Weapon Against Epidemics Vitally Needed Overseas

Clothing is vitally necessary to combat epidemics in Europe, China and the Philippines, according to cabled advices from relief workers in all liberated areas, Salem Boorujy, Summit chairman of the Victory Clothing Collection, declared yesterday. Summit's collection, lasting for one week, will continue through next Monday.

"Contributors to the Victory Clothing collection are urged to attach a message of good-will to gifts of clothing," Chairman Boorujy said. He continues his appeal for considerable more donations because "Summit's goal of 40,000 pieces of clothing is still far from being realized." The chairman reminds residents to take their contributions to any one of the seven public school buildings or to St. Teresa's School. He reports that Ciba Pharmaceutical Products, Inc., and McGregor Sportswear "have been most generous in their organized effort to help in the contributions."

In continuing his appeal for the Summit committee, Chairman Boorujy also states:

"Among the threadbare millions there are people of every age and from every walk of life—new born babes, school boys and girls, aged farm couples, the village choir master, office clerks, doctors, teachers and young mothers, sick and fear-haunted ex-prisoners of war, the nearly hopeless wrecks from slave labor camps and even city officials. Most of them live and work in unheated rooms for fuel, too, is still scarce."

The committee is anxious to inform the public of the things desired and not desired. The things most needed are coats, suits, trousers, skirts, dresses, shirts, sweaters, underwear, shoes, overshoes, pajamas, night gowns, knitwear, blankets, bedding piece goods, remnant, draperies.

The things not desired are straw hats, toys, feather beds, pillows, mattresses and household furnishings.

The test of what to give is not the article's state of repair, but whether it will be useful. Garments should be clean and sanitary but need not be ironed or dry cleaned.

In case you don't know, the local drive is part of a nation-wide clothing drive for overseas relief being conducted on behalf of UNRRA (the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration). President Truman believing the campaign to be imperative called upon Henry J. Kaiser, West Coast industrialist, to be its national chairman.

Cities, the reports state, have been suffering serious epidemics of pulmonary tuberculosis, bacillary dysentery, typhoid fever, diphtheria, pneumonia, scabies and various skin diseases caused by exposure and malnutrition.

In France where the war left two million people homeless, the infant death rate has climbed to 75 per cent of the country's birth rate. The bombed-out people of Holland are living in chicken runs and leaky shacks, and are suffering from skin ailments. From Greece come letters telling of thousands living in mountain caves.

One such letter says: "For twen-

Refuse Permit To Suburban Apts. For Vets' Housing

Common Council on Tuesday night denied the application of Suburban Apartments, re: Elmer Rinhart for renewal of permit for 695 Springfield avenue. The action was taken on motion of Councilman Frederick K. Truslow, chairman of the public safety committee, who explained council's refusal.

He said the four tenants, all returned servicemen who had not previously resided in Summit, but who had "acted in good faith," asked for and had a conference January 12, with Councilman Rome A. Betts, chairman of the public welfare committee and President Percy Bland of Council. Councilman Truslow in a prepared statement said:

"Complaints were made on complete lack of furniture, lack of bed linens and towels, and intermittent and unsatisfactory maid service," all of which were said to be part of the agreement made by the landlord when the permit was granted by council to use the premises. The public safety chairman continued:

"Complaint was made that the oil burner did not function properly and that it was considered dangerous due to non-operating safety devices. On check council discovered that the oil burner was installed on November 3, last, but that the application for its inspection was not received by the Board of Fire Underwriters inspector until January 11."

Councilman Truslow emphasized that Mr. Rinhart's agreement with council calls for rooms with maid service supplied at the rate of two dollars per day per room and that stipulation was specific that only Summit World War II veterans were to occupy the premises. He also declared that as of January 9, no filing of 695 Springfield avenue had been made in accordance with O. P. A. procedure which requires that written application with rent schedule be presented before approval is granted, also that "There was infrequent collection of refuse from the apartments."

Councilman Betts stated that council is taking "proper steps to remedy the situation."

Ludwig Lewisohn Bids All Jews Support Zionism

"Despite persecution unceasingly applied over centuries, the Jews have survived and multiplied owing to their racial consciousness and a superior mental equipment which elevated them to a position of unequaled intellectual prominence in Europe before the war," said Ludwig Lewisohn, author, lecturer, and critic in an address at the Jewish Community Center on Monday evening, January 14.

"The process of persecution was temporarily suspended in 1808 when Napoleon ordered the emancipation of all Jews on the condition that they become assimilated by the rest of the population. This represented a false position, for the Jewish people are fated, by their very nature irrespective of individual volition, to remain a people apart from other nations. Their so called emancipation lasted until the advent of National Socialism in Germany, at which time humanity reached an ebb without parallel in history. When Genghis Kahn ravaged Europe barbarism was generally practiced by all nations, but it remained the distinction of modern civilized nations to sit by without raising a word of protest while the Jewish people, the most cultivated in Europe, were tortured by the millions and extermihated in murder factories.

"With animosity against them increasing throughout the world, there remains only two places where Jews may find refuge from persecution. Even in the United States, last stronghold of democracy, the Jews are facing increasing opposition, and so it makes it even more imperative to support the Zionist movement of creating a national refuge for the Jewish people. In Palestine alone the Jews can lead normal lives in natural surroundings.

"The attempt at final emanci-

Thrift Shop Appeals For Housewares And Clothing

Next Monday, January 21, will be the opening of Thrift Shop week, when the shop at 466 Springfield avenue makes its annual appeal for new stock. It is supplied entirely by contributions of clothing, housewares, and miscellaneous used articles; these are sold at reasonable prices, and the proceeds are divided among local welfare organizations, as well as Red Cross, and Overlook Hospital. The Thrift Shop is operated by the Junior Service League.

The need for new stock is acute this year, as war shortages and foreign relief needs have increased the volume of buying at the Shop and diminished the available supply of used articles. The Thrift Shop Committee hopes that Summit housewives will go through their attics and closets and bring in everything they can spare to help re-stock the Shop—everything from an old bud vase to a pair of curtains, from evening slippers to bathing suits, from roller skates to doll's high-chairs, can be sold at the Shop and will add to the total of the proceeds for charity. "Give your old tuxedo to the Children's Home" may sound preposterous but when you do it via the Thrift Shop is makes sense because it makes money.

The Shop is open mornings from 9:30 to 11:45 and afternoons (except Saturday) from 1:30 to 3:45. If you are unable to take your contribution in call Sum. 6-4563 and arrangements will be made to pick it up.

Official Health Insurance Shows Slight Decrease

Cost of official health "insurance" for the residents of Summit last year was about 93½ cents per capita, based on a population of 17,580, according to the annual report presented to the Board of Health Wednesday night by Health Officer Henry P. Dengler. This figure is a trifle lower than the previous year. Appropriation for 1945, made by Common Council, was $19,656, but the board returned unexpended balance and the amount received from fees, licenses, vital statistics and permits.

The department of vital statistics report showed 290 births to Summit parents. The total number of births in the city was 860, many babies having been born in Overlook Hospital to residents outside the city. The birth rate was 16.55. The number of deaths for the year was 289, of whom 135 were residents of Summit. The remainder died in Overlook Hospital and were out-of-town patients.

One hundred and thirty-three marriages were performed, an increase of 10 over 1944.

In communicable diseases chicken pox led the list with 350. There were 58 persons bitten by dogs, but no cases of rabies in dogs or persons.

The board took over the health of the children in the parochial school, and the results were satisfactory, according to the health officer. This part of health work was in charge of Dr. John L. Meeker. A number of orthopedic handicaps were discovered during examinations and were referred to clinics. The dental clinic for parochial school pupils was considered an important unit. "There is a very marked improvement in the children's teeth," the report said. "Ventilation, heating and sanitation in the school are excellent." The enrollment is 429.

A general clinic was held every weekday morning through the year. Food handlers examined numbered 531, compared with 601 the previous year. Inoculations were given for whooping cough, tetanus, poison ivy and typhoid.

Prenatal clinics drew an attendance of 72 mothers. Attendance at the baby clinics was 416, a falling off of 200 compared with 1944. The

Sets 5 Per Cent Pay Boost To City Workers

City employees will receive a five per cent annual increase in wages according to an ordinance introduced and passed on first reading Tuesday night by Common Council. The ordinance which was acted upon without comment, will come up for public hearing at date as specified in a legal advertisement elsewhere in this paper.

Mayor Lester Warns On Parking Lights

During the war it was necessary to suspend enforcement of the state law requiring that all cars parked on the streets after dark have front and rear parking lights on.

This law is of great assistance to the police officers on patrol and also is a safety means of importance. Therefore, I have given orders to Chief Egan that following two weeks publicity in The Summit Herald, tickets are to be issued for violation of this state regulation.

MAXWELL LESTER, Jr.
Mayor.

Dated: January 15, 1946.

An ordinance was also introduced and passed on first reading appropriating $3,000 for the purchase of a tract of land from the Jersey Central Power & Light Co. in Chatham, road for a site on which ultimately to erect a city garage.

Council took the same action as above on two other ordinances: one allowing an encroachment of three inches on the sidewalk for the Bishop Building at the southeast corner of Springfield avenue and Beechwood road to allow for the erection of a granite and marble front, the other for the regulation and licensing of canvassers.

Merril Britt, who recently completed a leave of military absence on a tour of duty with the Navy was advanced to the grade of patrolman, second class. The application of Thomas Finneran for reinstatement as a police officer, also following a tour of duty with the Navy, was favorably acted upon.

Without taking any action, council received a resolution from the Board of Recreation requesting an exchange of properties it now owns in and about the Edison School for the properties known as the Gaffney tract and a parcel of land at the corner of Morris avenue and Morris court, the latter held by the Summit Home for Children. The lands which the Board of Recreation seeks to vacate "as being of no further use" to them include the athletic field to the east of the former school building, the tennis courts to the west thereof and certain other lands to the south.

A resolution was approved authorizing Albert F. Woodward, Jr., assistant city treasurer to sign checks during the absence of City Treasurer H. G. Fuchs. Executive Official Fred Mort was authorized to sign checks in the absence of City Clerk Frederick C. Kentz.

Other resolutions passed: seven days' grace granted in connection with payment of taxes after due date; seven per cent tax rate fixed for delinquent taxes and assessments; cancellation of $407 uncollectible real estate taxes.

All Members Asked To Attend Red Cross Annual Meeting

The Red Cross is anxious to have every member attend its annual meeting next week, according to Mrs. Edmund C. von Duhn, in charge of the arrangements.

"Every member means every contributor of a dollar or more to the annual American Red Cross drive. We want the public to know what we are doing to meet the needs of this community in our peace-time humanitarian program, and what we've accomplished during the war," she continued.

Another committee member, Mrs. Frederick B. Llewelyn, said that this meeting should have just as much interest and variety for the general public as for the corps personnel. "First of all, we have an excellent and well-qualified speaker, Mrs. Gordon H. Johntry, our executive secretary, who was in the front lines in Europe as a club director, and who will tell us about the American Red Cross Overseas!

"Of course, we'll have the election of officers for 1946," declared Mrs. Llewellyn, "then in addition we're going to have some movies on American Red Cross activities, and several citations which will be awarded to the chapter and to some individuals. These citations come from the Army Service Forces, New York, Port of Embarkation, Camp Kilmer."

This annual meeting of the Summit Chapter, American Red Cross, is to be held on Wednesday evening, January 23, at 8:15 in the Y.M.C.A., auditorium. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes: Mrs. E. G. von Duhn, chairman; Mrs. F. B. Llewellyn, Mrs. Jacque Frost, Mrs. John May, Jr., and Mrs. E. P. Patten.

Big Collections Of Wastepaper; Sixty-five Tons

Larry May, chairman of the Salvage Committee of Summit Post 138, American Legion, expressed himself as pleased with the wastepaper collections of the 6th and 13th, when sixty-five tons were gathered in. As a matter of fact, these are approximte figures. Mr. May thinks the totals reached a higher tonnage. Twenty-seven tons were from the North Side, and the South Side, which Mr. May says seems to have a feeling that it must better anything the North Side does in the way of contributing paper, added 38 tons. A swell job, he says.

Members of Summit Post 138, American Legion, and members of the Civilian Air Patrol from Summit, Irvington and Morristown, under command of K. H. Brett-Surman, turned out strong to man the trucks. These were voluntarily furnished by Ciba Pharmaceutical Products, Inc., C. Gargiulo, Fine Oil and Supply Co., John Nigro, Summit Auction Rooms, Summit Plumbing Supply Co., and Ackerman Trucking Co.

Ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary served sandwiches and hot drinks at the Legion Home, Elm street.

Mr. May says he "wishes to congratulate and thank the citizens of Summit and the Tall Oaks section of New Providence fro their continued cooperation in this big job of assisting in alleviating the shortage of poper. We regret that we had not been advised that there is no longer need for tin Summit area. Do not place tin out for further collection."

Mr. May further said: "we have been advised that the shortage of paper will continue for the balance of the year of 1946. Watch The Summit Herald for notes of future drives."

March Of Dimes Summit Campaign Gets Underway

The 1946 March of Dimes got underway Monday with Mayor Maxwell Lester, Jr., as honorary chairman together with Postmaster Daniel J. Fitzpatrick as general chairman. The Summit campaign, which closes January 31, is part of the nation-wide appeal of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for funds to continue the fight against poliomyelitis.

Mrs. Reginald F. Pearson of 316 Summit avenue, is treasurer. All contributions should be mailed to her. Mrs. Thomas L. Smith of 66 Prospect street, is vice-chairman.

As in the past, March of Dimes coin collection boxes have been placed at convenient spots throughout the city and coin cards have been distributed. In the light of widespread public knowledge of the National Foundation's tremendous achievements in recent epidemic years, Chairman Fitzpatrick said, the local appeal committee is expecting a greater respopse this year than ever before. Last year the sum collected by the Summit committee amounted to $2,810.53.

"Poliomyelitis," he pointed out, "is one of the most expensive diseases known to medicine. Hospitalization for a single patient costs more than $2,500 a year. Some cases require continuing care for several years. Not only must many victims of past epidemics receive continuing care,

Relief for Holland Asks for Articles For Household Use

The Summit Chapter of American Relief for Holland, Mrs. Edward Kann, chairman, is asking for the contribution of used household equipment during the next few weeks.

Articles wanted are: brushes, floor mops, tooth brushes and toothpaste, soap and soap powders, cotton cheese cloth, pencils, writing paper, envelopes, school composition books, glue, notions, shoe polish, shoe laces, used blankets, bed spreads and draperies.

Pots and pans, knives, forks, and spoons, hammers, pliers, screwdrivers, brooms, needles and thread, scissors, thimbles, rakes, hoes, shovels—anything that will help a household function, is needed.

The extra kitchen utensils every housewife keeps put away and never uses, would be a Godsend to the women of Holland who have lost everything through war, looting, or wanton destruction, said Mrs. Kann. More than a million people there, are living in barns and hovels, who need the simplest articles to start housekeeping again.

Any contributions may be left at Calvary parish house on Wednesdays, when the local chapter sews there for this cause and where the articles will be packed, and shipped.

Summit High Rates Tops Service Clubs Learn

Summit High School has received in nine criteria fields seven ratings of being "very superior," the highest possible as pertains to its library, guidance, instruction, outcomes, plants and administration; and two ratings of being 'superior," the next highest, in the fields of curriculum and pupil activities.

This was the report made by A. J. Bartholomew, director of secondary education in Summit schools, in speaking Thursday to the Lions Club, and on Tuesday to Kiwanis. Mr. Bartholomew's presentation was based on the report of a Visiting Committee made to Summit High school last year under the auspices of the Middle States association of Colleges and Secondary schools of which Summit High school is a member.

The Visiting committee's report was based upon a Cooperative Study Plan School evaluation which has been adopted by the Middle Atlantic States Association of Colleges and Secondary schools as its method of accreditation of secondary schools.

The speaker explained that Summit High school's staff spent a year and a half from September, 1943 to February, 1945 in working on this Cooperative Study plan of School evaluation. The evaluation was completed with the work of the Visiting committee, consisting of 16 members appointed by the commission that spent three days

German Children Her Greatest Hope, Nora Waln Believes

Saving the German children and reclaiming them into a normal community of ideas with the rest of the world, constitutes almost the only hope of a possible future for that devastated land, Nora Waln told members of the Athenaeum, Thursday evening, January 10, at the High School.

Shortly after her arrival in Germany last summer after an absence of six years, as special correspondent for the Atlantic Monthly, Miss Waln was asked what was the most peculiar thing she had noticed about the country. She answered that she was surprised that she never heard the name of Hitler mentioned. A child said, "O, don't you know? Hitler was a Jew." Otherwise he would never have led us into a war of defeat."

Although defeated and deflated,

Grippe Lowers School Attendance Personnel Changes

An epidemic of grippe that swept Summit during December was reflected in last month's record of attendance in the public schools. This was reported Tuesday night to the Board of Education by Superintendent of Schools, William A. Kincaid. He said school children came down with the illness by the score. The percentage of attendance for December was 83.84 per cent compared to 90.29 per cent for December, 1944.

Resignations were accepted from Miss Margaret Murray as teacher of home economics in Junior-Senior High School, from Mrs. Patricia Thornton as language teacher in Junior High School and from Miss May Heston as teacher of second grade in Washington School. Mrs. James W. Wagner of Chatham was hired as a substitute for the remainder of the present academic year to replace Mrs. Thornton and Mrs. Helen McCann to replace Miss Murray.

Miss Evelyn Boye of the Lincoln School faculty was employed as a teacher for five hours a week to offer bedside teaching.

The superintendent reported that Summit schools had contributed $355.34 to the community's Christmas dinner fund.

Greenfield Village Henry Ford's Idea Shown to Old Guard

Henry Ford and his Greenfield Village were presented to the Old Guard last Tuesday morning by John D. Hood of the Citizens Trust Company, with the help of colored slides, while Mrs. Clifford Willis operated the lantern.

Born in Dearborn, near Detroit, in 1863, Henry Ford began tinkering with watches and at sixteen secured a job in a Detroit Edison shop, and Thomas Edison was a friend whom he never forgot. So, after he had at the age of forty established the Henry Ford Motor Company, had placed over 1,500,000 Model T cars on the market and otherwise arrived, he built the Henry Ford Hospital in Dearborn, and in 1929 celebrated the 50th Anniversary of Electrical Illumination by Establishing the Edison Educational Institute. This huge building was located in Greenfield Village, a tract of 400 acres which he had bought, enclosed with an attractive iron fence and developed into a model educational community.

To this village he had brought from New and Old England and elsewhere and set up many famous buildings, such as an old hotel, Abraham Lincoln's court house, a post office, and the old railroad station where the young Edison was thrown off the train which he had nearly wrecked with his experiments. Many of these buildings had been the birthplaces of famous men, but the Edison Institute was the center of interest. Here especially were departments of agriculture, manufacturing and transportation, with wagons, busses, autocars, trains and planes, and free instruction for carefully selected boys and girls. Frequent busses took visitors about the Village and a modern hotel, just outside, entertained them at modest rates. At the close of his talk, the speaker was given a hearty rising vote of thanks and 22 Oldguardsmen adjourned to the Blue Lantern for lunch.

Before the talk, Director Thorp read a tribute to John C. Righter, who had recently died, and Walter L. Cropley, Arthur D. Gordinier and Paul Henderson were received into membership.

At the meeting next Tuesday, at 10:30 a. m., in the YMCA, Commander Guido Forster, former mayor of Summit, will relate some war experiences. Retired men are invited.

Buzz-Bomb Beaten By Range Finder Made By Bell Labs

Dr. C. A. Lovell of Summit, connected with Bell Labs in Murray Hill, told Rotarians at their Monday luncheon the story of how the buzz-bombs which did so much damage in England just before the close of the war were defeated.

Germany's secret weapon, which was supposed to win the war and eliminate the saying "there will always be an England" was defeated by an invention suggested by Dr. David B. Parkinson of Maplewood and built at Bell Laboratories in Murray Hill. It did not take long, according to Dr. Lovell, to get the mechanics of the invention worked out once it was proved that it would be effective.

Dr. Lovell stated that Dr. Parkinson was so worried over the first success of the bombs that he was troubled in his sleep, as a result of which he practically dreamed the idea of the mechanism that was later to defeat the buzz-bombs. Once started it took but eight days to perfect the instrument that revolutionized anti-aircraft fire. Before this one shot in 10,000 would hit the mark; it was not long before 74 per cent of the shots hit the mark, which was later raised to 85 per cent and during the last six days of the war the percentage had climbed to 96. Dr. Lovell said had the war continued he thought perfection would have been reached.

Slides of the mechanism were shown, as were also pictures of the devastation in London.

The speaker was introduced by Granville B. Jacobs of the program committee.

President Raymond W. Stafford announced the resignation of Lyman B. Coddington of New Providence, owing to inability to attend meetings. Upon vote, Mr. Coddington was made an honorary member.

Guests introduced by John Davidson, Jr., of the Community Service committee were Frank Lankard, Madison, past-district governor of district 187; Paul Pitcher, guest of Henry W. Harding; Col. Lindemen, East Orange, guest of Richard L. Corby, Jr.; A. J. Bartholomew, guest of William A. Kincaid; George D. Cornish, Madison, guest of W. Gilbert Baker.

Life Insurance At High Level

The proportion of people keeping their life insurance policies in full force, in spite of financial emergencies, is today at an all-time high. Approximately 98% of all ordinary policies in force at the start of the year became payable under the policy terms during the policy terms during the year or remained in force throughout the year.

Kiwanians are expected to invite a number of guests for the evening. Details of the evening's program will be announced at next week's luncheon meeting.

Scout Troop 262 Visits New York to See Hockey Game

"The Troop That Goes Places," Boy Scout Troop 262, journeyed on December 27 to New York to see the New York Rangers vs. Detroit Hockey Game at the Madison Square Garden. For many of the boys this was their first opportunity to see a hockey game. Reserved seats were obtained and those fathers who accepted an invitation to join their sons on the trip, showed just as much enthusiasm as the boys did for this sport. The game was delayed somewhat because of the late arrival of the Detroit team, due to a snow storm encountered enroute to New York.

Sport's writers the following day carried headline stories in the newspapers about the game which was close and spirited till the very end. While the hockey game was full of excitement and the boys all want to repeat that experience, the Troop voted at their last meeting to attend a double-header basketball game as their next winter sport attraction. So, if the reservations can be obtained, the Troop will again go to the Garden on February 9 to see Manhattan play St. Francis and N. Y. U. play Notre Dame.

These winter activities are sponsored by the Troop Committee. One of its members, Lee L. Davis, assumes the responsibility for reservations and other arrangements. However, come spring, there is much more in store for the boys of Troop 262. As soon as the weather permits, Malcolm Runyon, another member of the Troop Committee and in charge of camping and outdoor activities for the Troop, will get started with his spring program. Being interested in such activities, Mr. Runyon can lead the boys into adventures which are already in the discussion and planning stage. All of the scouts anticipate the approaching season when outdoor hikes and canoe trips into some of the most interesting, though not widely known, sections of New Jersey will be made available to Troop 262.

Several Deer Seen In Summit Center "Thrilling Sight"

The third report of deer in the center of Summit has been received by the Herald. Last week M. J. Nichols of Edgewood road, had a pair of deer visit his yard about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the second time they were seen in that neighborhood. Mr. Nichols said they seemed to have come from the valley near there, and that they were a lovely sight.

Tuesday of this week, a doe appeared on the lawn of the Hotel Beechwood and was seen by Mrs. William Lucas and Mrs. J. C. Fleming. She seemed to be wounded on the mouth as though she had run into something. A dog was chasing her and she was terribly frightened, running up the steps of Lincoln School and into the fence. She finally disappeared down the street toward Edgewood road, from which direction she had come. Mrs. Lucas said it was a thrilling sight.

Weapon Against

ty-three months we did not see the sun. Now we have come back to the village but it has been burnt from one end to the other. We have built some shacks from trees. The women are practically naked. They are ashamed to walk around out doors. The men wear lion cloths made of burlap. We have no means any more to wear shoes. The only help we ask is for shoes and clothing to cover our nakedness."

A cablegram from China stated: "Bed-ridden and helpless persons having no change of garments suffer dysentery, cholera and similar infectious diseases with the result they are lying in indescribable filth which is likely to reinfect them and to contaminate others. The sick, helpless and even well persons often are drenched and have no dry clothing.

"The cold weather adds the threat of gangrene and deaths from exposure. Finally, the serious need for clothing extends to normally self-sufficient classes, particularly white collar, educational and governmental employees whose income has fallen sharply below living costs. These groups have long since sold needed clothing as well as other possessions to secure funds for food."

From Czechoslovakia, where the winters are severe, a relief worker reports that children have to pool their clothes. To permit one child to go out two must remain in bed. The vice-Lord-Mayor of Prague had only one dress to wear.

The wife of a university professor writes from Belgium, "When you speak of Ordinary Things in your packages you do not realize our absolute lack of Ordinary Things, and that even a common handkerchief is a gift of importance to us. There has not been one single thing sent to us that has not given joy and made us feel grateful and touched. The children are happier with a pair of shoes or socks or a pretty colored sweater than with lollypops!"

Americans contributed sufficient clothing, shoes and bedding in the nation-wide clothing drive of April, the United National Clothing Collection, to aid 25,000,000 people in Europe, China and the Philippines. Supplementing the U. S. contributions, the people of Canada, Australia and New Zealand have given approximately 20 million pounds of used clothing for overseas relief But UNRRA reports that millions of other war victims are suffering and dying from lack of clothes.

To help meet these needs, the Victory Clothing Collection was organized. The American people are asked to contribute 100,000,000 serviceable used garments, with shoes and bedding in addition. Contributions will be shipped overseas promptly.

Official Health

two Health Board nurses made 3,886 visits, a drop of 92 compared with 1944.

Seventy-two plumbing plans were filed and 174 inspections made. The number of tenement inspections was 132, a little lower than in 1944. Total inspections made by Sanitary Inspector Walter Crann numbered 3,027. The report cites that many heat complaints were made last Winter.

Milk analyses were made at least once a week. This branch of health work is under supervision of the health officer and the sanitary inspector and has been carried on 27 years. In addition there are regular visits to dairies which supply Summit with milk.

It was pointed out there were only three deaths from pneumonia during 1945. This is six less than in 1944, "reflecting the efficiency of penicillin and sulpha drugs."

Report was made that all chicken permits will expire March 31. After that date it is expected permits will be granted only where it is feasible and where there might be a minimum of complaints from neighbors.

Through the foodhandlers' clinic and reported by the State Department of Health, the following venereal cases were located: 1944, two white and 23 colored or a total of 25; 1945, eight white and 27 colored or a total of 35. Five of the 35 cases reported in 1945 were given the quick and effective method of treatment, penicillin.

The board expressed considerable satisfaction over Summit's continued low mortality rate. The infant mortality rate for the State in 1944 was 33.9, the infant mortality rate for Summit in 1944 being 17.21 and last year, 17.3, or approximately one half that reported by the State.

As the food situation cleared following the War, it has become apparent to the board that the chicken permits in the City were not only too numerous, but the keeping of chickens by a number of citizens was becoming a nuisance.

Much discussion has been had relative to the keeping of chickens and the step to revoke all chicken permits on March 31, 1946 was well taken by the Health Commissioners.

A committee has been appointed by the Board to develop "proper regulations" for the control of this situation. It is expected that on and after March 31, 1946, permits will be granted only where it is feasible to keep chickens with a minimum of annoyance to surrounding neighbors.

During the year the Board set in motion a campaign to hunt tuberculosis in the developing industries in the area.

The Tuberculosis League has taken on the actual X-raying of employees. The campaign has been accepted by employers and employees as an excellent piece of work and one hundred and thirty employees have been X-rayed.

The State has organized a unit seeking to bring the benefits of Industrial Hygiene to the employees of small units. The Health Officer has had conferences with the State organization, and during the coming year the newly developed unit is expected to cover the City's industrial field.

At the organization meeting of the board prior to the regular meeting, Otis P. Williams was elected president to succeed himself, and Dr. C. Hartley Berry was re-elected vice-president. Mrs. Erick H. Wright took her seat for a term of three years to succeed herself.

German Children

the German people seemed the same to her, as before the war. Those who were pro-Nazi were so still, and those who were anti-Nazi also seem to believe the same way. Their minds all seemed to be muddled, with no personal feeling of responsibility for having allowed this thing to happen. Those who have remained anti-Nazi throughout have ideas but no plans and nothing strong upon which to build. The remnant of the Weimar movement are discouraged and make no advancement.

A few underground schools existed during the war in which normal ideas were taught. Some of these are continuing through the individual efforts of their teachers. Only one UNRRA camp will accept German children, Miss Wain said. In the Russian occupation zone, the children are in school, but the teachers are warned not to teach Nazi doctrines on pain of death. The French zone is troubled. Neither the French or Russians want to have jurisdiction over any more German territory. The American zone shows no signs of being directed toward any stated objective, as far as she could discover.

All these facts led Miss Wain to believe that the people of the United States stand on the threshold of a great opportunity—the rehabilitation of the children of the enemy. She advised setting up training schools for teachers, who will volunteer to go to that country and give their best to this task. Criminology springs up out of wrong conditions—therefore the establishment of right conditions by people who have given the problem much study, seems to be the best way to prevent the growth of more Nazi thinking. This kind of direction can not be given by conscripts, said Miss Wain.

German children first of all need food and clothing, just as the children of all the other European countries. The application of true Christianity, if it has the power Christian people profess to believe it has, should be the most effective instrument for use in this most desperate of all post-war situations.

Rev. David K. Barnwell, in his introduction of Miss Wain said that she and Pearl Buck, as western women, had given the best picture of the Orient to English speaking nations through their books.

pation is being frustrated by a reactionary policy on the part of the British government which sees its empire poised on the brink of an abyss. Ernest Bevin, British foreign secretary, has charged the Zionists with being extremists and seeks to deny the Jews a free and autonomous state which in truth would act as a bulwark for the tottering British Empire.

"It is the sacred duty of every Jew to use all possible spiritual weapons to attack the 'callous conscience' of mankind and rectify the false position of the Jewish people."

Continuity of Air Makes the World One Neighborhood

"The continuity of air has replaced the incontinuity of land and sea as a way of travel," said Miss Harriet Avery in her lecture, "Transitions to Air," Tuesday, January 8, at the YMCA.

Through this continuity the world is becoming one neighborhood, a flight fact, not a race fact, she said, and many prejudices will fade away. So many of the problems from which we suffer were caused by us humans, it is up to us to remedy them. We can if we will Miss Avery believes, and the acceptance of the air age will help in this. But the time is short in which to build up the necessary wisdom.

The first function of flying is to prevent war and to make peace perpetual; air power is essential to a proper share in policing the world, and to maintaining strength against aggression. Prosperity is part of the picture, too, and public opinion is of immense importance to the industry. The public will decide how great aviation is to become.

Aviation has already become a force, internationally. Russia is so immense and so situated that her planes can reach most other countries without crossing any borders but her own. This is not true of any other nation, and this brings up problems that are being discussed now, and that "are bogged down by experts," said Miss Avery, "who do not see the problem as a continuity of air, an uninterrupted ocean."

The progress in aviation is incredible, she said. She described the newest and contemplated passenger planes, with berths, kitchenetts, double decks, lounges, and dance floors, and reasonable prices for trips to many points, including a 30-day world encircling trip for business men. "Speed will depend on economic feasibility," she quoted.

What is needed now is a policy for aviation.

Any policy for aviation to be adopted by the United States must be backed up by public opinion, Miss Avery continued. She said that the meeting of about 100 platform speakers with the State department recently, was for the purpose of establishing a liaison between the public and the State Department, for the purpose of "funnelling the ideas of the department to the people and to funnel the reactions of the people back to the department." She said that the question asked most frequently by the public, according to the platform representatives present was "when will war with Russia come?"

An aviation policy needs to cover three fields, she said, policing, strength for the country, and commercial. This should lead the public to think differently about taxes, as planes become out of date in two years, and should be discarded; while research into new types need great financing, a financing to take place through private contributions, and through public contributions to be passed on to private research; commercial aviation as well as military, has run into the problem of international boundaries, which will have to be settled before it can get into full action.

Plus Flavor Tips

The following ideas for giving extra flavor to meat dishes are suggested by Jessie Alice Cline, home economist:

A clove of garlic tucked into the joint of a leg of lamb gives the meat a deliciously different flavor.

Put a bay leaf in the pan with roast pork or braised pork chops.

Use sour cream for the liquid when making veal or lamb gravy.

If the national debt were divided among all citizens, it would amount to $1,900 for each citizen, says the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

A pilot has approximately four minutes to find a place to land if he is at 3,000 feet and an emergency landing is necessary.

In the transition of civilization from the horse and buggy age into this new high speed mechanized era, one of the essentials, not yet solved, for the safety and survival of mankind is the problem of control.

With the horse and buggy, the question of control was quite simple. The one who sat in the driver's seat exercised control through the bit in the horse's mouth and by means of the lines held firmly by the hands directed the animal to turn to the right or left, to go straight ahead, to stop or to back up. The whip also held by the hand served as the speed control. Many horses had good heads and were more able to find their way home than their drivers, especially when the driver lost control by the use of ardent spirits. Furthermore with the slow moving driver and horse, there were always four eyes and four ears on the alert for the unexpected. The eyes and ears of the horse were often quicker to detect danger than the driver.

In driving an automobile, the control still resides in the mind of the driver, turning to the right or left being made through the hands to the steering wheel while the starting, stopping and speed control are made through the feet to the starter, brakes and accelerator. The driver with only two eyes and two ears and ten times the speed needs to be far more alert to transmit messages from the eyes and ears to the hands and feet.

Just as it is the natural instinct of the horse to slow up and graze along the roadside when the driver releases control, so it is in people when the will power is weak, the body delights in the greater and greater indulgence by its various members in doing what feels good or tastes good while the educated head (the driver) knows that it is not the right thing to do and may be detrimental to the body as a whole and to its human relationships. Thus the lack of control permits the eating of too much food, a toxic condition results that slows up the transmission of messages from the eyes and ears to the hands and feet. A similar condition results when there is too much work or exercise with insufficient rest. Likewise a toxic condition, lack of control and the inability to make quick and accurate decisions results from the habitual use of coffee, tea, chocolate, colas, tobacco, alcohol and drugs.

If you happen to be the victim of any of these "slower uppers," try to regain control over the members of the body by overcoming the deleterious body demands. You will be delighted with your stronger centralized control and you will thus be able to make a valuable contribution towards the better control of the affairs of yourself, your Country and of the World. Try it. It will add to your prestige to be known as one who has overcome the forces of destruction and gained control.

Nature Club's January Bird Count Less Than Estimate

The Summit Nature Club's January census was none too effective, reported James B. Hawley to the Summit Nature Club last night.

The count, although greater than the Christmas census, should have been much larger, he continued. The hindering factor, however, was the unseasonable weather which took away the covering of deep snow. Thus warm weather, warm bodies and the available natural food kept the birds away from the many feeding stations. The feeding activity at the feeders varies directly with the favorable or unfavorable weather. Heavy snows and ice storms reduce the natural food nearly to zero. Intense and prolonged cold temperatures cause the birds to feed almost continuously in order to keep their bodies warm. In the winter season with snow on the ground the few natural sources of food, at best, are relatively scanty, difficult to get and probably palatable only as a recourse in time of famine. "We therefore need real winter weather to bring our friendly birds to our outdoor canteens and thereby help us to make good count of the number of birds in the area," said Mr. Hawley.

Accordingly the club's first census count during the first week in January, shows a total of 943 birds for the area representing 28 different species. Sixteen stations reporting an average count of about 60 birds. The number of permanent residents was 610, winter visitants 247, winter-overs 23 and transient visitations 63. The distribution of these birds by areas was 203 in Chatham, 192 in Summit north of the tracks, 480 south of the tracks and 68 in Short Hills. The unusual recordings were the evening grosbecks, flickers, cedar waxwings, mourning doves, chewink or towhee, goldfinches, ruby-crowned kinglet, mocking bird, and herring gulls.

"In the February census, if the weather is favorable, the different species ought to increase to 30 and the total count to 1,500 and over. In order to make our status of bird population more complete we shall need stations in the Glenwood and Lake Shore Drive sections of Short Hills and in the Murray Hill area. If anyone herein is willing to help us, please notify James B. Hawley, 51 Tulip street, Summit, or call Su. 6-1514," the report concluded.

Birth Record Broken At Overlook Hospital

When seven babies arrived at Overlook Hospital in the hours between 12:28 p m., Thursday, January 10 and 7:50 a. m., Friday, January 11, the record was broken for number of births within a given space of time.

This was more of a rush in the same number of hours than happened in the peak of the month in Overlook history—last October, when 126 babies were born there.

MONTCLAIR—The two draft boards of this town are to be tendered a testimonial dinner some time in March. The Lions Club will tender the testimonial, according to an announcement by the club's president, C. Henry Klaubert. While the work of the boards has dropped off since the war days, boards must still function until the last draftee is discharged. John W. Crasbaugh, Jr., chairman of the committee, had this to say: "The Lions Club is happy to sponsor this testimonial affair, for these men have given long and freely of their time, rendering a service beyond comprehension. It is indeed a rare privilege for our club to pay tribute to these outstanding citizens of our community."

RAMSEY—This town does not want industry, even in units as small as eight personnel. That's the decision of Borough Council as the answer to a New York manufacturer seeking a location. This manufacturer had a small factory here before the war which he was forced to suspend. Councilman John D. Kappeler, who fathered the resolution, expressed himself as wanting Ramsey "to remain as a place where 'tired business men' may return to peace and quiet at the end of the day." He said he was aware of the tax value represented by the business, but did not like the confusion a factory would bring to the community. Council backed Mr. Kappeler up.

RIDGEWOOD — Police here think they did a good job in recovering stolen property last year. Mayor Rurode, commissioner of public safety reported to the Commissioners that Chief Sommerock had listed with him that stolen property amounted to $18,603.64 of which $15,364.95 had been recovered which was 85 per cent recovery. It was also said that $7,300 worth was recovered for outside municipalities. All stolen cars, 17, were recovered.

MADISON—Kiwanian A. J. Harman, real estate dealer, has a record for attendance at sessions of that club. He has not missed a meeting in 20 years, for which he received honors on January 7 at the anniversary dinner at The Brook, Morris turnpike, Millburn. Mr. Harman was presented with a plaque for his perfect record. Presentation was made by William L. Thebault and Ralph Parker.

ORANGE—It is reported that $25,000,000 passed over the counters of retail merchants of this municipality during 1945. It is expected an increase will be shown this year, according to Bennett Herman, president of the Orange Merchants Association, provided strikes and reconversion can be settled. Like many other municipalities, Orange is faced with the lack of necessary parking space if business is to grow, it is also stated.

FLORHAM PARK — Borough Council is after dog owners. All such have been warned to get tags for their animals at once for 1946, else they may have to visit the pound and retrieve a bow-wow if they want him or her. It is said dogs have long proved a problem for the Borough. Chief Theodore Slate has been advised to provide a pound for the strays running at large without licenses. At the Council session Councilman Robert Lorce was commended for his service of fifteen years. A resolution that all expenditures in excess of $25 must be approved, other than recurring regular expenses.

RUTHERFORD — Those making bank deposits should take a tip from Jones and not leave $10's and $20's (or of any other denomination) lying around. Mr. Jones was preparing his deposit slip in a local bank and went to a teller's window for a minute. That was plenty long enough for when he returned for his money—$260 in bills of above denomination it wasn't there. Mr. Jones reported his loss to the police and at the same time said he had asked bank officials to notify him in case the cash turned up.

You can spot Miron Worsteds a mile away

There's no mistaking the beautiful sheen of Miron's satin-smooth Imperial Gabardine or the rich texture of their Custom Worsteds. Their quality is outstanding. It's evident in the distinction they give the simplest shirtwaist suit, the flair they have for dramatizing a swirl-skirted tunic or wing-wide sleeves. It's obvious in their flattery of feminine figures. With body enough to tailor crisply, suppleness enough to yield to dressmaker details and an affinity for taking true-hue colors, these magnificent fabrics were made to order for this season's new, softer suit silhouettes. And when such inspirational beauty is put into the hands of talented designers like Carmel and Molly you can spot the exciting results a mile away. But, for closer inspection and appreciation, see these Miron worsted masterpieces in our Third Floor Fashion Center.

MARCH OF DIMES

Dimes—millions of them—are marching forward today in battle array like the Roman legions of old against the enemy, but not like those legions to leave dead, dying and wounded in their wake.

These dimes of which we speak have the legion's determined way of marching but they are marching forward not to conquer and destroy but are on an errand of mercy bent, to assist and alleviate and cure those of our country who have been attacked by that dread disease—poliomyelitis.

Infantile paralysis strikes without warning, strikes with the speed of a serpent, leaving its victim pain-racked and tortured, often with a twisted body. And the dimes are ready to help a victim of the disease. And the more dimes that join the march the more sufferers are reached. Money and more money is needed in the fight. Give a dime, give ten dimes. Your dime can aid a sufferer. Give today so that the suffering of some one afflicted may have attention. Bear in mind that your child or your neighbor's might be attacked tomorrow.

Mayor Maxwell Lester, Jr., is honorary chairman; Postmaster Daniel J. Fitzpatrick is general chairman, Mrs. Thomas L. Smith is vice-chairman. Mrs. Reginald F. Pearson of 316 Summit avenue is the treasurer, to whom checks should be mailed.

POTPOURRI

One of our up-State contemporaries (to be specific, the New Jersey Herald of Newton) carried a story in its last week's issue of a local merchant of that town who took the clothing drive to heart. He went through his stock in trade and weeded out clothing he had had on the shelves in his store for several years past and for which he decided there would be no sale. He gave it to the clothing collection—half a carload, 'tis said. The collection committee felt good and the merchant felt good, too. We pass it along.

Larry May, chairman of the Legion's Salvage Committee, expressed himself as pleased with the tons of wastepaper collected on the last two Sundays. Citizens evidently saved Christmas and New Year present wrappings, as well as the regular wastepaper that is left from shopping packages. That's good for Summit. Mr. May also says that paper is still needed and asks all to save for the next collections, which will be announced in the Herald. He says no need to save tin.

If you are interested in Summit public schools, and of course you are, we hope you read the account of the talk on the subject given by A. J. Bartholomew, director of secondary education in our schools. Summit High School has received in nine criteria fields seven ratings of being "very superior." This is all we will say here. Read the speech for details.

There is still half a week left for the clothing drive. That's plenty of time to get a package together and delivered to the collection depots—the public schools and St. Teresa's school. Nevertheless, the chairman of the collection, Salem Boorujy, says not to dally too long and miss the boat. Get the package in as soon as you can.

Mayor Lester warns that now with the emergency over, the regulation requiring parking lights will again come into active enforcement. More cars on the roads, more night parking will come. Two weeks' notice is being given that all may be warned in time. At the expiration of that time law enforcement officers will tag your car if parking lights are not on. Start right now and become used to again turning the right switch.

Summit was troubled with the strike that cut off telephone communication the latter part of last week. It only bothered subscribers seriously for a couple of days, when emergency crews took over and most were able to get calls through, though waiting was necessary in many instances.

League of Women Voters Public Opinion Poll

SUMMIT SAYS

Now that the war is over, should people in the U. S. continue to put up with present shortages of butter, sugar, meat and other rationed food products in order to give food to people who need it in Europe?

Yes—70% No—21% Undecided—9%

Summit residents evidently are aware of the critical situation abroad with regard to food shortages. All groups interviewed, those under 40 and those over 40, both male and female, were overwhelmingly in favor of sending food to people who need it in Europe. It should be noted that they approved the sending of food even if it meant putting up with continued shortages of certain foods in the United States. Of the 21% who answered "no" to this question, a number mentioned fear of inefficiency in distribution as the reason for their reply.

Mrs. H. A. Sprout, State Foreign Policy Chairman of the League, in her analysis of the Summit poll, says, "The breakdown by sexes produced a surprising but unmistakable trend. The women were definitely more favorable than the men! Here are the figures:

	Yes	No	Undecided
Women over 40	79%	17%	4%
Women under 40	82%	16%	2%
Men over 40	70%	29%	1%
Men under 40	69%	27%	4%

The League of Women Voters believes that aside from the humanitarian reasons for sharing of our abundance of food with those who need it, it is important to the permanent peace of the world that Europe recover quickly. Stable and democratic governments are not likely to develop on a starving continent.

Summit High

in February, 1945 at the high school reviewing the faculty's evaluation, visiting classes, and in general surveying the school, its facilities, staff, and functioning. The formal report of this committee was received by the school last October. The scale of ratings used by the committee: very inferior, average, superior, and very superior.

As was explained by Mr. Bartholomew, the report of the committee was too comprehensive for full statements. A composite of Mr. Bartholomew's presentations to the two service clubs follows:

School Evaluation

"The evaluation of the educational process has always been a difficult procedure. This is because many of the objectives of the process if realized are intangibles or be checked only through the study of the behavior of the individual through years following school. However, a large amount of research and considerable thinking has been done in the field of school evaluation. Accrediting agencies and state departments of education have always used certain standards for the approval of schools. The most successful attack on this evaluation problem to date is that of the Cooperative Study of Secondary School Standards. Begun in 1932, financed by the six regional accrediting associations and a grant from a national foundation, costing approximately $200,000, employing the most competent services available, it produced by 1940, a plan of school evaluation, for secondary schools, that is now being used nationally. Very briefly this study eventuated in a set of comprehensive criteria to be used by a faculty and a visiting committee of experts in arriving at some fair evaluation of a given school.

"In the main the argument behind the plan is this: superior schools (superior in the judgement of experts and their expertness is in general fortified by research and prevailing opinion) make certain provisions for effective education. These provisions relate to the school's objectives, the characteristics of the community and the school population, its curriculum, instruction, its pupil activity program, its guidance facilities, its staff, the plant and physical facilities, and its administration. If a searching analysis of the various areas shows that a school is making fairly adequate provision in all or most of these features, then the school may be said to be doing a good job. True the plan provides that the results in these features may be portrayed on scales or "thermometers" that give national and sectional norms. But the study also points out that after all these experts are only human beings and consequently there is nothing objective about a subjective judgement indicated in percentiles.

"One more word, however, needs to be said about the Cooperative Study evaluation plan. The process of self evaluation involved is probably one of the finest professional experiences in which any group of teachers can engage. The serious study and answering of some 500 or more questions about all phases of the school is bound to stimulate improvement.

Curriculum

1. The courses of study in the several areas were well prepared and showed that a good deal of thought and study had been given them.

2. The philosophy is excellent and the curricula are turned toward its realization.

3. The school recognizes and attempts, with a good deal of success, to provide material in different fields suited to pupils of varying abilities and interests.

Pupils Activities

"The following characteristics are especially deserving of commendation:

1. The general wholesome attitude of the students toward the Activity program.

2. The excellent service of the aid-the-war-effort committees. The interest of the pupils in these is keen and their accomplishment is noteworthy.

3. The opportunity which the students have to face realistically the many problems which arise in the student activities program. This is exemplified by the manner in which the composition of the Student Council was changed about a year ago. The committee feels that the school is making an honest attempt to provide practice in the ways of democratic living and that its guidance in these matters is wise and sympathetic.

Library Service

"In library service, the committee thinks the following characteristics are deserving of commendation:

1. Attractive, accessible room, available at all times, adequately supervised.

2. Spirit of ease in the library and cooperation between the librarian and students.

3. Efficient set-up of material.

Guidance Service

"The school is to be particularly commended for the educational guidance which it is providing. The four counsellors in cooperation with the principal are doing an outstanding piece of work in this respect. Each student receives individual attention in the planning of the courses which he pursues from year to year.

Instruction

"The committee wishes to commend the fine attitude which seems to exist between teachers and students. Wherever this exists to such a degree as in this school, the foundation for an outstanding school has been well laid. Students seem well prepared; they show evidence of good work habits. Stress on thoroughness seems to be an outstanding characteristic of the instruction.

Outcomes

"It seems quite obvious that the present social and personal attitudes of students are on a very high plane and that they are building very commendable and worthwhile appreciations. The committee finds that students are very appreciative of their opportunities, of the contributions which the school is making to them, and of their part in maintaining a wholesome and constructive school environment.

"The committee particularly wishes to point out the following as deserving of special commendation:

1. Objective evidence plus subjective evaluation indicates that the school is doing a good job of preparing pupils for college entrance.

2. There is evidence to support contention that pipils are being fitted to take their places in the environment represented by the school and community.

School Plant

"The community and Board of Education are to be commended on the attractive building and facilities which they have provided for its youth. The committee feels that the following specific items are deserving of special commendation.

1. Central location — within roughly two miles of any point in town.

2. The school site and plant are excellent in respect to architectural design and landscaping.

School Administration

"The general attitudes of both students and faculty reflect a favorable, democratic, and progressive administrative policy. The organization of the school and a consciousness of certain deficiencies and short-comings in the school show much planning and thought. All this reveals a high level of competency on the part of the administrator.

"The report also recommended that certain areas be studied by staff, administration, and Board of Education for possible improvement. This of course is the part of the report of most value. In many cases the recommendations for improvement are the same ones arrived at by the staff in their study.

"The most outstanding recommendations referred to guidance and to the school plant. To quote:

Guidance

"In order that the community may realize a much larger return on its investment, the committee strongly recommends that the following additional facilities be provided just as soon as circumstances will permit. Provision should be made for vocational guidance and for placement and follow-up service. If this provision is made, adequate clerical help should be included. There is a definite need for a full-time guidance and placement director whose responsibility would be to assist the principal in the direction and coordination of all the guidance services, direct placement and follow-up, and to become expert in the guidance of ex-service men especially in matters concerning further education under the G. I. Bill of Rights. This problem will soon be upon the school. Already someone should be preparing for it.

"It is of considerable satisfaction to the staff to know that through the action of the Board of Education this recommendation had been fully met before the report was received.

School Plant

"The committee strongly recommends that the following additional facilities be provided just as soon as circumstances will permit.

1. Specially equipped rooms for:
   a. home economics
   b. music
   c. mechanical drawing
   d. storage
   e. medical rooms with sufficient equipment and cots for both boys and girls.
   f. adequate facilities in women teachers' room.

2. A well-equipped cafeteria ample in size to take care of all students. A separate dining room for the staff should be provided.

The school is greatly handicapped in working out the best possible program due to the long time which must be provided for a lunch period.

3. An additional gymnasium is needed together with a larger outdoor play area.

4. The field house at the Memorial field requires extension and improvement of shower and locker facilities.

5. The entire arrangement for girls showers needs to be definitely redesigned so that at least 20 showers are available at one time."

'First Grade Birds' Washington School Children's Project

When Miss Virginia Oliver, first grade teacher at Washington School, read the children an adaptation of an old story about how the French people put bits of food on the trees for the birds at Christmas time she says that she could not have foreseen the response on the part of her young pupils.

The class undertook a project of bird housing and feeding with a dispatch "which should be emulated by those trying to furnish lodgings for returning veterans," some one said.

A bird house—prominently labeled "First Grade Birds"—was put on the back of the Neighborhood House garage, with permission, of course. Then the whole class (teacher included) started climbing trees and shrubs in the immediate vicinity of the school, hanging various kinds of tempting goodies for the winter feathered friends.

One concoction, a conglomeration of suet, lard, and flour, was made especially to attract the mockingbirds, one primary child insisted. Another delicacy resembling a present-day candy bar, was discovered to contain a large variety of seeds, nuts, and ingredients designed to give the birds a balanced diet, all blended together with suet.

One little fellow tried to dislodge a few of the peanuts embedded in the lumps, but his teacher caught him before he could do away with a substantial part of the birds' feast.

Hunks of suet and fat-back were tied to boards and hung from branches of trees, also, while generous-sized pieces of bread were strewn over the ground.

Miss Oliver admitted that she didn't know quite what to expect when she read the children the story about the feeding of the birds in France. She sincerely hoped the children would think out the project for themselves. Her pride, she admitted, was not in her idea but in the fact that the youngsters, with no adult prodding, themselves evolved the idea which found expression this past week.

The pellets of food were made in the school kitchen by the children with materials they themselves procured. Lard, old fat, and suet were rendered down and used as a basis for the various tempting morsels. The lumps were molded in the bottoms of sanitary drinking cups.

Oh, yes! The birds got dessert, too!

Strings of raisins were also hung from branches of various trees and bushes nearby, to round out a perfect balance of vitamins, minerals, and carbohydrates for the birds of North Summit.

The Weather—Believe It Or Not!

Local residents are still shivering from the cold spell which gripped this area on Wednesday and sent the thermometer dropping toward the zero point. Although the sun shone on Wednesday with unaccustomed brilliance, its rays did little to mitigate the frigid weather which is about as cold as any felt so far this winter. A gradual rise in the temperature is predicted on Thursday, accompanied by cloudy skies and possible snow flurries.

Special thanks to The Priests of St. Theresa's Church, Mother Cabrini Society and The Brough Dodson Funeral Directors for prompt and very efficient service.

WITH THE ARMED Services

Dr. J. M. Atkinson On Terminal Leave After Army Service

Dr. John M. Atkinson of 98 Greenwood avenue, Madison, is on terminal leave after 42 months' service with the Army Medical Corps. During that time he served as Battalion Surgeon with the 45th Infantry Division and participated in the invasions of Sicily, Salerno and Anzio.

In addition to the Purple Heart which he was awarded for minor wounds sustained at Salerno, Dr. Atkinson holds the Silver Star for gallantry in action. His citation reads: "During the heavy fighting of the Salerno Bridgehead, Captain Atkinson came forward from his Aid Station to administer blood plasma to several seriously wounded men of the First Battalion, 157th Infantry. The only route to the wounded men from the Aid Station was under heavy enemy artillery mortar and direct machine gun fire. Upon learning of the wounded men, Captain Atkinson, without hesitation or regard for his own safety, proceeded across this open ground which was under constant enemy observation and fire. He calmly completed his work though this area was under a heavy concentration of artillery and mortar fire. During the shelling his driver was wounded. Captain Atkinson personally carried him to a place of safety, then aided in the evacuation of the other wounded men. Captain Atkinson's gallant action definitely saved the lives of three men and served as an inspiration to all who witnessed it. His performance is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military Medical Corps."

Since his return from overseas in 1944, Dr. Atkinson has been stationed at Fort Meade, Md., where he has been doing orthopedic surgery.

Dr. Atkinson is a graduate of Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons and was in practice in Madison for seven years before entering the Army, also on the Overlook hospital staff in Summit and the Memorial Hospital in Morristown. After an extended trip to Florida, Texas and California, Dr. and Mrs. Atkinson will return to Madison.

C., where he was assigned to the office of Counsel for the Bureau of Aeronautics and there did legal work in connection with the purchase of Corsair Fighter planes. While in Washington his duties also included working on a special project for the Secretary of the Navy, the "Eberstadt Report" which delt with the proposed unification of the Army and Navy.

Upon his return to civilian life, Mr. Moser will become a partner in the law firm of Curtis & Belknap of 1 Wall street, New York City, where he was employed as an associate for nine years prior to his enlistment in the Navy.

The Strongest Argument

We, who have seen the terrible consequences of infantile paralysis among the children of America, are only too conscious of the need for contributing to the annual March of Dimes, January 14-31.

Those familiar and distressing sights—the shrunken limbs, the twisted bodies, the awkward locomotion, the crutches, wheelchairs and all the other reminders of this terrible scourge—are in themselves the strongest argument for supporting the work of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Every cent contributed to this organization works for victims of infantile paralysis. It is used for care and treatment, for research into the cause and prevention of the disease, for emergency aid in epidemic areas, and for training doctors, nurses and physical therapists in modern techniques.

It is the determination of the National Foundation, that infantile paralysis shall be conquered. The people of America share in that determination, and through contributions to the March of Dimes they take an active part in the unrelenting fight against the Great Crippler.

Agricultural Agent Suggests Specific Plantings in Towns

Now that the war is over a great many homeowners are again finding more time to spend on ornamentals and home grounds planting. In many sections of the country this interest has always been community-wide, and there are numerous examples of communities noted for their wide use of specific plants, says Fred D. Osman, Union County agricultural agent.

Portland, for instance, has an enviable reputation for its roses, Savannah for azaleas, Charleston—a city of gardens—for its lovely azalea and camellia plantings, Hewitson for the Crepe Myrtle that flanks the approaches to this Texas town.

Right here in New Jersey Essex Fells is noted for its striking dogwood planting. New Jersey's Blue Star Drive, the World War II memorial planting of dogwood on Route 29, is attracting nationwide attention. In one garden club of the state, each member planted two hollies of a recommended variety this year. Sea Girt, especially favored with native holly, has taken steps to protect the plant.

It is quite possible for any community to do as these have done by selecting one or two plants which grow especially well in the locality and encouraging residents of the community to use them extensively. Such a plan will not hinder the use of a diversity of other plants in home grounds, of course. To the contrary, it may stimulate an even greater interest in home gardening.

There are many varieties of crabapples now being developed and offered in nurseries and doubtless many more will be available before long. They offer possibilities for community planting and are particularly adapted to growing conditions here in the northeast. There are no handsomer flowering trees than the crabapples when they are in bloom in late April or early May, and they can be used in small backyard plantings as well as in larger garden plans. Among the shrubs, there are endless possibilities. Lilac, Flowering Quince, the spireas, and the viburnums, to mention a few, could be used advantageously to make any small community more attractive. And, of course, American Holly, where it can be protected against vandalism, should be restored to our landscape.

Communities that decide upon distinctive plantings such as these might well combine the efforts and facilities of gardening clubs, local nurserymen, florists, real-estate men, landscape gardeners, and all civic-minded residents of the community. It is a project that will add not only to the beauty of the town but to its value from the real estate standpoint as well.

Wedded Bliss

Golden wedding anniversaries are usually celebrated with cakes and a dinner with the grandchildren, but Mr. and Mrs. Fred McMaster of Riverside, Calif., spent theirs differently this fall. They both turned up for work in the American Red Cross volunteers' production corps where they have done a record stint since 1942.

Union County Farmers Mark 77th Anniversary By Dinner at Flagship

More than 200 Union county farmers celebrated the 77th anniversary of the Union County Board of Agriculture at the Flagship on Route 29 in Union, Thursday evening January 10.

Speakers including Freeholder Charles E. Smith, Dr. William H. Martin, director of the New Jersey College of Agriculture and secretary of Agriculture W. H. Allen, congratulated the farmers on their substantial contribution to food production in spite of labor and machinery shortages during the war years.

Dr. Martin related the history of Streptomycin a new anti-biotic developed at the New Jersey Experiment Station and told of an actual incident of a farmer suffering from a persistant infection that finally was cured by this Steptomycin, a fungus material developed from the soil itself which the farmer had tilled for many years. The connecting link between the material and the farmer is the research work done at the Experiment station. As an example of many research projects being carried on, Martin stressed the need of larger quarters and equipment at the Station for the speedier development of all these projects for the benefit of mankind and urged the support of Union County farmers in bringing these new facilities into being.

Secretary Allen stressed the accomplishment of Union County farmers in being able to produce profitably in a county where high priced land added to the burden of the farmer. He presented to the president, Walter M. Ritchie a block and gravel made up of various hard woods contributed from a farm in each of the townships in the county as a symbol of cooperation among the farmers of the county.

Home Front Accidents Exceed War Casualties

Accidents are more costly in human lives than war. Total combat deaths in World War II were about 265,000 and about 650,000 were wounded; while during the same period accidents on the home front killed 355,000 persons and injured 36,000,000, of whom 1,250,000 suffered some permanent disability.

"EVERY MAN DECIDETH"

"It happened to me once," said L. P. Jacks, "that I was inspecting a picture of Fra Angelico—one of those lovely visions of angels in Paradise, which he is said to have painted on his knees—my companion being a boy of nine or ten years old who was paying his first visit to a picture gallery. Lost in my study of the adoring and radiant figures, I had forgotten the boy at my side, when suddenly he broke into my reverie with a question for which I was not prepared. 'How long,' he asked, 'will the angels keep on saying their prayers?' 'Well,' I said, 'a long time. You see they are very happy.' 'But won't their knees get tired?' 'Well, if they do,' I said perhaps not very wisely, 'they will get up and take a walk in that beautiful meadow you see at the back of the picture.' 'And what will the angels do next—after they have walked in the meadow?' 'Then,' I answered, and the answer was most unfortunate, 'I think they will come back to where they are now and go on with their prayers.' At this the child burst into tears. 'I don't want to be an angel,' he cried between his sobs."

One is not challenging the efficacy of sincere prayer in saying that too frequently our only approach to human problems is religious-like resignation. In a time when a desperate world needs creative and imaginative faith in the future, a common answer is to return to a static normalcy in which our vision of "what to do next" is limited to a pious prayer for relief from responsibility.

This is a new year—and we are stirred to new resolutions. Let us build on resolve for the future rather than regret over the past. We are at last acutely confronted with a choice we cannot escape—we do something about our problems or they do something with us. There is no cloistered complacency to which we can retreat as we think of the urgencies about us. We must choose what to do next—in our communities, in our nation, and in our world.

If we are wise then we shall begin with ourselves and resolve inwardly to fight any stupid sense of superiority which stifles our creative outlook. The world moves on under implacable necessity. We can choose to go back to pray over it in angelic isolation or we can go forward to work in it for the good of man and for the glory of God. John Oxenham's verse was never more appropriate than on the threshold of an atomic age:

"To every man there openeth a high way and a low,
And every man decideth which way he will go."

General Secretary, Summit Y. M. C. A.

Unitarianism Is About As Old As Protestantism

"The Unitarian movement is practically as old as Protestantism. The Reformation is usually dated from the year 1517, when Luther posted his theses at Wittenburg. It was only fourteen years later that Servetus in 1531, through the publication of his first book in criticism of the trinity, initiated the Unitarian movement." So said Dr. Jacob Trapp in the first of four lectures on "Liberal Religion" at the Community Church, on January 9.

The earliest organized Unitarianism is found in Italy, where some sixty churches, in 1550, held a conference defining ten points of belief, one of which had to do with the oneness of God and the humanity of Jesus. Driven out of Italy by the Inquisition, the movement spread to Switzerland, Poland, Transylvania, and other centers, whence it came eventually to England and America, continued Dr. Trapp.

The oldest Unitarian churches in the world with a continuous history are those in Transylvania and Hungary, which will celebrate the 400th anniversary of their founding in 1968. It was in Transylvania that the name Unitarian was officially adopted in 1632, he said.

"Unitarianism," said Dr. Trapp in answer to a question during the discussion period, "is the oldest of Christian doctrines. The trinitarian doctrine was a slow development of theological thought, and was not officially promulgated until the Council of Chalcedon in 451 A. D. It is a post-biblical doctraine, not to be found in the teachings of Paul or the Gospel writers. The only text in which it is hinted at (1 John 5:7) was found by Erasmus and subsequent scholars to have been a later interpolation, and is omitted from the American Revised Version."

Bishop Oxnam Bids All Churches Unite To Solve Problems

"One factor influencing people in the direction of religious scepticism, is the belief that God turns a deaf ear to human prayer," asserted Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, resident Bishop of the New York Area and president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, in a sermon delivered at the Methodist Church service on Sunday, January 13.

"Although Christ prayed much, few people realize that the majority of His prayers were never answered. In many respects His prayers were not unlike our own, since His problems bore a painful resemblance to many which confront us today. When He uttered the words, 'take this cup from me' in the Garden of Gethsemane, His emotion must have been akin to what millions experienced in the great war just concluded. Jesus loved life and hated death as much as the healthiest man today. Furthermore He led a blameless life, free from sin and did nothing but good as long as He lived which must have made death an even more bitter experience for Him.

"Conscious of sin, intolerance and poverty about Him, Christ was neither idealist nor perfectionist. He prayed for the solution of economic problems and His words, 'give us this day our daily bread,' were a response to the cry for sustenance which has been the same throughout the ages.

"The teachings of Christ can never take hold in a climate of economic chaos in which starvation and poverty are permitted to exist. The European situation presents a challenge to Christian democracies to utilize their vast productive capacity in order to realize the land of abundance and plenty which Christ had in mind when he uttered the words 'Thy kingdom come.' This land of plenty can be only be achieved in the framework of democratic principles which recognize the dignity of man and the worth of the individual."

Bishop Oxnam concluded by expressing the hope that the UNO structure be supplemented by the addition of a great church which would represent all denominations. He felt that the individual should look within himself and there seek the spirit with which to unify the Church and spread the doctrine of Christ throughout the world.

Light For the Way And Faith in Bible Radio Addresses

In his first radio talk of 1946, on January 2, over Mutual, Rev. David K. Barnwell quoted Joshua—"Ye have not passed this way before." This is both the thrilling and disquieting thing about entering a new year, he said. No one has gone this way before.

It is a thrilling hour in which to be living—not a comfortable nor secure time but a tremendous time. It is probable that the greatest adventure of all history is offered to our generation. The profound question is whether we shall be equal to our opportunity.

The direction God bids us take is forward, not back to the old mistakes, the stupidities that have landed us again and again in bankruptcy and war, he continued. Our goal had better be nothing short of the Kingdom of God on earth. Anything less will be disaster. Groups striving for special privileges will inevitably set the traps of doom. The life of the world must rest upon justice for all. All is futile until men build upon rock—namely the very righteousness and justice laid down clearly in the word of God.

Ineradicable convictions undergirded by a great assurance will help man towards his goal. As the psalm says: "The Lord is my light and my salvation, whom shall I fear?" Unless the spiritual light can match the physical light of the atomic bomb, we may be doomed, and the sands of ignominy will blow upon the tomb of our defeated civilization.

"Faith—in the Bible" was Mr. Barnwell's January 9 topic. He said: There are several levels of faith. The lowest one is faith based on belief, even without understanding. The next level is based upon trust—trust in the Bible as life's great guide, although some things in it may be embroidered or legendary or not literally true.

The third or highest level of faith is one's courage to live one's beliefs under fire. "Our times cry out for persons of faith—that is, with courage to live their creeds."

"Let no one suspect that the war is over. The factors that turned Germany barbaric, that disintegrated the very fiber of France are seeping through every country, including our own. Even here we can be engulfed by the ideas and motives that made Nazis. No comfortable assurance on our part that the good old democratic processes alone will muddle through will be enough to avert disaster.

"The only thing that will save the atomic age will be great convictions courageously lived," he concluded.

Mission Study Day For Women January 29

The Women's Department of the Summit Council of Churches will hold a mission study and discussion day at St. John's Lutheran Church Tuesday, January 29. There will be sessions from 10 to 12 and from 1 to 3. Two textbooks, "The Cross Over Africa" by Booth and "Christianity Where You Live" by Underwood will form the basis of study. Miss Dorothy A. Stevens, secretary of the department of missionary education of the Board of Education of the Northern Baptist Convention, will speak and lead the study. Women of all the Summit churches are cordially invited to participate.

Dr. Chanter Hopes To Arouse Interest In Studying Bible

"My aim in giving these four talks on the Bible is to arouse in you the desire to know more about the book. People cannot learn without working at it, and all I can do is to get some of you excited enough to do this," began Dr. William G. Chanter, professor of English Bible at Drew Seminary, in his first lecture on "The Bible and How to Use It," in the Religious Training School being conducted in the Presbyterian parish house each Tuesday evening through February 12.

"The Bible is not yours until you know what is in it."

The Bible is not a book, it is a library. In its 66 books written over a period of 2,000 years, it reflects many different circumstances, purposes, personalities; it contains all kinds of poetry, the lyric poetry of the psalms, the didactic poetry of the prophets, Dr. Chanter continued.

With all its variety, the Bible has one great theme, drawn from many points of view—the persistent drive of great religious development. The conception of God as being transcendently holy but with love for mankind, who belongs to God, is the central idea of the Bible. When man loses God he is lost.

The tendency in this generation is to ignore the Bible, which has been the floor of literacy under man for centuries. If the floor is taken away, what will happen? The Bible should be read, not as literature alone, but as the Word of God, Dr. Chanter stated. The Bible reveals God, but unless men have within them the desire of the discovery of God in the Bible, the revelation can not be made. If people choose to die, even God can not bring them back to life.

Unless people set themselves to understand the Bible by reading it, the future of the Protestant Church is pretty thin; it will lose its vitality and power, which was born and nourished on the study of the cast, the January 19 per- The world needs this book.

Is it too cold to open the garage doors while you warm up the car on these winter mornings? Maybe it's chilly, but cold air is better than carbon monoxide, says the National Safety Council, pointing out that 196 persons met death from automobile exhaust gas in 1943.

"EVERY MAN DECIDETH"

"It happened to me once," said L. P. Jacks, "that I was inspecting a picture of Fra Angelico—one of those lovely visions of angels in Paradise, which he is said to have painted on his knees—my companion being a boy of nine or ten years old who was paying his first visit to a picture gallery. Lost in my study of the adoring and radiant figures, I had forgotten the boy at my side, when suddenly he broke into my reverie with a question for which I was not prepared. 'How long,' he asked, 'will the angels keep on saying their prayers?' 'Well,' I said, 'a long time. You see they are very happy.' 'But won't their knees get tired?' 'Well, if they do,' I said perhaps not very wisely, 'they will get up and take a walk in that beautiful meadow you see at the back of the picture.' 'And what will the angels do next—after they have walked in the meadow?' 'Then,' I answered, and the answer was most unfortunate, 'I think they will come back to where they are now and go on with their prayers.' At this the child burst into tears. 'I don't want to be an angel,' he cried between his sobs."

One is not challenging the efficacy of sincere prayer in saying that too frequently our only approach to human problems is religious-like resignation. In a time when a desperate world needs creative and imaginative faith in the future, a common answer is to return to a static normalcy in which our vision of "what to do next" is limited to a pious prayer for relief from responsibility.

This is a new year—and we are stirred to new resolutions. Let us build on resolve for the future rather than regret over the past. We are at last acutely confronted with a choice we cannot escape—we do something about our problems or they do something with us. There is no cloistered complacency to which we can retreat as we think of the urgencies about us. We must choose what to do next—in our communities, in our nation, and in our world.

If we are wise then we shall begin with ourselves and resolve inwardly to fight any stupid sense of superiority which stifles our creative outlook. The world moves on under implacable necessity. We can choose to go back to pray over it in angelic isolation or we can go forward to work in it for the good of man and for the glory of God. John Oxenham's verse was never more appropriate than on the threshold of an atomic age:

"To every man there openeth a high way and a low,
And every man decideth which way he will go."

Fireside Forum Topic—"Africa" By Dana M. Albaugh

Dana M. Albaugh, administrator for the work carried on by the Baptist denomination in Belgian Congo and Europe, will address the Fireside Forum Sunday evening, January 20, at 7:30. In 1944 he traveled for four months in the Belgian Congo visiting all of the American Baptists stations and also many centers of work of other denominations.

Mr. Albaugh is the author of "Between Two Centuries" and "Kongo Kintuadi." There will be opportunity for questions and discussion following his talk on Africa.

Unitarianism Is About As Old As Protestantism

"The Unitarian movement is practically as old as Protestantism. The Reformation is usually dated from the year 1517, when Luther posted his theses at Wittenburg. It was only fourteen years later that Servetus in 1531, through the publication of his first book in criticism of the trinity, initiated the Unitarian movement." So said Dr. Jacob Trapp in the first of four lectures on "Liberal Religion" at the Community Church, on January 9.

The earliest organized Unitarianism is found in Italy, where some sixty churches, in 1550, held a conference defining ten points of belief, one of which had to do with the oneness of God and the humanity of Jesus. Driven out of Italy by the Inquisition, the movement spread to Switzerland, Poland, Transylvania, and other centers, whence it came eventually to England and America, continued Dr. Trapp.

The oldest Unitarian churches in the world with a continuous history are those in Transylvania and Hungary, which will celebrate the 400th anniversary of their founding in 1968. It was in Transylvania that the name Unitarian was officially adopted in 1632, he said.

"Unitarianism," said Dr. Trapp in answer to a question during the discussion period, "is the oldest of Christian doctrines. The trinitarian doctrine was a slow development of theological thought, and was not officially promulgated until the Council of Chalcedon in 451 A. D. It is a post-biblical doctraine, not to be found in the teachings of Paul or the Gospel writers. The only text in which it is hinted at (1 John 5:7) was found by Erasmus and subsequent scholars to have been a later interpolation, and is omitted from the American Revised Version."

Bishop Oxnam Bids All Churches Unite To Solve Problems

"One factor influencing people in the direction of religious scepticism, is the belief that God turns a deaf ear to human prayer," asserted Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, resident Bishop of the New York Area and president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, in a sermon delivered at the Methodist Church service on Sunday, January 13.

"Although Christ prayed much, few people realize that the majority of His prayers were never answered. In many respects His prayers were not unlike our own, since His problems bore a painful resemblance to many which confront us today. When He uttered the words, 'take this cup from me' in the Garden of Gethsemane, His emotion must have been akin to what millions experienced in the great war just concluded. Jesus loved life and hated death as much as the healthiest man today. Furthermore He led a blameless life, free from sin and did nothing but good as long as He lived which must have made death an even more bitter experience for Him.

"Conscious of sin, intolerance and poverty about Him, Christ was neither idealist nor perfectionist. He prayed for the solution of economic problems and His words, 'give us this day our daily bread,' were a response to the cry for sustenance which has been the same throughout the ages.

"The teachings of Christ can never take hold in a climate of economic chaos in which starvation and poverty are permitted to exist. The European situation presents a challenge to Christian democracies to utilize their vast productive capacity in order to realize the land of abundance and plenty which Christ had in mind when he uttered the words 'Thy kingdom come.' This land of plenty can be only be achieved in the framework of democratic principles which recognize the dignity of man and the worth of the individual."

Bishop Oxnam concluded by expressing the hope that the UNO structure be supplemented by the addition of a great church which would represent all denominations. He felt that the individual should look within himself and there seek the spirit with which to unify the Church and spread the doctrine of Christ throughout the world.

Light For the Way And Faith in Bible Radio Addresses

In his first radio talk of 1946, on January 2, over Mutual, Rev. David K. Barnwell quoted Joshua—"Ye have not passed this way before." This is both the thrilling and disquieting thing about entering a new year, he said. No one has gone this way before.

It is a thrilling hour in which to be living—not a comfortable nor secure time but a tremendous time. It is probable that the greatest adventure of all history is offered to our generation. The profound question is whether we shall be equal to our opportunity.

The direction God bids us take is forward, not back to the old mistakes, the stupidities that have landed us again and again in bankruptcy and war, he continued. Our goal had better be nothing short of the Kingdom of God on earth. Anything less will be disaster. Groups striving for special privileges will inevitably set the traps of doom. The life of the world must rest upon justice for all. All is futile until men build upon rock—namely the very righteousness and justice laid down clearly in the word of God.

Ineradicable convictions undergirded by a great assurance will help man towards his goal. As the psalm says: "The Lord is my light and my salvation, whom shall I fear?" Unless the spiritual light can match the physical light of the atomic bomb, we may be doomed, and the sands of ignominy will blow upon the tomb of our defeated civilization.

"Faith—in the Bible" was Mr. Barnwell's January 9 topic. He said: There are several levels of faith. The lowest one is faith based on belief, even without understanding. The next level is based upon trust—trust in the Bible as life's great guide, although some things in it may be embroidered or legendary or not literally true.

The third or highest level of faith is one's courage to live one's beliefs under fire. "Our times cry out for persons of faith—that is, with courage to live their creeds."

"Let no one suspect that the war is over. The factors that turned Germany barbaric, that disintegrated the very fiber of France are seeping through every country, including our own. Even here we can be engulfed by the ideas and motives that made Nazis. No comfortable assurance on our part that the good old democratic processes alone will muddle through will be enough to avert disaster.

"The only thing that will save the atomic age will be great convictions courageously lived," he concluded.

Mission Study Day For Women January 29

The Women's Department of the Summit Council of Churches will hold a mission study and discussion day at St. John's Lutheran Church Tuesday, January 29. There will be sessions from 10 to 12 and from 1 to 3. Two textbooks, "The Cross Over Africa" by Booth and "Christianity Where You Live" by Underwood will form the basis of study. Miss Dorothy A. Stevens, secretary of the department of missionary education of the Board of Education of the Northern Baptist Convention, will speak and lead the study. Women of all the Summit churches are cordially invited to participate.

Dr. Chanter Hopes To Arouse Interest In Studying Bible

"My aim in giving these four talks on the Bible is to arouse in you the desire to know more about the book. People cannot learn without working at it, and all I can do is to get some of you excited enough to do this," began Dr. William G. Chanter, professor of English Bible at Drew Seminary, in his first lecture on "The Bible and How to Use It," in the Religious Training School being conducted in the Presbyterian parish house each Tuesday evening through February 12.

"The Bible is not yours until you know what is in it."

The Bible is not a book, it is a library. In its 66 books written over a period of 2,000 years, it reflects many different circumstances, purposes, personalities; it contains all kinds of poetry, the lyric poetry of the psalms, the didactic poetry of the prophets, Dr. Chanter continued.

With all its variety, the Bible has one great theme, drawn from many points of view—the persistent drive of great religious development. The conception of God as being transcendently holy but with love for mankind, who belongs to God, is the central idea of the Bible. When man loses God he is lost.

The tendency in this generation is to ignore the Bible, which has been the floor of literacy under man for centuries. If the floor is taken away, what will happen? The Bible should be read, not as literature alone, but as the Word of God, Dr. Chanter stated. The Bible reveals God, but unless men have within them the desire of the discovery of God in the Bible, the revelation can not be made. If people choose to die, even God can not bring them back to life.

Unless people set themselves to understand the Bible by reading it, the future of the Protestant Church is pretty thin; it will lose its vitality and power, which was born and nourished on the study of the cast, the January 19 per- The world needs this book.

First National Bank Re-elects Old Officers

At the organization meeting on January 10 of the Board of Directors of The First National Bank and Trust Company of Summit, all officers were reelected.

Carroll P. Bassett continues as chairman of the Board and Dean H. Travis as president. Several changes were made, however, in the titles of other officers in order to reflect new responsibilities. Henry C. Thompson, Jr., was elected vice-president and cashier, Albert A. Musson was appointed an assistant vice-president and Alfred R. Bartley was named trust officer.

While Mr. Thompson and Mr Musson have been with the First National for more than 20 years and are well known to Summit people, Mr. Bartley is, relatively, a new comer. He joined the staff of First National in March, 1944 as an assistant trust officer after 13 years of experience with the United States Trust Company of New York, where he had the responsibility of selecting investments for personal trusts. He holds the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Master of Business Administration from New York University.

Summit Federal Savings and Loan Has Steady Growth

Arthur T. Dailey, secretary of the Summit Federal Savings and Loan Association, in submitting his annual report to the members of that association last night, said in part:

"Since submitting our last annual report of progress to the members of Summit Federal Savings and Loan Association, we have shared with you the joy that thrilled every American heart when final victory came to our arms in the Pacific. That victory, along with the World Charter agreed upon at San Francisco and the beginnings of the United Nations Organization, gives promise of a world peace that will endure for many generations.

"And now that victory is ours at last, may we not feel thankful that the cost to us was so small, small indeed compared to the price our own boys had to pay in the currency of 'blood and sweat and tears?' . . .

"Let us remember that inflation may lead to the undermining of the very foundations of our nation's economy as well as that of every other nation in the world. We must not forget that the real evils of the inflation of World War I did not come upon us until after the victory over Germany had been attained in 1918. . . .

"It is particularly fortunate therefore that the majority of our citizens are exercising the virtue of thrift to a greater degree than ever before in our history. This is evidenced by the manner in which each succeeding Bond Drive has gone over the top, and by the manner in which savings accounts in all private financial institutions are continuing to grow to impressing heights.

"In our own association our savings and investment accounts have made a net increase of $328,085 during the past six-month period and our total assets have now reached a grand total of $1,474,449.

"In order to work in close harmony with national anti-inflationary policies, our association has continued to accept savings and investment funds without restrictions and has continued to invest its surplus funds in Victory Bonds. As a result our association now has a total of $305,000 invested in United States Government Securities as against a total of $1,023,368 invested in first mortgages, principally on homes. . . .

"It is gratifying to be able to announce that our board has declared a dividend of 2 per cent per annum for the second half of 1945. This dividend was declared after our association had paid its current operating expenses, its Social Security taxes and the requisite premium for Government Insurance against loss up to $5,000, and, what is of great importance to our association, this has been accomplished after it had already set aside a substantial amount to the credit of reserves in accordance with the requirements of its charter. Our reserves and undivided profits have now reached the grand total of $100,538. . . .

"Summit Federal Savings and Loan Association is especially proud of the fact that it is one of the leaders in this community in helping veterans of World War II on the road to home-ownership under the 'G.I. Bill of Rights.'

"May we direct the attention of our members to some of the privileges which are afforded our veterans under this act? Nearly all of us can assist in passing on this information to those whom the act was intended to help. Here are some of the highlights of the home-financing provisions of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944:

"The maximum rate of interest cannot exceed 4 per cent per annum. Loans may be made up to 25 years with no renewal costs. The Veterans Administration guarantees $4,000 of each loan. Interest is paid by the Government on the guaranteed portion of the loan for the first year. Loans may be made for the entire purchase price up to certain maximums.

"The attention of our members is called to the Statement of Condition which accompanies this report and to the sound financial health which it denotes. In view of the steady growth which our association has enjoyed despite the handicaps which war necessarily entails, in view of the confidence which the public is continuing to vest in our institution, in view of the strengthened position of our reserves and the very liquid condition of our assets, there is of course every reason for our association to face the future with the assurance that we will be able to continue to serve our community with the same degree of efficiency and customer-satisfaction that we have maintained during the past."

Cancer Killed More Than War

More than four times as many residents of New Jersey died of cancer during the four years of war as were killed in battle and died of wounds in the armed services, says a statement issued today by the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society.

"James I. Bowers, Adjutant General of New Jersey," says the statement, "reports that from Pearl Harbor (December 7, 1941), to December 11, 1945, the total number of fatalities among servicemen and women from this state was 6,550, of which 5,192 were in the Army, 1,340 in the Navy, and 18 in the Merchant Marine.

"In the same four year period nearly 28,000 residents of New Jersey were reported by physicians to have died of cancer. Because many cancer deaths are reported to be due to other causes, it seems probable that the actual cancer fatalities in the four years were nearer 40,000.

"Besides those killed, Adjutant General Bowers reports that the number of New Jersey servicemen and women wounded during the war was 18,968, making a total of 24,518 killed and wounded. In other words, cancer killed more people in New Jersey during the war than the total number of Jerseyites killed and wounded by the Nazis and Japs.

"Ten thousand or more of these cancer victims would be living today had they known how to recognize the symptoms of the disease in its early stages, and gone to competent physicians for examination and treatment before it was too late. The number of cancer deaths in the state and nation seems to be on the increase, and the best authorities are agreed that a third or more of these lives are sacrificed unnecessarily.

"One of the foremost purposes of the American Cancer Society is to educate the public to know the early symptoms and go for examination and treatment in time to save their lives. It is hoped that through a national program of coordinated research the cause and cure of cancer can be found. At present the only known treatments that are effective are by surgery, x-rays and radium.

"Establishment of free information centers and detection clinics in all cities of the state is a part of the society's program, to be carried through as fast as funds subscribed by the public are available. Location of such centers and clinics will be determined by a committee of the State Medical Society, which is the medical committee of the state cancer society, upon the completion of a statewide survey now in progress."

"Right now," said George E. Stringfellow, president of the state society, "we are organizing local chapters of our society and hope to have one in every county and community in the state. Volunteers are wanted everywhere to aid in the distribution of literature, transportation of cancer patients to clinics, making bandages, and organization of committees for our annual campaign in April."

State headquarters of the cancer society are at 790 Broad street, Newark.

Rubinstein In Griffith Series

Arthur Rubinstein, Polish pianist, who will be heard at the Mosque Theatre on Sunday afternoon, January 27th, under the auspices of the Griffith Music Foundation, tells many anecdotes in connection with his long and colorful career as a concert artist. Having heard Arthur Rubinstein play the Tschaikowsky Concerto in the concert hall, the Duke of Windsor once invited the pianist with whom he is friendly today, to visit him at Buckingham Palace. Once arrived, the pianist was led to a room where stood the piano which belonged to Queen Victoria. Rubinstein seated himself, lifted his powerful hands and drummed out the opening chords. There was a splintering crash and the piano folded to the floor, keys and strings flying in all directions. The priceless relic was an irreclaimable ruin. To this day whenever they meet, the Duke invariably opens the conversation with: "Well Artur, whose piano did you wreck since I last saw you?"

On another occasion, the train on which he was en route to the west coast stopped at Phoenix, Arizona, and Rubinstein stepped out to stretch his legs and buy a newspaper. Immediately he was surrounded by about fifty kids, all of them clamoring for his autograph, which he gave. Rubinstein was a little amazed and a little puffed up. Returning from the news-stand he encountered one of the boys who asked for another autograph, explaining that he couldn't read the handwriting. "Why did you ask me for my autograph?" Rubinstein asked. "Well mister," the kid replied, "you look kind of funny, and we thought you might be important."

Election Boards Advise On Laws

The State Association of County Boards of Elections, at a Trenton meeting this week, determined to seek a greater voice in promulgation of laws effecting elections.

Too frequently, said Louis B. Pierce of Trenton, president of the association, legislators with little knowledge of election mechanics adopt legislation which creates confusion in norman election "machinery."

Chiropodists to Meet At Shore

The New Jersey Society of Chiropodists announced today that its 1946 convention, to be held April 26 through 28 at the Ambassador Hotel, Atlantic City, will be the largest in the profession's history. Exhibit space has been leased well in advance of the conclave. Chiropodists from 22 eastern states will attend.

Out—Size

Furniture provided for American Red Cross clubs in Korea looked good until U. S. servicemen sat down. Then it was discovered that chairs and tables built of five-foot Koreans just won't do for long-legged Americans. In one Far East club it took 20 Japanese carpenters five days to attach extensions to each table leg.

An Honorary Degree
—for the housewife!

"If I were handing out honorary degrees, I'd confer a Doctor of Cleanliness on American housewives. After all, most of our working days are spent chasing dirt—washing dishes, scrubbing floors, cleaning the house, laundering clothes and linens, and—at least a dozen times a day—washing grubby little faces and hands."

It takes expert organization to accomplish all these jobs and keep the household running smoothly. The greatest aid to the "Doctor of Cleanliness" is plenty of hot water, with outlets located conveniently in the places where she uses it most.

Benefit Bridge Y.M.C.A. Auxiliary Monday, January 28

Monday, January 28, has been selected by the Women's Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association for its benefit dessert bridge. Dessert will be served at 1:30 p. m., in the YMCA auditorium, followed by bridge.

This affair is a yearly feature of the Women's Auxiliary program, and has always been well attended, affording as it does an opportunity to entertain friends and meet with other members of the Auxiliary. All are welcome. There will be a prize for each table, as well as a door prize.

Tickets may be procured at the desk in the YMCA lobby, or from Mrs. G. E. Schultz, Su-6-0415M. Where tables are not complete, an effort will be made to fill in with players.

Funds raised will be used for YMCA projects in which the Auxiliary is particularly interested.

Wells College Plans

After a war-enforced delay, the trustees of Wells College have made plans to resume the long-range development program to meet the need for new buildings and additional endowment. President William Ernest Weld made this announcement on the eve of the 140th birthday of the founder, Henry Wells, who organized the Wells-Fargo and the American Express Companies. These plans have been made in consultation with Jens Frederick Larson, college architect.

This program will also seek funds for additional scholarships and salary increases for the faculty. By deliberate choice, the college will remain small, with a maximum enrollment of 400 students. A new dormitory will probably be the first building to be erected, to meet the present overcrowded conditions at the college. The dining hall and library require immediate enlargement. A Music and Fine Arts building and an infirmary, a gymnasium and a chapel are imperative additions to the College plant.

Wells College is keeping pace with many other leading colleges in proceeding with a post-war development program.

Virginia Hensler, '48, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hensler of Tulip street is a student at Wells.

Artists of Today Gallery Presents One-Man Show By Mildred Marlo

Caricature, whimsy, and charm is the essence of the one-man exhibition now at the Artists of Today gallery, 48 New street, Newark, by Mildred Marlo, vice president of the group. This show will hang through January 26.

Genre subjects of rural life include "The Quilting Bee," "Saturday Night Bath" and others. There is a genuine nostalgia about these paintings which stem from the days when Miss Marlo raised hogs on her father's Indiana farm to pay for her early art training.

Contrasting to these are several subjects characterized by witty sophistication and satire.

An informal reception was held at the gallery Wednesday evening.

Lecture Recital On the Recorder, An Olden Instrument

Irmgard Lehrer of New York City assisted by Florence Blume, gave a lecture recital on the "recorder" or vertical flute, an instrument played in the olden days in the home en famille, and by people now who wish to play an instrument not too difficult and which lends itself to group playing. The recital was given at the Child's Garden of Music, Franklin place, conducted by Miss Alice Brundage Marsh, on Monday evening, January 14.

The recorder is a wood-wind made today usually of mahogany or other hard wood. Old ones made of ivory are to be found in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Their music reflects in its beautiful tone, the quiet and leisure of those days of the past", said Miss Marsh.

Lantern slides were shown to illustrate Miss Lehrer's talk on the history and development of the instrument. Miss Lehrer and Miss Blume played several duets on the soprano and alto recorders which differ in size. Miss Blume also played a Handel sonata accompanied by Miss Lehrer at the piano.

The listeners were then given recorders and in a few moments were playing a simple two-part song.

Miss Marsh was assisted during the evening by Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Rickenbacher of Maplewood, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gilman of Summit.

"Cultivation of Music" Topic at Child's Garden

Yellow-Browns In "Pygmalion"

In the revival of G. B. Shaw's "Pymallon," which opened recently at the Barrymore Theater, the star, Gertrude Lawrence, wears an attractive wardrobe by Motley, executed by Edith Lutyens, all of the turn-of-the-century period, but glowingly done in the yellow-brown gamut. It is the period of the bell-skirt, and at least three of the costumes worn by Miss Lawrence have this identification with graduated flounce at the bottom of the skirt to give the bell-flare.

Practically ready for a 1946 ballroom is the evening dress of butter-yellow satin, with cream and gold color roses and tulle for the off-shoulder decolletage which is worn by Miss Lawrence in the third act. Eyelet-embroidered cotton for an afternoon dress is also outstanding. It is girdled in tangerine and sports an eyelet-embroidered taffeta parasol to match. It is worn with a profile flattering hat which is trimmed with large creamy-yellow roses.

S/Sgt. Francis V. Blum, who has been stationed in Shreveport, La., has received his discharge and has returned to Summit. He and Mrs. Blum, the former Miss Irene McCue, will make their home temporarily with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William McCue of Maple street.

Costumes Of "Show Boat" Are Sentimental

They have made the production, particularly the costumes by Lucinda Ballard, as ravishing as the music of "Show Boat," which has been revived and is playing at the Ziegfeld Theatre.

Right through the years in which the story takes place—1895 to 1927—the clothes maintain the air of sentimentality which is the essence of the book and music; even the long-waisted, short-skirted Charleston-dancing 1927 styles failed to produce the usual guffaws when they are aired. Another thing about these 1927 clothes — the cloche hats, the elongated waist, and the full pleated skirts—do not look as "strange" as they did, say five years ago, for one can see some elements of similarity to our clothes today.

Most of the clothes—and it is a huge cast with what seems like hundreds of lovely costumes—are of the late 19th century type, with full skirts that are disciplined by polonaise drapes most in evidence. These are done in lovely organdies, sheers and velvet.

Miss Ballard has done a beautiful job of organizing color for the masses of people so often on stage. In this "Show Boat," there are really two clothes plots—Magnolia and her family and friends, and the large groupings of Negroes. For the latter, vivid tones are always in harmony with the paler tones used in other costumes. Another device for keeping the ensemble always a picture of harmony, is that two or three shades of one color are used in a costume, rather than clashing contrasts, and when a contrast is introduced, it is just the merest accent. Yellow is the theme color, and typical use is a costume worked out in a vivid yellow, lighter shade and cream, with an accent of turquoise. Greens, too, are similarly used in a range of shades of the one color. The men's costumes are also worked out in natural, beige and brown.

Stripes are tremendously important, used in every gradation of size.

One of the outstanding ideas is the wrap which Carol Bruce as Julie wears, suggesting a new kind of "small wrap" to wear over dresses. The front of it is like a just-below waistline fitted jacket, while the rest of it separated from front, is like something between shawl and cape, only following the lines of the figure. It is in white with black fringe and embroidery for the top.

Hot Ham Sandwiches For Sunday Supper

Sunday night suppers, though they need not be elaborate, should be substantial. There is really nothing better for this occasion than hot ham sandwiches served with olives, pickles or a tart salad. Directions for preparing the sandwiches are given below.

Hot Ham Sandwiches

Place slices of minced ham between thin slices of bread. Cut in triangular pieces and hold together with toothpicks. Beat 2 eggs slightly and add to them ¼ cup cream or milk. Dip the sandwiches into this mixture and fry in hot fat (350 F.) until nicely browned. Remove the toothpicks and serve.

Sausage Suits

For breakfast that will stick by you through a cold morning, try spicy pork sausage and French toast with syrup. Use country style sausage, "little pigs" or sausage patties. For your breakfast fruit, have a nice big baked apple!

Historical New Jersey ... Subject of Jefferson .... School P.T.A. Meeting ...

W. C. Bettinson, special representative of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, spoke Monday evening, January 7, at the Parent Teachers Association meeting at the school. The historical background of New Jersey, its wartime activities and its present and future industrial and commercial potentialities was illustrated with colored slides. New Jersey, ranking forty-fifth in size among the states of the union, ranks fifth in industrial enterprise, Mr. Bettinson said. The topic was presented in a friendly, informal manner and arrangements have been made for Mr. Bettinson to give his talk to the children during school hours.

Mrs. Fred Perst, president of the P.T.A., announced the launching of a drive for donations to the P.T.A. budget. This was met with an immediate response by the parents, teachers and friends attending the meeting.

On display were old firearms, swords and jewelry made and used in a more youthful New Jersey. These collectors' items were shown by Mrs. William Faitoute, who introduced Mr. Bettinson. Refreshments were served during a social hour by the fifth grade mothers.

Rig-veda Oldest Record Of Indo-Aryan Languages Known as Sanskrit Today

"The earliest extant record of Indo-Aryan languages is the collection of hymns known as the Rig-veda, compiled about 1200 B. C. This became known about 300 B. C., as the Sanskrit. Sanskrit became the language of religion and polite literature. Today there are 222 vernaculars in India," Mrs. Allison H. Hearn told the Story League Thursday, January 10, at her home.

"All social, religious, and family life in India were on an extremely high plane about 1200 B. C., as depicted in the Rig-veda. Women were held in high regard. Democracy existed in tribal elections and the caste system was non-existent.

"Seagoing merchants in the Seventh Century B. C. brought the Semitic alphabet to India. It is now used as the basis of all writings in India, Burma, Siam and Ceylon," Mrs. Hearn said.

Continuing the program on India, fables were told by Miss Lillian Spear, Mrs. G. K. Teal and Mrs. Charles Chase. They were: The Turtle Who Would not Stop Talking, The Barber's Wife, and The Blind Man and the Deaf Man.

Mrs. Charles Chase, president, announced the January schedule for the story hour at the Summit Home for Children. Tea was served with Mrs. Clinton Baker pouring.

Most Important Meal Is Often Most Neglected

No wife or mother can afford to overlook the importance of breakfast.

The problem of getting a good variety into the day's first meal can be solved in the first course—the cereal and fruit course. And there is such a choice of ready-to-eat cereals on the market—all ready to be combined with canned or fresh fruit. The hot dish can be easily varied by cooking eggs in various ways—poached, boiled, fried, scrambled or in an omelet. Ham or bacon, fish cakes and creamed meats are easily prepared hot dishes in which there is no monotony if they are served alternately.

The bread part of the meal can be varied by making toast of different kinds of bread, or serving muffins, waffles or pancakes.

The wise housewife will plan her breakfast as carefully as she plans her dinners, realizing that a well begun day is a healthful day.

When you want to change your cereal to muffins, why not try

Corn Flakes Muffins

1 cup sifted flour
2½ teaspoons double action baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg, well beaten
2/3 cup milk
3 tablespoons melted butter, or other shortening
1 cup corn flakes

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg, milk and shortening; add to flour mixture, beaten only enough to dampen all flour. Add corn flakes. Turn into greased muffin pans, filling them 2/3 full. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 25 minutes. Makes 10 muffins.

Trifles Make Popular Desserts

Trifles have been popular desserts for many years and since there are so many varieties, they never become tiresome when used often as a dinner dessert. With canned peaches try this delicious Peach Trifle, flavored with white wine.

Peach Trifle

1 can sliced peaches
1 cup sugar
¼ cup water
6 slices sponge cake
4 drops almond extract
2 tablespoons white wine
1 cup cream, whipped
2 tablespoons shredded almonds

Drain peaches, place in sauce pan with sugar and water. Simmer over fire 4 to 5 minutes. Then remove, rub through sieve and beat smooth. When cold stir in wine and spread on cake. Add almond flavoring to cream and beat until stiff.

NEW PROVIDENCE Borough

Council to Introduce '46 Budget Jan. 25; To Probe Postal Service

BOROUGH—Following a conference meeting next Monday night, Borough Council has planned to introduce its proposed 1946 budget at an adjourned meeting, Friday, January 25 beginning at 8:30 p. m., in Borough Hall. At its regular January meeting, held Thursday night, council adopted a temporary budget of $21,560 of which $12,580 is for current expenses.

Councilman Robert Badgley, who commented upon the confusion about postal facilities, was appointed by Mayor John W. Oakwood along with a member of the Planning Board to be named as a committee to investigate the postal service in the borough. At present the borough is served by two post offices in the borough, Summit, Scotch Plains, and Chatham RFD routes.

The council said that a similar survey had been made some years ago, but that the Federal government refused to take any action at that time. Since then many new factories have moved into the community as well as more residents, and the load of mail is steadily increasing especially at the Murray Hill Post office.

A letter was received from the State Board of Health advising the Council that their plan of making a sewer connection on South street between Mountain and Central avenues, would be approved when a formal application is made if several recommendations of the State Board are followed.

As originally scheduled, the plan called for a trunk sewer connection to be made by the Bell Telephone Laboratories, to be used by the laboratories only if their present connection with the Summit sewer system should be temporarily out of order. However, all residents of South street were to be permitted to make house connections, with full time use of the sewer facilities.

The State Board objects to this latter plan on grounds that the sewer disposal plant in the borough is now operating beyond its capacity, and they feel that no further load should be put on the plant.

Ellsworth Hansell was appointed to represent Borough Council on the Planning Board.

Councilman Arthur G. Harms asked that two men be assigned permanently to the road department. At present, there is only one man working full time and with 14 miles of roads to cover, Councilman Harms said he thought another man is needed.

A request of Don Morton that he be permitted to change his one-family house, beside Lincoln School, into a two-family house, was referred to the Board of Adjustment, which meets January 21.

A letter from the Rev. Frank Roppelt of St. Luke's Reformed Episcopal Church requesting a road sign at the intersection of Mountain avenue and South street was referred to Councilman Taylor of the Street Signs Committee. Rev. Roppelt said many folks got lost trying to find the Bell Telephone Laboratories in Murray Hill. It was reported that the county had agreed to put a sign at the above intersection while Mayor Oakwood submitted a proof of the type of sign that the Bell firm purposes to place at various intersections here pointing to the laboratories.

A letter from Mrs. Louis Stapelton, Spring street, written by Jacob R. Mantel of Summit, her attorney, complaining that the snow plow had not been used on her street, was referred to Councilman A. G. Harms, chairman of the street committee.

Councilman Herbert D. Taylor, chairman of the recreation committee, reported on a dance that was held Friday night in Lincoln School auditorium for young people of the community.

Borough Clerk Thomas C. Musson was instructed to write the Township of New Providence Rescue Squad thanking that organization for the courtesies it had extended borough residents last year in the matter of using its ambulance to take patients to Overlook Hospital, when the hospital ambulance service was not immediately available. Since council is not allowed by State law to make donations or contributions, the letter, it was explained, was the only means left in which to express appreciation to the Rescue Squad.

Councilman Badgley was appointed a committee of one to make contacts with the Lackawanna Railroad company as to the possibility of improving parking facilities at the Murray Hill station for commuters. The councilman also advocated a new station at Murray Hill.

A complaint by Louis Marinelli about Salt Creek overflowing east of the South street bridge was referred to Councilman Badgley as chairman of the drainage committee.

Miss Veronica Von Tish was her sister's maid of honor. James W. Rennie served as best man for his brother-in-law. The bride wore a princess style gown of lace. Her illusion veil was from a Mary Queen of Scots headdress. She carried a white prayer book with orchids. The maid of honor wore a maize gown of taffeta and net and carried gladioli and snapdragons.

The bride is a graduate of Summit High School. She attended the American Institute of Banking. Mr. Jeffrey is a graduate of Plainfield High School and was discharged recently after serving 4½ years in the U. S. Army. After a wedding trip to Buck Hill Falls the couple will reside at 43 Linden place, Summit.

BOROUGH—Mason Logan was elected president of the Board of Health at the January 8 meeting. Dr. Harold Van Winkle, recently reappointed to a three-year term, took the oath of office.

The plumbing board will consist of M. Daum, James Hogg and Alexander Pictroski.

The Board voted a 10 per cent increase in pay for all employees.

Mrs. M. A. Woodruff, registrar of vital statistics, reported 28 births, 20 deaths and 21 marriages in the borough in 1945.

Stolen Car Involved In Sunday Crash; Boro Couple Injured

BOROUGH—Four persons were injured Sunday night in an accident involving a stolen car. Mrs. Caroline Lehnbeck of Passaic street, New Providence, is in Overlook Hospital, Summit, with skull injuries, while her husband, Frederick, driver of his own car, was treated for shock. Two passengers in the other car suffered injuries. The driver of the stolen car escaped.

Mr. and Mrs. Lehnbeck were driving east in Springfield avenue, Summit, when a car reported stolen from Francis McCabe of Bloomfield struck them.

Police determined the car had been stolen earlier from in front of the Telephone Building in Washington street, Newark, where Mr. McCabe had been picketing. Two passengers, Thomas M. McGuire of Morristown, and Robert Cavadel of Union, said they were hitch hikers picked up by the driver.

All four were taken to Overlook Hospital and treated by Dr. Melvin Wein. The hitch hikers were questioned by the police.

Wahl Heads Scout Troop Committee

BOROUGH—Boy Scout No. 63 Troop Committee on Monday night elected J. Willbur Wahl as chairman. Scoutmaster Edward Sheldon reported on activities for the troop at Camp Lion. Among the members of the troop committee who have transfererd their interests to the Explorer Post are Harald Pedersen and Allen W. Roberts.

A program for the annual registration of members of the troop is now underway. The troop is planning to give added emphasis to the advancement of members.

BOROUGH—Lieutenant Carl Spatuzzi and his brother-in-law, Richard Rush, both of Livingston avenue, attended the Thuraday night session of the South Orange Council, Knights of Columbus, at which time Lt. Spatuzzi was inducted as a second degree knight.

Polio Drive Co-Chairmen Make Appeal For Funds

BOROUGH—Mrs. Lewis Ricci, postmaster at Murray Hill, and Anthony Ciocci, New Providence postmaster, co-chairmen for the 1946 March of Dimes committee for the borough to raise funds for the fight on infantile paralysis, remind residents that the appeal opened January 14 and will continue until January 31.

Cooperating with the co-chairmen are Mayor John W. Oakwood as honorary chairman, the Rev. Joseph P. Fallon of Our Lady of the Peace Church, together with Supervising Principal of Schools Allen W. Roberts, and Mrs. A. G. Harms, president of the Borough Red Cross.

Besides making a personal appeal for funds, the committee points out that March of Dimes boxes have been placed in various stores in the borough and at Lincoln School.

"All people," the co-chairmen point out, "have come to know that the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is a necessary and invaluable force in our national life. We know how effective it has been in epidemics of polio, providing medical care and treatment for poliomyelitis patients, regardless of age, race, creed or color.

"We realize that much of the knowledge of the disease and its treatment results from scientific research made possible by the National Foundation. I am sure that everyone will contribute more generously this year than ever before."

As in former years, the co-chairmen explain, one-half of all the money collected in the county will remain here to finance the hospitalization, care and treatment of local sufferers. The other half goes to headquarters of the National Foundation and is used for continuing research, education and even emergency aid in epidemics throughout the nation.

He read his paper on theology, a comprehensive brief of his faith, and this was accepted by the body. Mr. Williamson was received and licensed. His ordination will follow later.

"Mr. Williamson's paper was one of the best I ever heard read before the Presbytery," said Rev. Carroll H. Yerkes, minister of the Presbyterian Church of New Providence. Mr. Williamson has been leader of young people's work in that church for a long time.

The first dance, held Friday night, was chaperoned by Councilman Herbert D. Taylor, chairman of Borough Council's recreation committee, and Supervising Principal of Schools, Allen W. Roberts. BOROUGH—Councilman Herbert D. Taylor accepted appointment Thursday night from Mayor John W. Oakwood to be custodian of the American Flag presented to the borough on New Year's Day by Pride of New Providence Council Daughters of America. The flag will be used on the pole in front of Borough Hall. During Boy Scout week, February 8-14, members of Boy Scout Troop No. 63 will raise and lower the flag every day. They plan to have buglers and color guards at each service. The post of custodian has been vacant since the death of Arthur G. Balcom five years ago.

Planning Board OK's Shoe Plant, Garden Apartment

BOROUGH—Plans for a new factory and garden apartments in Murray Hill were approved January 8 by the Planning Board.

The garden apartments would be the first of that kind of dwelling in the borough, and would be located opposite the Murray Hill Lackawanna Railroad Station. If the Borough Council approves the change in zone, recommended by the planning board, construction is slated to start in the late spring.

The units would house about 200 families. Michael Stavitsky, a resident of South street, Murray Hill, and Newark realty man, is planning to build the apartments. The section is now classified as an A zone, and the Borough Council has been asked to change the zone to a new classification, permitting the construction of the buildings.

Hugo B. Meyer of Countryside, Murray Hill, asked approval of plans to erect a factory to carry on experimental work in shoes and new types of soles for shoes. Should his request be granted, Mr. Meyer said, a corporation would be formed to operate the proposed plant. The building, 16,000 feet square, would be in Central avenus, near several other factories. The corporation would employ from 35 to 60 persons, depending upon volume of business, Mr. Meyer said.

Charles A. Johnson was reappointed chairman of the Board. Lawrence Mezzacco, recently appointed to the Board, was chosen vice-chairman. Thomas C. Musson was named clerk. Meeting dates were changed from the first Thursday to the first Tuesday of each month.

Clothing Drive Opens in Borough; Mrs. Harms Directs

BOROUGH—The UNRRA Clothing Drive is under way in New Providence Borough, under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Harms, chairman.

All clothing, men's, women's, or children's, may be brought to Lincoln School. Bed clothes, sheets, blankets, pillow cases, are also needed. If it is not possible to deliver articles to the school, they will be called for by telephoning: Mrs. Fred Wied, Jr., Su. 6-5343 or Mrs. Harms, Su. 6-4223.

"I feel sure that New Providence Borough will contribute its share of clothing for this world need," said Mrs. Harms. "When we think of the destitution of the people abroad, it seems an easy thing to send them some of our plenty."

Perfect Attendance At Sunday School For 17 Years

BOROUGH — Robert Lambertson was honored at this week's session of the Methodist Church Sunday School by receiving the 17th bar on his Cross and Crown medal symbolic of his having 17 years' perfect attendance. The presentation was made by Allen W. Roberts, superintendent of the Sunday School. Mrs. Bertha Mason will receive her 18th bar at an early session of the Sunday School.

Firemen "A", Men's Club, Sweep Three In Boro Pin Loop

BOROUGH—At the 17th session of the New Providence Bowling League, January 9, on the Hy-Bowl in Union, Firemen "A" swept their three matches against M. & M., while the Men's Club administered like treatment to the Five Aces. Loss of the trio of matches caused the Five Aces to lose second place to the Men's Club who attained their highest stand to date in the loop. The last place Building and Loan closed the gap between themselves and Firemen "B" by taking two out of three from the latter.

Recreation Committee Outlines 1946 Program

BOROUGH—The Borough Recreation Committee meeting Monday night at the home of Mrs. Wilma Larson outlined a program for the postwar needs of this community and more particularly for this year. Among those attending were Councilman Herbert D. Taylor, chairman of Borough Council's recreation committee, Alfred Zangara, Allen W. Roberts, and Lt. Carl Spatuzzi, the latter a recently appointed member.

It was the unanimous opinion of the meeting that there is "a very real need" for additional funds for this year's budget in order to put the program into effect.

To fill what the committee feels is a long standing need in the borough for the summer months when school is not in session, it proposed to hire a full time playground supervisor for that period.

A program of basketball for both boys and girls will get underway in the near future at Lincoln School which will continue through until next March. There will be four teams of boys: The Clippers, the West Enders, Varsity Club, and Shady Brook Farm. These teams will hold a practice session tonight preparatory to the regular schedule starting next Thursday night. Lawrence Osborne will referee these games. There will be two teams for girls, mostly pick-up teams.

In the Spring months through to the close of school, a program of softball will be continued. It is expected softball will be continued in the early fall. At Easter time there will be the annual egg hunt, and at Hallowe'en the usual community party.

With three high students as a committee, Betty Binkley, Connie Carlson, and Nicholas Pigna, a program of three dances got underway Friday night with an attendance of 106. Those in attendance included junior and senior high school students, young people out of school and now at work, together with a few adults. The committee extends "a cordial invitation" to young married couples and returned service men to attend these dances. Other dances are planned for January 25, February 9, and March 1.

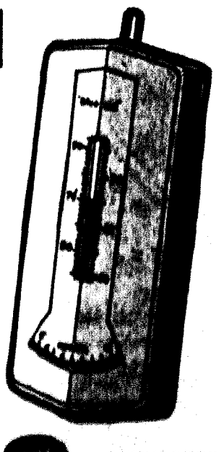
AUTOMATIC REGULATION SAVES FUEL 24 HOURS A DAY!



No matter how often or how carefully you set furnace dampers by hand there's bound to be fuel wasted even if your dampers are open a minute too long. Watching over them is a full-time job that only an Automatic Heat Regulator performs in real fuel-saving ways.

In these "fuel-short" days every pound of anthracite saved counts in more comfort for you and in the conservation that Uncle Sam desperately needs.

We have a limited number of Regulators in stock. If you act quickly, you can enjoy the fuel-savings of automatically controlled heat this winter.

You'll wonder too how you ever got along without the step-saving convenience of control from an upper floor—and the steady, even temperature which an Automatic Heat Regulator gives.

School Board OK's $87,305 Budget For '46-'47 Term

TOWNSHIP—Following a public hearing Monday night in Columbia School on the 1946-47 school budget calling for appropriations of $87,305, unanimous adoption was taken by the Board of Education. The budget will now be submitted to the voters at the annual school election on February 13. President Joseph Mulholland, whose term expires, will seek re-election to a three-year term.

The budget for the current year totals $60,581.25. The current expense item is $55,101 compared to $68,595 in the budget acted upon Monday night.

Major increases are shown in the debt service and instruction accounts. The debt service account jumps from $71.50 to $3,360 and the redemption of bonds increases from $1,500 to $10,000 because $10,000 of the new bonds issued for a new school which is to be constructed will be redeemed this year.

Because of an anticipated increase in the faculty, the appropriation for teachers' salaries has been increased from $27,065 to $35,000. The bonus item is increased from $4,895 to $5,500.

The janitorial appropriation is increased from $2,400 to $4,500 and the fuel fund is increased $1,000. The tuition account of $825 remains the same as does an appropriation of $4,700 for transportation.

Voters To Decide On Enlargement Of School Board

TOWNSHIP—Voters of New Providence Township will decide at the February 13 School Election whether or not the Board of Education will be increased from its present membership of three to five. At its Monday night meeting the board voted unanimously in favor of increasing the membership to five and thus to place it on the ballot as a public question.

Of course the electorate will vote at the election for a member whose term expires this year. President Joseph Mulholland is expected to be a candidate to succeed himself.

However, if the voters act favorably on enlargement of the board, the present board will continue in office until February, 1947, at which time an election will be held for a five-member board, two of whom will be elected for three years, two for two years, and one for one year. Even if the voters decide favorably on the increase, the member who will be elected on February 13 will not take office.

The board approved the appointment of Dr. Fred Bedford of the Jersey City Teachers College to conduct a weekly arithmetic course at Columbia School for "In Service Training for Teachers." Satisfactory completion of the course will bring two points of college credit. The expense for the course is being carried by the Board of Education.

In his report for December, Supervising Principal Leo G. Fuchs pointed out that special officers had been placed at Springfield, Summit, and Snyder avenues, also at Mountain avenue and Debbie place, both morning and afternoon to protect children using the school. Established as safety measure, the special officers are provided through the Township Committee. The school's safety patrol is stationed at other major bus stops.

Mr. Fuchs reported that a series of 12 sound moving pictures have been scheduled for use in physical education classes, grades 6-8. The pictures, all dealing with major American sports, have as their purpose the teaching of knowledge about sports and instruction in the ideals of sportsmanship.

The school supervisor reported that the schools are participating in the 1946 March of Dimes continuing through January 31, also in the Victory Clothing Collection.

On Tuesday night, Mr. Fuchs in his capacity as chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Union County Conference of Teachers, introduced Senator Herbert J. Pascoe and the County's assemblymen at the dinner tendered the State legislators by the conference at the Elks Club in Elizabeth.

Necessary To Register To Vote In Annual School Election

TOWNSHIP — If you are not permanently registered as a voter in the township and wish to vote at the annual school election to be held February 13 at Columbia School, you will have to register on or before February 9 with Township Clerk William C. Russo in the Municipal Building any night between 6 and 8 p. m.

Voters are reminded that the school election is held on Wednesday, February 13 rather than on the previous day because the latter is Lincoln's Birthday, a holiday.

President Joseph Mulholland has appointed the following as members of the school election board: Salvatore DelDuca, Frank C. Shaffer, Sr., Mrs. Julia Schweinfurth, Mrs. Blanche Galla, and Mrs. Catherine Thomson.

Nigro Heads Polio Drive in Township, Asks Generosity

TOWNSHIP — Postmaster Michael Nigro of Berkeley Heights, who heads the 1946 March of Dimes here, has associated with him on the committee, Anton C. Swenson of the Township Committee and Supervising Principal of Schools, Leo G. Fuchs. Coin boxes have been placed at Columbia School and at various stores throughout the community. About the campaign for funds to fight infantile paralysis, which started Monday and which continues through January 31, Chairman Nigro had this to say yesterday:

"Once again we have an opportunity to share in the unrelenting battle against infantile paralysis, the dread crippler that annually attacks America's children.

"We can hope that the children of our community will be spared, in the year before us. We cannot be sure. No one can predict where, when or how severely the Great Crippler will strike. It therefore behooves us to be prepared.

"The Union County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis of which New Providence Township is a part, is arming now, against the possibility of an outbreak in the summer ahead. They must have the necessary funds to help our health officials, physicians and hospitals provide the finest available care and treatment for infantile paralysis patients. When a polio outbreak occurs, no one knows how much special equipment and appliances, or how many physical therapists and nurses, may be needed.

"Our chapter, and the National Foundation are pledged to see to it that no victim of infantile paralysis shall go without care and treatment for lack of money, regardless of age, race, creed or color.

"This is our opportunity to share in one of the greatest humanitarian services of all time. Let us resolve to give generously.

"Let us make this March of Dimes the greatest ever!"

"Buddy," GI Canine, Granted Free Lifetime License

BOROUGH—"Buddy," five-year-old Police and Collie owned by 11 year-old Betty Lou Ale of Division avenue, was granted a life-time free license Thursday night by Borough Council. The action was taken on motion of Councilman William F. Cunningham for the reason that "Buddy" had been serving 32 months as an armed guard in the Army.

"Buddy's" young owner, Miss Betty Lou is in the sixth grade at Lincoln School. On January 9, Betty Lou's mother, Mrs. Eber Ale appeared at the office of Borough Clerk Thomas C. Musson with "Buddy's" honorable discharge papers. The clerk held up granting the license until Thursday night's action by council which follows the course taken by many nearby communities. Hereafter any dog, whose owner presents honorable discharge papers for his having served in the armed forces, will receive a free life-time license.

That "Buddy" has won his place in the hearts of the Ale family is evidenced by the moving pictures they have of some of his life at home. The whole Ale family declare "Buddy" is a better fellow since his Army life.

Teacher Lauded For War-Time Interim Service

BOROUGH—Mrs. Helen Ayton, who stepped into Leonard Mancuso's shoes as science and mathematics teacher at Lincoln while he was on military leave, came in for commendation this week by Supervising Principal of Schools Allen W. Roberts. Mr. Mancuso as reported elsewhere in this paper, will resume his duties here on February 1. The school head said Mrs. Ayton's work represented the "highest type of war-time service of a real patriotic nature." Her work here, Mr. Roberts added, "made certain the continuation of the same high kind of instruction which is standard in our schools." Publicly thanking Mrs. Ayton, Mr. Roberts also has extended to Mr. Mancuso "a welcome back."

Emergency Call For More Afghans Needed by Vets

BOROUGH—An emergency call has come to the Red Cross for more afghans for the wounded servicemen in camp and veterans' hospitals, reported Mrs. Arthur Harms, chairman of the New Providence Chapter of the American Red Cross at the executive board luncheon held Monday, January 14 at the home of Miss Helen Armstrong.

The women of the borough are asked to look for odds and ends of wool which can be used for squares to make up more of these warm coverings. Or, if they can knit or crochet the squares themselves, they will be welcome also. In either case, materials may be brought to Borough Hall, or they will be called for if this is impossible. The need is great, Mrs. Harms said.

The executive board welcomed into membership Mrs. C. M. Blackhall of Mountain avenue, new chairman of production.

Thanks For Your Cooperation During the Telephone Strike

We wish to express to all telephone users our appreciation for the cooperation they gave us during the telephone strike last week.

Most Long Distance telephone service was disrupted and local manual service in a number of communities was greatly curtailed due to operators refusing to pass through picket lines established around our buildings by a union of Western Electric Company installers.

In the affected areas people greatly reduced their calling and this cooperation enabled our management employees, together with other workers who were on the job day and night, to put through all emergency calls that were brought to our attention.

Thank you again for your understanding and cooperation.

In the manual exchanges where local service was curtailed because of the strike, appropriate adjustments will be made in the charges for local service for the period involved.

WINTER FEEDING FOR WILDLIFE

Organized sportsmen, Boy Scouts, 4-H Club members, farmers and bird lovers were called upon Saturday by the State Fish and Game Council of the Department of Conservation to inaugurate programs of winter feeding to prevent a heavy mortality rate for wildlife.

Establishment of feeding stations and their maintenance during the winter months when snow and sleet storms cover all ground food and make it inaccessible to birds and animals will aid considerably in maintaining an abundance of game life in New Jersey, the Fish and Game Council declared. Heavy storms not only cover up the food supplies of game birds but also that of insectivorous and song birds, the council said.

Any whole grain such as corn, wheat, buckwheat, rye or waste seeds from harvesters or combines is suitable for feeding game birds and animals. For song and insectivorous birds, suet, crumbs of bread, dog food or crackers and any kind of small seeds such as millet, canary bird seed or special mixtures sold by bird stores, are acceptable.

Creation of permanent feeding stations and good covers wherever game birds and animals are present, and their constant maintenance, will also considerably help in the usual rabbit winter liberation program which is underway in New Jersey at the present time under the auspices of the Fish and Game Council.

In distributing winter food for wildlife, both game mamals and all bird species, the Fish and Game Council advises it is important that it be placed within a short distance of where the game for which it is intended is living. Sportsmen and others should keep in mind those places where game existed during the previous hunting season. Feeding stations should be constructed in conjunction with natural cover such as brushy hedgerows, swamps and weed patches so the game is not unduly exposed to danger from carnivorous predators when visiting the stations.

Never less than two entrances or exits—this is most important—should be provided so the game birds and animals cannot be cornered and caught within the shelter. In the event that predators are causing mortality at the station, it may become necessary to trap them if legally permissable, or discontinue feeding at that place.

Detailed instructions on winter feeding of wildlife in New Jersey, including proper methods of constructing feeding stations, may be secured by writing the State Fish and Game Council, State House, Trenton.

N. J. S. G. A. Plans Caddie Fund For 4-Year Rutgers Scholarships

The plan of the New Jersey State Golf Association to establish scholarships at Rutgers for promising boys in the caddie yard is gaining strong support, Dr. Stephen G. (Jerry) Lee of Canoe Brook, president, reported Saturday. A number of Summit caddies, students in the local high school, have already made inquiries at the Herald sports desk, on how to make application.

First to give "full backing" to the project was Charley Gray Upper Montclair pro who is president of the New Jersey PGA. "The pros want to do everything possible to help," said Gray. "I talked today with Dave O'Connell, our tourney chairman, and with other pros and we want to hold a tournament—or several tourneys—to help raise the money needed to give selected caddies a college education. This excellent project has our full backing."

There were other messages to Dr. Lee, Charles W. Littlefield of Montclair, new president of the United States Golf Association, favors the caddie-education idea and promises to help.

"We promise to enroll two caddies each year at Rutgers, entering the first pair in the autumn term this year, and our plan is to raise $4,000 by July 1 from golfers and from our 40 member clubs," said Dr. Lee, who has named John Wiesing of Montclair as chairman of the scholarship committee.

The N. J. S. G. A. was busy last week, one meeting covering the caddies project and the 1946 tournament schedule and another about a magazine on activities in the Jersey clubs. Representatives of 20 clubs, at a meeting Thursday night, favored the starting of a magazine.

Although the scholarship plan will be similar to the Western Golf Association idea, it will not follow the pattern religiously. Under the Evans Fund plan, scholarship holders are not eligible for reappointment after one year. The New Jersey Golf Association purposes to see a boy through four years at Rutgers should he qualify and maintain averages acceptable to Rutgers authorities.

Each of the 40 member clubs of the N. J. S. G. A. will be asked to submit the names of two caddies whom they believe will meet Rutgers entrance requirements. These boys will be invited to New Brunswick and subjected to tests. After the field is weeded to 10 survivors there will be a consultation between Dean Earl Reed Silvers and the N. J. S. G. A. executive committee and from the surviving 10 the two scholarship winners will be selected.

John Wiesing of Montclair Golf Club, for more than six years chairman of the Metropolitan Golf Association caddies committee, was selected as chairman of the N. J. S. G. A. caddie scholarship committee.

The idea of scholarship for Garden State caddies was given impetus recently by a series of communications between Chick Evans, former national open and amateur champion, and Dr. Lee.

Lee wrote to Evans seeking information regarding the plans. Chick's first letter to Lee in reply read:

"Your good letter was duly received and I was more glad than words can say to know that you were an admirer of my Caddie Scholarship Fund. If you instigate a similar plan in New Jersey it will add to the brilliant record of the New Jersey State Golf Association. We must not forget the caddie is the future citizen whose later source of income will not come from the game of golf. He must know that to succeed in life he must take more interest in business and education than in pleasures.

"All information you have asked for will come to you under separate cover."

A second letter contained all details of the Evans plan and an account of the records achieved by the 61 caddies who have won scholarships under the plan since 1930. They range from students now attending Northwestern University to brave records in the war by youngsters who rose as high as the rank of Navy commander and Army lieutenant colonel.

Chatham and Summit Cage Stars Pose Before Game

Alan Smith (left), Chatham center, and Larry Luce (right), Summit center, pose Friday night in Summit High's gym before the Chatham-Summit basketball game which was won by the latter, 36-22. Smith, high scorer for Chatham, was boxed up in all except the second stanza when he broke loose for eight of his nine points. Luce tallied eight points for the home team. Summit's 2nd Half Rush Upsets Chatham, 36-22

Intermittent outbursts of excellent playing punctuated an otherwise so-so showing as Summit High's cagers rallied in the second half of their game Friday night on their own court to hand Johnny Fries' Chatham Eskimos their sixth successive defeat on the season, 36-22. It was the second win in six starts for the home team.

Alan Smith's eight-point cluster in the second stanza permitted the Eskimos to end the half with a 12-10 lead.

Ubiquitous Johnny Clark, who has been raising heck with all of the Hill City's cage foes this season, showed no discrimination against Chatham. He dumped in 11 points to win scoring honors closely followed by Smith with nine markers for second honors. Clark was greatly aided by Larry Luce and Frank Donio, each of whom came through with eight points for the Maroon and White.

Much of Summit's success can be attributed to boxing up the Eskimos' scoring twins, Jack McElgunn and Smith. Outside of the second stanza, Smith was limited to a single point. He had 10 free shots, missing seven of them. McElgunn held scoreless in the second frame, came through with a goal in each of the other frames together with a free shot in the third stanza.

Both teams showed to poor advantage in foul shooting with Chatham having a considerable edge in this department, Summit garnering only two out of ten.

The game was played before the largest crowd of the season on the home court, 508 paying admissions in addition to 50 non-paying customers.

The preliminary game between the javee teams followed somewhat the same pattern of the varsity games. Chatham ended the first half leading 10-9 thanks to four goals by Closs and one by Cane, all being swished through the rings in the second stanza. Then came the second half rush by Summit who rang up 21 counters to 14 by Chatham. Closs, Chatham's roving forward, won scoring honors for the preliminary game with 17 counters. Summit's Feickert with 11 points won second scoring honors. The game ended with Summit on top, 30-24.

Many Chatham fans complimented Alton G. Gast, the host team's faculty manager for his "excellent supervision" of the overflow crowd.

Summit Points To Westfield and Verona, Both Away

Summit High School's quintet will meet Westfield tomorrow night on the latter's floor while Tuesday afternoon Coach Nelson Smith of Verona and his Hornets headed by Bucky Hatchett will be host to the Hill City boys.

Joe Freeman's Westfield team has been pushed around plenty this season which included a 55-37 set-back by Roselle Park who seem to take delight in administering defeats to the Blue Devils in all fields of sports. Jim Dougherty and Stan Reydell together with Slim Salvato, center, have shaped up well on the Blue Devils' attack.

While conceding Summit an outside chance against Westfield, it is hardly likely the home lads will fare so well against Verona, who have won six out of seven this season. Clifford Scott has been the only team to stop the Hornets, principally because they held Hatchett to a measly seven points, though he has averaged better than 20 points a game to date.

Elementary School Basketball Loop Gets Started

On Friday the Elementary School Basketball League opened its season for boys in the 5th and 6th grades of the respective schools. The league is operating at full strength this year, having six teams participating. Each school will play every other school once during the season, making a total of five games for each team. The games will be played every Friday afternoon starting at 3:15 o'clock.

As in the Soccer League, there will be an All City First Team and an All City Second team chosen at the end of the season, and these two teams will play each other at the end of the season. After the opening games, H. Rogers Muse, coach, stated, "I am pleased with the cooperation of the students in helping to make the league a success and in the students' efforts to learn this game of basketball, as well as increasing their enjoyment in sports events." All league games are played in the girls' gymnasium of the high school. Mr. Muse is the coach of all the teams and is hoping to develop players for the Junior and Senior High School teams in the coming years.

In the opening games this year Roosevelt School defeated Franklin School by the score of 21 to 9; Lincoln School defeated Brayton School by the score of 13 to 11.

It was Donald Crann who paced the Jefferson boys to victory over Washington by scoring six points. He was closely followed by Richard Dennis who scored four points for the victors. Billy Gasti was the spark-plug for Washington, scoring six points for his afternoon's efforts.

In the Lincoln-Brayton tussel, Johannes Grisby was the high scorer with 15 points, as he poured them through the hoop for Lincoln. On the Brayton side of the books, it was James who kept them in the ball game by scoring four points.

The final game of the afternoon found Roosevelt whipping Franklin decisively by a 20 to 9 score. Robert Schivers was the leading boy for Roosevelt with 11 points, while Barry Closs did a noble job for Franklin, scoring six points for his team.

The schedule for tomorrow is as follows:

Jefferson vs. Roosevelt at 3:15 p. m.

Brayton vs. Franklin at 3:45 p. m.

Lincoln vs. Washington at 4:15 p. m.

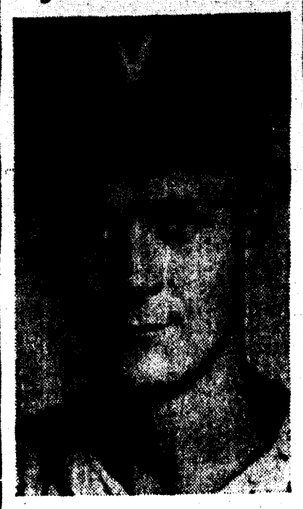
Again Active in Sports



BOB BRYDON

ex-Marine sergeant appeared Saturday night in the Comets' lineup against the Westfield Y on the locals' court. It marked Brydon's first appearance in a sports arena since he was honorably discharged from the Marines where he won the Bronze Star and other decorations for action against the Japs. Judged by the acclaim accorded him Saturday, Summit fans haven't forgotten his prowess in various fields of sports, especially baseball where he was headed for a professional career before the war.

Paul and Spencer Pace Comets in Topping Westfield

As one observer put it, "Lay on McDuff," following the lines of the Bard of Avon," and . . . be him who first cries: 'Hold enough.' Believe it or not but Shakespeare might well have been speaking of Saturday night's basketball game on the YMCA court when the Y Comets of Summit turned back the Westfield Y, 59-40.

Talk about your blood on the moon. Basketball fans will have to go a long way before they witness another such knock-'em-down-and-drag-'em-out encounter as the two Y teams staged. Altogether Referee Bob Smith called 34 personal fouls, 20 against the Comets and 14 against the visitors. The Comets came through with seven of their free shots and the visitors gained 12 points via the free route.

Frank Paul, six foot-six giant, paced the Comets' attack with 13 points followed by Thomas Spencer with 12 markers. These scoring tons were greatly helped by Frank Korn and Joe Yanotta with nine each and Slip Brenn with seven. Joe Glowacki of the visitors, blond guard, won scoring honors with 15 points.

This Saturday night the Comets will be host to the Roseville A. C. the same team that two weeks ago defeated the Comets. The game will get underway at 8:30 p. m., on the Y court.

FIGHT INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Five Reasons to Give—Gerald Drigot, Fred Pomatis, James McCormick, Thomas Kenny and Richard Kresge—were stricken with infantile paralysis in the New Jersey epidemic of last summer.

PUT THEM BACK IN THE SWIM

The five fellows above are fighting to bring back their health. They need your help to support the $2500 hospitalization fee which each poliomyelitis case requires. This is one of the important and expensive instruments, a hydrotherapy tank, which allows each patient to receive necessary modern care and exercise for affected muscles. Join the March of Dimes and support them.

As New Jersey Goes, So Goes the Nation Johnny Long Says

Johnny Long, currently appearing at Frank Dailey's Meadowbrook in Cedar Grove, said today in an interview: "In politics they say, 'As Maine goes, so goes the nation.' But in music, it's 'as New Jersey goes, so goes the nation.'"

Long, stage, screen and radio favorite, is convinced of this State's position as tester for the music world. "Whenever I open at the Meadowbrook publishers, song pluggers and bandsmen come out for the occasion. I never saw such a crowd of professionals and they all watch the reaction of the crowd."

Jersey's nearness to New York is responsible for its being considered representative of musical taste, Long explains.

"The people are close enough to the metropolitan center to know the newest and yet not near enough to have the blase' view of life. This creates a keen interest in all types of music."

A song-hit in this area is a sure fire national sensation, he declared. A sample test of this area revealed some interesting facts, Johnny continued. Essex Countyites are strong rumba and samba fans. The Hillside-Elizabeth-Rahway-Union-Linden unit favor novelty ditties. Listeners from Paterson, Passaic, New Brunswick and Belleville request jitterbug and hot numbers most frequently. Surprisingly enough, Jersey City and Morristown citizens are alike in their demands for shows along with dance music. But all interviewed say they want good music above all else.

Francey Lane handles the canary department, with Tommy Morgan helping out on the male vocals. The Glee club will also furnish the music during the Meadowbrook engagement.

"Blossom Time" Scores New All-Time Record At Paper Mill Playhouse

A total of 306 performances, a new all-time record, will have been performed at the Paper Mill Playhouse during the 39-week season when the final curtain falls on Frank Carrington's production of "Blossom Time" Saturday, January 19.

The reigning Paper Mill favorites, George Britton, Andzia Kuzak, Donald Gage, Clarence Nordstorm and Yolanda Lupachini are part of the company which has participated in the six-week engagement of the Romberg-Schubert musical play which has run longer than any of the previous three productions of "Blossom Time."

Adding the present six weeks to the earlier runs which totaled seven weeks makes the current production an all-time record breaker in another respect the longest total engagement for any Paper Mill production. Prior to this the record had been held by the 12 weeks played by the "The Student Prince" in the last two seasons.

Like all other Paper Mill Playhouse productions of the season, "Blossom Time" was directed by Carrington and Agnes Morgan while Richard Alan Gordon and Kenneth Lloyd Mapes have been music director and scenic designer, respectively, of all productions. Henry Schwarze, choreographer, has worked on five of the earlier seven productions of the season.

Present plans call for a season of all-new productions, but a final decision will not be made until all requests are tabulated and the field of available operettas is considered. An announcement will be made prior to the reopening in April.

N. J. Deer Killed Listed at 2,600 For Past Season

Hunters in the state during last month's open season bagged 2,660 legal deer, an increase of only 27 over 1944 despite the fact last year's season extended an additional day.

The State Fish and Game Council of the Department of Conservation, in announcing the 1945 score, attributed the only slight increase to the heavy snows and the fact that no Saturday fell within the Dec. 17 to 21 dates.

Burlington County led all others with 580 legal kills during the five-day period. Only in two counties, Salem and Hudson were no kills reported.

A total of 53 illegal deer were found by game wardens, according to the council, as compared with the 90 carcasses discovered in the woods during the 1944 season.

Deer taken in counties are as follows: Atlantic, 225; Bergen, 65; Burlington, 580; Camden, 55; Cape May, 40; Cumberland, 135; Essex, 36; Gloucester, 19; Hunterdon, 99; Mercer, 30; Middlesex, 5; Monmouth, 65; Morris, 392; Ocean, 214; Passaic, 119; Somerset, 143; Sussex, 288; Union, 4; Warren, 146.

Father and Son Championship At Canoe Brook

Canoe Brook Country Club has been given the father-and-son championship June 27 and 28 according to the tournament schedule announced last week by the New Jersey State Golf Association.

The New Jersey open golf championship will be played at Essex Fells Country Club this year. The dates announced by the New Jersey State G. A. are July 12, 13 and 14, with the state pro-amateur medal play championship on the opening day. This year the state open title will be decided at 72 holes During the war years the event was cut to 36 holes. In the 1946 tourney Frank Kringle, Union county sharpshooter, will be the defending champion.

Plainfield Country Club has been given the state amateur championship tourney with June 6, 7, 8 and 9 as the dates, it was announced by Steve Berrien, NJSGA tournament chairman. The amateur will be back on its prewar scale with 32 players qualifying for match play after the opening day's 18-hole qualifying round . . . Of cedrse the big event in amateur golf this year will be the USGA championship at Baltusrol September 9 to 14.

The state's tourney schedule will open with the pro-amateur match play championship at Hackensack G. C. on May 17, 18 and 19.

The committee hasn't decided about a father-daughter championship, but it is likely that an 18-hole event will be arranged during the season. The father-daughter tourney was started during war years because many young men were in the armed forces.

Added to the schedule this year will be a Scotch foursome championship, scheduled August 11 at Braidburn with 18 holes of medal play.

Forest Hill F. C. was awarded one of the big events on the golf list, the amateur best-ball championship. The partner tourney will be decided at the Bloomfield course September 20, 21 and 22.

The caddie and caddie master championship course and dates will be picked before the start of the season.
