

HAIGH HEADS HEALTH BOARD

Succeeds Dr. Lawrence, Resigned—Scavenger Problem Considered at the Monthly Session

The Health Board reorganized Monday night by electing Dr. L. Haigh as president, succeeding Dr. Wm. H. Lawrence, resigned. All committees resigned to give the new president an opportunity to name new committees. All the members were present except Jas. Walker Magrath, who was recently appointed to succeed Parker W. Page, resigned.

An opinion was received from City Solicitor Williams that the Board had no right under the state law to exact a license fee from scavengers, nor could it regulate the service. The matter is to be taken up with the Solicitor again.

Mr. Williams also gave an opinion that the act regarding the exposure of foodstuffs provided a penalty, although it was held in a letter from Dr. R. H. Fitz Randolph of the State Pure Food and Drug Department that there is no penalty provided in the law.

Sanitary Inspector Scott called attention to the building at the junction of Springfield and Railroad avenues, was in an insanitary condition and very much dilapidated. The matter was referred to the building inspector to have it permanently closed or torn down.

On the motion of Dr. Keeney, the local physicians will be kept informed of all cases of communicable diseases reported. An adverse report was made on the proposition to increase salaries of the board employees.

Health Officer Duffield reported there had been three marriages, sixteen births and twelve deaths, and seven communicable diseases during February. The financial statement showed a balance of $62.

EAST SUMMIT MEN'S DINNER.

The fourth annual dinner for men in the East Summit Methodist Episcopal church to be held next Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock, promises to be the largest affair of its kind ever held in the church. The speakers will be: Hon. Chas. A. Rathbun, Senator from Morris County, whose subject will be "The Church and the State"; Rev. Dr. Jas. H. MacDonald, pastor of St. Luke's M. E. Church, Newark, whose subject will be "The Church and the Community." The pastors of all the Summit churches have been invited to be present. Rev. J. Adams Oakes will preside.

During the evening the plans for the new church building will be presented for inspection by the guests. There will not be a solicitation for money at this gathering, the plans being presented simply to let people know what is contemplated.

A large map of the eastern section of the city, prepared by R. M. Cadman, will be an exhibition. This map shows the entire community, houses and buildings of all kinds.

Reason—Absalon.

The marriage of Miss Nettie Absalon, who resigned recently at the Social Service Bureau of the Co-operative Charities of Summit, and Mr. Cyrus Benson, was solemnized early this afternoon. The ceremony was performed at 113 Summit avenue, where they will make their home, by Rev. Minot C. Morgan, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church. Only a few immediate friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Benson left on a southern trip expecting to be absent about two weeks.

Clark Milton Hoyt.

The funeral of Clark Milton Hoyt, eight and one-half years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Milton Hoyt, of Springfield and Division avenues, who died early last Saturday morning of spinal meningitis after an illness of less than a day, was held Monday afternoon, Rev. F. C. Doan, of All Souls' church, officiating. Burial was in the Rosevale Cemetery, Orange. A twin brother, Donald, survives besides his parents.

Mrs. Joseph F. Geddis.

The death of Mrs. Della Doyle Geddis, wife of Joseph F. Geddis, formerly of Summit, occurred suddenly on the 29th inst., on Tuesday. Her funeral was held from her late residence, 311 East 84th street, New York, this morning. The interment was in St. Teresa's Cemetery, this city.

James Hall.

The funeral of James Hall, 63 years old, who died Saturday in Morris Plains Asylum, was held Monday morning. Burial was in St. Teresa's cemetery. Mr. Hall had been in the infirmary of the asylum for a number of years. He was a native of Scotland.

Wax Reform.

The Men's Club of All Souls' Church held one of the most interesting open meetings of the season last Monday evening, March 13th. The speaker of the evening was Mr. Clifford H. Keeney of this city, who spoke on the question of "Wax Reform." Mr. Keeney is a follower of Henry George. We are sorry that lack of space in this issue prevents publishing the address in full.

ACT ON "SPEAK-EASY."

Mayor Detailed Policemen at Suspected Address.

Last Saturday noon Mayor Franklin took steps against a place reputed to be selling liquor without a license. Many complaints had been made that persons had been seen coming out of 42 Railroad avenue, intoxicated; that the place was disorderly night and day; but the Mayor had not obtained sufficient evidence on which to secure a conviction. Special emphasis had been laid on the selling of liquor on Sunday and therefore the Mayor decided to put an end to that feature at least. Two uniformed policemen on two-hour shifts were placed on guard at the Railroad avenue address on Saturday noon, with orders to get the names and descriptions of every person entering the building. As a result of this the place was closed up tight after a few hours.

The building is owned by Joseph Papio, but has been in the hands of a receiver for several months. When the receiver, Colonel B. P. Holmes, was asked by the Mayor to oust the tenant, it being alleged that the place was disorderly, the agent said he had no power to act; that the tenant, who came from New York several months ago, had paid his rent for March, and that the only way he could be turned out was by action of the courts.

The Mayor's action created considerable excitement in the community, as many thought the place had been given up as a bad job.

On Monday Col. Holmes found in the building adjoining the alleged "speak-easy," twenty-three cases of beer. Chief of Police Brown had the beer returned to the wholesale liquor dealer with a warning not to sell the tenants on those premises any more beer. Similar notices were given other wholesale dealers. If the authorities can "dry up" the source of supply, and keep close watch on the place it is Mayor Franklin's theory that the illegal business must cease.

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

Delightful Music Program—New Officers Nominated.

In spite of the storm on Wednesday afternoon, the meeting of the Fortnightly Club held at Lincoln School under the auspices of the Music Department, was well attended. A short business meeting preceded the musical program. The report of the nominating committee was presented, the nominees being as follows: President, Mrs. F. A. Duneka; 1st vice-president, Mrs. O. P. Lovenberg; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Wm. Gaylord; recording secretary, Miss Ida A. Rosendorf; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. B. Knowles; assistant corresponding secretary, Miss Laura Van Cise; treasurer, Miss Marion Hooper; assistant treasurer, Mrs. John Dey; federation secretary, Miss Laura Van Cise. Directors: for one year—Mrs. F. A. Duneka, Mrs. M. P. Stephens, Mrs. J. S. Wiley; for two years—Mrs. J. L. Murray, Mrs. F. A. Clark and Mrs. J. L. Allison. The election of officers takes place April 5.

Mme. Ethel Tozier, the pianist of the afternoon, played for the club last year. The women who heard her then were very glad of this opportunity to hear her again this year. Her playing is full of spirit; her technique brilliant. The program she had arranged for Wednesday was interesting and varied. It included an unfamiliar Beethoven number, well-known works of Scarlatti, Chopin and Mozartowski, and several very modern compositions, two by Russians, Arensky and Rachmaninoff and two delightful little waltzes by the famous Spanish composer, Granados, who is now visiting this country, and whose opera, "Goyescas," is the sensation of the Metropolitan opera this season.

The artist assisting Mme. Tozier was Miss Jean Vincent Cooper, contralto. Her singing aroused much enthusiasm and was warmly applauded. Possessed of a fine voice, a musical temperament, and the intelligence that interprets songs in an interesting manner, she gave her audience great pleasure.

Both artists generously responded to the entreaties. Mme. Tozier added the C minor waltz, and an Ecossais by Chopin to her long and difficult program. Miss Cooper sang Maty Turner Sailer's "Come Into the Garden, Love," after the Verdi Aria and repeated the Cough-Lieber Skee Song of her last year, in response to the applause then.

At the close of the program, Miss Lyall announced that the next lecture by Miss Janet Richards would take place Friday, March 24, at 3.45. These lectures are open to non-members, at fifty cents each.

Shakespearean Pageant.

In anticipation of an outdoor Shakespearean Tercentenary Celebration which the Fortnightly Club is arranging, Miss Josephine Thorp, of East Orange, who is an artist and musician of much ability will meet with the members of the Fortnightly Club at the Institute on Wednesday, March 22nd, at 3.30. All others who may be interested are most cordially invited to attend. Miss Thorp has devoted much of her time recently to the study of pageantry and in her enthusiasm for this form of history she has generously offered to help the Fortnightly with suggestions as to how this celebration may be carried out most effectively. The pageant will include music, dramatics and dancing, and all who will volunteer to take part are urged to meet Miss Thorp next Wednesday. About two months ago Miss Thorp arranged and carried out a most successful pageant for the Women's Club of Orange.

OFFICERS CHOSEN BY THE T. I. A.

Women Hear Reports of a Successful Year's Work at the Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Town Improvement Association, at which officers were elected and the work of the organization for the past year reviewed, was held Tuesday morning at the Highland Club, Mrs. Thomas B. Adams was honored with the presidency for another year, the chairman of the nominating committee, Mrs. Sarah Woodman Paul, presenting her name, along with those for the other offices to be filled. The vice presidents are Mrs. John Dey, Mrs. Harvey E. Mole and Mrs. W. T. Wisner, 2nd. For corresponding secretary, Mrs. John H. Eggers was named, and for recording secretary, Mrs. F. C. Wight was chosen. The treasurer is Miss Alden. Those who will serve on the executive committee are: Mrs. Justina E. Abbott, Mrs. Romney Berry, Mrs. John W. Cliff, Mrs. W. Chauncey Coles, Mrs. Frederick H. Doremus, Mrs. F. A. Duneka, Mrs. Philip Farnsworth, Mrs. H. K. Fowler, Mrs. W. S. Gaylord, Mrs. Arthur Lord, Mrs. Oscar F. Lovenberg, Mrs. J. W. McCormick, Miss Kate Somers, Mrs. G. Herbert Smith, and Mrs. Benjamin V. White. Four more are to be chosen, and they will be named later.

The meeting went on record as opposing the measure before the New Jersey Senate which would weaken the Child Labor laws of the State.

The report of the recording secretary showed that eight meetings of the executive committee had been held during the past year. Mention was made of the co-operation given the Board of Health by the T. I. A. in the clean-up week campaign, although it was reported that the results were not as satisfactory as the previous year. Reference was made to the lecture to be given by Mrs. Wilcox April 5th.

For the educational committee, Mrs. Eggers reported on the establishment of the lunch room in the Brayton school. The T. I. A. subscribed $125 for the "initial equipment" and the room was opened last April in charge of Mrs. Harry Garlick. The average attendance of pupils, it was reported, was about sixty-five, and the average cost of a meal eight cents. Several committees taken at random were read by Mrs. Eggers and this indicated that a substantial lunch could be bought for as low as five cents. One of the encouraging portions of the report was to the effect that the lunch room is now self supporting.

Mrs. John W. Cliff read the report of the humane committee. The fountain in Union place, it was stated, had been kept running all the year, until recently. Thirteen dollars had been spent in keeping it in order.

A better sanitary condition was noted in the railroad station, due, it was explained, to the efforts of Miss Somers. Mrs. Mole, of the tenement house committee, reported she had communicated with the Tenement House Commission in Newark on three occasions relative to certain conditions among the tenements in Summit but had been unable to get a reply. The officers, it was stated, did not seem willing to give out any information. Mrs. Adams explained that a survey had been made by the commission recently and that perhaps that body was not yet ready to make a report. Mrs. Adams went on to say that she hoped some day to see a branch of the New Jersey Housing Association established in this city to take up the work now being done by the tenement house committee of the T. I. A. It was said that the Board of Health was willing to co-operate with the association in improving housing conditions.

Mrs. Adams also reported on the co-operation of the members in making the T. I. A. even more useful to the community. She said it was the duty of the members to make suggestions from time to time, and not let this work be entirely up to the executive committee.

"In many ways," she added, "our work is encouraging, and in many ways it is discouraging. It might be said that our task is a thankless one. I think we should arrange for at least one open meeting a year, at which time we should have a speaker to talk on some local subject. Until this year our resources have been limited."

Mrs. Adams said the educational committee had a large plan in mind, but she was not prepared to say what it was. She added that the association had in view the production of better moving pictures.

The meeting endorsed the suggestion, but forth by President C. H. C. Jagels, of the Board of Trade, for an amalgamation of the various civic societies in the community, advice that by such a method more could be accomplished for the betterment of Summit. The election was then brought to a close.

For Belgian Children.

The women of the Central Presbyterian church are beginning next week to sew for the Belgian children. On Tuesday, the 21st inst., beginning at 10.30 a. m. all day meetings will continue for this purpose in the church. Luncheon will be served at 12.30 o'clock. All women interested in the object of the meeting will be welcome.

TALK ON HOUSING CONDITIONS

Head of State Body Tells Trade Board of Some Cases—May Take Survey

Mr. W. L. Kinkead, president of the New Jersey Housing Association, in an address before the Board of Trade on Tuesday evening described the work of his organization in bettering housing conditions throughout New Jersey. In mentioning some conditions which he and his co-workers have found in other parts of the state he told his audience that, in a superficial examination of some tenements in Summit Tuesday afternoon, he had found things which were in his opinion violations of the law and some conditions equally bad as in other places. One thing in particular which he mentioned was the lighting in hallways which he said he would call to the attention of the tenement house commission and have them re-inspect because he thought they were violations of the law. He said that some of the inner rooms which he had visited here looked to him at first as though they were in violation of the law but later he found that this was not the case. However, he thought there were conditions that should be remedied.

In the discussion that ensued at the close of Mr. Kinkead's address the Board instructed the secretary to get in touch with a Miss Brown of Plainfield, whom Mr. Kinkead recommended to learn from her what her charge would be to make a survey of housing conditions in Summit. It was suggested that such a survey was not necessary in this city but the motion ruled because most of the members felt that it would be wise to know just the exact conditions which existed and if anything wrong was found, that it might be corrected and if everything was found alright that the citizens would then have the satisfaction of knowing that fact.

Mr. Kinkead brought up the subject of preparedness which is so much talked of in these days and emphasized the matter of human preparedness. He compared the amount of money being spent on military preparations with the much smaller amount being spent on health preparedness. He claimed that we were not spending enough money on health work. "As the homes are the people will be."

Mr. Kinkead declared that there was no reason for tenements in a town like Summit providing there was proper transportation facilities.

Mayor Franklin inquired of the speaker if there was anything in the tenement house law which would assist in eliminating a "speak easy" which was known to be located in such a building. The Mayor said that liquor was being sold unlawfully in "speak easy" restaurants. Mr. Kinkead replied that he did not know of anything in the tenement house act that would assist in such a matter.

Then Mr. Kinkead threw on the screen views showing good and bad housing conditions. It was his opinion that the Common Council could pass an ordinance which, if enforced, would improve the local situation. It was not a matter entirely for the Board of Health. The Building Inspector be continued, could regulate the erection of tenements. The speaker urged a campaign of education and publicity to improve conditions.

Mr. P. R. MacNellie described what had been done at Bridgeport, Conn., and other places within his knowledge. The majority of residents, he said, did not believe they had their community poor housing conditions, but a survey showed the need of radical reform.

At the business meeting a resolution of thanks was ordered sent to the New York Telephone Company for arranging the transcendent phone talk in connection with the board's recent banquet. Frederick H. Shipman, Mr. MacNellie and Leonard Bender were elected members.

President C. H. C. Jagels announced that the speaker at the April meeting would be James H. Brown, president of the Manhattan Club of New York, who will talk on "Municipal Revenue and Natural Taxation."

As a nominating committee to report at the annual meeting in May, the president named Herman de Seidling, W. Scofield Day, John W. Cliff, D. L. Haigh and Alfred M. Jones.

Rev. Walter O. Kinsolving, rector of Calvary Episcopal church, and Rev. Rolla E. Hunt, pastor of the First Baptist church, were placed on the honorary membership list.

For the banquet committee, J. S. Wiley reported a deficit of $17, which will be taken from the board's treasury.

Instilling Seniors Win.

The senior girls basketball team of the Women's Institute, defeated the team of the German Baptist Church at Newark, Tuesday night, 24-5. The line-up was Summit: O. Anderson, B. Wagner, guards; R. Rauter, centre; I. Rimback and M. Marsal, forwards; Newark: E. Ritterbacher, and M. Wohlfarth, guards; L. Hack, centre; M. Ritterbacher and H. Brad, forwards.

To-morrow evening on the Institute court, the Seniors will play the girls' five of the St. James Methodist Church, Elizabeth.

BEECHWOOD SALE.

Further Facts on the Terms of the Selling Agreement.

The terms of the sale of the Beechwood Hotel property as published in the Herald last week were not complete. All the information which we could obtain at that time, however, was given. Many people thought that the terms as published then were not advantageous for the Beechwood Estate. In view of this we have endeavored to obtain further facts from the trustees.

In substance the terms are: The purchasers, the Beechwood Hotel Co., to pay $5,000 cash to bind the contract; they are then to pay $10,000 per year for four years to cover interest charges on investment of $120,000, taxes and insurance. At the end of four years they are to pay $20,000 cash. Further—the new owners agree to spend at least $5,000 during the first year in alterations and improvements to the structure and at least $2,000 in each of the next three succeeding years for improvements and alterations. Title to the property will not be given the new company until all these conditions have been complied with at the end of four years. When title is taken a mortgage of $100,000 will be given.

The sole executor of the Beechwood Estate and one of the six trustees, William C. Cranetown, has not yet agreed to the terms of the sale. The other five trustees have retained Ex-Judge Robert Carey, of Jersey City, to secure the approval by the courts of the contract to sell.

LAST SUBSCRIPTION CONCERT.

The public is reminded that the last Subscription Concert for this season is to be given on March 28th, a week from next Tuesday. The subscribers already know that the artists for this occasion are David and Clara Mannes, of New York City, who will give one of their rarely delightful programs of music for violin and piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Mannes are such well-known figures in the musical world. Mrs. Mannes being a sister of Walter and Frank Damrosch, that they need no introductions to their audience in Summit. While they are both, individually, exceedingly well-endowed artists the great charm of their joint recitals lies in their ensemble work. They have played together so long that their individual interpretations of the works they give have harmonized a beautiful union, and their playing has in consequence an intimacy, an eloquence, a charm, which is not to be found in the work of more casually associated artists. The program which they have chosen for their concert here is a very beautiful one. In their New York concerts, which have for many years been a feature of the musical season, they give nothing but sonatas for the two instruments. In works of this nature each instrument has a part equally important, the piano is not subordinated to a more accompaniment for the violin. For the sake of greater variety and popularity, however, it is often advisable to place a group of miscellaneous selections between the sonatas, and this is the plan on which their Summit program is arranged.

The program in full will be published next week.

New Rector to Speak to Men.

Rev. Walter O. Kinsolving, the new rector of Calvary church, has very kindly consented to speak at the Men's Meeting at the Young Men's Christian Association, on Sunday afternoon, March 26th, at 3.15 o'clock. This meeting coming as it does during the busy Lenten season, the Religious Work Committee of the Association feel particularly fortunate in securing Mr. Kinsolving for this occasion. The men of Summit are cordially invited to this meeting. There will be good singing and a welcome for all.

Rentals.

The Mutual Grocery Co. which operates a chain of stores throughout the State has rented the Walter Realty Co. store at 397 Springfield avenue, recently vacated by Geo. S. Hoffman. The new concern will open here about April 1st. Robert J. Murphy made the rental.

The Wm. Falkoute house at 23 Mountain avenue, has been rented by Eugene C. Plerson to Edgar W. Romig, of Roselle Bros., New York. He will remove here with his family April 1st.

Assistant Pastor for Methodist Church.

At a meeting of the Official Board of the Summit Methodist Episcopal Church on Monday evening, it was decided to engage an assistant to the pastor, Rev. Wilbur V. Mallalieu. Rev. Robert C. Carlson, of Brooklyn, at present a student in Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, has been engaged for the post being held by the Conference year, April 1st. Rev. Mr. Carlson is a graduate of Northwestern University and a member of the Drew Seminary male quartet. Not only will he succeed the Rev. J. Earl Custer, who graduates from the Seminary at Madison this year, and who has been working in the local church, particularly among the boys of the Sunday school, but also take up a wider range of duties as an assistant pastor. He will give his entire time over the week ends to the work of the local church.

Rev. Mr. Mallalieu will attend the annual session of the Newark Conference of this denomination, beginning on March 29.

TELLS OF SUMMIT PLAYGROUND

Miss Spinning, Who Has Superintended, Talks to Parent-Teacher Conference

The Parent-Teacher Conference held its regular meeting in All Souls' Church, Tuesday afternoon. The subject for discussion was "The Plays of Children." Miss Gertrude Spinning addressed the meeting and gave the results of her experience as a worker in the Playground of this city. Miss Spinning spoke in part as follows:

"When the question of a playground was brought before the people of Summit it was an almost unanimous opinion that the children of a country place, as this is, did not need a playground. For the few who lived there there are no back yards there were plenty of open spaces. But when it came right down to the point no one wanted them to play in the open lot. After various difficulties of this kind the main one being the absolute uselessness of the idea, the ladies of the Town Improvement Association succeeded in starting the playground in the summer of 1903.

"It was a hard season, we were complained of on all sides, we were noisy, we wanted to race on the sidewalk and commit other unpardonable offenses of like nature. By being friendly with the police, we managed to live through that season and the last week gave an exhibition of games and athletics with our 250 followers. Every one seemed anxious to see it fall so we had quite a large audience, the people seemed almost not to believe their eyes that there were 250 children in Summit who would use a playground. Needless to say it was a success and each succeeding season has been more successful. There are now about 650 children who use our playground. Each year we have added to the apparatus until now it is fairly well equipped, although there are many things we want to make it complete. Right here let me talk money; $700 to run the season. As I have been a worker on the ground for seven years, I feel that perhaps even yet the people of Summit have missed the main point in the argument for the playground. While of course it appears more quickly to the child with no back yard than it has an equally strong appeal for the child with lawn and play things. Children are after all pretty much the same whether they live on the Boulevard or in the alley. They want to play with other children and on the playground they find a natural and healthy outlet for the craving.

"It teaches fair play as nothing else will. A child is not on a playground where order is the law, more than a few hours until he finds out that not just because he wants a thing gives him a right to it. He must wait his turn and be done it with surprising patience.

Good News.

"During the first few seasons of the playground it seemed almost impossible to get the children interested in circle games, they would rather stand in line for their swings or slide or see some of the boys. But little by little we managed to have a game hour, and it wasn't long until we had more children who wanted to play than we could manage. Game hour on the Organized Play Period is now the most popular hour of the day. Team games were more easily introduced—baseball and basketball for the boys and volley and basketball for the girls. Since the first season we have had field days, take' years when children of all classes, (personally I hate the word class), which gave added interest for both boys and girls, medals being awarded separately.

"It may never come and if it does come it will be allowed by their parents to come to the Public Playground. The directors cannot be expected to attend to the personal conversation of 500 or 600 children but I think I can say truthfully that there is almost no bad language used on a playground. There doesn't seem to be time for it and what there is, is soon discovered for Johnny is very quick to say that Mike swore at him and Mike soon finds out that if he wants to stay he will have to improve Johnny in some other manner than by swearing at him. There have been several families who have been my personal friends, who came at first very warily with their children and sat down while the children joined in the fun; after several visits of this kind the children were allowed to stay alone, this represents, of course, a very few but it is a beginning.

"It was interesting also, to watch the Y. M. C. A. boys stand on their porch and watch and one by one move over to 'take a hand.'

"I believe in children. I believe they are generally good and clean minded and the only possible reason I can see for keeping a child away from a Public Play Centre is disease. Last year there was a great deal of whooping cough and I felt it a duty to warn mothers against it.

"This year and the year before last we had complaints against the big boys using the grounds and crowding out the children. There were about 30 young fellows from 13 to 23 years

THE EVENT OF THE YEAR!

The thirty-first of March approaches! Keep it in mind, for it is the date of the event of the year—the Senior play. You can't afford to miss it, for of all good plays that were ever given or that will ever be given, this one ranks among the first. The members of the cast have been working diligently at the practice three times a week and are improving steadily. There's Katie, the Irish maid—say she's a scream! Then Karin, the Swedish girl (cosmopolitan, to say the least), she doesn't come far behind Katie; and there's Pinsky Bean and all the rest—to say nothing of Mr. Dalrymple—most assuredly! Tickets may be procured from any member of the Senior class, and also are now on sale at Rogers and Gardner's drug stores. See you at Brayton, Friday, the thirty-first of March! Don't forget!

HIGH SCHOOL CLUB.

Rev. J. Adams Oakes was the speaker at the usual meeting of the High School Club. Mr. Oakes, without a doubt, gave one of the most interesting and instructive talks of the season. The subject under discussion was "Our Town." Just what do you do for your town? Do you perhaps knock it, occasionally, instead of putting in a good work for it? Do you criticize and tell what you would do if you were a member of such and such a board or committee? Fellows, it's not what you say or think that counts it's what you actually do.

SENIOR NOTES.

At a special meeting called for Friday afternoon the Seniors decided the momentous, all-important question as to whether caps and gowns should predominate at Commencement or not. After much excitement and a good deal of electioneering on both sides, the question was decided by ballot, and caps and gowns were defeated by a vote of 16-10. The following committees were appointed in connection with the Senior play. Mr. Andrews, Mr. Cheney, Miss M. Thompson, Mr. King, Mr. Kahn, and Miss Austin, on the Property and Costume Committee; and Mr. King, Mr. Pott and Miss Amster, on the Advertising Committee.

THE CHAPEL EXERCISES.

The Chapel exercises, Wednesday, were taken up with Irish Folk songs, which were lately contributed to the school for the new Victrola. Miss Terry's class and Miss M. F. Thompson's class of girls each contributed three Irish songs. Gertrude Selling gave the history of Irish Folk songs, and in particular gave the life of the most noted composer of Irish Folk songs—Thomas Moore. The students wish to express their thanks to the classes which contributed the records.

S. H. S. VICTORIOUS AT MADISON.

Last Saturday night, the S. H. S. basketball team defeated the five representing Madison H. S. in a fast and rather close game. Madison started scoring with a neat field basket, which was quickly followed up by two more. The S. H. S. five, however, became used to the small court and soon had the score in their point-of-view. The victory for Summit never seemed in doubt. The latter completely outplayed Madison until the whistle blew for half time, the scoring being S. H. S. 16, Madison 10. Both teams played evenly in the last half, until the last five minutes, when Summit rapidly drew away from their opponents. Summit's line-up was the same as usual in this game.

MARY ANNE.

The appearance of the whole place made a stately dame in a blue-brocaded dress, proclaiming the velvety laces, with courtly gentleness wearing powdered wigs and knee-breeches. Laughter and gay voices floated out of the house in celebration of the "Missus" birthday perhaps. But, no, those days were gone by. The stately old place had been sadly neglected, not for want of love of the place, but on account of lack of money. So finally, although it almost broke the dear old lady's heart, it had been sold and converted into a young ladies' seminary, called "The Oaks."

It was to this beautiful place that Mary Anne Grey came one lovely day in October. She hadn't wanted to come; had thereupon made up her mind that she would hate it, and therefore did hate it. It did seem to her that she had been frightfully misused. In the first place her mother had died three years previous to her coming to "The Oaks," and had left her to the tender mercies of an old aunt, who believed that "the more you give children, the less they appreciate their blessing," and so she dutifully received from giving Mary Anne any more than she absolutely needed. Mary Anne's father had died soon after her mother died, and so Mary Anne was an orphan. Mary Anne, being entirely human, had made life miserable for her Aunt, and so finally Aunt sent her to "The Oaks," having declared that "she could not stand that child another minute." But ever worse than all those trials as her name—Mary! And the Anne certainly did not help matters any. It seemed as if she couldn't open a book or any description—French book, story book, arithmetic—any book, but what "Mary" started out at her. Her very first day at school was spoiled forever by the memory of the crowd of taunting little girls singing "Mary, Mary, quite contrary, how does your garden grow?" She had immediately flown into a temper, and had to be taken home screaming by the teacher. And even here the girls had uttered when she was introduced to them. She often caught them laughing at her and it made her furious.

One rainy day about a week after her arrival Mary Anne was in an unusually bad humor. She felt like a kettle of boiling water—one more drop and it would boil over. Mary Anne was destined to get that "drop" for the girls never missed an opportunity to tease her.

The crash came in Geometry class. The girl behind Mary Anne was suddenly struck with the idea of putting Mary Anne's lovely hair into the inkwell and shutting the cover, which she immediately did. When Mary Anne arose to recite, her hair came out with a jerk, showering ink in all directions.

Mary Anne was most assuredly not a meek little soul and she did not give her enemies but in fact hated them with all the hatred her little heart was capable of. She hesitated a moment, her anger making her unable to move, then turning on the author of the mischief, she shook her with all her might, and then ran wildly out of the room, outdoors, and down the long avenue of trees. Finally she sank exhausted under the shade of one of the trees.

A soft hand was laid gently on Mary Anne's shoulder, and one of the sweetest voices said: "You dear child, what is the matter?" Looking up, Mary Anne saw the dearest white haired old lady in a white lace cap; she sat down beside the now very remorseful Mary Anne. "My name is Mary Anne and the girls at that horrid school make such fun of it, and of my looks and clothes and everything, I got so angry at a girl a little while ago that I shook her as hard as I could and I'm so afraid I hurt her badly. Oh dear, why did you ever die and leave me so miserable, mother! Why was I ever born!"

"There, there, child, I'm sure things aren't so bad as you think they are. Come home with me and I will tell you a little secret. Mary Anne was sitting gently beside the little old lady, who seemed to her to be a fairy godmother of the Cinderella type.

"This is my home. No place like home," humbled there's no place like home," smiled the dear old lady pointing to a darling little white cottage with an old fashioned garden. She soon had Mary Anne established in a rocker with a glass of milk and piece of delicious gingerbread.

"Now I will tell you the secret. My name is Mary Anne. The house where you go to school was once mine. It was the terrible Civil War, which took those who were nearest to me. My husband and son were both killed in battle, my little daughter was carried away by some Klux marauders, and my home devastated, but—come here to me child!" she added suddenly.

Mary Anne, who had been idly playing with a locket did not understand, yet she went toward the old lady.

"Where did you get that locket?" "Why, it was my mother's, and that is her picture inside."

"That is my little girl's picture and that was her locket. Come to your Grandmother, dear. Never again shall you see the Mary Anne wish that she had never been born."

MARY SHOEMAKER
GIRLS' BASKETBALL.

Last week the girls played four games, two on the home court and two at Morristown. Wednesday the second team played Roselle Park second team. We were entertained until about five o'clock by some yells composed by the (ahem!) bright pupils to the High School. About five o'clock the team arrived. The teams didn't seem to be very evenly matched since we won easily, the score being 25-12.

On Thursday the first team played Cranford. Although the team didn't arrive till after five, the game was worth the wait, and it was apparent that the dimes were well spent by the boys. It was one of the most exciting and closely played games of this season. It would have ended disastrously for Summit had not been for a splendid field goal thrown by Hannah Walter, when only three-quarters of a minute remained to play, making the final 10-9 in our favor.

The next day two games were played at Morristown by the 1st and 2nd teams. Again we won, making a total of three victories in one week. These two games were evenly matched and the girls seemed evenly matched. The score of the 1st team was 10-10; and that of the second 8-6.

OPPORTUNITY.

This I beheld, or dreamed it in a dream: There spread a cloud of dust along a plain; And underneath the cloud, or in it, raged A furious battle, and men yelled, and swords Shook upon swords and shields. A prince's banner Wavered, then staggered backward, and lamed by flies. A craven hung along the battle's edge. And thought, "Had I a sword of keen, or steel— That blue blade that the king's son bears,—but this 'Bum' thing!" he snapt and flung it from his hand, And lowering crept away and left the held. Then came the king's son, wounded, sore beated, And weaponless, and saw the broken sword. Hilt buried in the dry and trodden sand. And ran and snatched it and with battle-shout Lifted afresh, he hewed his enemy down. And saved a great cause that heroic day.—Selected.

THE DEVIL'S ESCAPE.

Such was the cabin of Pierre Lafitte at the time of this story. In those days the Micmacs, a tribe noted for their savage tortures held possession of this part of Canada, and were to the poor trapper who fell into their hands. For ten years Lafitte had lived in the little cabin, struggling to make a living by trapping and hunting, and often he escaped death by the narrowest of margins.

One cold night in early autumn, as he sat by his fire, busily engaged in making a pair of snow shoes—that which he had long dreaded occurred. From the darkness outside came the low-drawn, quivering war-cry of the Micmacs. It was answered by another and another.

Lafitte turned very pale, took down his gun and carefully extinguished the fire. He knew that there was little danger of an attack until morning, for the Micmacs custom for a dark night attacks. But when morning came— He sat down and began to think hard. The nearest help was at Napadogan, ten miles down the river. If only he could get to his canoe! But between him and safety lay that broad moonlit expanse of clearing. If he could cross that all would be well. He had about seven hours till day-break. Suddenly an idea caught his mind. In the corner of the cabin lay a devil's mask and, as luck would have it, he had just laid in a stock of red blankets.

Half an hour later the savages who had been told to watch the canoe saw a red, ghastly figure with the face of a demon step into the moonlight. The creature gave vent to a long shrill scream, which made every hair in their scalp-locks tingle. Slowly this figure advanced toward them. They did not wait to investigate but jumped into the water and swam for their lives. Lafitte stalked down to the canoe, threw in a big bundle (his most valuable possessions) and began to paddle off.

Now at last the savages in the woods saw through the ruse and arrows rained round the little craft like hail. But it was too late, Lafitte was soon round the river bend—safe.

APPRECIATION AND EXHORTATION.

The new bookcase, made by William Muldowney and other members of the Manual Training Class, is both a useful and ornamental addition to the History room. The making of articles that are of general school use is also another way of showing the school spirit of which we are beginning to be proud.

A music cabinet for the records of the new Victrola is now needed; and it is hoped that some of the boys will volunteer to make that for the school.

REFLECTIONS.

If you have skipped either story we urge you to turn back and read them.

We note with a great deal of pride and pleasure, that not only the Morristown team, but also their supporters and coaches, declared that our girls' team was the cleanest group of players they have ever come up against. This is a reputation that counts for something.

"What makes you so good-natured?" "Fat" Reeves was asked the other day. "I have to be, I can't either fight or run."

Hawks and Crows.

(Letter by Waldron DeWitt Miller, Curator at the Museum of Natural History, New York City, and President of the L. H. Nature Lover's League.)

February, 1916.

Sirs:—A bill has been introduced into the legislature of this State, designed to encourage the destruction of Hawks and Crows, by the payment of a bounty of twenty-five cents for each Hawk, excepting the Fish Hawk, and five cents for each Crow.

The wisdom of bounty laws, of any kind is doubtful, but the proposition of this bill is ill-advised and vicious, and it should by all means be defeated. Such a proposition can only spring from total ignorance of the food-habits of these birds. Contrary to the popular misconception—all ornithologists, and many observant farmers, know that most kinds of Hawks seldom capture birds. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has proven conclusively, by the examination of nearly two thousand stomachs of birds of prey, that these birds are, for the most part beneficial and should, therefore, be protected by law.

Excluding the Fish Hawks, there are twelve species of this family found in this State. Five of them are more or less injurious, but three of these are so rare that in an experience of many years, I have seen less than a dozen individuals of the three species combined. This leaves but two common Hawks that prey largely on birds, but one of these is so small and so scarce, except in spring and fall, that its influence is negligible. The male is scarcely larger than a Robin, and is unable to capture prey larger than a Sparrow. Furthermore, as it could be killed in any numbers only while migrating, the State would be paying out money for the destruction of a species that spends the summer in the forests of Canada, and the winters in the Southern States.

This narrows the issue to a single species—the Cooper's Hawk—and it is responsible for most of the prejudice against the members of this family. All our other six common Hawks live almost wholly on Mice, Moles, Shrews, Frogs, Snakes and large insects, particularly Grasshoppers, Crickets and large Caterpillars. Owing to their habits of hunting, perching and soaring in the open, these useful Hawks are far more conspicuous than the sneaking, bird-catching species, and they would be the chief sufferers from the effects of the bounty-bill law.

For years I have been especially interested in the field-habits of the birds of prey, and the results of my studies fully bear out the conclusions of the U. S. Government investigators. I have examined over one hundred and fifty New Jersey Hawks, and in the stomachs of these common Marsh, Rough-leg, Red-shouldered, Broad-winged and Sparrow Hawks, have found no trace of poultry or game. One Red-shouldered Hawk contained five garter snakes, and a mouse; another held the remains of nine or ten Leopard-frogs, and a Sparrow Hawk had in its stomach crammed with at least thirty-seven Crickets. A single meal of a Red-shouldered Hawk recorded by the Government investigators, consisted of ten mice, and the average for the forty-nine Rough-legged Hawks examined, was about three mice apiece; not a single one of the forty-nine Hawks contained birds of any kind. Owing to their large size, these Hawks consume great quantities of injurious insects. The owner of a game preserve in New

A DANGEROUS TREE DISEASE.

The Department of Conservation and Development of New Jersey is warning owners of white pine trees, or of any pine species having five needles in a sheath, that a disease which may be as fatal to them as the bark disease has been to the chestnuts is abroad. Pines with two or three needles in a sheath are not attacked.

This pine blister rust as it is called was imported from Germany and since 1909 has been under constant surveillance by officials connected with the State Forester's and State Plant Pathologist's offices. One plantation of young trees was found infected and entirely destroyed with the consent of the owner. Three other instances of infection in nurseries have been discovered and everything that could carry the disease burned up. This state is believed to be free at the present time, yet in view of reports from New England that numerous new centers of infection have been discovered, and in effort that is being made by the Federal Government to check the spread of the disease before it obtains a strong foothold, it is important that all who are interested in white pine trees should aid the authorities.

The disease spreads in the inner bark and kills the tree or branch by girdling and cutting off the food supply. It manifests itself by swelling on the stems of young trees when they are about three years old, or by similar swellings on the shoots of like age on older trees. In May these swellings usually produce yellow pus-

G. SHERWOOD EDDY.

World Famed Y. M. C. A. Worker to Speak at Summit Y. M. C. A. Dinner.

G. Sherwood Eddy, world famed in the international work of the Y. M. C. A., will be one of the speakers at the 17th annual dinner of the Y. M. C. A., Saturday evening, March 25th. An exceedingly fortunate circumstance made it possible to secure Mr. Eddy to speak in Summit at this time.

Mr. Eddy is a young man of private means who gives his services to the international committee for work among the young men of Japan, Korea, China and India, and particularly to the student classes of these countries. His addresses are so eagerly sought after that there is no audience room available in the whole of Asia large enough to seat those who would hear him; and those who cannot get tickets for the first service wait for a second one which is compelled to hold. His audiences travel long distances to hear him and he has become as well known as any of the native great men of those countries. Thousands of conversions to the christian faith have followed his preaching and many churches have received these converts into their fellowship.

Mr. Eddy is second only to John R. Mott as a christian statesman and world-influence, and is closely associated with Mr. Mott in his present work as much sought after when in this country as when in the orient and it is not a question of securing him for days, but only for hours, as his time is so fully taken up.

The other speaker on this occasion will be Judge Adrien Lyon, of Perth Amboy, who has a reputation as a very interesting speaker to men. Judge Lyon is the President of the Perth Amboy Association and was largely instrumental in securing the new $100,000.00 Association building for that city. Rev. William I. Haven, D.D., will be the Toastmaster. The caterer will be Day, of Morristown.

Judging from the acceptances already received the dinner this year will be unusually well attended. Those desiring to attend should send their acceptances not later than next Wednesday, the 23rd, as after that date the committee cannot promise reservations. Up to this date, however, places will be reserved for all members and friends of the Association who send in their names.

A. won 39, lost 21; Wanderers won 29, lost 23; Park H. C. won 29, lost 23; Wednesday N. C. won 23, lost 23; Masons won 16, lost 44.

New Telephone Directories.

Telephone subscribers in Summit will receive in a day or two their copies of the spring edition of the New Jersey Division Telephone Directory. The book, which is dressed in a new jacket of light fawn, contains 132,000 listings, a gain of 10,000 names within the year. It will have a circulation of 175,000 as compared with the 1915 spring edition of 168,000 copies.

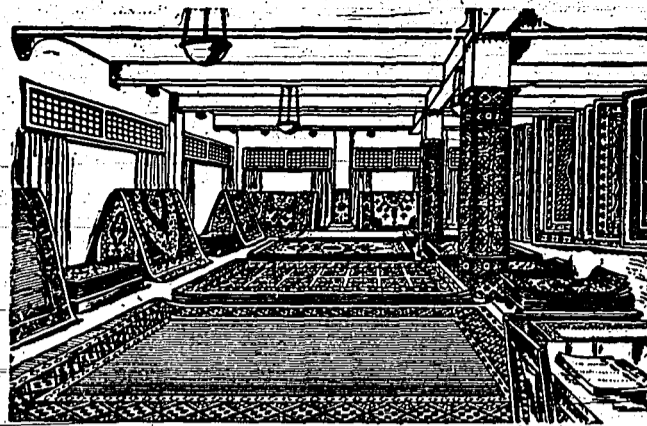

Delivery of the directories in this district will require at least two days, according to Mr. A. Vesellus, local Commercial Manager of the New York Telephone Company, and is being made in accordance with a pre-arranged plan which is designed to insure the quickest possible distribution. In New York City 695,000 new telephone directories are now being placed in circulation. These books have 377,000 listings, an increase within the year of approximately 27,000 names.

The telephone company also will deliver nearly 29,000 telephone directories in its suburban Long Island territory, and 53,000 in its Rochester division, making a total of 957,000 telephone books which will be placed in metropolitan territory this month. This is the largest spring distribution of directories ever made by the telephone company. A year ago at this time the telephone company circulated 865,000 telephone books in the metropolitan area.

Appeal for Indiana Prisoner. To the Editor of the Herald: Sir:—Feeling confident that Mr. Thomas Mott Osborne's talk on prison reform has done much good toward awakening a new interest in the prisoners, I take this chance of appealing for a young man who has been serving a term in Indiana State Prison, and who is about to be pardoned. Instead of remaining in Indiana, the scene of his former crime, and home of his "pals," it will be easier for him to come East, where he can start life anew among strangers who will give him a chance to lead a good and honorable life. He cannot do this without your aid. He will have neither clothing nor money when he leaves the prison. I ask the Summit public to help him. All lands that may be left to him will be deposited in the Montclair Trust Company until word of his pardon is received. You may think of this as a gamble and fear that he will not "make good." Will you not "take a chance on him"? I feel sure, knowing his case, as I do, that you will not be a loser. Hoping to receive your contribution, large or small, for all will help, I am, MISS A. E. RODGERS, P. O. Box 201, Montclair, N. J.

Horse Sense as Applied to the Boiler You Buy

Well do I remember my first vacation spent on Granddaddy's Farm. He was a man of few words—sometimes kindly—sometimes a bit waspish; but generally very much to the point.

Whenever he saw me working at a disadvantage, he was fond of saying, "the closer you hitch your horses to the load, boy, the easier it is to pull." And then he would show me how to do the job easier and better.

Now I believe that the closer you hitch the heating of your house to a boiler that is constructed on just plain, everyday, common sense lines—the less will be the pull on the coal bin.

Right here in Elizabeth, we are making the Hitchings Happy Home Boiler, in two common-sense styles—one a round and the other a square.

A Fine Broad Shouldered Boiler That's All Business

Both are sectional construction. They are not "nickel trimmed," neither are they equipped with a lot of patent features that have absolutely nothing to do with their economy. They are the boilers that are hitched right up to common sense. They are practical. They are economical. They are easy to care for. They do give satisfaction. When you want repair parts, we are right handy here. No delays.

So don't be hasty about your heating. Look into Hitchings Happy Home Heat. Start by sending for our catalog.

ACCOUNT OF PLAYGROUND WORK

who were out of work and who use to play ball with our boys every afternoon. They were both orderly and respectful and the younger boys took keen delight in having them join their games. While it might have seemed to an onlooker as if they were crowding out the children in reality they never did, they were just as anxious that the children should have a good time as we were.

"Then there are many pathetic cases which come to our notice. For instance there was poor little hunch-backed Tommy, who never smiled, he was brought in the morning, with the two other children, one a baby in a carriage which was his charge. It is quite unusual to have a child who will not answer your smile, especially when you get acquainted. But neither Mr. Ford nor I could get Tommy to smile. One day during the last week we were to be open, I said to Tommy, 'Well Tommy, there are only four more days for playground, are you coming every day for a swing?' 'You bet,' said Tommy, and he actually smiled just a wee little smile. Then there was another child who had in her charge five younger brothers and sisters, she herself was only seven. Nellie seemed never to be having any fun herself unless one of the others would fall off of something, or in some way need her attention. One day I saw Nellie running toward me with not a child in her wake, when I asked her what she was running for she said she was running for a swing and she said she guessed she would have to come over a couple of times a week and give the kid a breathin' space."

"Then another friend was a girl only sixteen. She came one morning and asked timidly if her children might have a baby swing, and when I asked for their names and addresses, I found they were her own children. "The spirit of the playground worker makes the spirit of the playground. Many young people come home from college for vacation think they can manage a playground that it is an easy job and easy money. It is not easy money or an easy job, if it is a real playground. It is a place where every minute of the day the director's eye must be open not for trouble but for means of preventing trouble.

"The playground has a very vital part in making the boys and girls of a town better citizens and no institution is more important than that which turns out many men."

FIREMEN TO VOTE.

Will 93th Anniversary be Celebrated on Large or Small Scale?

At the meeting of the general committee on celebrating the 26th anniversary of the Summit Fire Department, last Friday night, Mayor Franklin suggested that the firemen be allowed to decide whether there should be a big celebration, with outside companies invited or whether it should be merely local, with a dollar dinner. The mayor's suggestion was accepted and the companies will vote on the proposition.

The celebration as originally planned for Columbus Day would cost about $2,000. Whether it is desirable to attempt to secure this amount this year by popular subscription, in addition to funds for the Fourth of July celebration open-air band concerts, and war relief work was questioned.

ADVERTISING FOR BIDS.

School Board Accepts Plans and Prepares to Receive Bids.

The plans for the four-room addition to the East Summit School prepared by Richard S. Chapter were accepted at the adjourned meeting of the Board of Education last Saturday night. The committee was authorized to advertise for bids to be opened at a special meeting on April 15th.

All the members were present excepting President Cromwell. Vice-President Morgan presided. Superintendent Marsh reported that two of the janitors had been ill, for one week and two weeks respectively, and that several teachers also were ill. Mr. Marsh reported further that there had been a big improvement in the service of transporting school children from West Summit to the Brayton School.

A letter from the State Board of Education requiring smoke doors in all the schools caused a discussion. Mr. Sherwood said he did not see the necessity of installing them in three of the school buildings, as he believed they were now safe from fire. No action was taken.

Mr. Sherwood asked what the board was going to do with the Maple street lot, as the Board of School Estimate had turned down the proposition to raise $210,000 for the erection of a new high school.

"Maybe we can sell it back to the Home Land Co.," said Mr. Sherwood. "We will build on it some day," was Mr. Peale's reply.

Annual Presbyterian Missionary Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Central Presbyterian Church was held Tuesday afternoon. After the devotional exercises reports were read by the various officers of the society which showed a fine year's work and wonderful interest and activity in all departments.

The following were elected to office for the ensuing year: Mrs. N. H. Stewart, president; Mrs. Perez Cowan, vice-president; Mrs. J. L. Murray, recording secretary; Miss F. E. Hancock, corresponding secretary; Miss Paulina Johnson, treasurer; Mrs. J. M. Broadnax, chairman hospitality committee; Miss Julia B. Shafer, secretary young people's work; executive committee: Mrs. M. C. Morgan, Mrs. J. W. Hornsby, Mrs. Dawson, Miss Jeannette Bonny, Miss Margaret Hebard.

One of the most interesting features of the afternoon were the exercises by the children in Light Bearers, under the direction of Mrs. H. I. Austin. They gave an exercise entitled "Old Mother Alphabet," and also a national flag drill. Seventy-two children took part.

Presbyterian Men Dine.

A dinner for the men of the Central Presbyterian Church was held last Friday evening, in Nippon Hall. The pastor, Rev. Minot C. Morgan, presided. William D. Murray, a New York lawyer, and Rev. Wm. P. Scheil, a member of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions were the speakers of the evening. About seventy-five men were present.

The gathering was held in preparation for the every member canvass of the church, which is to be taken next Sunday afternoon. The every member canvass was taken for the first time in this church last year, and proved very successful. By that method the appeal for church support, financially and otherwise, is made personally. It was found that it was a success not only financially, the benevolent and trustee collections being increased, but also socially, keeping all the members in direct touch with the church. The benevolent collections of the church last year were reported to average fifteen to sixteen per cent, higher than previous years. In the Central Church practically every dollar raised for the support of that church is equalled by the contributions made to benevolences.

After Mr. Murray's address, which was on the subject of the "Every-Member Canvass," he conducted a most interesting question box. The dinner was a success under the direction of the committee of which J. B. Wiley was chairman.

Neighborhood House Notes.

A masquerade party was given at the House last Friday evening by the Young Men's Club to about fifty of their friends. Refreshments were served and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

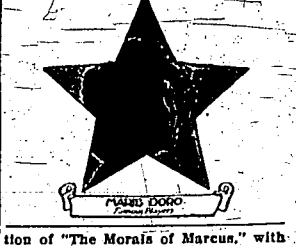

The meeting of the Women's Club, which was held on Thursday evening last week was a Red Cross meeting. The Club was entertained last evening by Miss Edna Burling at her home on Springfield avenue.

Mrs. Chimbora who has lately returned from Armenia, gave an informal talk to the members of the Armenian Woman's Club, Thursday afternoon; a large number came out to hear her.

NOTED STARS AT LYRIC.

Marie Doro, Edmund Breese, Maclyn Arbuckle—Next Week.

Maclyn Arbuckle is a most infectious radiator of sunshine and laughter, in "It's No Laughing Matter," which comes to the Lyric next Monday, March 20th. Mr. Arbuckle is at his best. No American audience can fail to enjoy every inch of this feature. It has an abundance of clean, kindly humor, and a wealth of wholesome pathos. Don't miss this picture. Wednesday, March 22nd, "The Lure of Heart's Desire," in which the powerful dramatic actor, Edmund Breese appears in the stellar role. This production is in five gripping acts, dealing with a story of the Alaskan wastes and New York Society, in which romance and pathos are blended in supreme measure. There are scores of big scenes, made in the Adirondacks. Friday, March 24th, a superb production of "The Morals of Marcus," with Marie Doro in the role of Carlotta. The brilliant acting and the beauty and charm of Miss Doro in this picture will be long remembered. She has a decidedly attractive personality, and in this five-part adaptation of the novel and play by William J. Locke, she is given a character that fits that personality. In staging and general direction the picture is notable. It is truly a "Paramount" production. Be sure to see it.

"SPEAK-EASIES."

The efforts which Mayor Franklin and the police department are making against that class of violators of the excise laws, familiarly known as "Speak-Easies," are heartily commended by the general public.

CLERGY FOR PREPAREDNESS.

Clergymen of New York City, representing nineteen different denominations, according to a recent report in the New York Times, are overwhelmingly in favor of preparedness as shown by a canvass made by the Rev. Walter Laidlaw, Secretary of the New York Federation of Churches, and Chairman of its Committee on Waste of War.

APATHY IN ARIZONA.

The Gazette, of Phoenix, Arizona, said on March 4th, the date of the primary election there: "The women are simply refusing to vote. Even when automobiles are sent for them they say that they have no interest in the out come of the election and have too many dishes to wash to wait any time running around to polling places."

"ARE SHOWING THEIR CONFIDENCE."

The Republicans of the State are warming up to the candidacy of Senator Walter E. Edge for nomination as Governor, says the Elizabeth Journal. "It is entirely reasonable that they should. They find in him a man more interested in the State than in himself; a man who is anxious to serve the State as a business executive at a time when one is much needed."

Do you believe in Preparedness?

Do you desire to assist in the movement to impress Congress with the fact that this country should organize to resist invasion and to protect our homes and our institutions? years previous to the past two, and we are endeavoring to introduce a little practical, business horse sense into public responsibilities. We have been insisting on service along this line and the people of New Jersey apparently have approved, because in the last two years they have given us increased majorities in the Legislature. "This great business commonwealth," continues the Journal, "with its manifold activities and interests, demands a business man for Chief Executive. And for the good of the State and for its own good as well it is needed that the Republican party shall find a man who has kept himself free from the entanglements of blind partisanship. It is needed to find for candidate a man who will prevent the State from falling into the hands of 'guardians' of whatever kind or possessing whatever motives. It is coming to be realized more and more that the Senator from Atlantic county measures up to the requirements."

The poll was not taken on behalf of the New York Federation of Churches, but simply by Mr. Laidlaw as a churchman who wanted to find out if it was true that the clergymen of New York City were opposed to preparedness, as Congress recently was informed by ministers from that city.

Walter Laidlaw, Secretary of the New York Federation of Churches, and Chairman of its Committee on Waste of War.

CLERGY FOR PREPAREDNESS.

The State Senate passed this week over the Governor's veto Senate Joint Resolution No. 1, which provides for a commission to codify the election laws of the State. The Governor, in his veto message, stated that the present election laws were sufficient and that there was no need for such a commission as provided for in the resolution. During the argument on the motion to override the Governor's veto to the Republican members of the Senate took occasion to answer the somewhat absurd claims of the Democrats to the effect that Democratic Administrations should be credited with all of the good laws in the State. It seems hardly necessary to say that fighting on such indefensible ground the Democrats were soon routed.

CLERGY FOR PREPAREDNESS.

In the appointments of Dr. Cadwell, Dr. Keeney and Mr. Joseph W. Magrath to membership on the Board of Health, Mayor Franklin has made untold selections. Dr. Keeney and Mr. Magrath are gentlemen of ability and sufficiently interested in the welfare of the city to give their services to this branch of the municipal government. The Health Department is an important branch of the government and its officials should be over on the alert to see that real progress is being made locally in this great work. We have confidence in our health board and desire to extend to the newly appointed members our best wishes for successful terms of office.

CLERGY FOR PREPAREDNESS.

Carrying out the Republican platform pledge to provide a uniform system for municipal financing, the State this week passed the Pierson Finance bill without the anticipated opposition. There was some opposition to some of the features of the several bills, but not sufficient to prevent their passage by a good majority. There was general commendation for the work that had been accomplished by the commission headed by Assemblyman Pierson of Union County which made exhaustive investigations in the various municipalities in the State prior to the drafting of the bills just passed.

CLERGY FOR PREPAREDNESS.

The many members of the Sons of the American Revolution in Summit and vicinity are interested in the National Congress of the organization to be held at Newark in May under the auspices of the State society. A full outline of the plans will be found on another page of this issue. Further details will be published from time to time. We beg to call special attention to our advertising columns. The large space used by many programs in these columns each week indicates the value they place on the purchasing ability of the readers of the HERALD. It is a compliment to the readers as well as to the paper. Some folks think the winter of 1915-16 is just one day—snow after another. The followers of St. Patrick have a fine day on which to celebrate.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Inter-Town Athletic Meets-Interesting Meetings Planned. The Morristown Y. M. C. A. business men's club on Monday evening visited the local association and demonstrated most clearly that they know how to play volleyball. Over forty men attended the dinner served by the Ladies' Auxiliary in the auditorium. Mr. Chas. D. Terry, the president of our association, welcomed the visitors and told how team work counted, not only in games such as volleyball and baseball, but also in business life, and Y. M. C. A. work. Mr. C. H. Nuttle, General Secretary of the Morristown Association, responded to the welcome in behalf of the visitors. Mr. H. Donald Holmes presided as toastmaster at the dinner. Following the dinner, bowling and volleyball teams contested on the alleys and in the gymnasium. Our visitors won three straight games of volleyball to the tune of 21-12, 21-14, and 21-18, as well as winning the bowling match. However they showed lack of ability in indoor baseball. Summit showed them how by winning 12 to 1 in a three-inning game. To finish the evening a tug-of-war, between two eleven men teams resulted in a win for Summit by literally pulling Morris town off their feet. At the Hexathlon Meet held Tuesday night, March 14th, in the gymnasium, W. W. Carman showed his superiority by winning three sprints, namely running high 4 ft. 10 in., fence vault 6 ft. 1 in., and standing broad 9 ft. 2 1/2 in., and trying for first place with J. Paterson in the 60 yd. potato race in 15 1/5 seconds. L. F. Bender won the shot-put at 38 ft. 1 in. Fifteen contestants competed at the meet. On Saturday evening, at 8.15 p. m., the swimming team, which has won two meets, will meet with last team from Newark, Y. M. C. A. Ladies' auxiliary invited. Members of the Association and friends met out with lots of enthusiasm and help the team to win. Boys' Meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoon, March 19th, 2.45 o'clock. Speaker, Mr. Walter S. Cooper, of Newark. Subject: "The Young Man and the Nation." The regular monthly meeting of the Boys' Cabinet will be held at the Association building to-night. BARONESS AT THE FRONT.

Will Lecture in Short Hills on Her Experiences in France. Baroness Haard will give a lecture at the Short Hills Club, Wednesday, April 6th, at 8.30 in the evening, for two objects—the support of a hospital in her home, on the Marne, near the French front, and the relief of the unfortunate children of France, who are now being sent back, through Switzerland, to Paris. Advice from Paris are that 5,000 had already arrived in Paris and 20,000 were on their way. These wretched beings, all under 15 years of age, were taken, with their parents, from Northern France by the Germans. They have received no care and scant food; many are tubercular. They are being sent to Southern France where they will be adopted. Many have forgotten their names and the names of their parents. They are being sent back because Germany was unwilling to supply them with food any longer. The title of the lecture will be "My Year Among the Fighters," and the Baroness relates her personal experience in France. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Carroll Bassett, Summit, one dollar each. Charitable people may send personal checks to Mrs. Bassett. With the funds for the children, shoes and other articles will be bought, which will be sent to the American Clearing House, Paris, for distribution. L. H. Nature League Notes. Birdland, an entertainment by Mr. Edward Avis, under the auspices of the L. H. Nature League, will be given in the Library Hall, on Friday, April 7th, at 3.30 p. m. Bird music and a hundred illustrations of birds and their haunts, will be given; also a "song test," a prize to be awarded to the young person identifying the greatest number of bird songs. The patronesses are: Mrs. F. A. Waterman, Mrs. S. W. Paul, Mrs. F. S. Phares, Mrs. J. C. Smith, Mrs. O. B. Merrill, Miss Emille Hill, Mrs. G. F. Vreeland, Mrs. G. E. Gaddis, and Miss P. W. Lyall. Annual Nature League meetings have recently been held at the Maplewood, Wyoming, and Short Hills public schools; also at the Hillsdale school, Morris town, and the two public schools of Madison, committees being appointed and leaflets and bird pictures distributed. It will soon be time to uproot poison ivy from your grounds. Let us see to it that no one suffers this year, as many did last year, from our neglect in the matter of destroying this harmful vine. If you love the birds, and appreciate their economic value, write letters quickly to your representatives at Trenton, asking them to pass Assembly Bill No. 22, and defeat Senate Bill 39. If the latter becomes law guns can be used any time of year and all our birds will be at the mercy of men in the woods. Faltoute Bros. will have S. C. white leghorn baby chicks for sale March 30 and April 4. To insure delivery book orders now. Tel. 568-J. adv. 2t. U. S. SENATORSHIP

HON. C. N. FOWLER.

The Important Question For the People to Decide is: Fitness For Service in the United States Senate at This Critical Juncture.

Hon. Charles N. Fowler was a member of congress for sixteen years, from 1895 to 1911, and chairman of the banking and currency committee for eight years. While a member of the house of representatives he was regarded as one of the leaders and is now recognized throughout the country as the highest authority in the United States on financial and banking subjects. He is the father of the tariff commission plan, having introduced a bill for that purpose in 1897 for the purpose of incorporating a provision for a tariff commission in the Dingley tariff act. He has been a persistent advocate of a merchant marine and has also always been a strong supporter of adequate defense.

It is a striking fact that from his entrance into public life, he has from the very outset been an advocate and strongly in favor of those great national reforms that are now pressing upon the country for solution—a merchant marine, a stable tariff condition by means of a tariff commission, an adequate defense and a financial and banking system founded upon the eternal principles of banking economics and American experience. These are the very questions now pressing for solution, a circumstance that demonstrates his vision, wisdom and courage as a statesman.

Legislation in congress is a distinct, a special business by itself, just as the law, medicine, banking and manufaturing are, and real success is no more to be expected in congressional legislation without training than in any of the professions or special lines of business. You would not hire a blacksmith to run a jewelry store, a dentist to run a blacksmith shop nor a railroad engineer to steer a ship across the ocean. Nor should men be sent to the United States senate without any training whatever in matters of national legislation unless some very good reason can be given for doing so, especially at a time of such vast importance to the general welfare of the whole country.

It is a matter of record and is a recognized fact that very seldom does a man win distinction and secure a commanding place in the United States senate who has not already served in the House of Representatives and there learned the business of national legislation. Once in a great while a man of the legal profession and of great ability has achieved marked success in the United States senate. But the exceptions are very rare and only serve to prove and accentuate the rule. Experience in congressional legislation counts for more in the United States senate than almost anywhere in the world. In fact, it is essential to efficiency and real accomplishment.

Mr. Fowler's Statement Follows.
 "To the Republicans of New Jersey: "Realizing that the work to be done in congress at the close of the world-wide war now raging is of the most vital importance to our country and believing that I can be of some real service at this crisis in our national affairs to the people, I shall be a candidate in the primaries for the nomination to be a candidate for the United States senatorship.

"The relations of all the powers of the world are undergoing radical changes. Treaties made 100, 50, yes, even 25 years ago, will be out of date in the new and changed condition that must arise through the present upheaval. All of our international treaties should be reconst in the light of the future needs of our country."

Tariff Revision.
 "The tariff should be revised immediately to prevent the inundation of our country by foreign made goods, the production of the enforced poverty of the nations of Europe at the close of the war."
 "An intelligent and wise revision of the tariff law will increase the government revenues from this source by at least $150,000,000. We greatly need the money to make up the waste and deficits of the Democratic administration."
 "Starting with this revision, we should establish a tariff commission to work out the complicated problem of tariff adjustments and trade relations. This work will take five or six years therefore the proposal to delay revision until the commission has completed its work would be most unwise."

It would be suicidal. At the end of five years, under the Underwood tariff law, there would scarcely be left one single industrial stone upon another. Revision should be made at once for the purpose of securing us a safe margin of protection all along the line and for the purpose also of establishing a sound basis for any trade treaties into which we may see fit to enter.

Merchant Marine.
 "We should proceed immediately to rebuild our merchant marine by adopting the same policy followed by the founders of the government in 1789 by which 60 per cent of our imports and 88 per cent of our exports were carried in American ships for nearly forty years. Through the legal main of diplomacy we lost practically all of it. What was left was a source of actual contempt of other nations. In 1910 only 10 per cent of our imports and 7 per cent of our exports were carried in American bottoms. If this policy of the founders of the government should now be adopted it would bring into the treasury of the government approximately $200,000,000 annually. We need this money very greatly for our army, coast defenses and to build up an adequate navy.

"These two additional resources to our government revenues would bring into the United States treasury $350,000,000 annually and at the same time guarantee our prosperity and the up building of the American merchant marine. Again, we should carry away all the goods that we want to sell in our own ships and bring back what we want to buy.

Financial and Banking Reform.
 "We should proceed at once to repeal the alien and obnoxious Federal Reserve Bank Act which is today costing the American people $100,000,000 more every year than a right banking system would. But more than that financial loss, this ill advised foreign scheme is in no way adapted to our particular needs and peculiar conditions. Furthermore, it is fundamentally unsound, structurally wrong and will certainly without the possibility of escape, result in overwhelming disaster.

National Preparedness.
 "These various proposed legislative enactments call for a complete reconstruction of our foreign relations and of our economic policies. But beyond and still more important than all these combined, but at the same time involving them, is the question of a true national preparedness which consists of a potential citizenship in character, intelligence, physique and patriotism of economic efficiency in men, production, commerce and banking; of efficiency in government which guarantees equal opportunities, equal justice and complete and adequate defense.

"How these great and vital ends of our economic life and our governmental administration are to be achieved shall at a proper time bring to the attention of my fellow citizens of New Jersey.

"The election of 1916 will be the most important held since the constitution was adopted in 1789, with the single exception of that of 1860.
 "Patriotism should and will, in the hour of stress, inspire the voters to lead them to express their honest opinions when casting their ballots. They will be no time to pay a compliment to friends at the expense of a nation. Honor and devotion to country call for a vote of convictions in the exercise of your choice of a United States senator. Only by being honest with yourselves and true to your convictions can you be truly patriotic and prove yourselves worthy citizens of this great republic, in which the people are the royal rulers. Vote as you honestly think, that's all, and the nation will be safe, for the only sure defense of this country is in an unshakable public opinion."

Murray Hill Home Benefit a Success.
 The concert given by the Till Family, Friday, March 10th, was a great success. The Y. M. C. A. auditorium was crowded to its capacity and everybody was delighted with the unique entertainment. The committee reports that after all expenses are met the "Home" will receive something over two hundred and fifty dollars. A part of this sum will be expended for beds and bedding. The committee in charge of the concert is now considering the advisability of forming a permanent Ladies' Auxiliary to help the work of the "Home." On the committee of arrangements were: Mrs. Fred W. Brown, Mrs. German F. Rowe, Mrs. Fred W. Cliff, Mrs. Charles Collins, Mrs. Frank C. Doan, Mrs. Howard D. McGeorge, Mrs. George A. Stanc, Mrs. William V. T. Samuel, Mrs. Walter E. Gude, Mrs. Arthur Mangar, Mrs. James H. Christie, Miss Louise Morse, Mrs. R. D. Baker, Mrs. A. H. McIntosh, Mrs. George Lange, Mrs. J. A. Wootton.

SENATE PASSES
PIERCE'S BILL

Provides Tax Boards of Three Members.

$15,000 SAVING TO COUNTIES

Opposition Develops to Assemblyman Randall's Bill on Banking—Resolution Introduced in Senate For Purchase of Walt Whitman's Old Home in South Jersey.

(Special Correspondence.)
Trenton, March 15.—The senate has passed Senator Pierce's bill reorganizing county tax boards. The bill provides for a board of three members, to be called a board of equalization. It would have three members, a chairman selected under civil service and paid by the state and two other members appointed by the governor, whose salaries would be paid by the counties. The salaries for all three of the members of the board would be regulated by the size of the counties.

The two side members would sit only when cases were on appeal, and they would be of different political parties. It is claimed that the measure will save the state $60,000 and the counties about $15,000. The Democrats presented a solid opposition to the measure. The senate passed the Gaunt road bills. They provide for a complete reorganization of the road department, with a central governing board, an engineer and an assistant engineer.

The state would be divided into districts, and there would be representatives from each district. Senator Hennessey of Bergen objected strenuously to that provision in the bill which would allow boards of freeholders in asking for bids to have closed specifications. He said that much corruption might arise through this provision, by allowing certain patented road materials to be specified when bids were asked for.

The senate has passed over the governor's veto Senator Hutchinson's resolution authorizing the appointment of a commission to codify and revise the election laws, with a report to the next legislature. A resolution by Senator Egan of Hudson, calling for an investigation into the question of fire insurance rates, was passed.

Herrick's Bill Passes.
It recites the fact that under the present laws competition has virtually ceased among the insurance companies and the people using fire insurance are the sufferers. The senate passed a bill by Assemblyman Herrick of Warren county which allows the state to give to counties the sum of $5,000 annually. If applied for before July 4, for use in preliminary road construction.

If any county has not applied for its share of the appropriation before the 4th of July its share of the money may be devoted to work in a county which has made application. The senate passed a bill by Assemblyman Godfrey allowing the commissioner of roads to accept federal aid in road building. Another measure by Assemblyman Johnson, which was passed, fixes a uniform fee of $3 for all drivers' licenses instead of the present graduated rates.

The other measure passed over the governor's veto was the Schone law fixing the date of the primaries for delegates to the national conventions at the fourth Tuesday in April. The governor objected to that section of the bill which provided that any one nominated by petition to run at the presidential primaries must withdraw before April 6 or his name would go on the ballot for the primaries. The vote passing this measure over the veto was 35 to 18.

There was very little debate on this bill, but when the labor department bill was up Assemblyman Godfrey of Atlantic accused the governor of inconsistency in his objection to retaining Commissioner Bryant at a salary of $6,000. Godfrey claimed that when the measure increasing Bryant's salary from $4,000 to $6,000 was passed in 1912 Governor Flieder, who was then in the senate, voted for it. Minority Leader Germ and Assemblyman Stinson of Hudson, Democrats, attacked the overriding of the governor's veto. They claimed that the bill was putting too much power in the hands of one man and that it was contrary to the ideas of the economy and efficiency commission, who had recommended the government of departments by boards. They also claimed that it violated the spirit of the constitution in taking away from the governor the power to appoint a successor to Bryant.

Governor Signs Bills.
The governor signed senate bill 115 by Mr. Egan authorizing the governing body of a municipality to pay to the widow of a resident of any member of the gov. the body who lost his life or was injured in the performance of municipal duty a sum not to exceed $500. The governor also signed Senator Hennessey's bill amending the borough act by providing that the consent of more than one-half of the property owners shall be necessary before any street can be improved.

At a hearing on Assemblyman Randall's bill permitting the Morris banking plan to be operated in the state there was much dispute as to the rates of interest that could be charged under the plan. Those opposing the bill charged that money would be permitted under the system. They pointed out that the Russell Sage foundation in charge of the Federal Loan association had condemned the plan. The opponents of the measure said it would save small borrowers from loan sharks.

A delegation of farmers has waited on Governor Flieder asking that his own Senator Wells' bill exempting farm and domestic help from the provisions of the workmen's compensation law.

In the assembly a resolution has been introduced looking toward the purchase of the home of Walt Whitman, the poet, by the state. It provides for a commission of three senators and three assemblymen to inquire into the subject. Assemblyman Morgan's bill providing for the establishment of a normal school at Elizabeth has been passed by the house. Favorable action was also taken by the house on Senator Mathis' resolution for the appointment of a commission to investigate the acquisition of toll roads and bridges in the state. The bill of Senator Colgate creating a commission to observe the working of the compensation laws passed the house, as did also Senator Wells' bill exempting farm and domestic laborers from the operation of the compensation laws. It is said that the governor has declared that he will not sign the latter bill on the ground that these classes of labor should not be exempt from the provisions of the law. The house has also passed Senator Colgate's bill providing for the establishment of colonies for the care of feeble-minded males.

Read Bill Out of Committee.
Despite the determination of Senator Gaunt of Gloucester not to have Senator Egan's bill providing for a seven-million dollar bond issue for road construction reported by the senate committee on highways, the other two members of the committee, Senators Martens and Colgate, who desired to have it come out of committee, reported. So determined was Senator Gaunt that the bill should not come before the senate that he refused to allow the other two members of the committee to have the bill, which was locked in his desk. Senator Colgate and Senator Martens then took a blank piece of paper, wrote the number of the bill on it and reported it as Senator Egan's bill. Senator Egan then moved that the bill which he had originally introduced be adopted in place of the one reported. This was done, and in this manner the bill was brought before the senate for second reading. Under the rules of the senate it will take its place on the calendar for final passage next week.

It is said that Senator Gaunt has opposed to the consideration of the measure until his two bills reorganizing the road department have been disposed of and for this reason did not wish to report it.

Two bills have been passed by the house over the governor's veto, and it is probable that the senate will take the same action on the measures. By a vote of 29 to 18 the bill of Assemblyman Godfrey of Atlantic, which was vetoed by the governor on the ground that it was a term extender pure and simple, was passed by the house. The measure reorganizes the department of labor and extends the term of Commissioner Bryant, the present head of the department, for five years. His term expires this year, and it is said that Governor Flieder declared that he would not reappoint him.

Pierson's Bills Through.
Assemblyman Pierson's bill regularizing municipal finances was passed by the senate. The bills are the result of investigations of a commission appointed at the last legislature to investigate the subject. Much opposition to them has come from the larger cities of the state, on the ground that the measures made sweeping changes in municipal financing and should be allowed to rest for another year, until their provisions were better understood. These measures provide for a uniform fiscal year beginning on Jan. 1, regularize sinking funds and their retirement, provide for sinking fund commissions, provide for issuing of notes in anticipation of unpaid taxes and penalize municipalities who do not pay the taxes owing to the counties on time. Another important provision of the measure is that requiring a county and municipal budget to be made up showing the proposed expenditures for the ensuing year and the sources of revenue. Senator Pledge of Union strongly urged that the measure be adopted on the floor of the senate chamber, and he was seconded by Senator Hennessey of Bergen and Senator Easton of Morris. Senator Intubich of Mercer was opposed to the bill on the ground that they violated home rule in municipalities. Senator Colgate of Essex thought that they should be allowed to lie over for a year until their provisions were better understood. Senator McLean of Passaic opposed them for this reason, he said, many citizens from his district who were familiar with financial matters thought that they were too drastic in their provisions. Many of the measures received a two-thirds majority of one, but all were passed.

The bill allowing an individual to obtain a conviction under the criminal laws can be had, and there is no way to prevent subsequent violations of the law. Under Mr. Geran's measure an application may be made to the court of chancery either by the prosecutor or on behalf of a private citizen for an injunction against the houses. The injunction prevents the house from being rented for a year unless the landlord posts a bond that no further violations of the law shall occur.

Roast Beef Dinner for Men of the Baptist Church.

On Monday evening last at seven o'clock the men of the Bible Study Club held their monthly social in the lecture room of the church. Covers were laid for sixty. The dinner was very excellently served by Captain Louis Stahl and his losing team in the new membership campaign for February.

Guests of the evening were the Rev. Charles F. Taylor, pastor of the Congregational Church of Greenwich, Conn., and Mr. Elmendorf of Summit. Mr. Elmendorf-entertained the company in his usual pleasing way. His imitations and recitations being repeatedly greeted with prolonged applause.

The Rev. Mr. Taylor addressed the men, telling them that they could and should become a power-behind decent local government. He said they could accomplish this by giving public matters more than passing thought; by possessing themselves with the full facts concerning all local issues and basing their campaign for better political conditions on the actual facts. He stated that the facts intelligently presented to any community will always win decent government for that community. When politicians learn that the voter is as well or better informed on public matters than he is, he will begin to walk a mighty straight line.

Mr. Taylor, as Warden, engineered the fight against the corrupt political machine that had for years dominated Greenwich Township very much to the detriment of the majority of the people, with the result of putting that faction out of business. As a result of this victory the community has enjoyed a very much higher order of all things beneficial to the public in general. Greenwich can now get anything that will be a real public benefit, not only in the Township but also from the County and State. This condition was brought about entirely by the decent folks putting themselves in full possession of all the facts of conditions that had oppressed them for years and then by presenting these facts honestly to the voters. He further stated that this organization should work in co-operation with those similar organizations of the churches of this community, always having as a foundation the teachings of our Lord Jesus Christ. Any organization with the backing of Jesus Christ that will possess itself with the facts surrounding any unsound local condition and then intelligently present those facts to the voter will be able to overcome corruption.

Baptist Men's Club which has been in existence for only eleven years is growing steadily. There were present last Sunday thirty-seven members and the new membership campaign is being enthusiastically waged with no present church competition.

During the past week, the Trustees of the Library received from Mr. William D. Brooke, a two and a three dollar note issued to the Beverly Bank, New Jersey, July 4, 1861. These notes are a very interesting and valuable addition to the coin and note collection belonging to the museum.

The Weather Change Not.

The oldest weather diary known to be in existence was kept by a Lincolnshire parson, William Merle, close on 600 years ago. From 1537 to 1544 he wrote it up, often day by day, in Latin, and his manuscript, being on vellum, was somehow preserved and is now in the Bodleian. Merle did not trouble himself with the popular lore about "stoney influences," but stuck to an accurate record of fact, in the spirit at least of the modern meteorologists. And from his jottings it seems that he had pretty much the same kind of weather to deal with as folks in his parish of Frilby experience now. Contrary to theory, the chances of six centuries have not reduced the number of wet days in the year. London Chronicle.

Vanilla Beans. The vanilla bean is the costliest bean in the world. It thrives in Mexico, chiefly in Oaxaca and Misantla. It grows wild and is gathered and marketed by the natives. Just as they come from the forests the beans sell at $10 per 1,000. After the beans are dried and cured they are worth from $10 to $11 a pound, according to quality. They are used by druggists and confectioners and are an important article of commerce.

GEORGE G. BAKER SAYS

He is constantly adding to his clientele the former customers of high priced custom tailors—tailors who charge $50 to $75 per suit. The reason is simply that Royal Tailoring satisfies these men. The percentage of alterations on Royal Tailoring, he is convinced, is much lower than that of the custom tailor. And the style of Royal Tailored garments is inimitable.
