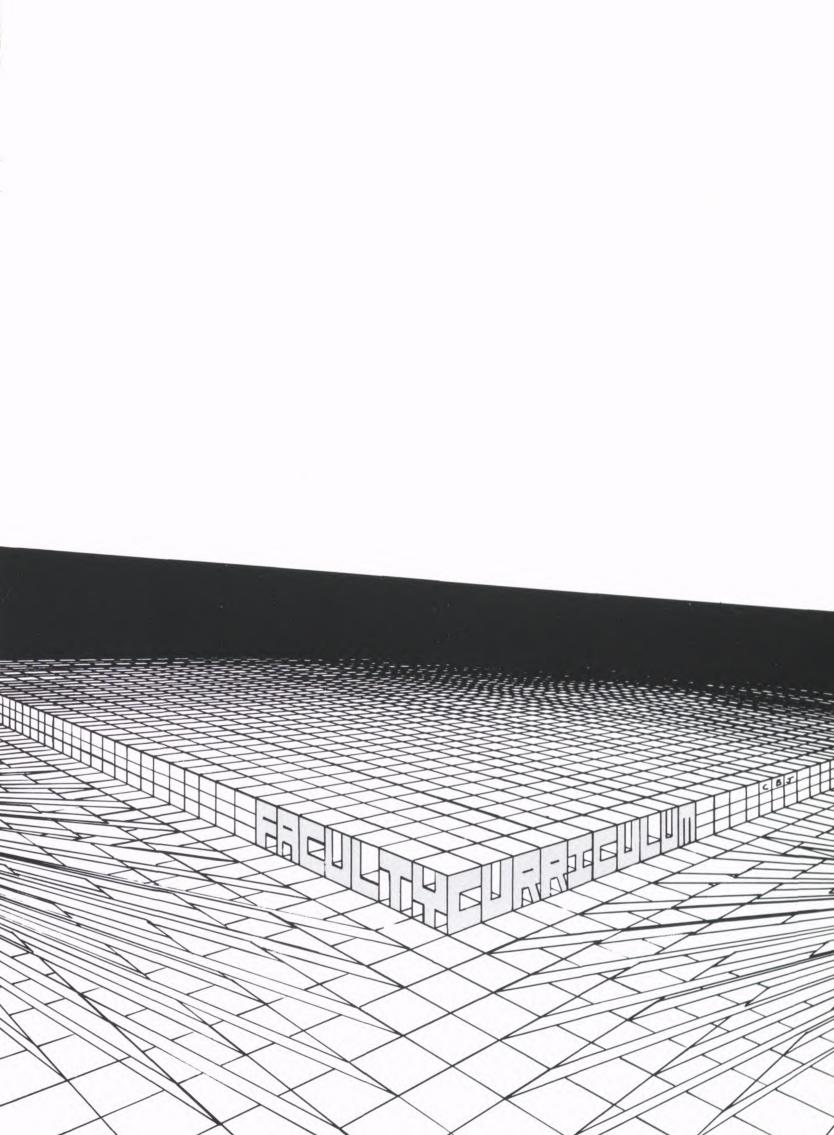

Coach James Inman feels that the team's accomplishments were due to the team's desire "to prove that soccer can be a winner in Sayreville."

"Teaching is the process by which each student's potential is developed to the greatest degree." Perhaps it is this philosophy that brought Mr. Homer Drill to education in 1952 and has kept him in the field for the past 33 years. As principal for the past five years, his pleasant yet firm attitude has proved a valuable asset. With his experience, he has managed to maintain the school's reputation for quality education.

Mr. Dill has also helped to make some innovations to programs in this school. He made possible the addition of the study room to the library, the upgrading of the weight room and the formation of the DECA Club.

As in any job, there are advantages and disadvantages. Although Mr. Dill has the responsibilities of instituting new programs and keeping the high school running smoothly, he sometimes finds his position frustrating. He is not always able to provide what is needed. Mr. Dill also regrets that he has too few opportunities to be in contact with the students. He found teaching and the closeness with his students to be extremely rewarding.

Mr. Dill is capable of handling any situation that may arise. He has an extremely difficult job, but handles it with sophistication, responsibility and experience.

FORMING THE FUTURE

The guidance counselors have many responsibilities. They assist in scheduling classes and spend a great deal of time helping students deal with academic and personal problems.

Students headed for higher education can find a broad variety of materials to help them decide which college or university is best suited to their needs. The recent acquisition of an Apple Computer has helped to simplify the procedure.

Tor students who plan to go to work after graduation, there is a job-placement program. Mrs. Karen Kryzkowski, the newest member of the department, is busy matching up students with appropriate jobs. She is also responsible for planning the annual Career Day program.

Besides working directly with their students, the counselors have many other responsibilities. Mr. Mewcomer, Supervisor of Counseling and Placement oversees the coordination of the junior and senior high school guidance programs. Mrs. Lake takes on the additional job of running the extensive testing program which includes the Kuder Preference Test, CAT's, PSAT's and SAT's. Mrs. Vlin teaches Career Development. Mr. Tewell is in charge of coordinating scheduling and maintaining a liason with armed forces recruiters.

Although their offices are tucked away in a corner of the administrative wing, the counselors reach out to every student in the building.

SPECIAL ATTENTION

With an average of 40 students passing through her office every day, Mrs. Ziemba, the school nurse, hardly has a chance to catch her breath.

Her many duties include taking care of ill students, filling out accident reports, updating health and immunization records and compiling monthly reports to the superintendent and principal as well as completing annual state reports. According to Mrs. Ziemba, "organization is extremely important for one nurse covering a large school."

Mrs. Ziemba tries to maintain a good relationship with both students and faculty and she enjoys her work. She feels that it is important to "be there" when she's needed.

Although her daily routine often seems repetitive, each day brings new challenges. Mrs. Ziemba never knows if it's going to be a busy day or a quiet one, but she takes it all in stride.

With an assist from Mrs. Ziemba, Vanessa Carney checks her weight.

Mrs. Hilda Weisberg, our new librarian, is devoted both to her students and to her work. She has been in the Sayreville School District for the past 11 years. Prior to coming to the high school, she worked both in Truman and Eisenhower schools.

A graduate of Montclair State College and Columbia University, Mrs. Weisberg devotes tremendous energy to her work. She feels that her job as librarian is to connect people with information. Whether readers are looking for an entertaining novel or seeking much-needed information, she has to know where to find the necessary material. She is constantly researching new publications to keep her knowledge current.

Those who have come to know Mrs. Weisberg say that her personality is reflected in the library. She is a friendly and exciting person who enjoys her work, likes to relate to people and cherishes her books. When asked what a library should be, Mrs. Weisberg stated, "the library should be the best place in the school to be."

Miss Gordon is a very busy person. If asked what subjects she teaches, she can spend an hour briefly sketching an outline of her program.

Simply stated, Miss Gordon teaches special needs students with a wide variety of handicaps those skills that will be needed on the job.

In her career and vocational education program, students learn woodworking, packaging and assembly, typing, office skills, consumer skills and skills related to the hotel-motel industry. In addition to regular classroom, her students do subcontracting work for various companies. Miss Gordon also assists her students to obtain on-the-job training.

Hers is a job which requires infinite patience and very special abilities. It is also an extremely rewarding one. Miss Gordon feels that watching a student make progress is one of her greatest pleasures.

``M*A*T*H''

This year, Dr. Marotta left the classroom to take on a very big job. Appointed as K-12 Math Supervisor, he is also in charge of the computer program for the entire school district.

While computers have been in use in the high school for a number of years in the Business and Math Departments, Dr. Marotta has plans to expand their usefulness. Having already established a computer-assisted instructional program in the elementary schools, he would like to expand it to the junior and senior high schools. He envisions a computer lab which would be accessible to all departments. As an end-result of his efforts, he would like to see everyone in the school district teachers and students alike, become computer literate.

Obviously relishing his new responsibilities, Dr. Marotta stated, "I love my new job because it effects a lot of people in hopefully a positive way." His devotion to his chosen field is obvious. The license plate on his car reads "MATH" and he has authored text-books on metrics. Apart from math, Dr. Marotta enjoys travelling with his dog Keystone and cooking. ALL THE ELEMENTS

In September, a newly-reorganized Science Department welcomed Mrs. Angelina Romano as K-12 Science Supervisor.

Mrs. Romano brings outstanding credentials to the position. A past president of the N.J. Science Teachers' Association, she has also served as a member of advisory boards to the N.J. Department of Education. In addition, she is serving as a member of the planning board for the new $43,000,000 State Museum of Science and Technology.

According to Mrs. Romano, the most important function of the Science Supervisor is in the area of curriculum development. She feels that a hands-on program is essential for building a basic understanding of science and the world around us.

While she loves the exciting atmosphere of her new position, Mrs. Romano admits that she misses the classroom. She especially misses the daily contact with students, the discussions and the good feeling that she had when her pupils showed interest in a problem.

HUMANities

The Humanities Department offers students a wide range of courses and activities which broaden both their knowledge of the world around them and their appreciation of the fine arts.

Courses in World and U.S. History teach students about the past. Sociology and Current History programs attune students to the world they live in today.

In the music wing, creative ability is very much in evidence. One can hear the chorus practicing for the next concert while next door the band is tuning up. On the stage, members of the Jazz Ensemble are having an informal jamsession. In Mr. Shaner's office, there is a pile of music for the Spring Musical.

A tour of the E-wing, where the art department is located, discloses a large variety of creative activities. Students are busy working with clay, water-colors, pastels and oil paints. Others, wearing protective goggles, can be seen working with the metal they will use to create their sculptures. In one corner, people are working with fine tools, shaping original jewelry creations. Here, every student is given both technical knowledge and the freedom to create.

WRITING "GOOD"

Are you getting a callus on your finger from writing all those papers for English class? Is your head filled with an amazing variety of exotic vocabulary items? Have you "had it" with analogies? . . . You might as well get used to it. The Language Arts Department has declared an all-out war on substandard writing skills and declining SAT scores.

Even as you are struggling with the latest IMPOSSIBLE topic for an essay, your language teachers are busily attending workshops where they are learning even BETTER methods of teaching you to write. Even the foreign language teachers are getting in on the act, pointing out all those handy Latin roots that build your vocabulary.

If you think things might ease up in the future . . . forget it! Next year, the department is going to expand the battle to a wider front. A committee has already been formed to study ways to encourage the teaching of writing skills in EVERY class!

Face it. Things are changing, they will never be the same. They will be better. All that hard work, the mountain of words, the searching for just the right phrase will pay off.

It must be the end of the marking period; Tony Cimasko and Nancy Scott are checking their grades with Mrs. Hazners.

The Canterbury Tales are the topic of discussion in Miss Joseph's class.

READY TO WORK

For those who wish to spend their high school years training for a career, the Business and Vocational Education Department offers a number of interesting programs.

In the Distributive Education course, students spend three years preparing for jobs in the marketing and merchandising field. During their senior year, participants in this program work in outside jobs under the supervision of Ms. Charlotte Carosh

Department Supervisor, Mrs. Mary Dulemba, conducts a workstudy program for secretarial students. Those enrolled in the C.O.E. program spend their afternoons perfecting their office skills while being paid and receiving credit for the course.

Aside from these special programs, students can take advantage of the many courses offered by the department. Typing, accounting and data processing are among the favorite selections.

For those with an artistic flair and who enjoy meeting people, the high school offers a program in Beauty Culture. In this two-year program, students spend half of their time taking the standard academic courses. The rest of their time is spent learning their trade.

Whether they go into the world of marketing, office work or hairdressing, these students will be ready.

Mrs. Groncki checks the margins on Stacey Gondek's business letter

By the happy faces on Miss Sulikowski and Lisa Grankowski, it's obvious the program runs. What was it? Look to your left!

USEFUL ARTS

Although most of the emphasis in the Sayrevile curricula is on the traditional academic skills, students can still pursue vocational training.

Programs offered include auto, metal and wood shops. The Industrial Arts Department also offers courses in drafting, graphic arts, plastics and electric. Unfortunately, due to the decrease in enrollment, certain classes such as aeronautics have had to be dropped from the program.

Even with the problems of declining enrollment, the Industrial Arts Department is still a vital part of many school activities. For example, Mr. Paul's drafting and wood shops build the scenary for all the theatrical productions. In addition, the graphic arts classes print programs, posters and newsletters which are used on a variety of occasions. Many talented and gifted programs also work hand-in-hand with the I.A. Department.

In the future, the vocational curriculum may take on an even more varied existence in the school system. Mr. Rupp, the chairperson of the department and machine shop teacher, has stated that plans are currently being investigated to bring computarized drafting equipment to the school. By using the precision of computer technology, students would be able to take on more challenging problems as well as gain exposure to the types of equipment that is now being used in architecture and engineering.

Although there is a decreased emphasis on vocational education, the I.A. Department has managed to stay afloat. As Mr. Rupp said, "Education goes in cycles. Right now it's turning towards academics and the philosophical aspects of learning. Industrial arts, however, continues to provide an opportunity to apply the academic skills learned in the school experience in a practical application."

HOME "BUDDIES"

Students who have the time in their busy schedules for an elective would be well rewarded by looking to the Home Economics Department. There they can learn not only the skills needed to survive, but also to thrive in the real world.

It would be beneficial to students to be able to cook other things for dinner besides 'burgers and fries. Beginning students can take Cooking I and Cooking II. More advanced students might want to take Gourmet Cooking. Sewing and Leisure Living are also offered.

Mrs. Newton is the Department Chairperson and the only home economics teacher in the high school. In her busy schedule she finds time to teach the special education students.

Mrs. Newton also provides theatrical costumes for the plays and refreshments for many of the school functions. With a full teaching schedule, she always finds time "to do anything that is asked of me."

CHANGES

When Mr. Doll exchanged his history books for a N.J. State Driver's Manual, he also changed his wardrobe. He did away with the shirts and ties and brought out the jogging suit and that Sayrevile jacket. Now, he's joined the ranks of the popular Driver Theory, Simulator and Behind-the-Wheel instructors.

When asked to compare his new position to teaching history, Mr. Doll said, "I come into contact with more students now than in history classes, but for a shorter period of time." He added that there is less paperwork, but it takes more mental concentration. "You can't relax in the Driver Ed. car. If you do, it might be FOREVER!!"

Although Mr. Andl may have been a stranger to the students at the beginning of the year, he was no stranger to the school. As a student at SWMHS, he was an active participant in the sports program. After graduation, he attended Glassboro State College where he received his degree in health and physical education.

Mr. Andl is now working as an athletic trainer as well as a physical education teacher. He is also an assistant football coach. Mr. Andl's professional activities extend beyond his school duties. At present, he is serving as the director of the HEAR Institute which advocates health, exercise, and athletic rehabilitation.

When asked why he chose to become a teacher, Mr. And explained that he enjoyed participating in sports as a student and wanted to remain in the field. He also enjoys the contact with young people.

Showing what gym class is really all about, Lisa Grankowski, Vanessa Carney and Miss Sunski have a little fun playing basketball.

Tony Castronovo gets an A⁺ from Mr. Andl for his straddle jump over the horse.

Look Out VOGUE!

Sophomores Dana Feret and Mary Beth Lukie have both been involved in professional modeling for about a year.

Dana received her training at the Barbizon School of Modeling and is currently under the management of Donna Eastman. Her modeling experience includes runway modeling in Barbizon fashion shows as well as demonstrations in clothing stores.

A petite redhead who won first place in the sportswear category at a Menlo Park Mall fashion contest, Dana feels the best part of modeling, like anything, is winning. "It feels good to get a few minutes in the spotlight," she admits.

Dana's other modeling experiences include placing first runner-up in the evening wear category of a fashion contest and auditioning in New York for the cover of a teenage novel. In the future, ambitious Dana plans to attend college and continue her modeling as a part-time job. "Modeling isn't a steady job," she says, "and I don't want to depend on it for a living." However, Dana feels that her modeling experience will help her in the future.

Mary Beth Lukie started her career when she applied for the "Today's Teen Girl" competition, in which she was first runner-up in the runway category. She took modeling lessons from professional model Dwight Vernon, and is currently being managed by Ray Cordana of New Talent Managements Group.

Mary Beth has been actively pursuing her career. Her experience includes runway modeling, auditions for movies and commercials, and a role in a community production of "A Christmas Carol". She was also cast as an extra in the movie "Turk 182", starring Timothy Hutton.

Mary Beth agrees with Dana's opinion that winning is the best aspect of modeling because of the recognition received. "It's very competitive," she stated.

For Mary, winning is hardly a foreign feeling. She won second place in the Most Photogenic category of the United States Modeling Awards Convention and the title of Miss Merry Christmas 1983.

Mary plans on continuing her modeling until she turns 18. She is not sure what she wants to do after college, but she'll always have her modeling memories and the experience she gained from it.

At a time when most students are struggling to decide on a career, sophomore Chris DeCarlo is well on his way to becoming a professional jockey. Having taken riding lessons since age 5, Chris got his first big break in 1984 when he was allowed to exercise winning thoroughbreds at Saratoga and Belmont.

Last February, Chris began the difficult venture into professional racing in earnest. Under the guidance of veteran jockey, Angel Cordero, Jr., he began racing full time. He is looking forward to winning his 40th race, when he will officially be considered a professional.

When asked how he can keep up with his school work as well as rigorous racing schedules, Chris stated that a person simply has to "decide to do something, then go ahead with the decision."

CULTURE CLUB

The key to success for juniors Nandita Patel and Chris Koprowicz may be rooted in their cultural backgrounds. They artfully express their heritage through dance.

Nandita Patel began studying folk and classical Indian dancing at age six. She has performed in the U.S., Canada, and India. She also finds time to choreograph children's dance performances and her own movie dances.

Chris Koporwicz has studdied ballet and jazz dancing since age eight and joined a Polish dance troupe in the fifth grade. Her involvement with the troupe has enabled her to perform throughout New Jersey and New York, and for President Ronald Reagan when he visited Our Lady of Czenstohowa in Pennsylvania. Both girls excel in their arts and the future promises each much success.

A junior who has appeared in three soaps, nine movies, and and handful of TV commercials is certainly more than just an average student.

As a result of appearing in movies as "Two of a Kind", "My Favorite Year", and the Broadway drama "Golda", talented llana Rapp has had the opportunity to meet and work with celebrities including John Travolta, Peter O'Toole, and the late Israeli Prime Minister, Golda Meir.

llana got her first taste of the limelight when she started in the off-Broadway play, "The Traveling Lady." She was featured as Sue on the serier "3-2-1-Contact" and was also on the radio as Sarah Cohen in "The Eternal Light."

Aside from her busy professional schedule, llana finds time to pursue many hobbies. She is proud to have earned a purple belt in karate and enjoys many other sports.

These interests, however, do not interfere with her becoming involved in school activities. Ilana is a member of the Bomber Band. She also performed in the fall drama, "The Skin of Our Teeth."

llana is truly outstanding!

TOP 12

When the "TOP 12" graduates were asked to express their feelings about being in the top three per cent of the Class of 85, their responses were mixed. Most felt as Steve Hollender did: "It just proved that the hard work and dedication really did pay off!"

On the other hand, Tom Mc-Carthy felt, "Of course I was happy, but too much emphasis was placed on the almighty number. If you did your best, that was all anybody should have expected of you." A humorous point of view was expressed by Gregg Pachkowski: "Its a good ting I maid the top twelve cuz I'd luk rather dum taking off my shuz to figger out what my rank wuz."
