

STREETS, DRAINAGE AND LIGHTS

Councilmen Wiley and White Address Board of Trade—Officers Elected for Ensuing Year

The problem of streets and drainage in Summit was treated in a detailed paper by Councilman Benjamin V. White before the annual meeting of the Board of Trade on Tuesday evening in Masonic Hall. Councilman J. S. Wiley, president of the Board gave a talk on suggestions as to the street lighting system in the city.

The annual election of officers resulted in the re-election of Mr. Wiley as president; vice-presidents, O. B. Merrill, Romeo Berry, R. F. Decker; secretary, Fred W. Clift and treasurer, C. S. Hickok, 2nd. Members of the Board of Directors: S. W. Borden, J. W. Clift, H. de Seiding, Dr. C. S. Hardy, N. M. Hotchkiss, C. H. C. Jagels, J. J. Lane, W. C. Renwick, W. H. Rogers, Geo. V. Muchmore, Robert J. Murphy, E. F. Kaley, Harry O. May, Geo. H. Lamer, M. V. Veland, J. C. Wiley, E. Seelye, Harry M. White called attention to the lack of system in the street work in this city. He said: "I make no apology when I admit frankly that our present system of road building and maintenance is archaic, unsatisfactory in its results and extravagantly wasteful. The taxpayers' money in this one department of city management is not being spent to the best possible advantage, although under present conditions it is being administered to the limit of your committee's ability."

Assuming therefore that our street surfaces are unsatisfactory in their present condition," said Mr. White later, "and that the cost of maintaining them in such unsatisfactory condition is wasteful and extravagant and assuming further that before any extensive move toward permanent pavements can be made the general problem of sub-drainage must be met and disposed of, what is the wish of our taxpayers? Our annual appropriation is about $35,000.00. Last year went for patching small areas, $3,000.00 for cleaning crosswalks, catch basins and gutters, picking up papers, snow removal, care of parks and general machinery and equipment account, $11,000.00 for sprinkling, oiling and the Tarpis B treatment which has laid our dust so successfully and by forming a waterproofed wearing surface has reduced materially the amount of dust which automobile traffic carries to macadam roads and at the same time making for smoother and cleaner streets. The balance of $5,000.00 was used for new work, by which I mean the resurfacing or rebuilding of our present streets. This amount is so limited that all work of a permanent or semi-permanent character, such as the Belgian block and asphalt on Park avenue, the macadam on Pine Grove avenue, and the proposed concrete on Summit avenue, comes out of the public account, and the city's share of public improvements, and is paid from current taxation.

"In order to make any progress this amount should never be less than $15,000.00 a year, which, with the $35,000.00 in the road account, would make a total of $50,000.00 for roads in the city budget, $20,000.00 of which would go for new construction at the annual rate of about one-half mile of the heavy permanent type or a mile of the lighter semi-permanent type, depending on the conditions of the present road, conditions of present foundation, etc. Such piecemeal progress is very uneconomical, as roads built in such small sections do not last as long as roads built in larger sections for various reasons; chief among which is that mud and dirt carried from an unimproved section of road onto an improved section act as abrasives and rapidly destroy the improved portion. Economy calls for a sufficient expenditure of any one time to lay an appreciable amount of road and also for a systematic program so that connecting and paralleling roads be completed in sequence and as rapidly as possible and that the heaviest type of construction be completed before the lighter.

"One cannot therefore escape the conclusion that road building by current taxation is unprogressive, futile and uneconomical. The same amount of taxation put into interest charges on the amortization of serial bonds to run out during the life of the improvement, would not increase the tax rate but would provide in the shortest length of time an extensive system of good roads with a maximum length of life due to uniform wear and equalized distribution of traffic, for traffic always seeks out the good road."

This address has been printed and copies will be distributed through the mails in a few days. On this subject the president was authorized to appoint a committee to advise ways and means to get an expression of the will of the people get the problem before them, and get the people behind the council.

Mr. Wiley's Suggestions on the Street Lighting.

Mr. Wiley's three main points were that our present system is comparatively expensive and relatively unsatisfactory; that we must plan and build our lighting system not only for the present but for our city's future; that the cost of doing so can be kept well within the limits of what we can afford. The chief feature of what Mr. Wiley believes to be a desirable plan

T. L. A. BUSY PLANNING. Executive Board Discusses Spring and Summer Activities.

The regular meeting of the Executive Board of the Town Improvement Association was held at the Highland Club on Tuesday morning with a large attendance. Reports of the various committees were given including the plans for the spring work of both the Playground and Street Committees and the Playground Committee.

The Educational Committee stated that the luncheons at Brayton School are being carried on very successfully with an increasing number being served. The project of the Junior Civic League in all the schools has many members who have signed their pledge cards and enrolled themselves in the interest of good government.

This aims to teach property rights, pride in cleanliness of streets, loyalty to our flag and the principles which underlie all interests in the making for good citizenship.

As the spring season approaches the Playground Committee is formulating plans for the carrying on the work which has been constantly growing and hopes to meet an additional demand on another centre in East Summit so that those little children need not come twice a day from such a distance to the main Playground near the station. The work of the Playground has proved more and more interesting during the growing period until the ripened vegetables crowned their efforts taught many valuable lessons. The sense of property rights must be taught the children in some such tangible form for that seems the only way to keep from raiding the gardens and orchards around Summit.

B. & L. ASSN PROSPERING. Splendid Record Being Made by Hill City Association.

The Hill City Building & Loan Association, although only three years old, is making a splendid record. Last year there were 575 shares issued. The rate earned for the year was 6.84 per cent. Individual shareholders, numbering 179, have 1,449 shares. Practically speaking all the investments are made in Summit, and are along conservative, safe lines. A new series of shares will be opened next Wednesday, to which attention is called on page two.

The third annual report, just issued, shows total receipts of $19,894.99. The disbursements include the following: loans on bond and mortgage, $14,500.00; cash on hand, $709; dues withdrawn, $2,362; paid borrowed money, $700; salary secretary, $120; rent, $60; printing, postage, advertising, $140.92; cash in bank, $1,175.76.

Marsh to Drive "Summit" Ambulance.

The "Summit Ambulance," which is to be a part of the American Ambulance Corps, will be driven by Mrs. H. Birdsall Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton S. Marsh, of this town. When it is recalled that through the benefit performance held at the Lyric Theatre a few weeks ago a sum of $1,637 was raised and sent to the ambulance fund, and that since that time $500 has been raised to pay the expenses of the driver, it is therefore apparent that the ambulance is thoroughly a community gift. The money was raised largely by many small contributions and its generosity. The congratulatory fact that a Summit young man is to drive the Summit ambulance adds greatly to the spirit of the gift.

Mr. Marsh was graduated last week from Cornell University with a class of twenty, all the members of which will form one of the units of an ambulance corps which will sail from this country for France been taking a week. Mr. Marsh's lecture and his graduation in archery and his graduation under the microscope and his Cornell prize design, problem set by the Beaux Arts Society of New York.

"GOOD FOR SUMMIT, NEW JERSEY," SAID EX-PRES. ROOSEVELT ABOUT N. D. O.

Known All Over the Country, Summit is Pointed to as a Model—Review of the N. D. O.'S First Year by the Mayor of Summit

The National Defense Organization of Summit, or "N. D. O.," as it has now become widely and popularly known, was born just a year ago; to be exact, on Friday, April 14, 1916. This is a date that, in my opinion, is of prime and lasting import in the bright annals of Summit; for through the work of the N. D. O., Summit has become justly famed as a centre of rational and practical patriotic endeavor; and I am very glad to respond to your timely request for a brief review of what has been done, and what the accomplishment seems to me to mean for our city and for the country.

Collier's Weekly, in concluding a very laudatory article about Summit and the N. D. O., entitled, "Getting Your Town Ready," in a recent issue, (March 17), said: "If you want to get your town on the preparedness map, Summit has set an example worth following."

Following the appearance of this and similar articles in other publications, a flood of letters poured in from all over the country asking for information and help; and were promptly responded to in detail, the N. D. O. being thus enabled to spread the gospel far and wide and accomplish a real national service. (It will be of interest to know that, in addition to innumerable inquiries from comparatively nearby places in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts, letters asking for assistance in forming similar bodies were received, for instance, from such widely scattered places as Bismarck, North Dakota; Waycross, Georgia; Columbia, Missouri; Jackson, Michigan; Chetopa, Kansas; Pierce, Nebraska; Fond du Lac, Wisconsin; Peoria, Illinois; Seaside, Oregon, etc.)

It must be remembered that things were very different a year ago. When the eleven men who started the N. D. O. met at the Highland Club, on the night of April 14, 1916, not even the great Preparedness parades that tend to so much to rouse the country had been held. The National Security League had done wonderful work in educating people to think. There was much talk, all over, but no action. The men who met that night determined that Summit should lead off, and do something, not merely talk patriotic ally, and bewail the inaction of the Federal authorities; but act. Henry Lytle, West Executive Secretary of the National Security League, who was present as a guest, said at the end of the long evening: "If you Summit people put over what you have planned tonight, it will be a real epoch in the history of the country; for it will be the first instance of a whole community mobilizing its entire resources and actually doing concrete work for real definite, rational Preparedness in the broadest, most effective way."

So, Summit proceeded to "put it over!"

In a letter read nearly a year later, at the Gen. Wood meeting held at the Lyric Theatre, Summit, on February 20, 1917, ex-President Theodore Roosevelt wrote, "Good for Summit, New Jersey!"

Until we get into universal training, the best work that can be done is just such work as you and your fellow citizens of Summit have been doing. I wish you well with all my heart."

What Summit has done, and is doing, through the N. D. O., is simple, but far-reaching.

Convinced that universal military service and training is the only just and equitable anti-militaristic stand

THE ATHENAEUM. Russia's Revolution for Purpose of Winning the War.

Last evening in Lincoln School the Athenaeum was held. "Russia up the old regime not because it was an autocracy but in order to win the war and for no other reason for Russia is determined to see this thing through." The speaker was Mr. Charles Johnston, the author, university lecturer, translator and publicist. His address was on the Russian revolution and personal experiences and impressions in that country. The Athenaeum president, Mr. Ernest Dressel North, presided, and in opening the meeting asked the audience to sing America which was responded to heartily. Mrs. Daniel Burke presiding at the piano.

This was the closing meeting of the Athenaeum season. The annual meeting will be held on May 10th, at the Highland Club.

After stating that the Russians under the new government "will be made as one man to defeat the enemy," Mr. Johnston gave his opinion of the former Czar.

He said: "I have nothing but sympathy and affection for Emperor Nicholas. He is simply 'down on his luck.' I think he will go down in history as a great man, a great idealist, but afflicted with certain weakness."

The first practical plan of world peace was thought out and carried out by Nicholas. He conceived and established representative regime in Russia, which has now taken over the government. "The revolution," he said, "was not the cause, but the effect of the Emperor's work. The speaker then called attention to the former ruler having conceived and carried through the abolition of alcohol in Russia. All these things he said were indications of the real man. He told of Alexander II, grandfather of the present government in 1881 and freed the slaves and the Balkan states.

In describing Nicholas' family the speaker said: "Nothing is more unfair or unjust than to couple the names of the Romanoffs with those of the Hapsburgs and Hohenzollerns. The growth of the empire is one with the growth of the Romanoffs. At the same time it was the hand of Providence which intervened to save Russia from treachery being planned at that moment."

Splendid pictures were presented of Rasputin, his tragic death, and of the three other great leaders in recent events in that land. The Duma he said is a very heterogeneous body, an element of mysticism in the whole. He emphasized, "The Russians are religious, he declared, and love the miraculous side of religion."

Mr. Johnston claimed that there were certain elements in the Russian constitution which are far in advance of ours. He further claimed that the Russian people will show an ability in self government "liberty" he said success all depends on what you are going to do.

In telling of Russia's achievements in literature, music, painting, the speaker declared that "the judiciousness of youth in her veins." Mass or team consciousness in Russia is the order he said and not a keen, sharply defined personal consciousness. He believes the war will do Russia a boundless good.

Having married a Russian woman, and lived and studied in that country many years, Mr. Johnston speaks with authority on this subject. His address provided a most fitting and enjoyable close to another splendid Athenaeum season.

REGRET MORGAN'S RESIGNATION. Church Reluctant to Let Pastor Go—Plan Big Public Reception for Next Thursday

At the Congregational meeting of the Central Presbyterian Church, Monday evening, the following minute was adopted by a unanimous vote, having been previously adopted unanimously by the Session of the Church: "To the Reverend Minot C. Morgan: 'Inasmuch as you have tendered your resignation as our pastor, and believing that you have taken that action only after a very careful and prayerful weighing of all the factors involved, we see no course open to us other than to accept it. We do so, however, with sincerest regret and reluctance, because of the happy and harmonious relations existing between us and because of the unity and prosperity in the church so largely resultant from your pastorate. You leave a church that is so loyally and affectionately attached to you as to be a cause of comment to all who know our situation.'"

"During the thirteen years in which you have been our pastor, the church has made very substantial advances, judged by all available standards, in every department."

"The membership of our church has nearly doubled during your ministry, and as you know, there is an ideal contentedness and enthusiasm with increased spirituality, and a world-wide outlook which has brought us into sympathy and co-operation with many diverse activities of the Kingdom. The financial work of the church has grown more than correspondingly with the membership, and it is a gratifying feature of today that the benefices more than equal the total home budget."

The Sunday School has prospered proportionately with the church, and each year it has been the chief source of new accession to the church membership. Your interest in this work has been evinced by your weekly presence in the school and your readiness to serve whenever possible. The North Summit Neighborhood House has been built and twice extended during your pastorate, and has achieved a notable work during all these years amongst the foreign-born of the town."

"Our beautiful and stately church building has been erected during your pastorate and today our membership has reached its full capacity, and our activities still crowd the old church building and the old parish house as well."

"The Women's Missionary Society has increased greatly in numbers, has undertaken every available task, and has been one of the mainstays in the activities of the church. The Brotherhood has been active in many lines, including Bible study and social service through the Neighborhood House, and educational work in the missionary field. The Young People's League has been auspiciously inaugurated, and has grown in numbers and is full of enthusiasm and promise."

"Your earnest labors and your ready enthusiasm for all the activities of the church have been greatly appreciated by those laboring and interested therein, and to your co-operation and support we feel that the success of all these is largely due. Not only have you labored within the church, but your activities in, and your sympathies with, every movement for civic improvement and betterment in Summit, and your advocacy of national righteousness, have brought you into a wider service for the whole community, and you have redounded to the honor and credit of our church."

"During your pastorate with us you established your own home by bringing to it one who has been respected and loved by the whole congregation, and who has entered heartily and effectively into so many branches of the church work as to make ours a double loss."

"Since you have decided that it is your duty to accept a call to a larger field, you go with the God-speed of a whole congregation that will hold you and yours in prayerful and loving remembrance."

Reception Next Week—Trustees Elected.

The meeting also re-elected as trustees: Chas. D. Ferry, F. H. Doremus, and J. H. Shafer.

A public reception to Mr. and Mrs. Morgan will be given by the church next Thursday evening by the chapel. On Sunday, April 22, Mr. Morgan will preach his last sermon before leaving his charge here to accept the call of the Fort Street Presbyterian church at Detroit, Mich. As it is so close to the vacation period the church presented to Mr. Morgan five hundred dollars as a vacation fund.

Mr. Morgan plans to arrive in Detroit to take up his new duties about May 15th. Between April 22nd and May 15th, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan and family will spend their time between Summit and their former home in Madison and Atlantic City.

To arrange for the public reception next week, the following committee was named: D. B. Merrill, J. M. Kellogg, B. C. Miner, Alan Potts, to cooperate with a committee of four from the women's mission society to secure the pulpit committee to secure a successor to Mr. Morgan, there will be British army.

OPERA RECITAL AT MRS. BASSETT'S

The Summit Choral Society has been most fortunate in securing through the interest of Mrs. Clara B. Bassett, a member of its Advisory Board, the services of Mrs. George Lee Brady who will give one of her unique opera recitals at Mrs. Bassett's residence on the afternoon of April 26th.

A limited number of tickets at one dollar and a half may be obtained from the following patrons: Mrs. Carroll P. Bassett, Mrs. C. G. Winans, Mrs. Ruford Franklin, Mrs. W. B. Miles, Mrs. W. F. Adam, Mrs. J. F. Chamberlin, Mrs. F. H. Bergen, Mrs. G. B. Seelyer, Mrs. Chauncey Coles, Mrs. W. T. Wisner, 2nd, and from the committee on arrangements, Miss Esther White, Mrs. R. S. Street, Miss Hosenquest, Mrs. J. J. Allen and Mrs. H. L. Lyall.

It has been suggested by members of the Advisory Board that the Choral Society should publish at this time a financial statement. The membership, both Active and Associate, has shown a steady increase but not to such an extent as to make it self-supporting.

Receipts for the year, 1916-17: From membership dues both Active and Associate, fines, sales of single tickets for concerts, $950.00. The Choral Society desires not to be criticized for this effort to raise funds at a time when all hearts are heavy for it is taking up no new work but is simply endeavoring to fulfill its present obligations.

OUR WAR WITH GERMANY.

Next Sunday morning at the usual hour the Rev. James W. Macdonald will preach in All Souls' Church. In announcing to his congregation that he has asked Mr. Macdonald to exchange pulpits with him, Dr. Doan said in part: "Mr. Macdonald is an Englishman of Scotch descent. Like all the rest of us he believes in peace. In the present world-situation he feels that the world can know no permanent peace until the German military power is crushed."

In an article that Mr. Macdonald has just printed in the April number of a liberal religious monthly, the following significant paragraph was "blue penciled" by the editor: "I spent a year in Germany immediately before the war and saw and heard and read enough in the German newspapers to convince me that there were powerfully organized forces at work deliberately developing among the people a war-spirit for purposes of conquest."

SIGN FOR SERVICE.

Infantry Men Signing for Kind of Service They Can Give.

On Wednesday evening after a short drill Capt. Lytton gave the members a talk along the serious lines of the duty each man owed in the present war-situation. In order to find out just how each member of the company was situated for service, and to learn how much time each could give for drills and other duties before the actual call comes, three cards were distributed to all present, one of which is to be signed and returned, with the other two blank cards, to the Captain.

The yellow card states that a man cannot volunteer for active service, but says: "I will serve in the Home Guard and make sacrifices to attend a regular weekly drill and (if so ordered) an afternoon march out on Saturday or Sunday. If promoted I will in addition attend a weekly night class for instruction."

The blue card is the same as the yellow card but with this addition: "While organizing our Summit unit for active service I will in addition consecrate the following time to serve in any way in my power as my commanding officer may direct."

Dr. Wm. H. Lawrence, Jr., has agreed to take charge of an ambulance corps of the Summit Infantry Co. The organization of the corps will take place next week.

The Summit Dental Society through Dr. O. D. Bacheler, has offered its service gratis to the active service members of the Summit Infantry Company, indorsed by Capt. Lytton.

Announce Their Annual Sale of Canton Chinaware

In accordance with our usual custom of affording collectors of this delightful Oriental Chinaware the opportunity to add to their collections and at the same time introduce it to those who are not familiar with its quaint blue and white design—we offer for a limited time, our complete stock of Canton Chinaware at 1/4 off our regular prices which, notwithstanding the increase in ocean freight rates, have not been advanced. Everybody knows Canton Chinaware—the always popular blue and white "willow" pattern—with its pagodas, bridges, streams, boats, little figures of men and women, and the love birds. For over half a century Vantine's has been the headquarters in this country for Canton Chinaware, and in no other establishment in the United States may be found such a complete assortment as we always carry in stock.

BRAZIL HAS LITTLE WAR NEWS

Mrs. G. H. Smith—Describes Conditions in South America — Rejoices in U. S.
Patriotic Awakening

Editor of Summit Herald:

Sir—Way down here, on the underside of the continent, one hardly realizes that a world-wide war is in progress. All is so peaceful, so quiet, that the outside world is of so little general interest, that the newspapers publish only scraps of information, and rarely mention the United States. So, until copies of the "New York Times" reached us yesterday, we were almost without any news of the soul-stirring happenings of the last month. Now, we know that the true patriotic spirit of our country is ar-roused, and that we DO possess a national soul, courageous and strong, and we rejoice greatly.

The average intelligent Brazilian's interest in the war (and indeed every other Latin American's) is largely personal: whether this is because he is not in as close touch with Europe as we are, I cannot say, but his chief concern seems to be that the war has cut short his importation of automobiles, Parisian luxuries, etc., and prevented him from making his customary annual visit to Paris and London;
it has also curtailed his export of coffee to some extent, and made the raising of money upon the latter, a bit difficult.

As for any form of war-relief work being done here, there is none at all;
and again this is equally true of South America generally. The English colony of Buenos Ayres has an organization to help the British Red Cross, and I understand that the people of French Guiana show some activity, but other than perhaps the work of some one individual, nothing else is being done. It is true, that two years ago, there was opened here in Rio, a room, to aid the British Red Cross.
It ran for about two weeks, was an enormous success, (probably on account of its novelty,) and netted about 4,000 Milreis, ($1,000.00.) But this was entirely the work of the American residents, and had the cachet of our Ambassador, Mr. Morgan, a man of great popularity among Brazilians and Americans alike.

As there are numbers of foreign residents here, this state of indifference was a great surprise and shock to me, especially when I thought of all the relief work we are doing at home. And again, when one remembers that there are (or were) very many wealthy Brazilians, Argentines, Chilians, and Venezuelans living in Paris, London, and other European capitals, it seems stranger still. For, has it not been the American living in France and England, who has shown the most activity in war-relief work, and in raising funds to carry on such work? Think of the names that have passed in review in Summit alone:
Madame Huard, Mrs. Duryea, Mr.
Faller, and Mrs. Conling; and add to these the names of Mrs. Vanderbilt, Mr. Hoover, Mrs. Waldorf-Astor, Mrs.
Wharton, Mrs. Atherton, Elsie de Wolfe, Zella de Milhau, and countless other men and women, Americans all, who have come among us, and asked,
and received from us help to carry on their unselfish work. But the South American residing in stricken Europe, who has returned to his native land, to obtain help for the wounded and those made desolate by this war, does not exist. This is not said in the way of censure, for a more generous people than the Brazilian, would be hard to find. It is very probable that if an appeal were made to them, they would respond liberally; and that the initiative alone is lacking.

We have lately returned from a visit to some friends in Petropolis, the summer capital, high up in the mountains, where all that is smartest and most aristocratic in Brazilian high-life, takes itself every summer for the months between December and April.
This resort was the favorite summer home of the late Emperor, Dom Pedro 2nd, and in fact, was created by him, and named after him. Here it is generally cool, while Rio is sweltering in the heat. The President of the Republic spends most of his time here, only going down to Rio for the special sessions of the Congress, and on other important occasions. The flowers of Petropolis are celebrated; orchids grow out of doors, and the hedges are of hydrangeas, with huge flower clusters of white, blue and rose, the size of cabbages. The flowering trees are all so unique, some covered with pink blossoms, some royal purple, and others flourishing yellow, all in their natural wild state. The modern Brazilian is satisfied only with a high-powered motor car, but members of the old noblesse of both Petropolis and Rio, still drive behind finely-bred mules, with heavy silver harness, in old Portuguese style.

Can You Save $1 a Month?

Can't you put aside a dollar or two a month? It means only a few cents a day. Invested in the Hill City Building and Loan Association at the rate of $1.00 a share each month it will yield an amount you perhaps never thought possible.

Even if you are endowed with plenty of this world's goods and feel no need to save, at least you might set your less fortunate neighbor the example of thrift and at the same time encourage the home development of your town.
Just see what a few dollars a month will do.

1 Share will return $200, enough to give you a trip to the Pacific Coast and return.

2 Shares will return $400, enough with which to purchase a modest building lot.

3 Shares will return $600, enough to make the first payment on a small house.

4 Shares will return $800, enough to purchase a small mortgage at 6 per cent.

5 Shares will return $1,000, enough to buy a bond or bank stock.

6 Shares will return $1,200, enough to purchase a splendid home site.

7 Shares will return $1,400, enough to nicely refurnish your home.

8 Shares will return $1,600, enough to pay all expenses of a trip around the world.

9 Shares will return $1,800, perhaps enough to pay off the mortgage on your house.

10 Shares will return $2,000, and might be used to start your boy in business or give him a two-year course at Stevens Institute.

15 Shares will return $3,000, enough to purchase a small fruit and vegetable farm.

20 Shares will return $4,000, enough to give your boy a four-year course in Yale, Harvard, Cornell or Princeton.

25 Shares will return $5,000, enough to put away as a life insurance fund for the man who cannot pass the medical test.

30 Shares will return $6,000, enough with which to buy an established business.

THE HOME VEGETABLE GARDEN

Published by Request of the Garden Society, Summit Branch. (Committee of the National Special Aid Society, Summit Branch.)

Harrow the asparagus bed in every direction before the stalks begin to come up.

Be sure to lift the sash early on hot sunny days. It quickly becomes excessively hot under glass in hot beds and cold frames.

Growers in New Jersey are urged to write to the Extension Specialist in Market Gardening for any details of vegetable work; or for an analysis of the soil where doubt exists as to just what treatment it needs for successful growing. Address H. W. DeBaux, State Agricultural College, New Brunswick, N. J.

This season, and for the first time, farmers can buy labeled seeds in New Jersey. To insure that the label given is dependable, the State Seed Laboratory must inspect and analyze samples of dealers' stock. All this work will be of decreasing value if the purchaser of seeds does not undertake to use the information given on the label. Be sure and carefully study of labels in order. Compare labels before you compare prices. Seeds offered for sale must show either a label with analysis or a label to the effect that the seeds are not tested or not clean. Absence of either one indicates failure to comply with the law. Purchasers should insist, for their own benefit, that dealers comply with the law. An explanation of the law is given in Circular 59 of the Station, Committee on the State Seed Analyst, at New Brunswick, for information. Co-operation in this will gain much toward the desired end.

The home gardener should find useful Farmers' Bulletin No. 255 on "Home Vegetable Garden" and Farmers' Bulletin 647 on "Home Garden in the South" which contains also many suggestions adapted to the North. These are procurable by dropping a postal request to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

The Station gives the following timely suggestions for vegetable growers:

"The planting of onions, lettuce, spinach, peas, potatoes, asparagus, etc., should be completed as soon as possible. The planting of those crops which are easily injured by frost will need to be done at the earliest moment when reasonable danger of frost is past. Early string beans and sweet corn are planted during the last part of April all over the state. The growers realize that the early sowing of these crops is necessary to do so, especially where machinery is available for the planting.

"Seed for the celery plants is sown out of doors in a well prepared seed bed. As the seed is very small it must be planted thinly and only an eighth of an inch deep. To hold the moisture until the seeds germinate, hay is spread over the seed bed about an inch thick and it is weighted down with bean poles, etc. When the white hair stage has been reached, the seedlings can be seen by lifting the hay, or possibly burlap, the covering is taken off.

"Forthook bush lima beans may be planted ten days earlier than lima beans because the seed can stand the cold weather soil a little better than pole lima bean seed can. However, even bush limas should not be planted before the first of May north of Burlington County. Fertilizer and some times composted manure are sown along in rows which are a few inches deep and three feet apart; then these are slightly ridged up. Many of the most successful growers in Gloucester County believe that it pays to plant the seed into the top of this broad, low ridge by sticking each bean into the soil with the eye down, an inch deep and fourteen inches apart. However, many growers, especially in the home garden, prefer to plant the seeds about six inches apart in the row.

"Pole lima beans are very apt to rot before they germinate, especially if the soil is not warmed up or there is a cold storm, or if fertilizer is too close to the seed. Therefore, planting should be delayed until along in May. Rows four feet apart are marked out several inches deep and as composted manure is generally used in the row it is put into the row before the poles are laid on the ground; then in the bottom of the row, about four feet apart, a hole about six inches deep is made with a crowbar. The bean poles are stood in these and the furrows are closed with a one-horse plow and hills are shaped up around each pole. Thus, the poles are easily set about a foot deep with very little work. About eight lima bean seeds are placed in a circle around the pole and about three inches from it. The seed is covered with about one and a quarter inches of soil.

"Cabbage is frequently attacked with root maggots. These enter the root principally in the month of May, hatching from eggs laid on the ground at the base of the plant. If tar paper discs are placed around the plants during that month infection by maggots will be prevented. Coal gas tar mixed with sand (1-100) is also effective if applied around the plants at the right time. Cabbage, cauliflower or Brussels sprouts should not be planted in that part of the garden where these crops have been grown for three preceding years, as club root may result. Savoy cabbage plants may be set as late as August first. They produce a tender and delicious cabbage which keeps well for winter use. The green cabbage worms which eat holes in the leaves are easily destroyed by poisons.

"Cauliflower culture involves practically the same operation as that for cabbage. Cauliflowers cannot develop properly during hot weather. When the young heads are the size of a half-dollar the leaves should be brought together and tied with string three-quarters of the way up. This enables the head to develop snow white. It will be ready to cut probably 6 to 10 days after tying up.

"Brussels sprouts are easy to grow but it is very hard to get a good strain of seed. The requirements are practically the same as cabbage or cauliflower. We mention 'Long Island Improved' in our planting table, for Brussels sprouts seed.

"Rhubarb is one of the first delicacies from the garden in spring. It requires no special treatment or care except rich soil and clean culture. Old roots may be sub-divided to renew their productivity. Rhubarb roots may be allowed to freeze in the Fall, then forced into growth in the cellar tender delicious stalks for winter use.

"Eggplants are subject to blight and require a sweet, rich soil for best development. The young plants need even warmer conditions than tomatoes and should not be set in the field until the weather is thoroughly settled and warm.

"Endive has the same cultural requirements as lettuce, but the leaves of the endive should be brought together when dry and loosely tied to blanch the heart. It is to be cut for use in 10 to 15 days before it is to be cut for use.

"Leeks when transplanted should be set 2 inches deep to produce white roots. They are very rugged and can stand almost any treatment.

"Asparagus plants one year old can be purchased and set along one side of the garden. They should be covered to full depth until the plants get well started and should not be cut until the third year. The first cutting period should not extend beyond a period of three weeks, but after that the bed may be kept cut until strawberry time without overtaxing the strength of the roots. During the cutting season the stalks should not be allowed to grow over ten inches high.

"Success in growing beets depends in a large measure upon one factor. Beets require sweet soil. If it is sour they cannot grow. They are a pretty reliable indicator as to whether the soil requires lime. The seed is usually planted in rows about 14 inches apart and half an inch deep. If it comes up too thick the thinning may be used for greens, like spinach seeds for the winter supply of beets need not be planted until about the first of July."

Western Union Plans to Train Operators.

The Western Union Telegraph Company has offered a bonus to about 1,000 manager-operators in small cities and towns for each junior operator such managers shall enlist and train. This unusual step arises out of the extraordinary growth in the use of the telegraph and the consequent need for competent operators to handle the company's business, with the dispatch which its standards require.

Any person, man or woman—over the age of sixteen and with the requisite education and intelligence can become a junior operator. The company provides the necessary instruction free. When the junior grade is reached, employment is assured.

In the larger cities, telegraph schools are already maintained for teaching operators. These, however, have not been able to turn out a sufficient number of trained men and women to wholly meet the present demands. It is now sought to give persons in smaller places as well as cities an opportunity to study telegraphy either by exclusive application or in conjunction with their other employment.

Darby Now Commissioner of Municipal Accounts.

Under authority of one of Assemblyman Pierson's municipal finance acts passed at the last session, State Treasurer William T. Read has appointed Walter R. Darby of Westfield as commissioner of municipal accounts. The appointment is for a term of three years at an annual salary of $3,000. Mr. Darby was one of Mr. Pierson's right hand men in the investigation of the subject of municipal finances and the preparation of the bills which ultimately received approval from the Legislature.

EDGE NAMES PLANTING DAY.

Governor Wants New Jersey to Increase Food Production.

Governor Walter E. Edge has issued a proclamation fixing Saturday, April 21, as Planting Day and all of the following week as planting week. The idea is to increase the interest in the production of fruits and vegetables because of the impending crisis. The pupils of the schools are asked to join in the movement and those who are engaged in planting and cultivating are asked to instruct those who do not know but who are willing to learn.

The Governor points out the coming need for food and asks that every one cultivate a garden and that all private and public plots be made available. He also gives a list of seeds and sets needed for a hundred foot drill, and also the approximate planting time as calculated for the middle part of the State.

The State Department of Agriculture and the various municipal governing bodies are called upon to aid in the work.

State Society S. A. R. to Present Ambulance.

A fully equipped army automobile ambulance is to be presented by the New Jersey Society, Sons of the American Revolution, to the Government for use in New Jersey or elsewhere as occasion may require, and if not needed by this Government, to be presented to France. The pledge was made at a recent meeting of the managers of the State Society, and a committee, consisting of Compatriots Armstrong of South Orange, and Muchmore and Jones of Summit, was appointed with power to secure and present the ambulance. The machine, including its maintenance for one year, will cost $1,600, and the 1,200 members of the society throughout the State will be asked to contribute the amount.

Baseball.
 Baseball is here! Practice has already begun, and the first game of the season will be played soon. Summit wants a strong team this year. Everyone can do his part to help. All who have not been out to practice this week should be out next week, whether they play or not!

Next week, probably the financial report of the Senior play committee will be published.

This week we have had soldiers in school. The N. D. O. members doing guard duty appear in uniform each morning at 8.30, and disappear at eleven a. m. The girls are patriotic too. As this issue goes to press we find some of the blackboards: "All girls interested in organizing a troop come to Miss Terry's room at 2.30." We hope we shall have a favorable report of this troop for next week's "News."

Girls' Basketball Game.
 At West Orange on March 30th, we met defeat again. Nevertheless, it was a good game, and our worst handicap came from the large court of our opponents. Our schedule now being completed, we have lost but two games out of the twelve.

The line-up was:
 Summit, West Orange.
 D. Youngs, Forwards, H. Renbold
 B. Walter, Forwards, M. Price
 B. Merighi, Forwards, R. Hobart
 L. Wagner, Guards, M. Wilson
 L. Rauter, Guards, G. Glaeser
 D. Le Huray, Center, H. Kozlay
 Side Center.

The High School Club.
 Mr. George Irving was the speaker at the High School Club this week. His subject was "Bad Language." He said that for one thing, bad language shows a sad lack of vocabulary, and these meaningless words are supposed to take the place of many other good words. It shows that the speaker is either intellectually lazy or stupid. These people never come to anything in later life, and never occupy positions of trust. Lastly, swearing is absolutely morally wrong. So, for that reason alone, everyone should avoid its use.

What is a True American?
 Monday morning the regular ten minute assembly was lengthened to forty minutes. Mayor Franklin was present, and at the request of Mr. Marsh gave a short, but very snappy address, right to the point. He challenged each of us as Americans—not Americans in the sense of blind love of country, but in the larger sense of loyal support of everything noble, just, free, and honorable for which our nation stands—to do something for America. The "Battle Hymn of the Republic" had just been sung, and in the words of the last verse:

"In the beauty of the lilies
 Christ was born across the sea.
 As he died to make men free,
 Let us die to make men free."
 Let us die to make men free, what he expressed to us in closing, what should be today the vital, deep-moving purpose of every true American.

Following this talk, Mr. Marsh read to the school President Wilson's address to Congress, as had been requested by the State Commissioner of Education. The address of President Wilson is worthy of a position beside the great addresses of Lincoln. Students of Summit High, you should have heard his address read, and should have absorbed it to the last letter. What do you think about it? Once again your whole country is being roused to realize the spirit of Washington and Lincoln, the spirit which called forth the sacrifice of the Revolution and the Civil War. Can you sit idly by? To be sure most of us are thinking of what we can do for America. Let's not merely think, but let us really do something. Above all, let us be ready to answer at once any call which our country may make upon us.

The Senior Play.
 The biggest event of the school year, the Senior Play, is over and it was a howling success. There have been row plays produced by the High School which have measured up to the standard set this year.

1917 is, of course, proud of the east and the committee in charge, who did so much to make the play what it was. However, we of 17 feel that we can make a poor attempt to show our appreciation to all those very nice, their time and effort to contribute to the success of the affair. The support of the school as a whole was great, and it shows that we are not lacking in school spirit when it comes to a show-down.
 We are also greatly indebted to Mr. Cheney and "Pete" Fackler for their part in establishing the Halcyon party in the Junior girls for the House, and to the boys and their candy play in making the evening enjoyable. We would like to thank all those townspeople who helped us so willingly in the matter of fittings for the Halcyon in the matter of fittings for the Halcyon's lobby. As for Mr. Andrews and Miss Thompson, we can't begin to thank them for their able and patient drilling of the cast, that resulted in the finished production enjoyed so tremendously by all. We only hope that the Seniors for many years to come will have the very real advantage of their help.

Wednesday noon, going to H. S. Club—"Say lend me a dime, and I'll be indebted to you for ever."
 "Young Capitalist—"I know it. That's just what I'm afraid of."

Dark street,
 Banana peel,
 Fat man,
 Virginia reel.

Miss Terry—"Why were the middle ages called the dark ages?"
 Clever Charlie—"Because there were so many knights."

"I love the pretty babbling spring,
 I love to hear the birds sing,
 I love the spring-time oh so much—
 Now stop that stuff and do your 'dutch'."

In Current events (Class-question-container)—"Miss Terry, I heard that the climate at the Canal Zone is unfavorable. Why did they ever go so far away to build the canal any way?"

A mosquito lit on a Freshman's head,
 And then began to drill,
 He bored away for a while or so
 And then he broke his bill.

"I'd love to be a soldier brave,
 I scorn to fill a coward's grave,
 I want to march 'neath martial rule."
 Get up! It's time to go to school.

BILLY.
 Billy McGuire, night watchman of the First National, was old and alone in the world. For fifteen years he had watched over the bank and its great treasure-vaults. Twice he had checked attempts at robbery and once, in the great fire of '97, had staggered out through the smoke with several hundred thousand dollars in bonds but-tered under his coat. Everyone in the bank knew Billy and liked him. This was especially true of the younger clerks, to whom he was almost a father. Many a young man had asked his advice, and not one had regretted it; for Billy was wise, though not with the wisdom of books.

One day a new clerk appeared in the bank. He was thin and roun-shouldered, and always looked over-worked and worried. Billy watched him a great deal and thought of him often, for his keen old eyes could easily see that the young man was in the shadow of some great trouble. Always anxious to help, Billy attempted several times, without much success, to make friends with him. The boy, for he was scarcely more, was exceedingly shy and reserved, and at the end of a fortnight, Billy had made but a few acquaintances.

Now Dalton, the clerk, had no idea that he was the object of all this attention. He was supporting an invalid mother, and had little time to bother his head about elderly night-watchmen. So it was small wonder that one day he passed Billy with merely an absent-minded nod. At that moment a team pulling a heavy truck swung around the corner. A little Italian girl was playing in the street. Dalton pulled away the child just in time. Billy pulled away Dalton just a moment too late. The child was unhurt, Dalton had a sprained ankle.

That afternoon, the old watchman was talking for a few minutes with the president of the First National, and their conversation drifted to the accident of the morning. After some days, Dalton hobbled back to his work; a pleasant surprise was waiting for him. A vacant place in the cashier's department had for some time been awaiting the right man, and it was after his talk with Billy, for whom he had the greatest respect, decided to give Dalton the position.
 The young man's new position entailed considerable responsibility as he was entrusted with the combination which unlocked the smaller vault, where the bank kept its emergency funds. The change in Dalton's manner warmed the heart of old Billy. The young fellow had lost his air of depression. He talked more cheerfully to the clerks. He put more heart into his work. Every day he called out a cheery good-morning to the old watchman. The slight increase in salary had meant the difference between poverty and comfort for his mother and himself.

Then, one day, a slippery step, not a foot high, brought down his little par-ade around his ears. That night the doctor told him that his mother's life could be saved by an operation—but the operation would cost five hundred dollars. When Dalton entered the bank next morning, he did not speak to Billy as usual. He appeared to have aged ten years over night. The old man's eyes followed him anxiously and that afternoon he made some inquiries.

For three days Dalton handled money that would mean life to his mother. A great and terrible temptation assailed him, and light as he would, he could not shake it off.

Billy grew more and more anxious. He could read the young man's face as he could not read a book, and what he saw there terrified him. All he could do was watch and hope.
 The third day after the accident Dalton stayed at the bank until late into the night. There was an ink-bottle in a larger vault, and in it were five hundred dollars, only five hundred dollars, five hundred little shiny discs against your mother's life.

At last he corrected the mistake and closing his book slowly carried it down to the vault below. Then, moved by an uncontrollable impulse, he whirled around, unlocked a drawer, and drew out a little bag which shined and was saved by an ink-bottle. Dalton's fingers were the number, "500." It was very still in the vault. Dalton stood looking at the bag rather stupidly, then mechanically his hand began to steal toward his pocket. A clock struck, breaking the silence. The young man seemed to wake from a trance, he started and passed his hand over his forehead. For a moment he hesitated, then quietly put the bag back in the drawer, turned the key, and strode out of the vault. Up the marble stairs and through the empty cooling halls of the bank he went, to where the old watchman was sitting.

"Billy," he said in a quiet, monotonous voice, "Arrest me and do it quick. I was going to rob the bank." Dalton had conquered himself. The young man's hand in his and, with a warm, kindly pressure, said, "Son, I knew you had it in you."
 The unexpected kindness was too much for Dalton's over-strained nerves gave way, and he sank into a chair and burst into an agony of weeping.
 When his sobs had subsided somewhat, Billy talked to him long and earnestly. What he said none but he and Dalton know but, somehow, he persuaded the young man that it was better to borrow, even from an old watchman, than to steal.

The other day I stopped at the bank to see Billy. He is growing old now, and has an assistant, but his voice is as cheery as his heart is kind as ever. While we were talking, an old man came in and a woman followed and they stepped out. He stopped a moment to joke with Billy and then went on into the bank.

"Who is that?" I asked.
 "Why, don't you know?" said the old man, "That's Mr. Dalton, our new president."

JAMES TRUSLOW, '18.
HEALTH BOARD SESSION.

Health Officer's Bills Questioned—Order Proceedings Against Estate.
 Routine business principally occupied the attention of the Board of Health last Friday night. Health Officer Thomas J. Duffield reported that during March there had been five marriages, twelve deaths and twenty-four births. Sixty-four food shops were inspected. Commissioner High brought up the question of delivering milk from open vehicles, and asked the health officer to see that none of the product sold had a higher temperature than fifty degrees as required by ordinance. Reporting for the committee which has in charge the advisability of a county isolation hospital, President Doye suggested the board communicate with the various boards in the county to the end that they might be prepared to accept all the bills are heard from and there is a unanimity of opinion the question will be brought before the Board of Freeholders.

The health officer was directed to see Carroll P. Bassett, owner of the nurses' quarters at the Fresh Air Home and learn if Mr. Bassett wanted the board to put the building in proper shape. It was used last year to house the cases of infantile paralysis, and after it was closed some of the sanitary arrangements were damaged by the freezing weather. The board had an estimate that the repairs would cost $60.

Commissioner Gilchrist questioned a bill of $9 for the employment of a stenographer temporarily to fill out vital statistics blanks. The charge was at the rate of fifty cents an hour. Mr. Gilchrist said the work should have been done by the board employees, and added it was "ridiculous" to pay such an amount. He went on to say that he did "not think it right for the city." Later Mr. Haigh asked why it was necessary for the health officer to pay $13 for a minute book. Mr. Duffield replied that the book he had bought was such as used by the city clerk. Both bills were passed without further comment although it was understood that in the future there are to be no more bills for extra clerical work. In his own defense, Mr. Duffield stated that when the stenographer was employed the board employees had an extra large amount of work on hand, and he had only carried-out a practice inaugurated some time ago.

The health officer was directed to bring proceedings against the Manley estate, for the alleged unsanitary condition of a building in Springfield avenue. The board sanctioned the arrest of Nicholas as a member of the Infancy Company of the National Defense Organization.

Women's Missionary Society Hears of Syrian Conditions.
 The Women's Missionary Society of the Central Presbyterian Church met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. L. Austin, 79 New England avenue. After the usual devotional exercises during which Mrs. Kingsley Thomson sang "Oh! Jesus Thou Art Standing," and "Abide With Me," most delightfully, the reports were read.

Following this, a most interesting and inspiring address was given by Mrs. Franklin E. Hoskins, of Beirut Syria. Mrs. Hoskins with her husband and family were obliged to leave their work on account of the serious conditions in Syria, due to the war, and have returned to America with the hope of accomplishing more to help the stricken people of Syria through efforts on their behalf here.

Mrs. Hoskins is spending much time and effort in trying to bring messages from relatives in Syria to their families or friends in this country. As of most all means of communication has been cut off for the past two years, the great hardship of the war is bringing on misadventures and people alike, and the great need of sacrifice on the part of the church in America.

HERBERT BRENON

WAR BRIDES

Other Excellent Productions on Program Next Week.

Next Wednesday, April 18th, the Lyric Theatre, will present the eminent Russian tragedienne Nazimova, in "War Brides." The intensely dramatic story by Marion Craig Wentworth. This is the same story in which Nazimova made such a sensational success on the vaudeville stage. In the film version (which is in eight reels) every device that money and experience could employ has been used together with the marvelous acting of Mme. Nazimova gives us a production that is truly wonderful, and one that has packed every theatre in which it has been shown since its first presentation at the Broadway Theatre, New York, where it had an extended run at $200 prices. In strength of theme "War Brides" may be classed with the greatest dramas of all times, and the possibilities of the theme have been fully realized by Herbert Brenon in making this picture, which reaches a tragic height never before attained by a moving picture. While the story has to do with conditions brought about by war, there are no battle scenes. A trench is shown, and the effect of the fighting upon the troops, but no battle scene is enacted. The main story has to do with the sufferings of the women at home. Reserved seats are now on sale as advertised.

The other big productions at this house next week include:—Monday, April 16th, the popular star, Blanche Sweet, in "The Blacklist;" Thursday, April 19th, Harold Lockwood and May Allison in "Pidgeon Island," the popular story by Harold McGrath; and, Friday, April 20th, Mary Pickford in "Poor Little Peppina," which is probably the most loved portrayal that Miss Pickford has ever given us. The usual number of high-class shorter subjects will be shown on all programs in addition to the above.

FRIDAY, APRIL 13, 1917.

'Yet I doubt not through the ages our increasing purpose runs, and the thoughts of men are widened with the process of the suns.'—Tennyson.

The war places responsibilities on every American citizen. No one is free from the patriotic humanitarian burden which is destined to rid the world of those influences opposed to democracy.

HOW IS YOUR FLAG DISPLAYED?

The flag, if hung as a banner, with the stripes perpendicular, should have the blue field in the upper right hand corner as you face the flag.

Summit is indeed proud of the N. D. O., but that feeling of just pride must be even greater as one reads the able review of the communities' activities for preparedness.

ACQUAINTANCE.

Acquaintance is an asset or a liability. We must know people in order to be truly interested in them.

The letter from Mrs. Bassett in another column is very timely. It is true that private gardens and orchards have been plundered in past seasons.

PATRIOTS OR TRAITORS.

A ringing shot from Billy Sunday: 'The soldier who breaks every regulation, yet is found on the firing line in the hour of battle, is better than the God-forsaken mutiny who won't enlist, and dodges all the way to keep others from enlisting.'

'Ambassador Gerard is the greatest American authority upon the German military autocracy. When he says that the United States must not go into this conflict halfheartedly, for it will be a long and serious struggle, he speaks from an intimate knowledge of German resources and German efficiency based upon universal service.'

The stirring patriotic sermon preached by Rev. Minot C. Morgan in the Central Presbyterian Church, last week, only serves to emphasize the loss which this community will sustain when the pastor leaves shortly for his new field in Detroit.

The campaign during recent weeks for small gardens got a lot of people stirred almost to action, then on Sunday along came winter for a return visit, and the prospective garden plots were covered with a mantle of snow.

JOINING THE GARDEN COLORS.

To those who are reading each week in the HERALD the department entitled the 'Home Vegetable Garden,' the following editorial from 'The Sun,' will be of interest.

Every man with ground can plant something and cultivate it in the joyous weeks, but he is a hero who sticks to the wheel hoe in the dog days when the flivver purrs at the door and the bass are notoriously biting in cool ponds.

It is a good thing for everybody who can to go into gardening. He is sure of some reward, whether it be in pocket, in health or the acquisition of patience.

Ambrose Powell has rented the house at 76 Mountain Avenue owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Cooke, who will take possession May 1st.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Murray Hill Children's Home have decided on a unique plan of raising money to supply the children at the home with milk this summer by selling Dunlap's Improved Silver Blade Cream and Egg Whip for the benefit of the Murray Hill Children's Home.

DEATH ROLL OF THE WEEK

Mrs. Stephens has been in poor health for the past two or three years. However, she was feeling much better Friday and was out on Tuesday of last week.

The news of her death came as a great shock to her wide circle of friends in the community. Previous to her marriage, less than five years ago, Mrs. Stephens had been a teacher in the Summit public schools for four or five years.

Mrs. J. Malcolm La Rue.

The entire community was shocked on hearing yesterday morning that Mrs. Olive M. La Rue, wife of J. Malcolm La Rue had passed away about three o'clock that morning in Overlook Hospital.

Mrs. La Rue, who was in her thirty-second year, had been a life-long resident of Summit. She received her education in the public schools of this city.

Ellen Smith Baldwin, who passed away at Overlook Hospital on Monday, April 9th, was born in Limerick, Ireland in 1852. She came to the United States when very young, was married in Englewood, N. J., February 14, 1892, to Thomas Baldwin, and came to Summit with her husband in October of the same year.

Products of Gardens Should be Protected.

Editor of the Herald: Dear Sir:—At a meeting of the Garden Club held on April 13th, the members reported many objections to planting fruit and vegetables on the ground that such crops are sure to be stolen before they can be harvested by their owners.

Another Month at Overlook.

The Superintendent's report for March shows no decrease in the calls upon the hospital. There were no less than 63 admissions, including 9 births of these, 43 were from Summit, and the rest from 19 places as far apart as Gladstone, North Bergen and New York City.

It is a mistaken idea with some that because the balance sheet does not show a deficit, therefore there is no need of additional subscriptions. It is only because of the present subscriptions of the faithful few that the finances are in such excellent condition.

Insistent demands that the Board of Freeholders immediately establish a prison farm in Union county were made at the freeholders' meeting in the Courthouse Tuesday evening. If there are any opponents to this project in the county they did not appear that night. The rising vote for the passage of resolutions urging the freeholders "as expeditiously as possible" to acquire or lease a prison farm, or quarry, or both, was unanimous at the close of the meeting. Freeholder John N. Cady, of Summit, presided.

More than 125 acceptances have been received for the 18th annual dinner of the Y. M. C. A. to be held tomorrow evening in the Association auditorium at 7 o'clock. The committee in charge has spared no pains to make the dinner a success in every way, and judging from present indications it will be one of the best ever given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. An excellent menu will be served by Day of Morristown. Rev. Wm. J. Haven, D.D., will act as toastmaster. The speakers will be Mr. Wm. Knowles Cooper and Hon. H. B. F. Macfarland of Washington, D. C.

Misjudged patriotism on the part of Edward Dittmar was the only apparent cause for a little excitement Wednesday afternoon. Dittmar found in one of the dressing rooms of the Lyric Theater an American flag about half burned in the recent fire there. He hung it from a limb of a tree at Beechwood road and Springfield avenue. The matter attracted considerable attention. Captain L. Rogers Lytton, in command of the infantry, was on the scene, and traced the act to Dittmar, who was penitent, and the latter removed the flag. Dittmar meant no disrespect to the Stars and Stripes, and his loyalty is not questioned.

There has been considerable agitation this week because of a pacifist sermon preached last Sunday morning by Rev. F. C. Doan in All Souls' church in which he said among other things that he would resist conscription and that he was ready to resign the pastorate if his views did not please his congregation. Mayor Franklin and a secret service official investigated the matter and found nothing treasonable in the discourse. The trustees of the church passed resolutions heartily protesting the minister although stating that most of his people were not in accord with his views on peace and war, but believe in a freedom of pulpit utterance.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Winifred Ogden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Ogden, of Summit avenue, and John Marshall Laidley, of Baltimore. Next Wednesday afternoon Miss Constance Crawford, of Ridge road, will give a bridge party in honor of Miss Ogden.

Six cash prizes for the best vegetables grown in the small vegetable gardens of Summit by amateurs this summer are to be awarded at an exhibition of Home Grown Products to be held in September under the auspices of the Summit Garden Club. All pieces of the Summit Garden Club, those wishing to enter this competition will kindly send their names and addresses to Mrs. Henry A. Truslow (Tel. 244), Bedford road, Summit, N. J., or Mrs. J. C. Woodhull (Tel. 445), Beacon road, Summit. All names to be in by June 1st, as the privilege of entry in the Small Gardens Competition will cease on that date.

15 ft. x 15 ft. has been suggested as a convenient size for a small garden. Those not already in possession of a splendid chart, made by Mr. Herring, for the planting of such space and from the published in the SUMMIT HERALD on April 6th, may obtain copies by applying to Mrs. Truslow or Mrs. Woodhull when entering their names in the competition. While it is not a requirement that contestants adhere strictly to Mr. Herring's plan, (the choice of vegetables being left to individual taste) his chart should be in the hands of all amateur gardeners as a most valuable guide and reference.

In connection with the awarding of cash prizes to amateur gardeners in the Small Garden Competition at the exhibition in September, an opportunity open to all, will be given to secure attractive prizes for fine specimens of vegetables and flowers and for the best and most practical suggestions, illustrations and receipts for the storing, growing and preserving of fruits and vegetables for winter use.

From time to time there will appear in the local papers further information concerning the Small Gardens Competition, and the coming exhibition under the direction of the Summit Garden Club.

DENTAL WORK FOR SOLDIERS.

Summit Dentists Ready—How Canadians Prepared.

At a meeting of the Summit Dental Society held Tuesday evening, April 10th, 1917, all those present, Dr. N. E. Praed, Dr. H. W. Ryman, Dr. O. E. Bacheiler, Dr. R. C. Veeeland, Dr. Chas. S. Hardy, expressed their willingness to do their best in preparing the mouths of men to meet the requirements for enlistment in the United States Army and Navy. This work was first started under what was known as the Preparedness League of American Dentists with the object and desire of aiding the War and Navy Departments in every way possible in preparing the mouths of men to make them eligible for enlistment. Each man joining the league pledged himself to prepare the mouth of at least one man for enlistment. The League is also using its influence in preparing dentists for the emergencies of war, teaching them the surgery of gunshot wounds about the jaws and face, which in present warfare are very numerous, and to care for other injuries and make repairs of accidents incident to war which can only be handled and treated by dentists.

To prepare for a titanic struggle today means that every science must have lent its hand to the maximum of its knowledge; and that such knowledge must be used and applied in its minutest detail to create the highest efficiency in the fighting force. Hence we must not overlook the necessity of dentistry for our soldiers without which we cannot establish the most efficient Army and Navy and win the fight.

Summit's Humblest Children Doers Their "Bit" for Belgium.

The local branch of the Commission for Relief in Belgium will meet in conference with the recently elected Campaign Committee at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening at 8.15 o'clock, to perfect plans for Summit's care of the children of the town of Lessenderloo, Province of Limbourg, Belgium.

The "half ration" upon which the Belgium people have been subsisting, has proved insufficient for growing children, with the result that tuberculosis, rickets and other ills that follow surely upon under-nutrition, have developed. In order to save these children (of which there are now over one million) the Commission has increased the allowance of food beyond the fifty per cent normal ration by giving one meal per day. Besides this there are 100,000 already debilitated children, under special feeding in an effort to rebuild their bodies. This extra meal can be provided for one child for an entire year at a cost of but twelve dollars.

The local chairman was this week in receipt of one dollar and fifty cents from the children of the Neighborhood House, accompanied by the following letter dictated by the children who being unable to write asked their teacher to send their money with this message: "Send this to the little peoples the poor peoples that aint got nuttin to eat. Its one dollar and a half from our school for our crackers. We aint got no crackers. We aint got no crackers. Their teacher explains that they are going without crackers this month in order that the cost so saved may be forwarded through the committee. Wm. Scofield Day is the local treasurer.

HEADMASTER'S RESIGNATION.

Prof. Schultz to Leave Carlton Academy to Start New School.

Professor Charles H. Schultz has resigned as headmaster of Carlton Academy, which he established ten years ago at Summit, New Jersey. His resignation takes effect on June 7th, 1917, at the close of the present scholastic year. The Board of Directors have accepted the resignation that Mr. Schultz may be free to go to a new and larger field of labor.

Carlton Academy has now a registration of fifty-five boys, and has a fine reputation for thorough work in preparing boys for college and for business. Its graduate students are doing well in various colleges such as Harvard, Princeton, Georgetown and Fordham. It is well known in interscholastic athletics, especially in football, hockey and baseball, and its boys are marked by strong character development, whether at college or in business, and it is the purpose of the Board of Directors to elect a proper successor that the school may continue in Summit without a break in its work and influence. Mr. Schultz has found a new school named the Altamont School, at Altamont, New York. He has acquired a property in the Helderberg Mountains, about a mile and a half outside the town of Altamont and fourteen miles from Albany, and intends to make the new school a thorough country school.

The property consists of seventy acres of land, and an athletic field of nine acres additional, with an attitude of about ten feet above tide level. The school building is the Helderberg Golf Clubhouse, containing fifty-five bedrooms, with a capacity of seventy-five boys and seven masters, a bowling alley, gymnasium, showers and other baths, billiard and pool room, with spacious accommodations for study hall and classrooms. There are three tennis courts and a nine-hole golf course.

Mr. Schultz is about to close contracts with an unusually fine faculty, with long experience in preparing boys for college and successfully passing the college entrance examinations, and he proposes to open the Altamont School in the latter part of September, 1917.

Another attractive feature of the work to Mr. Schultz is an opportunity for directing, as Vice-president of the Helderberg Golf Club—Incorporated and a stock-holder in the same, the Helderberg Golf Club during the summer months when the buildings are not used for school purposes. His idea is that of a family club, where parents may bring their children for tutoring throughout the summer or any part of the summer in the mountain air, inland from the coast. There in addition to the club-house two cottages and several outbuildings, of which one is a garage, with a capacity of ten automobiles. Five miles from the club-house there is a large lake for fishing, boating and water sports. A state road passes the door, which makes it convenient for patrons to reach the school and club, and to make tours to Saratoga Springs, Lake Champlain and other attractive summer resorts.

Band Contributions.

Subscriptions to fund for equipment of the Summit Municipal Band have been received since the last report from the following:

Richard Corby, Newton Bullard, Chas. Wagenseil, S. Yoch, Walter Bros, V. Mast, Arthur Manser, Chas. River, John Kish, S. Flato, Jas. Long's Sons, J. B. Armstrong, Chas. Siebert, Wm. R. Green, B. H. The treasurer, Geo. V. Muchmore, still needs more contributions to reach the necessary amount.

Union County Agricultural Board Issues a Call.

Under normal conditions, less than fifty per cent of the available land in Union County, that could be profitably cultivated, is utilized. Unusual conditions now prevail. Food shortage stares us in the face unless our food supply is increased far above the average. Now is the time to plant if the harvest is to be gathered. There are many who are willing to help increase the food supply, but they have no land. There are hundreds of acres in this county awaiting the plow. The Union County Board of Agriculture is going to get together the man who is willing to till and the man who has more than he can till.

The first thing to ascertain is who has more land than they can cultivate and is willing to offer some free for tilling, and who wants some land to till. Will all who have land to offer, write to C. H. Brewer, Secretary Union County Board of Agriculture, R. D. 2, Rahway, N. J., stating how much they have and what they are willing to donate for the use of what land is located. Those who are looking for a place to plant, and men business are also requested to send their names and addresses to Mr. Brewer, stating whether they have any farming or gardening experience. Both sides are requested to communicate with Mr. Brewer at once for there is no time to lose.

As soon as this preliminary information is secured a meeting of the County Board of Agriculture will be called by the president, E. R. Collins, for a get-together meeting and for organizing the work. Committees will be appointed in the various localities to look after the work and help when needed.

REGRET MORGAN'S RESIGNATION

The nine members. The three appointed by the congregation are: M. S. Sherwood, H. L. Austin, W. C. Heath. These with three from the session and three from the trustees will complete the committee.

Mr. A. L. DeCoster was named as delegate to the Presbytery of Morris and Orange in session Tuesday where the church's request for the severance of the pastoral relations were granted. Mr. J. Wm. Johnson represented the session of the church at the Presbytery.

Rev. P. D. Cowan was designated by the Presbytery as moderator of the session of the church during the vacancy in the pulpit.

The treasurer's statements for the year ending March 31, 1917, were presented in pamphlet form. The receipts for running expenses were: $12,579.68. The missionary and benevolent contributions amounted to $11,781.51. These amounts are in addition to the receipts of the Women's Society, Sunday School, Brotherhood, Light Bearers, Young People's League, Westminster Guild, Deacon's fund, and Junior Guild.

for improving our street lighting are as follows:

"1. Install 1,000 candle power lamps placed upon ornamental standards and served by underground wires in the main part of the city. This might mean ten such installations on Springfield avenue from where it crosses the railroad tracks to the intersection of Beechwood road, one each on Highland place and on Beechwood road, and seven on Union place, these nineteen big lights serving the vicinity of the railroad station and the adjacent business blocks, and getting the poles off Union street off Springfield avenue from Maple yard to Summit, and off both Maple street and Beechwood road between the railroad crossing and Springfield avenue. We might consider pole removal also from DeForest avenue between Norwood and Summit, and from Summit avenue and Beechwood road between Springfield avenue and DeForest avenue. This improvement should give us adequate and attractive illumination in the part of the town which is most used by us, most frequented by visitors and from the sight of which so many form their first and most lasting impressions of Summit.

"2. Install 400 candle power lights at the intersection of all major streets, for example, on Morris avenue at Springfield, New England, Chestnut, Maple, Elm and Summit, on Park avenue at Chestnut, Maple, Elm and Summit, on DeForest at Woodland and Highland; on Springfield avenue at the railroad crossing; and a somewhat larger light, say 700 candle power, on Summit avenue at Franklin, Bank and Springfield. These lamps would supplement the standard system in our municipal center. Two other suggestions may be added:

"3. All lights at the intersection of minor streets and major streets not less than 250 candle power, and all other lights on major streets not less than 60 candle power.

"4. All lights at the intersection of any two minor streets should be not less than 100 candle power, and all other lights on minor streets not less than 60 candle power.

The location of lights under these last two headings will be a matter of careful and very detailed work. Those conversant with present conditions will probably agree that we need a considerable relocation and enlargement of these facilities because of growth of foliage and increase of traffic, as well as to bring our lamp system up to modern requirements. You will notice that the present main type of lamp, that of candle power, is not recommended in my suggestions. This was done because I was advised that the lamp people have given notice that this is an obsolete type, very little called for and therefore more expensive to produce."

Mr. Romeyn Berry, chairman of the public health committee, presented a report on the collection and disposal of household refuse in Summit. This report has been printed in pamphlet form and mailed to all the members. The recommendations contained therein will be acted upon at the next meeting.

On recommendation of the directors $50 was voted to help the T. I. A. in conducting a "Better Babies Week" here in May.

The subject of a public park for skating, baseball and other sports to be made up as a memorial to the late Hamilton W. Mable, was presented. On motion the President was authorized to appoint a committee to undertake co-operation with other civic forces having in mind a memorial to Mr. Mable.

Mr. Maxwell Lester was elected a member of the Board. A letter of sympathy was ordered sent to Mrs. H. H. Holly on the death of her husband who had been an active member of the board.

Your Tailor Doesn't Sew With His Feet

Most tailoring establishments nowadays do their sewing electrically.

A little motor attached to the machine makes the workmanship better and the operation smoother and far less tiresome.

One of these electric attachments in your home would solve the problem of spring sewing and make it a pleasant task instead of a burden.

Motors may be attached to any style of machine. They use a negligible amount of current, are simple to operate, and do their work silently and speedily.

Come in and look before another day goes by.

EVERYTHING BUT ELECTRIC LIGHT COSTS MORE

Everyone, everywhere, is deeply concerned in the increased cost of living. The price advancement is unparalleled in our history.

Look at the chart. You will readily see how food, clothing, coal, rent, taxes are constantly going up. But there is one thing entering into our daily lives which has steadily decreased in cost—and it is Electric Light!

Thomas A. Edison said not long ago—"Electric light is practically the only thing I know of that has become cheaper in the last ten years."
The Massachusetts Commission on the Cost of Living said in its report to the Governor—"Electric companies have not assisted in boosting up prices and have not contributed to the increasing cost of living. This fact should be remembered, as they stand unique among the corporations dealing with the people."

Electric service in your home means increased comforts for the entire family. It works wonders in cutting out the drudgery from housework.

If your house isn't wired for electricity—now is the time to have it done—while our special offer makes it easy and less expensive for you.

Ask to have a representative call on you. He will explain the plan and show you how easily it can be done without disturbance. You will be surprised at the low cost. Shall we send someone today?

Little Chats Over the Wire.

There is, perhaps, not in all human experience a single moment more brimful and running over with pent up emotions and words crowding for utterance than one in which a fond mother and doting father confide in each other their tender thoughts, their hopes and fears and ambitions, and relate with ecstatic joy every little detail about their infant offspring. These important nothings lose the thrilling interest of the moment after being stored up to be told when father comes home at night; but they need not wait, for over the telephone mother may call father the moment baby wakes up, and even the separation to attend to business may be turned to pleasurable account by little chats over the wire. Governor Edge Pleased With Work of Legislature.

A STATE HIGHWAY SYSTEM

Assemblyman Garan, leader of Democrats in House, criticizes some of the measures that Governor Edge advocated—After Lively Fight State Constabulary Bill Went Down to Defeat.

Trenton, N. J., April 12.—No governor who has occupied the chair of the state's chief executive was more successful in getting through the legislature the bills he desired than Walter E. Edge. Every one of the administration measures was passed, and Governor Edge expressed his entire pleasure with the record achieved.

A total of 181 measures were introduced, and the joint resolutions numbered 14. Of these 289 became laws through the signature of the governor. The executive vetoed fifty-five proposed statutes, the largest number disapproved by any governor.

Chief among the accomplishments of the legislature which were pointed to with pride by the executive were the following:

State highway system to be provided under $15,000,000 road tax. Home rule statutes. Increased franchise tax on utilities. More for sea level canal across state. Inquiry into high cost of living provided.

"Seven Sisters" corporation acts amended along line of Clayton national act. Compulsory employers' liability insurance. Reorganization of civil service commission.

Survey of state pensions provided. Physical training in public schools with universal military service. Organization of public school buildings into community centers for advancement of agricultural and industrial work.

South Jersey normal school provided. repeal of full crew law. Increased license fee on motor trucks.

Assemblyman Elmer H. Geran, leader of the Democrats in the house, took exception to the claims of the executive and maintained that the full crew law was changed at the request of the railroads and that the franchise platform plank was modified to suit the utilities. He maintained that civil service was made a political football by increasing the membership of the board and that manual and vocational training were impaired by the statute promoting the state fund for these accounts. He also maintained that petty political measures were put through.

He asserted that salutary provisions were removed from the corporation laws and declared that an injustice was done in omitting tank stock from the road tax act.

Constabulary Bill Defeated.

One of the bills which caused a lively fight, but failed to get through, was that establishing a state constabulary or rural guards. This measure was approved by the senate, but not enough votes could be mustered for it in the house. The local option bill again failed to get through, as did the Kates measure allowing the initiative on all questions.

The supplemental appropriation bill carries a total of $52,263.21 and the annual $9,003,348.83. In the annual measure is an item of $500,000, which will be handled by the state house commission to meet emergencies in the state expenditures and which will replace the supplemental account.

Before placing his signature to the finance bills the executive clipped $30,200 from them. The fish and game commission loses $38,700 and Gardner Colby, chief examiner and secretary of the civil service commission, $500. The governor in his comments asserts that only very necessary expenses should be permitted at this critical period, and he does not place the allowance for the extension of the fish hatchery in this class. This commission met rebuffs in the session the legislature just closed.

The large number of vetoes is partly explained by the governor's stand that arbitrary increases in salary should not be authorized, and several bills calling for advances were disapproved. The enactment of the home rule statutes, he stated, made other bills unnecessary, and he tied them in the state library.

Before you ask "Information" try the Telephone Book

"INFORMATION" assumes that you have looked in your telephone book first, so, in order to be of the greatest service, in the greatest number of cases, she consults her special records first.

These records show the telephone numbers that have been added or changed since the last Directory was published.

Naturally she looks in the current telephone directory only as a last resort.

So when you ask "Information," for a number that you can obtain more quickly from the telephone book, you not only save down your own service, but you take her time from others who really need her help.

Why not make it a rule to

The Ash Can Tells the Story

There's no need of your spending so much money for coal and having to put out so many ashes. Install a Boynton Square Pot Boiler and you'll save much unnecessary expense and work.

Here's the reason: Square Pot Boilers burn less coal and give more heat. This is made possible by the Square Firepot that eliminates all waste of heat and coal.
It gives as much heat from a small amount of coal as a round firepot gives from a large amount.
And ashes can't cling to the square corners like they do to round corners.

"THE VICTORY"
AN EASTER SERMON

Rev. M. C. Morgan Preaches
Strong Patriotic Justification of America Entering World War

In the Central Presbyterian Church last Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev.
M. C. Morgan, preached a brief but stirring patriotic sermon on "The Victory." It contains a message for every Christian and every American. His text was: "Thanks be to God who giveth us the Victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." I Cor. 15:57.

The pastor said:
"The Easter story is the story of Victory. Jesus' earthly life had seemed to end in defeat. His enemies had had their desire fulfilled. They hated him and slew him. To the casual observer his life was a failure. What might have been a promising career was cut short by his untimely death when he was only thirty-three years of age. Even some of the disciples that had loved and trusted him, lost their faith. They could only say 'we had hoped that this was he that should redeem Israel.' But abruptly the Messianic hopes of Israel were vain, for he had been crucified.

"Had this been all, he would still have been remembered. The beauty and tragedy of his life would not have been wholly forgotten. We might still have honored him as a prophet, emulated him as a man of exemplary life, loved him for his love of humanity, admired him as one who was loyal to his ideals, even to the point of death—a martyr indeed. All of this, but had there been no resurrection, nothing more. He could not have been the Saviour of the world. His great life purpose would have been unfulfilled.
But here is the Easter Gospel. Now is Christ risen from the dead, and death is swallowed up in victory.

"It is life's victory over death; but it is more—it is love's victory over sin. And it is the former because it is the latter. Jesus could never have won the victory for life, if he had left sin unconquered—for the sting of death is sin, and the wages of sin is death. The cross had revealed the love of Christ, its wondrous depth, its marvelous breadth; and the resurrection proved that life had not made its supreme sacrifice in vain, but was indeed the power of God unto salvation. Therefore was He able to bring life and immortality to light, because He was able to save unto the utter-most all that drew near God through Him.

"And so by faith do we become sharers in the victory of Christ. And on this Easter Day with abounding gladness and gratitude of heart we cry, 'Thanks be to God who giveth us the victory through Jesus Christ our Lord.' Single handed we should certainly be overcome in the unequal fight against Satan, but through the Captain of our salvation, God giveth us the victory. And with that victory comes peace—the peace of God which passeth all understanding. 'Peace without victory' may be academically conceivable, but in the moral world and in all that pertains to the spiritual life, it is an absolute impossibility and an utter absurdity. Nor do I believe that we can have peace nationally, real and lasting peace, without the triumph of justice and righteousness.

"It seems a horrible thing that on this very Lord's day which celebrates the triumph of the Christ over sin, and which establishes the verity of the angel's message of peace on earth and good-will to men, that the world is at war. And furthermore, that our own great and peaceful nation should now be plunged into the conflict.

"And if it were not our confident believe that America has entered this conflict, not through selfish motives, nor with a desire of personal advancement, but for the sake of the sake and for humanity's sake, it would indeed be blasphemous to connect it with the Easter Gospel, and pray for the leadership of the risen Christ.

"But if in answer to our oft repeated prayers for divine guidance God has led us into this war, then we may look to Him to lead us to victory.
"What the Christian's attitude toward war should be, is one which has tried and is trying the hearts of many.
This much is clear, that at the root of war is sin—the cause of war is inevitably sin. Were there no sin, there could be no war. Let there be sin and war is inevitable. Sin warms against righteousness and righteousness against sin. Let sin enter heaven and there is war even from the book of Revelation (19:11-16). But someone will say that is moral warfare, that does not include the use of guns. And furthermore the Christ whom we follow never drew sword. When Peter did he rebuked him. And as for his teaching, he said when somebody smites you on one cheek turn the other. And from this inference is drawn that war is always a sin; and every true follower of Christ is of necessity a pacifist.

"To whom it may be said in reply:
"1. If war is always a sin, then Jesus God could never command it, but he did repeatedly in the Old Testament and records the details by saying, 'Thou escape me before the Christian's dispenation, and we have a higher standard today. True, but the Ten Commandments do not change with changing dispensations, so far as their moral essence is concerned. It can't be wrong to steal in one year and right in the next. It cannot be wrong for God to command war in one dispensation and right in another.
"2. The teaching of Christ about being smitten on one cheek and turning the other, is, I believe, better suffering wrong than strike back, far better. Yes, but I find no Scriptural

Prices Increased May 1st Order Now and Order Quick

We have expected a price increase right along and only the immense quantity being produced will enable us to sell at the May 1st price—we, of course, have no assurances that further increases in price will not be necessary.

Everything that goes into the Maxwell is the best—this we do know and can prove. The steel is the finest that money can buy—the motor—no finer, no tougher, no steadier can be built according to our experience and the steeper the hills and the tougher the roads the more the Maxwell seems to like them.

Our April allotment will be delivered to us at the old price. That's agreed and that's fair to us and we are going to be fair to our customers. —But—after May 1st, we can't buy a Maxwell for a penny less than the new price and we shan't sell you one for a penny less than $665.

Come in—study this car—see if we are right or wrong about it.

When we say biggest value, we mean it and we can prove it by any known tests or standards. We put it up to you to judge after you consider these features.

Maxwell Style Same as Highest Priced Cars
The Maxwell lines are pleasing to the eye. The design conforms exactly to the prevailing style, as illustrated by any number of high priced motor cars.

Comfort to the Point of Luxury
The Maxwell car is roomy. It seats five passengers in comfort. There is plenty of leg room in front and rear. The long semi-elliptic Maxwell springs and the soft, extra-deep upholstery make riding easy.

150,000 Miles Not Unusual
There are Maxwell cars in daily use which have already run over 150,000 miles. Think of it—more than 20 years of average driving! There are Maxwell cars in the mountains and in sections where there are rough roads or no roads, that have gone 50,000 miles—50,000 miles that would wreck and tear most cars to pieces.

The World's Endurance Champion
This record was set by a five-passenger Maxwell stock touring car, by running for 22,022 miles—44 days and nights—WITHOUT

A MOTOR STOP AND WITHOUT ANY REPAIRS OR ADJUSTMENTS. The run was sanctioned and constantly observed by the supreme court of this industry—The American Automobile Association. The car was a stock car and was so certified. The facts are indisputable.

Maxwell Running Expense $8.19 Per Month
Maxwell cars, on account of scientifically correct balance and light weight are very economical to operate. Hundreds of instances are on record, showing from 38 to 44 miles per gallon of gasoline. Mrs. Miriam Seely—Professor, Oregon Agricultural College—has just completed a trip from Corvallis, Oregon to Boston and return—7,700 miles—(about 1 1/2 years of average driving). The total expense for gasoline, oil and repairs was 1 1/2 cents per mile—or the equivalent of $8.19 per month.

Complete Equipment—No Extras to Buy
Maxwell cars have every device and accessory for the greater convenience and comfort of the owner. Not a single thing is lacking. When you buy a Maxwell, no further investment is necessary.

Remember—$665 May 1st. $635 Now.
