Police arrest five on prostitution charges

While some residents were surprised, others suspected massage parlor was front for illegal activities

By Tracy A. Politowicz
Managing Editor

SPRINGFIELD — A March 30 police raid at the Pine Tree Holistic Center on Morris Avenue resulted in the arrest of five women on prostitution charges.

The Springfield Police Department obtained a search warrant after a "long-term investigation," said Springfield Police Chief William Chisholm. It was believed the massage parlor was a front for prostitution, he said.

Sgt. Ed McNany headed the undercover operation, which included a team of officers from the township Police Department, the Union County Police Department and the Union County Prosecutor's Office.

At approximately 8 p.m., after an undercover officer paid $70 to enter a room with one of the massage parlor workers, she detailed prices for a variety of sexual services.

The officer then signaled the other officers waiting outside and the arrests were made.

The five women charged with engaging in acts of prostitution were Angelica "Johanna" Alvarado, 25, of Elizabeth; Kinisha "Carmen" Chambers, 29, of Bayonne; Donna "Holly" Dunning, 39, of Oakland; Yuridia "Ava" Velez, 22, of New York City; and Keisha "Nicolette" Williams, 34, of Newark.

Alvarado is an illegal alien from Columbia and Dunning is a resident alien from Iran, according to police reports.

Any actions specific to their immigration status would have to come from federal authorities, "if they choose to get involved," Chisholm said.

Although the women didn't have any clients at the time, their prostitution charges resulted from "information that developed at the scene," Chisholm said. Due to the ongoing investigation, which may result in additional charges, he indicated such details were "confidential" and he could not elaborate.

A front desk receptionist, who was also working at the time of the raid, was not arrested, said McNany.

In addition to the arrests, the officers confiscated all computers and business equipment, such as a credit card machine and a safe, required to run the business. Also seized was the surveillance system, which included interior and exterior video cameras and a video monitor.

The operation lasted until "close to midnight," according to McNany.

The raid did not technically close the massage parlor, but Mayor Clara Harrel said, "The police forced them not to continue operations."

"I commend the efforts of those who are working to rid Springfield of this problem," she added.

The manager of a nearby business, who did not want either his or the business's name published, said he was surprised by the raid at Pine Tree. "They kept to themselves. They didn't bother with anyone."

He indicated that, once in a while one of the workers would frequent his business, but there was nothing unusual about them. "They did not dress suggestively."

Another area business manager, who also wished to remain anonymous, said he wasn't shocked because he knew what was going on. "My customers would come in and talk about it."

A township resident, who also preferred not to be identified, indicated he had been questioning the legitimacy of such businesses for years.

"Legitimate massage parlors don't advertise in the back of The Star-Ledger in the adult services section," he said.

The resident indicated that Pine Tree's Web site included photos of women in wet T-shirts and g-strings in a jacuzzi with sayings such as, "Come on, I'll take care of you."

He questioned why the township's zoning board allows Pine Tree and other massage parlors in the township to remain open until midnight, but it won't "allow CVS to be open late so I can pick up my kid's prescription."

The resident reported that, when he knocked on Pine Tree's front door — which faces the parking lot, away from Morris Avenue — on Tuesday, a woman answered. She asked him if he had an appointment. When he replied "no," she said they were "closed for remodeling."

Board adopts school budget

By Tracy A. Politowicz
Managing Editor

MOUNTAINSIDE — The borough's Board of Education adopted a $13,966,844 budget at its meeting on March 28. If approved at this month's school board election, it will result in a $11,276,433 tax levy, which translates into $392 for the average homeowner.

Roderic McLaughlin, business administrator/board secretary, indicated last year's budget was underfunded by $529,000 because it only accounted for 10 of the 15 known special education students. That shortfall has resulted in a 135 percent increase — $580,093 — in the amount budgeted for the continued placement of 17 students in out-of-district facilities for 2006-07. Without the under-appropriation, the increase would have been $50,000, or approximately 12 percent, and the tax levy per homeowner would have been cut in half.

"I don't understand how we could have missed students," said board member Patricia Knodel.

John S. Perrin, board president, said, "It's pretty clear the kids received their education. I don't want the public to think the kids didn't receive the services they were due."

"This suggests the recordkeeping on these students was not as accurate as it should have been," said McLaughlin.

The adopted budget also included a significant increase in the amount for utilities — $200,862, or approximately 71 percent, over last year's $283,000. That reflects increases in gas and electric costs of 90 and 50 percent, respectively.

"What we value in this community and this board is class size," said Dr. Richard O'Malley, chief school administrator. That was evidenced in the 2006-07 projected class sizes, all of which were below the state average.

To maintain the average class size for kindergarten below the 18.7 state average, a new teacher will be hired, at a salary of $50,000, to form a fifth kindergarten class.

As of February 2006, there were 75 children registered for kindergarten for the next school year, and that number was expected to increase to approximately 81.

The addition of the fifth class would bring the average class size down to 16.2, from 20.25, based on an enrollment of 81 students.

The school board election will be April 18 from 2 to 9 p.m.

Passover to be celebrated

By Joan M. Devlin
Staff Writer

UNION COUNTY — The joyous Jewish celebration of Passover will begin Wednesday at sundown. This is a celebration of freedom dating back 3,000 years.

Jews were in slavery under Pharaoh Ramses II, in Egypt, and were eventually led to freedom by the prophet Moses.

As recorded in the Book of Exodus, Moses was directed by God to lead his people out of bondage. He went to the Pharaoh 10 times, asking him to let the Jews go, and God sent 10 successive plagues on Egypt when he refused.

Finally the last plague, the slaying of the first born male in each family, affected Pharaoh's own son, according to Hebrew tradition, and he let them go.

To protect the Jews, God commanded them to put the blood of a lamb on their doorposts, so the Angel of Death would "pass over" them that night.

The Jews rapidly left, without time to even bake bread. Thus, they ate unleavened bread — matzo — and continue to do so to this day during the holiday to commemorate what happened.

Following is a list of holiday services in the area:

Palm Sunday begins Holy Week

By Joan M. Devlin
Staff Writer

UNION COUNTY — The solemn 40 days of Lent near an end on Palm Sunday, when Christians recall Jesus' entry into Jerusalem riding a donkey while crowds rejoiced and waved palm branches.

Many churches trace the events of that fateful week, beginning with a distribution of palm branches on Palm Sunday.

That last week, Jesus ate his Last Supper, a Passover Seder, with his disciples on Holy Thursday, after which he was betrayed for 30 pieces of silver.

Friday of that week, called Good Friday, was the day of his Crucifixion. Three days later, on Easter Sunday, Christians believe Jesus rose from the dead, appearing early Easter morning, first to Mary Magdalene, who came to anoint his body. Decorations at the churches reflect the moods of this sequence of events.

On Good Friday, everything is stripped off the altars; the crosses are draped in black or purple, and there are no flowers.

After Easter morning, flowers and plants are plentiful in the church. Beautiful music such as Handel's "Messiah" reflects the joy of the Resurrection.

Area churches will be observing Holy Week, as follows:

Summit

• St. Teresa of Avila Roman Catholic Church will have regular Sunday service on Palm Sunday.

On April 13, Holy Thursday, morning prayer will be at 8:30 a.m. There will be a Mass of the Lord's Supper, in English and Spanish, at 10 a.m.

Council votes down ordinance

By Joan M. Devlin
Staff Writer

SUMMIT — The assessment bond ordinance for the improvement of Canoe Brook Parkway — to install sidewalks and curbs — for $295,000, was unanimously rejected at Tuesday's Common Council meeting.

This issue had been held over from the March 28 meeting because of strong community objection.

At that meeting, the council chambers had been filled to capacity with Canoe Brook Parkway residents, many of whom spoke against the suggested improvement. One resident pointed out that a survey had been taken and 88 percent did not want the sidewalks and curbs.

At Tuesday night's meeting, many of the same residents were back, but the mood was more mellow, because the council had acquiesced to public opinion.

Council President Frank Macioce asked Councilwoman Diane Klauf to explain what they had decided.

"Given the number of Canoe Brook Parkway residents against this ordinance, we have decided to ask council to vote it down tonight," she said.

"First of all, we have not had the opportunity to get with the engineering staff, and we would still like to get to you on April 20, about 7:30 p.m., right here in Council Chambers, to talk about traffic concerns, the issues and would like to introduce a curb assessment ordinance — curbs only, not sidewalks — at the May 20 meeting, but only after we all meet with you people," she added.

Klauf and the council received compliments from some residents who thanked them all for honoring the will of the people.

Henry Bassman was one of them. "I just wanted to thank you personally, Diane, because you have been extremely responsive and available to us, as well as open-minded."

Another man, who said he was born in another country where public opinion did not count, warmly thanked the council and Klauf, in particular, for being "open-minded and listening to the residents — a miracle of America," he added. His comments were met with applause.

Mayor Jordan Glatt stated he would remind the community that the council must always represent the entire community, "not just one part of it." He said, "Pedestrian safety is of the utmost importance, and we must be concerned about that on Canoe Brook Parkway. I hope that, going forward, safety of school children will be counted as very important on road improvements."

Another woman said she had young children and she was in favor of all safety and road improvements because they walked to school each day, but she acknowledged the majority did not want sidewalks on the street.

The ordinance was then voted down, as Klauf had promised, by all members of the Common Council.

A new ordinance to fix curbs will be introduced if the residents agree, but that issue is pending until the meeting with the engineers that Klauf had suggested, on April 20.

Students demonstrate laptops

By Paul Greulich
Staff Writer

SPRINGFIELD — After three months of using the one-to-one laptop program, students from the Florence M. Gaudineer Middle School presented a "status report" at the Board of Education meeting on Monday. This was in the form of different presentations created by the seventh- and eighth-grade students using their laptops.

The presentations, which were projected on to a screen, varied in subject, from a book report to public service announcements encouraging young people to vote. Each presentation showed political and social awareness, particularly one on the Iranian hostage crisis.

Popular music accompanied the collages of text and images that spun, dissolved or shrunk away to be replaced by new text and images.

Students explained that, while they were previously limited to writing essays and making cardboard posters, the laptops allow them to work with more tools at their disposal, making for more dynamic, multi-faceted projects. It also allows students to keep abreast of continuously changing worldwide subjects and events, as opposed to textbooks, which can quickly become obsolete.

One of the final presentations was geared specifically toward explaining these advantages. It also showed footage of the students working and interviews in which they talked about their new learning tools. In this segment, students also mentioned the difficulties they expected, should they have to switch back to working without the laptops. They described school without the computers as being "more boring" and "harder to write stuff down."

Board members were pleased with the progress of the students in the short time they've been working with the laptops.

Superintendent of Schools Michael Davino has worked with students using a one-to-one laptop program in the past, and described the Gaudineer students as being "dramatically advanced," compared to his previous students.

"What they're really excited about is doing homework, and that's outstanding," said business administrator Matthew Clarke.

Where are the women?

The borough of Mountainside was "born" in October 1895 when it officially separated from Westfield. In the more than 110 years since its inception, the borough has had just one female council member, Marilyn Hart.

During her three terms in office, from 1980 to 1992, Hart served in various capacities, such as fire commissioner and library liaison.

"I grew up in Mountainside and I felt it was a way of contributing. I really enjoyed it," said Hart.

So, how is it that in more than a century, no other woman has ever been elected to the council? How is it that when women have travelled into space, served as Secretary of State and led Fortune 500 companies as chief executive officer, they have had such a small representation in the borough's government?

Nobody is disputing the success of the current council. Mountainside was recently ranked no. 14 in the "New Jersey Monthly" magazine's list of the top places to live in the state. This list was compiled using the following eight categories: property taxes, home values, population growth, land development, employment, crime rate, school performance and proximity to services.

But two councilmen, William Lane and Robert Messler, are up for re-election this November. The positions are at-large — they represent the entire community, rather than a specific neighborhood.

As of last count, there were approximately 6,657 people in the borough, with a median age of 44.5. More than half — 3,413 — are women.

Surely, there's at least one woman in that majority who has thought of serving her community and providing a female voice to local government.

It wouldn't surprise anyone if a woman ran for president in the next election.

We think it would be the proverbial breath of fresh air to see at least one woman run for a council seat. An even better scenario would be for a woman to win a council seat.

Come on ladies. Nominating petitions are due April 10. Call your new borough clerk, Martha DeJesus, and file your intention to add your name to Mountainside's history book.

What is your opinion about this subject?

Responses will be published next week.

It's about time

Faced with the prospect of a sales tax increase, smaller-than-promised property tax rebates and no increase in aid to municipalities and school districts, about the only people celebrating in the wake of Gov. Jon Corzine's budget address should have been members of the Elizabeth Board of Education.

While school boards across the county are trying to make budgets that are palatable to the taxpayers who elected them, board members in Elizabeth have been spending frivolously — airing television commercials to boost their image and paying top-dollar for two superintendents, one of whom is on leave for a year.

That freewheeling spending may soon come to an end, however. Last week, state Sen. Raymond Lesniak, D-Union, made a call for a state monitor to oversee the financial practices of the district that receives the bulk of its funding from the state.

"The Elizabeth Board of Education needs to be fiscally and ethically monitored before we can trust it with more taxpayer dollars," Lesniak said in a March 28 press release.

If Corzine and state legislators are serious about trimming state spending, they'll heed Lesniak's call. Finding fat to cut out of the budget in Elizabeth — or any Abbott District — should be an easy task. Then, perhaps, the money now being wasted can be returned to the cash-strapped taxpayers.

"Our whole constitutional heritage rebels at the thought of giving government the power to control men's minds."

Parents, assume the worst when it comes to alcohol

Freeholder Forum

By Alexander Mirabella

My children, Micayla and Alex, are only 7- and 9- years old. I've already begun talking to them regularly — and seriously — about staying away from alcohol.

Like many parents, I've always hoped that these early conversations will be a source of strength later, when the children are teenagers. But for a growing number of the very young, the need for strength is now.

Underage drinking in New Jersey is no longer just a teenage problem. The average first use of alcohol in our state is age 11.

Could this happen in your family? The short answer is yes. It can happen to anyone.

Last week, Union County co-sponsored a Town Hall meeting on childhood drinking with an organization called Prevention Links. Among the speakers were three teens in rehabilitation for alcohol and drug abuse that started when they were 7-, 9- and 11-years old.

These young people, who are working hard to turn their lives around, shared stories that are becoming commonplace.

All three said that they started drinking at home. One described growing up in a house where alcoholic beverages were within a child's easy reach. In another home, liquor was kept in a cabinet — and the child simply took it from there. Another child was able to drink thanks to help from an older sibling.

Though still very young, the three speakers had some mature advice for parents. They said that trust is important, but that parents should stay alert, and expect the worst.

They said that parents should confront their child immediately if they suspect something.

They said that parents should always be thinking: it could happen to my child.

These teens have basically said that parents can make a good start by monitoring the supply and storage of alcohol in the home. You can't go wrong by acting under the assumption that your child — even a very young child — is curious about alcohol, and will sneak drinks when possible.

But experts in substance abuse also recognize that one family can't do it alone. Parents can also make a difference by reaching out to the parents of their children's friends. Start a conversation about childhood drinking. Don't be afraid to ask another family how they keep alcohol away from very young children.

The experts also recognize that children receive powerful messages about alcohol from the community at large. Friendly gatherings, block parties, backyard barbecues, local restaurants and corner delis can all be part of a neighborhood landscape where alcohol is common. From the media, children get endless messages that link alcoholic beverages with the fun and excitement of sports and other outdoor activities. The marketing of sweet alcoholic drinks in cute packages is also freighted with appeal to children.

The good news is that organizations like Prevention Links are bringing Union County families together with people who can provide help and support in dealing with this problem: experts in substance abuse, law enforcement officials, and most importantly, young people who continue to struggle with their addictions.

Together, we can all play a role in helping young children steer clear of alcohol.

To find out more about childhood drinking in New Jersey, contact Prevention Links at 732-381-4100, or visit www.starttalkingnj.com. To help take action, join the Community Task Force meeting on May 17 at Prevention Links.

Information about Union County's programs for youths and families is available through the Youth Services Bureau, 908-298-7800.

Alexander Mirabella is chairman of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Township has closed half of massage parlors

From the Mayor's Desk

By Clara Harelík

I would like to commend the Springfield Police Department, Springfield Fire Department and Springfield Board of Health for their efforts to rid Springfield of illicit massage parlors.

In addition, I would like to thank the Township Committee, township administrator and township attorney for having the courage to draft and defend a very aggressive licensing ordinance regarding massage parlors.

I would also like to express my appreciation to the Union County prosecutor and Union County Police for their assistance with the massage parlor issue.

Due to their team efforts, more than half of the massage parlors have been closed.

It is important to note that a legitimate massage business is welcome in Springfield, provided the business meets the criteria set forth in the new licensing ordinance.

Specifically, the business must be a certain distance from any school, the employees must submit to fingerprinting and a background check, and the employees must complete a certain number of hours of education and training in the area of massage therapy.

To date, Springfield has conducted three raids, two of which were licensing review visits, where the businesses were cited for violations of the local ordinance, and the third of which was a raid resulting in criminal charges. The police investigation is ongoing. The businesses involved may be subject to future raids and additional criminal charges.

The problem of illicit massage parlors is not unique to Springfield. These businesses are popping up in many of our surrounding suburban towns.

Springfield, however, is considered by the Union County Prosecutor's Office to be in the forefront for fighting the problem. Many towns have asked for copies of our ordinance in an attempt to follow our lead. Springfield and its ordinance face challenges ahead as the hearings and trials in this area begin.

No matter the challenge, Springfield vows to continue to fight hard to free the township of this problem.

Clara Harelík is the mayor of Springfield.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Budget presentation was not helpful

To the Editor:

School Budget, school budget, who has the latest school budget? At its March 27 meeting, the Springfield Board of Education presented various school budget totals that were labeled by differently named headings. It was a little difficult to discern the actual difference between last year's — April 2005 — ballot amount and this year's ballot amount, which will be on the ballot of the School Board Election on April 18 from 2 to 9 p.m.

At the meeting, attendees were given a nine-page hand-out, with cute graphics and two pie charts with unexplained or detailed percentages. On most pages, a printing font with mostly large 5/8 inch letters was used so that a minimum of information was able to fit on each page. The pages were also filled with cryptic acronyms that I doubt very many people could interpret, such as IDEA, NC, NCLB and P&L. Was the taxpayer's "DI" — disposable income — ever considered?

Seeing these figures for the first time with only a few minutes to review them was a daunting task for a person without an accounting background. About six black and white slides were flashed on a distant screen in the dark room so that one could not read or assimilate any of the nine pages.

A motion was passed to the effect that the sum of $32,368,915 will be placed on the ballot at the upcoming election.

When the board secretary was asked for the total amount of traveling costs, he said that he would advise it at another time. Why was a full copy of the budget not in the meeting room to answer questions? Four days later, in order to obtain the answer, I left telephone messages for him and for his secretary that were never answered. This is not the first time that taped telephone messages were overlooked at the Board of Education offices.

On one un-numbered page with a pretty border graphic, the following was printed in very large print: "TOTAL BUDGET 2006-2007 — Increase of $624,095 — Increase of 1.97 percent," which used three lines. This number was obtained by subtracting the 2005-06 "revised budget" of $31,744,820 from the "proposed budget" for 2006-07 of $32,368,915, and the answer would be a one-year increase of $624,095.

However, take the above "proposed budget" amount of $32,368,915, which is to be printed on this year's ballot, and subtract last year's ballot amount of $30,892,541, and the answer would be a one-year increase of $1,476,374, instead of $624,095.

One must also consider the $200,000 cut made by the Springfield Township Committee when the budget was voted down at last year's election.

I do not claim to be a budget expert or a mathematician, but included in the printed data given to the public at this same meeting, are references to a "tentative budget," a "budget for General Funds," "revised budget" and a "total budget," the latter being $32,368,019, which was previously called a "proposed budget," in the same document. Or are there any other versions of the school budget?

I always vote "no" on any matter when I am in doubt or because of unanswered questions.

Pappas' claims have no basis in fact

To the Editor:

Though twice rejected by the voters of Springfield, Harry Pappas continues to spew his venom and innuendo. He appears to believe that if he repeats something enough times, he can change the truth. I believe the citizens of Springfield will reject Harry's politics of hate, fear and exaggeration. I call on the Republican party of Springfield and the Republican candidates to reject him publicly, as well.

In his letter in the March 30 edition of The Observer, Pappas repeats claims concerning the firehouse, the police station and the proposed train, yet gives no facts to support his false and exaggerated charges. As always, in lieu of the truth, he levels more personal attacks.

Pappas criticizes the police department reorganization plan, which was voted for unanimously by the members of the Township Committee, both Democrat and Republican. The facts are that the proposed police department reorganization will save the taxpayers of Springfield $200,000 per year, will reduce the number of superior officers to streamline the management of the department and will allow for more police officers in the patrol division on the streets. Pappas' statement about the deputy chief's salary is misleading, as no actual salary has yet been determined for this position. The figure used by Pappas is the estimate of the higher salary. If the actual salary is less, then the savings will be even greater.

The Springfield Democrats, just like everyone else, are very concerned about the increase in our local taxes, and they continue to strive to provide necessary services to the residents of Springfield at the most reasonable cost. Certainly, rational and reasonable comments on that issue are welcome at any time. Harry's attacks and divisive methods are not.

MOUNTAINSIDE CANDIDATES' CORNER

Geraldene Duswalt

My name is Geraldene "Berri" Duswalt, and I am seeking a seat on the Mountainside Board of Education. Since moving to the borough, I have developed a strong commitment to the community.

I have two children, a 6-year-old and a 4-year-old. As a board member I would do my best to insure that all of our children reach their potential.

The Board of Education should be functioning at a level that provides for effective, accountable management. We must give the administrators enough authority to do the jobs they were hired for, while retaining strong oversight and accountability.

I would also work to meet the challenges of insuring our class size remains small as our population of young children increases, and take an active role in overseeing the curriculum in all grades. I believe the parents and other members of the community are entitled to and should have a meaningful voice at the school board level. If elected, I will bring to the Board of Education those skills in

Mary Beth Schaumburg

Mary Beth Schaumburg is seeking election to a third term on the Mountainside Board of Education. She joined the Board in April 2000 as the result of an unprecedented win as a write-in candidate in a contested race.

Mary Beth is a lifelong Mountainside resident who graduated from Deerfield School and Jonathan Dayton High School. She currently lives on Darby Lane with her husband and three children. Mary Beth works as a Realtor with the Summit office of Coldwell Banker.

Prior to being elected to the Board of Education, Mary Beth served the PTA, acting as volunteer or chairperson for various committees, and later as an officer. In addition, Mary Beth participated in the school district's strategic planning process.

Since joining the Board of Education, Mary Beth has served in several capacities. When the district sought voter approval for a referendum to allow for the re-opening of Beechwood School and renovations to Deerfield School, Mary Beth acted as liaison to the "Get Out the Vote" effort, which was instrumental in the referendum's passage.

Recently, Mary Beth has been the Board's Vice-President and liaison to the PTA. In addition, she has been Mountain-

Joseph Tinnirella

Our children are going to face some interesting challenges in the future, and it's our responsibility to make sure we give them a solid educational foundation so they can develop to their fullest potential. We want them to be successful in any vocation they choose.

I believe we have the right leadership in place with Dr. O'Malley and Rod McLaughlin. There will certainly be financial challenges ahead for the board and our community as a whole but we cannot lose site of the progress that has been made in recent years.

I welcome the opportunity to help the board meet those challenges and continue the positive momentum that's already under way in our schools.

The following characteristics are key to being a successful board member:

- Appreciate positive developments in Mountainside's education system,
- Embrace challenge to improve the quality of our education system,
- Provide an open mind and willingness to partner; recognize you advocacy, analytical ability, problem solving and knowledge of the business world, that I have acquired in my profession, as well as the intuition and commitment that comes with being a parent.

Finally, I would like to be part of a team that continues to build upon the recent improvements the district made, while making the changes necessary to insure that the mistakes of the past do not become the mistakes of the future.

side's representative to the Berkeley Heights Board, during which time a new agreement was executed, guaranteeing our high school students' attendance at Governor Livingston High School through at least 2017.

As the Board's curriculum committee chairperson, Mary Beth has supported the new administration's initiatives to move the district forward academically. She understands the difficulties faced by Boards of Education, and looks forward to meeting those challenges over the next three years.

can't know it all,

- Understand change is constant and status quo is your enemy,
- Listen,
- Be fiscally responsible, and
- Leverage knowledge within the community, borough council and school faculty/staff.

I'm a strong believer in volunteering within the community and welcome the opportunity to contribute as a board member.

SPRINGFIELD CANDIDATES' CORNER

Anthony Delia

Hello. My name is Anthony Delia, and I'm currently completing a one-year unexpired term on the Springfield Board of Education, to which I was elected last year through a write-in campaign.

Before anyone asks, the answer is yes—I've decided to run for re-election. Even after all the lively meetings, candid discussions and very late night meetings this year, I still want to be a member of this Board of Education to continue having an active role in this school district.

I grew up in Springfield, went through its school system and graduated from Jonathan Dayton High School. I went on to receive a bachelor's degree in mathematics from Kean College of New Jersey, and a master's degree with a concentration in finance from the Stillman School of Business at Seton Hall University.

I'm currently employed in the technology and systems area of a major international financial services firm.

I have four school-age children in the district, and during this coming three-year term as a Board of Delia

Education member, I will have a child in four of the five district schools simultaneously. That is to say, I will have a child in the Walton, Caldwell, Gaudineer and Dayton schools all at once.

I'm also involved with both the Springfield Girls Softball League—as a coach and board member—and the Springfield Junior Baseball League—as a coach.

Thank you for supporting our schools and our kids!

Dr. David Hollander

Forty years ago, I watched my father proudly serve as a school board trustee in a town much like Springfield. I was taught the value of an education. I grew to understand the commitment necessary to serve a community. Most importantly, I witnessed firsthand the responsibilities necessary to both the children and the people in a given school district.

It is with this backdrop that I ask for your support to serve as a member of your school board.

To introduce myself, I am a physician who has practiced in the area during the 20 years I have lived in Springfield. My wife has been a pre-school teacher for the past four years, and I have two sons who are graduates of Jonathan Dayton High School.

Schooling and education have been an integral part of my life. I have learned that there is no greater responsibility than to ensure the quality of education and the safety of our children. However, in today's budgetary environment, we must act judiciously, without waste. We must balance the tax burdens of all, due to the limitations and restrictions of the state, while making the increasing needs of our children paramount.

Jacqueline Shanes

As a candidate seeking re-election to a sixth term on the Springfield Board of Education, I am excited to continue to serve our community in creating a premier educational system for our children. As the bar by which the success of a school district is measured is constantly being raised, there is always more to be accomplished. I feel that my professional work uniquely lends itself to my role as a board member and helps keep me prepared to meet the constant challenges.

As a partner in McCarter & English, LLP, I specialize in school finance law and, therefore, handle school financial issues on a daily basis. Our district is continually faced with declining aid from the state and must strive to find other sources of money to use to educate our children.

I will continue to work with the state legislators in order to strive for property tax reform so that our community will no longer have to fund public education primarily through property taxes. This situation needs to be remedied in order to lift the heavy burden on Springfield taxpayers, especially those on a fixed income. On a more personal note, I have a bachelor's degree in mathematics from CUNY and a J.D. Degree from NYU Law School. I have lived in Springfield for 20 years with my husband Jeff, a member of the Springfield First Aid Squad, and our two sons, Matthew, a freshman at Jonathan Dayton High School, and Andrew, a fourth-grader at Thelma Sandmeier Elementary School. I look forward to being able to continue to serve the residents of Springfield by taking an active role in our school system.

AT THE LIBRARY

Video series continues

The Springfield Free Public Library, 66 Mountain Ave., continues its Lunchtime Video Series, on Tuesday at noon. Nominated for six Academy Awards, this Agatha Christie whodunit boasts an international cast of some of the most eccentric characters ever created.

Ingrid Bergman won an Oscar for her role as the slightly dim-witted, Bible-quoting Swedish missionary, and Albert Finney is the dapper detective, Hercule Poirot, for whom murder solving is a precise, intellectual exercise. Poirot agrees to interview everyone aboard the Calais coach, hoping to find the killer of an American millionaire.

The film is in color and runs 127 minutes. It was produced in 1974 and is rated PG.

Bring a brown bag lunch to the program. Coffee and cookies will be provided. For more information, call 973-376-4930.

Library offers digital audio book downloads

The Summit Free Public Library has expanded its digital audio book downloads by joining ListenNJ.com, a consortium of central New Jersey libraries offering downloadable digital audio books anytime, anywhere.

Digital audio books are downloadable versions of audio books, similar to what you might find in cassette or CD format. These digital books can be downloaded to your computer and used offline. Some can be transferred to compatible MP3 players, or even burned to CD for use in any standard CD player.

The new service is easy to use: install the free software from the ListenNJ Web site, and browse the collection of fiction, mystery, romance, non-fiction, bestsellers and more. A valid Summit library card is required to check out titles. When you're ready, you can download the audio books directly to your computer, transfer them to your compatible MP3 player, or burn some titles to CD.

When the lending period is over your digital books are automatically returned, so there are never late fees or trips to the library.

Try ListenNJ.com today: visit www.summitlibrary.org and click on the "Downloadable books are here!" section.

Great Books Group to discuss Max Weber

The Springfield Free Public Library's Great Books Discussion Group will meet on April 20 at 10 a.m. to investigate various aspects of Max Weber's examination of the relationship between Protestantism and capitalism.

In Weber's work, he cites the Calvinists as proponents of predestination, which is the belief that one is born already damned or saved, and unable through good works or devotion to change this original designation. Since one could not know if one was saved, they began to look for signs indicating the direction of God's will. One of the signs was thought to be an unceasing commitment to one's calling, which Weber believed to result in a rapid accumulation of capital.

The Great Books compilation may be purchased for $24 at the Circulation Desk.

The program is open to everyone.

For more information, call 973-376-4930.

Junior League awards grants

The Junior League of the Oranges and Short Hills has awarded grants totaling $20,000 to eight area nonprofit organizations as part of its 2005-06 Community Grants program.

"Thanks to the generous support of our fund-raising event sponsors, like Burgdorff Realtors and US Trust, we are able to continue our tradition of giving grants to deserving organizations in our community," said Karen Hartshorn Hilton, president of the Junior League of the Oranges and Short Hills. "These grants are just one part of our mission to improve the health, education and well-being of women and children in our service area. In the coming year, we will work hands-on with several of our grant recipients to provide trained volunteer service, as needed."

To qualify for a Junior League grant, nonprofit organizations must strive to support the health, education and well-being of women and children living in East Orange, Livingston, Maplewood, Millburn, Orange, Short Hills, South Orange, Springfield and West Orange. Organizations that have received a community grant from the Junior League in the past year were not eligible.

- This year's recipients were:
 - Good Grief Inc., Summit: $2,800 to fund two three-hour community education workshops in the West Orange and Millburn school districts. The workshops will be designed to equip adults with the skills needed to assist children who are grieving from a painful loss.
 - SAGE Eldercare, Summit: $3,000 for the Meals-on-Wheels outreach program. This program delivers hot meals to a growing number of elderly women in Springfield, Millburn and Short Hills who are at high-risk for malnutrition.
 - Springfield YMCA, Springfield: $500 for the pilot program, Fitness for Kids. This six-week program will promote physical activity as part of an emphasis on developing lifelong healthy habits for young children.
 - Community Day Nursery, East Orange: $1,200 to purchase mathematics books for the preschool. These books will supplement the school's focus on early literacy with emphasis on mathematics literacy.

- Neighborhood Improvement Development Association, East Orange: $5,000 for essential computer upgrades to existing computer equipment, which is used for basic instruction for women and youth in East Orange and surrounding areas. Funding also will be used to offer ten four-week training sessions on basic computer literacy and instruction on how to use the Internet for a job search.
- St. Barnabas Medical Center, Livingston: $3,000 for the purchase of a tympanometer for the Pediatric Clinic. This clinic provides services to a significant number of medically underserved children each year. The tympanometer will be used to effectively diagnose ear infections and conduct hearing tests in this high-risk population.
- St. Timothy's House, Orange: $1,500 for a computer literacy program for male youth residing in this group home. This program will provide basic computer instruction and a unique opportunity to offer e-mentoring through icouldbe.org to boys that are in need of strong male role-models.
- Jewish Service for the Developmentally Disabled of Metrowest Inc., West Orange: $3,000 for the Wellness, Arts, Enrichment Center's Women on the Rise program. Women with disabilities will be targeted by this unique, integrative program highlighting physical, emotional and spiritual well-being. Women of all faiths will be encouraged to register for this program.

The Junior League of the Oranges and Short Hills was founded in 1913 to serve the communities of East Orange, Livingston, Maplewood, Millburn, Orange, Short Hills, South Orange, Springfield and West Orange. Its members are committed to promoting voluntarism, developing the potential of women and improving communities through the effective action and leadership of trained volunteers. The Junior League reaches out to women of all races, religions, and national origins. Its purpose is exclusively educational and charitable.

Students complete Math-A-Thon

MOUNTAINSIDE — Children helping children — what could be more natural?

Math teacher April Starling knows it works. This is her second year running a "Math-A-Thon" with her fifth-grade classes at Deerfield Elementary School.

"This is a fun project and, best of all, all proceeds go to St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, a wonderful place that fights catastrophic childhood diseases," she said.

The children choose to use either a special Funbook or a computer disc, both supplied by St. Jude's. Each contains puzzles and problems, some easy and some not so easy. Answers are in the back of the book and at the end of the disc.

The children must solicit sponsors, usually their parents and friends, to pay a certain amount per puzzle solved. It could be 10 cents per puzzle, or a quarter, but the children complete more than 200 puzzles.

This challenging exercise is given in place of usual homework, and Starling says the students love it, because it is like a game.

Starling teaches math to four classes of fifth-graders at Deerfield, a total of 73 students. All are participating in the fun.

"They have a complete understanding about St. Jude's Hospital," she said. "We showed them a brief video from the facility in the beginning and they know how important the hospital is to sick children."

As she got her pledges ready on a recent Monday morning, Katya Alvarez, 11, said, "Math is fun and so is this project. I chose the (computer disc) because I have my own computer at home."

Alvarez had not decided yet what she will ask per puzzle. She will consult with her parents on that. "Possibly 25 cents, or less," she said.

John Sokol, 10, also in the same class, loves math. "I already asked my sister and my mom to give 10 or 15 cents a problem. They were fine with that," he said. He also chose the computer disc.

The Funbook is similar and both have 250 problems that each child must solve. Children without a computer can use the book.

They know it is not easy and seem to enjoy the challenge.

Starling said last year was the first time the event was run at MountainSide. "We raised $3,000, which I thought was great. This year, I thought I would ask just a little more, $3,100, so that is the goal for us."

The teacher said she has contacted the parents and they are very happy with this fund-raiser. The project ended Tuesday.

Every student who earns at least $35 will receive a ticket for free admission to Six Flags Theme Park, a sponsor of the Math-A-Thon.

Best of all was a report received from St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital, with amazing statistics in its fight against childhood diseases.

For example, acute lymphoblastic leukemia, the most common form of childhood cancer, had a survival rate in 1962 of just 4 percent. At present, it is at 80 percent.

Hodgkin's disease, a cancer of the lymph system, only had a survival rate of 50 percent in 1962. Now it is at 90 percent.

Ewing Sarcoma, a bone cancer, had a 5 percent survival rate in 1962. It is now 75 percent.

Lastly, Wilms Tumor, a kidney tumor, had only a 50 percent survival rate and now it is at 90 percent.

The Deerfield students know that St. Jude's Hospital helps all children in need and would help them if they needed it. Perhaps that is why there is so much enthusiasm for this project — besides the fun of learning math.

Hillside baseball on uprise Comets lifted by Neeranjan

By Jeff Cummins
Staff Writer

Chris Brouder doesn't discuss things like the Union County Tournament or the state playoffs when he talks about the Hillside baseball team's coaches.

However, that doesn't mean his kids lack intensity.

Hillside is coming off a not-too-bad 7-13 finish from a year ago and Brouder is confident that this year's team will improve, though it may not be tangible from a wins and losses standpoint.

Brouder is concentrating on the basics with his team, the essentials of playing the game as fundamentally sound as possible. Slowly, his team is making progress.

"We're expecting to improve," Brouder said. "We've worked hard and we have a better feel for the game this year. Last year, they had no concept of baseball. To their credit, they worked hard and became students of the game."

One thing Hillside is determined to change is a repeat of last season's slow start.

"Our goal is to be competitive in each game," Brouder said. "Last year, we lost our first four and got blown out early. We don't want to have that slow start again."

"The most important thing is that we get our offense early. We need to score runs early in games, not late."

The offense that Brouder seeks will probably start with sophomore third baseman Luis Noblecilla, who led the team with a .402 batting average last year.

Junior catcher Juan Jacome returns for another season. He batted .285 and produced the team's lone home run.

Senior second baseman Ryan Rebozo has started three years for Hillside, having hit .250 last year.

The team's ace is senior lefthander Marc Neeranjan, who fanned 13 in Hillside's finale last season, a 10-9 home win over Newark Central. His pitching record was 4-6.

Neeranjan was a First Team All-Mountain Valley Conference selection last year, striking out 83 in 52 innings, with an impressive 3.54 earned-run average. He also plays center field.

"Marc is very good and some days he's excellent," Brouder said. "How he pitches will set the tone for a lot of our games. We do put a lot of responsibility on him and he can shoulder the load."

Other returning senior outfielders include Louis Torres and Paul Veloso.

There's a spirited group of newcomers in the Comets' camp this spring.

Senior Chris Escoto will play in the outfield, probably in left. Senior Tyrone Major will probably play in center. Senior Danny Vela and junior Bruno Gonzales will split time at first base, while junior Corey Mosely will also see time at third base, along with Noblecilla.

"The state tournament is always in the back of our minds," Brouder said. "It's to prove that we've accomplished something."

"We haven't qualified in more than a decade. It's in our mind, but it's not a focus. A seat in the county would be quite an accomplishment, but we're more focused on the game and the little things that will make it work. There's less focus on the results and more on the process."

If Brouder's charges focus enough on the process, the results will come.

NOTES: Hillside is situated in Central Jersey, Group 2 for the first time. The state playoff cutoff date is Friday, May 12.

Hillside's first win last year was at the Jewish Educational Center.

The Comets beat them again by a score of 11-3 at home in early May.

Neeranjan did well to no-hit host Roselle 10-0, striking out 12.

The gem was the first no-hitter he threw.

Neeranjan then tossed a one-hitter in blanking Newark Technology 6-0 at home. He struck out eight and walked two. Rebozo drove in three runs and Noblecilla one.

(See Comets, Page 14)

Two of the top returning senior starters in Union County are, from left, Union shortstop Joey Cacchiola (No. 4) and Elizabeth centerfielder Luis Caraballo (No. 22). The two Watchung Conference-American Division rivals are scheduled to meet for the first time Wednesday at 4 p.m. at Elizabeth's Williams Field.

Union baseball has been a winning team for some time Farmers challenged in pitching department

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

Union baseball equals winning baseball. Plain and simple.

Head coach Mike Hamberg, who starred for the Farmers in the mid 1970s, has never had a losing season, now in his 10th year at the helm since 1997.

Before Hamberg, Chet Czaplinski guided the Farmers to five straight winning seasons from 1992-1996. Czaplinski also played at Union.

Before that, the legendary Gordon LeMatty, with over 600 victories, led Union to a winning season every year from 1959-1991, which comes to 33 in a row to be exact. Hamberg and Czaplinski both played for LeMatty.

The Farmers fashioned a 19-8 record in 2005, reaching the Union County Tournament quarterfinals and the North Jersey, Section 2, Group 4 semifinals.

This year's challenge, among many, will be to overcome the loss of four-year varsity standout pitcher Stephen Blumetti, who is now on scholarship at the University of Connecticut. Blumetti was 26-8, including 9-0 his freshman year when he helped guide Union to the 2002 Group 4 state championship.

Blumetti finished as Union's second winningest pitcher all-time behind 1960s standout Al Santorini, who pitched Major League Baseball for the Atlanta Braves, San Diego Padres and St. Louis Cardinals from 1968-1973.

"Pitching is our weakest part right now," Hamberg said Monday, two days after Union opened with a 10-5 non-conference win at Dayton last Saturday in Springfield. "We're just hoping that everyone comes around."

Although it may not be a strong suit at the moment, Union does have three returners among its six-man, all righthanded, rotation. Back from varsity last year include junior Elvis Urena and seniors Joey Cacchiola and Sean Panella.

Urena started against Dayton, with Cacchiola pitching the final three innings to pick up the win in relief, allowing Dayton's final two runs.

The other hurlers include junior Tom Fillipone and seniors Chris Kaminski and Dan Sheridan. They all pitched on Union's junior varsity team last season.

Handling the pitching staff are catchers Michael Dennis, Frank Zinno and Matt Torres. Dennis and Zinno are juniors and Torres a sophomore.

Returning at first base is senior Adam Brent, who was Second Team All-County last year. His backups are Panella and Sheridan.

Other Union All-County players that graduated were catcher Tim Gaven, Second Team, and pitcher Matt Melody, Third Team.

Melody, at 6-3, 195, is on scholarship at NJIT. He is No. 34 for the Highlanders, the team's No. 5 starter and who will work out of the bullpen when needed. As of Monday, Melody had a 0-1 record, but a pretty good 2.16 ERA in his first three starts.

Nick Devlin, a junior, is at second base; with seniors Greg Nolan and Tony Timaroas at third and Cacchiola at shortstop.

Other returning players include Cacchiola at shortstop and Goncalves in center.

"We're concentrating hard on our defense and hitting and our hitting has been pretty good so far," Hamberg said. He reported that Union won all but one of its many scrimmages, including blanking defending No. 1 team in the state Seton Hall Prep behind a fine, five-inning mound performance by Cacchiola.

"Joey kept them off guard," Hamberg said. Union also scrimmaged the likes of New Brunswick, Brick, Wall, Roselle Park and Belleville.

"We have a fast team and will play a bunch of little ball," Hamberg said. "It will be hit or miss with us. If we're playing right and our pitching is holding us in games, then we will have a good chance to win. We need consistency. We have older kids, but many of them lack experience."

Coming up big offensively in the win over Dayton was Panella and Cacchiola with two hits each, while Timaroas had a pinch hit two-run double.

Dayton defeated Union 13-7 in nine innings at Union last year on April 22. The win helped propel the Bulldogs to a fine 22-5 season in which they reached the UCT and Central Jersey, Group 1 finals and went on to win the Mountain Valley Conference-Valley Division.

Union captured the Watchung Conference-American Division championship in 2005.

The Farmers were scheduled to play at Irvington Monday afternoon, host Kearny yesterday afternoon and are scheduled to play at Plainfield tomorrow at 4 p.m.

Union is scheduled to play at Bridgewater-Raritan Saturday morning at 10:30. Cranford opened with a 14-2 win at BR this past Saturday.

NOTES: Blumetti is the only New Jersey resident on UConn's 33-man roster for third-year head coach Jim Penders. The frosh righthander is No. 41 and listed at 6-1, 180. Here's Blumetti's four-year varsity record at UHS:

- 2002: Freshman season - (9-0)
- 2003: Sophomore season - (5-2)
- 2004: Junior season - (6-3)
- 2005: Senior season - (6-3)
- Final record: 26-8

Blumetti started and won the 2002 Group 4 state championship game over Jackson 8-2 at East Brunswick Vot-Tech. He was 1-1 in sectional finals, beating Roxbury 4-2 at Kean University in Union in 2002 and falling to Watchung Hills 4-1 at Kean in 2004. He was defeated by host Watchung Hills 4-1 in last year's sectional semifinals. The winning pitcher in both Watchung Hills games was Matt Giannini, who is now on scholarship at Rutgers. At 6-3, 230, Giannini wears No. 23 for the Scarlet Knights.

Last year, Giannini was Second Team All-State and Blumetti Third Team All-Group 4. Blumetti fashioned an impressive 1.88 earned-run average in 2005, striking out 74 in 63 innings. His lifetime ERA was a sparkling 1.66.

Blumetti was Second Team All-State selection as a freshman in 2002.

Elizabeth baseball has potent lineup Led by senior CF Caraballo

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

One of the many offensive highlights experienced by the Elizabeth baseball team last year was a home run slugged by Luis Caraballo that helped the Minutemen go on to a 19-15 win at Scotch Plains.

With the score tied 15-15 in the top of the seventh, Caraballo led off the inning with his second round-tripper of the afternoon. His blasts helped Elizabeth gain a season-high fifth straight win en route to a 15-12 finish.

That was one of at least 10 games Elizabeth won scoring in double digits. With Caraballo, a senior centerfielder, back in a potent returning lineup, expect more of the same from the Minutemen this season.

"Our strengths are our offense at the top of the order and our two senior pitchers," said veteran Elizabeth head coach Ray Korn.

Elizabeth was scheduled to open Monday at home against Newark East Side and yesterday was scheduled to play at Irvington.

The Minutemen are scheduled to host Iselin Kennedy today at 4 p.m., Kearny tomorrow at 4:15 p.m. and Ferris Saturday at 1 p.m.

Next week's schedule includes Plainfield home Monday at 4:15 p.m. and Union home Wednesday at 4:15 p.m.

The top five in the order will most likely be Caraballo leading off, freshman Roberto Ramos second, Giorbis Bermudez third, Jorge Santos fourth and Kelvin Valerio fifth.

Bermudez, a crafty lefthander, is Elizabeth's No. 1 pitcher and Santos, a righthander, No. 2.

The top returning player is Caraballo, a First Team All-County selection from a year ago. He batted .389, with nine doubles, three triples, three homers, 31 runs and 23 RBI. He will also see time on the mound.

"Luis has been accepted at Monmouth, Rutgers and Montclair State," Korn said. "He'll go to whatever school is the best fit financially. Hitting is always an adjustment in college, but he can play anywhere. He has outstanding speed and is a very good outfielder."

Bermudez took the loss in Elizabeth's 9-6 defeat at Union in the state playoffs last season, giving up only two unearned runs in 2 and 2/3 innings as the starter.

Bermudez and Santos hit home runs to help propel Elizabeth past Linden 7-6 in last year's UCT first round. It was the first time since 2002 that the Minutemen had reached the UCT quarterfinals. Caraballo also homered in that game.

"Giorbis is a lot stronger," Korn said. He did a great job in the off season with our trainer and worked to be more flexible and faster. His curveball improved immensely and he throws hard enough to get people out with his fastball. Now, he can also beat you with his curve."

It was an RBI-single by Santos in the bottom of the seventh, driving in Andy Torres after Torres reached on a double, that ended the UCT victory over Linden.

"Jorge is the type of pitcher that has to work in and out because he's not overpowering," Korn said. "He can beat you with his fastball away and breaking ball. His thing is that he has to pitch ahead in the count. At 1-2, he can get you out. We need him to throw strikes."

Here's a position-by-position look at the Minutemen:

Pitchers:

Giorbis Bermudez, senior lefty, returning varsity player
Jorge Santos, senior righty, returning varsity player
Giovanni Caraballo, sophomore righty

Catchers:

Jhoan DeLima, senior, returning varsity player
Ignacio Livent, sophomore, transfer from New York

First base:

Bermudez and Santos

Second base:

Jon Jimenez, junior, played some varsity last year

Third base:

Kelvin Valerio, junior, played junior varsity last year

Shortstop:

Roberto Ramos, freshman

Outfield:

LF - Kevin Ysabel, senior, returning varsity player
CF - Luis Caraballo, senior, returning varsity player and four-year starter
RF - Lemuel LeBron, senior, returning varsity player

Designated Hitter:

Livent
Greg Marsal, senior, will also see time at catcher

The remainder of the batting order will most likely see Livent sixth or seventh, depending on who's pitching, Ysabel, DeLima, Jimenez and then the final batter in the order.

"We have our outfield, first baseman and catcher back and three guys that pitched," Korn said. "Our sophomore (Giovanni, who is the younger brother of Luis) can also be very good."

NOTES: Elizabeth reached the quarterfinals of the Union County Tournament and North Jersey, Section 2, Group 4 playoffs last year, falling at Westfield in the county 14-1 and at Union 9-6 in the section. Elizabeth was the sixth seed in both tournaments, falling to the third seed in each.

The Union softball team is sparked by the play of catcher Carrie Sciancalepore, who sported a more than serviceable .358 batting average last season. The Farmers sought to bounce back yesterday at Kearny after opening with a 3-1 home loss to Hackettstown Monday. Union was scheduled to host Irvington Monday, but the Blue Knights were not ready for varsity competition yet, so Union will have to try to make up that Watchung Conference-American Division contest. Union is to host Plainfield tomorrow at 4 p.m.

Brearley softball working hard despite last season's success

Junior RH Vitale leads 8 returning starters

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

How does a team returning eight starters guard against being overconfident or complacent after coming off a year in which it went 22-6 and captured its very first county and sectional championships?

"We're still working hard," fourth-year head coach Amy Efchak said of her Brearley Bears softball squad, the No. 1 team in Union County for 2005.

Everything came together for Brearley last year as the Bears went on to win their first Union County Tournament championship and then captured Central Jersey, Group 1 to win their first-ever sectional title.

The school's best season ever came to a conclusion in the Group 1 semifinals where Brearley was defeated by Gloucester City 5-0 at Red Bank Regional.

Brearley is back in North Jersey, Section 2, Group 1 this year.

"It's a much easier section in some aspects," said Efchak, a 1996 Mount St. Dominic grad, who began the season with a three-year record of 51-16 at the helm of the Bears.

"We know that if we're good enough to win the section, that we couldn't face Gloucester City until the Group 1 final," Efchak continued.

That's because North 2 plays North 1 and Central plays South when it comes to the state semifinals.

However, that's a long way away, with plenty of softball to be played before then.

"It will be tough to win the county again and get back to the Group 1 semifinals," Efchak said. "We're just trying to take each day in stride and be prepared to get better each day."

Brearley's 13-player roster begins with talented junior righthander Jenna Vitale, a First Team All-County selection last year and a three-year varsity starter.

"Jenna is doing great after fighting an arm injury in the pre-season," Efchak said.

Vitale blanked visiting Dayton on a two-hitter to lead the Bears to a season-opening 6-0 win last Saturday in Kenilworth.

"Jenna is ready and mentally prepared for the season," Efchak said. "She knows what she wants to accomplish. I can see fire in her eyes. She knows that she has something to defend and she wants it. That's something good to see."

Vitale was 22-6 last year, with 263 strikeouts and 68 walks.

Back at catcher is two-year starter Amanda Aguirre, now a senior.

Now at first base is junior Ruby Perez, who was the starter at third base last season.

Senior four-year starters include Vanessa Muniz at second and Jesyko Marko at third. Muniz was a Third Team All-County selection last year, while Jesyko was Second Team.

Hanna Lobello, a three-sport standout freshman, takes over the reigns at shortstop from last year's Union County Player of the Year Daria Glynos, who is now playing at Seton Hall University.

Glynos, a four-year starter who led Brearley last year with a .536 batting average and who was just as good in the field with only four errors, still has a big impact on the team.

"The girls still call her now to talk to her," Efchak said. "She is still a very positive influence on the kids. She's the first person the kids call when they get off the bus after a game."

"She's telling the girls that they will have to step it up and be leaders."

Glynos slugged five home runs and seven doubles and drove in 40 runs and scored 32 last year. Lobello, who also started in soccer and basketball, is a gifted athlete who may challenge those numbers some day.

"For a freshman, she is just a great athlete," Efchak said. "To walk into the doors here at Brearley and start in three sports as a freshman is phenomenal. I don't think that happens too much here."

Efchak realizes that Lobello will go through normal growing pains at a very demanding position.

"She knows that she has a lot on her shoulders," Efchak said. "We'll take it one day at a time with her. I would rather work with a freshman and have her take the bumps and bruises and have her learn."

"She has to learn softball etiquette, like learning where to be when, and experience will help her."

Reserves include senior third baseman Danielle Reggio, sophomore second baseman Allyson Gerhart and sophomore outfielders Loren Dotter and Brittany Greenhill.

"What we want to improve most is our team focus," Efchak said. "We still have four new girls on the team that weren't here last year. They don't know what it's like yet."

"We want to see what the next day will bring if we work really hard. We need to want to be better each day."

NOTES: Brearley defeated Governor Livingston 2-1 in 10 innings at Linden's Memorial Field in last year's UCT championship game.

Vitale tossed a one-hitter, striking out eight and walking five. GL righthander Capri Catalano hurled a three-hitter striking out 18 and walking none.

Vitale and Catalano, a junior, are the top pitchers in the county along with Cranford senior lefthander Elena Morge.

All three were First Team All-County selections last year.

Brearley defeated Florence 4-1 in the Central Jersey, Group 1 championship game last year at home. Vitale pitched a seven-hitter, striking out six and walking one.

Marko, Glynos and Vitale belted RBI-singles in a three-run third to make the score 4-0.

Glynos and Vitale were both First Team All-Group 1 selections last year.

Brearley was scheduled to play at Oak Knoll Tuesday and today is scheduled to host Bound Brook at 4 p.m.

Hoeffler a midfielder and pioneer for lacrosse team

Cranford boys' star signs Division 1 scholarship

By Jeff Cummins
Staff Writer

CRANFORD — J.J. Hoeffler plays dual roles for the Cranford boys' lacrosse team.

On the field, he's a midfielder. In terms of developing the Cranford lacrosse program, he's a pioneer.

The second role was confirmed last Friday when Hoeffler signed to accept a full scholarship to play Division 1 lacrosse at Mount St. Mary's University in Emmitsburg, Md. The scholarship served as further proof of the rapid development of both Hoeffler and the Cranford lacrosse program. Hoeffler was instrumental in the development of the Cranford boys' lacrosse team, which began just last year, going 12-6 in its inaugural season.

"It's an honor for me and it's a step in the right direction for Cranford lacrosse," Hoeffler said. "I think it's a sign that great things will happen in the future."

Hoeffler's optimistic that he'll be able to play a significant amount of time in his freshman year, due largely to the fact that he's left-handed, because strong left-handed players are hard to find in lacrosse.

Hoeffler first began playing lacrosse back in the 7th grade and by the next year, he was serious about it. As he developed his game, he fostered an interest in the sport among his classmates.

"I wanted to play in college, but I never expected to play Division 1, let alone get a scholarship," Hoeffler said. "Hopefully, by next year, I'll step in and contribute all I can, whether it's defense, power play, man-up, anything."

Hoeffler has already begun to reap the benefits of his efforts. Because of his success, Cranford High School, the lacrosse players in the community and their parents are all in a position to reap the residual dividends of his achievements. Lacrosse will grow in Cranford and opportunities for valuable scholarships will open up.

"I think it opens the door for a lot of the younger kids who look up to us," Hoeffler said.

"I go over to the developmental and 3rd and 4th grade practices as much as I can. It gives them options to see what they can do."

The importance of Hoeffler's achievement certainly wasn't lost on his coach.

"J.J.'s signing is going to mean so much to our program" Cranford head coach

Al Reinoso said. "He's done so much since he was a freshman in spearheading the young group of kids and pushed this from a club to JV and then the varsity level."

"When he was a freshman, it was nothing more than an intramural club activity here. Last year was our first varsity year and he had a huge year. We were 12-6 and obviously J.J. had a lot to do with that."

"His point scoring, his assists; he was among the top 15 in the state last year in scoring. His skill level is significantly higher than many of our kids, but still, he serves as a leader, an example for all the kids coming up in the town who can say, 'Hey, look, J.J. Hoeffler's there, I want to be like that.'"

"That's a role model and we couldn't be happier about that. Many of the programs we play against are second- and third-year programs and they don't have that kind of role model, so this is a tremendous opportunity for us."

Hoeffler attended the ceremony with a pressed shirt and tie, with his parents beaming nearby. This was more than just a big day for Hoeffler and the Cranford lacrosse program. It was a day his parents will remember forever.

Who wouldn't?

NOTES: Hoeffler had numerous four- and five-goal games last year.

He netted six and had two assists in a 14-9 win at Wayne Hills, which was Cranford's fifth straight victory at the time after opening with a defeat.

Hoeffler had five goals and two assists in a 17-1 home win over St. John Vianney of Holmdel.

Cougars capture opener

Cranford defeated Wayne Valley 5-4 at home in last Saturday's season-opener.

Senior middle Chris Ridente scored three goals, including the game-winner with eight minutes remaining.

Corey LaForte scored one goal and assisted on another, while teammate James Lacey also scored.

Goaltender John Gesumaria was sharp, making 13 saves for the victory in net.

Cranford was scheduled to play at Verona Tuesday afternoon and today has a game scheduled at Mount Olive at 4:30 p.m.

Rahway first-year coach Romeo expects team to be 'pretty good'

Indian baseball squad has Wilson at top of rotation

By Jeff Cummins
Staff Writer

Rahway first-year baseball coach Lou Romeo stopped himself when he was detailing his team's strengths and weaknesses.

"Gee, if you listen to this, it sounds like we've got a great team," Romeo said.

He amended his expectations to: "pretty good, not great."

Still, when you look at his returning players, it does seem as if Rahway could play with a lot of teams. The Indians went to the Central Jersey, Group 2 playoffs last year, falling at eventual finalist Bordentown 5-4 in the first round.

Senior Joe Wilson will pitch and play first base. Wilson is Rahway's No. 1 pitcher in the rotation and, at 6-foot-4, 210 pounds, he begins his third season as a starter for the Indians.

He throws hard with good control and has a good curveball. He also excelled at the plate last year, batting in the .330s.

Three-sport senior standout Steve Keker comes off a successful basketball season to play shortstop for the Indians. Romeo called Keker, "the glue of the infield."

Keker has good range, with an average, but accurate arm.

"He's excellent at turning the double play," Romeo said.

Keker batted in the .350 range last year, with a high on-base percentage. Romeo added that Keker draws a lot of walks and doesn't strike out much.

Keker is Rahway's leadoff batter.

Rahway was scheduled to open at home Tuesday afternoon against Brearley.

The Indians are scheduled to host Newark Technology tomorrow at 4 p.m.

Senior B.J. Condrion will handle the catching duties. Romeo said he handles the staff well, has an above-average arm for a high school catcher and makes good calls. Condrion begins his third year as a starter and Romeo is hoping he'll have a breakout season offensively.

Senior Andrew Agudo will play second base and pitch. Agudo is the other half of Rahway's double-play combination. He has sure hands and Romeo said that he makes all the routine plays. Agudo will likely be the Indians' closer.

"He's good for one or two innings," Romeo said.

Junior pitcher/outfielder Scott Corduan is the Indians' No. 3 batter in the lineup and their No. 2 starting pitcher.

"Scott's a contact hitter, who hits with power as well," Romeo said. "His best pitch is his changeup. He relies on location."

One of the top sophomores in Union County last year, Corduan batted a robust .422.

Senior Nigel Wray, a steady fielder, will play left field. Sophomore centerfielder Corey Alfano gives Rahway an interesting weapon in its arsenal. Alfano bats near the bottom of the Indians' lineup, yet he gives Rahway a considerable offensive threat.

"He's got good speed and he hits with power, too," Romeo said. "He can steal bases."

Junior Francisco Ruiz moved to Rahway from the Dominican Republic in the 8th grade. Ruiz has great speed, which Romeo will put to good use in the outfield.

"Ruiz puts the ball in play and he doesn't strike out much," Romeo said.

Versatility is junior Lee Risko's calling card. He'll pitch and he'll play either second or third.

"He pitched well in a pre-season win over Summit," Romeo said.

Like Corduan, Risko's strength is his changeup. He keeps hitters off balance.

"We've been focusing on giving effort," Romeo said. "If we do that day in and day out, we'll win the games we're capable of winning."

"I don't think we have any stars. We're the epitome of everyone having to pull for each other."

Romeo expects the Indians to be very competitive in the Valley Division of the Mountain Valley Conference, saying that he thinks there's a lot of parity in the division.

As for the Union County Tournament, Romeo thinks his team will be there, but winning it won't be easy — or likely.

"There's a lot of talent in Union County," Romeo said. "We scrimmaged Westfield this year and they are loaded. Winning it is a lofty goal, but the semis would be nice, especially since we host it."

"It'll take a little bit of luck and once tourney time comes, we'll have to play good and get good pitching. You could probably say that for any team."

"The states? I'd like to think we can get back there. We were up a run going into the last inning of our game against Bordentown. I lost two key guys from last year, but I'm slowly but surely filling those wholes. I'd like to think that at the very least, we could get back to the tournament."

The challenge is how will Rahway do, when and if, it does make it back to the states. Romeo may be a rookie head coach, but he has eight years as an assistant and his team is pretty solid.

Quietly, there are a pretty fair amount of expectations in Rahway.

NOTES: Among the top players for head coach Ken Farrell last year was Chris Smith, a Third Team All-County selection.

Opening Day brings hope, excitement for sports fans

Roselle Park, Linden softball seek success

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

ROSELLE PARK - Opening Day!

Two words that utter excitement and hope and give sports fans something to look forward to.

The changing of seasons. Leaving the gymnasiums for the ball parks.

OK. Let's go.

Two Union County softball teams met for the first time in two years last Saturday when Watchung Conference foe Linden faced Mountain Valley Conference rival Roselle Park.

Both starting pitchers were solid, with Roselle Park junior righthander Brandy Guarnaccio a bit more efficient in pitching the Panthers to a 5-1 non-conference home triumph.

Guarnaccio, in her second year as Roselle Park's primary hurler, tossed a four-hitter, striking out four and walking two.

Coming off a record of 7-8 last year, Guarnaccio was perfect in five of her seven innings, throwing a total of 82 pitches.

"She's more confident this year," Roselle Park head coach Fran Maggio said. "She's improved her velocity and is more of a pitcher instead of a thrower."

Guarnaccio blanked host North Plainfield 4-0 in last year's season-opener. Guarnaccio's final win was a 6-1 decision at Oak Knoll in which she tossed a two-hitter, striking out nine and walking two to help Roselle Park win a fifth game in a row.

"I was nervous the first couple of innings," said Guarnaccio, who didn't let the nerves bother her as she retired the first nine batters she faced.

Linden only had baserunners in the fourth and sixth innings, scoring its lone run in the sixth on a fielder's choice RBI by designated player Kristen Magerka.

"I had calmed down by the fourth inning, but the umpire wasn't giving me the inside pitch," said Guarnaccio, who issued her only two walks in that frame.

The top of the fourth was the first of three times Linden had the bases loaded in the game, but the Tigers were only able to get one run total out of all three situations.

After leadoff batter Nicole Sarica walked, Colleen Tyburczy reached on a bunt single for her team's first hit and then Courtney Melchionna walked. Guarnaccio got cleanup batter Cristal Rosado to pop up to second.

Then, Magerka hit a pop up that bounced fair just past the first base bag and into foul territory, with a runner scoring.

However, the run did not count because the home plate umpire ruled that the Linden runner going from first to second interfered with Roselle Park first baseman Melinda Dercole, preventing her from catching the pop up. So, Linden still had the bases loaded, but there were now two outs after the runner was called out.

Guarnaccio then got Brittney Cole to ground out to second to end the inning and prevent the Tigers from scoring a single run after they had the bases loaded and no outs.

"After they got the bases loaded, I just tried to get them to pop the ball up," Guarnaccio said. "I wanted them to hit the ball to our fielders the easiest way."

"To not give up a run there was a good gut check for us," Maggio said. "That will help us the rest of the year. It's a good character builder."

While Linden did manage to finally break through in the sixth with its first run of the season, the Tigers were not able to get a big hit to get back in the game, despite getting three of their four hits in the sixth.

"We just didn't get the ball where it needed to go," Zimmerman said. "We had the bases loaded three times, but couldn't get the big hit."

Roselle Park is coming off a 12-9 campaign in which it was knocked out of the UCT and Central Jersey, Group 1 playoffs in the first round. Maggio feels this year's squad has a little bit more firepower.

"I was pleased with the way we hit the ball in our scrimmages," Maggio said.

Roselle Park jumped out in front 1-0 in the bottom of the third when diminutive senior second baseman Jackie Carroll blasted a shot past Cole in left that went for a solo home run. She was 2-for-4, also reaching on an infield single and scoring one of Linden's four runs in the bottom of the fifth.

"Jackie does that a lot in practice," Maggio said of her home run. "For a tiny, little thing, she is very strong. Her home run wasn't a fluke. She is very strong for her size."

Carroll waited for her opportunity this year to finally be a starter and it has served her well. She was also flawless in the field, coming up with four assists and one putout at second base. At least two of the four balls hit at her were hard ground balls that she snared with her glove.

"Jackie is the last link to the group that just went through," Maggio said. "She's been with us for four years and has been a courtesy runner, with great players in front of her. She can play and is getting a chance now to show her ability."

Carroll's freshman year was the 2003 season in which Roselle Park captured the Group 1 state championship, which was the school's first state title in softball.

Michelle Rose had an RBI-single and Katie Bundy an RBI-triple in the sixth, with Roselle Park's other two runs scoring on throws to bases.

Bundy is one of the top returning players in Union County, a Second Team All-County selection last year. Her older sister, Laura, graduated last year after earning Third Team All-County honors.

"We have a number of girls who will provide a lot of offense for us," Maggio said.

Linden was 12-15 last year and qualified in North Jersey, Section 2, Group 4. Head coach Cherie Zimmerman sent junior righty Kelly Gregg to the mound for her first varsity start. Gregg was Linden's junior varsity pitcher last year.

"For her first game she did an excellent job," Zimmerman said. "She's not overpowering, so she is going to have to keep the ball down and get a lot of ground ball outs."

Gregg tossed a five-hitter, getting five ground ball outs and allowing four earned runs.

NOTES: Roselle Park is situated in Central Jersey, Group 2 for the first time, while Linden remains in North 2, Group 4.

The teams last met in the 2004 Union County Tournament quarterfinals when defending champion Roselle Park won 4-0 en route to a second straight crown.

Both squads had third basemen who were First Team All-County selections last year as seniors. Linden's Jennifer Jimenez, who is now playing at Montclair State, belted 10 home runs and batted .441. Roselle Park's Shannon Leary made no errors and batted .349.

Two other Linden seniors from a year ago who are playing in college are Melanie Sura and Ann Mularz. Sura, a catcher who threw out 12 runners and batted .414, is playing at Rowan. Mularz is playing at Drew. Sura was also a First Team All-County selection.

Linden returns starters at catcher, second base and all outfield positions. The Tigers went 4-4 in scrimmages played in Orlando, Fla. and were able to get 10 more in at home.

"We have those starters back, but they are young," Zimmerman said. "They played a lot last year as freshmen, so that should help."

As for the opening game, Zimmerman was not really disappointed.

"Our mistakes were physical and not mental, which I can deal with," Zimmerman said.

Linden's next scheduled game was at Scotch Plains yesterday afternoon, while Roselle Park was to host Bridgewater-Raritan Monday and play at Roselle Catholic Tuesday. BR swept RP last year, winning 4-3 at home and then 3-1 on the road.

Guarnaccio knew that she and her teammates had to step it up against the Somerset County power.

"We have a good hitting team after struggling to score runs last year," Guarnaccio said.

Guarnaccio feels more in a groove on the mound.

"Getting the third strike is what I've been working on," Guarnaccio said. "I can get the first two, but it's getting that last strike, although it's not important for me to get strikeouts. I'm not looking to strike everyone out. It's more important to get the person out."

Linden is at Cranford tomorrow at 4 p.m., while Roselle Park hosts Union Catholic today at 4.

Summit girls' lacrosse focusing on team unity

Hilltoppers open with win over West Morris

By Jeff Cummins
Staff Writer

The Summit girls' lacrosse team had a good season last year, but coach Gretchen Lasda expects an even better season this year and she's clear about the reason.

"The teamwork this year is tremendous," Lasda said. "Last year, the team was divided. This year, the girls have done a great job of abandoning all that and they've focused on team unity."

There's something to be said for being on the same page as your teammates. Last year's team finished 11-7, advancing to the quarterfinals of the North B playoffs, where it lost at eventual champion Oak Knoll 12-6. Summit defeated visiting Hopewell Valley 10-6 in the first round.

That's a pretty good season by most measures, but Lasda's very open about her expectations. She thinks this group can achieve just about anything it wants to. That's a pretty bold statement considering that 13 seniors graduated from last season's squad.

Summit's offense begins with senior Gina Scioscia, who plays attack and midfield. She led the team last year with 72 goals and she'll likely break Summit's all-time career scoring record before the end of the season.

Joining Scioscia on the attack is senior captain Sarah Baker and junior Callie McGeough, a pair of strong leaders. The midfield will include Scioscia, junior Katie Cooper, junior Rachel Ardington and sophomore Jen Nuara.

"Cooper is a very fast player who contributes on defense and has a great shot," Lasda said. "She knows how to put the ball in the net."

"Ardington is an aggressive hustler who is an all-around threat. Nuara is aggressive with great stick skills. She's a very mature player."

Defensively, the Hilltoppers will be led by senior Cristina Maurizi and will get solid contributions from junior Keillan Lecky and junior Nicole Langworthy.

"Maurizi is very vocal, she controls things back there," Lasda said. "Keillan is strong all around and Nicole is a very strong defender who has learned how to redirect the offensive threat from the other team so she has complete control back there."

Junior Sara Bloom is the goalie. Bloom played some last year, so she brings valuable experience to the position.

"She comes up with big saves when we need her to,"

Lasda said. "She has very high expectations for the team and for herself."

The challenge for Summit is that, while these players all have game experience, they don't all have a lot of it. When you've got 13 seniors on a team, underclassmen seldom get a lot of playing time.

Yet that doesn't seem to faze Lasda at all. She's confident her team will make the states again and has the potential to advance deep into the tournament.

"I have very high expectations for this team," Lasda said. "We can do better in strategy and our record should improve. We'll surprise some people in our conference because the girls have put a lot of work in during the off-season."

"This team is unique in terms of its friendships off the field and that should translate into success on the field. I'm very excited. With hard work and dedication, the sky is the limit."

NOTES: Summit opened Monday with a 10-8 win at home over West Morris.

Scioscia's fourth goal with 11:19 remaining gave Summit a 9-7 advantage. Cooper had three goals and two assists. Bloom made 14 saves for the victory.

Summit squad is bolstered by capable returning golfers

Callaghan, Schlimbach, Robinson, Leavy lead way

By Jeff Cummins
Staff Writer

There was a time not too long ago that you could pick almost any sport and Summit would field a pretty good team.

In recent years, though, even Summit has fallen prey to the same problem that affects so many other schools.

The sheer volume of sports and the incredible number of choices available for student athletes, has taken its toll on the Summit golf team.

Recently, Summit hasn't succeeded as much as it had in years past.

Fortunately for the Hilltoppers, hope springs anew in the form of 28 newcomers who vied for a roster spot.

"We're just feeling out how these kids will do," Summit coach Dick Keating said. "In years past, we have been very strong. I had some kids who went on golf scholarships."

"For some reason, we just had a drought. We lost some kids to lacrosse and baseball. That makes it a little tough, too."

Tougher still, the Hilltoppers compete in the Iron Hills Conference, featuring challenging competition from Mendham and Chatham. Worse still, Summit, which finished 6-12 last season, will face Westfield, Chatham, Cranford and Mendham before April 20, so it won't take the Hilltoppers very long to see how well they are going to progress.

Summit is led by senior Sean Callaghan, a returning three-year starter. Callaghan is joined by sophomore Roger Schlimbach, who started last year, and senior Taylor Robinson, a senior who started last year in his first year on the team.

Keating pointed out that each one averages in the mid 40s through nine holes. After those three, newcomers will vie for the remaining three spots. Senior Meghan Leavy played in a few matches last year.

Some of the other notable newcomers include senior Todd Reynolds, senior Tom Francis, junior Kent Twardock, sophomore Brendan Linder and sophomore Alex D'Alberiti.

Keating was excited by the promise of the newcomers, citing Reynolds and Francis for their abilities, in addition to lauding some of the underclassmen.

"This is the first year for the two sophomores, but at the driving range they look like they'll be vying for spots," Keating said. "Without seeing them on the course, it's hard to say."

Summit certainly has the numbers to make the future look bright, but the question right now is how the Hilltoppers will fare this season. There are no guarantees, but Keating said he's hoping the team breaks .500.

Keating is cautious in his optimism, but with all those new players competing for spots, it's just a matter of time before the Hilltoppers reap the benefits of the sudden surge in interest in golf among the underclassmen.

If the Hilltoppers harvest the talent among their younger players, they could be looking at more than breaking .500.

NOTES: Summit was to compete against Parsippany and Parsippany Hills yesterday at Parsippany's Knoll West.

Bender and Chamra win for Cranford

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

It didn't take long for the Cranford baseball team to flex its muscles. The Cougars traveled to Somerset County last Saturday for a game against Bridgewater-Raritan, got off the bus, and immediately scored 10 runs in the first inning en route to a convincing 14-2 triumph. Cranford followed that up with an 8-1 Watchung Conference-National Division victory over Westfield in Monday's home-opener.

The Cougars took a 2-0 record into yesterday's scheduled non-conference home game against St. Joseph's of Metuchen. Cranford's next game is at Linden tomorrow at 4 p.m.

Senior righthander Jack Bender, who will continue at Georgetown, held BR to five hits. Andrew Ciencin sparked the 10-run first with a grand slam. Senior righty Rob Chamra tossed a four-hitter in beating Westfield. He will continue at Temple.

Cranford softball starts with 7th-inning victories

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

You want drama?

Go see the Cranford softball team play.

So far, two games and two seventh-inning victories.

The Cougars opened with an impressive 2-1 win at Essex County power Livingston last Saturday and followed that victory up with a come-from-behind 5-3 triumph over Watchung Conference-National Division rival Westfield Monday in Westfield.

Standout senior lefthander Elena Morge not only earned the mound victory against the Blue Devils, but also delivered the game-winning hit. She blasted a three-run homer in the top of the seventh to erase a 3-2 deficit. Morge then held Westfield scoreless in the bottom of the seventh.

Morge (2-0) tossed a six-hitter, striking out eight and walking three.

Against Livingston, it was junior first baseman Lindsay Dolan who drove home junior shortstop Lisa Levonas on a sacrifice bunt in the top of the seventh to snap a 1-1 deadlock.

Cranford will next host Linden tomorrow at 4 p.m. and is then scheduled to play in the Cedar Grove Tournament Saturday, which has games at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

NOTES: Cranford split with Westfield in conference play last year, losing at home and then winning on the road. The Cougars went on to win the Watchung-National title en route to finishing 20-6 overall.

Cranford plays at Scotch Plains Monday at 4 p.m. The Cougars split with the Raiders in conference play last year.

Linden baseball will continue to learn and build for the future

Coach Mondelli feels team is a year away

By Jeff Cummins
Staff Writer

Linden baseball coach Danny Mondelli has seen plenty of baseball. He knows this year's team is young. The Tigers will aim to win as many games as they can this season, but, clearly, this is a young team that will build for the future.

Coming off a 10-16 season in which the Tigers lost to Elizabeth 7-6 in the bottom of the seventh inning in the Union County Tournament and at J.P. Stevens 9-4 in the first round of the North Jersey Section 2, Group 4 baseball tournament, Linden lost at least six starters to graduation, so the Tigers have a lot of new faces on the field.

Linden's strength is its pitching depth. The Tigers have a lot of pitchers, lefties in particular. Junior Joe Wiewiorski, junior Brandon Czajkowski, junior Danny Salerno, freshman Richard Weber and senior Justin Glinsky are all lefthanders. Only junior Manny Castillo pitches right-handed.

Ultimately, though, Mondelli might prefer to have an even mix of righties and lefties. He is simply glad to have all those arms.

"Our pitching is OK," Mondelli said. "We have a lot of guys who can pitch, which is good. A lot of them can throw strikes and we've just got to make plays behind them."

"If we're not making plays, it's hard for anyone to win. Salerno, Frank Szczepanik and Castillo all have a lot of potential. The only guy who has potential to be an ace is Salerno. He can go out there and beat somebody good. Our other guys are capable, but we've got to play a good game behind them. Salerno has the potential to put the wraps on someone."

Of the pitchers, virtually every one can play another position. Wiewiorski will play right field, Czajkowski will play in the outfield, Richard Weber, a freshman lefty, will play first base, Justin Glinsky, another lefty, will play center field and Szczepanik, a 6-foot-10 sophomore, will play first base, in addition to pitching on occasion, giving the Tigers plenty of versatility.

Sophomore John Bouck is the Tigers' catcher and senior Luis Loboan outfielder, who played third base against Hoboken. Sophomore Juan Gallardo is a designated hitter, junior Dave Tekula the second baseman and junior Alex Mena will play shortstop and third base, as will junior Adam Abumahoud. Sophomore Jose Martinez will also play third.

The Tigers got off to a rough start with a 10-0 setback at Hoboken last Saturday, but, as Mondelli knows, it's a long season.

"I expect to do better than we did Saturday," Mondelli said. "We'll struggle offensively, but our pitching should be okay."

"We've got a lot of inexperience and the county is on an upswing. We return every one next year, so we're a year away."

"Saturday, we played a team that played with a higher level of confidence than us. Hoboken is playing at a higher level because they believe they're better than they really are. So, we should watch them and go out and play with a little more confidence."

For now, the only thing that can give the Tigers more confidence is experience, and they'll get more of that with each game they play.

There's no magic potion, no panacea, and Mondelli knows it.

NOTES: Linden was defeated by North Brunswick by a score of 15-3 in Monday's home-opener.

Linden was to host Scotch Plains yesterday and tomorrow is scheduled to host Cranford, which won its first two games at Bridgewater-Raritan 14-2 last Saturday and at home over Westfield 8-1 Monday.

The Tigers will remain at home for a 1 p.m. game this Saturday against Franklin. Next week's games are against Shabazz, Newark West Side, Westfield and Union Catholic.

UHS boys' track is ready to excel

Coming off one of best years

By Jeff Cummins
Staff Writer

When you've had as much success as the Union boys' track team has had in recent years, it's got to stop some time, right? After all, that's just the law of averages.

The thing is, this is the Union boys' track team, so you have to throw out the law of averages.

Union County championships, Union County Relays championships, Watchung Conference championships, various invitational meet championships, the Union boys' track team counts these titles like notches on a gunslinger's belt.

Athletes graduate, but the success just continues. A standard's been set at Union and everyone who comes in knows that they have to measure up to it.

This year's no different. Gone are hurdlers Chris Haley and Brett Axelrod. Haley is at the University of Maryland and Axelrod is on the men's soccer team at Whitman College in Walla, Walla, Wash.

However, coach Bill Soranno, who returns for his 26th season, has a host of Union athletes ready to take their turns in the spotlight.

"We had one of our best seasons last year," Soranno said. "We won the Union County Relays and several of our guys went to the Meet of Champions. We've won the Union County Relays three of the last four years."

Junior sprinter Marques Wallace leads off Union's sprint relays. He's excellent at running the 100 meters and the 200 meters.

Senior Adonijah Ashley, also a soccer standout, is strong in the 200 meters and the 400 meters.

Senior Dave Barragan is the team's best thrower. He threw the discus 131 feet, 8 inches at last Saturday's Pawlowski Relays in Ridgewood. He threw 42-11 in the shot put, though he's done as much as 44 feet.

Junior Mike Sacca runs the 800, 1600 and the 3200 meters. "He hovers around 10 minutes for the 3200," Soranno said.

The team's best hurdler is Dave Lewis, who runs the 110 meter hurdles and the 400 meter hurdles. Right there with Lewis is senior Tobi Oyetunde, who's also the team's top high jumper. Oyetunde set a personal record of 16 feet even in the high jump at the Pawlowski Relays.

"We've got some big shoes to fill, but we're looking forward to a successful season," Soranno said. "We get good athletes out and we're hoping to place high in the county meet and other invitational meets. I don't think we've reached our potential. We should get better as the season goes along."

The Farmers certainly don't have to look far for inspiration. Tony Stewart, who also achieved considerable success on the football field, is one of Soranno's assistants. Stewart was a state hurdles champ for the Farmers, who are hoping they've got a few just like him on the current team.

NOTES: Union's 4x200 team of Marques Wallace 23.5, Adonijah Ashley 23.0, Al Jamar Moore 24.1 and Yannick Jones captured first-place honors at the Pawlowski Relays in a time of 1:33.8.

Union placed fourth out of 10 teams in the large schools division, coming in with 75 points. Christian Brothers Academy of Lincroft was first with 92 points, followed by Ridgewood second at 87 and Don Bosco Prep third at 75.

Minutemen have the ability to score runs Sought bounce-back at Irvington

Roselle Catholic won the UCT for the first time since 1971, while Watchung Hills repeated as the North 2, Group 4 champ.

Elizabeth last won the section and Group 4 in 1994 and last won the UCT in 1991. The Minutemen were last in the UCT final in 1995.

This year's UCT has been tweaked a bit.

Like what is done in Middlesex County, the tournament is not completely stacked on weekends to allow for the same pitcher to have a chance to lead his team to the championship.

The first round is Saturday, May 6 and then the quarterfinals are Wednesday, May 13. The semifinals are Saturday, May 13 at noon and 3 p.m. at Rahway's Veterans Field and the final Saturday, May 20 at 8 p.m. at Linden's Memorial Field. The final used to be played at night, but was played during the day the last few years. This year, it's back to being a night game.

As for the quarterfinals, which are now scheduled to be played on the Wednesday after the previous Saturday's first round, that means teams will not be able to use the same pitcher as they did in their first round game.

"Too many times an average team with one really good pitcher wins it," Korn said. "This way makes sure that the best team wins. To get to the semis, you will need two good pitchers. Middlesex plays county games during the week too, so we're modeling it after them."

Elizabeth scrimmaged the likes of Delbarton, Rutherford, Sayreville, Hillsborough and Montgomery.

Non-conference games include matchups with Iselin Kennedy, Ferris, Johnson, Scotch Plains, Cranford, J.P. Stevens, Roselle Catholic, Jackson, Linden, Livingston, Union Catholic, North Bergen and Dickinson of Jersey City.

Cranford and Roselle Catholic are considered the top two teams in Union County.

Cranford has Division 1 players in Jack Bender (Georgetown), Rob Chamra (Temple) and Greg Van Horn (Princeton). Roselle Catholic is led by senior righty Nick Nolan, who will continue at Rutgers.

Bermudez excels in Monday's season-opener: Although Elizabeth lost to Newark East Side by a 3-0 score Monday in its season-opener at Williams Field, the Minutemen were sparked by a fine pitching performance by senior Giorbis Bermudez.

The senior lefthander allowed only three hits, struck out nine and walked three. All three runs he yielded in the top of the seventh were unearned.

East Side junior Alex Sepulveda drove in two of the runs with a single.

Manny Melendez, a Second Team All-State catcher last year, held Elizabeth to three hits, striking out seven and walking four.

Irvington, who was Elizabeth's opponent yesterday, was defeated at home by Union 11-0 on Monday, with junior righthander Tom Fillipone tossing a five-inning no-hitter in his varsity debut.

Union, who Elizabeth will host Wednesday, improved to 2-0 with the win. The Farmers opened with a 10-5 victory at Dayton last Saturday.

Union captured the Watchung-American title last year, with Elizabeth the only team to beat the Farmers in conference competition.

Fillipone tosses no-hitter in his first varsity game Allows only 1 baserunner in 5 innings

By JR Parachini
Sports Editor

Sixteen up. Fifteen down.

Not a bad varsity debut for Union junior righthander Tom Fillipone.

Making his first varsity start, Fillipone tossed a five-inning no-hitter in leading the Farmers past host Irvington 11-0 Monday in Watchung Conference-American Division play. He struck out 11 and did not walk a batter.

Union improved to 2-0 with its first conference victory, while Irvington fell to 0-1. Union is the defending Watchung Conference-American Division champ. Fillipone, a junior varsity pitcher last year, allowed only one baserunner, that being Irvington's second batter of the fifth, who reached on an error.

"He almost pitched a perfect game," Union head coach Mike Hamberg said. "He did a nice job for his first game."

Fillipone retired the first 13 batters he faced before Irvington's only baserunner. He then retired the next two Irvington batters to end the game.

Fillipone is one of three JV pitchers from a year ago that are in the varsity rotation. The others are senior righties Chris Kaminski and Dan Sheridan, with one of them most likely on the mound for yesterday's home-opener vs. Kearny.

Talented UHS team could use one more golfer Returning standouts include Fields, Minneci and Ernst

By Jeff Cummins
Staff Writer

Union golf coach Jim Jeskey has a mild challenge. He's got solid golfers on his team, but he just needs one more strong golfer to fill out his ranks.

That sounds simple — and it could be. The question is, will another golfer come out for the team?

Union finished 17-12 last year, making the Union County Tournament and the states. Unfortunately for Union, the Farmers didn't fare very well in either one.

The three returning golfers give Jeskey's team plenty of experience and a decent amount of talent as well. Senior Pete Fields will begin his fourth season as a varsity golfer and he consistently shoots under 40 for nine holes. Senior Rich Minneci averages around 43 or 44, as does senior Steve Ernst, giving the Farmers a solid core of returning golfers.

Joining them are a pair of talented newcomers. Jeskey said that junior Matthew Monaghan averages, "probably 48 to 50 for nine holes." Senior Andrew Maia will shoot in the low-to-mid 50s through nine holes.

Jeskey said that Maia tried out for the team last year, but didn't get any varsity play in, so the two are both essentially first-year players.

So, as five golfers go, that's not bad. That leaves one spot open for Union, a spot that could be critical to the success of the team.

"I would say that if we did get one or two players from last year, we have the possibility to get four players who shoot 45 and under by the end of the year," Jeskey said, noting that while a couple of players from last year's team haven't yet come out for the team this year, they are still considering the option. "Or if Matt shot under 45, then we would be OK. A couple more might come out, we'll just have to see what takes place in the next week or so."

Those additional golfers can't arrive a moment too soon. Union was to start play earlier this week, with matches against highly-regarded Union County rivals Westfield and Cranford at Echo Lake. Union fell to Westfield 155-192.

Still, if there's any coach who can make a situation work with less golfers than he'd like to have, it's Jeskey. The Farmers have made the states the last four years. Jeskey's entering his seventh consecutive year as the Union golf coach. He also did a two-year stint as Union head coach prior to the current one.

"I believe we'll have a winning record and we'll make the states again for the fifth year in a row," said Jeskey, who didn't sound particularly fazed by the thought of starting the season against returning state champion Westfield. "That's an accomplishment."

"If you play against good teams, you get better," Jeskey continued. "Of course, the team would also get better if it had just one more golfer."

Springfield Power girls' start season with triumph

The Springfield Power 13-and-under traveling girls' soccer team, which was a fall season champion, began its spring season in winning fashion as well. The Power edged the Caldwell Kickers 2-1 last weekend behind goals from Jenna Russo and Alexa Williams. Goalkeepers Alessandra Diamond and Emily MacDonnell were sharp in goal, coming up with several outstanding saves. Also playing well for Springfield were Stacey Shewitz and Angela Berardinelli on defense and Rebecca Frank, Jackie Loeshelle, Emily Stein, Gabrielle Pypiak, Remy Schneider and Jessica Gonzalez in the midfield.

Scorpions boot Hub

The Soccer Club of Springfield 12-and-under Scorpions opened their season Sunday with a 3-1 win over the Denville Hub. Ryan Cutino tied the game in the first half on a penalty kick goal. Max Kotler, with an assist from Brandon Moss, and Jack Haliczzer scored the only second-half goals to break open a close match. Moss and Peter Yablonski played well in goal for the Scorpions, with Sergio Annunziata, John Balboni, Brian DiFiore, Mike Disko, Matt Disko, Nico Izzi, Matt Lyna, Nick Pearl, Christian Schmidt, Matt Jensen and Michael Saladino contributing.

The Scorpions face the North Caldwell Arsenal Sunday at 2:45 p.m. at Gaudineer Middle School in Springfield.

Roadrunners begin with tie

In Sunday's season-opener, the Springfield Roadrunners battled the Wayne Sonics to a 2-2 tie in 10-and-under boys'.

Defense was the story for Springfield as the Roadrunners limited the Sonics to just five shots the entire match. After a scoreless first half, Ryan Fitzpatrick scored five minutes into the second half for the Roadrunners. Springfield's other score came from Reese Petersen, assisted by newly-acquired Matt Pacheco. Also playing well for the Roadrunners were Matt Raneiri, Jason Barreira, Zach Samansky, Tyler Citrin, Will Francis, Chris Vega, Boomer Sack, Tommy Walsh, Vinny Nagy and Kazari Trought. Springfield travels to Vernon this Sunday to face the Tigers in a 2:30 p.m. start in Sussex County.

Stingers buzz Bruins

The Springfield Stingers 9-and-under traveling boys' squad opened its spring season Sunday with an impressive 2-0 triumph over the North Warren Bruins. The Stingers came out aggressive and controlled the game from the opening, with strong offensive play from Carmine Forte, Jacob Dabrowski, Max Kasler, Payas Parab, Charles Bachman and Jacob Lowy.

However, Springfield was not able to score a goal until the second half. Goals by Eden Cohen and Brandon Bauman put Springfield on the board and gave the Stingers a lead they would not relinquish. Strong defensive play from Kristian Alpizar, Paul Asimenios and Ross Schickler, combined with a diving defensive stop from Andrew Lashuk and strong goalie play by Jonah Yesowitz, prevented North Warren from reaching the scoreboard.

The Stingers (1-0) play Pompton Lakes this Sunday.

Amateur Astronomers meet weekly at college

On April 21, Amateur Astronomers Inc. will conduct its monthly membership meeting at 8 p.m. in the Main Lecture Hall of the Nomehegan Building at Union County College, 1033 Springfield Ave., Cranford. Immediately following the business meeting, at approximately 9 p.m., the club will present a lecture on "Albert Doc Ingalls" given by Trudy Bell, author of books on astronomy and the sun. Her lecture pertains to Albert Ingalls, who constructed and donated one of the first telescopes to Sperry Observatory.

Following the lecture, attendees will be invited to the William Miller Sperry Observatory, located nearby on campus, and will have the opportunity to speak with club members and tour the facility. Refreshments will be served. If weather permits, a celestial viewing focusing on Saturn and M44, the Beehive Star Cluster, will be conducted.

In addition to the monthly meetings held on the third Friday of each month from September through May, more informal meetings are held on the remaining Fridays at Sperry Observatory. At 7:30 p.m., a program for younger audiences is held with topics that include constellations and phases of the moon. Arrangements can be made for groups to attend at 7:30 by contacting bigjody1@netzero.com. At 8:30 p.m., programs for the general public are presented. Currently scheduled programs include "Testing the Shadows and Silhouettes NSN Toolkit" by Ray Shapp on April 28, and "Jupiter, King of the Solar System" by Alan P. Witzgall on May 5. If weather permits there will be a celestial viewing throughout the evening. All meetings and lectures have no admission fee and are open to the public. Free parking is provided.

On April 29, Amateur Astronomers

Inc. will observe Astronomy Day by conducting two sessions at William Miller Sperry Observatory located at Union County College, 1033 Springfield Ave., Cranford. Astronomy Day originated in 1974 in San Francisco with the purpose of showing the public how interesting and how much fun astronomy can be. The concept spread in the United States and has become an international event with more than a dozen countries participating.

The afternoon session, from 1 to 4 p.m., will feature solar viewing, weather permitting, in the narrow hydrogen-alpha band using AAI's 10-inch telescope, a Webcam demonstration; and a Solar System walk. Presentations will include "The Solar System" given by Alan Zuckerman at 1:15 p.m.; "The Sun" by Anne Anderson at 2 p.m.; "Gravity and Black Hole Demonstration" by Ray Shapp at 2:45 p.m.

The evening session, from 7:30 to 11 p.m., will feature celestial viewing, weather permitting, of Jupiter, Saturn, and the Big Dipper's double star, Mizar and Alcor, using the club's two large telescopes. At 8 p.m., Alan P. Witzgall will present "Planetary Bits and Pieces" — a discussion of the vagabonds of our Solar System, meteors, asteroids and comets.

A meteorite will be among the many free prizes awarded by drawings conducted throughout the event. A meteorite collection will be on display during both sessions. Astronomy Day has no admission fee and is open to the public. Free parking is provided. For more information on AAI and directions, call 908-276-STAR or visit www.asterism.org.

The great mail race

As part of the Great Mail Race, Joseph DiLillo, Jeremy Bate and Kaitlyn Heimall, students in AnnMarie Romano's second-grade class at Sherman Elementary School in Roselle Park, study a map of the United States. They will also document letters received in response to numerous letters sent to various states.

Academy offers basic program

Union County Prosecutor Theodore J. Romankow announced that the John H. Stamler Police Academy will offer the Alternate Route Basic Police Program in the next police recruit class beginning on July 21.

"One of the project's goals is to create a pool of trained officers who could then be hired by local police departments, sparing municipalities the costs associated with training a police officer," Romankow said.

"The Alternate Route Program was first offered as a pilot project at the Academy in 1993," said Union County Police Chief Daniel Vaniska, president of the Union County Police Chiefs Association. "One hundred percent of all Alternate Route candidates graduating from the academy are in excellent position to obtain jobs in law enforcement," he added. Candidates completing a written examination and review process become part of the academy's regular police training class.

Academy Director Anthony Parenti said "the Alternate Route recruits receive the same instruction as the regular police cadets during the 20 week training session." The training courses include firearms, weapons of mass destruction, terrorism, use of force, court procedures, crime prevention, community relations, juvenile crime, domestic violence, the state criminal code, drug enforcement, crash injury management, crime scene management and constitutional law.

Parenti said "the academy functions much like a military basic training course." The Alternate Route and regular police cadets wear the same uniforms and must adhere to a strict military regimen, including daily physical training.

"All Alternate Route candidates must have a minimum of 60 college credits at an institution of higher learning," Romankow said. "The Alternate Route candidates are not guaranteed a position by the program but will have met all the state requirements necessary to become police officers."

According to Chief Vaniska, 70 percent of the Alternate Route program is open to in-county residents and 30 percent may come from out of county. The tuition for the course is $1,260. Alternate Route candidates demonstrating financial hardship will be given one year from the time they obtain a position in law enforcement to pay the tuition," he added. "They also can receive 12 credits if they enroll in a course at Union County College."

Romankow said the program has helped young people interested in a law enforcement career achieve their dreams. "Agencies are looking for people who have a jump up on their training, and there have been 155 people who have participated and so far we have an excellent placement rate."

Anyone interested in applying for the Alternate Route program may pick up an application starting April 3 at the John H. Stamler Police Academy, 1776 Raritan Road, Scotch Plains.

Dealing with big guys

David Robinson doesn't see himself as a grinch. Last week, he zeroed in legally on "Christmas tree grants" to eliminate them from the state budgetary process. His target is not the spruce fir type of tree, rather the use of designated grants to legislative districts.

Robinson, a Cranford lawyer, filed suit to stop the process which last year authorized $128 million in grants, $25 million of which still remains in the state treasury.

Left Out

By Frank Capece

For Robinson, he sounds a bit like the technocrat of companies he has managed and represented. The father of three with a fourth on the way, seems like an unlikely combatant against some very big guys. Traditionally either the Democrats or Republicans controlling the legislature have used the appropriation process for pet projects.

On the same day of Robinson's announcement, Gov. Jon Corzine, who has not given out any grants, he has "directed a review of the program and ordered no further grants of the program be distributed until that review is complete."

Robinson emphasizes he is not a partisan. In a conversation he reels off that he is not to happy with President Bush and he only registered Republican to support the financial plan of the unsuccessful candidacy of Brett Schundler for governor five years ago. While preparing for a vacation he found himself doing interviews and radio shows about his lawsuit. He even established a Web site called, The Center for Constitutionality. He says of his venture, it "will be a standing, independent watchdog to review all governmental action in New Jersey."

Robinson volunteers he is not looking to seek legislative office. That's pretty understandable, since his 21st Legislative District is considered a safe Republican seat with a long list of suitors should any vacancies develop.

His brief includes 57 pages of examples of the use of funds he finds unconstitutional. He especially targets legislators who also serve in another position such as mayor. In Robinson's world, it is especially egregious to gain the grant and then decide where it is going to be utilized. Robinson has already gotten down the buzz words like "piggy bank for the politically connected" and "fiscal gimmicks and borrowing have been a bipartisan budget addiction." The essence of his argument is that the executive branch, not the legislative branch, should be able to spend the money. He views himself as a watchdog whose new group will watch the spending of monies.

Meanwhile, up the hill from Robinson in the Watchung Mountains, residents of Berkeley Heights found out that sometimes even courting the big guys can fail. The township put on the press to entice the football Jets to build a practice field at the old Connel Properties. Berkeley Heights offered access to Route 78 and nearby hospitals and other amenities. They came up short.

Teens, officials discuss alcohol

By Lauren DeFilippo
Staff Writer

Government and law enforcement officials last week teamed up with substance abuse prevention professionals at the County Administration building in Elizabeth to discuss the growing problem of underage drinking.

However, according to the experts assembled, the problem would now be more aptly named "childhood drinking."

Sponsored by the Clark-based organization, Prevention Links, the town-hall style discussion was part of a state-wide effort to begin a realistic dialogue about youth drinking and to work collaboratively to resolve it.

"This is a problem that's certainly going to take more than one meeting and 30 to 40 people," Union County Sheriff Ralph Froehlich said to the group.

Froehlich appeared on the panel with Union County Assistant Prosecutor Carol Berger; Kim Lenox, director of the High Focus Center in Cranford; Diane Literer, executive director of Prevention Links; three teenagers who shared their stories about over-consuming alcohol; and one parent who had seen his family through the recovery process.

Freeholder Chairman Alexander Mirabella, a father of two, kicked off the discussion by emphasizing the importance of the issue.

The evening began with a short film, "This Place," produced by FACE, a national non-profit organization that focuses on alcohol issues. The film highlighted the efforts of local citizens who effectively stood up and went to bat against underage drinking. Some sought to limit where alcohol was sold, while others worked to take alcohol sponsorship out of community festivals.

Following the film, Berger said she doubted that many people consider childhood drinking to be as big an issue as it really is.

She said it's one of those things where people need to have the statistics shoved right under their noses before it really hits home.

And, if the three teens on the panel were any indication, children today are starting to have their first drinks at the age of 7 or 8, and then move quickly to abuse other substances.

None of the teenagers on the panel had reached the age of 20, but each of them had visited multiple rehabilitation programs.

Though they came from different parts of the state, each young man had a similar story. They had each been given their first drink by someone close to them — a family member or a friend, and then their hobby became and addiction.

Jesse, 20, said he had his first drink at 7 or 8, and a couple of years later was getting drunk regularly with his uncle.

At 10, he was using marijuana that he pilfered from his parents and older sister.

"I was my own worst enemy," he said.

According to materials provided by the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence, a 2003 study conducted by the New Jersey Department of Health and Senior Services found that 46.4 percent of New Jersey's seventh- and eighth-graders have used alcohol. Additionally, the study found that the average age students reported first engaging in the regular use of alcohol was 12.5 years old.

"It's very, very scary, those numbers," Literer said.

Across the board, the experts agreed that early drinking helped lay the groundwork for greater problems as the children mature.

In fact, 40 percent of the youth who begin drinking before age 13 will develop alcohol abuse or dependency at some point in their lives the NCADD-NJ materials said.

Despite the trend toward younger drinkers, who typically get their first drinks at home, Lenox said that only one in eight cases of underage alcohol abuse she sees are reported by parents. Most often, she said, clients are referred to her by law enforcement agencies, or schools.

She also said that it might not be crazy idea to target parents and require them to attend workshops or seminars about childhood drinking and how to discipline their kids appropriately.

"My mother didn't want to confront me," Shannen, 17, said. "(That) led her to enable me to do it," he said of his drinking problem.

Patrick, also 17, said he recalled

Jets bypass Berkeley Heights

By Lauren DeFilippo
Staff Writer

Don't expect green police cars in Berkeley Heights any time soon.

The burning desire to have the New York Jets football franchise call Berkeley Heights home has been extinguished.

Berkeley Heights was announced as one of five sites up for consideration by the team in February. The other four sites included Florham Park, Jersey City, Wood-Ridge, and a Millburn parcel owned by the city of East Orange.

Last week, the team finalized its decision to move its corporate headquarters and practice facility to a 20-acre former Exxon site in Florham Park.

The Jets made their formal announcement March 31, but County Manager George Devanney broke the news publicly at the March 30 meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders in Elizabeth.

"Berkeley Heights has lost out to Florham Park," Devanney began. He later noted that in his 13 years in economic development, he had never seen such a collaborative effort between public and private entities in a community.

"It certainly brought a large spotlight to Berkeley Heights and Union County, and all we have to offer," Freeholder Chairman Alexander Mirabella said.

Devanney, a resident of the township, said efforts could still bear some fruit even though the Jets will not be taking up residence.

Those parties who have expressed interest in the Connell Corporate Park, assessed at $243,973 in 2005, have not been sports-related, he said.

As part of the team's agreement to move to Florham Park, the team and the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority will dedicate an annual $50,000 fund to improve recreational fields in their new host community, a statement from the team read.

Devanney, a Dolphins fan, joked that now that the decision had been made, he could "go back to his roots."

"We're obviously very disappointed," said Berkeley Heights business administrator Angie Devanney, the county manager's wife. "We wish them all the luck in the world."

Jets President Jay Cross acknowledged the hard works of the communities up for consideration. "Each of these towns put so much effort, passion and energy into their bids. We would have been proud to call any of them our home," he said in a prepared statement.

Berkeley Heights mayor David Cohen, a fan of the team who promised to repaint the township's police cars if the team took up residence there, said he was honored just to participate in the process.

"I think we gave them a really tough decision," Mirabella said. "I don't think there's a stone we didn't turn over."

Mirabella, who is also a fan of the team, also commented on the bipartisan nature of the effort to bring the Jets to the county, highlighting the way in which the all-Democratic freeholder board worked collaboratively with the all-Republican municipality.

"I'm still a Jets fan," Mirabella said. "I'd prefer them here, but I'll take them the next block over."

Freeholder expects final budget in two weeks

By Lauren DeFilippo
Staff Writer

The budget process is not yet over in Union County.

Nearly three months after County Manager George Devanney introduced the county's $413 million budget, Finance Committee Chairman Angel Estrada said the process is approximately 50 percent complete.

The introduced budget represents a 5.9 percent increase over last year's adopted budget of $390 million.

Just one week prior to Devanney's announcement, the county announced that a hiring freeze as a "pre-cautionary fiscal measure."

When the budget was first introduced, the county said that it would be appealing to the state legislators to allow the county to offer an early retirement program for some relief.

The last time the county utilized an early retirement program was 2002.

The board unanimously approved a resolution at its March 23 meeting authorizing Devanney to submit Part One of the County Employee Retirement Incentive Program Application to the state Division of Local Government Services.

Freeholders Rick Proctor and Nancy Ward were absent from the meeting.

Other cost-saving strategies are being considered, like the use of a the vacation buy back program, which brought in $235,000, and the employee furlough program, which asks exclusionary employees to work two days without pay. In 2005, the county saved $100,000 utilizing the furlough program.

Additionally, the county was looking at ways to cut $6 million in program costs, and generate some cash with advertising and sponsorships on county properties and vehicles.

The sale of some county properties is also being considered.

The finance committee will meet for a closed session meeting this week to discuss capital expenditures, Estrada said.

The committee wrapped up its public budget hearings Feb. 23.

Department heads are now being asked to review their budgets and make some decisions, he said.

Estrada said March 23 that he expects to have the budget on the agenda in two weeks time.

The freeholder also said it was his intent to reduce the county's overall expenses. However, he also noted that some savings will be realized sooner than others.

Celebrate Earth Day at Trailside center in Mountainside

In honor of Earth Day, the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders is offering special programming with the theme "Take a Walk on the Wild Side" during Earth Awareness Week, April 12-20, at Trailside Nature and Science Center in Mountainside.

"Trailside is a great place to explore the wildlife that lives in the Watchung Reservation," said Freeholder Vice Chair Bette Jane Kowalski, liaison to the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board. "During Earth Awareness Week, both adults and children can learn about birds, butterflies, lizards and other animals. We offer hikes, crafts, games and loads of fun activities."

Families with children ages 5 and up can learn how to transform a lawn into a backyard wildlife habitat in "Hike Backyard vs. Nature's Yard" on April 13 from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Find out what shrubs and trees attract birds and which flowers butterflies prefer. Families will have the opportunity to work together to build a bird box that will invite feathered friends to nest in their backyard. Registration is required and the fee is $4 per person for Union County residents and $5 per person for out-of-county participants. An additional fee of $5 will be charged for each bird box constructed.

"Pond Search," for families with children ages 5 and older, offers a chance to investigate the aquatic life at Seeley's Pond on April 14, from 2 to 3:30 p.m. or April 17 from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Participants will use dip nets to catch and identify fish, dragonfly larvae, crayfish and tadpoles. Registration is required, and the fee is $5 per person for Union County residents and $6 per person for non-county participants.

• Back by popular demand is "EcoArt for Kids" for families with children ages 4 and up on April 14. Families may drop in between 10 a.m. and noon to use their artistic abilities and create crafts from recycled objects. Colorful magazine pictures will become beautiful Earth Day cards. Egg cartons will be transformed into yellow school buses. Cereal boxes and shipping material will become challenging mazes. Registration is not required for this program. The fee is $4 per child for Union County residents and $5 per child for out-of-county participants.

• Trailside will also offer drop-off programs for students in first through fifth grades that focus on two very special groups of animals inhabiting the reservation. Pre-registration is required for both programs and the fee is $8 per person for residents of Union County and $10 per person for non-county participants.

• "Incredible Insects," offered on Wednesday from 1:30 to 3 p.m. will allow students to discover the variety of insects found in the forests and fields surrounding the nature center. Participants will use sweep nets to collect and identify praying mantis, butterflies, beetles and ladybugs. Children will examine these small wonders with a magnifying glass before returning them to their home.

• "Salamander Search," offered April 17 from 2 to 3:30 p.m. will allow students to explore the hidden corners of the reservation in search of elusive amphibians. Turn over rocks and logs to look for northern redbacks, slimy and northern red salamanders. Discover how to handle these delicate creatures and learn how they are indicators of the environment's health.

• Culminating the Earth Awareness Week activities is an evening lecture titled "Endangered Species of New Jersey" for adults 18 and older on April 20, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Blaine Rothaus, a professional naturalist, biologist and photographer, will offer a slide presentation featuring his own exquisite photos. Learn about a species of turtle that stopped a housing development and a salamander species seen only one month of the year. This presentation will open your eyes to the beauty of these rarely seen animals, the risks they face living in our densely populated state and New Jersey's efforts to protect these special creatures. Registration is required, and the fee is $8 per person for Union County residents and $10 per person for out-of-county participants.

For a complete listing of Earth Awareness Week workshops or for information on upcoming spring programs and special events, call 908-789-3670 or visit www.ucnj.org/trailside.

Other upcoming events at Trailside include:

- On Sunday, children of all ages when accompanied by an adult can learn about vernal pools.

These special wetlands fill with water in the spring and dry out the rest of the year. They are home to several species of amphibians that are indicators of the environment's health. Join a Trailside Naturalist to visit one of these unique habitats to look for spotted salamanders, wood frogs and their eggs. Pre-registration is not required. The fee for this program is a donation of $1 per person. Call 908-789-3670 for more information.

• Children in the first through fifth grades can investigate forest and field in search of the reservation's smallest wildlife on Wednesday from 1:30 to 3 p.m. as part of Earth Awareness Week at Trailside. Participants will use sweep nets to collect and identify praying mantis, butterflies, beetles and ladybugs. Examine these small wonders with a magnifying glass before returning them to their home. Registration is required. The fee is $8 per person for residents of Union County and $10 per person for non-county residents. Call 908-789-3670 for more information.

• Children 5 and older, accompanied by an adult, are invited to learn what makes mammals different from all other animals on April 15 from 1:30 to 3 p.m., as part of Trailside Nature and Science Center's annual Earth Awareness Week. Touch furs, see skulls and learn tracks of deer, fox and bear. Meet a live mammal, and go outside to look for mammal neighbors. Among the way, see if you can jump as high as a kangaroo or run as fast as a cheetah.

Pre-registration is required, and the fee is $4 a person for Union County residents and $5 a person for non-county residents.

• Children 5 and older, accompanied by an adult, are invited to use dip nets to sample the aquatic life at Lake Surprise on April 14 from 2 to 3:30 p.m. as part of Trailside Nature and Science Center's annual Earth Awareness Week. Identify fish, dragonfly larvae, crayfish and tadpoles. Discover what they eat, and who eats them. Carefully return them to their homes.

Pre-registration is required, and the fee is $5 a person for residents of Union County and $6 a person for non-county residents.

• Children 5 and older, accompanied by an adult, are invited to take a stroll along the headwaters of Lake Surprise to search for early spring signs on April 15 from 10 to 11:30 a.m., as part of Trailside Nature and Science Center's annual Earth Awareness Week. Help beautify the lakeside by collecting litter along the way, and give wildlife a helping hand by hanging bluebird boxes at the lower paddock of the Watchung Reservation.

No pre-registration is required, and there is no fee. Meet at Lake Surprise parking lot.

Trailside is located at 452 New Providence Road in Mountainside and is a service of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders. Call 908-789-3670 for more information.

Courting 'big guys' can fail

The process by Berkeley Heights officials included a presentation of the economic and social benefits of life in western Union County. It was a full court effort including supportive roles by officials in Summit and New Providence. At one point a rally was held in Berkeley Heights, and the township even promised to paint the police cars Jet green.

As a non-Union County official said, "It became a land and space deal." The winning Florham Park site is 30 miles from the Jets stadium. That site includes a 100,000-square-foot office building for 100 employees and space for three outdoor football fields and an indoor field. A real estate-type predicted that Berkeley Heights will have no trouble in marketing their site. Sometimes you can do just fine even without the big guys.

May walk in Cranford to benefit animals

People for Animals, a nonprofit animal welfare organization, is sponsoring its annual Dog Walk on May 7, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. at Nomahegan Park in Cranford.

Everyone is invited to attend, with or without a dog. There will be refreshments, contests and doggie bags filled with goodies for the participants.

To allow participants to have sufficient time to secure pledges from their sponsors, People for Animals is asking anyone interested in participating to call 908-964-6887 extension 311 to order a Sponsor Sign-Up Sheet.

Leave your name and an evening telephone number so that a volunteer can call you back. Every participant who turns in $75 or more in sponsor donations on the day of the event will receive a free People for Animals t-shirt.

Donated pledges are 100 percent tax deductible. All proceeds will be used exclusively to support the People for Animals Pet Rescue & Adoption Program that provides medical care, food and shelter for homeless pets.

Freeholders offer trees to local municipalities

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders is making available an additional $100,000 in matching Open Space Trust Funds for municipalities to plant trees, as part of its "Greening Union County" initiative. The grant program is designed to match every municipality tree-for-tree for the trees they purchase through this program.

"Trees improve the environment by lowering air pollution, creating cleaner air, lowering energy costs, and improving the overall quality of life," said Freeholder Deborah P. Scanlon, who chairs the Open Space, Recreation and Historic Preservation Trust Fund. "It is important for us to be proactive with towns and cities to maintain our tree-lined streets and municipal parks."

The "Greening Union County" program includes installation of trees by forestry professionals with a one-year maintenance guarantee. Since its inception in 2004, as an initiative of then-chairman Freeholder Angel G. Estrada, more than 2,350 trees have been added to the landscape of Union County.

Applications will be mailed to every municipality in Union County and made available on March 20 by the County. The deadline to file applications with the County is June 30. Applications can also be requested by calling 908-558-2277 or by visiting the Office of Open Space, Recreation and Historic Preservation on the sixth floor of the Union County Administration Building in Elizabeth.

The Open Space, Recreation and Historic Preservation Trust Fund, approved by Union County voters in 2000, assesses a levy of 1.5 cents per $100 of total equalized real property valuation for a period of 20 years. It provides funds to protect open space, improve parks and recreational facilities and preserve Union County's historic treasures.

County hosts annual birdhouse-building contest April 23

Trailside Nature and Science Center is sponsoring a "Build a Better Birdhouse Contest" as part of its 16th annual Wildlife Sunday event on April 23 from noon to 5 p.m. Participants, ages 6 through adult, are invited to design and construct an original birdhouse and enter to win prizes including bird feeders, field guides and t-shirts.

The deadline for "Better Birdhouse" entries is noon on April 21.

Thirty-five local species of birds are known to use tree cavities as nesting sites. Since natural nesting cavities are scarce, providing birds such as chickadees, tufted titmice, bluebirds and woodpeckers with nest boxes can increase their reproductive success.

All birdhouses will be displayed at the Trailside Museum. Prizes for the best birdhouses will be given in each of three age groups: 6-10, 11-15 and 16-adult. An awards ceremony will be held at Wildlife on April 23.

For information about entering the "Build a Better Birdhouse Contest" or for upcoming special events and spring workshops, call Trailside at 908-789-3670. Trailside Nature and Science Center is located at 452 New Providence Road in Mountainside and is a service of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Company donates furniture to school

They say that someone's discards can be another's great find. That's exactly the case when a local business, ACE Promotional Products, decided to purchase new office furniture this past week.

Instead of discarding five rooms of professional business furniture, the company, owned and operated by former Roselle Park Councilman Bob Milici, offered it all to the Roselle Park Middle School, where his son Kyle is a student. With several new classrooms added recently and a tight budget, the school gladly accepted.

Milici, a 1976 graduate of the Roselle Park School District who served as the town's 1st Ward Councilman for nine years from 1994 to 2003, said he was happy to help the school system by making the donation.

"We had some great business furniture and cabinets, and I knew with the recent construction, the school would have to be in the market for something similar, so why not help them save money," he said.

The former councilman also referred to the current proposed budget as part of the reason for the donation.

"Flat state aid, increased costs for basics like insurance and utilities, coupled with increased state mandated requirements have really put a crimp on the school's budget. Anything I or any other business or resident can do can only help," said Milici, who resides in Cranford. "It's not really much in the whole scheme of things, but I guess every little bit helps."

In all, the furniture, which was picked up last week by employees of the Board of Education from Milici's Chestnut Street office, was valued at almost $4,000. Included in the donation were three walnut executive desks, a walnut two-drawer file cabinet, one metal two drawer file cabinet, a metal four drawer lateral file cabinet, three walnut tables, a walnut five-shelf executive book case unit, one large metal four shelf office supply cabinet, four office chairs and three metal four-drawer file cabinets.

drinking vodka in an iced tea container while still in middle school.

"You have to expect the worst, always," he said to the adults in the room.

Tom Dwyer, whose daughter had gone through the recovery process and been sober for approximately five years offered up his experience.

"We didn't have the coping skills as parents. Because we didn't have the right tools, my daughter progressed further and further into trouble," he said.

Ultimately, he turned to the local police department about what to do next.

"You have to admit, 'I might not be a good parent' in this situation," he said.

Froehlich pointed to a lack of alternatives, like recreational athletic programs, and the breakdown of the family unit.

Berger echoed the sheriff's statements, noting the importance of positive role models and community activism.

County prepares for Bio Blitz

Scientists and skilled specialists, assisted by community volunteers, will fan out across the Ash Brook Reservation and throughout portions of the adjacent Ash Brook Golf Course in Scotch Plains over a 24-hour period, June 23-24, to conduct the area's second-ever Bio-Blitz.

A bio-blitz is an intensive effort to identify as many living plants and animals found in a given area — in this case the more than 460 acre Union County park — as possible in a limited time period. The idea is to obtain an ecological "snapshot" of the area. Following on the heels of the very successful first-ever-in-New Jersey urban Bio-Blitz 2005 held in Lenape Park, this year's blitz should yield even more exciting results since the Ash Brook Reservation area boasts some unique, semi-pristine habitat, including pinelands-like, upland vegetation as well as hardwood swamps, three major streams and several ponds.

Some of the species scientists expect to find include: ground pines, sphagnum, star and club mosses, lichens, bayberry, wintergreen, hawks, great blue herons, fox, deer, owls, song birds and many others.

The Lenape Park Blitz resulted in 660 species sampled or sited and identified with the help of more than 100 scientists, field experts and volunteers. Teams of specialists included: fungi, plants, insects, fish, reptiles and amphibians, birds and mammals.

A brochure describing the event held last year and the results can be obtained by calling 908-527-4032. In addition, thanks to the efforts of Dr. Sylvio Codella and Kean University, a Web site listing the results in more detail has been developed. The link is www.kean.edu/~scodella/BioBlitz05/BlitzHome.html

This year's event is once again being sponsored by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, the Union County Department of Parks, Recreation and Facilities, and the Rahway River Association in partnership with many other area and regional environmental organizations.

The New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, Trailside Nature and Science Center, Kean and Rutgers universities, the Brooklyn Botanical Garden, the United States Department of Agriculture, New Jersey Audubon, Friends of Lenape Park, and National Biodiversity Parks Inc. are just a few of the organizations that will participate in Bio-Blitz 2006.

"The goal of this effort is to raise awareness of the diversity of wildlife in our urban and suburban parkland. Ash Brook Reservation offers amazing resources and serves as both an outdoor classroom and science lab," said Freeholder Vice Chair Bette Jane Kowalski, liaison to the Union County Parks and Recreation Advisory Board. "If you like plants and animals, please sign up to help! Specialists in areas ranging from birds and insects to mushrooms have already been recruited, but more volunteer workers are needed to identify the hundreds of species to be found in the park in the springtime."

The "blitz" will start in the park at 6 p.m. on June 23 with some workers on hand throughout the night. Other volunteers will work in shifts throughout June 24, until 6 p.m. No experience is necessary but the Bio-Blitz is also actively seeking skilled specialists for all disciplines. Pre-Blitz site visits are a must for team leaders and other specialists.

A Bio-Blitz Central tent will be located near the Union County Vocational Technical School and the Union County Police Academy and parking lots off Raritan Road. The tent will house hands-on exhibits featuring examples of live animals and plants sampled from within the park and results will be posted as well. In addition, many opportunities for public involvement will be offered through workshops and walks, including: bird walks, evening owl prowls, frog slogs, fish sampling, and plant walks. People of all ages are invited and strongly encouraged to take part in this very unique effort.

Scientists and lay people interested in volunteering for the event must call Liz Crawford at the Union County Department of Parks, Recreation and Facilities, 908-527-4032 to register.

For more information about Bio-Blitz 2006, contact Dennis Miranda, executive director of the Rahway River Association at 732-340-0882.

Miller-Cory museum to 'toy with time' Sunday

The life of a child in early America was filled with long hours of hard work, particularly in a country household. However, once chores were finished and lessons were learned, there was time for play and fun. Join Chelsea Mills at the Miller-Cory House Museum, 614 Mountain Ave. in Westfield, on Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. as she presents "Toying with Time — 18th and early 19th century Toys."

Mills will display and describe a variety of toys from colonial days. Visitors can have fun themselves trying out all the toys, including dominoes, pick up sticks and many others. This program is ideal for children.

Volunteers dressed in authentic period dress will also be available to guide visitors through the pre-revolutionary farmhouse. In the museum's Frazee Building, members of the Cooking Committee will demonstrate open hearth cooking techniques and offer tasty treats for visitors to enjoy. Also visit the museum's gift shop, which carries a wide variety of colonial toys, crafts, cookbooks and educational materials.

Admission is $2 for adults, and 50 cents for students. Children under 6 are free. Upcoming programs include the museum's "Sheep to Shawl Festival" on April 23, "Straw Hat Demonstration" on April 30, and "Message in a Bottle" on May 7.

For more information, call the museum office weekday mornings at 908-232-1776.

This workshop will teach you how to overcome these issues.

A program will be held at Union County College on Monday from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

For more information call 732-940-9658.

Foster return to East Coast to star in 'Iowa'

By Bea Smith
Staff Writer

It takes a lot of hard, work and hours of concern and worry to balance a career and homelife, but Diane Foster, a former Unionite, a film actress and co-producer in California, has found the solution. "You take your family with you, on tour," east or west.

The fair-haired young woman, who had made such a big hit theatrically during her Union High School years, has co-produced with her husband, Matt Farnsworth, an important motion picture called "Iowa." She also co-stars with Farnsworth, who wrote and directed the script.

Since its opening last year at Robert DeNiro's TriBeCa Film Festival in New York City, Foster and Farnsworth traveled with one child, Golden, now 2 years old, and Ivy, now 4½ months old, also goes where the couple goes.

"We continue to be the Hollywood power couple with kids," she admitted during a recent conversation.

The film, "Iowa," has special meaning for the couple. It opened Friday at the Village East Theater in New York and will run through this week. And it will have a full release on April 14 in Los Angeles.

The reason for its importance is because it provides a true picture of the decadence of the midwest due to the out-of-control use of methamphetamine in rural small towns.

"The whole idea for the movie was instigated when my husband, whose family comes from Centerville, Iowa, returned there in 2001 when his grandfather passed away. He had noticed a decline from the way he remembered it as a child. Somebody told him that there was a meth problem. He was so concerned that he started writing a script."

Farnsworth mentioned that "the poverty was noticeably more prevalent than before and a lot of the kids in town were on drugs. Everyone was talking about meth. Either they, themselves, were struggling with it, or had a friend or family member with a problem." He explained that "it is known as 'a poor man's drug' and is considered to be 10 times as strong as cocaine. There's a need for the midwest to be recognized as a place that needs help."

On his return, he started writing a script, and he and his wife were determined to make a film about the drug's effect on the region.

They both founded a company, Full Fathom 5 LLC, and spent so much time in Iowa locations that they also ended up cutting a documentary about the true life stories of meth addicts

Former Union resident Diane Foster has returned to the East Coast from California for the opening of her film, 'Iowa,' which opened Friday at the Village East Theater in New York City. At right, in a scene from the movie, Foster aims a revolver, fear in her eyes, at an attacker.

called "Poor Man's Dope."

"It took a year to write the movie script," Foster said, "and four months to cast it. It was filmed in Centerville. The people there were so nice and everyone in town helped us. Many of them wanted to get the message out to the public. They were kind to us and happy to help."

The movie had a cast and crew of 40 people and, in addition to Foster and Farnsworth, stars veteran actors John Savage and Rosanna Arquette.

"We premiered the film last year at the TriBeCa Festival," Foster recalled, "and we had three sold out screenings. It was fantastic! Everyone thinks the message is clear and can't wait to see it. After the press screenings in New York, the newspapers and magazines gave it great reviews. You know," she mused, "to be part of Robert DeNiro's festival was good enough for us. After that, we decided to release it nationally."

The movie also had been released in September in Centerville, and "people drove in from all over the country to see it," she said. "They came from Des Moines and Chicago, from everywhere. And we got major support from the people in town and such rave reviews." Foster explained earnestly, "There is such a problem in the rural towns, and any kind of publicity to get the word out is urgent. They need educational treatment." She sighed. "We don't want to make Iowa look bad. In fact, we love it. And everyone out there looks at us as movie people."

Right now, she said, "Matt is working on a western script. We may do that next."

The talented 25-year-old Foster, whose family resides in Union, said, "We were six children in our family, and my whole family are all supportive and happy for me. Doing what I'm doing is not new to them. I've been in show business a good part of my life."

She danced and sang at the age of 2 and began acting in elementary school. When she got to Union High School, she performed in the school's productions and in regional theater in "Follies" in addition to the Paper Mill Playhouse's "Children of Eden." Foster studied at the theater's Conservatory for three years. She was honored by the theater with a Rising Star Award for Best Actress for "Once Upon a Mattress."

She then starred in an off-Broadway workshop production as young Liza in "The Liza Minnelli Tribute" and she also performed in "The Pussy-Cat Dolls" variety show at the Roxy in Hollywood. More recently, she traveled around the country with her husband to speak about the meth epidemic and their films.

"I don't get to see my friends from high school very much," Foster admitted. "You know, I do live 3,000 miles away. But I do support the Union High School alumni and I'm very proud to be a part of the school."

She said that she is very lucky to have her family, her husband and her children. "We make it work. The children come with us everywhere, if we can help it, theaters, movie sets."

"They're the reason we have such a great life. Everything is sweet, but they make life sweeter."

'Chicago' razzle-dazzles but leaves you squirming

By Helen Argers
and Astera Argyris
Correspondents

"Chicago," the acclaimed hit, still running in New York, appeared at the Prudential Hall, New Jersey Performing Arts Center, and had all the great dancing, singing and production values of a top Broadway show. It lacked only a certain something to elevate it from very good to great.

It was very hard to grasp that indefinable something that makes you say, "Wow!" instead of "Wasn't that good!"

Starting with the very good: energy — the stage was bursting with it.

The dancing, originated by Bob Fosse and recreated in his style by Ann Reinking for the New York production and recreated for this show by Gary Chryst, was up to Fosse's high level. His usual posing and pregnant pausing, between sliding and slithering dance steps that then explode into wild dancing, was Fosse-style warmed over.

Salute as well to the two main female stars: Terra C. MacLeod as Velma Kelly and Michelle DeJean as Roxie Hart. Both were excellent in style, dance and strong vocal rendition. MacLeod is a lookalike for Ann Reinking and has the similar long legs that she points and spreads and splits with aplomb.

DeJean has the strongest voice — her range was wide and her performance emphasized the sarcastic points of each routine. That was especially true in the number: "We Both Reached for the Gun," which was a mock press conference done with the brilliant original twist of her lawyer, Billy Flynn, using Roxie as his dummy, so he, via ventriloquism, gave all the expected politically correct answers. DeJean milked the collapsed dummy for its every laugh and Greg Evigan carried on his mouthing with slick assurance. Evigan had the correct attitude throughout and certainly looked the part; yet his voice was not resounding, but he gave it all the slimy corruption under his glib ways and plastic smile that made the character believable.

Extra hurrahs for Carol Woods' Matron "Mama" Morton. Her voice really rocked through the hall. And Kevin Carolan's interpretation of "Mister Cellophane" had the proper invisibility until he gave it some dazzle. R. Bean playing Mary Sunshine swallowed many of the words and the falsetto voice gave away the surprise uncovering later in the show.

The inventive production numbers and special effects were excellent. Standouts were the ladders that swung on stage and off, with Velma and Roxie often perched perilously on high rungs. The overall concept of having the band on stage throughout cleverly demonstrated this is all show and nothing real. When the glitter came down floating all over the stage, it was almost redundant.

"Chicago" has a sarcastic view of the press, the judicial system, "true love" and the hypocritical hiding behind so-called "American apple pie" values while looking for the fast buck. Many needed to be poked at when it was first produced in 1975, based on a play about the 1920s by Maurine Watkins, and even more so today. Especially timely is the apt jibes at our current reliance on "celebrity." For, currently, celebrities are not just performers but people in the news.

Being a celebrity seems to have evolved into America's pursuit of happiness. We have shows on television devoted to celebrity followings. This celebrity adoration has made it a required status for every novelist, businessman and, sadly, the key to winning political offices.

More and more candidates rely on Billy Flynn-like gurus to create images for them that they then, dummy-like, perform to the hilt while the on-your-knees press falls for each false front.

The plot of "Chicago" was that during the '20s, when killing was rampant in that town, women went along with the mode and often shot or poisoned their lovers for cheating — Well done in the number: "Cell Block Tango." Velma Kelly is the jaded one who wants to trade her notoriety into big bucks on the vaudeville stage. And DeJean captures Roxie's drive to achieve that same end. The entire production is sassy, somewhat classy but often crassy. Influenced by his burlesque viewing, Bob Fosse wanted it on that level.

The costumes reek of burlesque — all in black, lace, short, sheer black stockings and high heels. The meaning of burlesque is actually "to make fun of" and was the start of many legendary comedians. Stripping was also its prime component, and that feeling Fosse also gave to the show.

The costumes in 'Chicago' reek of burlesque — all in black, lace, short, sheer black stockings and high heels. The meaning of burlesque is actually "to make fun of" and was the start of many legendary comedians. Stripping was also its prime component, and that feeling Fosse also gave to the show.

The music, every number a smash, was created by John Kander and Fred Ebb, also are known for their successful "Cabaret," was faithfully sung in this production. A favorite was "Nowadays," sung by Velma and Matron, where they bemoan our lack of class today, while epitomizing the opposite. Of course, the start and finish of the show was "All That Jazz." All in all, "Chicago" is certainly jazzy, celebrated and rates high marks — almost.

So, what did it lack? A heroine played with a touch of sweetness to lighten all that vulgarity — as in the movie version. Some of the edgier lines were thrown away: such as Billy Flynn's super boast that if Jesus Christ had had five thousand dollars to pay someone like him, his story would have ended differently. Also needed, a shading of nuance in the earthy jokes, lifting them above slapstick to sophistication. But why quibble, it was B+.

Finally, while "Chicago" razzled and dazzled, it also made us sadly wince at the realization the same kind of con game goes on today. So they get extra points for that.

HOROSCOPES

April 10 to 16

ARIES, March 21 to April 19: This would be a great time to consider making changes in your personal appearance, style or public persona. You have a green light to move forward with a new haircut or spring wardrobe.

TAURUS, April 20 to May 20: Inner harmony and emotional balance is what you should strive for this week. Listen to your heart and it will guide you in the direction for happiness.

GEMINI, May 21 to June 21: Friends or associates are very impressed with your willingness to go the extra mile to get the job done. Do not hesitate to roll up your sleeves and get to work.

CANCER, June 22 to July 22: In a job search, keep an open mind about a potential company or cooperation. With research or observation, you will soon discover if and where you might fit in.

LEO, July 23 to Aug. 22: Your words or opinions are very powerful and can carry a heavy impact. Do your best to be kind and considerate when offering constructive criticism to children or younger siblings.

VIRGO, Aug. 23 to Sept. 22: Carefully review financial forms related to taxes, investments or insurance. An oversight or mistake in the calculations could become quite costly in the long run.

LIBRA, Sept. 23 to Oct. 23: Avoid attempts to manipulate or to control a partner or loved one. You can make a lot of headway and get your point across with a compassionate and convincing presentation.

SCORPIO, Oct. 24 to Nov. 21: Avoid office politics or getting involved in a project that could tarnish your reputation. Keep your nose clean and focus on assigned tasks and duties.

SAGITTARIUS, Nov. 22 to Dec. 21: Plan to be more outgoing and sociable this week. Seek new and exciting forms of entertainment and give yourself permission to have fun.

CAPRICORN, Dec. 22 to Jan. 19: You will be asked to come to terms with a very emotional issue. For the sake of personal survival, dig deep and do your best to be strong and to remain calm.

AQUARIUS, Jan. 20 to Feb. 18: Prepare yourself for news or an announcement that is likely to upset your mental balance. Rise above the fray and work toward acceptance and forgiveness.

PISCES, Feb. 19 to March 20: Be sure to make a timely inquiry about money you are owed. Matters of such importance could easily slip through the cracks and be lost to you forever.

If your birthday is this week, extraordinary and astonishing insights will be at your disposal during the coming year. Use meditation or other mind-expanding exercises to enhance your perception and to tap into this subconscious flow of information. A mysterious situation or development grabs your attention. Take time to cleverly unravel the facts and successfully get to the bottom of it.

Also born this week: Joseph Pulitzer, Andy Garcia, Samuel Beckett, Loretta Lynn and Leonardo da Vinci.

Carla Francischetti, Anne Ayres, Tom Dean, and Lilli Marques of Animal Babble introduce children to different cultures in an enjoyable, interactive, language-enriching hour of theater that teaches children respect and appreciation for other languages and cultures. They will perform on Union County College's Cranford Campus on April 15 at 11 a.m.

Animal Babble brings fun and education to children via theater

Acclaimed theater company is celebrating its 12th season

Animal Babble, an original children's theater presentation by Rob Sullivan, will be performed on Union County College's Cranford Campus on April 15 at 11 a.m.

This bilingual Spanish-English program is presented by The Theater Project, Union County College's Professional Theater Company. The program has been made possible by a Union County HEART Grant — History-Education-Arts Reaching Thousands.

The Animal Babble Zoo is a magical place where animals from different cultures come to play! Whether they're cracking jokes, singing a song or telling a story, these animals couldn't be friendlier. Monkey speaks Spanish, Tiger speaks Portuguese and Peacock speaks English.

Together with their zookeeper, Cecil, this diverse group provides an enjoyable, interactive, language-enriching hour of theater that teaches children respect and appreciation for other languages and cultures.

Directed and written by Rob Sullivan, the cast includes: Anne Ayres, Carla Francischetti, Vikram Hirani and Lilli Marques.

Tickets are $5, but parents are admitted free when chaperoned by a child! The program is recommended for children ages 4-9.

The Theater Project is Union County College's Professional Theater Company, bringing artists from all over the state and New York City together in its productions.

Well-known for its intimate "Studio on Stage," where the audience sits within arm's reach of the performers, the company is celebrating its 12th season of producing new works and contemporary classics.

The Theater Project has been recognized by grants from the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation, the New Jersey State Arts Council, and The Union County College Foundation.

'Among the Trees' explores artistic appeal of the tree

The Visual Arts Center of New Jersey will present "Among the Trees," a group exhibition, guest curated by Kimberly Marreo.

Opening on Friday and continuing through June 4, "Among the Trees" will be featured in the newly renovated Main Gallery. A public opening will be Friday from 6 to 9 p.m. A panel discussion is scheduled for April 30 at 2 p.m. in the Main Gallery. Gallery hours are Monday through Thursday, from 9:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Friday, from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"Among the Trees" delves into the observation that the tree has abiding artistic appeal as both metaphor and muse.

Like the tree, whose abundant branches lead to a single column, only to then branch out into a complex network of roots not seen to the naked eye, the exhibition centers on the duality between the diverse yet like possibilities that stem from a single subject. Like the forest, this exhibition reveals many multiples each of which can stand on their own, but which together provide a rich environment for the mind and spirit.

Contemporary themes, such as the tree serving as a global barometer, are explored through works in painting, large scale photography and video. Artists Michele Brody, Heiko Blankenstein, Ron Rocco, Sarah Berford and Armando Morales, alert the viewer to the growing environmental distress resulting from humankind's disrespect for nature.

Amy Wilson's intimate watercolors feature trees with personal inscriptions relevant to our global ecological conscience, and Kon Trubkovich's sublimely obsessive drawings are a quiet commentary on the impact of technology on the landscape, revealed through a series of replicated tree stills taken from endless footage shot from a moving vehicle.

Others make trees in a story. Ben Degen and Robert Greene create compositions that feature the human figure in dense forest settings, evoking the dreamlike narratives used by magic Realist painters.

Lori Nix and Catherine Chalmers manipulate set design and photography to portray nature's irreverence, both of bizarre — Nix — and whimsical — Chalmers — nature. Ernesto Caivano and Bryan Crockett create fictional worlds in mixed media drawings, sculpture and site specific installations that often feature the tree among a cast of characters and narrative props.

There is the timeless sense of awe for the sheer beauty of trees, in his celebrated series, "Central Park Trees," documentary photographer Bruce Davidson draws our full attention to the magnificence of the trees blanketed by an intense winter frost. Jeff Grant creates sprawling, multimedia installations of miniature forests alongside delicate ink drawings on vellum, which celebrate mankind's interface with natural beauty. More circumspect, Katie Holten and Dustin Yellin both underscore the tree's inherent charm mindful of the tree as rare specimen. While both often assemble their art in groups that mimic the display of various historical species, Yellin uniquely draws directly on to the surface of multiple layers of poured resin, while Holten works traditionally in saturated pools of controlled ink on large sheets of parchment paper.

Some are more interpretive, intellectual or analytical. The collaborative team, Doug and Mike Starn take a scientific route to arrive at a spiritual place.

They employ video and mixed media photography to investigate the absorption of light, revealing in the symbolism of a single tree the effects of time on all. Roberley Bell, Valerie Hegarty, Jason Middlebrook and Eric Swanson analyze the interplay between nature and artifice, with convincing replicas of plant elements and birds strangely transplanted form the expanse of their natural habitat to the confines of an interior exhibition space in her futuristic landscapes, photographer Susan Wides incorporates elements of light, distortion, multiple reference points and the quality of motion and serenity to challenge the notion of fantasy versus truth.

Sometimes, whimsy or irreverence comes into play. Lee Walton evokes the performance aspect of the 1980s Fluxus movement in his video piece titled "Trees." Walton invokes a series of comically scripted dramas involving the reaction of casual observers to the too-neglected trees in their neighborhood.

Yurken Teruya works with a variety of recycled materials that create a miniature natural landscape crammed within the interiors of shopping bags. And Elliott Erwitte captures a curious moment of dialogue between a small dog and a newly-planted tree.

More than once in this exhibit, trees are used to evoke trouble associations.

Photojournalist James Nachtwey approaches the tree as silent witness of war in his 1984 snapshot of Salvadoran children seeking shelter from pervasive violence in the shadow of a nearby tree.

"Among the Trees" realizes that visual artists do not have a monopoly on the tree as metaphor and muse. The exhibition will feature excerpts from a selection of poetry by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, David Everett, Lord Byron and, of course, Robert Frost. Religious and folklore imagery is integrated into the exhibit, as well.

"Among the Trees" invites its audience to identify with the enduring love affair between the creative spirit and the universal icon.

Guest curator Marrero is currently working as a museum educator at the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum in New York as well as a private art advisor on behalf of many art collections throughout the United States. As both a gallery director for several well-known art galleries in New York and as an independent curator, Marrero has coordinated numerous programs and exhibitions throughout the course of her career.

Adagio Bistro Italiano

By Tonianna Antuoli
Managing Editor

Northern Italy is known for its breathtaking lakes and mountains, it's warm, generous people and, of course, its extraordinary cuisine. But while a trip overseas may be out of the question, a visit to Adagio Bistro in Union will make you feel as though you've arrived in the Italian countryside.

Located in the heart of Union Center, Adagio offers authentic Northern Italian cuisine in a setting reminiscent of the airy, quaint bistros of Milan and Tuscany. Diners at Adagio are seated at one of several well-spaced tables dressed simply in white linen. Wine bottles and murals of the Italian countryside add to the simplistic, yet elegant decor.

But like any good restaurant, the focal point of the restaurant is the food, which is prepared and served at Adagio with the same enthusiasm and respect for fresh ingredients that one would find when visiting an Italian home.

During a recent lunchtime visit, my dining companion and I were greeted by Adagio owner William Chiabla, who promptly served our drinks, along with a basket of warm Italian and multi-grain bread and a bowl of extra virgin olive oil laced with fresh basil and spices. The aroma of the warm bread was comforting and the taste was exceptional when dipped in the oil. The bread was then accompanied by a complimentary plate of the lightest fried zucchini imaginable. The appetizer is complimentary during dinner hours. Drizzled lightly with a slightly tangy pink sauce, the paper-thin vegetable was crispy and golden — a perfect start to the meal.

Perusing the list of soups, salads and appetizers, I settled on the Adagio salad. Endive, arugula and baby greens were paired with fresh goat cheese and chunks of grannysmith apples. The salad was tossed in a light lemon vinaigrette that perfectly complemented the apples and creamy texture of the cheese. On one of the first spring-like days of the season, the Adagio salad was a welcome treat.

My companion raved about her selection of the cold antipasto. The assortment of Italian cheeses, hot and sweet pepper, olives, capricola and prosciutto was a classic way to begin an Italian meal. Other antipasti and insalate on the menu include classic caesar salads, portobello mushrooms with shaved parmesan and thyme oil, homemade tomato soup and an Italian pie made with sausage, artichokes and mozzarella.

For the main course, I selected the Penne Ortolano. The light combination of penne, grilled eggplant, basil and chunks of fresh mozzarella in a light tomato sauce was rustic, yet prepared and served in a way that can only be described as "gourmet." My companion said the same of her lightly-breaded chicken parmigiana. Adagio's chef, Luigi Predes, took the classic Italian comfort food to the next level.

Adagio's numerous menu offerings range from seafood selections such as seared shrimp with mashed white beans to chicken dishes, pasta, risotto and specialties such as asparagus ravioli. The reasonably-priced lunch menu also includes paninis — an Italian sandwich which has grown in popularity in the last few years. For less than $10, Adagio also offers a lunch special complete with soup, salad and dessert, coffee or tea.

While the generous dinner portions left us extremely satisfied, we managed to make room for dessert — and we were very glad we did. The creme brulee I sampled was light and creamy with a crisp, golden layer of sugar on top. My companion sampled the tartufo — mango, raspberry and passionfruit sorbet in a shell of white chocolate. "I do believe I've died and gone to heaven," my companion said after tasting the fruity dessert.

Rich, frothy cappuccino and complimentary biscotti completed our meal, and left us looking forward to our next visit.

Adagio Bistro does not serve alcohol, but diners are welcome to bring their own bottles. Adagio is open seven days a week for lunch and dinner. The restaurant is open Monday thru Thursday 10:30am-10:00 pm, Friday 10:30 am-11:00 pm, Saturday 1:00 pm-11:00 pm, Sunday 2:00 pm-9:00 pm. Adagio will also be open for lunch and dinner on Easter Sunday. To contact Adagio Bistro, located at 1020 Stuyvesant Ave. between Morris and Vauxhall avenues, call 908-624-1500.

Freeholders present exhibit by Hulsen

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders is presenting an exhibit by award-winning painter Joseph Hulsen of Union Township, titled "A Little Bit of Everything," in the gallery space at the offices of the Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, located at 633 Pearl St. in Elizabeth.

A collection of Hulsen's vivid paintings, drawings and collages graces the walls of the historic Pearl Street Gallery through Monday. Gallery hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., weekdays.

Hulsen was born in Newark, graduated from Hillside High School and served in the Army before earning a degree in civil engineering in 1962. He based his career in drafting, then engineering at PSE&G in Newark. Before retiring from PSE&G, Hulsen came back to art when a gift of colored pencils from his son was the catalyst for his return to sketching and painting. His work includes beautifully rendered watercolors, natural images, studies of buildings and abstracts.

Hulsen's paintings have earned First Place in the Union County Senior Arts Show — 1999, 2001, 2002, 2004, and 2005 — and the New Jersey State Senior Art Show — First Place 1999, Second Place 2001 and Honorable Mention 2005. He was awarded the 2004 Betty Rapold Memorial Award and other Westfield Art Association awards. He has shared his artistic gifts

'Stop and take a look at all the wonderful things about you — the colors, shapes and designs created in nature. I want to create' with the community by critiquing for the Union County Teen Arts Festival, and serving on the boards of directors for the Yard School of Art in Montclair, the Westfield Art Association, and the Somerset Art Association.

— Joseph Hulsen

Hulsen says of his artistic goals, "Stop and take a look at all the wonderful things about you — the colors, shapes and designs created in nature. I want to create my own images of them so others can appreciate their beauty."

Union County artists, whose works can be hung on a wall, interested in exhibiting in the gallery are welcome to apply. For more information about the Pearl Street Gallery or to learn about other programs, services and volunteer opportunities, contact the Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, 633 Pearl St., Elizabeth, NJ 07202, at 908-558-2550. Partridge to amaze audience in Rahway

Singer praised for her ability with jazz

The eighth Season Jazz Series at The Arts Guild of Rahway continues on Friday at 8 p.m. with singer Sarah Partridge. Tickets are now available at The Arts Guild of Rahway, 1670 Irving St. in downtown Rahway between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Advanced sale tickets are $14 or $16 at the door.

Call 732-381-7511 or e-mail your request at artsguild1670@earthlink.net.

Sarah Partridge brings warmth, passion and fine phrasing to Jazz standards and tunes from the Great American Songbook. Partridge attended Northwestern University and has had a successful career as a film and television actress in addition to being a highly regarded and much sought-after jazz singer. Partridge has performed at such venues as The Chestnut Room at Tavern on the Green, The Firebird Cafe, The Manor, Odette's and The Jazz Standard. She has been a favorite at The Town Hall on Broadway with the Mable Mercer Foundation's Cabaret Convention. Her recent compact disc "I'll Be Easy to Find" received excellent reviews and continues to get considerable airplay nationwide.

Sidney Zion of New York Daily News says, "If Johnny Ealker runs true to form, Sarah Partridge can get you to morning. This girl is a throwback to those diamond nights in Manhattan bistros when Lee Wiley, Sylvia Sams, Anita O'Day and June Christy ruled 'til dawn."

Dorothy Leeds of WEHM FM says, "If you've never heard Sarah Partridge, you will. She is one superlative singer. Not only is her song selection captivating, she has a real secure command of herself and the stage."

This event is sponsored by Conoco Phillips Bayway Refinery, Linden. Additional funding generous provided by RSI Bank, Irving Street, Rahway. This program is made possible in part by a grant from New Jersey State Council on the Arts, Department of State, a partner agency of the National Endowment for the Arts.

The Arts Guild of Rahway is a non-profit center for the arts presenting a yearly season of art exhibits primarily featuring New Jersey visual artists, a jazz series, a classical music concert series, and seasonal art classes and workshops for adults and children at all levels of experience.

The Arts Guild is located at 1670 Irving Street in downtown Rahway at the corner of Irving Street and Seminary Avenue.

Township of Union, New Jersey
Action Plan/Consolidated Plan
Fiscal Years 2006

SUMMARY OF THE ACTION PLAN

The Action Plan of the Consolidated Plan for the Township of Union has been prepared in response to a consolidated process developed by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for four of its formula grant programs: Community Development Block Grants (CDBG), HOME Investment Partnerships (HOME), Emergency Shelter Grants (ESG), and Housing Opportunities for Persons with AIDS (HOPWA). The new Consolidated Plan regulations replace all HUD planning and application requirements with a single submission that will satisfy the minimum statutory requirements for participation in the four programs.

The Township participates in the CDBG program and is a member of the Union County HOME Program Consortium. It is required to prepare and submit a action plan for HUD approval in order to receive Community Development Grant funds.

The action Plan is intended to serve the following functions: 1) A planning document for the Township, which builds upon a citizen participation process; 2) An application for federal funds under HUD's formula grant programs; 3) A strategy to be followed in carrying out HUD programs; and, 4) An action plan that provides a basis for assessing performance.

In the Consolidated Plan Union Township has: 1) described its housing needs and market conditions; 2) prepared a housing and homeless needs assessment; 3) set out a five year non-community development plan that establishes priorities for meeting those needs; 4) established a one-year action plan that outlines the intended use of resources; and, 5) identified resources anticipated to be available.

Federal regulations require that this summary be published in one or more local, general circulation newspapers. This summary describes the purpose and priorities of the plan, type and location of activities and the location of the complete document. Citizen have 30 days to review the document and submit comments. Citizen comments on the plan should be submitted to the Office of Community Development, Municipal Building, 1976 Morris Avenue, Union, New Jersey 07083. All citizens comments will be considered in preparing the final Consolidated Plan. A summary of these comments or views, and a summary of any comments or views not accepted and the reasons therefore, will be attached to the final Action Plan.

Copies of the draft Action Plan are available for inspection and review at the Community Development Block Grant Office in the Municipal Building and at the Township of Union Public Library.

SUMMARY OF PLAN DEVELOPMENT

As part of the Plan development process, public hearings were held on December 15, 2005; January 19, 2006; February 16, 2006 and March 16, 2006. The purpose of the public meetings was to obtain the views of citizens, public officials and agencies and other interested parties regarding the housing and community development needs of the jurisdiction. A final public hearing on the Action Plan has been scheduled at 8:00 pm on April 20, 2006 in the Municipal Building.

The development of the Action Plan involved consultation with those agencies in delivering housing and housing services within Township. Meetings and discussions were held between the staff of the Township Community Development Block Grant Program Office, the Township Division of Planning, the Township Office of Local Assistance, the Township Board of Health and the Union County Division of Housing and Community Development. The New Jersey Department of Community Affairs was consulted regarding its Section 8 Rental Assistance Program.

In addition there were meetings conducted with appropriate housing and social service agencies regarding the housing needs of children, elderly persons, persons with disabilities, homeless persons. These agencies included the Township Public Housing Agency and the three Senior Housing corporations (Erhardt, Schaefer and Nora Gardens).

ACTION PLAN

The Action Plan lists, by level of government and by private sources, all resources and programs expected to be available to the Township for use in carrying out its housing activities. Each entry includes a short description of the program or resources.

This section constitutes the 2006 Annual Plan of the Five-Year Consolidated Plan. It sets forth a description of activities for the

Now is the time to begin preparing your lawn for summer

If your thoughts are turning to the time and energy you'll spend in the back yard this season, you're not alone.

A new survey says that the majority of homeowners have concerns about the condition of their lawns and mowers as they think about getting into their yards this spring.

The survey, conducted on behalf of Lawn-Boy with 665 people responsible for taking care of their families' lawns, found that Americans count cleaning up sticks and leaves as their biggest source of yard-care dread.

Fear that their lawn may need major repair work ranks second, and concern that their mower might not run well — or at all — is the third biggest backyard worry.

According to the experts at Lawn-Boy, homeowners can rest easy. Spending just a little time preparing for spring will help ensure a stress-free mowing season.

"Turning your attention to your mower and lawn in early spring makes all the difference," says Joe Hager, a senior engineer at Lawn-Boy. "A little work now will really pay off throughout the spring and summer."

Hager offers these six tips for a stress-free mowing season:

- Get your equipment into shape. Getting your mower ready for spring doesn't need to be a stress-inducing affair. After sitting unused for several months, your mower will probably need a little attention, and spring is the perfect time to schedule a trip to the dealer for a tune-up.

- Or, tackle the task yourself, making sure to check and change the oil, air filter, and spark plug, and assess whether the blade needs sharpening or replacing.

- Use the right mower. If your mower didn't perform up to your expectations last year, it may be time to invest in some new equipment. Today, higher-end models combine professional-level effectiveness with lots of user-friendly features, including easier starting. When designing its new line of mowers, for example,

Lawn-Boy interviewed hundreds of homeowners and used their feedback to come up with innovative features like an easily adjustable handle height, a bag you can remove with just one hand, and a self-propel system that automatically senses and adjusts to your walking speed up to 5 miles per hour.

- 3. Clean up debris. When the lawn begins to wake up, schedule an afternoon of backyard spring cleaning to clear leaves and twigs left over from the fall. Picking up debris all at once at the beginning of the season will make it much easier to mow when the grass starts to grow.

Spending some time in the yard early in the year will also help you determine if there's any winter damage that needs to be repaired, and find early signs of disease or pest infestation.

- 4. Cut at the right height. Most of the year, keep your mowing height set high — around 3 to 3 1/2 inches for most types of grass — so you don't lop off too much of the critical food-producing parts of the grass blade. Keeping grass tall increases its tolerance to heat and stress, and also crowds out weeds. During the first mowing of the season, cut down to about 2 to 2 1/2 inches to remove dead, brown grass and fungus that may have taken hold over the winter, leaving only the healthy part of the plant behind.

- Feed your lawn. Water is one of the most vital elements for a healthy lawn. But try not to water at night, when moisture sits on the lawn and can breed disease, or during the middle of the day, when the direct heat evaporates the moisture. Instead, water early in the morning, when temperatures are lower and the grass can benefit from its morning drink throughout the day.

Fertilizer is an important element, too. But before you fertilize, invest in a soil test to determine exactly what kind of nutrients your soil needs. Once you've chosen a fertilizer with the right blend of nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium for your yard, make sure you stick to the suggested application instructions so you don't under- or overfeed your lawn.

- Aerate. Mature lawns can often become compacted, reducing the ability of critical nutrients to reach grass roots. Aerating — removing plugs of sod — helps loosen the soil, letting water, air and fertilizer make it down to the grass plant's roots. Manual tools work well for small yards or trouble spots. If you've got a large yard, consider renting a power aerator with a group of your neighbors.

The bottom line, Hager says, is to spend a little bit of time and energy at the beginning of the season to lay the groundwork for a healthy, happy lawn.

"Mother Nature will do most of the work," he says. "But there are plenty of things you can do to help her along."

By choosing the right equipment and making sure your lawn gets the proper amount of food, water, and attention, you'll be well on your way to cultivating a lush, vibrant, and stress-free, back yard.
