Mayor Forster Joins Pledge to Pascoe On G. O. P. Outing

Come what may in the form of other candidates for the State Senatorial nomination, the Mayors' Committee representing Summit, Springfield, New Providence Borough and New Providence Township is supporting Assemblyman Herbert J. Pascoe of Elizabeth, for top place on the Republican ticket and election in November.

This pledge was made Friday night aboard the S. S. Americana, which carried a throng of Republican officials, party leaders and workers on the county committee's annual excursion up North River.

The committee, which is composed of Mayors Guido F. Forster, of Summit, and John W. Oakwood, of New Providence Borough, and Township Committee Chairmen Wilbur M. Selander, of Springfield, and Anton C. Swenson, of New Providence Township, invited Pascoe to be their dinner guest on the steamer, and took the occasion to make their announcement of backing.

Their action was voted in the presence of County Chairman George D. Rankin, of Cranford, and was acknowledged briefly by Pascoe.

Swenson, spokesman for the group, expressed the view of his fellow in declaring that Assemblyman Pascoe has demonstrated his complete fitness for the Senatorial promotion during the past two decades.

"Assemblyman Pascoe has been tireless in his efforts both for party and public welfare," Swenson continued. "He has earned the confidence of municipal officials, party officers and the general public. By all the rules of the game he deserves united support for his nomination and election."

"Our group is proud to announce our whole-hearted approval of his candidacy at this time, and we pledge that come what may in the form of other candidates, we will work unitedly for Pascoe."

The announcement was followed by the affixing of signatures to a petition blank which bore Pascoe's name as a candidate.

Intermittent downpours of rain seemed not to interfere with the excursionists, who represented every section of the county and included party leaders and public officials as well as "frank and die." When the steamer swung away from Recreation Pier, Elizabeth, nearly 1,000 persons were aboard. One upper deck was reserved for dancing to orchestral music. Tarpaulins were lashed along the rails as a protection against the driving rain, and provided ample shelter.

The route of the trip lay through the Arthur Kill, the Kill van Kull, upper New York Harbor and North River as far as the George Washington Bridge. The steamer docked.

ALEXANDER THOMSON

Alexander Thomson, Plumbing and Heating Expert, Dies

Alexander Thomson, 84, a plumbing and heating contractor here for over 40 years, died Wednesday night at his home, 33 Ruthven place. He had been ill six months.

Mr. Thomson was born in Aberdeen, Scotland. In his native land he served a full apprenticeship in learning his trade. In those days products of the trade were made by hand.

Early in his career, Mr. Thomson became a specialist on the lead coating of castle roofs, an almost lost art in this country. For his ability in this field, the aspiring young master mechanic became widely known. On occasion he spoke to his intimate friends in the quiet manner for which he was so beloved of having been brought into the presence of her Majesty, the late Queen Victoria.

Master mechanic that he was, Mr. Thomson was often engaged in conversation by the Queen who sought professional advice from him.

He came to Canada in 1883 becoming associated with Denny Brothers, heating engineers. Because of his knowledge of hot water heat, Mr. Thomson soon came to Newark as a consultant. It is believed he installed in the old Presbyterian Church the first hot water heating system in that city.

In completing that job, "Alex" as he was affectionately called by many of his friends, often reminisced of how during "The Blizzard of 1888" he had to climb out the second story residence of his rooming house in order to go to work.

Before coming to Summit in 1900, Mr. Thomson plied his trade in Orange where he specialized in Llewellyn Park estates. His first contract in Summit was in association with the construction of the James W. Cromwell home, 16 Beckman road. Known far and wide for his exceptionally high ethical standards, became well known for the advice he always gave his workmen: "Forget the profit, every job is to be your best job."

After completing his contract with Mr. Cromwell, Mr. Thomson bought the business of Dan Hughes, 412 Springfield avenue, adjacent to what was then the Norton Hardware Co., now Frumkin's Dry Goods Store. At that address he

Volunteers Sought By Legion for Air Raid Warning Posts

Orders have been received by the American Legion, Summit Post No. 138, immediately to recruit and train sufficient observers to man the air raid warning post assigned to this area. It was announced this morning by Commander John E. Neville, Past Commander Joe Caesar has been named chairman of the local post's air warning committee. Under his direction recruiting started Saturday and will continue through until Wednesday night. Ex-Service men are particularly sought for this work. Anyone desiring to offer his services for this work are urged to do so by telephoning Summit 6-2621 or reporting in person at the Legion's Home, corner of Elm and Broad streets, any night through Wednesday between 8 and 9.30.

It is expected that the major part of the personnel in the Summit area for the air raid post warning work will be filled with Ex-Service men, many having already volunteered.

Though the number of volunteers is not limited, a minimum of 16 is required. A brief course of training will start the latter part of this week under the direction of the local Legion's course of instruction having just been received.

Personal Requirements: Volunteers will be accepted on a basis of their eye sight, sense of hearing and direction and their ability to differentiate single and bi-motored planes.

Summit Post has been directed to have the volunteers ready for instant service. As put by Commander Neville, "I am going to see to it that they are ready." Assisting Caesar in training the volunteers will be Legionnaires James Edwards and Lloyd S. King.

Harry's Garage in Springfield avenue, New Providence, has been selected as the site of the air warning post in this area. This is one of four in the county, the others being in Plainfield, Rahway and Union.

Under the provisions of recent legislation affecting the New Jersey Defense Council, the jurisdiction of the air warning post will lie with the New Providence Defense Council of which Mayor John W. Oakwood is president.

Until a further schedule of duty is worked out volunteers will hold themselves "on the alert" for duty. However, Commander Neville states no volunteer will be on duty for more than two hours at a time, thus inconveniencing no one.

The air raid warning supervision in Union County is in the hands of Commander Gustav Bohnenberger of the county Legion.

Concert Artists For V.F.W. Benefit Win Large Audience

Past Commander Thomas F. Monroe, one of the charter members of Beacon Hill Post, introduced the concert director, Alfred E. Seidel.

The latter, in turn introduced the artists: Sylvia Clyde, Emile Renan, Gretchen Haller, Edward Dunbar and Evelyn Smith Austin. "The Star Spangled Banner" was the opening number.

OUR TOWN

BANANA SPLIT POSTSCRIPT: Nothing we have said in the past three months has seemed to reach so far down into consciousness of the community as the account of our harrowing experience in getting a banana split tailor-made to our specifications. As nearly as we can make out everybody we know read that column. We have received considerable advice—a small percentage of it good. How we are to interpret this deep and very moving reaction is something we are not yet clear about.

SELL OUT EDITION: We have been very much pleased by the growing circulation of The Summit Herald. We are also very much pleased to have people complain that The Summit Herald is eating into their spare time. They find it too fascinating to put aside. Discounting some of these comments on the score of generous politeness we nevertheless are happy to report that newsstands ran out of copies of Thursday's paper and we had to rush off extra copies for them.

ORGANIZATION PUBLICITY: We know that it is a problem of local organizations to find and appoint publicity committee chairmen and chairwomen. One difficulty is to find individuals who feel qualified to handle the responsibility. We would like to be as helpful as possible and we cordially invite organizations to let us help. It is not necessary for you to write stories for The Summit Herald. Just call Summit 6-1900 and give us the facts. It is our job to get and write news.

What Summit organizations are doing is a matter of interest to all their members and to many people in the community outside their memberships. We consider their activities news and are not only willing but anxious to get information. Call on us.

POLITICAL NEUTRALITY: The Summit Herald has declared itself politically neutral. We do not intend to sponsor any candidate or to urge you to elect him. We have said that our job is to provide in this community a medium through which the people of Summit can be reached—whether you are a merchant selling goods and services, an organized group sponsoring a cause, or a candidate for office seeking public support.

We want at this point to define our "neutrality" a little more closely. We do not intend to suppress any news. (We are glad to say no one has asked us to.) We do not intend to undervalue any news. (No one has asked us to do that either.) Our yardstick is "how interesting is the event to how many people."

We shall, to the best of our ability, stick to the facts. Naturally we shall give the most space to the candidate who is creating the largest amount of publishable news—whichever he may be.

We are very serious about this. We are convinced that it is the proper policy for a newspaper like The Summit Herald. Our columns are open to every legitimate enterprise and every individual who has a legitimate message.

JOB COUNSELLING: We attended a recent meeting of the Mayor's Committee on Employment. We found the subject tremendously interesting. A Job Counsellor, as we understand it, tries to match two things—the training (if any) and aptitudes of the individual on the one hand and the market for such talents and training on the other. Vocational Guidance tries to direct youngsters into types of training for which they are best equipped. Placement tries to find jobs for qualified people, young or old. Job Counseling is in between. The Job Counsellor will say: "You have the aptitudes needed for an automobile mechanic and you would make a good one, but industry, here, in the state, or throughout the nation, does not need automobile mechanics so much as it does aviation mechanics. My advice is to change your plans and train to become an aviation mechanic. You would make a good one."

Probably we have oversimplified the example but that is the general idea. A Job Counsellor must know the trends of need in business and professions as well as the aptitudes and necessary training of the individual who is being advised. To us this whole field of inquiry is of major importance. Directing the flow of training for specific occupations seems to us a great field for study, experiment and action. We are very glad that Summit is looking into the question—not only for young people but also for older people whose future may often be uncertain, not because they have no talents which are valuable, but because they are tenaciously trying to be engineers, or mechanics, or clerks when they should be singers, artists, photographers or magicians.

In a world in which no one would try to chop wood with a hammer, or saw logs with a file, or drive nails with a screwdriver it seems inexcusable that human talents should be so often misused, ignored and wasted.

Summit High School To Graduate 182 At Commencement Exercises Tomorrow

Out of the early English ecclesiastical ceremonies come the customs surrounding the use of the traditional cap and gown which on Tuesday night, June 17, makes its appearance at Summit High School when 182 seniors, of which 101 are preparatory students, 4 general and 31 commercial don the flowing robes and mortarboards to receive their diplomas. The boys will wear scarlet caps and gowns while those worn by the girls will be white. At the High School, it is said that the use of caps and gowns overcomes the difference of dress and makes for democracy. It is also thought that the adoption of the cap and gown for high school graduation exercises provides a senior badge and improves the commencement festivities. Each student rents his cap and gown for the occasion.

Mayor Will Not Speak On June 18 But Leathem Will

Father's Day Noted at Police Headquarters: Summit Police Headquarters became cognizant of Father's Day yesterday in a rather unusual manner. Early Sunday morning a group of men parked their car near Bill's Lunch on Union place and entered that place to "rest and refresh themselves." On returning to their car, a rather unusual object was found in the rear seat, the base of a tombstone about two feet square with "Father" engraved on one of the sides. Not knowing what to do with the object which they had been mysteriously presented, the recipients delivered the same at Police Headquarters so that the city's law enforcement agency might find the owner. Consequently, if any one lost the base of a tombstone engraved for "Father" please call at Police Headquarters and claim your property.

"Skin" Game Raided By Police; Players Fined in Court: A group of men were engaged Friday night in the home of Arthur Howard, 12 Chestnut avenue, in one of the oldest "skin" games known to man. Without any warning, a trio of Summit policemen, including Police Court Van Tronk and Patrolmen Trayford and Ford, arrived on the scene. Without alerting the officers soon corralled Messrs. John Gillan, John Andrews, Solomon Steplight, Allen Burrus, Henry Tibbett and Henry Langford, all of Summit. They were booked as participants while Howard was charged with providing facilities for conducting the game.

Appearing Saturday morning in Summit Police Court before Judge Robert J. Murphy, each was found guilty as charged. Howard was fined $50 and each of the others $5.

District Court Post Senate Action Today Considered Remote: While Governor Edison heretofore has made no nomination to the Third District Judicial Court post although the five-year term of Judge John L. Hughes expired April 22, and the incumbent has been serving as a holdover under the State law governing such situations, it is not likely as The Summit Herald goes to press that any Senate action will be forthcoming today as that body convenes. Information yesterday from those acquainted "behind the scenes" in Trenton points to this prognostication, notwithstanding other reports to the contrary receiving circulation in credible channels on Saturday.

Late in March when the Governor nominated Democrats to two other Union County District Court vacancies and to the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court, the Governor told Senator Charles E. Loizeaux in no uncertain language his desire to reappoint Hughes.

Of Judge Hughes, the Governor said: "I think Judge Hughes has done an outstanding job, and I feel he is worthy of reappointment."

As an indication of the high regard in which Judge Hughes is held in the area served by the Third District Court, a group of representative leading citizens from a cross section of religious, social and civic groups went to Senator Loizeaux and told him of their earnest desire to have the present incumbent reappointed to his post.

Summit Honors the Flag On Its 164th Birthday: With an absence of formal exercises, Summit paused on Saturday to honor the United States flag, adopted 164 years ago. The stars and stripes flew atop public buildings, from in front of homes and places of business and from the light standards in the business section of the city.

Memorial Service to Honor Deceased: Memorial services to honor deceased members of Crystal Lodge and Silver Rebekah Lodge of Odd Fellows will be conducted in the lodge rooms on Thursday evening at 8.45. All of the members have been requested to attend.

Says He Agreed To Talk On Civic Affairs, Not Debate

INDEPENDENT CLUB PRESIDENT ANSWERS: Mayor Guido F. Forster has announced that he will not appear at the Summit Independent Club Town Meeting scheduled for Wednesday evening, June 18th, in the Brayton School auditorium. C. J. Faherty, president of the Independent Club, has announced that the meeting will be held as scheduled, that Ernest F. Leathem, candidate for the Republican mayoralty nomination, will speak and that he hopes Mayor Forster will reconsider.

The Mayor's statement is as follows: "After having told interested individuals in the so-called Independent group that I would engage in no debate but would be pleased to talk on civic affairs, I noted in the papers that a platform 'debate' was scheduled. In view of this change I will not appear at the meeting scheduled for Wednesday, June 18th."

(Signed) Guido F. Forster. When informed of this decision by The Summit Herald, Mr. Faherty made the following statement: "We regret extremely that Mayor Forster does not see fit to attend the forum to be sponsored by the Independent Club so that he and his opponent could present the issues of the campaign as they see them to the people of Summit. Regardless of any opinion to the contrary, the Independent Club is still the club that its name implies and any person appearing before it can be assured of a fair and impartial hearing. I have personally assured Mayor Forster of this, even to the extent of agreeing to appoint a moderator to preside who is not a member of any club. We still hope that he will attend as we feel that the people of Summit are anxious to hear the issues of the campaign in order that they may vote intelligently in the September primaries."

Mr. Faherty asked that the words "Regardless of any opinion to the contrary the Independent Club is still the club that its name implies" be emphasized.

Horace P. Bromfield, campaign manager for Mr. Leathem, said he had no comment to make except that Mr. Leathem would speak as scheduled.

Some excerpts from Dr. Buschman's sermon follow: "The ways of divine providence are always strange. Almost every one believes in God's providential guidance in matters of great importance to large groups. We believe that history in the main is history. It is sometimes more difficult to believe in that same providence when only one individual is concerned. Yet we know that there can be no real guidance in the general unless there also be guidance in the particular. A good architect not only plans the general outlines of a building but also pays attention to the details of the building. But perhaps the greatest difficulty in belief in the providence of God when only individuals are concerned arises when in the working out of his plan one is confronted with pain, loss or adversity. We mistakenly associate providence only with success and prosperity, and forget that sometimes that same Hand may lead us in paths of difficulty."

"In the life of Elijah we find an illustration of that fact. In the time of drought God commanded his faithful prophet to dwell besides the brook Cherith. As long as that brook was flowing with water it was not difficult for Elijah to believe in the goodness of God. But alas, the time came when the brook dried up. Then it became far more difficult to believe in the providential care. When serious illness comes, when we lose our health or our fortunes, when the tides of war run counter to our own

H. S. Summer Session Beginning June 27 Offers Many Courses

The Summer Session of the High School will begin Friday, June 27th and will operate six days a week with the exception of July 4 and 5, and end Saturday, August 2nd. Students may register on Thursday, June 26th or during the closing day of school, Joseph McClellan will act as principal of the school this year in place of A. J. Woodside; mathematics, Harry Dampman; French and Latin, Miss Patricia Murray; history, J. McClellan; typewriting, Miss Irene Hitz.

Because of the response last year, the course in typewriting for personal use will again be offered this year. This course in no way attempts to qualify a person for business positions, but does give instruction and practice in the elements of typewriting, providing sufficient skill to enable the student to use the typewriter in preparation of his reports and themes in high school or college. It is principally an opportunity for those students who have wanted to take some typewriting but who have been unable to give the time to it in their regular schedules. The class will meet for two hours each day during the summer session.

What Is Your Financial Future?

Every one of us must face a period of heavy taxes. We are embarked on a period of national defense expenditures which must be paid for by all of us. No one will escape the tax burden.

Now is a time for careful thinking—for wise financial management. These are difficult times and we must try to be wise managers.

There are many ways a bank can help you,—and we think it is a good time for you to learn more about banking services.

Take the subject of loans.

There are many good practical reasons for borrowing money. People often borrow to get out of debt. One bank loan may allow you to clean up your obligations,—and you can pay off the bank loan by regular, orderly payments.

Another thing—banks can frequently lend at the most economical rate. It may be more economical to borrow from your bank than to adopt deferred payment plans for the purchase of things like automobiles, refrigerators, furniture.

At a time like this it is wise, in our opinion, to know what a bank can do to help you. It is wise to have a plan for your financial future. It is wise to find out whether a bank can give you the help you need and save you money in doing so.

We are always glad to discuss financial problems with depositors and others. We are always glad to make available, without obligation, the experience and judgment of our officers in their special fields—real estate, mortgages, business loans, living trusts, taxes, safekeeping, credit, wills, estates, securities, investment policies.

If you have a problem, no matter how small or large, why not call at The Summit Trust Company today?

Red Sox Halted By Weather; Tigers Gain Second Place

Wet Grounds Win As Summit Red Sox Face Madison Outfit

Summit's Red Sox were forced to take back seats to old man weather on Saturday afternoon at Soldier's Memorial Field when wet grounds prevented them from playing the Madison Dodgers in an important Lackawanna Baseball League contest. The Red Sox were to have made a bid for the leadership of the loop, trailing the first-place Dodgers by a mere one-half game, but in the end wound up in third place as a result of the East Orange Tigers' triumph over the Irvington Stanleys on Sunday afternoon.

The locals have another home game carded for this coming Saturday with the floundering Irvington outfit, a combine that was a high favorite to cop the league championship at the outset of the current season. Madison will not be engaged at home again, until July 26th.

On hand for the local outfit on Saturday was one of the strongest available combines. Manager John Yannunzio had his curve-balling pitching artist, John Higgins, as well as most of the other performers that have helped capture three victories in four starts. Madison, too, planned to field its best available aggregation.

With two games cancelled by inclement weather already this season, it is considered probable by the local management that double headers or Sunday games may be forced into the schedule later in the campaign. Harlan S. Kennedy, director of the Summit Board of Recreation, advised postponement of the contest last Saturday. Mud on base paths and wet grass, it was pointed out, would have made play difficult and dangerous.

Summit Golf Club Is Not "Abandoned"

It was recently reported that the Summit Golf Club had been "abandoned" by its backers and that the new Bell Telephone Laboratories in that section of Murray Hill might pull the club out of financial difficulties. The story, however, was erroneous in that the old Summit Golf Club has for some time been very active as the newly-renovated Murray Hill Golf Club.

Mayor John W. Oakwood of New Providence Borough, a director, has pointed out that the club is far from being "abandoned." The course has been repaired and improved under the direction of Mayor Oakwood, who is also a landscape engineer, and the battle with Japanese beetles has been won, improving the condition of the fairways and greens.

An idea of the activity at the club may be gained from the fact that over 300 played at the course on Memorial Day. Last Saturday, 195 persons went out and about 250 enjoyed the Sunday play.

It is reported that the club is pulling out of all financial troubles, although it is expected that the Bell Laboratories will bring added revenue. Art Porash is the professional at the club.

'Don't Remove Birds' Com. Geo. C. Warren Tells Jersey People

"Don't remove birds and animals, particularly fawns, or young deer, from natural habitats and take them home for pets, because they usually die or become unfit for their natural surroundings."

This combined plea and warning was issued today by George C. Warren, Jr., of Summit, President of the State Fish and Game Commission, to New Jersey residents and others in an effort to reduce the death toll of wildlife at this season of the year which is promoted generally by unthinking persons who attempt to add young birds and animals believed to be in distress.

"If you see a young bird on the ground which is apparently learning to fly, leave it alone," advised President Warren. "The chances are that the mother bird is hovering nearby ready to help it out of any difficulty. If a fawn appears lost in the woods, leave it alone. Nine times out of ten its mother, concealed in the foliage, is carefully watching her young. Other forms of wildlife injured to the difficulties of natural surroundings, are also better off without human interference."

President Warren pointed out that tourists and others visiting the rural sections of New Jersey at this time of year unintentionally cause the destruction of much wildlife through attempts to provide help. He declared it is seldom if ever that a young bird or animal which momentarily strays away from its family, is lost completely by the mother animal or bird.

"The chances of any birds or animals picked up during the breeding season ever being nursed back to a point where they would be fit to release in the open are one hundred to one," said President Warren. "No matter how well they seem to get along in captivity they are never fit to be turned loose again in their natural habitats. Thus people who take these young birds or animals home are not conserving wildlife even though they might think otherwise."

President Warren further warned that though the taking of such wildlife from natural surroundings may be caused by a humane impulse, the action is strictly against the laws of New Jersey. The statutes provide a penalty of $20 to $100 fine for the illegal possession of game or insectivorous birds during the closed seasons, he warned.

Lackawanna League In Stormy Session Last Friday Evening

The Lackawanna Baseball League's Board of Governors, which handles all affairs of the loop, in session at Millburn's Board of Recreation offices, Taylor Park, on Friday evening, engaged in the most heated debate in the two-year history of the reorganized amateur body. But of the argument was the right of clubs to use players from communities other than the home town and the right of managers to press players into service though they know that they violate existing rules barring their participation in any other organized league.

Among other teams involved in the lengthy verbal battle, Summit's Red Sox were openly accused and later proven innocent of violating the loop law that forbids use of players outside the Summit-New Providence area, with the exception of four non-paid non-residents. Red Sox Manager John Yannunzio displayed proof that John Mazur, Pete Bellico and John Higgins were the only three Summit players not residents of the community, and further made it clear that such petty agitation as was being brewed by certain members of the Board would lead to a speedy destruction of the aims and purposes of the organization.

Also attacked by the group was the use of several Essex County and Inter-County Baseball League players by the loop-leading Madison Dodgers. Andrew M. Rickey, manager of the Rose City nine, defended his position, warning that he could not continue if outside performers were not granted him. He cited the Selective Service Training Act and the defense industries as reasons for losing many of the players he had counted upon at the outset of the season.

Present league rules provide that any player appearing on the roster or participating regularly for any organized semi-professional or amateur league team is not eligible for play, and that a player found to play four or more games for such a club will be barred from the Lackawanna for the entire season. An exception was made in the case of the Madison entry.

Essex County Change
Another item of interest at the meeting was the proposal that the Choo-Choo loop appoint a committee to confer with Essex County League leaders in an attempt to reorganize the latter group on an amateur basis. It was pointed out that such a move would create a healthy situation and would enable the two leagues to engage in a post-season series on an even footing.

The Essex County League is at present a semi-professional organization, but has shown signs of some deterioration during recent years. The difficulty in paying players when gate receipts are at a minimum, plus the constant change of faces on the various clubs, has prompted the Lackawanna officials to offer the amateur plan.

Many of the members of the Board scoffed at the proposition as "A plan designed only to make the Lackawanna League the laughing stock of the state." One official attacked the plan as "utterly foolish," while another tagged such a proposal as "amateur Lackawanna, aged 20, gives old timers fatherly advice."

All action on the proposed move was temporarily dropped, pending discussion with leaders of the Essex loop.

All-Star Games

In other business of the night, Board members agreed to play two "All-Star" games at the close of the current season. The first will be a North vs. South battle and the second a contest with an outside league. The North will be composed of Summit, Millburn and Madison, while Irvington, East Orange and Livingston will represent the South. Those in attendance at the session included: Carl Perina and Vito Mele, Irvington; Nick Mastro, East Orange; Charles Winner and Ted Widmayer, Millburn; John Yannunzio, Summit; Andrew Rickey, Madison; and John Hobbs, Livingston. Absent was league president Matthew Campanella. Perina acted as chairman in his absence.

The largest of all the "I Am An American" celebrations that were held throughout the country last month was the one in New York City that drew 750,000 persons. The chairman of that affair was Federal Judge Murray Hulbert, past-president of the A. A. U. In announcing his appointment to that exalted post the New York Journal-American declared: "On the broad shoulders of Federal Judge Hulbert rests responsibility in great measure for the success of the magnificent patriotic observance." Since it was a success that surpassed all expectation, Judge Hulbert may take a bow.

Once Held Walking Marathons At Silk Mill

A real estate transaction of very considerable importance to Summit was closed last week with the sale to the Cardick Realty Company of Newark, of the building and property at Morris avenue and Weaver street known pretty generally to Summit folks as the Silk Mill. It was sold by the Gerll Company, the silk manufacturing concern that operated the mill for several years.

At present and for the past seven or eight years the mill has been operated by the McGregor Manufacturing Company for the making of men and women's wear and since the new owners have declared that the purchase was purely for investment the present tenants are likely to continue operating the mill.

The property involved in this transaction has had a long, interesting and sometimes troublesome history, but under the McGregor concern's operation its career has been entirely calm and so far as the rest of the city knows free from labor troubles and disputes. So far as any available records show it was the first industrial plant of any considerable size to be established in Summit.

Along in the late 70's the first unit of the brick structure was erected by a man named John Creed for the manufacture of shoes. Creed, at the same time located his home here, occupying the house on the Boulevard that afterwards was for many years the home of A. F. Cushman and is now occupied by John J. Gannon. The shoe concern failed after a comparatively few years and the mill was idle for a short period.

In the early 80's it was taken over by a man named Hoffman as a factory for the making of rubber garments and this concern had several years of a quiet prosperous career.

Somewhere in those years, either just after Creed or Hoffman, a portion of the building (the second floor) was fitted up for a purpose that will sound strange to most folks of today. It was the period of the six-day walking craze and indoor athletic contests. Then each year marked a six-day walking contest in Madison Square Garden and the participants were as much the idols of the sport lovers then and attracted just as much of a nightly throng as any of the six-day bicycle matches of our recent years. Each small community had its long list of followers of the sport and any number of youngsters aspiring to fame as probably future Dan O'Learys, George Rowells or ampanas, the heroes of that era.

The second floor of the Morris avenue mill during a vacant period was fenced off allowing a semi-circular track about six feet wide and there the walking matches were held. In Madison Square and the large cities these contests continued for the entire 24 hours of the day, but here the participants would race about five hours each night and there would be half mile and one and two-mile races to fill up the program. For a time the matches attracted fair crowds but the faded out after a year or so.

Following the retirement of the Hoffman rubber concern, the mill was idle for a considerable period and was then taken over by Messrs. Othnel and William deForest for operation as a silk mill and it has continued in that line until it was leased by the McGregor Company some years ago.

The entire plant has been enlarged from time to time since it was first erected and today it is two or three times its original size. As a silk mill, both under the deForest regime and that of the Gerll Company which succeeded them, the operation of the mill was marked by constantly recurring labor troubles and strikes. The Gerll Company closed it down following one of those strikes and it remained idle for some time until leased by the McGregor concern.

Millburn Blues Hit Stride in Choo-Choo Loop Second Division

Millburn's Blues moved to within two games of the first-place Madison Dodgers in the Lackawanna League standings on Saturday afternoon, thrashing the lowest Livingston A. C. 12 to 5, in a contest at Taylor Park, Millburn.

The cellar-dwelling Livingston aggregation crumbled under a fourteen-hit Millburn attack. Included in the slugging were triples by Bill Flaherty and Don Marshall.

Leading the Millburn assault with two bingles apiece were Warren DePalma, Bruce Winner, Ozzie Day and Marshall. Every other regular contributed at least one hit to the heavy offense.

The Blues used two pitchers, Cal Smith and Ozzie Day, while the Livingston outfit permitted Ed. Krank to go the distance.

Bar Association Ponders Employment Of Women on Juries

Employment of women on juries in the common pleas and circuit courts of this county, advocated by the Union County Bar Association, has precedent, both in the district courts and the grand inquest. It is pointed out by a group from the Union County Bar Association. Women always are included in grand jury lists and are accepted on trial juries in district courts outside Elizabeth, he said.

Several lawyers, from the association are engaged in an official study of the question, among them Herbert C. Gilson, former president of the bar association, Summit.

The bar association's formal recommendation to the County Government that women be called for jury duty has genuine backing among officials and women's leaders. Several believe it should be undertaken at the October court term, for which the names will be selected within a month.

Information now being compiled by the lawyers soon will be transmitted by Jury Commissioner William A. Bourdon and Sheriff Alex C. Campbell, comprising the jury commission, and to the Board of Freeholders. His will supplement the association's resolution of May 13, setting forth its favorable attitude.

Gets Iron Cross As Parachute Trooper

Max Schmeling, former heavy-weight boxing champion of the world, now a parachute trooper in Adolf Hitler's German Army, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant and awarded an Iron Cross. It was learned in reports released at Berlin this past week Schmeling was variously reported dead and alive following the recent campaign on the island of Crete, but later turned up in Greece, reportedly ill of something he had eaten while on Crete.

Schmeling was well known to Summit residents during his many stays at nearby Madame Bey's fighting training camp when he was preparing for his title fights in this country.

On Army Pay Roll At $5,600 a Year

Max H. Foerster, 22 Blackburn place, is one of 11 New Jersey business men employed by the War Department at annual salaries ranging from $5,600 to $8,600. Foerster, a field auditor in the office of the Quartermaster General, receives $5,600 annually.

A list of persons hired since last June 30 at salaries of $5,000 or more was submitted to the House appropriations committee by Robert P. Patterson, Undersecretary of War, during hearings on the military establishment appropriation bill for fiscal 1942. The record of the hearing was made public this week.

East Orange Tigers Pass Locals; Down Irvington Stanleys

The East Orange Tigers scored runs in six of nine innings at Chancellor Avenue Field, Irvington, on Sunday afternoon to down the home club, 13-1, in a Lackawanna Baseball League contest played before more than 1,100 paying spectators, a new high attendance record for the season. The Tigers battered the Irvington Stanleys with a twelve-hit attack and skidded them into fifth place in the standings.

As a result of their triumph, the Tigers moved one-half game ahead of the Summit Red Sox in the fight for second place. The Summit and East Orange clubs were tied for the position at the outset of the contest. Irvington, meanwhile, dropped behind Millburn in the loop's second division.

Five East Orange players, including Lou Roselle, Tom Mazzone, Frank Greco, Vic Addonizio and Don Piccirillo, accounted for two hits during the slugfest. Roselle and Piccirillo each contributed a triple.

Frank Araneo, who turned back Summit in a relief performance last week, set Irvington down with three hits. His teammates turned in an errorless exhibition to improve his performance. The Stanleys scored their only run off his slants on Bob Rupprecht's triple in the sixth inning.

Besides the processional and recessional, the invocation delivered by the Rev. F. G. Willey of Oakes Memorial Church, the singing of the school's Alma Mater by the graduating class, other parts of the program include announcement of prizes and scholarships by Assistant Principal Lynn C. Dundon; the presentation of the class by Acting Superintendent A. J. Bartholomew; the presentation of diplomas by J. Ross Tuttle, president of the Board of Education and the condition by the school's glee club of Christensen's "Cradle Hymn" and the Negro spiritual "Were You There?" Preceding the processional, the audience will join the class in singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Scholarships to Be Given

The winners of the two scholarships of $400 each will be announced. The first is the Rotary Club of Summit competitive scholarship annually offered to the boy graduated from Summit High School who will meet the requirements for entrance to an approved college and who has ability and ambition, but yet who needs assistance financially for his first year's expenses. The second $400 scholarship, the Summit High School scholarship, is also competitive for boys of the school and was established several years ago by a friend of the school. The award is based on scholastic standing, personality, character, need and general attainment of the applicant.

College Club Scholarships

As was previously announced two Summit High School senior girls have been awarded scholarships by the Summit branch, American Association of University Women. The principal award, $100, went to Miss Dorothy Compton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Harold Compton of Ashland road. She plans to enter Bucknell University in the fall to prepare for teaching. Miss Compton, who stands among the first eight in her class at High School has been active in the glee club, the band and orchestra and a member of the Math Club and the Book Mart.

An award of $200 was made to Miss Mabry Eastman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner P. Eastman of Oak Ridge avenue.

Miss Eastman, who plans to enter Middlebury College and to specialize in sciences, has been a member of the student council, the band and orchestra and the camera club at the High School. She has also been a member of the Top photographic staff, the school's year book.

Prizes Annually Given

Four years ago, the High School and community were saddened by the death of Miss Emily Hensinger, a teacher in the school for a period of 26 years and head of the commercial department, who established a trust fund for commercial students in the High School. By the provision of her will, the annual interest from this fund shall be used for one or several scholarship prizes each year in commercial subjects as the teachers in the department shall determine. It is believed prizes will be awarded this year for the highest rating in three years of bookkeeping, three years of stenography and secretarial practice, and for three years of commercial social studies.

Other prizes annually awarded are one of $10 by the First National Bank and Trust Co. to the graduate of the commercial curriculum who makes the highest rating for three years; two by the Town Improvement Association, one of $5 to the senior girl and one of $5 to the senior boy who in the estimation of a faculty committee appointed by Bartholomew, have contributed most to the maintenance and development of school welfare and student morale. Who are the candidates for graduation? What courses have they followed? What are their plans and ambitions? As a project in a group of the school's Senior English classes, "The Summit Herald" will give the answer to the above questions as far as a large number of the graduating class is concerned in an early issue under the headings of commercial, general and preparatory curriculums.

Shepard Lauds Edison and Continues Garrett ABC Fight

Assemblyman Fred E. Shepard, (of this county) on Thursday lauded Gov. Charles E. Edison for the job he is doing and predicted that "if he keeps it up" it will be "better than an even bet" Republican Essex and Passaic counties will be represented by Democrats in the Assembly next year.

Shepard's prediction was in a statement reaffirming his support of Earl W. Garrett for election by the Legislature as alcoholic beverage control commissioner. The assemblyman assailed his Republican colleagues, especially those from Essex, Passaic and Bergen, for not electing Garrett to the $16,500-a-year post that has been vacant since the death of D. Fredrick Burnett last year. Garrett was Burnett's chief deputy and is now acting commissioner.

Shepard said some Republican leaders were trying to "find a good reason for dealing Mr. Garrett out of the picture as ABC commissioner."

Concert Artists For V. F. W. Benefit Win Large Audience

(Continued from Page One) who sang the lead in Billie Rose's Aquacade at the New York World's Fair? Mr. Dunbar equally delighted the audience with four numbers among which were "Song of Songs" by Moya; "Ah! Moon of My Delight" by Lehman; "A Pair of Sparkling Eyes," by Sullivan and "Manon," by Massenet.

The beautiful quality of Gretchen Haller's voice will long be remembered by the audience as she interpreted four selections. Miss Haller was formerly associated with the Chicago Company. Sylvia Cyde now appearing in the lead at the Cherry Lane Theater in the Gilbert & Sullivan productions gave her best in the four numbers and encore which included "The Old Refrain" by Kreisler and "The Jewel Song" from Faust. The program would not be complete without "Liebestraum" by Liszt and played by Evelyn Smith Austin the accompanist of the evening. Miss Austin has been the official accompanist for several metropolitan opera stars. The program closed with the selection "I Love Life" by Anna-Zucca sung by the four stars and "God Bless America."

The proceeds from this program will go to the local Beacon Hill Post. The type of program has become almost traditional with Summit where money is needed to help supply the many demands for national defense.

Officers of Beacon Hill Post

Housing Survey of Summit Shows Ratio Of Vacancy Low

Only 5.6 per cent. of dwelling units in Summit were unoccupied, according to the 1940 survey on population and housing units recently published by the Census Bureau in Washington. The survey covered the metropolitan district of New York and Northeastern New Jersey and it is based on the Sixteenth Decennial Census. 3.7 per cent. of the dwelling units in Union County were shown to be unoccupied.

Union County had 88,451 dwellings units at the time of the investigation, with 3,587 unoccupied. By far the greatest percentage of vacant homes in the county was 11.2, the mark for New Providence Township.

By municipalities, the total number of dwelling units and the per cent vacant for sale or rent follows:

Clark Township, 528, 0.0; Cranford, 3,503, 3.8; Elizabeth, 29,350, 4.5; Fanwood, 673, 2.8; Garwood, 960, 1.6; Hillside, 4,839, 2.1; Kenilworth, 598, 2.3; Linden, 6,105, 1.5; Mountainside, 333, 2.4; New Providence Borough, 682, 11.2; Plainfield, 10,201, 3.77; Rahway, 4,796, 1.8; Roselle, 3,725, 3.9; Roselle Park, 2,614, 2.1; Scotch Plains, 1,370, 4.7; Springfield, 1,152, 3.1; Summit, 4,413, 5.6; Union 6,771, 3.2; Westfield, 4,837, 4.6.

In the entire metropolitan district containing 3,425,480 dwelling units, 238,628, or 7 per cent. were vacant, as compared with 4.65 per cent in Elizabeth, and 3.7 per cent for Union County.

The number of occupied dwelling units in the New York-Northeastern New Jersey metropolitan district, namely, 3,169,946 represents approximately the number of private households in the district and may therefore be roughly compared with the 2,682, 537 families in the district in 1930. The difference indicates an increase of 17.8 per cent in the number of households in the population.

The average population per occupied dwelling unit in the district in 1940 was 3.7, which may be compared with an average population of 4.1 per family in 1930. This decrease in the average size of family or household is consistent with the general trend throughout the country toward smaller families.

Summit Woman Completes Lists of Business Books

Mrs. Gerald H. Winsor of DeForest Avenue, known professionally as Marian C. Manley, heads the business branch of the Newark Public Library where an exhibit opened yesterday to mark the 25th anniversary of a unique and internationally known program.

In 1916 the branch published a volume, "1,600 Business Books," a list of titles. It had a large circulation because it was the first of its kind. Other pamphlets have been printed by the branch containing more information about the books named. They have been bought by individuals and companies in 47 states and in many foreign countries. Orders have been received from 402 firms in New York City, 114 in Chicago, 49 in Philadelphia and 20 in San Francisco.

Six large pamphlets have been issued since 1930 and 140,000 copies of a monthly reading list for business men have been distributed since 1928. Mrs. Winsor completes these lists.

Only one other business library, in Cleveland, distributes a reading list of this kind. The large pamphlets and monthly issues are free to residents of Newark.

Will Resume Duty As School Teacher

New Providence Township At this month's Board of Education meeting, it was announced that Mrs. Louise Del Duca will resume her duties as 4th grade teacher, following a year's leave of absence. Miss Josephine Massimo who has taken the place of Mrs. Del Duca during this time, has accepted a position in the Bridgewater Township Schools System of Raritan. The board approved the purchase of some motion picture equipment which will be used in "Visual Education." This equipment was purchased by funds donated by the present graduating class, the class of 1940, proceeds from various school sales, together with funds from the Board of Education.

Frederick A. Elsassner, architect of Union, was present, and discussed with the board, plans for a proposed building program in the future. Nothing definite was decided upon, but members of the board will soon visit various neighboring schools for the purpose of acquiring ideas to be used in their proposed plans.

Residents of New Providence, Short Hills, and Chatham can get complete coverage of their community through the pages of The Summit Herald.

"Ziegfeld Girl," At The Lyric Theatre

With twenty-one top flight screen personalities, opulently spectacular production numbers, 100 of the world's most beautiful girls and Adrian costumes, "Ziegfeld Girl" opens Thursday, June 19 at the Lyric Theatre.

James Stewart, Judy Garland, Hedy Lamarr, Lana Turner and Tony Martin head the all-star cast in a dramatic story by William Anthony McGuire, who was author and director of some of Plorenz Ziegfeld's most successful stage shows and who wrote "The Great Ziegfeld."

Tracing the lives of three girls, Sheila Regan, Susan Gallagher and Sandra Kolter, enacted respectively by Lana Turner, Judy Garland and Hedy Lamarr, the film shows how Ziegfeld's press agent, played by Edward Everett Horton, ever on the lookout for beauty, picks the girls from obscurity and sky-rockets them to fame in the Follies. Sheila is an elevator operator, Susan is a young vaudeville performer appearing at the Harlem Opera House with her father, old-time comic Pop Gallagher, played by Charles Winninger. Sandra comes to the New Amsterdam Theatre with her husband, Franz (Phillip Dorn), former European concert violinist who is trying out on the Ziegfeld orchestra. The three find fame—only two of them, happiness.

Sheila, dazzled by her success and attentions from wealthy Geoffrey Collis (Ian Hunter), forsakes her truck-driver sweetheart, Gilbert Young, portrayed by James Stewart, and her middle-class Irish family. Fay Holden, Ed McNamara, Franz and Merton to his wife, Rose Jackie Cooper and Ruth Tobey. In the end, her health wrecked, dismissed from the Follies, Sheila returns home and recaptures the love of Gil, who substituted bootlegging for truck-driving in order to compete with Sheila's wealthy admirer.

However, it is too late. Sheila dies on the opening night of a new and greater Follies in which little Susan soars to success and carries with her her dad, who with his partner, Al Shean, win blue Broadway with their "Gallagher and Shean" routine. Sandra, the beauty, deeply in love with her husband, loses him temporarily when he objects to her role in the Follies. While in the show she meets Frank Merton, played by Tony Martin, the singing star. They become infatuated, but in the end she returns to family. personal wishes then it is far more difficult to see His guiding hand. In the experience of this prophet, Elijah, this dried brook was really his school of discipline. It was the test of his faith. From here God led him into larger fields of usefulness. But he could never serve God in the full measure in which he did had he not suffered in the school of affliction. "The ministry of all these changing experiences was to teach Elijah to put his trust, not in things, but in God. God sent His only begotten Son through the school of affliction where he was tempted in all points as we are. We need not expect an easier road than that which our Savior himself took."
