

Citizens' Group Names Committee For By-law Study

The Citizens' Committee for a Better Overlook has named a sub-committee on by-laws to consider suggestions for revision of the Overlook by-laws. Revised by-laws are to be submitted to the members of the association at the annual meeting March 20.

Richard E. Reeves, chairman of the by-laws committee of the Board of Trustees, has indicated that he would welcome the cooperation and help of the Citizens' Committee. Lawrence J. MacGregor, chairman of the Citizens' group, said, "I have asked Mrs. Elisabeth H. Baker, Mrs. Adrienne W. Gude, Mrs. Helen S. Pettes, F. W. Jackson and G. Elmore Schultz to act for us as a sub-committee and to receive any suggestions which other members of our group or any interested citizen may wish to submit."

To Modernize By-laws "Our aim," Mr. MacGregor said, "is to help the hospital achieve a major reorganization of its methods. The fault in the past, in our view, is that the by-laws have permitted and even encouraged bad organization habits and have made it difficult, if not impossible, for many well-intentioned members of the Board of Trustees to correct obvious faults or even in some instances to know what was going on. We understand that the Trustees' Committee is equally anxious to modernize the by-laws—especially to prevent self-perpetuation of the Board; define fully the duties of the director; reduce the number of Trustees; and generally speaking, to bring about a reorganization which may be considered in line with what the citizens of Summit and this area asked for on December 16 at the meeting in the high school auditorium."

Have Three Objectives Mr. MacGregor expressed satisfaction with the progress being made.

"If the seven nominees to be presented to the membership at the annual meeting on March 20 have all indicated their agreement with the aims of the meeting of 1,000 citizens in the high school (and we will have had the opportunity to ask them before they are nominated) our first objective will have been gained. Revision of the by-laws in line with the best modern hospital practice will constitute achievement of our second objective. That will leave only the third objective which is to see that an independent survey of the hospital is made to provide the sound base on which to build for the future. When that third objective has been reached (and the president of the hospital has recommended that such a study be made), the Citizens' Committee will feel that the objectives demanded by the 1,000 citizens on December 16 will have been attained. Meanwhile, we are still receiving proxies from members of the Hospital Association and would be glad to have as many as possible."

CASE CLOSED—Doctors and other interested local agencies this week wrote "finis" to the case of Esther Dillingham, 8, (above) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dillingham of Broad street, Summit, who, with three of her sisters, was stricken five years ago with polio. Esther, one of a family of nine, was the only child crippled and after tedious weeks, months and years of hospital and home treatment, last week had her casts removed and it is hoped she will be able to walk alone very soon. Esther's case is a story of community service and a mother's devotion because the doctors claim that without Mrs. Dillingham's prompt appraisal of the nature of the illness at the beginning and without her constant care and attention, the cure may not have been effected. The Union County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis aided financially and the Red Cross Motor Corps guaranteed transportation to Overlook Hospital for weekly hydro-therapy treatments and bi-weekly trips to the Plainfield offices of Dr. Elmer P. Weigel, physician in charge. The disease was first diagnosed by Dr. R. V. Sims of Summit and the child was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, and later to the Westfield Children's Home. Red Cross and public health nurses made regular home visits to care for Esther and members of the Overlook staff volunteered their services. Pictured above, taking Esther on what is hoped to be the last trip to Plainfield are Mrs. Frederick Carpenter of Summit (left) and Mrs. George A. Spitzer of Millington, (right), of the Red Cross Motor Corps.

4,127 Visits in Year Made by Summit Red Cross Nurses

In the Summit area two Red Cross public health registered nurses give health supervision and nursing care in the home on a visit basis. They also give instruction in the care of the ill, prevention of disease, and promotion of family health. In emergency situations they provide nursing service for people for whom no other provision has been made.

WHAT DOES THE SERVICE PROVIDE?

These nurses bring comfort and well-being to countless individuals in this community. Last year they made 4,127 visits in the district covering 18.26 square miles. The visits took from 15 minutes to three hours per call and included all types of illness such as cardiac and cancer cases, chronic diseases and acute infections requiring bedside care. With this skilled care, they also carry on the educational phase of the case with the family. As part of the program, a great deal of time is spent on record work and home visits to "crippled children" who come under the jurisdiction of the New Jersey State Crippled Children's Commission. The nurses have been kept informed concerning the latest methods of treatment, such as the administration of penicillin, the Kenny method for polio, and the treatment of varicose veins. To better qualify themselves in teaching health methods in the home, both nurses are doing extra-ordinary work taking advanced college courses. They are cooperating with other Union County nurses, such as school and industrial nurses, to pool their ideas and resources with the object of informing the community about all Public Health nurse resources and how to obtain the various services.

WHY IS IT ESSENTIAL?

According to studies made by the National Institute of Health of the U. S. Public Health Service, six million people in the United States are incapacitated due to illness during the winter months. A large number of people are ill at home on any day in the year. It is estimated that of all illnesses, 85 per cent or more are cared for in the home. No one can evaluate the services of a competent nurse at the time of illness. She brings not only comfort and skilled care to the patient, who is often old and helpless, but relief to the family combined with skilled instruction on the care of the patient.

Another of the important peace-time activities of the Red Cross is aid to disaster victims. It is in fact, one of the charter obligations of every chapter.

WHAT DOES IT DO HERE? This community has been extremely fortunate in not being subjected to a major disaster. It is comforting to know, however, that the Disaster Preparedness and Relief Committee stands back of the community for any possible emergency involving five or more families. This committee is trained for efficient service and immediate action to minimize loss of life and property. Chap. (Continued on Page 4)

Summit High Pupil Among Top Six in Bamberger Show

Students of Summit junior and senior high schools won numerous awards at the New Jersey scholastic art exhibition at L. Bamberger & Co., where 800 entries from 215 schools will be on display through Saturday. More than 5,000 students entered the competition.

Herbert Hazelton, who received a first award for his water color in the 1946 exhibition, was among those judged in the six Best of Show classification—for a cash prize. His oil painting of a street scene hangs in the "Best of Show" gallery at Bamberger's and will be sent to the national scholastic competition in Pittsburgh next May. He also received an honorable mention for a water color.

Other Summit high school artists who received recognition are Leon Cross who received a third place and Nicholas Pigna, an honorable mention, in the oils classification for students with less than ten hours of instruction per week.

Junior high school students given honorable mention in the water color group for 7th, 8th, and 9th grades are Dorothy Leonard, Edwin Dittmar, and Tom Gallup. A second place in Junior cartooning was won by Jeanie Bobb.

John C. Williams, president of the club, will be the guest of honor at the coming Saturday, March 15, a great all-cartoon show at the Maplewood Theatre. —adv.

Bamberger's, will present cash awards, gold pins for first, second and third place winners, and certificates of honorable mention at a scholastic ceremony in Bamberger's auditorium Saturday at 3 p.m.

Best of Show award, a $50 war bond, will go to Diana Smith of Bernards Township School, Bernardsville, for her clay model of a calf belonging to one of her neighbors. William Oliver of Leonia High School will receive second prize, a $25 war bond, for his ink drawing of a rural railroad station. A water color by Edward Envall, Arts High, Newark, was judged third best by the jury of awards.

Chiefs of Police Elect Egan a Trustee

Chief of Police Edward K. Egan was elected a trustee for a two-year term at a reorganization meeting Thursday of the Police Chiefs' Association of Union County in the municipal building at Scotch Plains. The association was organized about ten years ago, but has been inactive for several years. Chief Egan says the purpose of the association is to promote closer cooperation among police chiefs in the county and to establish an educational program for all officers.

First Mental Hygiene Dinner To Be March 27

Three psychiatrists have been invited to address the first public annual dinner and meeting of the Summit Committee of the Mental Hygiene Society of Union County, Thursday, March 27, at the Summit YMCA beginning at 7 p. m. Invitations are being sent to several hundred people who have expressed their interest in the work of the committee, but anyone who wishes to attend the dinner may do so by writing to Mrs. James B. Burke, 6 Llewellyn road.

The speakers will be Dr. Bruce Robinson, of the board of education, Bureau of Child Guidance, Newark; Dr. Nathan S. Kline of the Veterans' Administration of Lyons; and Dr. Evelyn Ivey of Morristown. Dr. Robinson will discuss family or marital affairs; Dr. Kline, problems having to do with the veteran's return to civilian life; and Dr. Ivey, matters affecting children, particularly the everyday problems of the children of those present.

The plan is to have each psychiatrist speak for about 15 minutes in a general way and then to answer questions from the audience. Arrangements will be made to accept written questions to save embarrassment to anyone. Indications are that possibly 200 may attend, some of them from out of town. The committee plans to give preference to reservations from Summit residents and nearby communities.

The dinner committee includes Arthur D. Schwarz, chairman, Allan R. Devenney, Mrs. Sydney Darlington, Mrs. James B. Burke, and Mrs. Margaret Jones.

At its February meeting, the Summit Committee elected its officers for the coming year. They are: Dr. David K. Barnwell, chairman; Mrs. H. O. Pattison, secretary; Mrs. Karl Keller, corresponding secretary; and Harry W. Edgar, treasurer.

The committee's representative on the Central Committee of the United Campaign, Mrs. Arthur Ackerman, has resigned and her place was taken by Mrs. Pattison. Members of the Summit Committee who are on the Union County Board of the Mental Hygiene Society are Mrs. Margaret Jones, Mrs. J. B. Burke, Mrs. Arthur Ackerman, Harry W. Edgar, and Dr. Barnwell. The clinic committee consists of Allan R. Devenney and Miss Nora Way.

U. S. Must Have Faith in UN, Adm. Turner Says

Stating in one part of his address that "in the war Americans began the fight for a just peace, and that if possible will be a just peace, we must now finish winning the peace, not only for America but also for the world," Admiral Richmond Kelly Turner, representative of Admiral Nimitz on the Military Staff Committee of the United Nations, spoke on "Rotarians and the United Nations" to the Summit Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting Monday.

Admiral Turner began by saying that "I am honored to be invited as a guest of the Rotary Club of Summit. I have lived here in Summit nearly one year and I like Summit and I like its people. Now that I am about to retire from active duty to go to my home in California, I will say that I leave Summit with regret, because Summit is a nice place."

Continuing he said: "In my duty with the United Nations, I have learned that the great civic national and international associations have had an important influence on the proceedings of the United Nations. Rotary International is one of those accredited to the United Nations in an advisory capacity. These associations not only advise the UN, but they bring out and educate general opinions, in the democratic countries, that are very important. It is a regret that great international democratic associations such as Rotary International, do not have much influence in countries with a government controlled entirely by the police.

Rotary an Influence

"International Rotary, I believe, is an influence for decency and honesty in human relations, whether national or international. Rotary Clubs certainly made a very definite contribution to winning the war.

"If I may, I will speak to you seriously on matters that relate to certain of the future international relations of the United States. Whether Americans like it or not, the United States is permanently committed to participation in the complex international affairs of Europe and Asia. There will be many new burdens for the US to which Americans have not heretofore been accustomed. (Continued on Page 4)

Bad Weather Slows Red Cross Drive Results

Bad weather over last weekend held down Summit's Red Cross campaign collections to a little less than one-quarter of the $40,000 goal. James W. Bancker, drive chairman, announced this week. Up to Tuesday noon, he said, $9,400 had been reported to campaign headquarters, most of this amount being advanced gifts and $1,000 which had been donated by business firms. Residential canvassers were severely hampered by the mixture of snow, sleet and rain that prevailed during the week-end but with sunny skies in the beginning of this week were out in full strength to bring the local drive to a close by March 10. Mr. Bancker urged all residents to give as generously as possible to meet the quota and stated that early returns show that individual gifts this year are a little less than the 1946 average.

Merchants throughout Summit have been generous in donating windows to illustrate various Red Cross activities and services, according to Mrs. John S. Tennant, in charge of Red Cross window displays. Assisting Mrs. Tennant are Mrs. Gordon Johntny, former Summit Red Cross executive secretary, and Mrs. William Sartorius, chairman of the nutrition corps. Mrs. Tennant and her committee have received citations from the North Central area office of American Red Cross for windows done in previous campaigns, particularly for the window titled "Are You in the Pink?" for the Famine Emergency Campaign last summer.

The following merchants have contributed their windows for the current drive: Public Service, Frumkin's, Krege-Newark, Busch, Carroll's, Hollywood Dress Shoppe, Marmon's Florist, Rillo's, Eastern Fuel, Miss Nellie, Iannalla's in East Summit and Ban-nor's in North Summit. The display departments of Public Service, Krege-Newark and Eastern Fuel each did their own windows for the drive.

Catholics Lead List in Local Church Survey

The religious survey sponsored and accomplished by the churches of Summit on Feb. 16, resulted in the completion of 4,685 calls by the 281 canvassers, it is reported by H. Walford Martin, chairman.

The principal church preferences expressed were:

Roman Catholic	1,400
Presbyterian	816
Episcopal (2 churches)	497
Methodist (2 churches)	479
Baptist	215
Lutheran (St. Johns)	179
Baptist (Fountain)	144
Community	128
A.M.E. Zion (Wallace Chapel)	89
Christian Science	57
Jewish	52

In most cases these figures represent families but a "spot" check of 700 families indicates that 17 per cent of families have a divided allegiance. Mr. Martin pointed out, only 82 persons (1.7 per cent) refused information, and only 107 (2.3 per cent) had no church preference, while 303 (6.5 per cent) could not be reached.

The survey was favored by the goodwill of the people of Summit, according to Mr. Martin, and accomplished what no church could have undertaken individually. Its purpose, that of placing every family on the responsibility list of some church, will now rest upon those churches following up the new names they will receive, he added.

City Gets $6,143.46 Railroad Tax Interest

Several railroads have paid to the State $4,500,000 of delinquent railroad tax interest, in which ten municipalities in Union County will share, including the City of Summit.

The plan of distribution has been announced by Homer C. Zink, State comptroller. Only those municipalities having second class railroad property share in the distribution. It is said Governor Alfred E. DiSicco hopes those getting funds will use it for teachers' salaries and general tax reduction.

Summit shares in this distribution to the extent of $6,143.44.

Council Projects Plans for Fire Quarters in Broad St.

Common Council projected plans Tuesday night for new Fire Headquarters to be erected at 384 Broad street. An ordinance was approved at first reading to provide for an appropriation of $1,100 for the payment of an architect's fees in connection with alterations to the Street

Local Commuters Face $2.50 Hike in Rail Tickets

Summit and other Lackawanna commuters were notified Monday by pamphlets distributed on commuting trains that the railroad has joined with other eastern carriers in asking for an increase in passenger rates. Because of rising operation costs, the Lackawanna claims, it is seeking a 20 per cent increase in monthly commutation tickets with a maximum increase of $2.50 per ticket. Summit commuters will be asked to pay $2.50 additional for their monthly tickets, bringing the cost from its present $12.80 to $15.30.

The Summit increase represents a flat $2.50 additional, rather than the 20 per cent boost. Short Hills commuters will pay the 20 per cent increase. In no instance, the railroad states, will tickets cost more than $1 per mile of distance per month, with a certain minimum for very short distances.

The petition to the Interstate Commerce Commission and State Commissions which the railroads will submit cites higher costs such as a 51 per cent raise in hourly wages, 40 per cent increase in material costs and increased social security and unemployment payments. The affiliated railroads seek an increase in one-way passenger fares from 2.25 cents to 2.5 cents per mile in "commuter" and from 3.3 cents to 3.5 cents per mile in Pullman and parlor cars. It is claimed that the average passenger is now carried at a loss. Present rail rates were established in 1932.

Summit Schoolmen Attend Conclave Of Administrators

Dr. William A. Kincaid, superintendent of schools, Director A. J. Bartholomew of secondary education; Walter S. Eddy, secretary and business manager of the Board of Education, and Leonard E. Best, chairman of the board's education committee, are expected home today from Atlantic City, where they have been attending the 73rd annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators.

On Sunday night they heard an address by Mrs. Pearl A. Wanamaker, president of the National Education Association, who declared that inadequate salaries for teachers and lack of adequate teaching personnel presents the greatest problem before education at the present time.

Mrs. Wanamaker said teachers must receive the increase in salary commensurate with their training, ability and value to the community. The public must be educated to recognize the teacher as a personality, a contributing individual in the community and not as a functional adjunct to the school building, she said.

Trustees Give New $1,200 Sterilizers to Overlook

Announcement has been made by Overlook Hospital of a gift from the Board of Trustees of two new uterine sterilizers to replace obsolete equipment in the maternity department. Installation of the equipment will involve an expenditure of approximately $1,200. Funds were provided by all of the present and a number of the past Trustees as well as members of the families of deceased Trustees.

Many of the subscribers to the fund volunteered the statement that they desired their donation to be recorded as an indication of their deep appreciation to James J. Kerrigan of Summit, president of Overlook for the last year.

It is also a matter of record, ZUBIS will remain open evenings until 10:00 P.M. beginning Friday, March 7. —Adv.

Department building on the present site into the new headquarters. Matthew M. Simpson of Summit avenue was selected as the architect.

The action of council in projecting the new fire headquarters was impelled by the sale of the former city hall in Springfield avenue more than a year ago to Adolph Best of Summit. The condition of sale stipulated that the Fire Department headquarters presently located on the Summit avenue and Bank street section of the former city hall was to be vacated by the city not later than October 1, 1946.

The present fire quarters in the former city hall new houses Chemical Engine Co. and Union Hose Co. These two outfits together with the Hook & Ladder Co. in still another former city hall building at 71 Summit avenue will be moved to the projected new Fire Headquarters in Broad street.

Two members of the paid Fire Department, Clarence H. Bender and Gordon A. Murray, now live with their families over Fire Headquarters at the corner of Summit avenue and Bank street. They, too, will have to vacate their quarters on or before October 1, 1946. Whether or not plans will be made to house these two families in the fire headquarters has not been stated.

It is also expected that the completion of plans for the new fire headquarters may affect the tenancy of Beacon Hill Post No. 130 V.F.W., who now occupy the second floor of the city owned building on Broad street.

A hearing on the ordinance to have the architect to make the plans for the new fire headquarters will have a public hearing at the March 18 meeting of Council.

Vets' Housing Authority Named

Council named a Veterans' Housing Authority for the administration of the various veterans' housing quarters now being erected in the city. The newly appointed authority includes representatives of the American Legion, Summit Post No. 138 and the Liberty Street Post together with Beacon Hill Post 190, V.F.W. These representatives are Richard S. Shapter, Jr., Frederick Willets, William B. Gannon, William Kern, Matthew Zeigler, Howard Bomger, Rev. Alfred G. Dunstan, Jr. and A. Moore.

Read Material Bids Asked

A resolution was adopted whereby Council will receive sealed proposals until 5:30 p.m. on March 15 for various read materials, details of which may be found in a legal advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue of the Herald.

It was reported that receipts from parking meters for February amounted to $2,961.55.

Discussion Meeting At Brayton Tonight

Parent-child relations as affected by present problems arising from the tempo of present day life will be the topic under discussion at the Brayton PTA meeting at the school auditorium at 8 p. m. Thursday, March 6. Psychology at the Brayton PTA meeting, Dr. Evelyn Ivey, and Miss Nora Alice Way, will speak and lead a question period. All parents are invited.

Summit Cancer Committee Plans for Coming Campaign

Early discovery and treatment of cancer may save seven American lives an hour, and funds for public education about cancer are the most urgent goal of the April cancer fund campaign, Dr. John D. Tidback told fellow-members of the Summit Campaign Committee at their organization meeting last week.

Dr. Tidback said every doctor knows many cases of cancer which might have been cured if recognized in their early stages and given medical treatment in time.

This wide extension of public education about cancer is the first purpose listed for the campaign by the American Cancer Society. The other two vital objects are expanded facilities for examination, diagnosis and treatment, and intensified scientific research under experts.

The Summit campaign, according to plans made at last week's meeting will center around a letter to each mailing address in the city directory, enclosing factual flyers from the national society.

Members of the local committee include: Ernest G. Malback and Mrs. Bjorhulf Johnson, co-chairman; John S. Ryland, treasurer; Mrs. L. H. Aker, Mrs. Douglas Baker, Miss Edna Chamberlain, Perry K. Farnham, Robert E. Lewis, Miss Adele Lynch, Mrs. Robert Norton and Dr. Tidback.

Plant Perennials Early For Best Germination

It's time to order hardy perennial seed now, make up the bed and plant as soon as the frost is out of the ground, advises Fred D. Omasa, from Elizabethtown. Most perennial seeds germinate better at this season, he says, and another advantage of early planting is that moisture stays at the top of the ground until April winds start to dry it up.

Howard Banger Named To Housing Committee

At a meeting of Beacon Hill Post, No. 107 VFW, held in the post room, Broad street, on Monday night, Howard Banger was appointed to represent the post on the housing committee for veterans' housing. It is stated that the committee will soon hold a meeting at which screening of Summit applicants for housing quarters will take place.

Race for Council In 2nd Ward Still Lacks Clarity

With the announcement Tuesday by Councilman Roland P. Scudiflo of the Second Ward that he will not be candidates for the nomination to succeed himself at the Republican Primary in June, the picture as to a slate for that post lacks clarity at this time.

This lack of clarity was further augmented when L. C. Col. Thomas J. Evans of Oakwood place, a former member of the Board of Education, said that "certain things unforeseen" have caused him to decide against being a candidate. He said last week that he was considering its possibility.

Former Councilman Frederick G. Sigler, Jr. from the Second Ward, who had been impudenced by a number of friends to seek the nomination, told the Herald that he could not become "receptive" because of the many demands occasioned by his business interests.

At this writing, the only candidate definitely in the field for the Second Ward Council post is Eugene F. Daly of Pearl street. However it has come to the attention of the Herald that "There will be a candidate, who will announce his intentions next week."

While this completes the picture as far as Republican interest in the Second Ward Council race is concerned, it is not known whether the Democrats will enter a slate in either ward for council. Councilman-at-large Ernest S. Hickey and Councilman Perry M. Hland of the First Ward are circulating petitions seeking the GOP nominations to succeed themselves at the June primary. Councilman Beatty said "the exigencies of business" have placed so many demands upon his time that it has become mandatory for him to decide against seeking the nomination.

Freelholder W. I. McMene Honorary Pallbearer

William I. McMene, director of the Union County Board of Chosen Freelholders, was one of the honorary pallbearers at the funeral of Edward Bauer, county registrar, on Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m.

Services were held at the Alfred C. Haines Funeral Home, 628 Newark avenue, Rev. John Wesley Lord, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist Church of Westfield in charge. Mr. Bauer died last Friday night at his home in Princeton road, Elizabethtown.

The flag at the court-house was at half staff in tribute to the county official, respected widely for his efficiency as registrar and for his political counsel.

CHOW LINE—Camping is one of the more important phases of Girl Scouting and, as everyone knows, chow is just about the most important phase of camping. These Summit girls are just a few of the many who enjoy week-end camping trips and overnight hikes to the Watchung Reservation and at Camp Osborn, Girl Scout camp for the Oranges. Left to right are Hope Morton, camp director; Marilyn Vaiter, Patricia Maurer and Margaret McTernan.

First Summit Girl Scout Troop Born 18 Years Ago

Summit and New Providence Girl Scouts will observe the 30th anniversary of the parent organization and the 18th year of local participation at a party to be held March 12 at the Lincoln School auditorium.

On that date Girl Scouting will be 35 years old and special observance of the event will be held throughout the nation. President Harry S. Truman, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, James F. Byrnes, former Secretary of State, Harold E. Stassen and other notables have already sent congratulatory messages to the national Girl Scout headquarters.

The Summit association was started 18 years ago when a group of public spirited women introduced the movement in Summit. The founders of the Summit association were Mrs. Norman Lee Swarthout, Mrs. Norman Ogden, Mrs. Lawrence Kitching, Mrs. W. R. Tracy and Mrs. T. S. Kenyon. After several weeks of training under Mrs. Reider Ness, local director in Short Hills, a community committee was organized to sponsor Summit's first troop. This troop met weekly at the Central Presbyterian Church parish house, who alternating leaders who continued their training in Short Hills.

Three years later, in 1932, the community committee had become more formally organized.

Mrs. T. S. Kenyon continued as chairman, and Mrs. T. W. Hawes was treasurer. Girl Scout headquarters were established in the Community House of the Community Church, where it remained until moving to the present office, 15 Beechwood road, in 1940. The service of Miss Sally Lee, as part-time local director, were secured. There were 102 scouts, divided into four intermediate troops, as well as 42 Brownies in two packs. The nine adult leaders were known at that time as captains, lieutenants, Brown Owls and Tawney Owls.

Chartered in 1935 in 1935 the Summit Girl Scouts were chartered as a local council with Mrs. J. M. Hatt as first commissioner.

In 1939, during the term of Mrs. M. S. Edgar, the Council incorporated, and from that time has been known officially as The Girl Scout Council of Summit, N. J., Inc. In 1940 the entire adult membership became an Association, giving every Girl Scout adult the privilege of forming policies and evaluating program. The former council is now known as the board, and meets monthly. The officers are called president and vice-president instead of commissioner and deputy commissioner. There are a secretary and treasurer, as well as committees for finance, organization, training, camp, public relations, program, staff and office, and nominations. The chairman of all committees are members of the board. Also on the board are the Leaders' Club representative, representative of the New Providence Borough Girl Scouts, who belong to the Summit Council, and representative for the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund.

On January 1, 1947, there were 263 Girl Scouts and Brownie Scouts, 44 members of troop committees, 26 leaders and assistant leaders, and 14 board members. There is a long waiting list of girls who wish to become scouts, but can not because of the lack of leaders. During the war years, many women who might have volunteered to take a troop, were busy with other work. Now, with a full time executive director, Mrs. Emmy M. Seinfeld, for help and training, the reorganized organization and program committees hope to find and hold enough leaders to take care of the waiting scouts-to-be.

Women who have served as commissioner and president of the Council are: Mrs. J. M. Hatt, Mrs. E. G. Williams, Mrs. R. T. Kerby, Mrs. M. S. Edgar, Mrs. H. H. Kimball, Mrs. T. W. Johnson, and Mrs. A. L. Dun, who is now filling her second term in office.

been Miss Sally Lee, Miss Ruth Thompson, Miss Elsie Thomas, Mildred E. Downs, Ida Backus Edge, Ruth E. Ward, Mrs. J. L. Hughes, and Mrs. Emmy M. Seinfeld.

Camping should play a large role in the life of a Girl Scout. The county cabin in the Watchung Reservation has been used from the earliest years for overnight troop hikes. Girls who wished to go to an established camp at that time, went to Camp Osborn, the Girl Scout camp for the Oranges. In 1935 Miss Marie Spinning, trained as a camp director, enabled a few girls to have camp experience of more than one night at a time. There has been for 11 years a regular camp committee—Mrs. W. Hetherington served as the first chairman. This committee arranges for a director, so that the Summit and New Providence scouts may have a week, at least, of camping.

The Council has been trying for several years to buy or build a cabin of its own, so that a greater number of girls may be accommodated for longer a period without having to go away to some other established camp. Through calendar sales, and the annual bazaar, the cabin fund is slowly growing to the point where this will be possible.

Hotel Suburban Points Campaign For Fire Safety

"John Jones is dead. He smoked in bed."
 "PLEASE—for your own safety and that of our other guests, don't smoke in bed. Five thousand people burn to death this way each year. PLEASE—don't be a fire statistic on next year's records." Such a card, placed in each room of the Hotel Suburban in Summit and East Orange, reminds guests dramatically of the dangers of smoking in bed, according to Harry A. Taylor, president.

This is just one of the many measures Hotel Suburban is using in its thorough safety campaign aimed at educating its guests to the importance of fire prevention. The hotel is equipped with every possible safety device, and instituted regular fire drills last fall. Since many Suburban guests live there permanently, an orderly procedure has been established for both residents and guests. Drills are held two weeks in the evening hours, and all guests are required to leave the building.

"In any public establishment, management can provide a great deal of protection, but it is up to the guests themselves to lock the door completely against tragedies such as the recent hotel disasters," Mr. Taylor declared.

A bell alarm has been installed on each floor of the structure and all employees are on 24-hour alert with specific duties assigned to them. Sheldon Force, chief engineer, is responsible for the direction of fire prevention and fire fighting programs.

Constructed to be as fire retardant as possible, the Suburban Hotel is smokeproof with enclosed stairwells, Mr. Taylor explained.

The Nation's greatest harvest occurred in 1946. The total surpassed the previous record year of 1942 by 2 per cent. It also was 26 per cent above the 1923-32 average.

Chamber President Sees Big Growth Ahead for Summit

Arthur Becker, president of the Chamber of Commerce, at the beginning of his talk to the members and guests at the Chamber's eighth annual dinner at the Canoe Brook Country Club last Tuesday night, said he thought it might be well to call attention to the officers and members for 1947. He then asked these men to stand as their names were mentioned: First vice-president, Thomas W. Coleman, manager of the Commonwealth Water Co.; Dean H. Travis, second vice-president president of the First National Bank; Harry W. Doyle, third vice-president, of the Doyle Furniture Co.; William G. Nordling, fourth vice-president, president of the C. P. Dean Co.; H. Marsh Shorrock, treasurer, OPA.; W. Rae Crane, secretary, of Jersey Central Power and Light Co.; directors, Salem Boorujy, Columbia Cleaners; Vincent A. Burgher, vice-president Ciba Pharmaceutical Products, Inc.; Edward A. Butler, real estate and insurance; Sidney F. Cole, Sweet Clean Laundry; Edwin Dederer, Summit Hardware and Paint Co.; John L. Hughes, lawyer, judge Third District Court; Thomas A. Miller, Stephen-Miller Co.; William Savage, Esso Service Station; Joseph Zeigler, Zeigler Furniture Co.

Big Job Ahead in '47
 Mr. Becker then stated that the Chamber of Commerce had a big job ahead for 1947 to make Summit a more friendly place in which to shop, work and live, and in the improvement of stores, both inside-and-out, calling attention to the start made during 1946 in Union place, Springfield avenue—remodeling of the former McClay building and those made and being made along other sections of the avenue. He said the reactions from the parking meters indicated that more off-street parking should be provided.

Chamber President
 Mr. Becker followed with a recital of population trends and consumer possibilities. It is estimated, he said, that with the additions and new construction in prospect, mentioning the new building of Bell Labs, Murray Hill, Air reduction Corp, Ciba, Celanese, General Food in Millburn Township, Allied Chemical, Convent, Flintkote, Morristown, Mattine Co., Morris Plains, Rowe Mfg. Co., largest manufacturers of vending machines in the world, Whippany, Sandoz Chemical Co., Hanover.

Sees 5,000 New Homes
 It is thought, he said that these expansions would bring 4,000 additional employees into the territory from Millburn and surrounding municipalities to Morristown, necessitating 5,000 new homes in the next five years. Estimating 5,000 families spending $40 per week would mean something like $10,000,000 in the course of a year. Therefore the Summit chamber members would have a job cut out for them to get their share of this new business, and every type of business would be benefited.

Mr. Becker said there should be an automatic increase in membership of the Chamber—professional men as well as businessmen. He said that with better stores, more attention to customer contacts and wants, there is no reason why Summit should not become the hub for this section and local businessmen should be the gainers.

He also said that the businessmen owed an obligation to civic affairs and they should participate in all campaigns to an even

Hurst Will Leave $10,000 to Widow

Probate of the will of the late Charles W. Hurst, Summit resident and chairman of the board of directors of Martindale-Hubbell, Inc., law directory publishers, who died February 19, disclosed at the county courthouse Saturday in Elizabeth that he left $10,000 in cash to his wife, Julia Bates Hurst of Essex road. Mrs. Hurst was also named income beneficiary of the trust to be established of the residuary estate.

Mrs. Hurst, who is the executrix, will also receive all personal belongings. On her death, the principal of the trust fund will be divided equally between a son, James E., and a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth H. Welsh, both of Summit.

Kiwanis Trio Gets 16-Yr. Perfect Attendance Pins

Three members of Summit Kiwanis Club, H. Marsh Shorrock, John J. Kents and Albert G. Dennis, were honored at the club's luncheon Tuesday in the Hotel Beechwood for sixteen years' perfect attendance. On behalf of Kiwanis International, Carl H. Marwig, chairman of the club's attendance committee, presented the three Kiwanians with 16-year chevrons to attach to their Kiwanis coat lapel pins.

Attendance chevrons were also presented other members of the club for perfect attendance as follows: Secretary Harland S. Kennedy, 12 years; Hudson Martin, four years; William Savage, three years; President Frank Allen, two years; William E. Bedell, Glen Gulliver and Mr. Marwig, one year each.

Joseph Zeigler was elected vice president to succeed Richard Seiber, resigned, because he sold his business here.

Preliminary plans were announced by President Allen for the club to celebrate its 23rd anniversary at the March 18 meeting. John Voegtlin was named as chairman of the club's Lyons Hospital Red Cross committee. Mr. Zeigler was named chairman of the program committee together with Dr. Harry Hays, Otto Schmidt, Jr., Mr. Marwig, Mr. Savage and Henry C. Thompson, Jr.

Ed Lincoln, chairman of the club's music committee, was instructed to confer with J. Fred Muller of the High School music department on the possibility of the club's acting as an agency for collecting unused instruments for students at the school who were unable to purchase their own.

 tomed. Winning the war did not forever remove from the front of the American people all international obstacles and difficulties. Even the war itself created new problems. Americans, particularly those who know by experience what war means, need now to face these problems squarely and realistically, and with the same brand of common sense and courage that they displayed so magnificently in winning the war.
Allies Want Peace
 "Peoples in some other allied lands were also fighting for freedom and against tyranny. I believe those peoples and our people want to preserve their ideals and to do so while maintaining peace. This ambition is clearly shown by their coming together in the world organization whose powers are set forth in the Charter of the United Nations."
 "We must recognize that the peoples of the members of the UN are far less homogeneous than were the people of the American colonies when they adopted their Constitution. The UN has vastly different national and racial ambitions, different social, economic and political ideas, and different standards for the conduct of international relations.

 "These differences tend to establish chasms of fear and suspicion. If the UN organization is to be successful, it will be necessary for its members to construct bridges across these chasms. Patience, sincerity, wisdom and generosity will be required, not from just a few nations, but from all nations, if common paths are to be found for successful international collaboration.
 "The charter of the UN, like the Constitution of the United States, provides merely a framework... a scheme of association for collective action through both pacific and military means. Actual flesh and life will be given through the decision of its signatories (particularly the five great nations)."
Mind Keep Alert
 "We cannot consider as a past and dead issue the difficulty of maintaining national security in the face of unfriendly and destructive propaganda, and ideological and economic warfare, such as Hitler waged to set the stage for his political and military aggressions. These difficult questions will arise again... are actually with us now."
 "Without doubt, the future of the UN also depends to a great extent upon the exact terms of the peace treaties which may be made with Germany and Japan. Delays in negotiating these treaties have improved neither international relations nor the stability of the UN. On the other hand, future stability in Europe and Asia will not be created if these important treaties are consummated in an atmosphere of hate and hatred such as prevailed at Versailles at the end of World War I. No treaties can permanently condemn Germany and Japan to a condition of international servitude. But safeguards need to be set that will prevent future armed aggression either by Germany or Japan or by other nations."
 "On the other hand, Russia and some other nations, while stating that they will accept some form of international control and inspection, at present reject all ideas of giving up the veto in order to permit the UN to punish all violators of an atomic energy or disarmament treaty.

 "The United States by treaty has accepted the duty of providing, when called on, military power for enforcing peace... also the obligation to our own citizens to defend them against sudden foreign aggression that can not quickly be controlled through international collective action."
U. S. Now Weakened
 "At present the U. S. is not capable of fulfilling these obligations. While some nations have remained strong, we have already gone a long way toward scrapping much of the great military strength that we had available not so long ago. But we need to keep that strength... The United States needs a long-range and continuous non-partisan military policy—a policy not subject to unpredictable variations each year when the national appropriation bills are considered in Congress.
 "Many difficult problems lie in the future path of the United States and the United Nations. We need to give sober and intelligent thought and earnest effort to the solution of these problems... but they can be solved if we approach them with American front and with spirit of patience, tolerance and determination.
 "But let us not have any more Pearl Harbors. Let us not again be found 'unready to meet foreign aggression. Let us keep faith with the hopes and ideals of all those splendid young men and women who went to war but who will never come home.
 "Let us not forget to remain strong, and let us be strong now!"
 The speaker was introduced by Allan R. Devenney, YMCA secretary and member of Rotary board of directors.
 Visitors introduced by Fred Lynn were John A. McManus, Elizabeth; Al Baeder, Newark; Herbert Pearson, New York City; Richard Roby, guest of Robert Stafford. Well wishes were extended Rev. Walter O. Kinsolving, who leaves for his new duties in Connecticut today.
 Frank H. Pratt, formerly a member of Rotary in Oklahoma, was inducted into membership by H. Donald Holmes.

Red Cross Always Alert For Local Disaster Relief

 ters often help each other by sending nurses, ambulances, blankets, and mobile canteens. Homes are rebuilt, repaired and re-furnished, and medical bills are paid. From Red Cross funds awarded directly to families needing such assistance. In 1945 the local committee under the chairmanship of Nicholas J. Hussey, was reorganized from a wartime to a peace time basis and the plan has been commended by the Red Cross Area Office as one of the best. An emergency closet is being prepared at Red Cross Chapter House if the Red Cross is asked for help for a situation that is not defined as a real disaster.
WHY IS IT ESSENTIAL?
 The resources and personnel of the American Red Cross are immediately available in time of disaster. National, state, and municipal governments expect the Red Cross to assume leadership in disaster preparedness and relief.
 When disaster in any form strikes any community, the local Red Cross chapter goes into action. The national organization stands by, ready to send additional monetary and other help if needed, and usually can have personnel and supplies on the spot in a matter of hours.
 The Red Cross has developed during a period of some 60 years a comprehensive program of emergency relief and rehabilitation for disaster victims. No other agency in this country is similarly equipped to deal with disaster situations. An act of Congress makes disaster relief a primary obligation of the American Red Cross.
 The Red Cross Nutrition Service, to advance maximum health in the American family promotes chapter surveys of community nu-

Hi-Y Clubs Name Boy Legislators For Annual Event

Hi-Y Clubs of Summit and Millburn recently elected delegates to participate in the New Jersey YMCA model legislature. Boys selected were: Scott Hi-Y Club—Edward Boorujy, Ralph Gentile, John Barton, Richard Jensen, James Baldwin; Hill City Hi-Y Club—Fred Speaker, Robert Canfield, Robert Stahr; Millburn Hi-Y—Anton Campanella, Hobart Kretler; Olympic Hi-Y Club—Jack Callender, William Peet, and Peter White.
 These delegates will attend a pre-legislative conference at Princeton University on March 22, where they will elect officers, and receive training in preparation of bills, and in Assembly and Senate procedure.
 The model legislature will be held in Trenton on April 18 and 19. At that time the boy legislators will take over the Senate and Assembly chambers in the State House to consider model legislation. Governor Alfred W. Driscoll and other New Jersey officials are expected to be present for the model legislature. William R. Gilson is adviser of the Scott Hi-Y Club.

The payrolls of private industry in the United States amount to over $4 billion dollars a year, according to the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

WHAT DOES IT DO HERE?

Participation in the Emergency Family Campaign and the establishment of a "Nutrition Corner" at the Public Library were two of the main projects in 1946 conducted by the chairman, Mrs. William Sartorius. The Family Campaign work during May and June dealt with Food Conservation which drew national recognition and publicity as an outstanding community affair. A survey of local food prices was conducted by the Nutrition Committee, and this, combined with books in the "Nutrition Corner," provided the housewife with ideas and suggestions on meeting the high cost of living. Courses in advanced cookery, a bride's course and classes in home canning and freezing were offered by the nutrition instructor, Mrs. Helen Reilly Clark.

WHY IS IT ESSENTIAL?

The need for more effective nutrition education programs is revealed by the widespread prevalence of inadequate diets and nutritional deficiencies. World War II draft findings showed that about one man in seven was disqualified because of nutritional deficiencies.
 Red Cross offers, as a primary means for combating this condition, the community nutritional classes for adults with emphasis on basic foods for health, good nutritional menus at moderate cost, and cooperation by the Nutrition Committee in food crises to help the housewife feed her family.

Red Cross Seal Sales Show Rise in Summit

The Red Cross seal sales in Summit for the period ending January 31 last showed a total of $5,702 compared to $5,263.55 for the same period last year. This was reported by Al Mueson, treasurer of the Summit district. He said the total sale for seals in the county for the period ending January 31 last totaled $61,973.24 compared to $57,824.36 for the same period last year.

In some parts of the United States, lightning strikes electric transmission lines an average of once a year for every mile of line.

ARE YOU A SMOKER?

Figure out your own cost and time. Compare the handicaps of smoking with the benefits enjoyed by not smoking.

Smoking has become such a routine unconscious habit with so many people, it is interesting to stop for a minute and figure out the economic aspects of the question.

Cigarette smoking reached an all time record in 1946 when 351 billions were sold. This is a gain of 61.3% over the 1941 figures and is due largely to the war tension caused by another high record of coffee consumption and the millions of service men who got the habit by the widespread distribution of free cigarettes by the American Red Cross and other agencies. Other important factors were the feminine indulgence plus the increased use created by advertising and the pressure exerted upon college and high school students.

The time consumed in smoking a cigarette varies with different smokers from two to ten minutes. If five minutes, is considered a fair average or 12 cigarettes per hour, this means that the total time consumed by all smokers is approximately 30 billion hours. It may involve considerable more time if the time spent to make purchases, looking for matches, cleaning up the ashes and butts and repairing the loss caused by fires is considered.

Assuming the average wage of a smoker to be 60 cents per hour, the time lost due to smoking is 18 billion dollars per year. The actual cost of the cigarette, 3.5 billion dollars is very small in comparison.

Some smokers have a serious problem in these days of high prices and taxes to make ends meet, especially when raising a family, paying for insurance and buying a home.

A young man making $50 per week said that he was smoking two packs of cigarettes per day at a cost of 40 cents. When he was shown that this was an unnecessary expenditure of about $150 per year and the time consumed amounted to $4.12 per day or approximately $1,500 per year, he was amazed. When he was assured that in addition to this saving, his health would be better, his mind clearer, he would live longer and enjoy life more and best of all create will power, so essential in overcoming the handicaps and hurdles of life, he decided to cut out smoking.

Many people find that they can easily quit smoking during Lent. It sometimes happens that they go back to smoking to quiet the nervous tension produced by coffee and cola, overeating with insufficient exercise or by breathing second hand tobacco smoke.

If you are a smoker, why not follow the good example of the young man and many of your friends who have found that only benefits result in quitting while increasing handicaps, such as cancer, heart disease and other ailments may result from years of use.

WATER SAFETY is an important phase of Red Cross community services. Above, Grant G. Lavery (on diving board), chairman of water safety, instructs a class of high school students in lifesaving techniques at the YMCA pool. The Red Cross water safety courses are designed for beginner as well as advanced swimmer. Since May, 1946, 62 certificates for swimming skills have been issued to local residents. Statistics prove that since the Red Cross began these water safety courses in 1914, the drowning toll throughout the nation has been cut in half.

'47 License Plates Now on Sale, Drivers Back on Double Standard

Something new has never been noticed before in Summit—a grand rush on the first of March for vehicle license plates and driver's licenses. There was a line-up outside the license bureau in Summit avenue extending nearly to Springfield avenue. Usually this line occurs on the last day of issuance. Owners and drivers must have had wind of the warning issued by Motor Vehicle Commissioner Magee to get plates early.

Thomas F. Munroe, local issuing agent for the department, plates that on Saturday he issued 1,400 driver's licenses and 850 plates.

Mr. Munroe informs the Herald that a number of citizens have reserved plates UX-100 to 999 which have not been called for. He asks that those not having called come in and get their plates, bringing receipts in order that proper identification may be made.

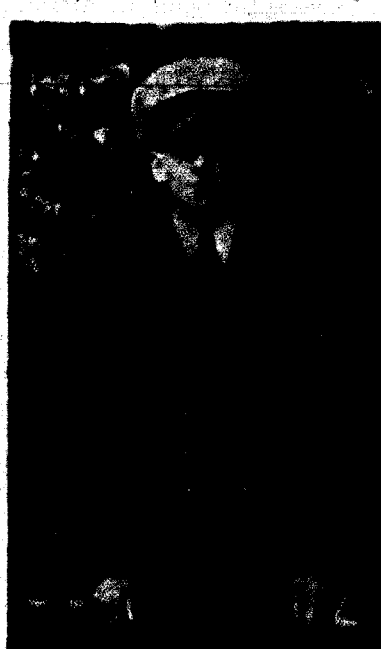

New Jersey this year returns to the two-plate system of registration, said plates to be displayed on the front and rear of the vehicle as in pre-war years. The 1947 plates have the same straw colored background but with blue letters.

Although the 1946 registration year does not expire until midnight, March 31, owners obtaining their 1947 plates during March can display them immediately. It is illegal for any vehicle to be driven on the public streets after March 31 without 1947 plates.

Because there is a considerable increase in the number of registered vehicles and licensed drivers in New Jersey, Commissioner Magee urges the public to visit the agencies early in the month. Those who delay their renewals until the eleventh hour will have only themselves to blame if they find themselves considerably inconvenienced obtaining service at the agencies during the last week of the month.

Commissioner Magee also advised owners to make certain that their cars have been inspected before applying for registration renewals.

CITED—Vernon V. Dennis (above) of Berkeley Heights, formerly of Summit, last week received from the Secretary of the Navy, James Forrestal, the Navy Unit Commendation Award made to support units of the Fifth Amphibian Corps, U. S. Fleet Marine Force. The communication states: "By virtue of your service in one of the support units entitled to participate in this award for outstanding heroism in support of military operations during the seizure of enemy Japanese-held Iwo Jima, volcanic islands, February 19 to 28, 1945, you are hereby authorized to wear as part of your uniform the Navy unit citation ribbon."

Mr. Dennis, who was yeoman 3/c with Communications Unit No. 484, spent two and a half years in the Navy, two of which were in the South Pacific at Pearl Harbor, Saipan and Iwo Jima. It was with the Fourth Marine division that he invaded Iwo Jima. He received his boot training at the Great Lakes training center.

He is a brother of Warren C. Dennis of Cranberry Lake, who was chief ship-fitter with the 33rd special construction battalion, Seabees, Warren, who was in the service three years, took part in the Philippine invasion and also served on New Guinea.

Both men were born in Summit and attended Summit High School. They are the sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. Kirby W. Dennis. Mr. Dennis was a former chief of the Summit Fire Department.

Gilson to Seek GOP Nomination As City Clerk

City Clerk William R. Gilson announced yesterday he is a candidate for the Republican nomination at the June 3 Primary to succeed himself. Appointed in February by Common Council to succeed Frederick C. Kents, who resigned at the end of last year, Mr. Gilson has the unanimous backing of all members of Council and of Mayor Maxwell Lester.

Mr. Gilson associated with the law firm of McKirgan & Gilson in the Bassett Building, is the son of the late Herbert Clark Gilson, first president of the Summit Bar Association, former member of Common Council and a former president of the Union County Bar Association. His mother is Eleanor R. Gebhart Martin, also of the firm of McKirgan & Gilson.

The city clerk is a graduate of Summit High School, class of 1936. He was active in student government and athletics, being a three-letter man in his senior year. Mr. Gilson is a graduate of Princeton University, class of 1940. He entered Yale University Law School with the class of 1943, but graduated June last.

Served in Pacific Mr. Gilson served three and a half years in the Navy, emerging a full lieutenant. He served in the Pacific as executive officer on a tanker and on a sub-chaser. The city clerk was recently appointed to the faculty of Princeton University where he is teaching one day a week in the Political Science Department. Last term he taught jurisprudence at Old Nassau. In the present term he is teaching local government. The city clerk has long been active in community affairs. Among his other interests he is a member of the Summit Tennis Club, the Summit Interracial Committee and the Young Men's Civic Council and their representative on the Citizen's Committee for a Better Overlook. Mr. Gilson is also advisor to the Charles R. Scott Hi-Y Club at the Central Y. M. C. A. and a member of the boys' work committee in that Y.

To Lackawanna Suburban Passengers:

THE price of almost everything has gone up except railroad passenger fares. For a long time we haven't been able to make ends meet. Since 1941 the average hourly wages of our employes have increased 51 per cent. The cost of materials that we use has increased in varying amounts up to 40 per cent. Payroll taxes for social security and unemployment have increased and are higher than in any other business. Railroad taxes are higher in New Jersey than in any other State. All of these things make it necessary to increase passenger fares.

We are joining with other Eastern railroads in a petition to the Interstate Commerce Commission and State Commissions to increase one-way passenger fares from 2.2 cents to 2.5 cents per mile in coaches, and from 3.3 cents to 3.5 cents per mile in Pullman and parlor cars. The proposed new fares will still be considerably less than the fares of twenty years ago. What we are asking for is a very modest increase, not at all exorbitant, and one that can be easily justified.

Much to our regret we are forced also to make a petition for an increase in commuter fares. We don't like to do it because we know the commuter's fare to and from his work is part of his every-day cost of living, but we have no other recourse. The tremendous impact of increased wages and costs of material since the present rates were established in 1932 has for a long time pointed to the necessity for increasing commuter fares, but we have refrained from increasing them to the very latest. Now we must do it.

What we are asking for is a 20 per cent increase in monthly commutation tickets, except that the maximum increase will be $2.50 per ticket, and another exception so that no ticket will cost more than $1.00 per mile of distance per month, with certain minima in the very short distances.

If you are a commuter to New York from stations Orange to Short Hills, inclusive, the cost of your monthly commutation ticket will be increased 20 per cent.

If you commute to New York from stations Summit and west, the cost of your commutation ticket will increase only $2.50 instead of 20 per cent.

If you commute to New York from stations Roseville Avenue to Brick Church, inclusive, the limitation of $1.00 per mile of distance per month comes into effect.

For instance, Roseville Avenue is ten miles from New York and the monthly commutation ticket now costs $9.50. To keep within the limitation of $1.00 per mile of distance per month, the increase will be only 50c and the ticket will cost $10.00. Similarly, East Orange is eleven miles from New York and the monthly commutation ticket now costs $9.85. This will increase to $11.00.

On the Montclair Branch, if you commute to New York from stations Bloomfield, Glen Ridge or Montclair, the cost of your monthly commutation ticket will increase 20 per cent, but from Watsessing Avenue and Ampere the $1.00 per mile per month limitation is effective.

On the Boonton Line, if you commute to New York from stations Passaic to Lincoln Park, inclusive, the cost of your monthly commutation ticket will increase 20 per cent, whereas from stations west of Lincoln Park the increase will be only $2.50 per month at all stations. East of Passaic the $1.00 per mile per month limitation is effective.

The above are general examples that will serve to give you an idea of what our petition proposes. Weekly tickets now cost one-fourth the monthly commutation fare and will continue to cost one-fourth of the new fare. The ten- and fifty-trip tickets will bear the same relationship to the new one-way fare as to the present one-way fare.

We have always tried to maintain a high standard of commuter service, and we want to continue it. We look upon you as customers, and our employes realize, with us, that you make possible their jobs and their daily sustenance. We don't want to increase your cost of going to and from work any more than necessary, but even with the proposed increases we won't break even. They merely serve to reduce our losses.

Using the Interstate Commerce Commission formula for division of freight and passenger operations, our 1946 operating loss before interest charges from passenger operation was $2,946,187. Based on 1946 volume, the proposed increases in fares would produce additional revenue of only $1,425,000.

We make this explanation of what we propose to do and the reason therefor, hoping that we may have your cooperation and understanding in securing these modest increases.

Teacher's Strikes

When public school teachers desert their classrooms for the picket line, as they did in Buffalo and a few weeks ago in Hawthorne, N. J., the teaching profession loses a preferred status it has long felt it had. The Hawthorne strike, while only a one-day affair, was a pocket edition of the Buffalo one and did New Jersey teachers in other communities harm.

The salary question for teachers is one which concerns residents of practically every town in the state. It is generally conceded among thoughtful citizens and municipalities that teachers are underpaid and steps are being taken to alleviate the condition. In Summit, the Board of Education made provision for salary increases in its new budget and although some feel that the Board was too timid and the raises should have been greater, it was a move in the right direction.

Last Sunday teachers attending the 73rd annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators at Atlantic City heard Mrs. Pearl A. Wannamaker, president of the National Education Association, declare that teachers must receive increases in salary commensurate with training, ability and value to the community. She pointed out that the public must be educated to recognize the teacher as a personality and a contributing individual in the community and not as a functional adjunct to the school building.

The public does not have to be educated to recognize the teacher as a personality, nor does it have to be educated regarding the financial plight of teachers. The public is fully aware of the fact that living costs have climbed; their individual budgets clearly prove that. As a whole, the public has indicated that it is sympathetic with teachers' demands and has gone along with local Boards in granting pay increases. However, when educators resort to picket lines and arbitrary salary demands, then the public is inclined to lose patience for immediately the welfare of children enters the picture. The press, radio and other agencies have supported and aided teachers in presenting their case for better salaries but this valuable support can easily be lost by teachers if they strike against the public and their own pupils to force an issue.

The latest move on the part of the 98 Hawthorne teachers is to let it be known unofficially that they will resign in a body if the Borough and the Board of Education does not get together on a salary increase. Regardless of the name, the move actually is a strike ultimatum.

We doubt if teachers have a moral right to strike because they have voluntarily assumed a duty to guide and educate our children. Teaching is, or should be, a proud profession. Its members assume a high responsibility to their communities and to the pupils and parents of that community. We feel that this service deserves a more adequate salary but it also deserves a code of ethics.

Teachers in many cases, fully convinced that they are owed and should have salary increases immediately, have encountered delays that have worn patience and pocket-books very thin. Whatever the provocation, a walkout by public school teachers is indefensible. Whatever temporary gain could be forced the long time damage would be irreparable. A strike costs teachers too much in terms of esteem for them and their profession. If teachers want better pay, increasing appreciation for their services and respect for their professional status, they should forego the rough-and-tumble tactics of economic warfare. Their state organizations should be firm about a "no strike" policy.

The Children's Hour

The other afternoon we put away the shears and pastepot a trifle earlier than usual and sneaked out the back door bound for home and, what we thought, a little peace and quiet with the family. Apparently we have been reading too many magazine ads because our arrival was met with a coolness usually saved for doorbell ringers working their way through college by selling 15-volume sets entitled "Life Among the Ubanjis."

Frankly upset by the lack of enthusiasm and utter indifference our homecoming caused, it wasn't until some time later that we realized that we were an interloper and intruder in a children's world. We had arrived home smack in the middle of the modern "children's hour," that ghoulish period from 5 to 6 p. m., when radio attempts to undo whatever good school teachers have accomplished during the day. Dick Tracy was on the loose commu-

Robin Hood. Shots rang out, space ships zoomed moon-ward with a roar, damsels shrieked in distress as they were lashed to atomic bombs and the kids just crawled closer to the radio and chewed their fingernails a bit faster.

There are many who claim that radio and the comic book have destroyed all childhood values. Offer a child a dog as a gift and he's just as apt to reject it for a chromium handled triple neutron pistol like Jack Armstrong uses in disintegrating hapless souls who cross his path. The child of today no longer hums nursery rhymes or folksongs but instead sings the latest soap powder advertising jingle. Query your child about "Fifty-four Forty or Fight" and he'll look at you blankly. But ask him what "LSMFT" means and he'll bat the answer right back.

The modern child won't be able to tell you how to play "kick-the-stick" or how to make a whistle from a willow branch but he'll explain quite lucidly the principles of jet propulsion or radar. The howl in protest when bubble gum sells for a higher price than it did a month ago and immediately sit down to pen a letter to their Congressman. Your son will tell you of the neat dodge used by Lefty McGurk, one-time rum runner and narcotic dealer, in defrauding the government of a couple of million in income taxes from profits in his chain of popcorn stands. Order your heir to wash his hands before dinner and he's likely to offer to arbitrate or else strike.

Perhaps some believe that this knowledge is a vital contribution from radio. We doubt it because it is a hodge-podge of learning gleaned from horse operas, frantic newscasts, singing commercials and box-top come-ons dished out every day by cereal and soap manufacturers. Although most of the junk coming from radio passes through one ear and out the other, there still is a certain amount of silt that remains in the brain.

However, we can't get unduly alarmed because we still remember that certain books of our youth were called "brain poison." It seems paradoxical to decry the influence of radio characters when they are actually Nick Carter, G. A. Henty, Tom Swift and the Rover Boys brought up to date. There is little difference between Buck Rogers' atomic pistol and Tom Swift's electric rifle. Tom lived between book covers while Buck roams the airways. In the same light, Jules Verne in his day was just as ridiculous and fantastic as the characters on a 15-minute program who are pledged to reach the moon by rocket ship. Fortunately, it all comes out all right. The child of today will weep in his beard tomorrow because his offspring place too much emphasis on televised thrillers. We won't worry about it but we also won't go home early again while the "programs" are on. It is too darn nerve wracking to hear the things.

We Thank You

The new owners of The Summit Herald want to thank the many persons who phoned, wrote and dropped in to congratulate us in our new venture. You have proven your loyalty to the paper many times in the past and we consider that one of our biggest assets.

Although none of us are "oldtimers," neither are we newcomers. We have all been associated with the Herald for a period of years and we consider Summit as our permanent home.

Summit is a good town and the Herald is a good paper. Along with every other publication, we are suffering from an acute shortage of newsprint. However, we shall do our very best to provide you, our readers and advertisers, with a home town newspaper you can be proud of. Our main job, as we see it, is to give Summit a paper that is equal to the town and its residents. You can count on us to always keep that aim in mind.

Horses

Horses have galloped back into the State financial picture. Governor Driscoll has suggested to the Legislature a revision of the race track tax formula so that the hard-pressed State treasury may get a bigger slice of the daily betting "take" than its 4 per cent share. Under present law, the tracks garner a neat 6 per cent.

That's gold in them thar percentages, depending especially on whose side they do their best prancing. A reversal of the 6-4 percentage formula, with the State on the big end, would bring some measure of relief to the taxpayers from the impact of the State's proposed 155 million-dollar spending program for the 1947-48 fiscal year.

This appears to be the horse-sense way of dealing with the horse-race game. Horses with their speed and bettors with their money have created a major industry but only by the sanction of the State and its people. Yet last year the State got a step-child's 4 per cent share of a 150 million-dollar total betting "take" while the tracks took the big 6 per cent cut. New York State collects the fat end of the 6-4 split.

Additionally, the racing sport in New Jersey has imposed extra costs on the State for policing and other public services. State Police Superintendent Schoeffel reports that a daily assignment of from 18 to 25 troopers for traffic duty at the tracks "materially affects the Department's patrol activity" and that his force may have to be increased for this reason.

The New Jersey Taxpayers Association recommends that the State tax on betting receipts be increased to 6 per cent, and that all the "breakage," the odd pennies on each winning bet, should also go to the State.

Will the Legislature give the nod to the track owners? No horse House will answer that

Your Men In Washington

THE SUMMIT HERALD'S WASHINGTON REPORTER
(All Rights Reserved)

WASHINGTON—Your Senators promptly and emphatically denounced British Foreign Minister Bevin for blaming President Truman for Britain's failure to settle the Palestine crisis. They are turning a deaf ear to Bevin's suggestion that Britain be given another chance to solve the problem before the United Nations takes over. Your Congressman, however, cautiously suggests that the Palestine question is not for the United States to decide.

Bevin's charge that politics led Truman to urge admission of 100,000 Jews into Palestine—thereby "spoiling" British attempts at settlement—was soundly attacked on Capitol Hill by both Republicans and Democrats. Actually, Truman refrained from participating in the controversy until a special Anglo-American Commission unanimously called for immediate entry of 100,000 Jews into Palestine. At that, Truman was only restating a position he had taken on two previous occasions, a position which had been endorsed by both Senators Hawkes and Smith. At the Washington Post commented editorially, "Mr. Bevin is trying to disguise his failure by making himself a martyr."

Hawkes, who listed Britain's shabby treatment of the Jews as a reason for not voting for the British Loan last session, urged this nation to "press the British people to fulfill the spirit and word of the Balfour Declaration (signed at the close of World War I, in which Britain agreed to permit the establishment of a Jewish homeland in return for the mandate for Palestine) at once while we are waiting for the U.N. to assume the task."

"Ultimately," he makes clear, "I am in favor of the Palestine question being referred to the U.N. If the Jewish people can't get a square deal there then, I ask, what chance is there for other minority groups to get a square deal from the U.N.?"

Hawkes has brought to light several quotations of Winston Churchill which should prove embarrassing to Bevin and the British government. The statements were made by Churchill, then a member of the House of Commons, in 1939 after Prime Minister Chamberlain permitted the introduction of the now infamous White Paper, which limited Jewish immigration into Palestine, the Balfour Declaration notwithstanding.

Hawkes quotes Churchill as saying: "There is much in the White Paper alien to the spirit of the Balfour Declaration; it is a plain breach of the solemn obligation..."

At that time, Hawkes points out, Churchill also stated that by 1944 there would be "either a Britain which knows how to keep its word on the Balfour Declaration, or believe me, we shall find ourselves relieved of many overseas responsibilities other than those comprised within the Palestine Mandate."

The prophecy is coming true. Among those most vocal in demanding cancellation of the British Mandate in Palestine, granted by the Allies, and the establishment of a Jewish homeland under a U.N. Trusteeship, is Senator Smith.

Smith, who personally urged Truman many times to come out in favor of opening the doors of Palestine, declared, "I certainly will defend Truman on this issue."

He asserted, "Britain's slowness in handling the question of Palestine has been a source of real regret to me. I am sure Truman's statement was motivated by humanitarian impulses and not politics."

Smith himself would go further than admit 100,000 Jews to Palestine and cancel the British Mandate. He would have members of the United Nations—including the United States—accept fair immigration quotas to take care of all displaced persons.

"While Truman's statement may not have been particularly helpful to British negotiations, I think Bevin's charge was unwise and not entirely justified," says Rep. Clifford P. Case.

The Railway Republican appeared doubtful that the British would arrive at a solution to the Palestine problem independently, but recommended that they be granted "additional time to find the answer, but only a short time, since they do have the background and the machinery to act with greater speed than the U.N. in this matter."

Case, who last year favored admitting 100,000 Jews to Palestine, believes today that this is no longer the solution "in view of changed events and a more critical situation." Nor does he believe the solution lies in another proposal to admit 100,000 Jews to this country on the unused immigration quotas of other nations.

hearted American support. Our participation should be a part of a broad program under which other nations will join in taking their share of displaced persons. A sound program of cooperative action will meet with U. S. approval.

The entire New Jersey delegation, with the exception of Senator Smith, voted to slash the President's recommended $7,500,000,000 budget by $4,000,000,000. All, except Smith, were certain that the cut could be made—in the words of Hawkes—"without impairing necessary government functions or destroying the effectiveness of the armed forces."

Smith supported Vandenberg's more moderate proposal of a $4,600,000,000 budget reduction, which won Senate approval. He expressed conviction that a reduction of this size would bring to an end "reckless" and "unjustifiable" federal costs and permit tax reductions, but at the same time would leave sufficient funds to maintain the nation's military strength "at this moment of international uncertainty" and to continue minimum food rations to occupied areas.

"Whether the military and naval budgets can be cut is a proper matter of inquiry, but an arbitrary slash of nearly two billion dollars without adequate hearings, seems to me difficult to defend," Smith told supporters of the $6,000,000,000 slash. New Jersey's junior senator served last session on the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

Speaking for the overwhelming majority of New Jersey legislators, Hawkes declared, "Let us remember that national solvency is our bulwark of defense." He asserted, "National bankruptcy or inability to meet our obligations, whichever one may wish to call it, is one of the surest ways to socialism."

Hawkes said it would be a "confession of weakness" to say that the armed forces of this great nation cannot maintain themselves in proper effectiveness on $9,000,000,000 or $10,000,000,000 a year." (Under the $8,000,000,000 overall budget cut, approximately $10,000,000 would be left for national defense.)

Senate-House conferees must now arrive at a compromise budget slash from the $6,000,000,000 figure voted by the House, the $4,500,000,000 reduction supported by the Senate, and taking into consideration the Senate-approved proposal to set more than $3,000,000,000 aside toward retirement of the national debt.

Obituary

Mrs. William Alesbury
Funeral services for Mrs. Berona Woodruff Alesbury, 80, who died Sunday at the home of a son in Philadelphia, were held Tuesday at 3 p. m. at the E. P. Burroughs & Son Funeral Home, 309 Springfield avenue, with Rev. David K. Barnwell, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Mrs. Alesbury had been a resident of Philadelphia for the last eight years and had been seriously ill for but four days. A native of Springfield, she came to Summit as a girl and lived here most of her life. Her parents, the late James M. Woodruff and Margaret Darby Woodruff, were among the early settlers of Summit. Mr. Woodruff was in the contracting business and built a number of homes in the Franklin place section and resided on that street. The family later moved to West Summit and subsequently to Florida avenue where Mr. Woodruff conducted a milk business.

Mrs. Alesbury was one of the oldest members of the First Baptist Church. She is survived by her husband, William Alesbury, two sons, Alfred W. Alesbury of Maple street and Dr. J. Marsh Alesbury of Philadelphia, and a daughter, Mrs. Cornelia M. Bowen of Westwood; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mrs. George W. MacCutcheon
Funeral services for Mrs. George W. MacCutcheon, 83, were held Monday afternoon at her home in Hillcrest avenue, where she lived with her daughter, Mrs. Frederick K. Truslow. She died at home on Friday and had been ill for many years. The services were conducted by Rev. Walter O. Kinsolving, rector emeritus of Calvary Episcopal Church. Burial was private.

Mrs. MacCutcheon was a descendant of one of the earliest settlers of this area. Born in Newark, she came here in 1907. Mrs. MacCutcheon was the daughter of the late Joseph C. and Sarah Blauvelt Pierson and the granddaughter of Samuel and Mary Townley Pierson, who were among the first settlers in this part of the country. Her husband, the late George W. MacCutcheon, was a former councilman and president of a wholesale linen company in New York that bears his name.

Mrs. MacCutcheon was a member of Calvary Episcopal Church and the Fortnightly Club. She also was a founder of the Summit Garden Club, and was active in sending help to Great Britain during World War I. She leaves her daughter, Mrs. Truslow, and two grandchildren, Kent MacCutcheon and Stuart Auchincloss Truslow.

Paul Feuchtswanger
Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for Paul Feuchtswanger, 50, of Dogwood drive, at the Burroughs Funeral Home, Springfield avenue. Rev. Victor W. Moris, rector of the Grace Episcopal Church, Madison, conducted the service. Burial was private.

Mr. Feuchtswanger, who had been a resident here 33 years, died Saturday at Overlook Hospital. He was born in Englewood and had lived in Madison before moving here. He leaves his wife, Marion Feuchtswanger, and two children, Jane and Paul, Jr.

Miss Gertrude L. Earle
Funeral services for Miss Gertrude Louise Earle, who died Friday at her home in Mountain avenue, were held Monday morning at Calvary Episcopal Church, by Rev. Walter O. Kinsolving, rector emeritus of the church, and by Rev. Elmer F. Francis, minister in charge of the church. Burial was in the Moravian Cemetery, S. I.

Miss Earle, a retired school teacher of Bayonne, formerly was president of the Diocesan Society of the Episcopal Diocese of Newark for six years. She was also active in the Story League of Summit.

Miss Earle leaves four sisters, Elizabeth A., Grace J., Harriet R., and a brother Charles S., all of the Mountain avenue address.

John L. Kirk
Funeral services for John Linton Kirk who died on Thursday last at Stuart, Fla., were held in the Greenwood Cemetery Chapel, 8th avenue and 26th street, Brooklyn, on Saturday at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Kirk was born in New York and was one of the oldest graduates of Princeton University, class of 1881. He was also a graduate of New York Law School and practiced law in Summit until 1913. He came here from Jersey City in 1928. He was 90 years old.

Mr. Kirk's only survivor is his daughter, Mrs. Dudley A. Ryer of 149 Oak Ridge avenue, with whom he made his home.

Mr. Kirk was a member of the Old Guard of this city and of the Princeton Club of New York. His leisure time was mostly devoted to fishing, he being an expert fly-caster, and last summer went fishing in Nova Scotia. He was sailing in Florida two days before his death. At one time he held the amateur national flycasting championship.

LETTERS

Give Veterans a Home Editor, The Summit Herald:

In my opinion the six restricted proposals offered as a World War II memorial to the people of Summit are out of order. The citizens of Summit after World War I gave their money and treasure for two war memorials, namely, Soldiers' Memorial Field and the war memorial in Bannel Park.

Why not ask the men and women who were actively engaged in the armed forces what they want for a war memorial? The list of proposals as submitted on the questionnaire sounds as if some group wants to improve the City of Summit under the guise of a war memorial.

As a veteran of a fighting division (the Third Division) in World War I, I feel that the present war memorials and the

Neville Passes Examination as Counsellor-at-Law

John E. Neville of Summit avenue is one of thirty-seven lawyers in the State who passed an examination as counsellor-at-law last October. Mr. Neville, who practices law in Summit and Newark, has been notified by James J. Gavin, clerk of the Supreme Court in Trenton, to report at the State House Annex in Trenton of that court to receive his oath of obligation as a counsellor on March 28.

Mr. Neville is a graduate of the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, Boston, Mass., and of the John Marshall Law School of Jersey City. A veteran of World War I, he is a past-commander of the American Legion, Summit Post No. 128 and a former vice-commander of the Union County Legion. The new counsellor is chairman of the Summit Democratic Committee.

Patrolman Cited For Navy Heroism

Patrolman Raymond W. McTernan of Park avenue, who served three years in World War II, has received a Navy unit commendation awarded the 58th United States Naval Construction Battalion "for outstanding heroism in action against enemy Japanese forces during the invasion and establishment of a fighter air base on Vella Lavella, Northern Solomon, from August 13 to 31, 1943."

"By virtue of your service in the 58th United States Naval Construction Battalion during the whole or part of the period you are hereby authorized to wear as part of your uniform a Navy Unit Commendation ribbon, one of which is transmitted herewith."

The citation was made under direction of the chief of Navy personnel.

Summit Loan Companies Closed on Saturdays

In conformity with the new banking hours law signed on Monday by Governor Alfred E. Driscoll, the Summit Federal Savings and Loan Association and the Hill City Savings and Loan Association will observe the Saturday morning closing.

This closing will be effective with the coming Saturday. In order to accommodate its customers and to render good service, both these associations will have open hours on the Friday night preceding the Saturday closing. These open hours will be from 6 to 8 p. m.

Depending on load, temperature and wind velocity, the possible rise and fall of Brooklyn Bridge is 18 feet.

Teacher's Strikes

When public school teachers desert their classrooms for the picket line, as they did in Buffalo and a few weeks ago in Hawthorne, N. J., the teaching profession loses a preferred status it has long felt it had. The Hawthorne strike, while only a one-day affair, was a pocket edition of the Buffalo one and did New Jersey teachers in other communities harm.

The salary question for teachers is one which concerns residents of practically every town in the state. It is generally conceded among thoughtful citizens and municipalities that teachers are underpaid and steps are being taken to alleviate the condition. In Summit, the Board of Education made provision for salary increases in its new budget and although some feel that the Board was too timid and the raises should have been greater, it was a move in the right direction.

Last Sunday teachers attending the 73rd annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators at Atlantic City heard Mrs. Pearl A. Wannamaker, president of the National Education Association, declare that teachers must receive increases in salary commensurate with training, ability and value to the community. She pointed out that the public must be educated to recognize the teacher as a personality and a contributing individual in the community and not as a functional adjunct to the school building.

The public does not have to be educated to recognize the teacher as a personality, nor does it have to be educated regarding the financial plight of teachers. The public is fully aware of the fact that living costs have climbed; their individual budgets clearly prove that. As a whole, the public has indicated that it is sympathetic with teachers' demands and has gone along with local Boards in granting pay increases. However, when educators resort to picket lines and arbitrary salary demands, then the public is inclined to lose patience for immediately the welfare of children enters the picture. The press, radio and other agencies have supported and aided teachers in presenting their case for better salaries but this valuable support can easily be lost by teachers if they strike against the public and their own pupils to force an issue.

The latest move on the part of the 98 Hawthorne teachers is to let it be known unofficially that they will resign in a body if the Borough and the Board of Education does not get together on a salary increase. Regardless of the name, the move actually is a strike ultimatum.

We doubt if teachers have a moral right to strike because they have voluntarily assumed a duty to guide and educate our children. Teaching is, or should be, a proud profession. Its members assume a high responsibility to their communities and to the pupils and parents of that community. We feel that this service deserves a more adequate salary but it also deserves a code of ethics.

Teachers in many cases, fully convinced that they are owed and should have salary increases immediately, have encountered delays that have worn patience and pocket-books very thin. Whatever the provocation, a walkout by public school teachers is indefensible. Whatever temporary gain could be forced the long time damage would be irreparable. A strike costs teachers too much in terms of esteem for them and their profession. If teachers want better pay, increasing appreciation for their services and respect for their professional status, they should forego the rough-and-tumble tactics of economic warfare. Their state organizations should be firm about a "no strike" policy.

The Children's Hour

The other afternoon we put away the shears and pastepot a trifle earlier than usual and sneaked out the back door bound for home and, what we thought, a little peace and quiet with the family. Apparently we have been reading too many magazine ads because our arrival was met with a coolness usually saved for doorbell ringers working their way through college by selling 15-volume sets entitled "Life Among the Ubangis."

Frankly upset by the lack of enthusiasm and utter indifference our homecoming caused, it wasn't until some time later that we realized that we were an interloper and intruder in a children's world. We had arrived home smack in the middle of the modern "children's hour," that ghoulie period from 5 to 6 p. m., when radio attempts to undo whatever good school teachers have accomplished during the day. Dick Tracy was on the loose committing mayhem in the ill-fitting cloak of a modern

Robin Hood. Shots rang out, space ships zoomed moon-ward with a roar, damsels shrieked in distress as they were lashed to atomic bombs and the kids just crawled closer to the radio and chewed their fingernails a bit faster.

There are many who claim that radio and the comic book have destroyed all childhood values. Offer a child a dog as a gift and he's just as apt to reject it for a chromium handled triple neutron pistol like Jack Armstrong uses in disintegrating hapless souls who cross his path. The child of today no longer hums nursery rhymes or folksongs but instead sings the latest soap powder advertising jingle. Query your child about "Fifty-four Forty or Fight" and he'll look at you blankly. But ask him what "LSMFT" means and he'll bat the answer right back.

The modern child won't be able to tell you how to play "kick-the-stick" or how to make a whistle from a willow branch but he'll explain quite lucidly the principles of jet propulsion or radar. The howl in protest when bubble gum sells for a higher price than it did a month ago and immediately sit down to pen a letter to their Congressman. Your son will tell you of the neat dodge used by Lefty McGurk, one-time rum runner and narcotic dealer, in defrauding the government of a couple of million in income taxes from profits in his chain of popcorn stands. Order your heir to wash his hands before dinner and he's likely to offer to arbitrate or else strike.

Perhaps some believe that this knowledge is a vital contribution from radio. We doubt it because it is a hodge-podge of learning gleaned from horse operas, frantic newscasts, singing commercials and box-top come-ons dished out every day by cereal and soap manufacturers. Although most of the junk coming from radio passes through one ear and out the other, there still is a certain amount of silt that remains in the brain.

However, we can't get unduly alarmed because we still remember that certain books of our youth were called "brain poison." It seems paradoxical to decry the influence of radio characters when they are actually Nick Carter, G. A. Henty, Tom Swift and the Rover Boys brought up to date. There is little difference between Buck Rogers' atomic pistol and Tom Swift's electric rifle. Tom lived between book covers while Buck roams the airways. In the same light, Jules Verne in his day was just as ridiculous and fantastic as the characters on a 15-minute program who are pledged to reach the moon by rocket ship.

Fortunately, it all comes out all right. The child of today will weep in his beard tomorrow because his offspring place too much emphasis on televised thrillers. We won't worry about it but we also won't go home early again while the "programs" are on. It is too darn nerve wracking to hear the things.

We Thank You

The new owners of The Summit Herald want to thank the many persons who phoned, wrote and dropped in to congratulate us in our new venture. You have proven your loyalty to the paper many times in the past and we consider that one of our biggest assets.

Although none of us are "oldtimers," neither are we newcomers. We have all been associated with the Herald for a period of years and we consider Summit as our permanent home.

Summit is a good town and the Herald is a good paper. Along with every other publication, we are suffering from an acute shortage of newsprint. However, we shall do our very best to provide you, our readers and advertisers, with a home town newspaper you can be proud of. Our main job, as we see it, is to give Summit a paper that is equal to the town and its residents. You can count on us to always keep that aim in mind.

Horses

Horses have galloped back into the State financial picture. Governor Driscoll has suggested to the Legislature a revision of the race track tax formula so that the hard-pressed State treasury may get a bigger slice of the daily betting "take" than its 4 per cent share. Under present law, the tracks garner a neat 6 per cent.

That's gold in them thar percentages, depending especially on whose side they do their best prancing. A reversal of the 6-4 percentage formula, with the State on the big end, would bring some measure of relief to the taxpayers from the impact of the State's proposed 155 million-dollar spending program for the 1947-48 fiscal year.

This appears to be the horse-sense way of dealing with the horse-race game. Horses with their speed and bettors with their money have created a major industry but only by the sanction of the State and its people. Yet last year the State got a step-child's 4 per cent share of a 150 million-dollar total betting "take" while the tracks took the big 6 per cent cut. New York State collects the fat end of the 6-4 split.

Additionally, the racing sport in New Jersey has imposed extra costs on the State for policing and other public services. State Police Superintendent Schoeffel reports that a daily assignment of from 18 to 25 troopers for traffic duty at the tracks "materially affects the Department's patrol activity" and that his force may have to be increased for this reason.

The New Jersey Taxpayers Association recommends that the State tax on betting receipts be increased to 6 per cent, and that all the "breakage," the odd pennies on each winning bet, should also go to the State.

Will the Legislature give the nod to the taxpayers or the track owners? No horse laugh from the State House will answer that question.

Your Men In Washington

by THE SUMMIT HERALD'S WASHINGTON REPORTER
 (All Rights Reserved)

WASHINGTON—Your Senators promptly and emphatically denounced British Foreign Minister Bevin for blaming President Truman for Britain's failure to settle the Palestine crisis. They are turning a deaf ear to Bevin's suggestion that Britain be given another chance to solve the problem before the United Nations takes over. Your Congressman, however, cautiously suggests that the Palestine question is not for the United States to decide.

Bevin's charge that politics led Truman to urge admission of 100,000 Jews into Palestine—thereby "spoiling" British attempts at settlement—was soundly attacked on Capitol Hill by both Republicans and Democrats. Actually, Truman refrained from participating in the controversy until a special Anglo-American Commission unanimously called for immediate entry of 100,000 Jews into Palestine. At that, Truman was only restating a position he had taken on two previous occasions, a position which had been endorsed by both Senators Hawkes and Smith. As the Washington Post commented editorially, "Mr. Bevin is trying to disguise his failure by making himself a martyr."

Hawkes, who listed Britain's shabby treatment of the Jews as a reason for not voting for the British Loan last season, urged this nation to "press the British people to fulfill the spirit and word of the Balfour Declaration (signed at the close of World War I, in which Britain agreed to permit the establishment of a Jewish homeland in return for the mandate for Palestine) at once while we are waiting for the U.N. to assume the task."

"Ultimately," he makes clear, "I am in favor of the Palestine question being referred to the U.N. If the Jewish people can't get a square deal there then, I ask, what chance is there for other minority groups to get a square deal from the U.N.?"

Hawkes has brought to light several quotations of Winston Churchill which should prove embarrassing to Bevin and the British government. The statements were made by Churchill, then a member of the House of Commons, in 1939 when Prime Minister Chamberlain permitted the introduction of the now infamous White Paper, which limited Jewish immigration into Palestine, the Balfour Declaration notwithstanding.

Hawkes quotes Churchill as saying: "There is much in the White Paper alien to the spirit of the Balfour Declaration; it is a plain breach of the solemn obligation. . . ."

At that time, Hawkes points out, Churchill also stated that by 1944 there would be "either a Britain which knows how to keep its word on the Balfour Declaration, or believe me, we shall find ourselves relieved of many overseas responsibilities other than those comprised within the Palestine Mandate."

The prophecy is coming true. Among those most vocal in demanding cancellation of the British Mandate in Palestine, granted by the Allies, and the establishment of a Jewish homeland under a U.N. Trusteeship, is Senator Smith.

Smith, who personally urged Truman many times to come out in favor of opening the doors of Palestine, declared, "I certainly will defend Truman on this issue." He asserted, "Britain's slowness in handling the question of Palestine has been a source of real regret to me. I am sure Truman's statement was motivated by humanitarian impulses and not politics."

Smith himself would go further than admit 100,000 Jews to Palestine and cancel the British Mandate. He would have members of the United Nations—including the United States—accept fair immigration quotas to take care of all displaced persons.

"While Truman's statement may not have been particularly helpful to British negotiations, I think Bevin's charge was unwise and not entirely justified," says Rep. Clifford P. Case.

The Railway Republican appeared doubtful that the British would arrive at a solution to the Palestine problem independently, but recommended that they be granted "additional time to find the answer, but only a short time, since they do have the background and the machinery to act with greater speed than the U.N. in this matter."

Case, who last year favored admitting 100,000 Jews to Palestine, believes today that this is no longer the solution "in view of changed events and a more critical situation." Nor does he believe the solution lies in another proposal to admit 100,000 Jews to this country on the unused immigration quotas of other nations.

heated American support. Our participation should be a part of a broad program under which other nations will join in taking their share of displaced persons. A sound program of cooperative action will meet with U. S. approval."

The entire New Jersey delegation, with the exception of Senator Smith, voted to slash the President's recommended $37,500,000 budget by $6,000,000. All, except Smith, were certain that the cut could be made—in the words of Hawkes—"without impairing necessary government functions or destroying the effectiveness of the armed forces."

Smith supported Vandenberg's more moderate proposal of a $4,800,000 budget reduction, which won Senate approval. He expressed conviction that a reduction of this size would bring to an end "reckless" and "unjustifiable" federal costs and permit time to leave sufficient funds to maintain the nation's military strength "at this moment of international uncertainty" and to continue minimum food rations to occupied areas.

"Whether the military and naval budgets can be cut is a proper matter of inquiry, but an arbitrary slash of nearly two billion dollars without adequate hearings, seems to me difficult to defend," Smith told supporters of the $4,000,000 slash. New Jersey's junior senator served last session on the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

Speaking for the overwhelming majority of New Jersey legislators, Hawkes declared, "Let us remember that national solvency is our bulwark of defense." He asserted, "National bankruptcy or inability to meet our obligations, whichever one may wish to call it, is one of the surest ways to socialism."

Hawkes said it would be a "confession of weakness to say that the armed forces of this great nation cannot maintain themselves in proper effectiveness on $9,000,000,000 or $10,000,000,000 a year." (Under the $9,000,000,000 overall budget cut, approximately $3,000,000,000 would be left for national defense.)

Senate-House conferees must now arrive at a compromise budget slash from the $9,000,000,000 figure voted by the House, the $4,800,000,000 reduction supported by the Senate, and taking into consideration the Senate-approved proposal to set more than $3,000,000,000 aside toward retirement of the national debt.

Obituary

Mrs. William Alesbury
 Funeral services for Mrs. Serena Woodruff Alesbury, 53, who died Sunday at the home of a son in Philadelphia, were held Tuesday at 3 p. m. at the E. P. Burroughs & Son Funeral Home, 200 Springfield avenue, with Rev. David K. Burnwell, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Mrs. Alesbury had been a resident of Philadelphia for the last eight years and had been seriously ill for but four days. A native of Springfield, she came to Summit as a girl and lived here most of her life. Her parents, the late James M. Woodruff and Margaret Darby Woodruff, were among the early settlers of Summit. Mr. Woodruff was in the contracting business and built a number of homes in the Franklin place section and resided on that street. The family later moved to West Summit and subsequently to Florida avenue where Mr. Woodruff conducted a milk business.

Mrs. Alesbury was one of the oldest members of the First Baptist Church. She is survived by her husband, William Alesbury, two sons, Alfred W. Alesbury of Maple street and Dr. J. Marsh Alesbury of Philadelphia, and a daughter, Mrs. Cornelius M. Bowen of Westwood; three grand-children and one great-grandchild.

Mrs. George W. MacCutcheon
 Funeral services for Mrs. George W. MacCutcheon, 63, were held Monday afternoon at her home in Hillcrest avenue, where she lived with her daughter, Mrs. Frederick K. Truslow. She died at home on Friday and had been ill for many years. The services were conducted by Rev. Walter O. Kinsolving, rector emeritus of Calvary Episcopal Church. Burial was private.

Mrs. MacCutcheon was a descendant of one of the earliest settlers of this area. Born in Newark, she came here in 1907. Mrs. MacCutcheon was the daughter of the late Joseph C. and Sarah Blauvelt Pierce and the granddaughter of Samuel and Mary Townley Pierce, who were among the first settlers in this part of the country. Her husband, the late George W. MacCutcheon, was a former oculist and president of a wholesale linen company in New York that bears his name.

Mrs. MacCutcheon was a member of Calvary Episcopal Church and the Fortnightly Club. She also was a founder of the Summit Garden Club, and was active in sending help to Great Britain during World War I. She leaves her daughter, Mrs. Truslow, and two grandchildren, Kent MacCutcheon and Stuart Anselm Troulow.

Fred Feuchtswanger
 Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for Paul Feuchtswanger, 50, of Dogwood drive, at the Burroughs Funeral Home, Springfield avenue. Rev. Victor W. Morris, rector of the Grace Episcopal Church, Madison, conducted the service. Burial was private.

Mr. Feuchtswanger, who had been a resident here 33 years, died Saturday at Overlook Hospital. He was born in Englewood and had lived in Madison before moving here. He leaves his wife, Marion Feuchtswanger, and two children, Jane and Paul, Jr.

Miss Gertrude L. Earle
 Funeral services for Miss Gertrude Louisa Earle, who died Friday at her home in Mountain avenue, were held Monday morning at Calvary Episcopal Church, by Rev. Walter O. Kinsolving, rector emeritus of the church, and by Rev. Elmer F. Francis, minister in charge of the church. Burial was in the Moravian Cemetery, S. I.

Miss Earle, a retired school teacher of Bayonne, formerly was president of the Diocesan Society of the Episcopal Diocese of Newark for six years. She was also active in the Story League of Summit.

Miss Earle leaves four sisters, Elizabeth A., Grace J., Harriet R., and a brother Charles S., all of the Mountain avenue address.

John L. Kirk
 Funeral services for John Linton Kirk who died on Thursday last at Stuart, Fla., were held in the Greenwood Cemetery Chapel, 8th avenue and 26th street, Brooklyn, on Saturday at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Kirk was born in New York and was one of the oldest graduates of Princeton University, class of 1881. He was also a graduate of New York Law School and practiced law in Summit until 1912. He came here from Jersey City in 1923. He was 90 years old. Mr. Kirk's only survivor is his daughter, Mrs. Dudley A. Ryer of 160 Oak Ridge avenue, with whom he made his home.

Mr. Kirk was a member of the Old Guard of this city and of the Princeton Club of New York. His leisure time was mostly devoted to fishing, he being an expert fly-caster, and last summer went fishing in Nova Scotia. He was sailing in Florida two days before his death. At one time he held the amateur national flycasting championship.

LETTERS

Give Veterans a Home
 Editor, The Summit Herald:

In my opinion the six restricted proposals offered as a World War II memorial to the people of Summit are out of order. The citizens of Summit after World War I gave their money and treasure for two war memorials, namely, Soldiers' Memorial Field and the war memorial in Bonnet Park.

Why not ask the men and women who were actively engaged in the armed forces what they want for a war memorial? The list of proposals as submitted on the questionnaire sounds as if some group wants to improve the City of Summit under the guise of a war memorial.

As a veteran of a fighting division (the Third Division) in World War I, I feel that the present war memorials and the

Summit Students Picked Among 100 Best in Art Show

Summit students were prominent at the preview opening and tea for the high school art exhibit winners and their teachers, competing in the New Jersey Scholastic Art Exhibition, held Friday at L. Bamberger & Co., Newark.

Eliminating all but 800 of the 5,000 entries, the judges labeled 100 of them for first, second, third or honorable mention. Among the sculpture entries, Herbert Hazelton of Summit High School placed sixth.

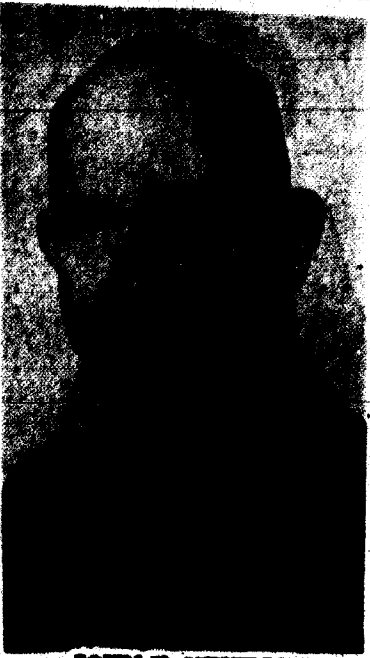

Winners in other classifications included: oils—group 2, Herbert Hazelton and group 3, Leon Croase, both of Summit High School; cartooning—group 1, Jeanie Bobis, Summit Junior High School.

Summit Loan Companies Closed on Saturdays

In conformity with the new banking hours law signed on Monday by Governor Alfred E. Driscoll, the Summit Federal Savings and Loan Association and the Hill City Savings and Loan Association will observe the Saturday morning closing.

This closing will be effective with the coming Saturday. In order to accommodate its customers and to render good service, both these associations will have open hours on the Friday night preceding the Saturday closing. These open hours will be from 6 to 8 p. m.

Depending on load, temperature and wind velocity, the possible rise and fall of Brooklyn Bridge is 18 feet.

Streets Blanketed By Two-inch Fall; Sows Cars Monday

Winds of gale force—at times reaching 45 miles an hour, police report—whipped Summit early Monday morning in the wake of a freak storm which left about two inches of snow after running the gamut through Sunday's rain, sleet, slush, ice, thunder and lightning.

The weather completed a vicious circle here from Saturday midnight to midnight Sunday. Saturday's midnight snow turned to driving rain, then sleet, snow mixed with sleet, and finally snow again.

Frank A. Murray, city engineer, who smiled broadly Sunday as rain started to flush the streets of the snow of February 20 and 21, had to mobilize his snow-cleaning forces that same day calling out four city trucks to keep the mixture pushed off the main streets.

A Dirty Trick
The weather man played us a dirty trick," declared the engineer who had 10 plows at work at 4:35 a. m. Monday. By sundown Monday all the city streets had been plowed, street intersections and dangerous grades sanded or corded.

Police say motorists played it safe on Monday, though the county highway hills, one on Morris avenue before coming to Kent Place boulevard, and the other on Broad street in East Summit under the two-way stretch at the Railway Valley Railroad bridge, had caps "piled up" a good part of the morning. One side of the Broad street hill was blocked off for nearly three hours.

A high school teacher, who drives daily from Trenton, was three-hours late reaching here Monday morning. His problem indicated the condition of the main highways. Motorists commuting from here to Newark reported cars moving at a snail's pace on Route 29 and on the Springfield route to the Essex County capital.

$2,172 Is Cost To City for Snow Removal

The cost of snow removal to the city as a result of the storm of February 20 and 21 was $2,172.25 according to City Engineer Frank A. Murray. This figure is in accordance with a figure of $2,000 reported in an out-of-town paper which gave no source of its authority.

In giving a break down of the cost the city engineer said it cost $1,247.25 for extra equipment, mainly trucks. The cost for extra labor, including overtime, was $925. The city official explains that the $2,172.25 is the money the city "is actually out of pocket because of the storm." He further states that the men in the street department, together with the men in the disposal system who actually worked one day, would have worked elsewhere had the storm not come along under provisions of the city's budget. In other words, the city paid actually only $2,172.25 for the snow removal.

Date Changed For Symphony Orchestra Concert

The concert by the Summit Symphony Orchestra which was announced for March 18, has been postponed one week and will be given on Tuesday evening, March 25. This was the word today from J. Frederick Muller, director. Mr. Muller also announced that Rev. David K. Barnwell, D.D., of the First Baptist Church, will be the narrator for "A Lincoln Portrait" by Aaron Copland. He will give excerpts from Lincoln's speeches while the orchestra accompanies him.

In the belief that increased knowledge of symphonic music will bring increased enjoyment, Director Muller has prepared a series of program notes. These will give a "preview" of the music to be played. The overture on March 25 will be "Orpheus in the Underworld," by Offenbach. Jacques Offenbach was born in Germany in 1819. The son of the cantor of the Jewish synagogue at Cologne, Offenbach was the most brilliant composer of light opera of his day. The opera "Orpheus Aux Enfers," from which the overture is taken, was played for the first time in 1858. The opera is a grotesque and clownish parody, which begins by transforming Orpheus into a master of the violin during private lessons, and finishes by a wild and rhapsodic dance. The opera realized tremendous success, having received 400 performances in Paris alone.

Chorale, "What Tongues Can Tell Thy Greatness," Bach: The family of Bachs made music with-out intermission from the age of Luther to the advent of Bismarck. Modest in their needs, frugal in their pleasures, unambitious for fame or distinction, they dedicated their art to the service of religion.

Their art and their personal lives were guided throughout by the simple piety that characterized Johann Sebastian. American Symphonette No. 2—Pavanne-Morton Gould. "Pavanne" is the second movement of the American Symphonette. Its tuneful, dancing manner reminds one of the gay and happy-go-lucky character found in the writings of this young American. Remember the change of date for the concert—March 25.

Your smartest neighbors will attend the Motor Corps fashion show. When?—Friday, March 14. Where?—Hotel Suburban. Why?—To benefit Summit Chapter American Red Cross.

Will Conduct Revival
Rev. Alfred G. Dunston, pastor of Wallace Chapel A.M.E. Zion Church, will go to Elizabeth City, N. C., next week to conduct revival services.

Refugee Prisoner Will Tell Story To Church Women

With more than three years of experience as a refugee and prisoner of war in the hands of the Japanese in the Philippines, Miss Dorothy L. Schmidt, will tell her story "Concerning Two Countries and Two Peoples" at the annual luncheon of the Women's Association of Central Presbyterian Church at 1 p. m., Tuesday.

Miss Schmidt was a Presbyterian missionary to Japan from 1937 to 1940. She was transferred to teach in Silliman University, but was interrupted by the attack on Pearl Harbor and the invasion of the Philippines by the Japanese. Because of her experience, Miss Schmidt is hoping to be one of those chosen to return to Japan to continue the work and share in the responsibility that this country now faces there.

All women of the church are invited to the meeting, at which the members of the Church Guild will be hostesses.

The nominating committee, Mrs. H. Walford Martin, chairman, will make its report.

The Community Church
Unitarian
Rev. Jacob Trapp

Sunday, 9:30 a. m., Junior Church School, classes from kindergarten through ninth grade. 11 a. m., morning service, sermon by Dr. Trapp: "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam." A social half-hour will be held in the Community House after the morning service; the entire congregation is invited for an informal get-together. 6:30 p. m., Community Young People will meet in the Community House.

Wednesday, 8 p. m., the annual meeting of Community Church will be held in the church building. Reports of officers and committees will be received and acted upon, the budget for the fiscal year 1947-48 will be presented, and new trustees will be elected to replace those whose terms of office are expiring.

Morristown Rector To Preach Tomorrow

Rev. Thomas W. Attridge, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, Morristown, will be the guest preacher tomorrow at the noonday Lenten service at Calvary Church. This is the third of such worship services to be held in the church each Friday, and an invitation is extended to business people to attend, from 12 to 12:30.

Madison Church Invites Summit People to Service

The usher board of Bethel A.M.E. Church of Madison will have as their guest speaker on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, the Rev. H. C. Van Pelt, chaplain at New Jersey State Prison, and former pastor of Wallace Chapel A.M.E. Zion Church here.

The topic of Mr. Van Pelt's talk will be "I Saw Them Die." There will also be guest singers on the program, which is in charge of Mrs. John Skinner, president of the board; Mrs. Charles Johnson, secretary, and Rev. Vernon E. Carter, pastor of the church.

Saturdays are holidays for public employees in 23 per cent of cities of over 500,000 population, according to a recent survey cited by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

Men's Club Will Collect Clothing For Europe

Collection of clothing for Europe has been undertaken as a project by the First Baptist Church Men's Club, and contributions will be accepted from anyone who has something in good condition that can be spared.

The clothing will be shipped to a Baptist minister in the American Zone of Occupation in Germany, through whom Dr. and Mrs. Francis C. Stiffler are administering relief. It is reported that scores of refugees pass the door of this pastor as he tries to provide shoes and clothing to make it easier as they proceed on their way.

The boys and girls of First Baptist are bringing clothes for children, as attractive as possible, to help brighten their lives in countries still destitute.

MORTGAGE LOANS

The character and value of the real estate offered on security for the repayment of the borrowed money is not the exclusive factor in determining the amount and terms of a mortgage loan.

The ratio of the mortgage to sound appraised value of the security, the credit rating of the borrower and his ability to meet installment payments, the length of time upon which the amortization plan is based—these are generally accepted factors which influence the lender's attitude on any mortgage loan application.

We are prepared to discuss with you your mortgage needs in order to work out terms of a payment plan mutually acceptable. See us on your mortgage problems.

Clean Clothes in Slight According to WAA

NEWARK—There'll be a lot more clean clothes in the nation if the WAA has anything to say about it.

This was deduced as North Jersey District Director Robert W. Allen announced that the War Assets Administration is offering for sale 20,000 pieces of surplus laundry and dry cleaning equipment. The equipment, which cost the government about a million and a half dollars, consisting of washing machines, extractors, drying tumblers, pressing machines and related equipment.

Prices run from 60 to 80 per cent of cost.

FUTURE NURSES of the Overlook Hospital training school get instructions in first aid from the Red Cross. Above is one of the many first aid classes held throughout the city under the direction of the Summit Chapter, Red Cross. One of the organization's numerous community services, these classes are conducted by Walter W. Schor-mann. There are three courses, standard, ad-vanced and junior as well as refresher courses. At present 37 students are enrolled in the Overlook class. Another class is being conducted at the Berkeley Heights High School. One little known work done by Red Cross-trained first aid volun-teers are the more than 2,000 roadside first aid stations operated at highway service stations, tourist inns and other sites.

Insurance Clinic Planned By State Title Group

The New Jersey Title Insurance Association will observe its 25th anniversary March 15 with a one-day title insurance clinic and forum in the Essex House, Newark. The annual dinner will follow.

Several hundred men and women engaged in the title insurance field in this State are expected to participate in the forum dis-cussion. Representatives of the New Jersey Bar Association, banking institutions, savings and loan associations and mortgage bankers' groups will also attend.

Thomas E. Colleton, president of the Clinton Title and Mortgage Guaranty Co. of Newark, is chairman of the committee of arrange-ments. He is being assisted by Edwin C. Koempel, Vincent H. Miner, Arthur G. Pulla, Jr., Andrew Holl, James C. McCarthy and Richard R. Fischer.

Mr. Colleton states that the forthcoming forum and clinic will constitute one of the most important sessions in the associa-tion's history because of the in-cresingly large part title insur-ance will play in the construction of new houses and apartments. He added that the steadily grow-ing volume of title insurance re-cently reported presents several new phases that will form the basis of clinical analysis and dis-cussion.

Pascoe to Quit After 25 Years; Contest Starts

Senator Herbert J. Pascoe an-nounced at Trenton Monday night that he will not be a candidate for reelection this year, thereby signalling a scramble in Union County Republican ranks for his seat and touching off a wave of speculation as to his political fu-ture. His action marks the end of a legislative career which be-gan when he was elected to the Assembly in 1922. He twice was speaker and was elected to the Senate in 1941 and again in 1944. As a result of Pascoe's announce-ment the way was paved for a contest for the Senate with the prospect that incumbent As-semblymen will try for his post, thus opening the way for can-didates for the House.

Pascoe has been mentioned as potential A. B. C. commissioner, State Comptroller or Public Utili-ties Commissioner.

Geddes a Candidate

Assemblyman Charles R. Geddes of Union has already de-clared he would be a candidate for the Senate in the event that Pascoe did not run. Assembly Majority Leader Joseph B. Broecker of Elizabeth has been mentioned as Pascoe's own choice as a successor. Among the other active candidates are Mrs. Irene Griffin of Westfield, former As-semblywoman, former Assembly-man Fred E. Shepard of Eliza-beth.

Howell C. Boice of New Provi-dence Borough, who has been Senator Pascoe's secretary for the past three years, was present when the senator made his an-nouncement at the annual dinner meeting of the legislative commit-tee of the Chamber of Commerce of Eastern Union County.

Stiles Clashes With U. S. Attorney In Federal Court

The federal grand jury in New-ark Tuesday approved as "effi-cient" U. S. Attorney Edgar H. Rossbach's prosecution of the Jo-seph S. Fay income tax evasion case in January and repudiated earlier criticism of Rossbach by each of its members, including Albert I. Stiles of Druid Hill road.

This action capped an angry clash between U. S. Attorney Rossbach and Mr. Stiles, a grand juror, earlier in the day. In an outburst, said to be unprecedented in Federal Court, the two men flung charges of dishonesty at each other as 18 other grand jurors looked on speechless.

Mr. Stiles also accused At-torney General Clark of having failed to make his promised investiga-tion of the Fay case and of hav-ing tried only to "exculpate" Ross-bach. He suggested former U. S. Circuit Judge William Clark be assigned as special counsel to the grand jury to investigate Ross-bach's office, saying "five or six other cases" needed probing.

At his home Tuesday night, Mr. Stiles said he planned to com-ment further on the case, but got until he consulted his attorney.

Rossbach referred to Stiles' "vague" attacks on him as "scul-lerly maid tactics of scandalism that not only invades an individ-ual's life but stultifies and pollutes the entire administration of the courts."

Stiles got in the final word. He said: "In my judgment he (Rossbach) has made a most lamentable per-formance as district attorney. I feel he is entirely incompetent for the position. I make no further discussion at this time, at the request of my colleagues, who de-sire to terminate the matter."

School Store Strides Toward "Big Business"

During the first semester of this year the Summit Junior High School store has sold supplies amounting to approximately $225. These included such things as pencils, paper, erasers, pens, pen points, blotters, book covers, car-bon paper, paste, paper clips, rein-forcements, gummed labels, and other similar articles needed by the students and teachers for school use.

The store is operated on a non-profit basis and, therefore, goods are sold at the very lowest prices possible. On a few articles there is a very small profit which goes into the school treasury.

The manager of the store, as-sisted by Miss Elsie Parkhurst, the adviser, performs such duties as making out orders, paying bills, and checking all materials sold and stock on hand at the end of each week.

The following people are on the school store committee: Nancy Eberhardt, Carolyn Diefendorf, Jean d'Este, Linda Ridings, Pete Barker, Peter McHale, Bob Young, Jim Edwards, Stephen Powell, Dana Low, and Mary Ann McKy. These students have gained knowledge and practice in finan-cial details by selling, in turn, goods at the store during activity periods on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, and also every day after school. Besides being a sales-man, Dana Low is the advertising manager.

At present, a table in the cor-ridor serves as the counter, and supplies are stored in converted lockers. The committee and ad-viser are hopeful of a larger place in which to transact sales.

In recorded history, no woman ever has set foot on the great continent of Antarctica.

Use Sprays for Scale Insects

Now is the time for the gar-dener to go over all his shrubs carefully, looking for scale in-sects, according to Fred D. Oa-man, county agricultural agent. This applies especially to lilacs, euonymus, any of the rose family, pines and junipers. If you find any, spray with an oil emulsion or lime sulphur such as is used for fruit trees. This may be used any time the temperature is above 45 degrees so that the oil solution can dry without freezing.

A good clean-up with an oil spray or with lime-sulphur solu-tion before the new buds start is insurance against a lot of insects next summer. It will destroy some aphid eggs, some of the wintering red spider mites, and other pests. The gardener should be sure to get the spray on before bud growth starts, because if he doesn't he will probably burn the young growth.

Summit Store Employees Cut $25,000 Melon

The far-sighted policy under which Sears, Roebuck and Co. employees share in the company's profits, today made it possible for Harry N. Osgood, manager of the Sears store in this city, to present "good news" to his staff.

The "good news" was in the form of itemized statements handed out to 14 eligible employees, showing the extent to which they shared in the distribution of Sears 1946 profits. These profits have been credited to each employee's account in the Savings and Profit Sharing Pension Fund of Sears, Roebuck and Co. Employees.

All Sears employees are eligible to join this fund after one year of continuous service and the 14 local employees who are members have to their credit an aggregate of 528 shares of Sears stock plus a cash balance of $4,954. Based on a year-end market value of 38 1/2 per share for Sears stock, this group has an investment worth in the aggregate $25,480. Employees members of the fund contribute 5 per cent of their salaries to their individual account each year with the maximum contribution limited to $390 annually. Company contributions into the fund from annual profits are distributed proportionately depending on length of service.

This year those employees with less than five years' service with Sears had credited to their account, $1.27 for every dollar they themselves contributed. Employees who have been with the company from five to 10 years received $2.54 for every dollar saved. For those with over 10 years' service, the company placed $3.81 into the fund for every dollar put in by the member. The fourth participating group — employees over 50 years of age with over 15 years' service — received $5.08 from the company for every dollar deposited. Another important source of income for the fund is from Sears stock dividends.

The profit sharing plan was established in 1916 — nearly 20 years in advance of the government's social security program. The fund now owns more than 15 per cent of the company's stock, or $168,324,000 based on current values.

Central Church Pays Honor to Rev. R. S. Brank

(Editor's Note: The Herald wishes to apologize to the numerous friends of Rev. Rockwell S. Brank, D.D., and particularly to members of the Central Presbyterian Church for a mechanical error in last week's paper which resulted in the printing of the wrong picture over the story of Dr. Brank's death. Following is a message by Rev. L. V. Buschman, D.D., pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, given at a memorial service to Dr. Brank at last Sunday's worship service.)

"Last Monday afternoon our hearts were saddened when we received a telegram announcing the death of Rev. Rockwell S. Brank, D.D., at Palm Springs, Cal., on February 23. Flowers were immediately sent to his beloved wife, Virginia C. Brank, in the name of the church, and also an air mail letter expressing our deep sympathy. The funeral services were to have been held in Pasadena last week. We have received no further details regarding the services.

Dr. Brank was born in St. Louis, Mo., 71 years ago. He attended and graduated from the University of Virginia and the Princeton Theological Seminary. It was his original intention to be a lawyer, and he took courses to fit him for this career. Friends have said that it was the hearing of the hymn, "Wonderful Words of Life" on a certain occasion which prompted him to decide to enter the Christian ministry. He became pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church of Summit on October 14, 1917, and continued until his retirement on October 15, 1940, a pastorate of 23 years, the longest in the history of this church. During this time the membership of the church was doubled, and the fine parish house was built.

Was Synod Moderator "He not only served this church with distinction but was also moderator of the Presbytery of Morris and Orange, moderator of the Synod of New Jersey, a director of Princeton Seminary, the Home for the Aged at Belvidere, and a member of the Board of Pensions of the Presbyterian Church.

"Dr. Brank was a strong preacher of the gospel of Jesus Christ. He blew no uncertain trumpet. He received his message from the inspired Word of God. That Word was the Sword of the Spirit. He believed wholeheartedly in the atoning sacrifice of Jesus Christ on the Cross. He was a strong defender of the faith of our fathers. His faith was always clearly and unequivocally expressed. And because of his own positive convictions, forcefully expressed, he was an instrument of God in leading hundreds of old and young into the Kingdom of Truth and Righteousness.

Found Joy in Living "In his personal life he was a joy unto all who knew him. He found great joy in living. He loved a good story, and could entertain others by telling many well remembered and well told stories. His presence was an addition to any social group. He was particularly fond of music, and used to sing lustily the grand old hymns of the church. He was kind and sympathetic to those in need. His ministry to those in sorrow will never be forgotten. "He leaves to mourn his going his beloved wife, two sons, Charles and Rockwell, and one daughter, Mrs. Ruth Kneisel, and a whole host of friends.

"Truly it could be said of him in the words of St. Paul: 'He has fought a good fight, he has finished the course, he has kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for him a crown of righteousness.'

Following this tribute the congregation was asked to stand in silent prayer. Following this, Dr. Buschman offered a prayer and upon its conclusion, the congregation, still standing, joined in the singing of the hymn, "For All the Saints Who From Their Labors Rest." The choir then sang one of Dr. Brank's favorite anthems, "Springs in the Desert," by Arthur B. Jennings, Jr.

Summit Residents of Service The Herald learned this week from John J. Darling of Summit avenue that two Summit residents and seven former residents attended the services on February 23 at the Pasadena Presbyterian Church. Two clergymen, Rev. Eugene Carson Blake, D.D., and Rev. Reid S. Dickson, D.D., officiated. The Twenty-Third Psalm was read and the congregation sang "Faith of Our Fathers." A solo was sung by Lloyd Gysin, church soloist, with David Craighead at the organ. Burial was in Mountain View mausoleum.

Mrs. Ruth Brank Kneisel of New York City flew to the west coast for the services. Seated directly in back of the Brank family were Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Knowles of Essex road, Dr. and Mrs. M. G. Benaley of Springfield, Miss Edna M. Burling of Altadena, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Babcock, Miss Ida E. Kirk and Miss Jeannette R. Shafer, all of Pasadena, Cal.

Asks Exception in New Rent Control Law

A recommendation that new legislation extending the State Rent Control Act should provide for exemption of seasonal dwelling units was made on Monday by Henry N. Stam, president of the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards.

Mr. Stam revealed that OPA, after a long-drawn-out fight, finally exempted such units in resort areas to make them available for off-season occupancy through the winter, and he said this relaxation of a former ironclad rule contributed toward relieving the crisis this winter.

The Realtors also seek a decontrol provision authorizing the State Rent Control Board to remove from control all of the housing space in any county if, after a survey, the board shall deem the emergency in that county has passed and there is no further need for rent control there.

Regularly scheduled coast to coast sleeping-car service was first established in the United States March 31, 1946.

Christ Child Society Plans Annual Dessert Bridge Tuesday

The Christ Child Society announces plans for the annual dessert bridge and cake sale Tuesday, March 11, at 1:30 p. m. in the Oak Knoll School Auditorium. Mrs. Bernard A. Bensiger of Short Hills, president of the society, will head the reception committee.

Chairman of the party, Mrs. John A. Fieseler of Short Hills, will be assisted by the following committee: tickets, Mrs. A. C. Camarata, Millburn, and Mrs. Andrew McNamara, of Summit avenue; table plans, Mrs. Henry Gummer of Greenbriar drive; prizes, Mrs. Stephen Lyons of Plymouth road and Mrs. Paul Cioffi of Kent Place boulevard; refreshments, Mrs. Louis Mougain of Oak Ridge avenue and Mrs. Frank Quinn of Madison; table arrangements, Mrs. Richard Markey of Oak Ridge avenue; cake sale, Mrs. Robert Washington of Morriston and Mrs. William Cullen of Maplewood; publicity, Mrs. William J. Sharp of Oak Ridge avenue.

The Summit society, one of the 48 chapters of the National Christ Child Society of Washington, centers its activities on making layettes for the needy regardless of race, color or creed. In addition to taking care of local and nearby communities, the society sent 22 layettes to war stricken areas in Europe.

All Area Nurses Invited to Overlook

The Summit Nursing Council has extended an invitation to all nurses of this area to attend their joint meeting with the Overlook Alumnae Association next Wednesday evening at the nurses' home, and to bring their friends.

A former house doctor at the hospital, Dr. Margaret Robson, and Miss Wilkie Hughes, of the state placement service, will speak.

Special Events Of Red Cross Announced

Miss Edna Chamberlin, chairman of special events for the Summit Chapter, American Red Cross, announces the following fund raising affairs to be given for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Motor Corps will sponsor a bridge and fashion show at the Hotel Suburban on Friday, March 14, at 2:30 p. m. The fashions will be shown by local merchants, and tea will be served by the Red Cross Canteen. This will be the only event presented by the Motor Corps this year.

Mrs. Charles Burnay will be the hostess, at her home on Railroad avenue, for tea from 4 to 7 Sunday, March 16.

The proceeds of the Junior Service League's spring dance will be given to the fund campaign. The date of the dance will be announced later.

Girl Scout Troop News

Troop 13, Girl Scouts, celebrating its birthday, held a solemn investiture ceremony in St. Teresa's Church on Sunday afternoon. The church choir sang "O Mother Dearest" prior to the blessing of Girl Scout pins by the Rev. John J. Twomey, troop chaplain. He then spoke on the privileges and obligations contingent on membership in the Girl Scouts. The singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" closed the ceremony. The color bearers were Patricia Mullen and Phyllis Bontempo; the color guard Ann Marie Cotterell and Joan Woods.

Those invested as Girl Scouts were: Bella Giannino, Fausta Sansone, Vincenza Maino, Catherine Ryan, Ellen Swick, Stephanie Parsons, Barbara Gariglio, Mrs. Frank Pecca, Miss Anita Kents and Mrs. Sam Gariglio.

Eighteen girls of Troop 15, accompanied by their leader, Mrs. D. S. Loudon, and five troop mothers — Mrs. Paul K. Boyer, Mrs. Graham Brewer, Mrs. W. R. Bennett and Mrs. William Haske, went to New York last Saturday.

The court of honor, which consists of the president, treasurer, scribe and patrol leaders of the troop, planned the trip. Since the troop is very much interested in radio, they secured tickets for a broadcast—"Let's Pretend." They went in to the city by train and ferry, and then went to the CBS theatre where the broadcast was made.

The girls had lunch at an Automat, and then went on to Radio City. After watching the skaters, they made a tour of the NBC studios, where they saw some rehearsals. The high spot of the day was a visit to a television studio, where a program was actually being broadcast and televised.

Troop No. 5 under the leadership of Mrs. Alberta Croot and Mrs. J. Hann went to New York City by chartered bus. The troop left at 8:30 in the morning, and the 16 girls taking part in the trip were accompanied by the leaders and Mrs. J. Ceasar, Mrs. F. Olofson, troop committee members and Mrs. Olofson's mother, Mrs. Vickland, who is visiting her, from Sweden. Radio City was visited and the Museum of Natural History. If funds permit, the troop will make a trip to the Statue of Liberty this Spring.

All Tickets Sold for Motor Corps Fashion Show March 14

Standing room only notices went out today from Red Cross headquarters in Summit to those wanting reservations for the fashion show to be presented Friday, March 14, at the Hotel Suburban of the Red Cross Fund benefit of the Red Cross Fund campaign. A waiting list has been drawn up at Red Cross headquarters, 333 Springfield avenue, Summit.

The need is as great now as at any time during the war and the community support will aid materially in the continuance of Red Cross work.

Chances on prizes donated by Summit merchants will be sold during the show which will be preceded by bridge. Those responsible for tables are requested to bring their own playing cards. Tea will be served by members of the Red Cross Canteen Corps.

Local merchants will display the up-to-the-minute fashions ranging from spring and summer styles through travel wardrobes and resort wear. Frumkina, Kulkka, Helen Edward and the Fairbrooke Shop have joined the list of merchants, previously announced, who are cooperating on the show.

YWCA Plans Series of Teas

Mrs. H. Waldorf Martin entertained a group of YWCA members at her home, 53 Prospect street, on Tuesday afternoon. This is one of a series of teas given by members of the association in cooperation with the membership committee of which Mrs. Allen F. Maybee is chairman. The teas are social occasions when members may hear about the proposed changes in membership policies which all YWCA's are studying in an effort to set up a more uniform practice in all associations. Miss Gloria Kershaw and Miss Peggy Keschlein who are members of groups in the association, provided a short musical program. They were accompanied by Mrs. R. J. Cabrera.

Among those at the tea, in addition to some of the board members, were Mrs. J. W. Bancker, Miss Margery Beck, Miss Katherine Bennett, Mrs. J. B. Burke, Mrs. Conover English, Mrs. J. C. Leatham, Mrs. Ernest Leatham, Miss Marie Libby, Mrs. C. E. Mosher, Mrs. E. P. Patten, Miss Caroline Romer, Mrs. John L. Sly, Mrs. J. A. Steiner, Mrs. A. I. Stiles, Mrs. Harold Tompkins, Mrs. J. Ross Tuttle, Mrs. F. M. Waterman, Mrs. R. E. Weber, Mrs. Otis P. Williams and Mrs. Robert Volkening.

Catholic Groups Plan Meetings

Court Benedict 611, C. D. A., will hold their business meeting on Tuesday, March 11, at 8:30 p. m. at St. Teresa's recreation hall.

The Confraternity of Christian Doctrine of St. Teresa's parish will hear the Rev. Thomas Tuohy at their monthly meeting on Friday, March 7, at 8:30 in the recreation hall.

Every Church Shares in Estate

Every church, white or Negro, in Vance County, N. C., which includes Hendersonville, will receive a bequest of $100 under the will of Sigmund F. Teiser, Jewish merchant. Mr. Teiser stated in his will that since there is no Jewish synagogue in the Vance County, he wished to include churches of all denominations in his bequest.

MEETING THE "SMITH SPECIAL"—Three Kent Place School girls, Gay Freeman, Anne Hoan and Ruth Mace, who plan to enter Smith College in September, are shown receiving the package of letters from the "Smith Special" train Saturday morning, March 1. The letters announce the "percentage of purchases" project March 31 and April 1 at Hahn and Co. of Newark and Montclair. A percentage of all purchases made in Hahn's two stores by alumnae and friends on these two dates will be allocated to each community. The percentage principle will also apply to luncheons bought at Hahn's of Newark. Mrs. Woodruff J. English of Beekman road is chairman of the Summit area for the Smith 75th Anniversary Campaign which is being undertaken by Smith Alumnae throughout the country to raise $7,000,000.

Bonnie Brae Farm Benefit Date Changed to Mar. 15

The Bonnie Brae Farm theater benefit committee, in charge of the forthcoming 12th annual theater benefit for Bonnie Brae Farm for Boys at Millington, announces that the date of the benefit performance of "The Chocolate Soldier," at the Century Theater, New York, which was originally scheduled for Saturday, March 1, has been changed, owing to the delayed New York opening of the production itself, to Saturday afternoon, March 15.

A large block of orchestra seats has been taken by the Bonnie Brae benefit committee and Bonnie Brae friends throughout Northern New Jersey are planning to participate in the event.

Among the patrons from Summit are: Mr. and Mrs. Romeo T. Betts, Mrs. Joseph Boak, Jr., Mrs. Nicholas J. Hussey, Mrs. Willard A. Kiggins, Mrs. Thomas A. Lencz, Mrs. Edwin S. Laffey, Mrs. Julia L. Ohlmeyer, George P. Pollard, Frank C. Sauer, Miss Mary D. Stevens, Mrs. Edwin C. Treat, Henry B. Twombly, Arthur R. Wendell and Mrs. Carlton G. Winans.

Harry V. Osborne, chairman of the board of managers and chairman of the benefit committee is assisted by theatre hostesses in local New Jersey communities among whom are: Mrs. Ludolph H. Conklin, Newark; Mrs. Wilfred J. Funk, Montclair; Mrs. Walton J. Graft, East Orange; Mrs. Frank B. Jewett, Short Hills; Mrs. Frederick T. Kelsey, South Orange; Mrs. Henry P. Kraft, Ridgewood; Mrs. Roger D. Mellick, Far Hills; Mrs. William L. Strong, Jr., Plainfield, and Mrs. Robert Westaway, Englewood.

The benefit is given to aid the Bonnie Brae Scholarship Fund for the dependent, underprivileged New Jersey boys at the Bonnie Brae home-school at Millington. Bonnie Brae provides these children with a home, care, education and training for the future. Nearly a hundred boys are in year-round residence and more than six hundred additional children benefit by a two-week summer camping experience at the Bonnie Brae Camp on the farm premises.

Support for this work comes from voluntary contributions from New Jersey residents and from the proceeds of a theatre and bridge benefits.

Tickets may be secured for the March 15 benefit by addressing the Bonnie Brae Farm office, 436 Broad street, Newark 2, N. J.

Flies to South Africa

Wilfred E. Campbell of Oak Ridge avenue, left Monday by Pan American clipper for the Union of South Africa, where he will combine a vacation trip with a lecture tour. He is scheduled to give a series of lectures at his alma mater, Witwatersrand University, Johannesburg, and other South African universities. He will return May 3.

State Garden Club to Award Prizes for Best Roadside Stands

Plans for the award of citations by the Garden Club of New Jersey to commercial and industrial establishments on New Jersey's State highways having the most attractive buildings and grounds, were outlined today by Mrs. Laurence Wilson of South Orange, president of the Garden Club. This announcement followed meetings of the Advisory Council and Executive Committee of the project where details of the plans were completed.

Judging will be held from April 7 to 28 and awards will be made at the Club's annual meeting May 22. Mrs. Chester Schomp of White House, Garden Club chairman of roadside planning, is in charge of the project, assisted by Mrs. Vance Hood of Boonton and Mrs. Arthur J. Sullivan of Clifton.

The judging marks the start of a long-range program by the Garden Club to "encourage civic beauty and roadside beautification."

Future annual surveys will be extended to include local and county roads as well as State highways.

Establishments will be judged on the basis of landscaping, suitability of signs, grounds and buildings and distinction of setting. In addition, all buildings must conform to State health, safety and highway regulations.

Senior Chosen As DAR Good Citizenship Girl

Under the auspices of Beacon Fire Chapter, DAR, Elizabeth Wilkes has been selected by her fellow students at Summit High School as the outstanding Good Citizen in the senior class. As their candidate for the 1947 Good Citizenship Award given each year by the DAR, Elizabeth will compete with other girls throughout the state for the honor of representing New Jersey at the annual pilgrimage to Washington in May. All candidates are chosen for their leadership, patriotism, dependability, and service.

Miss Wilkes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wilkes of Oak Ridge avenue, has been very active in the high school, as secretary of her class, a member of the student council, reporter on the school paper, member of the Glee Club, and active in musical entertainment. She has been a member of the house and grounds committee. She has also been interested in YWCA work, the Young People's Society of Central Church, the moral re-education group, and the Summit School of Music.

At their meeting on Feb. 20 at the home of Mrs. W. T. Richmond, Ashland road, the nominating committee of the DAR was formed, consisting of Mrs. Richard L. Corby, Mrs. Raymond Guenther, Mrs. George W. Waterhouse, Mrs. Eugene S. Beardslee, and Mrs. William Hetherington.

Mrs. Guenther reported having sent 665 pounds of clothing and $90 to various approved schools. Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Francis A. Keane, and Mrs. Hetherington, while Mrs. Rufus Kelsler, Jr., and Mrs. Walter R. Davis presided at the tea table.

Robinson Jeffers Called Major Poet

Dr. Jacob Trapp, in reading from the poetry of Robinson Jeffers the poet of Carmel, California, at his recent poetry hour at the Community House, said Jeffers was one of the major poets of the entire range of English and American literature, as well as one of the major poets of the times. He spoke of the dramatic power of Jeffers' narrative, his magnificent descriptions of California seashore and rocky landscape, and the interest of his matter-theme, that man must become uncentered from himself and attain the health and wholeness of an outgoing love of the environment and splendors of his existence.

Dr. Trapp read a selection from "The Tower Beyond Tragedy" to illustrate Jeffers' major theme of living in the wholeness of things, rather than "loving and fighting inward."

Other poems read in their entirety were: "To the Stone-Cutters," "Shine, Perishing Republic," "Woodrow Wilson," "Science," "Meditation on Saviors," "Intellectuals," "Triad," "Rock and Hawk," "Life from the Lifeless," "Ave Caesar," "The Wind-Struck Music," "The Answer," "Self-Criticism in February," and "Theory of Truth."

Bell Centennial Held At Murray Hill Labs

TOWNSHIP—A conversation over what was said to be the longest telephone land circuit ever used, covering 10,000 miles, was part of the program originating Monday in the Bell Telephone Company's laboratories here in observance of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Alexander Graham Bell.

Three generations of the inventor's family had parts in the program. The observance was attended by high officials of the company, including Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., and Dr. Oliver E. Buckley, head of the Bell Telephone Laboratory. Dr. Buckley traced the evolution of the telephone and spoke of the contribution Mr. Bell had made for the benefit of mankind.

A sculptured bust of the inventor was unveiled by Mrs. Gilbert H. Grosvenor of Washington, daughter of Mr. Bell. Carved into the mahogany pedestal was the legend: "Leave the beaten track occasionally and dive into the woods. You will be certain to find something you have never seen before." The words were part of an address made by the telephone inventor in 1914.

The record-breaking telephone circuit included, in addition to this place, the following cities: New York, Miami, El Paso, New Orleans, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Minneapolis, Chicago, Buffalo, Bangor and Boston. A letter from President Truman, congratulating the Bell Company, was read over the wire.

A motion picture, "Mr. Bell," tracing the life of the inventor was shown to the guests as its first public presentation. A program describing the centennial was broadcast Monday night from New York.

Blue Mt. Farms Clinches Title In Bowling Loop

TOWNSHIP—By sweeping three matches Friday night against River Bend, Blue Mt. Farms clinched the title for the current season of play in the New Providence Township Bowling League. With only 12 games to roll, Free Acres, Funnell A. River Bend and 3 Bar S Ranch will be fighting it out for second and third place in the final standings.

Blue Mt. Farms was aided Friday with some top-notch rolling by Guenther with 223 and Andrus with 200. Funnell A had a tough time winning two from Free Acres although the latter had only four men. Tomaselli for the winners was hot with 304 and 227. Hilltop managed to take two out of three from Union Village and 3 Bar S Ranch took Funnell B for two games.

The sweepstakes will start on April 4, and continue through April 11 and 18. The sweepstakes will be followed by a dinner and entertainment on April 24 to award prizes for all events.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Griffin to William C. McIntyre, lots 1-15, 24-41, block 25, map No. 1, Berkeley Heights Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric O. Rieger to St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, property in Plainfield avenue, 840 feet from Emerson lane, Watchung and New Providence Township.

Johanna Riefler, widow, individually and executor, to Wilhelmina J. Diets and James M., her husband, right, title and interest in Mountain avenue, 185.48 feet from dividing line of lands of Bernard Cummings.

Anthony DeLasso Rites To Be Held This A.M.

TOWNSHIP—Funeral services for Anthony F. DeLasso, 22, will be held from his home at 8 a.m. today in Washington street, where he died Monday. A solemn high mass will be offered for the repose of his soul at the Church of the Little Flower at 9 a.m. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Stony Hill.

Mr. DeLasso entered the Army at the age of 18. He was the husband of Louise Pecca of Summit, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeLasso. He also leaves four sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Carmel Monsippa, Mrs. Felicia Santara, Mrs. Anna Ferrara, Peter and Franklin, Jr., all of Berkeley Heights and Mrs. Jean Truppi of Stamford, Conn.

Township Asked To Bear Cost of Library Memorial

TOWNSHIP—The War Memorial Library Committee submitted a letter to the Township Committee, which was read at the February 26 meeting, asking that two propositions be given consideration and disposition, namely: that the War Memorial Library Building proposal be placed on the ballot as a referendum and that its cost be defrayed by the township.

The letter was held over for further study to be discussed at last night's meeting which was being held at the Herald went to press. At the February 26 meeting Township Committee member Charles M. Monio indicated he was opposed to the suggestions made by the Memorial Committee. He expressed the belief that subscriptions could be raised to meet the cost stating that he knew of one firm that would possibly donate $15,000 towards the erection of the library.

Budget Hearing Held
Adoption of the 1947 tax and appropriations budget was set for last night following a public hearing at the February 26 meeting. General appropriations total $203,192 compared to last year's total of $193,434.88. Amount to be raised by taxation for local purposes is $46,300 compared to the 1946 figure of $24,882.86. The tax rate is estimated at $4 for 1947 based upon valuations of $3,657,530, a rise of five points over the 1946 rate of $3.95. Details of the budget were published in full in the Herald of February 13.

Questions Asked
At the public hearing a small number of citizens sought information on various items.

Everett Smith of Twin Falls road asked if funds were available in the project for condemnation costs in conjunction with the proposed major improvement of Diamond Hill road. He was told that no special appropriation had been made, but that if the project is carried out as planned, the cost can be drawn from the capital improvement fund.

Chairman N. J. Eich of the Citizens Improvement Committee, called attention to a salary item under poor relief which is more than double the expenditure for relief costs. He was told that the relief costs were low at the present time but that the need for a relief director persisted.

Raymond Murray of Middle way asked if the increased police appropriation meant that new policemen would be added this year. Chairman George W. Robbins, Jr., of the police committee said no new personnel was anticipated. The increased appropriation would cover bonuses, he explained.

Yannotta Paces Barbers in B.H. Kegler League

TOWNSHIP—Frank Yannotta of the Berkeley Barbers set the pace for his team February 26 in the Berkeley Heights Bowling League by rolling a total of 560 for the evening including games of 199 and 228. Yannotta came near setting a record for high single games, but lost out when he mistook another ball for his in the tenth frame. Previous to that, Yannotta had five strikes in a row and marks in every frame except one. His evening's work gave him second place for single games and third place for three games.

With Yannotta setting the pace, the barbers rolled 2262 for the night which is the fourth highest three-game score in the league.

Della's won three games from Pine Tree Inn for forfeit when the inn failed to put a team on the floor. This action created a tie between these three teams for third place. Berkeley A. C. leads and the barbers are in second place eight games behind the leaders and six games in front of the third place teams.

Slight Drop in Patients, Latest Report Shows

TOWNSHIP—Patients present at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium, New Providence Township, on December 31 last numbered 304 as compared to 301 on January 26 last according to the most recent report of Dr. John E. Runnella, superintendent. The latter total includes 36 boys, 23 girls, 143 men and 99 women.

From January 1 to 26, 15 adults were admitted, 11 men and four women. In the same period 21 adults were discharged, 16 men and five women. During the same period, four children were admitted, one boy and three girls. A girl died in this period.

The daily average for January was 299.30; 57.81 for children and 241.49 for adults including 12 veterans.

Sex Education Need For Parents Stressed

TOWNSHIP—Parents' obligation to enlighten their children on sex education was described by Dr. Thayer A. Smith of Short Hills, general medical practitioner, at a meeting of the Parent Study Group of Columbia School PTA Thursday night in the school.

In addition to protecting them from ignorance, a child prepared with a basic foundation of sex knowledge will also be prepared for establishing an attitude toward marriage and parenthood, the speaker declared.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. John U. Ayres, Parent Study Group chairman. More than 50 parents attended the meeting.

Sanatorium Employees Arrested After Fight

TOWNSHIP—Edward Lloyd, 41, and Patrick Joseph Murphy, 47, both employees at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium, were arrested Sunday at 2:30 a. m. by Patrolmen Harold I. Curtis, Jr., and Vito LaSasso following an alleged altercation at the hospital.

Charged with disorderly conduct, the pair will be given a hearing March 15 before Recorder Joseph Mulholland on complaints filed by Police Chief D. V. Russo, Jr.

According to police, Murphy was treated at Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, for injuries received in the altercation.

B of E Advertisers For Supply Bids

TOWNSHIP—The Board of Education has advertised that it will receive sealed bids for instructional supplies to be submitted to the district clerk, Miss Katherine Patterson on or before its meeting, Monday, March 10 at 8 p. m. at Columbia School in Plainfield avenue. The bids must be quoted f.o.b. at Columbia School and shall be delivered on or before August 1 next. The board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Fuchs Assigned To Oliver and South St. School

TOWNSHIP—Assignment of Leo G. Fuchs of Plainfield avenue as principal of the Oliver and South Street School in Newark at $4,500 annually was approved February 25 by the Newark Board of Education on recommendation of the Newark School's Superintendent Herron.

Mr. Fuchs' appointment was voted last month despite the board's decision to postpone the filling of vacant elementary and high school principalships pending an investigation of the conduct of last September's examination.

At the time of Mr. Fuchs' appointment, it was explained that he was placed on the eligibility list as the result of a previous examination and that he resigned as supervising principal of the New Providence Township as of February 1 after two and a half years of service here to take the Newark position.

Mr. Fuchs holds a bachelor's degree from Niagara University and master's degree in education from Rutgers. He succeeds Miss Anna O. Keane who becomes principal of the Bergen Street School in Newark.

NEW PROVIDENCE Borough

Police Recorder Imposes Fines on Five Defendants

BOROUGH—Mario V. DeRoche of Vaux Hall road, Union, was fined $10 and costs Tuesday night of last week by Police Recorder A. C. Hoffman for driving without driver's and owner's license. Other fines imposed by Judge Hoffman:

Charles Daum of Mt. Bethel, $6 for illegal parking in the middle of Springfield avenue during the snow storm of February 20; Carl Adams of Bloomfield, $15 following his plea to a disorderly conduct charge preferred by his father-in-law, William Tyson of Passaic street; Alfred Masuccio of Dunlap street, $5 for failing to confine his dog, and John C. Raynor of Passaic street for violation of the sanitary code, fine suspended.

Testimony Details
Chief of Police Harry High stated the charges against DeRoche followed a collision the afternoon of February 25 at the "Four Corners" involving the defendant's car and one driven by Coney Mea of the borough. The impact of the crash caused the rear of the Union man's car to hit the side of a car owned by M. S. Totten of Elwood avenue, which was parked in Springfield avenue. The defendant said he was driving to Myeraville to get his mother-in-law to assist with taking care of his young son who was ill and unconscious at home. DeRoche said he had recently come from Brazil where he had been a traffic inspector and had not applied for a driver's license here. He showed Brazilian drivers' licenses for the period 1937 to 1943 but since then he had not driven a car until the day of the accident.

Adams, who is estranged from his wife, had been visiting his children at the Tyson residence where an argument became the basis of the charge against him.

Church Women Repair Choir Robes, Elect

BOROUGH—The Women's Organization of the Presbyterian Church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Harriet Badgley in South street to work on renovation of the choir gowns. Miss Badgley, Mrs. Robert Badgley and Mrs. Fred Jacobus acted as hostesses.

Mrs. Elmore Schult, Mrs. Frank Chauncey Horton and Mrs. Frank E. Mason comprising the nominating committee reported a slate with Miss Badgley as president; Mrs. A. G. Harma, first vice president; Mrs. Dayton Parcella, second vice president, Mrs. Horton, third vice president, and Mrs. Donald Irving, fourth vice president; Miss Helen Armstrong, treasurer, and Mrs. Elmer High, secretary.

The church's Missionary Group also elected officers at the same time. Mrs. L. B. Coddington, Sr. was elected president; Mrs. William Kauffman, vice president; Mrs. R. E. Wolfe, secretary. Mrs. Schult, treasurer, and Mrs. Irving, chairman of the sewing group.

Cancer Meeting Deferred Because of Bad Roads

BOROUGH—The organization meeting of a unit to make cancer drawings planned for Tuesday afternoon at the Presbyterian Parish House was postponed until later this month because some of the women from out of town who were coming to help organize were unable to do because of the dangerous condition of the highways in various communities.

Old material suitable for use as handbags is being sought by the unit, and those desiring to contribute such material are asked to contact Mrs. A. G. Harma, Union avenue, who will call for the material.

Boro Girl Wed to Maplewood Man at Church Ceremony

BOROUGH—The marriage of Miss Virginia Mae Welton, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Welton of Passaic street and Clifford J. Welton of North Carolina, to Ervin George Bond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin P. Bond of Maplewood, took place Saturday afternoon at the Springfield Methodist Church. The Rev. Charles Petersen, pastor, performed the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Richard J. Welton of Knoxville, Tenn.

Mrs. Raymond Welton of Passaic street, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Kenneth Bond was his brother's best man.

Miss Welton is a graduate of Regional High School and is employed by the First National Bank of Springfield. Mr. Bond attended Columbia High School and is employed by the Kroyden Co. of Maplewood.

Men's Club and M and M Sweep In Kegler Loop

BOROUGH—At the 22nd session of the New Providence Bowling League, February 24, on the H-Y-Way Bowl alleys in Union, the Men's Club swept their three matches against the Five Aces and the league leading M & M team did likewise against the B & L Association. Firemen "A" took two out of three against Firemen "C." The Junior Order spanked Firemen "B" in two of their matches.

Frank Mea of the M & M team won groom honors for the evening with 324 while individual high game honors went to Pigna of the same team with a 100 score.

MAGIC FOR YOUR MENUS

Cultivated mushrooms, vicerepts of the vegetable family will add a magic touch to your menu. Cultivated mushrooms have an unusual, delightful flavor, a delicate and different taste, and contain vitamins, minerals, and proteins. Cultivated mushrooms can be used in many ways and will add a palate-pleasing food value to everyday meals. Here are two interesting ways to serve mushrooms in Lenten meals.

Lenten Vegetable Plate
Parboil large white onions; scoop out centers and chop centers fine. Lightly sauté small butter mushrooms in butter; roll in fine cracker crumbs. Mix chopped onion and mushrooms and fill center cups with mixture. Put whole boiled cauliflower, topped with cheese sauce and garnished with paprika, in center of platter and surround with onion cups and strips of raw carrots.

Macaroni Ring with Mushrooms
8 ounce pkg. macaroni 1/2 lb. mushrooms Cheese Sauce

Cook macaroni 12 to 15 minutes. Drain and stir in 1/4 cup butter and pack into ring mold. To make sauce melt 3 tablespoons butter over low heat; add 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Stir until well blended. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in 2 cups milk. Return to heat and cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Add 1/2 cup grated cheese and sliced mushrooms, which have been lightly sautéed in butter or margarine (about 5 minutes). Unroll macaroni on large plate and fill center with mushroom cheese sauce. Garnish sauce with diced pimiento and diced green pepper, if desired. Serve with bowl of crisp salad greens, beverage and light dessert or fruit.

"La Boheme" Rehearsal

Postponed to May 17
Due to a conflict in bookings, the production of "La Boheme" with Ferruccio Tagliavini and Pia Tassinari under sponsorship of the Griffith Music Foundation has been postponed. The Metropolitan Opera Association booked a special benefit performance of that opera with Tagliavini for Wednesday evening, March 19, the day before the scheduled Newark appearance. Under the circumstances Tagliavini felt he would prefer to wait and give his New Jersey audience the benefit of his best efforts, the first available date being Saturday, May 17. Subscribers who may not find that date convenient will be refunded their money. Otherwise tickets for the original March 20 date will be honored on Saturday evening, May 17.

Y Groups to Present Radio Play Sunday
"Flight for Freedom," an original radio play written by the Young Adult departments of the YWCA and the Lincoln YMCA will be presented to the public this Sunday at 4 p. m. at the Central YMCA, 67 Maple street. The play deals with the theme of racial tolerance and features special music by Capitola Dickerson.

ONE OF THIRTY talented girl musicians in the Phil Spitalny All-Girl orchestra is Joan Jennings (above). The orchestra, composed of thirty equally charming women, will appear at the Maple Theatre, Newark, for one performance only, Saturday night, April 12.

State Advertising Club Organized in Newark

Incorporation of the Advertising Club of New Jersey to succeed and expand the activities of the Advertising Club of Newark was announced today by Leonard Dryfus, president of the club.

The papers of incorporation have been filed with the Secretary of State in Trenton. In addition to Dryfus, the trustees of the new club are John C. Williams, president of L. Baumgardner & Co.; Douglas S. Colyer, president of the Colyer Printing Co.; Edgar Williamson, Jr., president of the Newark Employment Co. and Frederick H. Casel, secretary of the Prudential Insurance Co. All except Casel are officers of the Newark Club.

The Board of Governors of the Newark Club voted early this year to expand its activities and change the name of the club to the Advertising Club of New Jersey. This action was approved overwhelmingly by the club membership, numbering approximately 400. The members of the Newark Club automatically become members of the new organization.

In announcing the change, Dryfus said that many large industries throughout the State had expressed a desire to become members of the club but were uninterested in joining while it remained solely a Newark club.

Thursday's Expected for Rumba Fans at Carousal

Lovers of Latin rhythms come into their own each Thursday evening at Carousal, Essex House, when batonier Cy Greene dedicates the program to music from South American sources. Rumbas predominate in the dance festa, with the accent on the Afro-Cuban beat. This slower, more marked rhythm, Cy explains, is easier for Northerners to follow than the more intricate tropic patterns.

Tangos, sambas, congas and dreamy cancion boleros also contribute to the Latin flavor of the evening. Favorite of Carousal audiences, Greene reports, is the Albeniz tango modernized as "Moonlight Masquerade" with "Adios Muchachos" a close second.

"Anna Lucasta" Next on Newark Opera House Bill

Mail orders are now being accepted for the premiere and subsequent performances of "Anna Lucasta," the comedy-drama hit by Philip Yordan that has blazed a history-making path across the American stage and which will begin a week's engagement at the Newark Opera House on Monday evening, March 17.

John Wildberg, the producer, is well-known to New Jersey theatergoers. It is he who acquainted them with his stock company in Maplewood several years ago—the same stock company which was responsible for the modern version of "Porgy and Bess." His newest contribution to the Jersey footlights is "Anna Lucasta," which broke all records in New York and comes directly here after a fourteen-week record-breaking engagement in Philadelphia.

Dance Lessons Allowed Under GI Bill of Rights

The Veterans' Administration has awarded a contract to the Arthur Murray Dance Studios at 106 Halsey street, Newark, and 44 Brick Church Plaza, East Orange, in which World War II veterans may receive up to 112 hours of dancing instruction under the G.I. Bill of Rights. The contract is primarily for veterans who wish to become teachers of dancing.

The government will pay the entire amount of the 112-hour training course for men and women veterans of World War II who are eligible for educational benefits under the G.I. Bill of Rights. Walter Ferner, manager of the two studios, said today. The veteran pupils will receive instruction in the rumba, samba, waltz, fox trot and other dancing steps, in addition to learning teaching techniques.

Travancore, a State in India with 6,000,000 population, has modern factories turning out aluminum, sugar, chemicals and textiles.

Advises Divorce

Advisory Master Herman E. Hillenbach has advised a divorce for Mrs. Ruth Adelaide Garalde of Franklin place from Thomas B. Garalde of Port Arthur, Tex.

Description was the basis for a divorce. The couple were married in 1933 and have no children. The ideal storage space for home-canned food is a dry reasonably dark, clean and cool room.

Sports' Sidelights

SOFTBALL UNDER THE LIGHTS

Last year by means of public subscription several hundreds of dollars were raised for the erection of arc lights at Washington School Field to facilitate playing night softball. An estimated more than 10,000 fans flocked to the field during the past season to watch the games played there by Charlins in State League, independent competition and State championship games.

Because of reasons best known to himself, Charles H. Schreck, has withdrawn as sponsor of the Charlins team. Manager Frank Pryce and Captain Pete Kivlen of that team are now looking around for a new sponsor. The president of one of the local service clubs proffered a plan for his club to take over responsibility of the field at night and to sponsor a softball club to represent Summit somewhat after the manner in which the Charlins team stood. This particular idea doesn't appeal to Pryce and Kivlen who say they have a local business man in mind who is considering sponsorship of a team to represent the city.

If you should seek the opinion of residents in the Washington School area, you would probably find it unanimous for the continuation of softball under the lights. The only opposing viewpoint raised last summer was by the residents in Canoe Brook parkway who objected to the noise.

Inasmuch as night softball proved such a popular attraction here, it is hoped that arrangements will be completed at an early date to assure the continuation of this activity to the end there will be no objections from any source.

MAN IN THE BACKGROUND

Did you ever think about the "Man in the Background" in sports? Does he ever get the credit that is due him? Out in the neighborhood sandlot a gang of boys about as the runner slides for home. In the crisp sunlight of an autumn afternoon a football spirals in the air over the school gridiron... or in the gym, a basketball snuggles into the safe rim of a basket. That is what it means to be young in these United States... That is freedom to play a game for all that it is worth. And always in the BACKGROUND you will find the significant figure of a man. Whoever he is, his heart is always with the kids he is helping to train on the football field, the basketball court, the diamond or the cinder path. In football, basketball and baseball at Summit High School, such a man is Elwood C. Cornog, and in track, N. H. McGiffin. These men are very often unsung heroes, trying in their own way to better today's youth so that tomorrow's citizens may be healthier and finer human beings. America owes a debt of gratitude to these men in the athletic background who work to give youth part of its American heritage.

DID YOU KNOW THAT...

basketball is America's sole contribution to the world's major sports... that in ancient Rome the rulers considered football so beneficial to physical fitness that they made the sport a part of Army training... that when Alexander Cartwright, the man who laid out the first baseball diamond, went West he took a baseball along. His diary tells of the Indians and mountain men taking up the sport en route... that volleyball has taken Russia by storm and is practically the national game of the Soviets... that from 1921 through 1927 the Original Celtics averaged 125 basketball games a season and carried only ONE sub and he seldom saw service... and that although basketball is the only American born major sport in the World's arena, it was played in 75 countries before the war... and the record crowd to see a single game is 23,000 at Peiping, China in 1935?

100th Anniversary of the Birth of Alexander Graham Bell - March 3, 1947

HE GAVE THE WORLD A NEW VOICE

Today, with nearly every civilized spot in the world no farther away than the nearest telephone, it is hard to realize that this great communication system was born in the vision of one man, Alexander Graham Bell.

Dr. Bell's invention of the telephone began the never-ending search for new and better methods of communication now carried on by the Bell Telephone Laboratories. At the same time, it started a new industry that now provides employment for hundreds of thousands of men and women—24,000 in New Jersey Bell alone.

SHS Plays Rahway in State Tourney Tonight Away

Summit to Fight to Stay In Early Tourney Play

The regular scholastic basketball season is a thing of the past for Summit High School. Yet there has been no rest this week for Coach Elwood C. Cornog's charges at Summit High School who have been hard at practice for their Group 2 game tonight in a preliminary State Tournament game against Rahway High School on the Elizabeth Armory court starting at 8.

Neither Rahway nor Summit is given much chance by the dopsters to last long in their quest for the Group 2 title. Rahway sporting about the same record as Summit for the past season was easily eliminated by Regional High in the county tournament. Tonight's game is considered a toe-up. Roselle Park, who has also had an in-and-out season, is the only other county team entered in Group 2.

The reason none of Union County's entries in Group 2 are given a chance is because the champion Weehawken quintet has been regarded as a clinch to win its fourth title in six years right from the start of the season. Two of the Weehawken players, Leo Cosgrove and Joe Booth, have averaged 18 points each in every game this season.

All in all it is considered doubtful if either Summit or Rahway will advance to the State semifinals.

Balish Posts Easy Win as Legion Tops Eastern Fuel

With "Sheriff" Frank Paul leading the way, Balish Beverage trounced Lincoln Y, 53-27, Monday in a Community League basketball game. With the "Sheriff" dropping in ten field goals together with three free shots to lead the night's scoring parade, the beverage boys were never threatened. Big Tom Finneran came through for five goals to aid the winners.

In the nightcap, the Legion had tough going until the last minute of play with Eastern Fuel. With the service team sporting a one-point lead with a minute and twenty seconds to go, Ricuito sank a foul for the winners followed by his teammate Joe Yanotta with a field goal to put the game "on ice." Charley Twill added a field goal from outside the key to give the Legion a six-point margin in its victory.

Summit Wrestler Awarded Degree At Lehigh Univ.

William Bernard, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bernard of DeBary place, was awarded a B. A. degree in mechanical engineering Sunday at the annual mid-winter commencement exercises at Lehigh University. His parents attended the exercises.

Bernard, currently rated as intercollegiate wrestling champion, has been captain of the Lehigh mat team, which has won every match this year including one against Princeton.

A graduate of Summit High School, Bernard developed his mat interests at Blair Academy where he was also captain of the team. An ensign in the Merchant Marine during the war, he also performed brilliantly on the wrestling team at the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, Long Island.

Colgate Alumni Show Confidence in Coach

A vote of confidence was tendered Paul Bixler, newly elected head football coach at Colgate University, at the annual meeting of the Colgate Alumni Association of New Jersey held last week at the Hotel Suburban. The resolution declared that the alumni were confident Bixler will turn out first class Colgate teams and pledged their support to him.

Westfield Comes From Behind to Top Summit, 38-36

In a post-scheduled game Friday night here, Westfield High's basketballers, after trailing 21-14, at the half, took command in the second half and went on to trim Summit High, 38-36. Only one player hit two figures in the scoring ranks, Billy Mitchell, Westfield guard amassing 10 points.

The game probably marked the final home basketball appearance for Seniors Arthur Cotterell, Harold Abers, Herb Sorensen, Ray Kerrigan and Cosimo Pedicini. Sorensen led the locals in their scoring with 9 counters.

In the nightcap, the Summit javes continued their hapless record by dropping a 28-26 game.

Naramore Scores High in Bowling At Univ. of Iowa

Bowling a high score of 214 this season for his fraternity's team, Ed Naramore, majoring in chemistry at the University of Iowa, seems to have found a formula that works as well on the alleys as the tried and true chemistry formulas do in the laboratory. He is a member of the bowling team of Sigma Phi Epsilon, national social fraternity, at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City. The team has won six of nine games played this season. With four other Sigma Phi Epsilon bowlers, he plays a three-game league each week for eight weeks to complete the inter-fraternity tournament.

Naramore is vice-president and historian of Sigma Phi Epsilon. He has also played on the fraternity's intra-mural basketball, touch football and volleyball teams.

The University's intra-mural sports program is designed to provide recreation and competitive sports for students living in dormitories and fraternities.

A 1942 graduate of Downers Grove high school, Downers Grove, Ill., Naramore was a member of the high school's football, basketball and track teams. After graduation from high school, he enrolled at the University of Iowa.

He served in the Army Air Forces from December, 1943, until March, 1946.

After receiving his discharge, Naramore returned to the University. He is a junior in the college of liberal arts.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Naramore of Beverly road.

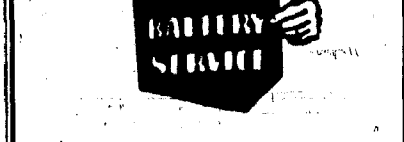

Bishop to Play Here

Summit golfers and fans will have the opportunity to get another look this spring at Stanley E. (Ted) Bishop, the lanky New Englander who won the national amateur last September by defeating Smiley Quick on the 97th hole at Baltusrol. He will return to Union County June 14 and 15 to play in the Suburban Golf Club's annual invitation tournament.

Trinity Routs Oratory, 78-30 At Westfield

Holy Trinity cagers scored their most top-heavy win of the season, February 25, as they routed Oratory School of Summit, 78-30, at the Trinity Place Court, Westfield. The victory was Trinity's second over the Summit cagers.

Holy Trinity took the lead at the opening whistle, and never slowed down, as the quartet of Don Jordan, Art McNeil, Tom Commune and Bob Evans sent the Westfield boys further in front in every period. Coming down the home stretch, the Westfield outfit roared over the finish line by a 48-point margin.

"Realtor"
The term designates those persons in the real estate business who have available to them the accumulated knowledge and research in real estate business methods and standards. Realtors are those who, in the judgment of their peers in their business, are persons with personal standards and business competence of sufficient merit to warrant entrusting them with the important fiduciary relationships involved in real estate transactions. They have voluntarily pledged themselves to a code of ethics governing their business conduct, their relations with each other, and their relations with the public.

BOROUGH

Mrs. Fred Koenig Feted at Shower

BOROUGH — A miscellaneous bridal shower was tendered recently to Mrs. Fred Koenig, the former Miss Ruth Crann of Summit, by Mrs. Richard Hamill at her home in Springfield avenue. Decorations were centered by a white umbrella with streamers to the floor. A buffet supper was served.

Guests included Mrs. Leighton Crann, O. R. Van Cise, the Misses Alice Boorby, Helen Van Ness and Eleanor Moll, all of Summit; Mrs. James Collins and Miss Josephine Pelot of Madison; Mrs. James Wagner of Chatham; Mrs. H. F. Ruck, Orange; Miss Marion Byrd, Irvington; Miss Terry D'Andrea, Springfield; Mrs. Robert Hand, South Orange; Mrs. William Koenig, Millburn, and Mrs. J. L. McLintock, Millington.

Chief High Named On By-Laws Committee

BOROUGH — At the reorganization meeting of the Police Chiefs' Association held Thursday in Scotch Plains, Chief of Police Harry High was appointed as a member of the by-laws committee. This committee will report at the March 27 meeting of the group at a place to be announced later.

WCS Holds Meeting

BOROUGH — The missionary study and sewing group of the WCS of the Methodist Church met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Richard Marsh of Springfield avenue. Sewing was conducted in the morning followed by a box luncheon. In the afternoon the missionary group under the leadership of Mrs. V. M. Cousins had as its subject, "The Religions of India."

The official board of the church met Tuesday night at the church.

Paper Collection Deferred to March 23

BOROUGH — Because of the bad weather last week-end, Boy Scout Troop No. 68 has arranged to make another paper collection on Sunday, March 23.

Divorce Decree Sought On Desertion Charge

TOWNSHIP — In a divorce action instituted February 26 before Advisory Master Herman Hillenbach in Elizabeth, Mrs. Charlotte Hansen of Berkeley Heights complained that Thomas Hansen of Grant avenue, Plainfield, deserted her in June, 1944. Reference Books At Library Cover Varied Subjects

Would the reader like to know how hat styles have changed from the modish Early Egyptian or Roman beaddresses down to the one grandmother wore? Or it may be he is curious to know just what is contained in the "Information Please Almanac, 1947." Possibly the returned G.I. wants to survey the field of chemical specialties. Whatever the topic the Summit Free Public Library seems to have a book for it, or is in the process of obtaining one, according to the recent acquisitions announced by Miss Lillian Speer, librarian. They are:

- Fiction Catalogue-1941 edition. A subject, author, and title list of 5050 works of fiction in the English language, with annotations, 1942, 1944, 1945—Supplement to 1941 Fiction Catalogue.
- Essay and General Literature Index, 3 vol. 1934 to 1945.
- Dramatic Bibliography, an annotated list of books on history and criticism of the drama and stage and on the allied arts of the theater.
- N. W. Ayer & Son's Directory—Newspapers and Periodicals.
- Patterson's American Educational Directory; contains a complete list and description of all public, private, and endowed schools, colleges, higher and secondary institutions of learning.
- Handbook of Private Schools for American Boys and Girls 1946-1947.
- Guide to Colleges, Universities and Professional Schools in the United States.
- Information Please Almanac, 1947. Edited by John Kieran.
- The Encyclopedia Americana, 1946 edition, 30 volumes.
- Mode in Costume, by Ruth Wilcox; this book contains over 1,100 drawings of full length figures and accessories covering each period in every land where the "Mode in Costume" existed. Also invaluable descriptive notes.

Story of Telegraph Told the Old Guard By Visiting Leader

Elizabeth's Old Guard director, Charles Lever, told the Summit Chapter on Tuesday morning some of his experiences as a telegraph operator.

The telegraph, he said, was the granddaddy of the telephone, whose founder's centenary is being celebrated this week. When Morse, the portrait painter, in 1832, saw lightning flashing from link to link, the telegraph idea was born. In 1837 he and Vail experimented with 1,700 feet of wire. In 1844 the message, "what hath God wrought," was flashed between Baltimore and Washington and in 1861 the first telegraph message sped to the Pacific coast. Until the Blizzard of 1888 ninety-foot poles darkened Broadway, but now myriads of wires underground take stock quotations and other messages throughout the United States and Canada. Formerly operators took everything down in longhand but now the typewriter does the work, while the individual operator's touch is recognized by fellow experts.

Flashed McKinley Death

Having set up a wire from Buffalo to the Whitehouse, for the 1901 Exposition, the speaker had sent the first news of President McKinley's assassination. He had also flashed the story of the Columbia's victory over Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock and reported many other great sporting events and had given the New York Sun, the first word of the sinking of the "Maine."

At the close of his own talk, Mr. Lever introduced his vice-director, George Barkman, who recited a few short stories and poems. Hart Darlington offered the vote of thanks for both.

Before this, Director Thorp read notes of appreciation for John L. Kirk, William J. Birdsall and Rev. Charles Stearns, who had recently died, and Parker D. King was elected to membership. Holmes Thomas of Summit and five Elizabeth Old Guardsmen were welcomed as guests and Harry M. Guest, the March program captain, announced for next Tuesday that Alfred Willow of Paterson would give "The Log of a Seagoing Cowboy," with illustrations.

Mode in Hats and Headdresses, by Ruth Wilcox; this book traces the development of hats and headdresses from Egyptian, Greek and Roman times to 20th Century.

This is Fashion, by Elizabeth Burris-Meyer; the story of fashion through the ages, giving a complete picture of clothes, their accessories, fabrics and color, cosmetics and coiffures.

Anniversaries and Holidays, a Calendar of Days and How to Observe Them, by M. E. Hazeltine.

Chemical Specialties, by H. Bennett; every aspect of the chemical specialty business is covered in this book. Food and Drug Administration laws are included, as well as bookkeeping and figuring costs.

Encyclopedia of Psychology—P. L. Harriman.

Atlas of Global Geography—Erwin Raisz.

American Men of Science—Biographical Directory.

Twentieth Century Authors—S. J. Kunitz and Howard Haycraft.

World Almanac—1947.

Historical Atlas of The United States.

Revised Statutes—Cumulative Supplement—New Jersey Laws of 1945-1946.

Benefits Paid to New Jersey Families

New Jersey families received $62,654,000 in life insurance death benefit payments during 1946, compared with $64,645,000 in the previous year and $59,954,000 in 1944, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

Parent Seminars Begin; Suggested By Youth Groups

"Understanding Children's Needs," the first of three seminars for parents, to which the public is invited Wednesday at 1:30 p. m., at the Council chambers at City Hall, is planned at the direct suggestion of youth groups last year. Similar seminars are taking place also in Elizabeth and Plainfield.

"Most parents want to help us with our problems," young people say, according to Mrs. Mary W. Armstrong, county chairman of the parent seminars, "but almost none of them—no matter what their schooling was—really understands what our needs are and how to help us meet them." A series of conferences with youth groups led the Welfare Council to plan the seminars.

Mrs. Marion McDowell, the speaker on Wednesday, will describe the basic needs common to all children which, if unfulfilled, create problems which can seriously threaten the children's future success and happiness. She will suggest ways in which parents can recognize and help meet these needs. Mrs. McDowell is a specialist in family relations and child development counseling at Rutgers University.

On March 16 and 25 at 8 p. m. in Lincoln School auditorium the seminars will cover children's problems in and after school hours. Miss Nora Way, Summit visiting teacher, will speak on March 16. The last two meetings were scheduled for evenings to enable fathers and men's groups to attend.

Home at Last... Still Needing the Red Cross

Jim's back home again, and he and his family are grateful for everything which your Red Cross did for him. Field workers fed him and cheered him overseas; Red Cross nurses cared for him at a veteran's hospital. Now he's home again, still being helped by your Red Cross. Jim receives friendly home service from Red Cross nurses. Also, financial assistance from your Red Cross to veterans and their families amounted to $3,500,000 during the past year.

Won't you give during March to the 1947 Red Cross Fund?
