

reaches on Toward Complete Thanksgiving

Union Service in High School Yesterday Hears Dr. Cropp

The Thanksgiving sermon before a large audience at the annual union service, held under the auspices of several local churches in the high school auditorium yesterday morning was preached by Rev. Dr. Frederick W. Cropp, a member of the general secretariat of the American Bible Society, who was the theme of his sermon, "The Complete Thanksgiving."

As Isaac Walton's "The Complete Angler," wherein the importance of full preparation for fishing is stressed, the speaker made much of the point that "Some preliminary preparation is necessary for the proper observance of Thanksgiving."

Reminding his congregation that the origin of Thanksgiving goes "way beyond the time of the Pilgrim Fathers to the harvest festival of every people since the beginning of time," he made a careful distinction between the two eras in which one may give thanks.

"The first of these moods, he described as a 'smug attempt to count our many blessings in relation to the rest of the world, freedom from hunger, bombings, etc.' Such people, the speaker likened to the Pharisees to whom Jesus pointed a finger of scorn.

As the absolute minimum for a thankful heart, the mood in which one should recall that first Thanksgiving, suggested the sentiments coming from the 67th Psalm which reads in part:

"Bless us, O Lord, our God, and cause his face to shine upon us;

That thy way may be known upon earth,
Thy saving health among all nations.
Let the peoples praise thee, O God;
Let all the peoples praise thee."

In conclusion, the speaker declared, "We can never truly give thanks until a way is found for each to carry out the definition of living 'To be in relation' as given here a few days ago by Dr. William Lyon Phelps."

The service was presided over by Rev. Walter O. Kinsolving, rector of Calvary Episcopal Church and the music was by the combined choirs of that church under the direction of Franklin W. Helms. The invocation was by Rev. A. Powell Davies, pastor of the Community Church. The responsive reading was led by Rev. Dr. Eric M. North, a general secretary of the American Bible Society representing the Old Testament. Scriptures were read by Rabbi Meyer Eskowitz of the Jewish Community Center. The Scripture reading from the New Testament was by Rev. Merrell D. Booker, pastor of the Fountain Baptist Church. Announcement of the offering, devoted to Chinese relief, was made by Rev. David K. Barnwell, pastor of the First Baptist Church. $397.20 was the amount of the offering. Prayer was offered by Rev. Norman A. Andre, pastor of the First Lutheran Church. Mayor Guido F. Forster read Governor A. Harry Moore's and President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving proclamations. The benediction was given by Rev. F. G. Willey, pastor of Oakes Memorial Church. Other ministers on the platform, besides the aforementioned, were Rev. Florence Randolph, pastor of Wallace Chapel A. M. E. Zion Church and Dayton Roberts, student at Princeton Theological Seminary, representing Central Presbyterian Church.

Two former Summit pastors, Rev. Dr. Rockwell S. Brank, recently retired minister of Central Presbyterian Church after 23 years of service and Rev. Dr. Henry L. Lambdin, minister of the Summit Methodist Church for 17 years, until his appointment earlier this year as District Superintendent of the Newark Conference, were missed as participants in this service.

Council Looks Toward Year's End

Further Changes in Parking Ordinance

The session of Common Council on Tuesday night was one of a number of unimportant sessions that usually precede the more important meetings that come toward the end of the year and which have to do with "closing out" the business of the "old year" and preparing the way for the coming of the "new year."

Already Council is making plans for detailed consideration of next year's budget, which matter will be the first major matter for deliberation. "At an early date," Chairman Maxwell Lester, Jr. announced, "a calendar will be confirmed for a series of meetings between the Council and committees from various civic groups for mutual thinking together about next year's budgetary problems."

Supplement to Parking Ordinance
An amendment to the parking ordinance was introduced which provides among other changes, the following: No U turns at the intersections of Maple street and Beechwood road with Springfield avenue; no parking on the east side of Irving place and Ruthven place; no parking on the east side of Hobart avenue, from Franklin place to Springfield avenue; no parking on the west side of Summit avenue, between the Maple Memorial Playground.

Further Plans for Parking Lot
The amendment to the parking ordinance also looks forward to the early completion and use of the parking area provided for west of Maple street and south of Springfield avenue and to the rear of the business houses thereon when it stipulates a one-way entrance on the alley leading from Maple street to the new parking area and a one-way exit on the alley leading therefrom to the intersection of Woodland and Springfield avenues.

Parking is also to be prohibited on Maple street for 12 feet on either side of the entrance to the alley leading to the parking area.

An ordinance was also introduced to provide for the laying of 670 feet of storm sewer in the Brayton School section with an approximate cost of $3,400.

A letter with 48 signatures was read petitioning Council to allow Sam Balish to erect and operate a service station at the intersection of Maple and Lafayette avenues. It was explained by Chairman Lester that as much as no application was on hand from Balish asking such permission, that therefore no action could be had on the letter.

About this letter, it may be recalled that within the last year Balish did request of Council permission to erect and maintain a service station at this location. At the time, the Neighborhood House and representatives from Washington School opposed the granting of such a permit, in which action the Council concurred.

JUNIOR SERVICE LEAGUE MEETING
The November meeting of the Junior Service League will be held on Wednesday afternoon, November 27th, at the home of the president, Mrs. H. Dudley Swim of Oak Ridge avenue. Mrs. John S. Mrs. Ferry was at one time executive secretary and treasurer of the laboratory and a test administrator under Dr. O'Connor.

Tea will be served by Mrs. Clifford V. Leese and Mrs. Richard Klumick, Jr.

Each member coming to the tea is asked to save a trip for herself or for a member of the Collections Committee by bringing with her a bundle for the Thrift Shop. Stock is very low, and immediate replenishment is needed.

Judge Erwin in Strong Address At Church Dinner

"Thinking People Are Worried" in These Transition Days

"The right with yourself and you are bound to be right with the rest of the world," was the injunction given by Judge James R. Erwin of the Court of Common Pleas of Hudson County on Tuesday night as he addressed a dinner meeting of the Men's Club of Central Presbyterian Church in the parish house on the subject of "Thinking Through." Declaring that "This is a transition period we can't prophesy much about," he added "Thinking people are worried."

By and in the large, the jurist's address was both retrospective and introspective. Cognizant that "We are approaching one of the Thanksgiving Days," the judge made a fervent plea that "Every day should be a day of Thanksgiving for what little there is left of Democracy."

The speaker's repeated references to his own home life and many of the chores performed by boys of "yesterday" recalled "a happy day" for most of the diners—the day when boys had to take care of the oil lamp, trim wicks, shine shoes—and then the breakfast that "used to be the rule and not the exception." Expressing regret that such days have gone, the Hudson County man deplored "the mad scramble for more and more luxury in trying to 'out do the Jones'." Such a philosophy on the part of so many people, Judge Erwin asserted, "has taken the iron out of Americans."

Readily admitting he is worried about the future, as all thinking people are, the speaker invited the great mass of citizenry for being "disinterested, lazy and perfectly satisfied."

Citing the case of a boy recently before him for trial who thought of God as "only a capitalist fellow," the jurist uttered a stern warning of the rapid spread in America of such Communist doctrine.

Asserting that the greatest sin of most people is "procrastination," with a spirit of meaning to do right, the speaker challenged each man "To add yourself up spiritually and morally. Ask yourself: Where do you stand in relation to community activities. Support your United Campaign, the Red Cross, take an active part in church affairs and peek into your schools."

The speaker was introduced by Mayor Guido F. Forster, who had to leave before the address in order to attend the drill exercises of the Naval Reserve in Jersey in which unit he is a lieutenant-commander.

The meeting was presided over by H. Waldorf Martin, president of the Men's Club who expressed thanks to Wm. H. Kay who managed the affair, to the ladies of the church who served the dinner and to the boys scouts of Troop 62 who assisted by waiting on tables. Besides Martin, the mayor and the speaker, others at the head table were Dr. Rockwell S. Brank, recently retired minister of the church who came on from New York for the affair; Clifford Willis, a former president of the club; Walter C. Heath, president of the board of trustees of the church; Rev. Chas. S. Thorp, a retired minister and now a resident of Summit; Romeo T. Betts, senior elder; and D. B. Melroy, president of the Men's Bible Class. The latter spoke in detail about the aims and objectives of the class and extended an invitation to the men to attend the Sunday morning sessions of the class beginning at 10 a. m. in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium.

Mr. Melroy also introduced the other officers of the men's club, to wit: E. A. Moore, vice-president; E. G. Wilkinson, secretary; and H. D. Jordan, treasurer.

Reminders of Mark Twain Given At Old Guard Meeting Tuesday

Rev. Dr. Charles T. Thorp read a paper at the meeting of the Old Guard on Tuesday, which he entitled, "Thirty Minutes with Mark Twain."

It was biographical of the eminent American humorist, with frequent quotations from his writings and sayings. The paper was prepared years ago when Dr. Thorp was pastor of the First Congregational Church at Holyoke, Mass. He was then associated with Dean Wicks, now at Princeton, who was then pastor of a neighboring Congregational Church at Princeton, who was then pastor of a neighboring Congregational Church in Holyoke, and was also serving as chaplain or dean of religion at Mount Holyoke College.

A high light of the meeting was recognition of the 50th anniversary of the Old Guard of active Old Guard members, Frank A. Wright, Mr. Wright was born November 19th, 1851. Stephen W. Kent, secretary of the Old Guard, read a metrical tribute to Mr. Wright, written in Mr. Kent's immaculate script, with illuminated lettering. The company sang "Happy Birthday to You," and at the close of the meeting a group of Mr. Wright's closest friends presented him with a new hat. The only flaw in the proceedings was the lament from Mr. Wright that he had just squandered a dollar and a half in rehabilitation of his old hat.

Dr. Thorp's paper was intended not only to review Mark Twain's career, but to call forth from other members of the Old Guard reminiscences and favorite sayings and stories from the great humorist.

This was notably successful in two instances when members could recite personal contacts with Mark Twain. Dr. Frederick Lum told of a visit of Mark Twain to Chatham.

As a boy Dr. Lum one day drove the family horse-drawn conveyance to the station on some errand, and noted the arrival by the train from New York of a well-known citizen of Chatham, who was accompanied by a distinguished looking gentleman with a glorious shock of hair. The visitor proved to be Mark Twain.

With the good manners true to his upbringing in the Lum household, the lad offered to convey the citizen and his guest to the former's home. The invitation was accepted, and once in the carriage, they welcomed a short drive before reaching their destination. The drive took them over Long Hill. Through-out the trip the host was expatiating upon the fine air of this eminent open space, with its grand views, and was comparing it with the air of New York, to the discomfort of the fetid atmosphere of the parlous of the stuffy city. In his turn the guest was pouring forth a constant stream of brilliant banter over the heavy doses of ozone which were being administered to him, an innocent abroad in Chatham's and its environs' open spaces. Dr. Lum is sure that the conversation would today be esteemed valuable literature if he had had some means of recording it.

Red Cross Total Now $3,371

GOAL— 4,000 membership; $7,000 Progress To Date 1,271 membership; $3,371

With the annual Red Cross drive almost over, the local chapter president, Mrs. Card, wishes to express in behalf of the organization at large the great appreciation felt at the response already given. However, in this time of peace and thanksgiving in our own country, we cannot forget the tremendous world-wide need, a need which has never been greater in history. If you have not yet given, do not delay. The Red Cross carries on only as you see it shall carry on.

In this series of articles covering the local services rendered by the Red Cross, we come to one of the most active, the Production Department, whose chairman is Mrs. John Eggers. Throughout the whole year this department works to send knitted goods for national distribution, and to supply local needs.

Mrs. Harold Lott, acting chairman, reports that in the past year about 500 sweaters and 237 pairs of socks, as well as many caps, mittens and scarves have been knitted and distributed by some 400 Summit volunteer knitters. Some of the local budget, some has been provided by national headquarters. The following quota has been sent to Summit, for completion by January, if possible: 25 men's sweaters, 50 women's sweaters, 300 children's sweaters, 12 shawls, 50 "beanies," or caps, 50 pairs of mittens, 11 pairs of socks and 25 mufflers. Volunteers are invited to get in touch with Mrs. Lott.

A rather unique case has come to the attention of the committee in their only centenarian volunteer, Mrs. M. M. Bartlett, who was 100 years old last Sunday. Mrs. Bartlett knits constantly. Mrs. Bartlett has produced 15 pairs of mittens this fall, planning to put out a lot more this winter. Her daughter, Mrs. John Moran, says that Mrs. Bartlett takes great joy from her ability to be useful, and shares with younger people the feeling that service makes life worth living.

You can serve the Red Cross with your knitting all the year round, but you can serve the Red Cross with your dollars now.

Kiwanians Give Party At Children's Home

"The Margin of Safety," was the subject used by Rev. George H. Donovan, pastor of the Ferry Street Reformed Church of New- ark on Tuesday in addressing the Thanksgiving party held by the Kiwanis Club at the Summit Home for Children. The speaker contended that 100 per cent. good living was not enough; that it should be 100 per cent. plus. In this connection he spoke of the good Kiwanian who has built up a reserve and who "can take it" when things seem to go bad. The Newark pastor went on to say that this margin of safety was just as true in religion as in the material world. The speaker added that a margin of safety means more enthusiasm, more de- votion to the good things of life and more spirit.

President William Kay thanked the speaker for his address, at the same time paying tribute to the work of the arrangement committee headed by Dr. Harold Van Winkle.

A letter was read from Mrs. Lena Coleman, former matron, who is now living at Avon, N. Y. She sent her best wishes for a happy meeting.

District Governor Samuels, Lt. Gov. Delpho; John D. Hood, president of the Home; Harry A. Marshall, treasurer and others spoke briefly.

A send-off for the first "draftees" is being planned under the direction of Summit Defense Council. Plans announced as the HERALD goes to press call for Summit's World War Mayor, Ruford Franklin, civilian aide to the Secretary of War from New Jersey, president of the N.D.C., to act as master of ceremonies, while another former Summit Mayor, Lieut.-Col. United Campaign Reports $19,031 Toward $65,493 Goal

Increase in Amount And Subscribers So Far Brings Optimism

The United Campaign subscription total as of Wednesday night's report is now $19,031. The report on Wednesday night was $7,854.

The two report sessions Monday and Tuesday show a total amount of $11,177.50. This is a very gratifying result as it is $1,709 more than on the same two nights last year.

The number of people reporting was also larger and there was a spirit of optimism that bodes well for the final result and the reaching of the goal of $65,493.

The South Section showed the largest percentage of their goal both Monday and Tuesday evenings and Division N headed by Sherred Depue, Jr., and Mrs. James E. Downes also lead for both sessions.

The goal this year is larger than last owing to the fact that the campaign last year was for a nine months' budget and the one this year is for the full twelve months. The yearly budgets of the Agencies have not been increased, being practically the same as last year. While this year's goal is larger than last, it is not larger than in some of the previous years and really covers the minimum needs of the several Agencies.

There was a report session Wednesday night and there will be one on Friday of this week and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, no report session being held on Thanksgiving, Saturday or Sunday.

Before the next issue of the HERALD is distributed, the campaign will be nearing the end as the final report session will be on Wednesday, the 27th. It is hoped that the goal may be reached as the seven Agencies co-operating in this effort, the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Co-Operative Service, Summit Home for Children, the Lincoln Y. M. C. A., the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are dependent on the money subscribed in this campaign to carry on their important work for another year. The work which each one does is most essential to the welfare of Summit. To cripple their efforts by lack of financial support would be most unfortunate. They are our representatives doing our work for us, so let us give them the full amount they each need, every dollar of it.

The schools are taking part in the campaign. As an example the pupils of the Lincoln School are participating, not in a financial way but through a better understanding of the agencies which serve not only the youth but also the adult population of Summit.

The primary grades have had discussions on how the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Y. W. C. A

FATHERS' SMOKER AT JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Monday evening was a very pleasant time for nearly one hundred fathers of children who attended Central Junior High School. The evening's entertainment which was a typical school assembly program began with several selections by the school orchestra under the direction of Mr. Miller. Robert Luman, president of the Student Council, presided at the opening exercises, including the Pledge Salute, repetition of the School Creed, and readings from the Bible. Assembly singing was led by Miss Derby.

Mr. Farth, faculty advisor of Varsity Athletics, introduced Mr. Dimpman, Mr. Bunce, and Mr. Andrus who in turn presented awards to the boys winning soccer games of the 7th, 8th and 9th grades. Miss Jones presented the awards to the winning girls teams.

The Radio Broadcast Club, under the leadership of Mr. Andrus, provided the main feature of the entertainment which was very interesting and enjoyable.

At the conclusion of the program the students who had taken part were served refreshments in the boys gymnasium. The fathers adjourned to the girls gymnasium where Earl Christmas, president of the Junior High P.T.A., presided. He introduced Mr. Shuttlesworth, the Acting Assistant Principal and Mr. Bartholomew, the principal, who told what the school was seeking to accomplish in connection with the assembly programs and how they were conducted. Following this there were questions and a general discussion period. At this time the inadequate facilities for the parking of bicycles was considered. The members present unanimously adopted a resolution and moved that steps be taken to provide a means for protecting the bicycles from the weather.

Sandwiches and coffee were served by Mrs. J. C. Bennett and members of her committee.

FOGERTY FIGHT

November, 1946

Fogerty Fights the Brave,
Whose courage conquered fear,
Gave to a watery grave,
The life he held so dear.
Surrounded by seamen bold,
Upheld by their will to die,
To drown in an ocean cold,
If Britain was helped thereby.

Dauntless, the Jerves Ray,
Raved toward the warships' fleet,
Holding its guns at bay,
Till the convoy could escape.
There on the bridge alone,
Fogerty Fights stood,
Leaving his shattered bone,
Not heeding his streaming blood.

But his life and the lives of his men,
Were not sacrificed in vain,
Threatened ships quickly withdrew,
Most to reach port again.
Fogerty Fights, we know,
That for centuries ahead
History ever will glow
With the glory of your deed.

There's A Lot Of Punch In JUDY GARLAND!

Here's little Frances Gumm at the age of two in her home town of Grand Rapids. At the age of three she made her stage debut, singing "Jingle Bells" on amateur night at her father's movie theatre.

The Gums became a touring vaudeville act. Landing in Hollywood, Frances launched a career in pictures as Judy Garland. Above she is with Buddy Ebsen in "Broadway Melody of 1938."

Judy is making good as a full-fledged Hollywood star. She's right up there with Mickey Rooney and Deanna Durbin as a teen-aged box-office attraction.

A short while after she landed in California, Judy got a job impersonating Cupid with a stage revue. Talent scouts heard her, the movies grabbed her. Above, Judy sings in "Thoroughbreds Don't Cry."

Judy got her first contract without a screen test, on vocal ability alone. It turned out she had dramatic talent, could dance. Above, Mickey Rooney kisses Judy at her sixteenth birthday party. Jackie Cooper, who will be seen shortly in M-G-M's "Gallant Sons," is busy flirting.

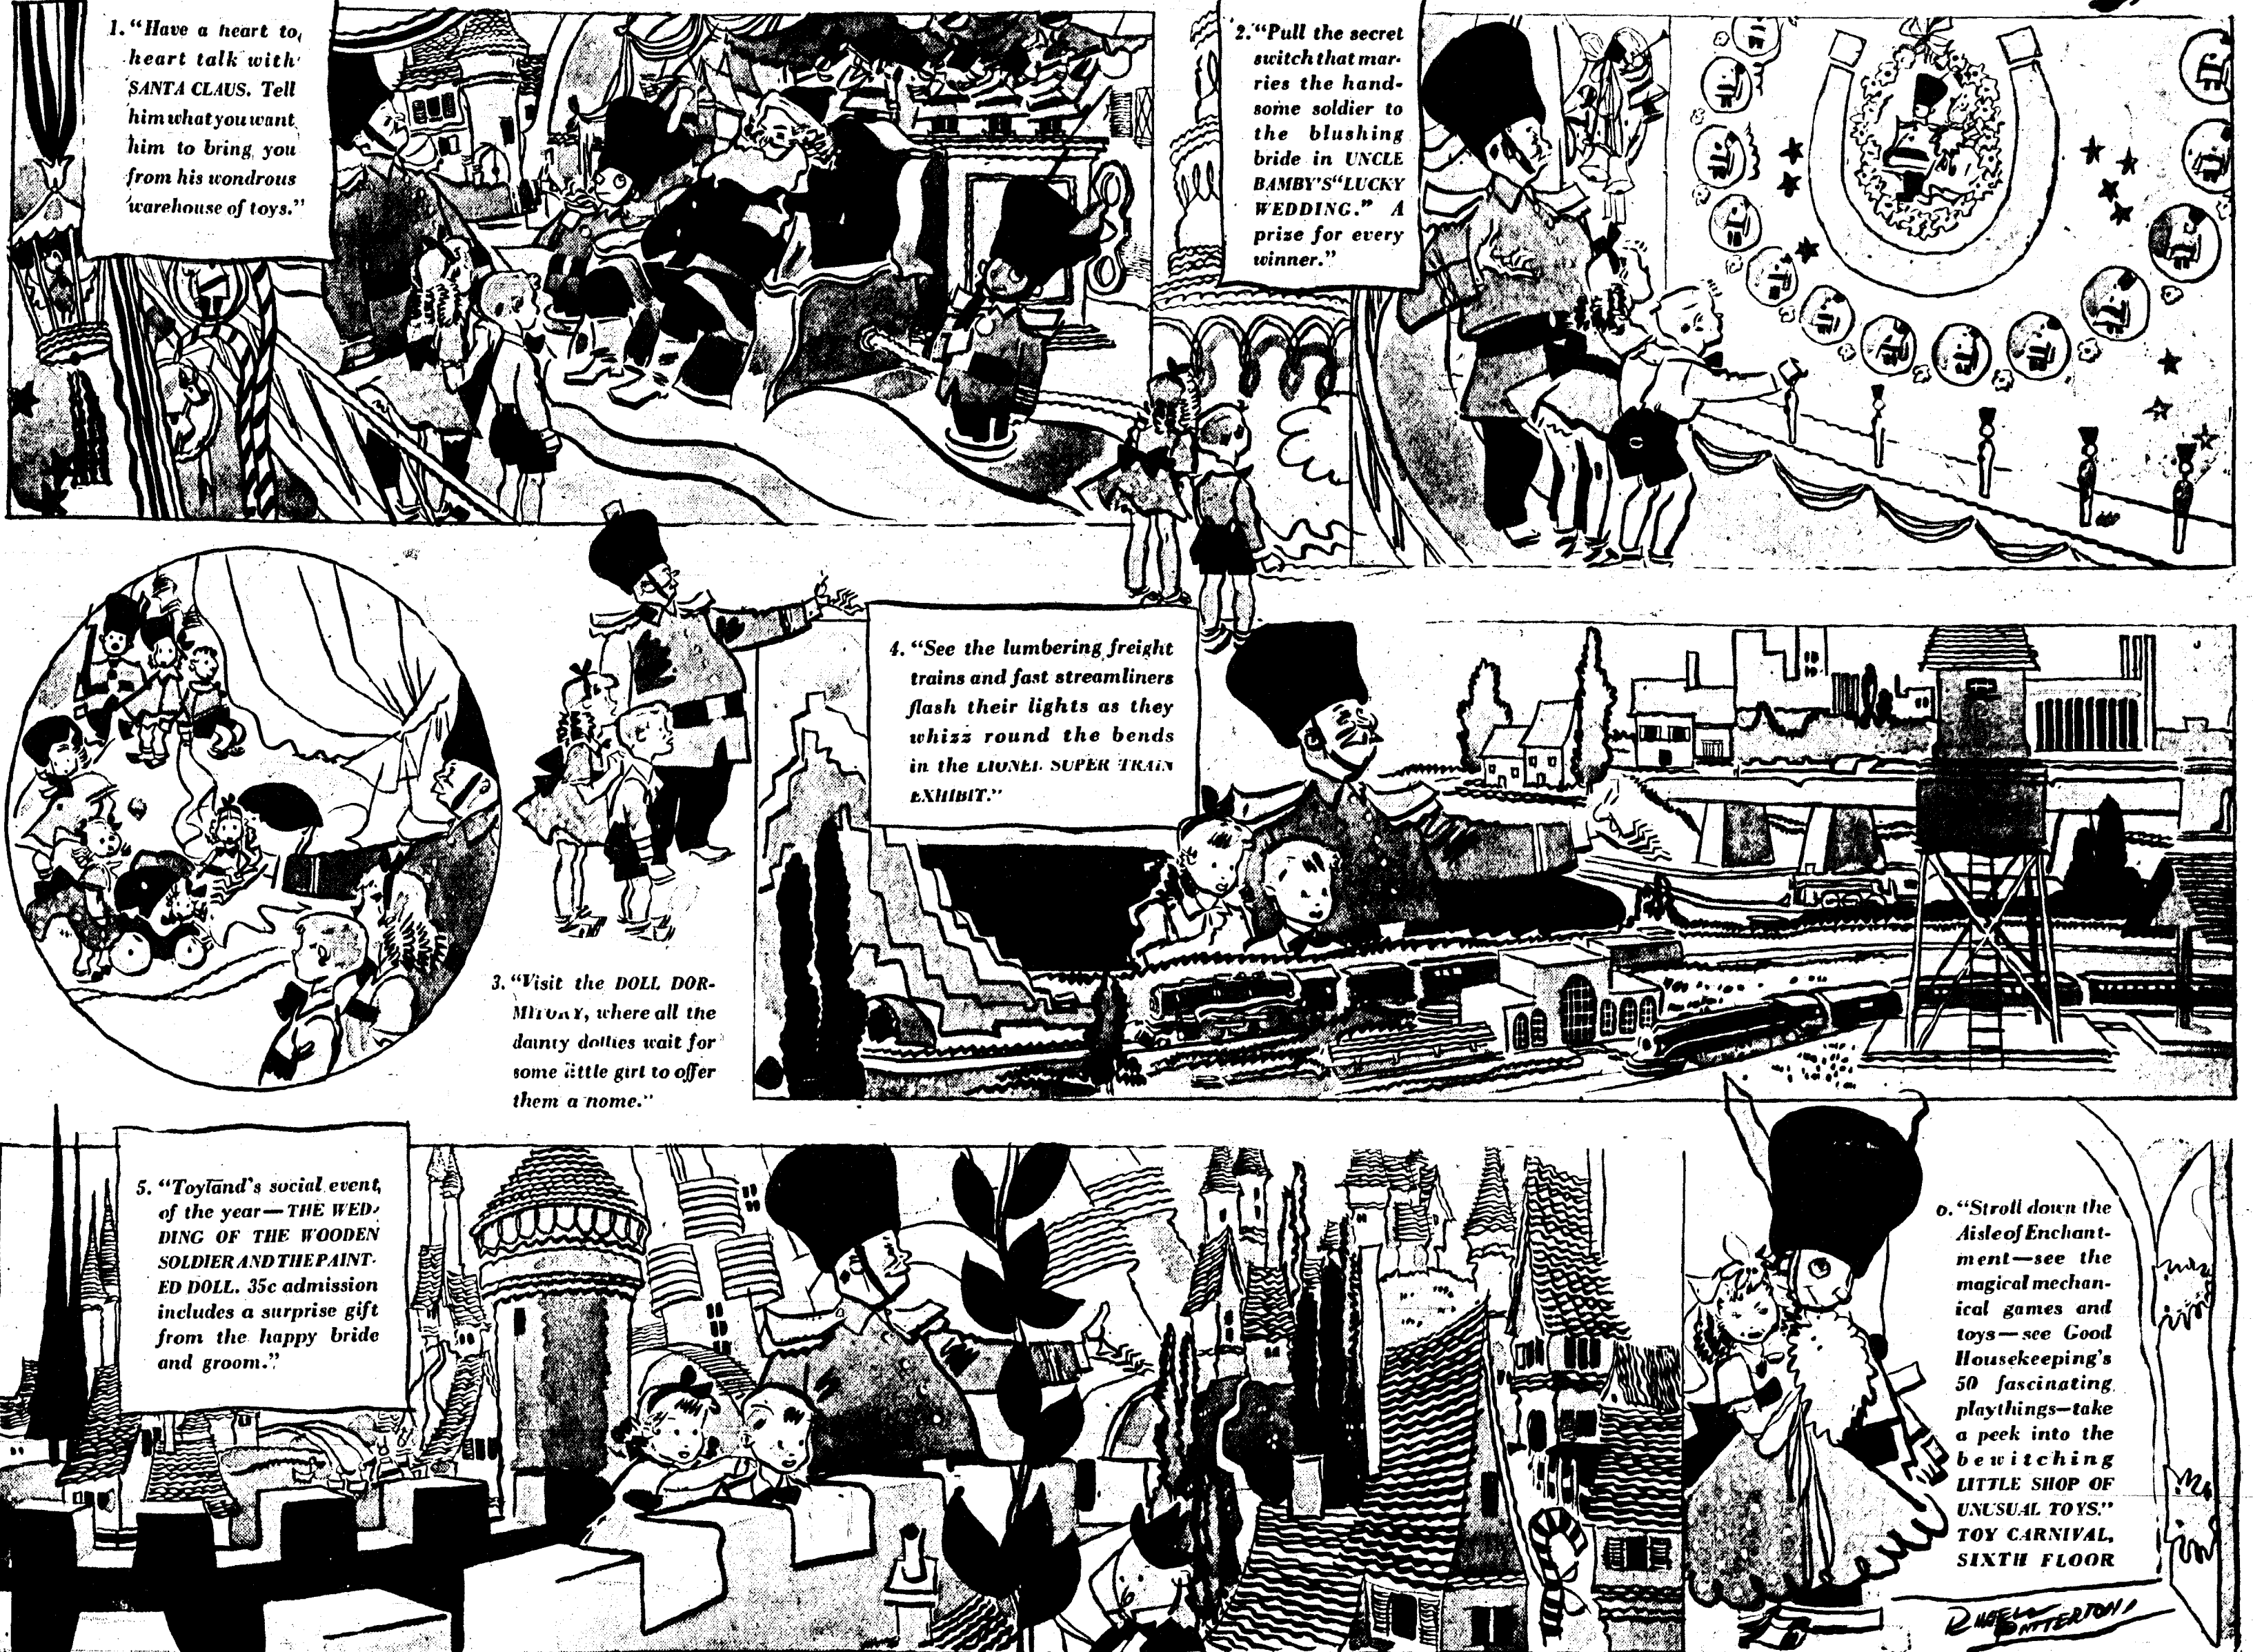

Millions of kids who read the "Wizard of Oz" wished they were in Judy's boots when she played Dorothy in M-G-M's colorful film.

Judy is all grown up and on her own now. Above, she is about to go into a clinic with Douglas McPhail in her brand new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "Little Nellie Kelly." Judy makes her first solo-starring flight in this film version of the George M. Cohan stage success, heading a cast featuring George Murphy and Charles Winninger.

Judy's now hard at work on her latest M-G-M film, "The Ziegfeld Girl." If you like to make predictions, you won't go wrong in saying, "Judy will stay on top for a long, long time!"

national Committee, and others in the party in 1939 to work for the nomination of a conservative Democrat as the Republican Presidential candidate. All through 1939 it seemed to Mr. Wilson that no Republican had a chance to win the 1940 election. And strange enough
Wendell L. Willkie, a Democrat almost politically unknown, was chosen to head the Republican ticket. It is interesting to note that Mr. Wilson's observation written to Mr. Hamilton in October of 1939 named Senator Edward R. Burke of Nebraska as the Democrat he personally favored for the Republican nomination.
"Speaking as a life-long Republican, I am of the opinion that the Republican Party would clinch the next Presidential election if they had the good sense to nominate someone like Edward R. Burke, the Democratic Senator from Nebraska, on the ticket and either Senator
Vandenberg or Senator Taft for Vice-President. We would draw the conservative Democrat vote to the Republican party and lick Mr.
Roosevelt's hand-picked candidate on the New Deal ticket."
Senator Burke was the first Democrat to endorse Mr. Willkie's nomination and has recently announced his withdrawal from the Democratic ranks because he feels that his party is now dominated by the New Dealers.

Wendell Willkie Replies to Summit Man

(Who originally named a Democrat for the Republican Presidential nomination.)
Alfred T. Koehler, an ardent Willkie campaign worker, of 2 Montview road, this city, recently requested some of his friends to write Wendell L. Willkie commending him for the fight he made as the head of the Republican and Democratic forces and urging Mr. Willkie to act as the spokesman and leader of the opposition party in the next four years.
A letter, written by one of Mr. Koehler's friends just two days previous to Mr. Willkie's notable Armistice Day address, was acknowledged by the former Republican candidate on November 16th. Mr. Alexander Wilson, 25 Oak Ridge Avenue, Summit, New Jersey.
Dear Mr. Wilson: I want you to know that your message touched me deeply. It conveyed to me not only your good will, but also a heartening faith in the principles for which I stand.
Sincerely,
(Signed) WENDELL L. WILKIE.
The message which evoked Mr. Willkie's reply was as follows:
November 10, 1940.
Dear Mr. Willkie:
As one of the 22 million voters who worked and voted for you in the last election, may I commend the able and gallant fight which you made in your efforts to serve and save your country.
It is my earnest hope that you will actively continue your militant leadership as the head of the 22 million Americans who want to see our country restored to the people.
While our patriotic duty as Democrats and Republicans calls for national unity in our foreign relationships, our duty also calls for progressive constructive criticism of the country's domestic policies whenever the indispensable man and his New Deal party act contrary to the public interest.
The Democrats of Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson now find themselves outside of the New Deal fold.
You, more than any other man, have it within your power to enroll the Democrats and Republicans in one party to be known as "The Democratic-Republican Party" or "The American Constitutional Party."
For eight long years the Republican Party has been without a leader and America has sadly lacked a strong opposition party.
We know that you are the man we have been praying for these eight years to oppose the destructive forces which are harassing our country.
May we join in a sincere hope that you, like Abraham Lincoln, will meet your country's need?
Respectfully,
(Signed) ALEXANDER WILSON,
Wendell L. Willkie, Esq.,
100 East 42nd Street,
New York City.
Unless the Republican Party is able to function as a strong opposition party there will be no effective two-party government during the next four crucial years.
The suggestion is made by Mr. Koehler that the readers of this newspaper who are in agreement with the thoughts outlined in the above correspondence write a letter to Mr. Willkie at 100 East 42nd street, New York City, asking him to continue to be the spokesman and standard-bearer of the opposition party.
It is now something of a coincidence that Mr. Wilson, the writer of the letter to Mr. Willkie, suggested to John D. H. Hamilton, chairman of the Republican Na-

Mrs. Becker's Appeal For Gifts For Men At Fort Dix

By MacKenzie
Ludolph E. Meyer, chapter chairman of hospitality, was enjoyed by all.

An urgent appeal to "all citizens of New Jersey to help supply the men at Fort Dix with some of the luxuries and necessary articles for their pleasure during leisure hours" was issued, this morning by Mrs. William A. Becker of 77 Prospect street, past president general of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution. In the appeal, Mrs. Becker writes:
"There are about 14,000 National Guard men from New Jersey and New York at Fort Dix. One-half of this number will be in camp at Christmas. The draftees start going to Fort Dix on Monday next.
"The Hostess House, or Service Club as it is to be called, needs many articles for the comfort and pleasure of the men. Perhaps later on the government will supply these things but at the moment these important articles must come from voluntary contributions, as a real emergency exists. I feel the women can do much to maintain the morale of our own boys, who in the last analysis are serving them to preserve all we hold dear.
"Here is the list as given to me by those in authority. All articles may be sent to my home and I will see that they are delivered to the Fort.
Urgent Immediate Needs
Toon books, detective stories, short stories, etc.—nothing too heavy. Fortune Magazine and all other magazines—small piano and a regular piano—radios, Victrolas and records large blackboard stand, 8x12, card tables, ping pong tables, shuffle boards, etc.
Other Needs
Newspapers from home towns, standing ash trays, scissors, dictionaries, floor lamps, furniture, waste baskets, games, playing cards, first aid articles, typewriters, newspaper racks, desks, mufflers, athletic equipment, clocks, desk lamps, candy, chocolate, cigarettes, Christmas tree ornaments, tobacco.
"I shall welcome the gift of cruetone bags with a pull string, bag size 10 inches broad and 12 inches long, filled with a tooth brush, tooth paste, small comb, playing cards, safety razor and blades, cigarettes, chocolate or hard candy, washcloth and shaving cream. The bag may include any or all or additional of above named articles and should be in my hands by December 15th. If folks can not send the bags I will accept with gratitude any articles mentioned, or money. I wish to collect through the women of the State of New Jersey at least 5,000 bags for Christmas as a message of understanding and gratitude to our boys. Our hearts and our

John Mason Brown At Fortnightly Club

John Mason Brown, dramatic critic of the New York Evening Post, who first discussed the drama before the Literature Department of the Fortnightly Club some years ago and has since appeared yearly as guest speaker at a regular meeting of the club, was heard Wednesday afternoon in one of his whirlwind reviews of current Broadway productions.
Introduced by Mrs. Robert L. Capsey, president of the club, who presided, Mr. Brown discussed the function of the drama in a war-torn world. It is, he declared, a great morale booster. For comedy, especially, "offers escape" from tragic conditions and provides much needed relaxation. Mr. Brown called the attention of his audience to the fact that most of the productions now running in New York are comedies.
Plays reviewed by the speaker were: the perfect comedy, "Life With Father," with Howard Lindsay and Dorothy Stickney; "Panama Hattie"; "Louisiana Purchase"; "Kind Lady"; "Charley's Aunt"; "George Washington Slept Here"; the rollicking "Suzanna and the Elders"; Al Johnson's new musical, "Hold On To Your Hats"; "Cabin in the Sky"; Ed Wynn's "Boys and Girls Together"; and "Twelfth Night," Shakespeare's fa-

More Power to Thrift—more Thrift from Power

MAYBE you wonder what a big car like Buick is doing talking about economy.
All right, we'll tell you.
Most people would be willing to spend a little extra for what Buick has to offer—style, size, room, steadiness, durability—if part of that extra could be paid back through lower operating costs.
Especially they would like really satisfying performance—quick take-off, easy hill-climbing, sure power, fast response—if they could have it in a car that's stingy with gasoline.
That's what we've given them—through the extra power in this 1941 Buick.
The added wallop of FIREBALL engine design and Compound Carburetion lets us use more thrifty gear ratios, saving money without complicating extra gears or mechanisms.
And the tremendous reserve-power in these Buick engines—at 40, for instance, you have as much as 85% of your power "on call"—still permits the flashing get-away, the swooping hill-climb, the sure lift out of pinches you once had to buy with heavy gasoline consumption.
So we say—more power to thrift—it helps put Buick thrill and comfort within easy reach.
And the reason is—more thrift from power—from abler engines.
It all adds up to the sensation of the year—the car you ought to see first—the brilliant, able beauty your Buick dealer has waiting for you.
BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $935

The Paul Robeson H-Y Club held its regular meeting on Friday. James Vincent and Benj. Lassiter reported on the part the club played in advertising the Summit United Campaign in the High School Assembly last Friday morning.

Fashion and Beauty Hints from Hollywood

"The wearin' of the green" certainly predominates in Judy Garland's fall wardrobe; maybe this is the influence of Judy's new picture, "Little Nellie Kelly," or maybe it's because green is complimentary to her soft red hair, but her favorite frock is a fine wool in bright kelly green. The skirt features unpressed pleats that fall into a gracefully flared skirt and the bodice is draped to a soft neckline. A black suede belt studded with nailheads in gold encircles the waistline. The M-G-M star complements the dress with a quaint bonnet-shaped hat in black. The brim shoots upward and is faced in a green matching the dress. Black suede shoes, bag and gloves complete the ensemble.

Cinderella's glass slipper becomes a reality when Diana Lewis wears her lucite pumps with evening clothes. They are toeless pumps and have a tiny bow at the instep. Bright red piping in kid trims the shoe. The actress, soon to be seen in "Go West," with the Marx Brothers, carries a matching envelope evening bag in the lucite with the identical red trimming.

Ruth Hussey is a devotee of the tailored suit and she has a hobby of collecting tricky gadgets to decorate the lapel or handkerchief pocket. For her latest, in midnight blue, the actress, soon to be seen in "Flight Command" opposite Robert Taylor, clips onto the lapel a pair of Egyptian shoes with the curved toes, in brilliant gold with a jewel-encrusted floral motif throughout.

Refugee Relief Holiday Campaign

The Refugee Relief Work Rooms opened an unusual Christmas campaign this week by acknowledging a gift of a silver pitcher. This valuable contribution is the first of what is expected to be a flood of gifts to help England. The unit will immediately ask how a silver pitcher is going to help England in her struggle.

Well, this is what is going to happen. Some one is going to come along during December and fall in love with the pitcher. Result: She (maybe it will be he) will buy the pitcher at a favorable price and the Refugee Relief Rooms will turn the cash into materials that will be fashioned into children's clothes for English children.

It is all very simple. The reader will suddenly recollect that he or she has an article in good condition. It may be a last year's Christmas present, which has never been used. An article of clothing. A novelty. Anything that some one else might be interested in acquiring. A special table will be arranged in the Work Rooms, and Christmas shoppers will be invited to inspect the offerings.

It may seem to some that many demands are being made upon us in one way or another, but we should not forget that the United States has formally declared that it is going to help England to a point short of war. One of the vital ways in which we can assist Great Britain is to help clothe those who have lost everything as a result of bomb raids. The need is continuous. We will try to make our aid continuous. One of the ways we can maintain this continuity is to support the Relief Rooms Christmas sale by contributing articles to fill their table of attractive presents.

JR. D. A. R. NOTES

Under the auspices of the Jr. D. A. R. of Beacon Fire Chapter, the third grade of Lincoln School had a trip to Washington's Headquarters in Morristown on Monday, November 18th. Several members and the teacher, Miss Sable, took the thirty children by car. At the museum they listened to a talk by W. Baker and were shown lantern slides of Colonial Morristown.

This is one phase of the Junior groups' project for this year. We are starting with one class and teaching them to revere American traditions and customs. If it is successful, we plan to enlarge our work to include many schools.

December 2nd will be club day at Franklin Simon's in East Orange. Fifty organizations will participate in the profits from sales of that day. Jr. Group D. A. R. of Summit will be one. Members will act as hostesses. There will be fashion shows and punch will be served. As we only receive profits from articles bought by our friends, we would like to ask anyone interested to do their Christmas shopping on that day.

There will be a meeting on December 3rd at the home of Miss Mildred Waterhouse, 25 Hawthorne place, at which time the national chairman of Jr. American Citizen Groups, Miss Elmer Greenwood, will speak.

Olympic Coach Rhythmic Teacher

The Board of Recreation in Summit is planning to offer a course in "Recreational Rhythmic" during the winter months. Since the ordinary calisthenics of the past were more or less a drudgery and unsatisfying to perform, the Board of Recreation has been fortunate to secure the services of an instructor who will overcome the monotony and distastefulness of those ungraceful movements.

George Miele, assistant director of physical education at Seton Hall College, will be the instructor of the class. Mr. Miele has conducted similar classes in Newark and Elizabeth and was the coach of the 1936 Women's Olympic Gymnastic Team. Rhythmic are relatively new and have proven to be popular everywhere as the movements are within the ability of everyone to master. As all work is done to classical and semi-classical rhythms, smooth, graceful actions are the natural result. This in turn eventually helps to develop a fine, graceful, well-poised body symmetry.

The classes will start in the very near future and the first meeting of the group will be held on Tuesday afternoon, November 26th, at 3. At this meeting, arrangements for regular classes will be made to hold these classes at the most convenient time for all persons interested.

The Board of Recreation is fortunate to secure Mr. Miele, along with the same pianist used in connection with the Newark and Elizabeth courses, to conduct this class in Summit. The fee for the class will be a minimum one and will be announced at the first meeting. People who cannot attend the first meeting on November 26th, are urged to call Miss Swartz at the Field House, Summit 6-2932, to make further arrangements.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Regional High School has worked on suggestion from J. W. Studebaker, National Commissioner of Education, to carry on adult education by means of open forum discussions of current problems.

The local committee, M. Gatti, R. Poppendrick and E. Frey, had made plans for a public forum in the Regional High School on the above mentioned date.

We hope a great many people in the six communities that Regional Series will be interested and a large attendance at the forum may be expected.

The forum procedure will give many people in the audience an opportunity to ask questions and to voice opinions. The purpose of the QUESTION: When is the best time to buy U. S. Royal Master Tires?

ANSWER: Right now—in November!

1st—You need them more now. November ushers in the period of wet, slippery pavements—when dangerous skids occur more often, and quick, straight-line stops are difficult. Insure your family's safety before a skidding accident occurs. Change to U. S. Royal Master now—America's foremost quick-stopping tire.

2nd—They wear longer. Winter tread wear is very slight—less than half of summer wear. That means you get extra skid protection when you need it most and still have practically new Royal Masters next spring.

Rockne, All American Film At Strand

One of the most unusual screen stories in recent times will make its local debut at the Strand Theater Sunday when Warner Bros. new film, "Knute Rockne—All American," opens.

It is a film life story of one of America's greatest and wisest heroes—Knute Rockne. The picture traces Rockne's life from his early childhood in Norway to his tragic death in 1931. His life is full of excitement, despair, love and triumph. The film, with Pat O'Brien, cast as the Notre Dame football wizard, faithfully portrays those elements and keeps alive the true spirit of Rockne. His vigorous, his astute philosophy, the great teams he built, the developing of the famous "Four Horsemen" are all told with a skillful blending of power and subtlety in "Knute Rockne—All American." O'Brien is said to have given such a realistic portrayal of the real "Rock" that Knute's closest friends were amazed at the startling likeness in even the smallest gesture.

The brilliant supporting cast consists of Gale Page as Bonnie, Knute's wife; Donald Crisp as Father Callahan, President of Notre Dame; and Ronald Reagan in the greatest role of his career, that of the renowned George Gipp. The players that portray the roles of the "Four Horsemen" have all seen action on the gridiron. They are: Kane Richmond as Elmer Layden; Bob Hyman as James Crowley; Nick Lukats as Harry Stuhldreier; and William Marshall as Don Miller. Lloyd Bacon, whose forte is action films, has kept his record unmarred in the direction of this greatest of film biographies. Robert Buckner wrote the original screen play based upon the private papers and reports of Rockne's intimate associates and friends.

You must have the HERALD if you want the news of Summit. It will cost $3.50 per year for two issues a week.

Shearer and Taylor At Community Theater

At least eleven gems of characterization from an "all-time" cast, headed by Norma Shearer and Robert Taylor, make the picture of Ethel Vance's "Escape," which is now playing at the Community Theater, Morristown, an even more assured best-seller than was the novel.

With Miss Shearer as the Countess von Treck, world-weary head of a Continental finishing school, and Robert Taylor as young American artist Mark Preysing, desperately seeking word of his mother, ex-actress Emmy Ritter, doomed to execution in a concentration camp, "Escape" becomes one of the most gripping romantic-adventure stories ever brought to the screen. Both stars achieve new peaks of performance.

The nine who complete the memorable featured cast are Conrad Veidt as the General, lover of the Countess; Nazimova, star of silent films, carving a new niche for himself as Emmy Ritter; Felix Bressart as the old family retainer, Fritz; Albert and Elsa Basserman as the crushed attorney and his wife; Philip Dunn as the concentration camp physician, Dr. Dittin; Edgar Barrier as the sadistic Police Commissioner; Bonita Granville as the schoolgirl, Ursula; and Blanche Yurka as the brutal prison nurse.

The tensely gripping quality of the novel has been retained in full in the screen play by Arch Oboler and Marguerite Roberts, while Mervyn LeRoy's direction provides an authentically convincing entertainment thrill.

Dorothy Maynor At Mosque On December 2

DOROTHY MAYNOR

The testing of "discovery" may be experienced in Newark on December 2nd when Dorothy Maynor, new Negro soprano whose New York debut last year caused a sensation in the music world, makes her first appearance at the Mosque Theater under the auspices of the Griffith Music Foundation for the benefit of the New Jersey Urban League. It is the beginning of the singer's first year on a full concert schedule.

A little over a year ago in the summer of 1939 the great singer was first discovered by Koussevitzky at the Berkshire Festival. Miss Maynor had gone to the Festival to listen to the music of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Two enthusiastic people, a personal friend and a music patron, persuaded the conductor to grant her an audition. He finally did during a morning rehearsal, and musical history was made. Koussevitzky immediately became enthused, praised her voice in the highest terms, and invited her to sing the next day at the picnic which he gives each year for members of his orchestra. Before an audience of 200 musicians, critics and a group of music lovers, the young singer started with the difficult classic arias by Handel and Mozart, then sang a group of German lieder, ending with the Wagnerian "Ho-He-He" from Die Walkure. The gift-edged professional audience marveled at her versatility and tremendous range, and was unanimous in the opinion that her voice was one of the finest in a generation.

A brilliant New York debut followed a few months later, in which critics gave the young "one of the outstanding voices of the day." Engagements with the Boston Symphony, the New York Philharmonic, Chicago, and Philadelphia Symphony Orchestras, as well as successful recitals throughout the East, started her first season.

Miss Maynor sings with equal ease in both French and German. The range of her voice is truly remarkable, running from brilliant and breath-taking high notes to deep rich low ones characteristic of her race, according to music critics. The effortless manner in which she produces the most difficult passages is phenomenal. Her instinctive skill in interpretative expression is the gift of a born artist.

New Gene Autry Film at Lyric

Gene Autry, lives up to all expectations in his current Republic film, "Carolina Moon," which opened last Wednesday evening at the Lyric Theater for a four day run. Aided and abetted by Smiley Burnette, his genial comedy sidekick, and the engaging Miss June Storey, his leading lady, he turns in one of his most entertaining performances to date, one which should serve to cement the legion of his admirers and win him many more.

This latest "musical western" goes "Southern," in a big way, huh! Gene and Frog, his pal, journey to Carolina to retrieve a valuable blooded horse which Gene believes he has bought and Miss, Caroline Stanhope, daughter of the former owner, believes he has wrested away by trickery.

Once in Carolina, Gene discovers a series of complications, including a mortgage on the proud, ancestral Stanhope acres, and a leering villain to snatch away the beautiful Caroline when the mortgage forecloses on the estate.

After it is proven to Gene and Frog that the Stanhopes had no intention of cheating them, in the matter of the race horse, they set about with a vengeance to straighten out the tangled Stanhope affairs and restore the family to the prosperity to which it has been accustomed.

With the closing performance of the Paper Mill Playhouse's production of "Jeannie," tomorrow evening, the Playhouse is busy rehearsing what promises to be one of the most exciting mystery plays ever produced in America. "I Killed the Count," by Alec Coppel, was produced in London and was instantly hailed by British critics as one of the most ingenious, most entertaining thrillers ever to find its way to a London stage. Many playwrights have endeavored to concoct perfect crimes within their plays, but Alec Coppel successfully creates a perfect crime which would baffle the best amateur detective of the Playhouse audience.

Among those players who will be seen in "I Killed the Count" will be McKay Morris, Robert Allen, Betty Keane, Nancy Coleman, Betty Kaye, Kate Hunter, Gardner, Ralph Hunter, Bertam, Tanswell, M. McKay Morris will perform for the first time on the famous Playhouse stage. However, his fame as a leading man for the past twenty years upon the American stage is certainly well known to all New Jersey theater-goers. He has been seen in such New York successes as "School for Scandal," "Breaking Point," "Romeo and Juliet," "Marco Millions," "If This Be Treason," "The American Way," etc. Ronda Keane and Robert Allen, two important players of "I Killed the Count," have the leading roles in the present Playhouse production of "Jeannie." The setting for the forthcoming production will again be designed by Emeline Roche, and the direction is being handled by Frank Carrington and his assistant, Agnes Morgan.

LEONIDAS' MOTHER IN THIS PICTURE CARRIES HER MAKE-UP TO THE STAGE IN TEN TEA CANNISTERS CARRIED IN A SHOE BOX (MAYBE IT'S FOR GOOD LUCK!)

An Adrian Design

Adrian, well-known Hollywood designer, designs this stunning suit for Ruth Hussey to wear in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Philadelphia Story." Combining gray and beige the coat has a long torso silhouette and is almost severe in its simplicity. The slit pockets and wide buckle are of self-material and the jacket is worn over a one piece gray wool skirt. The only note of color is the Kelly green ascot scarf. Deep brown accessories add to the effectiveness of the outfit. Her wide brimmed hat is in the beige matching the jacket.

NEW YORK, N. Y. — "IT'S TRUE!" that Edward Ashley, young Australian, leading man recently signed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, appears with Jackie Cooper and Bonita Granville in "Gallant Sons," says Wiley Padan. "Ashley, who won international awards in England as a ski jumper, has become interested in water skis which are towed through the water, somewhat in the fashion of surfboards. He will attempt to pilot water skis from Catalina to the mainland. . . . Another interesting fact about 'Gallant Sons' is that El Brendel, famous comedian, plays the high school groundskeeper who begs the youngsters when they turn amateur detectives."

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINTS

The Wrong Way to Reduce

By Dr. James A. Tobey

THERE seems to be going around another of those crazy methods for quick reducing. As described by a number of magazine writers and columnists, it consists of the elimination of all fats, sugars, and starches from the daily fare.

Anyone who advocates such a silly procedure obviously knows nothing about nutrition, and anyone who followed such a diet for any length of time would suffer from severe acidosis and similar dangerous conditions.

Taken literally, this diet would mean that you could eat nothing but protein foods, such as lean meat and fish, cheese, gelatin, and nuts. These are all good foods, but they belong in a mixed diet of various nourishing foods.

If this system of reducing were followed faithfully, it would mean the complete elimination from the diet of milk, eggs, fruits, vegetables, bread, and cereals, all of which contain sugars or starches or both, and some of which also contain fat. Most of these foods likewise have protein needed for body building.

When a person is reducing, a certain amount of carbohydrate in the form of sugar or starch is necessary in the diet. This is because fat can be burned up satisfactorily only in the presence of carbohydrate.

If sugars and starches are lacking, the body fat is incompletely burned, or oxidized, leaving products known as ketones, which cause an acidosis-like condition. The symptoms are quite unpleasant.

For this reason, moderate amounts of such carbohydrate foods as bread, potatoes, fruit, and vegetables should be included in every sensible reducing diet.

There is no reason why fats should be eliminated, either, although the amount eaten may be reduced. Fats such as butter, cream, and bacon furnish the precious vitamins needed for vitality. They also slow up digestion and give a desirable feeling of fullness.

The right way to reduce is to cut down on the total intake of all foods. No single food is fattening. Milk and bread should always be included in reducing diets, and most anything else can be included if the total diet is kept low in calories.
