OUR TOWN

AUTUMN LEAVES

The first leaf of autumn fell some time back. The trees are turning rapidly. There's something in the morning air that can't be mistaken. Acorns drop from great heights and sometimes miss the busy autumn gardener. Daylight saving has been wrapped up for another winter. Organizations are meeting again and committees are forming. New chairmen of publicity committees are named and ask our advice. Another season is here and somehow, as usual, we are glad of it.

Speaking of autumn leaves—don't burn them in the streets and don't let them clog the gutters. The city has to spend your money cleaning the gutters and repairing the streets.

ADULT EDUCATION

Tuesday and Wednesday evenings between 7:30 and 9:30 at the High School you can register for Adult Education courses. We are informed that most of the instructors who will be giving the courses will be on hand in case you want to ask questions.

If you haven't been keeping track of the story of adult education in Summit and want to know what courses are available, you might run over to the High School Tuesday or Wednesday, September 30, or October 1, and look over the list of courses.

CHORAL CLUB

If you have any inclination to sing go to the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening—tomorrow night—at 8 p. m. It will be the opening rehearsal of the Choral Club this Christmas will celebrate the 200th anniversary of the composition of Handel's "Messiah" by singing it.

The Choral Club is also educational. While enjoying yourself, if you like to sing, you get vocal training in chorus work. New members are most welcome, we are advised, and tenor or bass voices are especially needed.

PROGNOSTICATING FOOTBALL

If you dreamily watch the falling leaves and wish they were dollar bills turn to the sports page and read about The Summit Herald program of football prognosticating. Prophecy the week-end winners and win $5—or $15 if your winning prophecy is accompanied by a new subscription to The Summit Herald.

You will note, by the way, that A. Stuart Reed was the astute judge of football who won. You will note also that two of The Summit Herald's own so-called experts are very definitely only "so-called." It is a courtesy title they won't hold long we imagine unless they get their eyes on the ball.

PUBLICITY CHAIRMEN

We have said this before, but we are glad to say it again. If you have become publicity chairman of a Summit organization it isn't necessary for you to write stories for The Summit Herald, unless you prefer to do the writing. All you need to do is to telephone Summit 6-1900 and tell us what has happened or is about to happen. It isn't necessary for you to be a professional news writer. Also, if we can help you in any way with the problem of publicizing events, don't hesitate to ask our help. It is the news of the organizations and people of Summit which our readers want to read. It is our job to get the news and present it in readable, understandable and effective form. All you need to be is a well-informed and reliable source of information.

Let us help you in any way we can.

Mrs. Harry H. Dampman Named to Board of Health

Mrs. Harry H. Dampman, of 36 Oakland place, was named Saturday by Mayor Guido F. Forster to the Board of Health to succeed Mrs. Channing R. Dooley, of 41 Oakland place, resigned. Mrs. Dooley's term would have expired at the end of 1943. The latter's resignation was prompted by Mr. Dooley's residence in Washington where he is engaged in National Defense work and the consequent desire, on the part of both to make their residence in the Capital city "for the duration."

The new health commissioner has lived in Summit all her life. She is a graduate of the Summit public schools. Over the years she has been active in many affairs of a community nature. As an indication of these interests, Mrs. Dampman is a past president of the Summit League of Women Voters and of the Franklin School P. T. A. and present secretary of the Board of Trustees of the Community Church.

"Man Who Came to Dinner" Opens Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night, "The Man Who Came to Dinner" launches the legitimate season in Morristown, the engagement continuing through next Sunday evening with matinees on Thursday and Saturday. The fare is served by those distinguished collaborators, George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, while the guests of honor on the other side of the footlights will be the Walter Reade Community Guild Players with Tom Powers enacting the title role, which is based quite on the personality of the fabulous Alexander Woollcott.

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" relates the events that follow an accident to Sherman Whiteside, an important man of letters and lecturer, who, on his way to dine at a nice home in a small Ohio town, falls on the ice and down the stairs to injure his hip. This automatically moves him in for a long stay in a household that he soon turns into a madhouse.

Following are the Walter Reade Community Guild Players who will appear in the current and coming stage attractions which the stock company will present at the Jersey Theatre in Morristown with the able assistance of Mr. Ted Hammerstein: Celeste Holsa, selected by the dramatic critics as the most promising newcomer to Broadway this past season and Tom Powers, a favorite with the New York Theatre Guild audiences. In support of these renowned artists will be: Kathryn Givney, Leone Wilson, Randall Presley, Sidney Grant, Jayne Cotter, Katharine Cosgriff, Len Mencke, George V. Dill, Patricia Quinn O'Hara, Jess Barker, Grace Coppin, Hal Conklin, Charles Gordon, and Arthur G. Sachs.

College Club Needs Ten Thousand Books For Annual Sale

During the past few days the store at 19 Union place, which has been lent to the College Club for its annual book sale, has been transformed into something resembling the architectural interior of the Public Library. Bookshelves, which line all available wall space, are paralleled by five self stacks extending from front to rear, while the remaining floor space is nearly filled by nine long tables, donated by the Y. M. C. A. and hauled by the Summit Express. The extensive and skilful carpentry has been done by Robert L. Hanson, Mason A. Logan, William A. Schumacher and Ehrich H. Wright, all amateurs and husbands of College Club members.

Although the sale will not open until October 16, the store is now open every day from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. for receiving books, music and magazines. Many carloads are being unloaded by the soliciting teams, who are combing Summit and Short Hills under the able direction of Miss Evelyn Boyé and Mrs. E. Wallace Wilkinson. Other donations are brought by the donors themselves, and still more by members of the transportation committee, who stand ready to pick up books at any time in response to a phone call to Mrs. Philip L. Lawrence, Su. 6-0354, or Mrs. Russell T. Kerby, Su. 6-2075.

An energetic group of women, guided by Miss Caroline B. Hinman, sorts the incoming books onto shelves labeled Fiction, Mystery Stories, Biography, History, Sociology, Psychology, Science, Nature, Art, Interior Decorating, French, Mathematics and a score of other categories. One side of the room is reserved for children's books. A large bookcase in the center is arranged to display magazines and music.

Noticing the yawning gaps on the shelves, a Herald reporter inquired of Miss Margaret K. Acker, general chairman, how many books the College Club hopes to receive. "We must have at least ten thousand," Miss Acker replied firmly. "If we have any less than that, we can't make as much money as we need in order to provide scholarships for our Summit girls who have made brilliant high school records but are unable to go on to college without financial assistance. We need it more than ever this year when so much money and effort have been diverted to essential war relief."

The reporter ventured the opinion that ten thousand books is a large number to be donated every year by a community of this size. "It certainly is," agreed Miss Acker, "but year by year the public has gained confidence in the value of our book sale to the community. Many people wait all year for this opportunity to buy books and music at prices that they can afford to pay. Realizing this, people are more and more willing to part with books that they still cherish but are not likely to read again. We want all of the discarded books that have

Schedule Changes

Effective Sunday, September 28, the Lackawanna Railroad announces important changes in the schedule of through passenger train service.

The Westerner, overnight train to Buffalo and Cleveland, with through service to Chicago, will leave New York and Hoboken later, or at seven and 7:25 P. M., respectively, in order to provide greater convenience to patrons desiring to depart well after the close of business.

Under its revised schedule, the Westerner will render the combined service heretofore performed by that train and by the Buffaloian, No. 9, which latter will be discontinued. The new train, equipped with modern, air-conditioned coaches and Pullman cars, and buffet lounge car, will contain special cars for both Buffalo and Chicago.

W. H. Dominick, passenger traffic manager, expressed the opinion that the new schedule will be more popular with passengers from New York and New Jersey communities, as well as from intermediate cities along the Lackawanna.

The Westerner will leave Hoboken at 7:25 P. M., Newark at 7:40 and Brick Church at 7:46 P. M. The train will stop on signal at Summit, Morristown and Dover, arriving at Scranton at 10:30 P. M., and at Binghamton at 12:15 A. M.

Refugee Artists Will Appear in Second United Benefit

Refugee artists will provide the entertainment for the Second United Benefit for Britain, stated Max Lester after an organizational meeting held at his home Tuesday evening.

It seems that there has been made available to the committee a few, select celebrities of the European musical world, musicians and singers who had enjoyed enviable reputations in their native countries, but who fled to America to escape the heel of the oppressor. Here they are unknown, but, said Mr. Lester, they are anxious to give of their talent to a country that has done so much for their people. They will have that opportunity in Summit at the High School on Friday evening, October 17. The committee has promised to release stories about these artists shortly. The members feel that Summit is in for a real musical treat made doubly intriguing because of the interest every one will have in the individual performers.

There will be one big dance in this benefit, the one being arranged for at Canoe Brook, taking place on Saturday night, October 18.

The benefit will be given for the British War Relief Society, the Refugee Relief Workrooms and the Save the Children Federation, the proceeds being divided equally among these organizations. All the money realized will go to England, each part through a different channel. The committee is determined to make the benefit a success for there has been no time during the war when American aid has been more needed than it is at this moment.

78 of Class of '41 At Summit H. S. Continue Education

A survey recently made at the High School shows that 78 students of last year's graduating class are continuing their education, as follows: 58 are doing college or university work; 4 have entered junior college; 1 has entered Newark State Normal School; 8 are taking nurses training courses; 3 have entered business school; 2 have gone to a New York State school of agriculture, and 2 are taking a post graduate course.

The list given below indicates the institutions that the students are attending.

City Snow Plow Loses Wheel And Crashes Into Porch

Looking forward to the ensuing winter and the anticipated snow, city authorities on Saturday were moving its one and only snow plow to the central part of Summit for general overhauling. It had been stored in the Sewer Department shed along Chatham road and had gotten along on its Saturday journey as far as 534 Morris avenue when at 3:10 one of the wheels came off.

The machine being rather a top heavy, cumbersome instrument was unbalanced, thus causing it to crash into the front stoop of the home of Robert Traynor at the above Morris avenue address. One of the brick pillars upholding the porch was knocked down and a chair on the porch was damaged. One of the Traynor children on the porch escaped injury.

Pascoe Asks Plank For Convention to Revise Constitution

Assemblyman Herbert J. Pascoe (R-Union), one of the House's most influential members, urged Thursday that the Republican State Convention adopt a platform plank promising a constitutional convention to rewrite the state's 97-year-old basic law.

The convention delegation from Essex County has presented such a plank, but Senator Robert C. Hendrickson of Gloucester, chairman of the platform committee, favors constitutional revision by a series of individual amendments.

The committee yesterday put in another day of work on the platform draft to be presented for adoption at the final convention session Tuesday.

Mr. Pascoe, senate nominee in Union County, said in a prepared statement that in the revision "the present method of checks and balances provided through the

Summit Republicans Attend Union County G.O.P. Annual Outing

A large number of Summit Republicans headed by Mayor Guido F. Forster were among the more than 5,000 who on Saturday afternoon attended the Union County Republican Committee annual outing in Parcher's Grove, Union. Sheriff Alex Campbell was general chairman.

Patrons of the outing included Robert J. Murphy, Sr., of Summit, chairman of the Union County Executive Committee and Councilman Frederick G. Sigler.

Among the other Summit Republicans to attend the outing were State Committeeman and State Fish and Game Commissioner George C. Warren; Director Wm. L. McMane of the Board of Freeholders; County Committee members, Mrs. Harry A. DeBow, Mrs. Austin Kelly, Mrs. C. W. Moll, Jesse Stout, Norman S. Garis, Dr. Robert S. Milligan and Benjamin Schepp, together with Messrs. Moll and DeBow. Also attending were Judge John L. Hughes of The Third District Court, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Collins, Mrs. L. H. McPeck, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Muller, Health Commissioner Dr. John A. Padellini, Alfred V. Swick, Francis Dooley, Mrs. Sigler with her daughter, Janet, and son, Fred; Mr. and Mrs. J. Hindley Hoff and their son, Bryson, and daughters, Dolores and Gwendolyn; Gordon L. Murray, Charles Bakley, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baker, John Colangelo (18 Orchard street), Andrew McNamara and Rudolph Cummings.

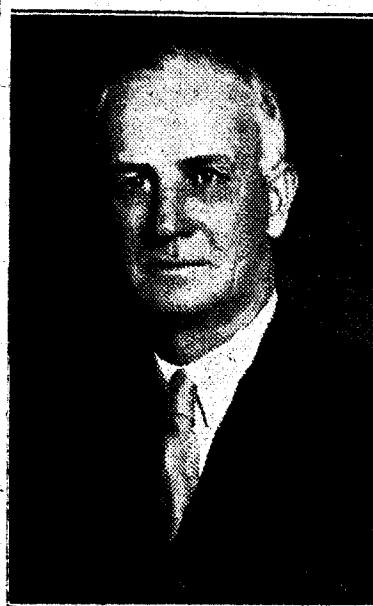

The New Providence delegation was headed by Mayor John Oakwood of the Borough and James Dietz of Murray Hill, County Superintendent of Weights and Measures. Other prominent Republicans in attendance from throughout the county included Herbert J. Pascoe, Republican nominee for the State Senate; Milton A. Peller, a party nominee for the Assembly, Assemblyman Thomas M. Muir, Josephine K. Levergood, unsuccessful candidate for the Assembly; County Clerk Henry G. Nulton; Under-Sheriff Charles E. Ayres; Freeholders Charles E. Smith, Alfred C. Brooks, James O. Brokaw and Lee S. Rigby and County Chairman George D. Rankin.

The main speaker was Alex Smith, State Chairman of the Republican Committee. Among those to respond to an introduction by Mr. Smith was Mr. Warren who made a plea for party harmony.

Fall Garden Exchange To Be Held Oct. 18

The annual Fall Garden Exchange, sponsored by the Town Improvement Association, will be held on the grounds of the Summit Public Library on October 18th from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. House plants and vines for indoor window boxes will be featured. Heading the exchange committee are Mrs. Thomas L. Smith, president of the T. I. A., and Miss Emilie Hill, chief of staff at the Library.

McManus To Address Town Meeting On State of the State

At least one flash (for publication) hot off the news wires of Monday's first post-primary executive session of the Summit Independent Club was the confirmation of Robert Cruise McManus's assignment to address the club's third Town Meeting next Wednesday night, October 1st, at the Y. M. C. A.

Characterized by Cue Magazine as "a man subject to violent moral indignation but equally capable of realistic action," the New Jersey Voter editor's first speaking appearance in Summit is likely to prove one of the red letter events on the fall calendar.

Mr. McManus has been labeled an overnight firebrand in the halls of Haguenau. Last year when he wrote "The Case Against Harold Hoffman," just before the primaries, his magazine's circulation jumped well over its average 10,000. There is little doubt the article helped rouse thousands of hitherto lethargic Jerseyites.

Bob McManus, who owns a big named after Hitler up on his farm in Hunterdon County, has been known on occasion to out-pierize even Westbrock Peeler himself. Made hot enough under the collar by some particularly corrupt activity in Trenton or Jersey City, he is apt to run a high temperature reminiscent of the Menckel-Nathaniel free-style school of journalism.

Wednesday night Mr. McManus will discuss the "State of the State" as a result of the Johnson influence which he has characterized publicly as a "rumbling sore over-flowing Trenton, if not all the way to Washington."

Through monthly editorials on the Independent Clubs, dating from his first on the Summit unit last spring, he has been intent on sparking the Independents into a veritable power party in the State as well as a local opposition influence.

The New Jersey Conference will be attended by Lady Louis Mountbatten, official representative of the British Red Cross. She will speak at the luncheon in the University gymnasium from 12:30-2:00 P. M.

Council to Hold Hearing October 7 On Dog Ordinance

On Tuesday evening, October 7, in the City Hall the Common Council will have a public hearing on an ordinance concerning the control and licensing of dogs. This new ordinance is required under Chapter 151 of Laws of 1911 recently adopted by the New Jersey State Legislature. Under this law the State designates to municipalities only the right to fix license fees within certain limits and requires that all previously enacted ordinances on this subject be repealed.

So that all citizens may be familiar with the main provisions of the new State Law, a summary follows:

All dog owners must procure a license and official metal tag for each dog during the month of January, yearly. Any newly acquired dog or any dog attaining licensing age (7 months) must be equipped with the proper tag within ten days of acquisition or age attainment.

The Chief of Police or other persons duly authorized by the governing body shall promptly, after February 1st annually, make a canvass of the dogs in the community and shall report his findings to the City Clerk, local Board of Health and the State Department of Health, listing the names and addresses of all dog owners with the registration number of each dog and also names and addresses of all persons owning or harboring unlicensed dogs.

For any one or more of the following reasons a dog may be picked up and impounded by the proper official:

(a) Any dog off the premises of the owner or of the person keeping or harboring said dog which said official or his agent, or agents have reason to believe is a stray dog.

(b) Any dog off the premises of the owner or of the person keeping or harboring said dog without a current registration tag on his collar.

(c) Any female dog in season off the premises of the owner or of the person keeping or harboring said dog.

If any dog so seized wears a collar or harness having inscribed thereon or attached thereto the name and address of any person or a registration tag or the owner or the person keeping or harboring said dog is known, the Chief of Police or chairman of the police committee, or any person authorized by him in that behalf, shall forthwith serve on the person whose address is given on the collar, or on the owner or the person keeping or harboring said dog, if known, a notice in writing stating that the dog has been seized and will be liable to be disposed of or destroyed if not claimed within seven days after the service of the notice.

A notice under this section may be served either by delivering it to the person on whom it is to be served, or by leaving it at the person's usual, or last known place of abode, or at the address given on the collar, or by forwarding it by Architect's Society Opens Exhibit Today In Summit Trust Co.

The Suburban Society of Architects, of which David Ludlow, of Summit, is president, is presenting today in The Summit Trust Co., and continuing for two weeks an exhibition of recent architectural work designed and built under the supervision of some of its members.

The Suburban Society, which is the local society of the New Jersey Society of Architects, believes as does the State Society that mankind's prime interest centers about the home, and to this premise the architect devotes his time and effort. The State society has as its president, Paul Drake, who is also a Summit architect. Both groups have the conviction that the architect through long technical training and experience acquires a well rounded knowledge of the artistic, practical, structural and financial phases of building a home.

The local society acknowledges its indebtedness to the Summit Trust Co. for making the exhibition possible.

Richard J. Davis In Lecture To Local Christian Scientists

A lecture under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Summit, was attended by a large audience yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of the Summit High School. The lecturer was Mr. Richard J. Davis of San Jose, Calif., member of the Board of Lecturers of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Mr. Davis, who was introduced by Mrs. Myra D. Moody of Chatham, Second Reader of the Summit church, spoke on the subject of Christian Science: "The Understanding of Man's Oneness with God." His lecture was as follows:

Mental freedom, continuity of health and happiness are conditions that every human being in this world desires but has seldom seemed to attain in any satisfactory measure. For centuries men have worked and struggled for freedom. They have sought in many directions for health and they have tried various ways to find happiness, but the evidence before us today would indicate that no degree of success has attended humanity's search for these legitimate and altogether desirable states of being.

It must be apparent to anyone who thoughtfully considers the subject that, if the race had demonstrated the necessary intelligence and understanding, it would have long since attained its goal, and that what is needed is obviously more light—enlightenment. The progress of humanity seems to be slow, but it is inevitable; and it appears in direct proportion to its attainment of greater spirituality. In other words, the progress of the race is really dependent on its increased spiritual understanding and its abandonment of false religious concepts. Therefore in coming before you today, with the message of Christian Science, it is encouraging and reassuring to recall the words of Isaiah: "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light; they that dwelt in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined." Today there are thousands of people who for years have stumbled and walked in mental darkness, and who, figuratively and literally, have lived in the shadow and dread of death, but who are now emerging into light through a rational and intelligent understanding of God, and of what being really means.

It is clear that great discoveries and light along any line come to those most mentally prepared to receive them. An inventor receives the unfolding of progressive mechanical ideas because his thought has been turned in the specific direction to receive them. So it is with spiritual revelation. That state of consciousness most devoid of materiality will be the one most naturally receptive to the spiritual impartations of God to man. Mary Baker Eddy, the revered Discoverer of Christian Science, had from childhood been a seeker after God. Her thought inclined naturally toward the things of Spirit; in other words, she was a spiritually-minded woman. It is not surprising, therefore, that the great facts of God and divine Being, as set forth in the teachings of Christian Science, should have appeared to her. They appeared because she was spiritually ready to receive them, and in our own study they will appear to you and me in proportion to our readiness to take them in. The Revelator, describing this call of the Christ at the door of consciousness, wrote, "Behold, I stand at the door, and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me."

Prior to her discovery, Mrs. Eddy had for twenty years or more been endeavoring to trace all of what might be termed physical effects back to a mental cause. In 1866, however, culminating in her recovery from a severe injury and at a time when she was not expected to live, she perceived the great and irrefutable fact that God, or causation, is Mind—that divine Mind is the source of all existence or being; that God is self-existent Cause, and that, therefore, all real or actual being is in and of God and that all true being or existence must be an expression or evidence of one infinite Mind or Intelligence.

The revelation of the Science of Being did not appear at once in its entirety to Mrs. Eddy. It came more or less gradually, but she was continuously conscious that back of the unfolding ideas was divine power. It is important also to note that the appearing to her of these great spiritual facts was supported by reason and demonstration. That is, Mrs. Eddy perceived that her concept of God was intelligent, rational, and logical, and most important of all, that it was usable, practical, and could be demonstrated in the ordinary affairs of human life. In a certain sense, it may be said that everyone who takes up the Study of Christian Science follows the same course. First, there is a perception of its truth; second, its reasonableness appears; and third, it is discovered and demonstrated in its practicality. A tree known by its fruit, and the fruitage of Mrs. Eddy's great life of service to the race is witnessed in the grateful testimony of the thousands who have been healed and regenerated through the study and application of Christian Science.

As far as you and I are concerned, any so-called science remains a closed book if we do not understand it, and no science can be said to be really understood unless it is studied, applied, and in some measure demonstrated. The science of chemistry would remain entirely abstract if experiments were not made in the laboratory, and only those who go into the laboratory and actually demonstrate their knowledge of chemistry may be called practical chemists.

This leads me to say something to you regarding Christian Science which I hope may be helpful, and it is this: If you really expect to grow and unfold spiritually and to get out of this Science all the blessings that are there for you, you will have to be a student and not a mere reader of Science and Health, the textbook of Christian Science. Mrs. Eddy called it a textbook, and that means that its contents need to be pondered and quietly assimilated through reason and spiritual unfoldment. A real Christian Scientist assimilates and appropriates the inspired contents of the textbook, and then, like the chemist, he goes out into the laboratory of human experience, into his business, his home, and his social life, and there he applies it. Indeed, it can be said that Christian Science, or the understanding of being, is not primarily something about which you and I think, but that sooner or later we have got to actually approximate that understanding. We have got to live it and make it a part of our daily experience.

Many, no doubt, have come to this lecture with something in the nature of a problem. Possibly it is lack of poverty. Possibly it is sickness or sin, and the struggle to be free. If such be the case, what, my friends, do you think is the source of much of our trouble? In the light of Christian Science, we see that it is the belief that man is separated from God. No matter what condition or situation any one of you may be facing, the belief that you are separated from God is the root of the difficulty. Unwittingly, perhaps, we hold to the traditional concepts of Deity, and certainly if God is regarded as a personal, remote entity, we have no definite assurance of present protection or safety. Christian Science declares that God is Mind, but that does not mean a distant Mind. It does not mean that the ideas or thoughts of the one infinite Mind come to man from some remote or faraway place. You and I cannot conceive of infinite Mind other than as omnipresence. Omnipresent Mind necessarily means all-inclusive consciousness. Indeed, the fact that you are conscious, that you can think, that you express that divine power to reason and know, is the evidence that Mind it ever present. We even hear it expressed in the phrase, "He had presence of mind."

We see, then, that in Christian Science the infinity and omnipresence of God or Mind is not accepted as a theory, but absolute fact, a fact that may be intelligently and practically applied in meeting the difficulties and problems of human life. We apply the absolute fact of God's omnipresence to the relative or mistaken belief which says that He is absent or far away.

Then it may be asked: Where is the practical connection between divine Mind and man? Christian Science declares that, since divine Mind is the one intelligent cause, all true thought necessarily finds its origin there and only there—that all is infinite Mind and its infinite ideas or manifestation, and that man, declared in the first chapter of Genesis to be the image and likeness of God, must be the mental image or embodiment of Mind. Indeed, the Icelandic translation of Genesis puts it in just that way. "And God said, Let us make man after our mind and our likeness; and God shaped man after His mind; after God's mind shaped He him."

What enables you or me to say, I am, I exist? What enables us to know that fact? Mind. When thinking ceases, does not consciousness also cease? What is man without Mind or ideas? A nonentity or non-existence. As a man "thinketh," so he is, and Mrs. Eddy says on page 42 of Science and Health, "The belief that man has existence or mind separate from God is a dying error." Divine ideas do not leave Mind; that is, they are not separate or separated from the Mind in which they exist. They are forever one with Mind, and are partake of the character and substance of Mind. So we understand in Christian Science that man, being the compound idea or full representation of Mind, is forever one with Mind.

It was his understanding of God as the only Mind that enabled Christ Jesus to prove his sonship with God. He perceived that undeniable, absolute fact, the inseparability of God and man. Never at any time did he dissociate himself from his divine source. He constantly declared his unity with God, his unity with Life and Love. He said, "I and my Father are one." To him oneness with divine Being was not a theory. It was a fact to be lived and demonstrated. He recognized quite naturally that God was actually his mind, and he acted on that spiritual fact. Referring to this, Mrs. Eddy says in Science and Health (p. 136), Jesus "claimed no intelligence, action, nor life separate from God."

Naturally, if we live, move, and have our very being in God, as Paul declared, the oneness and eternal unity of God and man is established forever. This being the case, let us see how this divine oneness operates in human experience. Suppose, for instance, that the so-called law of heredity has put upon an individual the cruel belief that he is constitutionally weak, lacking in strength, vigor, and vitality; that he has no force or energy and is easily fatigued. What are strength, vigor, vitality, and power? Are they material? Did anyone ever see them? No; they are wholly qualities of divine Mind. And how much of strength and power is there? Is it not infinite and immeasurable? And where is all this power and strength? Does it reside in some place, and does man have to go somewhere to get it? Not at all! Man, God's image and likeness, is not separated from strength, energy, and power. They are inherent in his very being. He is himself the very manifestation and expression of infinite strength and power. Man is the very manifestation of God. Man is God's witness, the proof and evidence that God is.

Sometimes people seem to be afraid to declare their oneness with God. Are you afraid to claim your inseparability from your Father—Mother God? What did Paul mean when he said, "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus"? If infinite Mind is not your Mind, upon what are you relying for your intelligence and thinking capacity? Right now it is our privilege to become spiritual thinkers. The study of Christian Science shows us that since Mind is infinite and man is the embodiment or expression of that Mind, there is no limit to our ability to think and know spiritually that we can now claim as ours infinite intelligence, infinite wisdom, infinite understanding. Is it presumptuous to claim that you and I reflect infinite intelligence? You may claim all there is and yet there will still be enough for the rest of us—all this, because Mind is one and infinite.

What is a birthright or a heritage? The dictionary defines it as the right, privilege, or possession that belongs to an heir. Suppose that someone were to tell you that by inheritance a fortune was waiting for you, and that all you needed to do was to claim it. Wouldn't you do so? Or would you sell your birthright, as did Esau, for a mess of pottage? Paul tells us, "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God; and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ;" and Christian Science awakens us to a realization of our true birthright. It reveals our immeasurable legacy. If we may compare God's supply of spiritual ideas to a bank, we see that we may every day, yes, every hour, make our rightful demand on infinite Love or Mind for the intelligence to carry on our business, for the capacity and capability to fill our positions in a better way, and to demonstrate progress. There is never a time when the bank of infinite Love will refuse payment. You can write out a check on that bank at any time, and it will never be protested. Moreover, the bank of infinite Love never closes its doors; it is open for the Father's business all the hours. Your check will never come back marked "not sufficient funds." There is always enough, for the resources of the bank of infinite Mind or Love are infinite, its capital and funds immeasurable.

What is a failure? What has happened to the thinking of a man who fails, and why has he failed? We recognize that the world is filled with men and women carrying within their hearts the consciousness or fear that they have not succeeded. Possibly they have started out well enough, but somewhere on the road they have run into difficulties. They have reached a point where they find themselves saying, "I can't. I don't know how. I am afraid. I am discouraged. I'm a failure."

Now what is operating here? The belief that man is separated from the source and origin of his intelligence. Through Christian Science we see how failure or lack of success may be scientifically and spiritually overcome. It does not tell a man or woman suffering with the belief or fear of failure, "Just say, 'I can. I can succeed. I am a success,' or something of that kind." That is not the process of Christian Science at all; instead it explains the true nature of God and His creation. If God is the one immeasurable Mind and hence "the Mind of man," it follows that man cannot have a failing and incapable Mind. Failure could never originate in nor emanate from the divine Mind. God never made a failure; could not make a failure, never knew a failure, because His universe, including man, is a complete success, finished, and very good.

In demonstrating Christian Science, it is important to understand that we are not two kinds of man. If you have perceived your true identity as an individual spiritual consciousness, then stick to it. We cannot work successfully from two opposite standpoints. There is no duality in divine metaphysics, and all successful demonstration is from the standpoint of absolute truth. If you are a divine being, and you are, then you are not really a human being becoming divine, or a sick man becoming well, even if the testimony of the senses declares that to be the case. Spiritual thinking is not based on sense testimony, but on divine facts.

It is important, therefore, to understand the value of spiritual affirmation. The Apostle John tells us that one night, shortly following the resurrection of Jesus, Peter and several of the other disciples had taken a fishing boat out on the Sea of Tiberias and, although they had labored the entire night, their toil had been fruitless. John recalled that in the morning Jesus appeared on the shore and questioned them regarding their catch. They replied that they had caught nothing. The Bible then tells us the Master's reply: "Cast the net," he said, "on the right side of the ship, and ye shall find." They cast therefore, and now they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes." Mrs. Eddy points out in her textbook an important lesson to be drawn from this incident. Have you ever considered how, from the time you wake in the morning until night, you are continuously casting your net? Every one of us is always casting his net on the right or wrong side of thought. We are either affirming and recognizing that which is true, or we are casting out net on the side of materiality, giving recognition to a false sense of being. To be sure, humanity there is every aggressive inducement to accept the picture that the material senses present—a picture of disease and inharmonious. Shall we cast our net on that side? Shall we accept and admit its reality, or shall we affirm what we spiritually know to be the absolute fact—the perfection of God and His infinite being?

Mrs. Eddy says (Science and Health, p. 149), "We need to understand the affirmations of divine Science, . . . and demonstrate truth according to Christ." So we see in Christian Science that the whole spirit of its teaching is affirmative; that is, we assert and establish that which is true. As we learn to be ever conscious of good, of God, we are making right thinking habitual. We are learning to cast our net on the affirmative side, on the side of Truth, instead of error. It is, of course, the experience of everyone that the negative, discordant argument tries to present itself. But let us not be discouraged. God has endowed us with divine power to reject that which is untrue and affirm that which is the fact about ourselves and all being. "We must realize," as Mrs. Eddy says in Science and Health (p. 428), "the ability of mental might to offset human misconceptions and to replace them with the life which is spiritual, not material." That "mental might" is, of course, your divine mind, which is the Mind of every man.

But someone may say: "Yes, but is there no human mind? Does not Mrs. Eddy refer to the human mind in her writings?" Yes, she does. Mrs. Eddy frequently speaks of the human mind, but never from the standpoint of absolute reality. Her use of the term "human mind" refers solely to the relative, material, and unreal picture which Christian Science seeks to dispel. On page 151 of Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy says, "The human mind is opposed to God," and on the following page in the same book, she declares this so-called mortal or human mind to be a myth. To be sure, she indicates that, as thinking improves, it is evidenced in states and stages of belief, which, for lack of a better term, she calls the human mind; but, first and last, all so-called thinking that is not the expression of absolute Truth or God must be part and parcel of that false, unreal mental state which is ephemeral or human, and which eventually disappears into nothingness, as divine facts are perceived, established, and maintained. Obviously, then, for right results, we do not work from two bases; that is, we cannot claim two minds, one divine and the other human.

One of the most radical declarations of Christian Science and one of the most resisted by human thought, is its statement that disease is unreal when we declare that disease has no basic reality, but exists only at a belief, a faulty mental picture, some people are inclined to be quite disturbed and resistant. And yet it may be asked of those individuals: Do you want to be told that you have a real disease, that you are suffering and may shortly die? Why does one go to a doctor? To have disease made unreal and destroyed? If disease actually exists as a reality, what could anyone do about it? If disease were real, neither Christian Science nor any other method of healing would be of any use. We would be hopeless. If disease be a fact, can medicine or surgery destroy it?

When we say that disease exists only as belief, we understand that it is primarily mental. Without some kind of thought, there would be no consciousness of disease or pain. In other words, sickness, sin, or discord of any nature appear, and can only appear, as false mental pictures in what is termed human consciousness. We call sickness a claim, but it is a false claim to reality. If it had actual entity, it would be eternal, and all that we call scientific thinking would have no basis. All sickness is, of course, the belief that man is separated from God, the source of his well-being and harmony. The reason why disease and discord disappear under Christian Science prayer or treatment is because they never did have actual existence. The unreality of sickness and disease is based on the scientific and logical knowledge that a self-existent and wholly good cause could not possibly be their origin, and that therefore they have no existence in God or in man, His perfect creation. In order to demonstrate the truth of these statements, you are asked to turn away from the material picture and physical symptoms. You are asked to maintain, both audibly and mentally, what you perceive must be the spiritual fact about yourself and all being, your inseparability from Love, from Life and all that means perfection. You are asked to cast your net on the right side, on the side of Truth instead of error. Develop the habit of thinking correctly about yourself. You say, "I am ill." Now what is this I that talks for you and me when it says, "I have a headache; I have a pain in my side; I have rheumatism"? Mortal mind or false personal sense? And what is personal sense? It is the meager suggestion that you and I are corporeal entities, instead of divine, spiritual ideas of Mind. Corporeal sense is the belief that you have a material existence separate from God. I realize that it takes a certain amount of courage, perception, and vision of correctness and to refuse to let personal sense speak for us and say, "I am this, or I am that." But as a matter of fact, what is the I that you or I am? In Science and Health (p. 281) Mrs. Eddy gives this definition of the ego: "The ego-man is the reflection of the ego-God; the ego-man is the image and likeness of perfect Mind, Spirit, divine Principle." Then the I or ego that you are and the I that I am, is the individual reflection or manifestation of the one and only God, and on that basis we can and must declare: "I am perfectly well, because I am the expression of omniscient divine Mind. I am the embodiment of perfect Being or Spirit."

Suppose someone were to ask you the question, "How do you know that you are alive?" What would you answer? You would probably say: "Why, I know I am alive, because I am conscious. I exist. I know I exist. It is through consciousness that I arrive at my perception of being. I am conscious of life. I am positively aware of being. I think, therefore I am." Then does it not follow that your awareness of life is mental?

Life, as revealed by Christian Science, is not something that is here today and gone tomorrow, something from which you and I can be separated. Life is as infinite and all-inclusive as Mind, indeed Life is Mind. And if you and I have no life but God, does it not follow that God is our very life and being? Naturally, a distant God might imply a distant, separated source of life, but a present God means for us a very present, unending life—an eternal continuity of being. Now in the same way that we learn to claim our inseparability from Mind, so we perceive that we can and must positively assert and maintain our oneness with the "infinity of Life." If Life is infinite, how much have you got? All. Then claim it, insist upon it. And it is everyone's Life, just because it is infinite. We are the very expression of Life. Life in evidence. Even humanly our consciousness of one another is the indisputable evidence of Life. Our oneness with Life is not theoretical; it is practical; nor is our eternality or continuity of being to be accepted only as a theory. Eternity is not something you will experience some years from now. If we are ever to experience eternity, we are experiencing it right now. Eternity is not something that begins and ends. It has nothing to do with time. We are in eternity right now, because here and now we are the exemplification of unending Life. Like Melchizedec, every man's true being is "without father, without mother, . . . having neither beginning of days, nor end of life; but made like unto the Son of God; . . . made, not after the law of a carnal commandment, but after the power of an endless life."

As you continue in the study of Christian Science, you will find that the emphasis of its teaching is very definitely laid on the demonstration of Life, right here and now. We are concerned very much with living—more abundant living, right here. We are concerned with proving that God is our Life right now, and we are learning in a measure how to express the Life that is God. Naturally, therefore, we do not find it profitable nor expedient to speculate on death, on a future-world salvation, nor even on a future life. On the contrary, we see the wisdom of beginning the demonstration of unending Life, right where we are today. It may also be said that Christian Science does not prepare you and me for death, but it opens up the continuity of Life in such a way that we may begin to exemplify it, in better health, vigor, and longevity. The belief of death is not truth, but error; and therefore we can never think correctly from the standpoint of death. The probability or inevitability of death could not possibly have any place in Christianly scientific thinking. Henry Drummond, for whose spiritual thought Mrs. Eddy had great respect, said one day to a group of students in Yale University: "We come not to save your souls, but to save your lives. We want you to be Christians, not because you might die tonight, but because you are going to live tomorrow." Speaking to these students, he changed the entire emphasis from death to life. It is perfectly obvious, then, that there can be no legitimate expectancy of death, but, on the contrary, the joyous anticipation of unending life.

Everyone instinctively wants to be happy, and yet if you were to ask the average person, "Are you happy? Are you completely satisfied and contented?" in a large majority of cases the answer would not be affirmative, but negative. Look at the faces of those whom you meet and pass in the crowded streets of the city. Do we see there the evidence of joy and serenity? Not very often. As long as man believes he is separated from God, it is also clear that he is separated from happiness. Everyone is entitled to be scientifically happy, scientifically well, and scientifically prosperous. But if we study the experiences of human beings, almost everywhere there appears to be a sense of incompleteness—something missing, something necessary that appears to be lacking. What is lacking but the belief that man is incomplete? That God has not provided him with the sense of complete supply and substance? The cry of humanity today seems to be: "I lack; I desire; I want; give me success; give me peace; give me satisfaction; give me companionship." Even with little children, we sometimes see this manifestation of incompleteness expressing itself in fretfulness and discontent. Every evidence of lust, longing, or false appetite may be traced to the belief that man is reaching out for completeness, for something of which he believes he has been deprived and which he greatly desires. In his true being, the natural state of man as the complete expression of Father-Mother God is possession. He possesses, and he knows he possesses, all good. He is "not a state of longing or desire. No one can be lonesome or alone when he perceives his proper relationship to, and unity with, God. No one can be homeless, homesick, or friendless, if he has demonstrated spiritually his completeness as an expression of God. So, if any of you find yourself in a mental state of longing, of desire, or of restlessness, cast your net on the right side. Declare gratefully what you know to be the fact about yourself. Man is not a state of longing or of incompleteness, but is the natural and eternal possession of all good. The civilized world has to some extent abandoned its belief in physical devils, in evil spirits, and the concept that Satan is a wicked entity that has to be placated and feared. But the worship of, and the belief in, the power and reality of evil has by no means disappeared. It is the first and great commandment of the Decalogue, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me," broken every time we believe in the presence and power of evil—every time we believe in the reality of evil minds, instead of one infinite and all-merciful Mind? But someone may say: "It is all very well to tell me to have a confident outlook, to smile and not to worry, but I am confronted with many difficulties, and life is a very serious matter with me. Besides, I've always worried. It's natural to me—my disposition." Christian Science says: Then change your disposition. Cast your net on the right side, on the side of a serene and hopeful disposition.

The reason you can change this so-called disposition is because it never was yours—just an imposition of false belief, which you have the power to reject. Christian Science declares that, since fear and worry are no part of the divine Mind, they are naturally no part of man, the exact image of Mind. The understanding of man's true selfhood as the very expression and evidence of divine Love lifts thought into that atmosphere of true freedom where falls away worry for which we know there is no real cause; fear of lack, when God is the omnipresent supply of the universe; fear of disease, disaster, or death, when His loving promise is eternal life.

If Life is God, it certainly has no dark side—only joy and anticipation of good. Ask yourself: If God is one and infinite good, is there any logical basis for the expectancy of evil? What can come to us from God, good, but good? What must we expect today? Good. What tomorrow? Good. Next week, next month, next year? Good, more good; good in infinite measure. It should be noted here, too, that we have a legitimate expectancy of good, not because we simply believe, but because we know that God is good.

Now, where is this good coming from? As a matter of fact, it isn't coming from any place; it is already here. If it came to us from some place, again we would be thinking from the standpoint of a distant God, and there might be some uncertainty as to whether good could reach us. Christian Science shows us that, since good is omnipresent, this good is appearing and constantly appearing right where you and I are thinking. It appears as spiritual, healing, helpful ideas, unfolding in and as your consciousness—the evidence of your inseparable unity with omnipresent Mind.

This question of disposition reminds me that, as long as we are on that subject, it might perhaps be just as well to say a word about what is known as temperament. I wonder if any of you have a temperament in your family, or perhaps you yourself are upholding the honor of the family in that respect.

The phrase "artistic temperament" has a fine sound, but it does not work out so well in practice. We have discovered that prima donnas and leading ladies are not the only ones upon whom mortal mind has conferred the artistic temperament. It is a strange thing, too, how people frequently imagine that the artistic temperament is a badge of distinction.

Mortal mind, in its pretense to be a creator, appears to confer upon some human beings a certain amount of artistic ability, and then at the same time loads them down with a lot of afflictive and unlovely qualities under the name of disposition or temperament. It tries to make us accept the belief that, because a man of woman is inspirational or gifted artistically, he must also be the victim of moods, tantrums, and mercurial emotions. Indeed, false human thinking has saddled upon many great and talented individuals some of the most afflictive beliefs of disposition.

The understanding of man's inseparability from God naturally does away with all of this. It shows us that there could not possibly be such a thing as an afflictive inheritance, a temper or temperament. Is it conceivable that the

Beacon Fire Chapter Lists Many Activities

Many members of Beacon Fire Chapter of the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution have been interested in the series of broadcasts now running over WEAF, Thursdays, 6:30-6:45 p. m. The United States Department of Justice, in co-operation with the Patriotic Committee of American Revolutionary Societies (D. A. R. being one of the six) and with the National Broadcasting Co., is sponsor for these patriotic broadcasts. Each program is a dramatization of a historic incident, with a famous actor in a leading part, assisted by other distinguished people.

The Junior Membership Committee announced that a Middle Atlantic States Conference was held Saturday, September 27, at 10:30 a. m., at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York City. The morning session, headed by Mrs. James Mitchell, chairman, was followed by a luncheon. The afternoon meeting was a round table discussion conducted by the state chairman.

The Press Relations Bulletin, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, has some very timely items on the national and home defense activities of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Some of the activities include:

"Full aid to the Red Cross in services and in gifts of money."

"Support of British war relief activities and other war relief movements."

"Enthusiastic aid to the U.S.O."

"Establishment of recreation rooms near camps and in towns where soldiers going to and from training camps may stop."

"Participation wholeheartedly in the nationwide drive for the purchase of Home Defense Postal Savings Stamps and for Home Defense Bonds."

Mrs. William H. Pouch, president general, has sent to all state regents this message:

"Of first importance at this moment is National and Home Defense, and to this cause we shall devote our energies this year—for without the safety and preservation of our rights and ideals no work can be successful."

been relegated to attics and cellars, but we also want people to go through their libraries and pick out for us some of the volumes now gathering dust there that will be read with excitement by proud new owners—the sets of Scott and Thackeray, the old college text books, the story books that the children have loved and outgrown. Some people are even willing to pass along their current best sellers, knowing what a boost they will give to our sale. We know that we have a ready market for all the books we can get, and we are relying on the generous people of Summit and Short Hills to give them to us."

"Do you want all the magazines you can get, too?" asked the reporter.

Space Limited

"Not all magazines," Miss Acker said. "We haven't space for large files of fiction monthlies or weekly news magazines, but we do have a heavy demand for all sorts of specialty magazines dealing with science, nature, art, architecture, interior decorating, antiques, photography and hobbies of every kind. We want British, French and other foreign publications, and we have lots of calls for Fortune, National Geographic, Coronet, Vogue, Esquire, and for all children's magazines. And more than anything else we need music. I feel certain that nearly every home in Summit and Short Hills must have some hidden away that we could have for the asking, and we could sell every bit of it. So many musicians can't afford to buy new music because it is so expensive."

Wishing good luck to the indomitable little lady who for the second time is captaining the group of more than two hundred college women who devote a month to this project every fall, the reporter left, convinced that the College Club has earned the whole-hearted and generous support of the entire community in contributing to the success of its sixth annual book sale.

Presbyterians Hold Installation Service For New Minister

The Rev. Dr. Leonard V. Buschman, who was called to the pastorate of Central Presbyterian Church last May, was installed Thursday night before a congregation of members and friends who filled the church. The Rev. George J. DeWitt, pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Dover and moderator of the Presbytery of Morris and Orange, presided. The sermon was by Dean Edward H. Roberts of Princeton Theological Seminary, who used as his subject, "The Lessons of History."

In his presentation, the speaker used as the basis of his thought, the four-fold statement of the historian, Beard, who summarized the history of the world, thus: "Whom the gods would destroy, they first make mad with power; though the mills of the gods grind slowly, they grind exceedingly small; the bee fertilizes the flower, but it robs; and when it is dark enough, we can see the stars."

In supplementing this premise, the Princeton Dean spoke in part as follows:

"Most of creation has rested upon force. The kingdom of Jesus Christ rests upon love. Withal, pride is at the bottom of all great mistakes. Yet, somehow, the world is built on moral foundations. However, Jesus is the clue to all the lessons of history."

Rev. Dr. Arthur N. Butz, pastor of Maplewood Presbyterian Church, read the scripture. Rev. DeWitt propounded constitutional questions to the pastor.

Rev. Dr. Rockwell S. Brank, predecessor for 23 years to the new pastor, gave the charge to the congregation. He made a plea for members "To look forward, not backward," and said Dr. Buschman would find Central Presbyterian Church an instrument for good in the community; that he would find companionship and fellowship and co-operation of all members.

Delivers Charge

The Rev. Ralph B. Nesbitt, former assistant pastor of Central Presbyterian Church and now associate pastor of Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City, delivered the charge to Dr. Buschman. Rev. Nesbitt and Dr. Buschman were classmates at Princeton. Dr. Buschman was also best man at the wedding of Rev. Nesbitt and Mrs. Nesbitt.

After the service a reception was held in the parish house. This was directed by Carroll M. Stanley, chairman of the Session's social committee, who was assisted by the Woman's Society. Dr. and Mrs. Buschman received. Also in the reception were Dr. Brank, Rev. and Mrs. Nesbitt and Chairman of the church's elders, Romeo T. Betts and Mrs. Betts.

Dr. Buschman was called from Central Presbyterian Church of Buffalo. He is a graduate of Westminster College and Princeton Theological Seminary. He received the degree of doctor of divinity from Westminster.

"No Second A. E. F." Major McKinley Tells Legion Group

"The Legion's motto, 'No second A.E.F.', applies to sending our men into someone else's war—it does not bar us from sending our men to fight on foreign soil if the American people, and not the politicians, decide that this is our war," explained Major Wm. G. McKinley of Jersey City, National Executive Committee of the American Legion, at the installation of Edmund Henckel as Commander of the Morris County American Legion at Chatham High School Friday night.

Other new Morris County Legion officers are Edward Nugent, of Boonton, Senior Vice Commander; William Scully of Dover, Junior Vice Commander; Charles A. MacArthur of Chatham, Adjutant; Harold Gasman of Lincoln Park, Organization Officer; James Card of Pompton Plains, Finance Officer; James Smith of Madison, Chaplain, and Henry Johnson of Parsippany, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Thomas H. Brown, Mayor of Chatham, welcomed the Legion and said that Chatham people still consider Mr. Henckel as a Chathamite even though he recently moved to Morris Plains.

Others who spoke were Joseph Flach, of Madison, Past County Commander; Al McCormack of Boonton, Past Department Commander; Mrs. Joseph McNary of Chatham, President of the County Auxiliary; Leo Honore, Department Vice Commander in charge of Morris County; Roy E. Anderson, Department Commander from Middlesex County.

The installation ceremonies were preceded by a colorful parade in which the Summit, Chatham, Madison, Boonton, Morristown and Dover Drum and Bugle Corps, Sons of the American Legion, and the Chatham High School Band took part.

Lincoln School Sets Date For Defense Carnival

Lincoln School has set October 24th as the date for the big event of their school year—this year to be a Defense Carnival. Already plans are under way for an even more successful affair than last year's Country Fair. Many of the attractions from last year will be repeated and there will be new and interesting additions.

Mrs. A. P. Seiler, who is in charge of the cafeteria supper promises food enough for everyone and plenty of room for all to sit and eat comfortably. The cafeteria committee is working on arrangements to speed up the service as well as insure a meal for each and every person at the carnival.

Mrs. Vail Johnson is in charge of the tickets which are now being sold by all the school children. The children are also busy on a poster contest which closes October 9. Parents, teachers and children are anticipating the Defense Carnival and all are working together to make it a success.

Summit Man, Manager Of N. Y. Co. Giving Defense Bond Bonus

There was a sudden burst of patriotism a few days ago at the offices of F. Schumacher & Co., dealers in fabrics, rugs and wallpaper, at 60 West 40th street, in New York City, of which H. Gadebusch of Summit, is secretary and general manager. Virtually all of the 299 employees of the company had a defense bond. All were buying defense stamps by the sheet. The corridors resounded to talking about winning-through-saving and other slogans that would cheer the heart of Mr. Morgenthau.

A tall, dark-haired fellow, who works in shipping, put his finger on it.

"They touched me in my most vulnerable spot," he said.

Stamp Buyers Eligible

Schumacher employees, in a $9,000 windfall, on the given day received $25 and $50 defense bonds in their pay envelopes, the larger amount going to those with the firm since before January 1, 1939. In addition, the company announced, all who buy $2.00 worth of defense stamps monthly will be able to participate in drawings for a $50 bond.

"Every typewriter in the office stopped when we discovered them in our envelopes," said Miss June

Brayton P. T. A. Holds Reception for New Sup't. and Teachers

Brayton School entertained Mr. William A. Kincaid and his new teachers at its first parent-teacher meeting of the year last Monday evening. After coffee was served and the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Wilkes, the president, Mr. Austin Winters presented Mr. Kincaid with a medal of the first magnitude to commemorate the home-made by Mr. Kincaid on his first visit to Canoe Brook Country Club recently.

Harvey Mole, former president of the Board of Education, gave an interesting resume of the steps taken in selecting the new Superintendent of Schools. Mr. Kincaid then talked informally about his interest in Summit and the satisfactorily personal attitude of the schools here toward their pupils.

There are three new teachers at Brayton School this year. Miss Helen Fair, a native of Colorado, is the sixth grade teacher. She received her B.A. at the University of Denver and her M.A. at Teachers' College, Columbia. She taught in Staten Island Academy and Mr. Kemble School in Bernardsville, and has done Y.W.C.A. work in Rochester, N. Y. and Spokane, Wash.

Miss Rachel Noble, the new fourth grade teacher, comes from Windsor, Vermont, where she has taught grades from the second to the fifth. She was released by her Board to come to Summit. She has recently completed her work for her B.A. at Teachers' College, Columbia.

Miss Dorothea Struckman, who teaches the third grade, is a graduate of the Newark State Teachers' College and has recently been studying at Duke University. She was released by her school in Bloomfield, Bloomfield.

Guests at the Monday evening meeting saw the flower arrangements created by the children for the Brayton Flower Show. The bouquets were mostly in the bright colors which children fancy but the show expanded to include miniatures, fruit displays and even a small garden.

According to a professor at Columbia University, the average man can tell all he knows in two hours. But it won't take him long to tell all he knows that is fit to print.

Richard J. Davis Speaks To Local Christian Scientists

divine Mind could at any time be in a state of up or down? Is depression a characteristic that man reflects from God? Why, my friends, if it were possible for you or me to walk through the corridors of infinite being, we would never find depression or unhappiness. Joy is the very nature of God's being, and it is forever yours and mine by reflection. Man has no undivided capacity. There is not a single quality or characteristic that he does not possess through divine inheritance; therefore, we see how everyone may legitimately express all the artistic qualities of God, the art side of God, and at the same time manifest the purity, peace, and harmony that should logically be allied with spiritual and inspirational unfoldment.

One may be artistic, spontaneous, and inspirational, and still be poised. Poise is a wonderful quality under any circumstances, but it is particularly so as understood in Christian Science. It is that expression of divine Mind which means serenity and the majesty of calmness. When you are expressing spiritual poise, it indicates that you have cast your net on the right side—that you are maintaining and claiming the one Mind as your Mind by reflection. Poise is the indication that you are recognizing one governing divine Principle and law, and that you are letting Principle assert itself as your consciousness.

As long as men believe that they have private minds and private intellects, and permit themselves to be governed by the uncontrolled force of human impulse and will, it is not surprising that this kind of thinking externalizes itself in evil and arbitrary forms of government. The Psalmist wrote, "The wicked, through the pride of his countenance, will not seek after God: God is not in all his thoughts." And so today, as we contemplate the entire world in a state of fear and discord, we realize that men seem to be learning through affliction and suffering, as did the king of Babylon, that human will and evil mental manipulation cannot set aside the divine fact that the one Mind alone rules in the kingdom of men and that, whether they acknowledge it or not, God alone is the governor among the nations. Through the discipline of human experience, they are being forced to bring God into their thinking. Even if human beings attempt to outlaw God and what they call religion, they cannot annul the inescapable government of divine Principle.

Christian Science reveals the fact that government, if it is to be right, must find its source and expression in the consciousness of the individual, and that as man recognizes himself as the reflection or manifestation of Principle, he will be properly self-governed.

What is government? Is it matter or mind? Without mind there would be no government, either good or bad. "It is the aggregate thinking of the citizens which determines the kind of government we have humanly, but we must remember that this is only a belief of government. God's government is going on, regardless of what the material senses are attempting to affirm. Right thinking, and that, of course, means thinking that has its basis in divine Mind, constitutes today the actual government of the world. Therefore, in the measure that our thinking approximates the divine standard, it is aligned with the law, power, and government of God. Regardless of what appears as government or man-made law, true spiritual knowing is the only potent factor in any situation. We learn, therefore, in Christian Science to spiritually maintain the facts of divine government, and each one of us must cast out the fears and doubts that would tempt us to believe in the power and reality of evil. "For what nation is there so great, who hath God so high unto them, as the Lord our God is in all things—that we call upon him for?"

Today, if we accepted what the testimony of the senses presents, we might be tempted to believe that evil had both place and power in the affairs of mankind; but we are not idolaters. Spiritual understanding demands that we stand squarely on the great command, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." There are not two Gods—a good God and an evil one. There is just one; and so we stand unwaveringly on the divine fact—one God, one Mind, one government, one divine consciousness—and work from that great premise.

In the Old Testament, it is related that the servant of the prophet Elisha arose one morning to discover that during the night the enemies of righteousness had surrounded them. In terror the young man came to his master with the alarming news. But Elisha, the man of God, that is, the Godlike man, faced the mental picture, for that is all it was, just as Christian Science teaches us to do today. Looking beyond the sense testimony, he realized the presence of the one God, and calmed the young man with the assuring words, "Fear not; for they that be with us are more than they that be with them." And then the Bible says that Elisha prayed; that is to say, he spiritually knew the all-presence and all-action of God, and that prayer opened the spiritual perception of the young man, "and he saw; and, behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha." My friends, today you and I can decide for ourselves whether we shall, like the young servant, accept as real a disturbed and warring world, or, like the man of God, rest secure in the spiritual realization that evil is unreal and that good alone is power.

Spiritual understanding shows us how we may live from the standpoint of infinity, how we may think from the standpoint of infinity. Lifting thought to that spiritual altitude, can there be such a thing as hate or war in the infinite universe of good? Is it conceivable that infinite Love would express itself in discord or conflict? Is infinite Spirit having a world depression or economic turmoil? If we lift our thinking to the hills of spiritual revelation whence truly cometh our help, what do we see and recognize? Just one infinite consciousness, declaring and uttering its divine glory, in harmony and order; infinite Love, expressing itself in abundance of good, and peace, for all.

Miss Helen Burr Coddington daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman B. Coddington of Murray Hill, became the bride of Dr. Frederick Behrendt, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Behrendt of Newark, N. J., on Saturday at a ceremony performed at the New Providence Presbyterian Church at 4 P. M., the Rev. Dr. Carroll H. Yerkes officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk jersey. Her finger-tip veil of tulle was fastened in place with gardenias and she carried a bouquet of gardenias, white spray orchids and bouvardia.

Maid of honor was Miss Eleanor Coddington, sister of the bride. She wore a princess style gown of french blue crepe and carried royal beauty roses.

Robert T. Behrendt was best man for his brother. The ushers included Edward P. Frazee of Brightwaters, L. I., Frederick T. Helmer of Union N. J., Frederick C. Coddington and Lyman B. Coddington Jr., brothers of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception for relatives and friends of the couple was held at the home of the bride's parents. After a short motor trip the couple will make their home in Washington, D.C. where Dr. Behrendt is stationed at the Navy Department.

Doris Kammer John Bristol

Mr. and Mrs. August Frederick Kammer, of South Orange, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Doris Caroline Kammer, to John Webster Bristol, son of Mrs. Ralph Bristol of Montclair, and the late Mr. Bristol.

Miss Kammer was graduated from the Kent Place School and attended the Bennett Junior College. She is a member of the Junior League of the Oranges.

Mr. Bristol was graduated from the Taft School and in 1935 from Williams College, where he was elected to Chi Psi. He also is a member of the Williams Club, the Montclair Golf Club and the Downtown Athletic Club. Mr. Bristol is with the office of the Henry Phelps Estate.

To Serve As Usher

John Nordahl of Summit will serve as an usher at the wedding of Miss Florence Hardwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Roddy Hardwell of Maplewood, to William Foote Gibby, also of Maplewood, which takes place in St. George's Episcopal Church there on October 11th.

Officiates At Wedding

The Rev. Ralph B. Nesbitt, formerly of Summit and now assistant pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, of New York City, officiated at the wedding there, on Friday, of Miss Katherine Farnham Prentice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bishop Prentice of Terre Haute, Ind., to Vincent Geoffrey Charles Best of Ganges Harbor, British Columbia, and New York.

Aviation Career

Louis William Davis, Summit Garden Apts., Summit, has registered in the Casey Jones School of Aeronautics 1100 Raymond boulevard, Newark, to prepare for a career in aviation. Mr. Davis began his training on September 22, and will attend the school for four years. After successful graduation, he will be ready to receive his Competency Rating from the Civil Aeronautics Board and his diploma as an Aeronautical Engineer.

Reeves of New York City, formerly of Summit, will entertain at cocktails at Ballston Golf Club for the couple, their bridal party and out of town guests. The cocktail party will be followed by a dinner at the Chanticleer given by the bride-elect's parents Mr. and Mrs. Reginald F. Pearson.

On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Cowperthwait Sr. will have a luncheon at their home on the boulevard honoring the couple and their bridal party. The wedding will take place on Saturday afternoon at the Calvary Episcopal Church. The Rev. David Kinsolving will perform the ceremony which will be followed by a reception at the Pearson home.

Two Short Hills families have just returned from fishing trips in Canada. Mr. D. King Irvin, of Ridge terrace, and his son, King Jr., and daughter, Mary, went to French River to a camp that has long been a favorite haunt of theirs. After a successful two week's of fishing, they returned to Short Hills, and King Jr., is getting ready to join the Navy in the Ordnance Department.

Another family who have been fishing in Canada are the H. Vanbrunt McKeever, of Kenilworth road. They went after the salmon and as fish stories go, Mr. McKeever had a big one...but he got away! Mrs. McKeever, however, got a thirteen pound one.

Mrs. Sage Stewart, of Forest drive is living in Bernardsville temporarily while extensive alterations are being done in her house. She is with her father, Mr. Dean Sage on Mine Mount road, and expects to return to Short Hills next week.

Mr. Percy Howe of Western drive, spent last weekend at his farm in Chesham, N. H. and returned home late Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Dyer of Short Hills left on Friday with their daughter, Miss Anne Dyer, for Harrisburg, Pa.

Mrs. John H. Parmerton of Short Hills sailed on Friday to join her husband in Lima, Peru, for several months. Mr. Parmerton flew there recently on business.

Mrs. Horace Patrick and Mrs. A. J. Cooper of Short Hills and Mrs. Henry A. Feustal of Millburn have recently been admitted to membership in the Woman's Club of Millburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Leigh of Short Hills entertained at dinner Tuesday evening in honor of Consul General John J. Melly, formerly of Zagreb, Yugoslavia, and Mrs. Melly who are their house guests.

Mrs. Stephen B. Harrison Jr., new president of the Junior Service League of Short Hills, will be hostess to the board members of the League at her home in Short Hills tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Dunham Coleman was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. Latham Sholes at their home on Woodland road, over the past weekend.

Hobart C. Ramsey of Summit, vice president of the Worthington Pump and Machinery Corporation, has bought a residence at 6 Delbarton drive, Short Hills.

Mrs. Glenn Erickson of Short Hills is publicity chairman for the sixteenth annual community series for the Student Aid Fund of Upsala College, East Orange, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the college. The series will include a recital by Lauritz Melchior, tenor, on November 19th, and a program of monologues by Ruth Draper on January 12th.

Scholastic Soccer Group Plans Better Cooperation

Better co-operation between all levels of soccer in the state was insured at the meeting of the New Jersey Scholastic Soccer Association in Kearny Wednesday night. Representatives from the high schools, amateur and professional leagues attended.

Many of the high school coaches said that under the present unorganized setup, scholastic soccer athletes can look forward to no future in the game unless they are fortunate enough to go to college.

D. Hugh McDonald, secretary of the N. J. State Soccer Association, replied that it was the purpose of his league to provide a stepping stone in amateur and semi-professional competition for promising soccer stars who are aiming for the professional game.

"Get in touch with me if you coaches have any promising youngsters who are not able to go on to college, and we'll find a place for them in the game," Mr. McDonald said. He explained that the reason his group had not been serving its purpose in the past very effectively was that it was so poorly organized and stated that this condition is being remedied.

Edward P. Duffy, secretary of the American Soccer League, metropolitan division, said that his professional game was dependent in the final analysis upon the products developed by the high school coaches and that therefore he was vitally interested in seeing that all high school players got their chance to continue with the game upon graduation. He said that professional players and managers would be only too glad to come ground to the high schools and give the fellows tips on the game if the coaches would only contact them.

The meeting opened with a discussion of the rules as approved by Walter P. Short, secretary of the N. J. S. I. A. A. Most of the coaches expressed satisfaction with the rule dividing the playing time into 15 minute quarters.

When Thomas, soccer coach at Summit High, said that, "We who have studied physical education know it is asking too much of a youngster's stamina to expect him to play for longer periods than 15 minutes in a game as strenuous as soccer."

The possibility of using motion pictures to aid in teaching the game was discussed by the coaches. Several managers of the professional teams said they would be glad to have high school coaches bring their squads down as their guests to study their games.

Donald P. Campbell, secretary of the N. J. S. S. A. and coach of Dickinson High School in Jersey City, presided at the meeting.

Summit Wildcats Win Opener With Tallies In First Two Periods

The Summit Wildcats opened their 1941 season at Soldiers' Memorial Field yesterday afternoon, topping the Union Blues, 12 to 0, in a game marked by ragged play, high temperatures and many player injuries. All of the scoring took place during the first half.

A drive from midfield netted a touchdown on a pass, John Smith to Norman Lofate, after a sixty-five-yard march in the first period, while a fourteen-yard aerial, Smith to John Pecca, resulted in a score after a sustained drive in the second stanza. Both extra points were missed from placement.

Union threatened the Summit goal line only twice during the entire contest. Bill Egan blocked a Summit punt in the second period and grounded the ball on the Wildcat twelve-yard marker. The Summit boys stiffened their defense at that point, however, and held the Blues on downs. A wild pass from center presented the visitors with another opportunity in the third period, but it was also halted before any damage was done the Summit victory chances.

Only outstanding event of the second half was Pecca's attempt at a forty-yard field goal, a boot that fell about two feet below the cross bar.

Starting line-ups were as follows:

Wildcats	Pos.	Blues
Lofate	LE	Leonard
Wielert	LT	Richter
Ehrman	LG	Barton
Lombardi	C	Devlin
Bontempo	RG	Russell
Russell	RT	Schiller
Pecca	RE	Sinclair
Adams	QB	Geller
Pizzuti	LH	Mann
Smith	RH	Munnane
Marshall	FB	Egan

Score by periods:
Summit Wildcats 6 6 0 0-12
Union Blues 0 0 0 0-0

Football Game Is Moved to Millburn

Under the terms of a two year contract recently arranged by Faculty Athletic Advisers Faddis of Millburn and Dundon of Summit, football contests between Summit and Millburn for the next two years will be played on the Millburn field.

This arrangement will change the site of the Summit game this year from Summit to Millburn on October 11.

Underwood, Harring Win Golf Sweepstakes At Canoe Brook

The team of G. B. Underwood and W. J. Harring won the Canoe Brook Sweepstakes, feature event of the Member-Guest Medal Play, with a score of 121 at Canoe Brook Country Club last week-end.

Runnersup in the Sweepstakes event are Dr. B. L. Clement and B. Massengill, who turned in a card of 126 for the 36 holes.

First flight: won by G. B. Underwood and W. J. Harring, 121; runnersup, Dr. B. L. Clement and B. Massengill, 126.

Second flight: Robert Harvey and Fred Webster, 132; H. J. Anth and Joseph Gallagher, 133.

Third flight: D. G. Tompkins and G. A. Brodley, 134; Hugo Meyer and Joseph Broadus, 135 (Dr. J. L. Lofdrigan and J. Nully also carded 135 but lost on the draw).

Fourth flight: E. J. Conroy and Wm. H. Harde, 133; Dr. J. L. Hanley and J. F. Burke, 137.

Fifth flight: John Hubbard and H. Goodbody, 141; T. W. Hawes and L. J. Bevan (also 141, but lost on the draw to become runnersup).

Sixth flight: H. O. Knox and W. H. Old, 144; Harry Schaub and John Clancy, 145 (E. L. Clark and John Heavey also scored 145 but lost on the draw).

C. Y. O. Athletics

Preliminary plans for a gigantic athletic program by the Catholic Youth Organizations of the Archdiocese of Newark were announced today by the Very Rev. Monsignor James A. McNulty, Archdiocesan director of the C. Y. O.

Aiming to interest every Catholic boy in some healthful sport, the C. Y. O., established in the Archdiocese a year ago by His Excellency Archbishop Thomas J. Walsh, will launch its athletic program Saturday, October 18th when a monster track and relay carnival will be staged at Ruppert Stadium, home of the Newark Bears.

Contest Winner

Two of our contestants came through with nine correct winners of last Saturday's football games, but one was closer on the scores so he was adjudged the winner. The ace prognosticator for this week is A. Stuart Reed of the Summit Y. M. C. A. Runner-up for the honors is Dick Olson of Shadyside avenue.

Mr. Reed slipped up on the Georgetown-Mississippi game which Georgetown won, 16 to 6, (he picked Miss., 7 to 0), while Mr. Olson missed the Boston C. Tulane game which Tulane won, 21 to 7, (he picked Boston C., 21 to 7).

Both showed real psychic ability in picking the Holy Cross-Louisiana State and the Virginia-Lafayette games correctly.

As far as our own prognosticators are concerned, they didn't do so well—that is, all except Brayton Smith who came through with 8 correct and 2 wrong. The other two are hanging their heads in shame, for they both won 5 and lost 5. But they say, like the Dodgers used to, "wait 'till next week."

U. S. Grand Prix Classic At Tri-City Stadium

Union Township is preparing for the longest midget auto race ever staged on a small track on Sunday night, October 5. On that night, General Manager Albert Santo will present a 200-lap race which is down in the AAA books as the U. S. Grand Prix Classic.

To coin an old phrase, "the town is all going." Excited that within a short space of time more than seventy steers of mite machines will be out on a one-quarter of a mile semi-banked asphalt saucer trying for all that fame and fortune which goes to the winner.

The place for this event will be Tri-City Stadium, the biggest drawing saucer of the waning outdoor term. For its size Tri-City has drawn, by far, the biggest attendance of the season. Up until the running of the 150-lap national mid-get championship on the Tri-City track, close to 160,000 fans had fled through the turnstiles.

Counting 16,000 which attended the title go plus 7,000 on hand the following meet the total for the season is close to 185,000. And that is the big reason why General Manager Santo is getting all the AAA feature events of the year.

But before these benzine burners get flagged for the U. S. Grand Prix race, they will vie in the final 25-lap feature race of the season Sunday night, September 28, on the Tri-City oval. Sunday night's card will consist of three 12-lap qualifying heats, a pair of 15-lap semi-finals and a 12-lap consolation before the main. It will serve to put the doodlers in the pink for the big grind the following week.

Reconstruction Plans

For the Princeton University football team, now preparing itself for an exacting schedule, this fall will be a season of reconstruction. Its method of attack must be revamped and vital gaps, particularly in the line, must be filled.

Shorn, by the graduation of the principals, of the forward-passing offensive which has distinguished its play for the last three seasons, the Princeton team must acquire the ability to gain on the ground. No longer can it call upon Allerdee who last year, for instance, completed well over half the passes he threw for an average gain of 16 yards for each completed pass; nor has it available the expert pass receivers, Stanley, Naylor and Jackson.

Peters, one of the most effective catcher last year, is back, but it will be necessary for him, as the best forward-passer available, to throw, instead of receive, if Princeton is to balance its ground attack with some semblance of aerial offense.

Skeet Shooting Traps Added at County's Cranford Range

Double the present number of skeet shooters will be accommodated at one time at the Union County Park Trap and Skeet Range, Kenilworth Boulevard, Cranford, when improvements now being made by park craftsmen are completed, according to F. S. Mathewson, superintendent of recreation. At other times, when the demand seems to be for trap facilities, 50 per cent. more trapshooters will be accommodated than at present.

A unique arrangement has been worked out, Mr. Mathewson states, to eliminate any interference on the this area. A second skeet field, now being built, will overlap the present number one straight trap. In order to eliminate any interference on the number one trap, the low house for the new skeet field is being erected on a track and will simply be pushed out of the way when the straight trap is in use.

The improvements now being made also include the construction of a third trap, with concrete runways to conform with the present layout.

Special weekly shoots, sponsored by the Park Commission, started for the season on Sunday, September 21, with a straight trap event, and a special skeet shoot was held Sunday, September 28. These special programs will continue throughout the fall, winter, and spring months.

A Summit High football team whose chief assets included four hard-running backs, a flawless passing attack and a blocking forward wall, ended a consecutive winning streak of ten straight games by upsetting Clifford J. Scott High of East Orange, 21 to 13, in the opening game of the local season at Soldiers' Memorial Field on Friday afternoon.

Not only did the Big Red machine which has been given only passing consideration by the "experts" as a possible repeater at Suburban Conference championship outclass the highly-regarded Scotties, but they loosed a ground and air attack that completely melted the heavy Scott line.

The Summit club executed six passes in eight attempts, gained 276 yards rushing, and completed three important extra points under pressure.

Big gun in the Summit attack was Eddie Reavey, a member of the reserve squad last year, who galloped sixty-six yards for one touchdown, heaved a six-yard aerial to Art Vanderhoof for another score, and fired a pass to Roy Pease for a final tally. He also tossed a pass that accounted for the first extra point of the game.

Although the Summit backfield of Pease, Reavey, Frank Sommo and Douglas Costabile staged an unusual opening-drive performance, Scott's diminutive fullback, Tony Bruno, proved himself a one-man offensive. He did everything but win the game, a little object which he might have accomplished had time permitted. He was instrumental in setting up both Scott touchdowns in the final period, booted their lone extra point, and kept Summit in continual hot water with his sweeping end runs, passes and dives into the line.

Girls' Horseback Riding Groups

The girls' horseback riding group which has been sponsored by the Board of Recreation during the spring and fall seasons for the last two years, started its fall 1941 season on Wednesday evening, September 24th at the Winkler Stables.

In order to accommodate everyone, the girls decided to ride in two groups this fall. One group will ride each Wednesday evening from 5:30 to 6:30 from Winkler's Stables. Mrs. H. G. Barnard, well known Summit equestrienne, will be the instructor. To ride with this group it is necessary to call the Field House, Summit 6-2932 each Tuesday. The group meets at 5:15 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A.

Another group will ride from the Winkler Stables between 10 and 11 a. m. each Sunday. This group will meet at the stables at 9:50 a. m. Mr. Tully will be the instructor. To make reservations with this group it is necessary to call Mrs. Keefe at the Nurses Home, Summit 6-4400, each Saturday morning before 10 a. m.

Both groups are open to the general public and instruction is given to both beginning and advance riders. Further information in regard to both groups may be secured by calling Miss Margaret R. Swartz, director of women's and girls' activities for the Board of Recreation, at the Field House.

Elks Shuffleboard

Bill Ryan of Bloomfield has been selected as chairman of the New Jersey Elks Shuffleboard League tournament committee. John Scarry of Madison has been appointed secretary of the body. Gene Daly of Summit, who started the state shuffleboard competition three years ago, declined nomination for the chairmanship this year.

An attack in which five successive passes were completed provided Summit with a lead in the opening quarter. Both other Big Red scores were the result of long romps in the third period.

Pease grabbed the opening kickoff on his own eighteen-yard line and carried the ball to mid-field behind strong blocking. He then skirted end, evaded two would-be tacklers and galloped to a first down on the Scott thirty-seven yard marker. Summit's running attack stalled as pay-off territory became closer, gaining nothing on three tries, but Reavey came to the rescue with a thirteen-yard aerial to Art Vanderhoof for a first down on the twenty-four-yard stripe.

Reavey followed with a pass to Pease on the eight-yard line and then heaved a touchdown pass that Vanderhoof grabbed with one hand. Doug Costabile was on the receiving end of an aerial that accounted for the extra point.

A pair of long runs featured Summit's two touchdown drives in the third period. Reavey took the second-half kickoff off on the nine-yard line and returned sixteen yards to the twenty-five. On the first play from scrimmage, Reavey broke through tackle and scampered sixty yards to Scott's fifteen. A forward pass, Reavey to Pease, resulted in the touchdown. Andy Genualdi place-kicked the extra point.

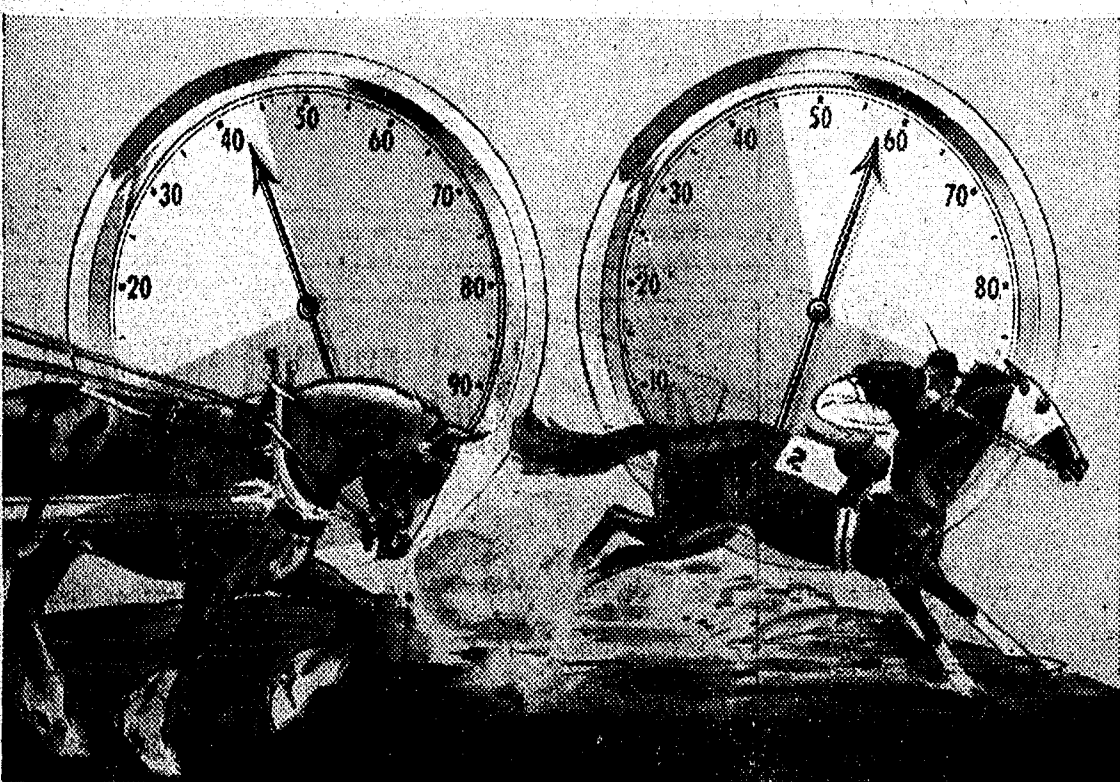

Another Score
Scott drove into Summit territory after the kickoff, but Fred Hensler pounced on a fumble to recover the ball for the Big Red. Without waiting for Scott to regain poise, Reavey cut through left tackle, watched Frank Sommo ride the Scott safety man, and raced sixty-six yards to a score. Genualdi again booted the extra point from placement.

Clifford Scott made a last-ditch stand in the final session to narrow the deficit of three touchdowns. Taking possession of the ball on the Summit 25-yard line after a bad punt, the East Orange gridders went for a tally on five plays. Tony Bruno carried the ball each time and went off right guard from the three-yard marker for the score. Bruno's shuffle pass to Phillip Brill for the extra point was incomplete.

Towards the close of the fourth period, Scott took possession, after holding for downs, on its own 46. John Toner, who started the game at left end, who was later shifted to the backfield, passed to Bernie Young on the Summit 39, went around left end to the 29 and then caught Bruno's pass in the end zone for Scott's other touchdown. Bruno place-kicked the extra point.

Give Your Car High Anti-Knock in BOTH Speed Ranges

These two horses symbolize the two main speed ranges in driving a car. The draft horse stands for the low-speed or traffic driving range. The race horse symbolizes the high-speed range, used on the open highway.

You need high anti-knock, not in just one of these speed ranges but in both. And you get this Double-Range Anti-Knock when you use Sinclair H-C Gasoline. H-C is given Double-Range Anti-Knock by two special refining processes. Try a tankful today—at the price of regular grade.

Will Manage New
Specialty Products
Defense DivisionJohn F. McKernan, until recently chief of equipment in the production division of the OPM, has returned to Western Electric in the newly-created post of Manager of Defense Program Planning, charged with co-ordinating production on the company's $100,000,000 defense job, it was announced today by Frederick R. Luck, manager of Western Electric's Specialty Products Division at Kearny.Mr. McKernan, making the Company's Kearny Works his headquarters, will set up an organization which will integrate defense production apparatus for the Bell System, guaranteeing efficient use of all current plant capacities at the company's works at Point Breeze, Baltimore, Md., and Chicago, as well as Kearny.A veteran of more than twenty years' service with Western Electric, Mr. McKernan was Program Planning Manager at New York headquarters from 1935 to 1937, and Merchandise Manager at the Point Breeze plant until early this year, when he went to the OPM.George R. Logan, associated with Mr. McKernan briefly in Washington, and previously in the Western Electric organization, will serve as his lieutenant at the Kearny Works.Mr. McKernan will live on Essex

Be Nature Club TopicJames S. Cawley, of Summit, well-known authority and lecturer on Historic New Jersey, will give an illustrated lecture on "Little Rivers of New Jersey" at the first fall meeting of the Nature Club, Thursday evening, October 2, at 8:15 o'clock in the Field House.Mr. Cawley, a member and past Vice Commodore of the American Canoe Association, has explored and photographed every river in the State of New Jersey, navigable by canoe. At present he and Mrs.
Cawley are working as co-authors on a book on the smaller rivers of New Jersey which is designed to present the scenic charm of the state, as well as to portray the individual characteristics of its many tiny streams. Mr. Cawley's first book "Historic New Jersey in Pictures" was published in 1939 by the Princeton University Press asthe second volume of the Princeton series on New Jersey History. The book contained 168 photographs, guide maps and index for quick reference. The book which the Cawleys are now working on, a sequence to the first, will be published by the Princeton Press next spring.A frequent lecturer throughout the state on various phases of New Jersey history, Mr. Cawley also contributes regularly a wide variety of photographs to newspapers and magazines, principally on historic subjects. Recently he prepared a series on Colonial Architecture for the Metropolitan Museum of Art.J. B. Hawley, president of the Nature Club, has announced the program of club meetings for the
