William E. Bedell Retires After 46 Years with News

The retirement of William E. Bedeil, Summit correspondent for 35 years, was announced this week by the Newark Evening News. Mr. Bedell, whose retirement became effective Monday, was a member of the Newark News staff for 46 years. He resides on Division avenue.

Mr. Bedell began his work for the News in Newark in 1901, as police reporter covering headquarters and the first precinct, After two years he was made suburban editor, a position which he held for 10 years. At that time the suburban department included all of Essex County except Newark, and the West Hudson towns of Harrison, Arlington, Kearny and East Newark.

Born in New York, Mr. Bedell was brought up in Red Bank, and started his newspaper career there at the age of 14 by joining the staff of the Red Bank Register. Beginning as a printer, he was also given the job of collecting birth, death and, wedding notice, around town, and gradtally drifted into reporting through these duties.

Edited Asbury Park Paper From Red Bank he went to Asbury Park, to begin a period of his life which contains some of his most cherished memories. As editor of the Shore Press, now the Daily Press, he covered the training camp of "Gentleman Jim" Corbett, Ocean Grove camp meetings, shipwrecks and regular news. He also was a space writer for the Newark Evening News, the New York World, the Philadelphia Press and the Philadelphia Times.

In Asbury Park he served as secretary of the Board of Trade and took a great interest in the (Continued on Page 20)

"USO as a national organization is dissolving in December," said Mrs. W. F. Satterthwaite, chairman for Union County, and YWCA board member in charge of USO activities. "Since there seems to be an increasing need for this service both at Lyons hospital and at the camps, the YWCA has decided to incorporate *Ponsorship of its USO group into the Young Adult department's Program for 1948. We will continue to schedule several trips weekly, provide chaperones, and arrange training courses for those interested in joining these groups. Fort Monmouth is initiating a new week-end schedule which inchides ten dances on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, and will open the group to girls 17 and over. Girls interested in work at Lyens must be 21 to qualify."

A gala evening is in store for those who attend the Christmas concert to be given by the Summit Symphony Orchestra on Wednesday evening, December 10 at the high school auditorium. J. Frederick Muller will conduct the orchestra of 65 pieces which includes musicians not only from Summit but also from Bernardsville, Chatham, Madison, Maplewood, Millburn, Roselle, South Orange, Springfield, Morristown, and Westfield. The concert will begin at 8:15 p.m., and is open to the public without charge. Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the first movement of Greig's Piano Concerto in A Minor. Miss Patricia Morristown, will play the solo part, accompanied by the orchestra. Miss Bley attends Kent and continuing through Christ-Place School, and is a pupil of Mrs. Ethel T. Hardy of Summit. The piano concerto she will play is brilliant and apontaneous: tion fares of out-of-town shoppers | Grieg derived his musical inspiration from the northern folk tunes of Norway, and his music is essentially lyrical. Overlook Plans $2 Million Fund Drive Next Spring for Modern Six-story Building

United Campaign Accepts Hospital As Member Agent

Inclusion of Overlook Hospital as a member agency in Summit's United Campaign was announced Monday by Woodruff J. English, Campaign chairman, following a meeting of the Campaign's Central Committee.

The vote to have Overlook participate in the twelfth annual Red Feather drive in October, 1948, was unanimous by representatives of the public and of the eight present youth and welfare member agencies.

Overlook's participation in next year's drive will amount to $25,000 and will be applied toward deficiencies in operating revenue from Summit patients unable to bear the full cost of hospital care. Indirectly, the money will also permit the purchase of certain /greatly needed and long overdue equipment to be devoted to patient care, according to Arthur W. Smith, director of the hospital.

Campaign Officials "Delighted" "We are delighted that Overlook Hospital has joined the United Campaign," Mr. English stated, "and this action will be of great benefit to everyone in Summit. Hospitals are important participants in the majority of community chests as they are in Morris County, Newark and Englewood, to name a few nearby

"Our Campaign will new offer an even more comprehensia appeal to all segments of the community. And Overlook should also benefit by reason of the economy of established, united fund-raising, which economy has been demonstrated locally and nationally over the last 12 or 15 years." Overlook will not conduct any separate drive for membership or operating expenses in Summit, at least during 1948. The hospital, however, will continue to solicit operating funds outside of Summit wherever it is unable to participate in similar community chest moneys. It is understood that Overlook has, or shortly will seek, participation in established community chest organizations in nearby communities. In an exchange of letters between Mr. English and John, R. look's board of trustees and Arthur W. Smith, Overlook's director, it was brought out that the hospital's cost per patient day for ward service is $13.94. Since 1947 applicable revenue for this care amounted to only $5.61, the hospital lost $8.33 per patient day principally because of the inability of many public ward patients to bear their share of costs. Summit's share of this deficiency - estimated at 30 per cent of the total - amounted to $30,689 for the first eight months of 1947.

The letters also pointed out that Overlook, unlike many hospitals elsewhere, does not receive any special contribution from the City of Summit.

Acceptance of Overlook as a United Campaign agency came about as a result of a request, by unanimous action of the hospital's trustees,...made last October and foreshadowed by a suggestion contained in Dr. Buerki's survey of the hospital.

Santa Arriving Saturday Santa Claus will make a one-day, stop at Summit this Saturday. The busy gent will arrive here aboard a streamlined Diesel locomotive at 11:06 a. m. and set up temporary headquarters at Kresge's store on Springfield avenue where he will spend the rest of the day tabulating the wants of the younger generation.

New Structure To Give Space For 120 Beds

Construction of a new hospital, which will make possible a modern health center for the entire Summit area, will be undertaken in 1948, following a two-milliondollar drive this spring for building funds, John R. Montgomery, president, announced yesterday on behalf of the Board of Trustees of Overlook Hospital, which on Monday was accepted as a Red Feather agency of Summit's United Campaign.

Participation of Overlook Hospital in the local Community Chest effort, commencing with a $25,000 share in next October's campaign, served to widen community interest in the new $2,000,-000 building which the hospital is planning to erect as an integrated addition to its present over-crowded quarters, and as the first but major stage of its comprehensive planning for a complete community health center for the people of this area.

Two million dollars for capital funds is to be sought from the people of Summit, Berkeley Heights, Chatham, Madison, Millburn, Murray Hill, Mountainside, New Providence, Short Hills, Springfield, Union and peripheral communities of the ares - more than 25 in all - whose aggregate population exceeds 80,000. The drive is experied to enlist the A ded ad parganizational leaderships the case o area, and it will have about all assistance from specialists with will experience in raising funds for hospital

Will Add 120 Beds

Plans for the new six-story building, which is expected to add some 120 beds to the hospital's present 151-bed capacity, are now being drawn by Eggers & Higgins, a leading New York architectural firm. Associated with the architects in planning the millioncubic-foot building is Dr. Basil McLean, well-known hospital consultant and administrator, who is director of Strong Memorial Hospital, Rochester, N. Y.

Overlook's new building committee, consisting of Mr. Montgomery, as chairman, and John W. White, Jr., Drs. Arthur F. Ackerman and Arthur E. Tator, representing the medical staff, and Arthur W. Smith, director of the hospital, has already held several meetings with the architects. Preliminary plans are expected to be completed by March 1, and thus definitive proposals will be available for public information prior to the drive for building funds.

Participation in the United Campaign will be for operating money, principally to make up operating deficits incurred for Summit's share of patients unable to pay their full share of costs. The hospital will discontinue fund-raising for operating purposes within Summit, but will continue such drives in those nearby communities wherein it is unable to participate in community chest campaigns.

 Costs Have Altered Plans Because of greatly increased building costs, Mr. Montgomery explained, the construction plans proposed two years ago have been substantially revised; and it is now contemplated that the full reconstruction and enlargement of the hospital will be completed in two stages.

As now visualized in preliminary discussion, stage one of the new Overlook will consist of a Vshaped building abutting the south end of the present maternity wing, of collection centers will be given and extending southward to (Continued on Page 20)

Factors

In designing buildings and equipment, engineers have learned through experience that it is necessary to allow a factor of safety. This may often be four or five times the breaking point or if a member is subject to wear or corrocion, an extra factor of safety may be added.

In a similar way the body of man has been made adjustable, capable of greatly increasing its strength through exercise or the kind of work to be performed. Nature has generously provided a factor of safety in giving man two eyes, ears, nostrils, lungs, arms, hands, legs, feet, etc.

It is within the power of man to provide additional factors of safety that promote health, wealth and happiness. By adopting a way of life in which provision is made for factors of safety, man can avoid accidents, stay well and strong, live at peace with his neighbors and produce an abundance ...of the good things of life.

What are the factors of safety that need to be observed in this modern high speed world? From an experience of over fifty years with all kinds of people in church, school, business and industry, it seems that the first requisite is to avoid and resist temptation. Everytime the will power is exercised, it becomes stronger while if control is relaxed, the body generally wants more and more and is hard to satisfy. The next requirement is to be delivered from evil. Anything that poisons or pollutes the body causing it to fall, weaken or shorten life is evil.

The average person believes that the strain and stress of the daily occupation create a nervous tension requiring frequent drags on a cigarette, pipe or cigar to furnish the atupefying effect of nicotine whereas it is usually the caffeine in coffee, tea, colas or chocolate that is causing the restlessness and irritation. After playing "hide and seek" with this nervous tension every day for a number of years, a secondary form of tension is created. The habitual use of colfee, tea and tobacco causes a shrinking of the blood vessels. This is the kind of malady or tension for which many people turn to drink to relieve. Alcohol dilates the blood vessels producing a stupor, a temporary feeling of relief, a red nose, bloodshot eyes, a headache or hangover and a rush for more coffee and cigarettes.

The modern and acceptable way to apply factors of safety he to get off this "merry-go-round" and on the "wagon," avoiding all liquor, tobacco and caffeine products. This process of self-purification should be entered into willingly and joyously not from any selfish motive but in order to gain new power and a factor of safety to meet the strain in getting over the unexpected hurdles that are sure to arise in the ordinary span of life. Fall in line and help people find the road to freedom and peace with factors of safety to meet the daily need. Do this because of that something within you that says it is the right thing to do.

With Col. D'Olier as its head, the committee originally included former Governor A. Harry Moore of Jersey City; Federal Judge Philip Forman of Trenton; Reeve Schley of Far Hills, former U. S. Senator Arthur Walsh of South Orange, and Mrs. Robert W. Cornelison of Somerville, president of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs.

This group had invited civic Debates Fluorine: leaders from all parts of the state to join with it in seeking public approval of the bond issue as a means of financing urgently needed buildings at New Jersey welfare institutions, state teachers' colleges and the state university.

Col. D'Olier said that the members of the committee will concentrate on the task of informing the citizens of New Jersey about the need for new buildings for welfare and educational institutions, and he reaffirmed the committee's intention to seek Legislative adoption of an enabling act authorizing a referendum on a $75,000,000 bond issue financed by a 2-cent cigarette tax.

The committee had previously declared that the bond issue could be paid off in ten years by such a tax Its annual yield would be in excess of $8,000,000, committee experts have announced.

A New Look for Overlook

Progress is a part of human history. People do not stand still. Neither do institutions. Slowly improvements are discovered by forward-looking enthusiasts and changes come. difference today, the immensity of the improvement becomes apparent.

This introduces the subject of this editorial. Overlook Hospital was founded as a private institution in 1906. Not long afterward, the Summit Hospital Association was to patients unable to pay for treatment. That was the beginning of a community hospital. In the same year, 1906, the Overlook Hospital School of Nursing was established and in 1914 the Overlook Hospital Association was formed and the entire hospital plant became the property of the community, thus beginning a new era.

This week, in December, 1947, Overlook Hospital begins another new era. The community ownership has been reaffirmed by the simultaneous announcements that the institution has been accepted as a member agency in the United Campaign and that the Board of Trustees of the hospital will launch a $2,000,000 drive this spring to provide Overlook with a modern plant.

To us, the bigs news is that there will be a new hospital. It might be well to review the background of the present plant. The main building was erected in 1905 with a capacity of but thirty beds, but it was sufficient for those days, and it was good. Eventually there came a time when it was ineffective. The building lacked the facilities to carry medicine and surgery to the levels of the moment. Therefore, additions were built. In 1925 a nurses' residence was started and in 1926 the maternity wing was built. Those additions made the hospital ample for the needs of the day. But in a short time, in 1941 to be exact, more space was needed so additions were made to the maternity wing and the main building.

But still Overlook continued to grow; or rather, more appropriately, the communities it served continued to grow. Other hospitals had long outstripped Overlook while it stood still and adapted itself to the changing conditions as best it could. Today, as all know, Overlook Hospital lacks certain improvements which, once luxuries, have become necessities. More, there is no possibility any longer to revise and improvise to obtain additional space. In short, the hospital has reached the point where it must have new space to alleviate the crowded conditions that are hampering its efficiency.

Now the Board of Trustees has determined to correct these faults. They want Overlook to be second to none in this state and the best in this area. This is an ambition which Summit and her neighbors will fully endorse. So, a campaign to raise a large sum of money will be initiated within a few months. Committees will be organized, chairmen will be planning different phases of the task, organization goals will be set, and the gigantic effort.

There will be no doubt as to what Summit eral contributions. The amount sought is present plant up to the modern level will could be dispensed with. take a great deal of money. Granted, at this particular moment prices are sky-high. But so is the need and there can be no more wait-

The Summit Herald is glad to urge citizens to back this drive with more energy and more effort than has ever been put into previous fund-raising campaigns. There is nothing which appeals to a larger proportion of people than the provision of facilities for medical and surgical attention. The hospital has been a main reason for the lengthening the pessimist thinks. But the optimist thinks of average human life in these days. Our Big Toe

Science not only keeps us in a perpetual state of awe but it continues us also in a constant condition of astonishment. We. who were unable to master the intricacies of childhood chemical set or high school physics, just simply get spellbound with the doings of

The other day, for instance, a group of medical scientists in solemn conclave came up with the disclosure of the "psychic" nose. It seems, according to the learned men, that if one has the sniffles, or one's proboscis drips, it is not a symptom of the common cold; it may mean merely that one has lost an argument with the little woman or been turned down for that raise. The nose, they say, registers the true emotions.

Now it is the big toe that occupies their attention.

For the most of us, it requires no more than a dark room, a child's toy, and a sense of pain to reveal the big toe as an indicator of the position of an obstacle in one's way. That has always been basic knowledge. But it is news when a professor of the University of Michigan Medical School designates the If one looks at the school, the hospital, the big toe as an indicator of the human body's private home of a century ago and notes the intricate heating system with thermostatic control. The professor's theory runs something like this:

The heart and other vital organs must have heat to function. When, through lack of exertion, the heating plant is running low, the thermostatic controls conserve heat by shutorganized in order that care might be given ting it off from the hands and feet just as the prudent homeowner keeps the living room warm by shutting off the bedroom radiators.

The big toe, like the upstairs bedroom, being farthest from the heating unit, gets the worst of it. Thus a trained clinician by taking the temperature of the big toe can determine the condition of the body's heating boots. plant. And thus is added another to the many useful functions performed by this all-purpose member of the body.

Until we stub it or develop an ingrowing toenail we are inclined to take our big toe for granted. To us it is something that pokes a hole in a sock or is pinched by a too-tight pair of shoes. But now we find that we should consider its many practical uses. In one's infancy the big toe is handy as a substitute for a thumb and it also serves as an instrument for adult play, such as in demonstrating what pig went to market and what pig stayed home.

If memory serves, the barefoot boy of song and story used to employ the big toe as a fishing pole by tying a line to it and then taking his ease on the river bank; and Tom Sawyer also rigged his big toe up as an alarm clock by wrapping a piece of string about it and tossing the loose end out the window. Of all the toes, the big toe affords the most solid digit for bandages and most often needs one, which is good planning on the part of

40 YEARS AGO. .

The many friends of Fatema, the beautiful macaw parrot, of Pine Grove avenue, will regret hearing of her recent untimely

The macaws seldom speak more than five words, but Fatema's vocabulary was extensive, and used with an amount of intelligence which, at times was almost startling.

That she understood what she was eaving could not be doubted by any who noted the sequence of ideas expressed sometimes in her words. She made known her wents as to water and food; was highly critical of the latter, any new variety of which she carefully inspected with inquiries as to it being good, and when found palatable the changed intonation of the word good was indeed amusing. Her grief and dissatisfaction were made plain in her, "Oh, dear!" and in her sobs, as was her amusement in the merry

To arouse her to desperate ire it was only necessary to pretend to inflict an unkind stroke upon any of her friends; to take her out of the shadows of a room in the house, and carry her out of doors on a sunny day, was frequently to hear her exclaim. "Oh. look at the beautiful sun!" To forget to share a treat with her was usually to provoke the reminder, "I like it."

The memory of Fatema involves the memory of a little life history with its phrases both pathetic and amusing, and full of surprises one would scarcely The annual memorial service of look for in the life of a bird,

Not "Mob Hysteria"

"In fact," he said, "I think it is the committee's right and reresponsibility to determine who among us belongs to any organization owing first allegiance to a foreign government and aiming to overthrow our own government in any way available to them."

Rep. Case, of Rahway, insisted that the committee's action was not a result of "mob hysteria." "Only if the people took au. thority into their own hands hecause they had no faith in the regularly constituted authority of the committee, would mob hyateria result," he asserted.

Case, a lawyer, argued that "the issue is not whether they belong to a certain party or hold certain religious or philosophical convictions, but whether or not they belong to an organization which is the active enemy of the United States."

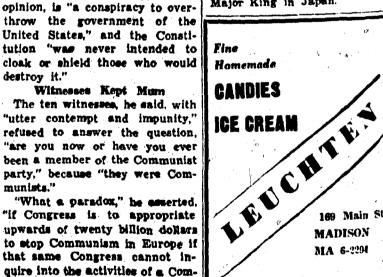

Public knowledge generally as well as evidence in the files of the Thomas committee, indicates that the Communist party is the ene my of this nation, he said.

Newly Formed Presbyterian Group to Meet December 15

BOROUGH - The Presbyterian Men's Organization formed November 24 at a dinner meeting of 46 men in the parish house of the Presbyterian Church will meet December 15 at which time committees on bylaws, nominations, and program have been instructed to report.

The organisation was formed on motion of L. E. Putman and the unanimous vote of the group. The meeting had been called by a committee of representative men of the church, and consisted of Robort Badgley, Rev. Richard A. Bryan, Raymond W. Cobb, Walter Hartig, Dayton B. Parcells and Donald F. Irving.

Songs led by William Kauffman, Jr. accompanied by Arthur Soderberg, with Mr. Irving serving as chairman, introduced the discussion leading to the formation of the organization.

The present library, now being rented from the Junior Order, has long outgrown its capacity, the speaker explained. Besides being in an "unattractive building," the library does not "come up to standards" she declared.

While the library service here is "considered good," and the supply of books fairly adequate. Mrs. Radtke pointed to the "unattractive building" as a deterrent to the progress and advancement of the library "the better to meet" the needs of this community which are ever growing. She referred to the absence of water in the structure which has served as the library since 1912 before which time it was moved from across the street where it served the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Radtke explained that the "Master Plan" for the borough envisaged a new library here. In the last two years, Borough Council has been considering ways and means of setting saide land on the "Parker tract," which it owns for the construction of a library. A number of conservative estimates have placed the minimum cost of a new library at $25,000.

Under the leadership of the late Claire Y. Wahl, former librarian, Mrs. Radtke told the Herald, public contributions of more than $2.-000 have been made toward the construction of a new library.

One of the ideas presented the World War II Memorial Committee was the construction of a memorial library.

Mrs. Richard K. Marsh, library board member, planned Tuesday's program. Mrs. Douglas Ryerson presided.

"Democracy at Work" Results In Skating Rink

BOROUGH - "If you want comething, do it yourself and don't expect the borough to do it for you," became the motto of four minth grade boys from junior high school over the week-end. They constructed a dam in the brook running through the Venderhoof property in Maple street. The civics class of which the boys, Rudy Ayers, John Wright, George Ryerson, and George Smith, are members, were studying recreation as it pertains to the borough. Thinking that "something ought to be done" to meet the skating urges of borough gion against Firemen "B." young people, the oless invited principal and a member of the Borough Recreation Committee to confer with its members.

After hearing Mr. Roberts extol the ideal of "Democracy at work," or "If you want something bad, you will work for it." the four named boys went to the recreation committee and were given the cement and planks for the construction of the dam which will be used for a community skating rink. Nearly 75 people stopped over the week-end to ask the quartet of boys about their work which has been completed awaiting cold weather, cold enough to produce the ice for skating. The boys used their own took in the construction work.

59,693 Aid to Borough Schools If New Plan Wins

BOROUGH - Immediate enactment into law of "The $20 Plan" for additional State school aid, proposed by the State School Aid Commission would provide Union County with $1,122,759.89 and this municipality $9,693 in added funds in 1948 from a pool of $13,000,000, it was stated last week by County Register Herbert J. Pascoe, comson head.

"The $20 Plan" known as "Plan B" is not to be confused with "Plan A," the already effective State school, paid under a formula devised by the register when he was a State Senator, and under which the borough has already been allotted an amount which is reported elsewhere in this Herald.

The Best of Gifts are Those that Last

Right up in the FOUR-FRONT

CICATTERED across this nation I are some of the engiest automobile buyers the world ever saw.

They cut their eyeteeth on a steering wheel, so to speak-they know cat values from A to izzard - and you have to be plenty good to step sheed of your price class in the volume of your sales to them.

That's why it's startling-sometimes even to us - to see the double-barreled story of public preference that's written in the sales records and registration figures:

ITEM: Only three cars outsell Buick-and all of these are in the so-called "low-price field."

ETER: In some localities - and quite often in polls that ask "Which car will you buy next?" -Buick ranks not fourth, but shird, actually ahead of one of the lowest-priced three.

Naturally, the smart buyer will ask "How come?"

Well, the most standout style of the season, the style that's the clearest forecast of wonderful things to be, undoubtedly has much to do with it.

But that isn't all. The dollar is still a pretty important measuring stick.

So we don't think Buick could be where it is if it didn't offer a bigger dollar's worth - bigger in size and substance, in lift and life, in soft ride and easy handling, bigger in the all-round happiness you'll get out of your buy.

Which suggests, of course:

Why go against the solid judgment of your fellow men? Why not see your Buick dealer now-with or without a car to trade - and place the order that will put you where you belong, right up in the four-front?

Being Installed in Short Hills Area

As a starter in a long range program to convert phones of this area to the dial system, New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. this week started to provide dial-type instruments with all new installations in Short Hills, Millburn and Springfield.

George M. Delaney of Summit, manager of the Summit business office which services the above communities, said dial service is still a long way off, probably about three years, but that dial, telephones are always provided well ahead of time to avoid a last minute rush. Those who get dial instruments will be asked to disregard the dial to make calls in the usual way. He added:

"The biggest part of the conversion job will be enlarging the telephone building and installing the necessary dial switching equipment. We hope to have the building work completed in about two years and the new service in operation a year later, Similar programs are planned for many other localities. All are part of a five-year statewide expansion and service improvement program which will cost well over $200,000,000,"

The preesnt Millburn-6, Short Hills-7 central office, which also serves Springfield, now handles 24,500 calls a day, en increase of 30 per cent since the end of the war. The office serves a total of 6,700 telephones.

Methodist Church School Students Exhibit Projects

Parents of students of the junfor department of the Methodist Church school were special guests last Sunday at a program illustrating their fell study unit, "The Story of How the Bible Grew." Welcome to the parents and the purpose of the course was made by Mrs. F. G. Eberhardt, head of the department.

Each class unit presented a apecial project for the fall term. Fourth grade girls, taught by Mrs. O. D. Gensemer, explained the acrolla they had made, illustrating the earliest Bibles used. The boys' classes whose teachers are John Reeves and Paul Hauser, gave memory passages. Fifth grade girls, under the leadership of Mrs. R. R. Diefendorf, showed their exhibit of facsimile pages of early Bible translations, including the title page of the first King James Bible, E. K. Bring YOUR Santa Claus to the "Home of Famous Pianos"

Santa Claus hasn't done right by music lovers since before the last war. He knows it. His piano workshops were making instruments for Mars instead of for music. This year he expects to do better. Right now the Griffith salesrooms are filled with the finest models of America's foremost piano factories: brand new grands and spinets in the latest designs and finest woods; rebuilt and reconditioned grands, uprights and spinets, many as good as new made so in our own workshops by our expert mechanics. They await only your selection to bring happiness to someone you love : : 1

musit High students and the faculty are justly proud of their football team which has been acclaimed the Sub- Prize to Be Given when Conference 1947 champions. While technically Cald well tied Summit with a similar record, the honor all goes Oldest "S" Man to Summit because the maroon and white soundly thrashed the Chiefs, 18-0. True to form the Newark papers all pubbeized the results as a stalemate for the title. However, for our money, and what is more, the conference has ruled Summit the undisputed holder of the title by virtue of its win the school's current footballers over Caldwell. Anyway, heartiest congratulations to the SHS football team that has brought this honor to the local prize." This was announced yesachool ... and a big hand to Coach Elwood C. Cornog and his staff. We couldn't think of a better way for Cornog to bow out as football coach after 26 years in the reins, four of Mich were spent at Moorestown High School.

/YES, FOOTBALL SEASON'S OVER

Yes, except for the High School boys who haven't anything else to do but play touch football in the park opposite the YMCA, the end of the 1947 grid season has arrived. It doesn't seem possible, yet no one can deny the fact. It has been another great season, one that contained the usual number of outstanding thrills and color, both locally and afield. The peak was probably reached by Summit in its finale against Caldwell. Too, there were days of disappointment. When these lads get out into real life they will note the same pattern, although many of the high school boys re- On All-Star Team fuse to believe this. Many of them return to tell this writer within a few months after graduation how right we were and By LOOD COACHES how wrong they were in this respect:

A GOOD BEGINNING

They say that a good beginning is a good omen for the future. If such is the case, the City or Community Basketball League is headed for success during 1947-48. All club monies have been paid and games thus far have been fairly first team with Millburn, Verona well attended except those that are so one-sided the spectators walk out. As the season wears on, there will be Emil Bontempo, slashing Summit moments when friction develops on and off the court. That back gained 25 points to make is to be expected because some of the players are not easily mit center, made the first team ameriable to the discipline so necessary under the watchful with 10 points in a tie with Jim eyes of competent officials. Present indications are that these problems will be met with fortitude and common Sense.

ABOUT POSTED PROPERTY

Speaking about posted property, the present law in our and Obester Cornog, back, each | High gymnasium. Airco toppled in spite of the rain and snow, Ar-State provides that signs must be posted on the corners of property, along the roads, on boundary lines and at each point where a stream enters or leaves. This supersedes a former law under which a property, no matter how large or small its acreage, was legally posted if only one sign were put up. That was manifestly unfair if only because a hunter or angler might innocently wander on too much land from unspotted adjoining property.

WINTER SPORTS CENTER OF COUNTY

The Union County Park system is considered the winter sports center of the county. At Galloping Hill there are two short toboggan chutes on number 10 fairway available this winter without starting platforms. Toboggans may be rented at the heated clubhouse, where refreshments are sold.

Park officials estimate that 30,000 skaters can be comfortably accommodated on frozen park lakes. Fifteen supervised areas are spread throughout the county including Briant's Pond in Summit, Lake Surprise in the Watchung Reservatiton, and the lake at the Meisel avenue athletic field in Springfield.

All these areas are cleared of snow and scraped, and many have floodlights and heated shelters nearby. Skating is permitted only when ice thickness meets safety standards.

The best areas for coasting are reported to be at number To 1-1 Draw 2 fairway of the 18-hole course and number 5 fairway of the 9-hole course at Galloping Hill.

506 Summit Fans at Game

An estimated 500 Summit fans were among the 6 000 at the Caldwell High School field for the game that gave Summit its first grid crown in nearly a decade. The Summit group was composed mostly of this year's football squad and a large following of students and their parents. The only conspicuous absentee was Coach Cornog who made his annual visit to the Philadelphia area to visit relatives. His oneregret on the trip to Quakertown was his inability to procure tickets for the Penn-Cornell game, the first time he has missed it in many years.

Caldwell was robbed of its scoring punch through a leg injury which kept Dick Charpentier. Essex County's leading scorer, on the sidelines through more than half of the game. Verona tried a last-ditch goal with only two-minutes left to play, but the kick was blocked. Both teams threatened to score in the first quarter. Though outmanned, Verona predominated the game throughout. The Hillbillies had such a shortage of football attire that frequently players would have to exchange jerseys as they went in and out of the game.

quarters. A full-sized and adjacent parking area, accessible from hospital driveways by a passage under Morris evenue, is contemplated; and city officials are cooperating with Overlook's building committee in arranging to include this important feature in the projected new hospital plans.

The interior design will, of course, reflect the most modern hospital experience, Mr. Montgomery said. Since 45 per cent of Overlook's patients belong to some kind of hospital plan, room design will be flexible within the limits of small private, of semi-private and four-bed rooms - the last constituting the largest bed unit. Rooms will be graded to accommodate all weights of purse, all will be sound-proofed, and all will include lavatory and toilet.

These specifications, as well as many additional features of modern hospital design such as airsterilization, Beem "all-purpose" beds, streamlined kitchens, quiet corridors and heated food carts. stress complete comfort and quiet for the patient. Within the limits of cost and practicability, all of these features are under consideration for the new Overlook, according to President Montgomery and Director Smith, who, however, warned that all present plans for the building are tentative until the architectural experts finish their estimates and plans.

Footings for the new building will be so constructed that three additional floors may later be added as stage two of the area's new primary hospital. May Get State Funds capacity, have a good deal of money set aside - for the next five years - to assist New Jersey hospitals ascertained to have bed shortages. Such funds are to be allocated in proportion to funds raised locally. A material facility to meet the present and pressing requirements for hospitalization, the new building, taken as a symbol of Overlook's evolution toward the health center of the wider community, is expected to attract more of the finest medical and surgical practitioners. Eventually, if the primary recommendations of Dr Robin C. Buerki's aurvey are carried out, Overlook will be able to offer, for all economic classes of people, complete facilities for bed

World Needs Regeneration, Old Guard Told

Dr. William R. Ward of New ark spoke to the Old Guard Tucsday morning on Europe as he saw it a few months ago. Landing in Bergen, he found great hunger and such limited housing that no unoccupied guest rooms were ailowed; in Oslo, Norway's capital, a young people's international conference attended by 1,200 delegates and in Stockholm, the "Venice of the North," a special government provision whereby the rent of families having three children or more; up to seven, had their rent actually decreased.

Taking a comfortable bus, he stopped at Copenhagen with its 700.000 "bikes," and no war destruction, but living on roots. He then passed through southern Denmark into the British Zone of Germany to find there much hunger and great devastation. Finally reaching Switzerland, he attended its "Moral Rearmament" convention, with delegates from all over the world. There Dr. Ward found remarkable harmony and cooperation even to voluntary personal service by practically all its members.

Speaking to one and another from Austria, Egypt, Burma, India and elsewhere, he found also that regeneration was considered the world's greatest need, with the individual unselfishness of the many expressed in unselfish cooperation by states and nations.

Following this address, 60 Old Guardsmen adjourned to the Hotel Suburban for the 17th anniversary lunch, with its congratulatory birthday cake from the hotel. Toastmaster Thorp then reminded each one that this was his 17th birthday party and introduced Albert S. Crockett, of Stafford Hall, who reminisced on his experiences as a reporter on the New York waterfront 50 years ago. After mentioning several prominent men of that time, he dwelt upon the smuggling operations of those days and the skill of a certain detective.

Roy Baker then told the story of the Old Guard's growth in New Jersey and other states, even to San Antonio, Texas, so that there are now 19 chapters and many hundred members. The last speaker, J. Winter Davis, spoke of his loneliness in Summit until he, the only active charter member of the mother chapter, found the friendliness he craved in the formation of the Old Guard.

At the morning business meeting Francis H. Findley of Maplewood was received into membership and Edwin Earp was announced as the speaker for the next meeting, in the "Y" as usual. His subject will be "How I Got My Education."

In the moving picture, "The Brotherhood of Man," brought to them by Mrs. Evelyn Oelen, public relations officer of Montclair State Teachers College, saw what one man (in caricature and for want of a better name, referred to as "Henry") tried to do to break down prejudices of nationality and

The film depicted the aloofness of nationalities to mingle one with the other, not understanding each other because of racial characteristics and mode of life and what happened when "Henry" realized that they were more or less the same basically and the happy ending to many situations when he brought them together.

The picture, which dealt with the race problem, was from the book. "The Races of Mankind," by Ruth Benedict and Gene Weltfish, Columbia University anthropolo-

Mrs. Oelen referred to the fact that blood in humans is all the same but of four types-A, B, AB and O, and said that much expense could have been avoided during the war if the Negro blood had been used in many cases and not segregated. She stated that the greatest blood plasmaist is a

Overlook Effects Health Program For Employees

Overlook Hospital has put into effect a complete physical examination program for all its employees, it was announced yesterday by Arthur W. Smith, hospital administrator.

"By such a physical and periodic follow up," Mr. Smith said, "Overlook is in a Better position to give surety that those working with patients are in good health for their protection as well as for patients under their care." The program includes graduate nurses, student nurses, and all non-professional employees... According to Mr. Smith, the preventive program begins immedistely after employment. Mean-sical examinations, laboratory personnel. Health conferences are health of employees and patients.

Best. Overlook Alumnae Told

Quality and not quantity, cooperation of officials and loyalty of nurses is what makes a smooth running hospital with an excellent reputation, Arthur D. Smith, director of Overlook Hospital, told the Overlook Hospital Nurses Alumnae Association at a meeting Monday night at the nurses home. Miss Doris Schomberg, president, presided.

It was reported that the October 25 bazaar given by the association realized $853. The proceeds will go to the association's scholarship fund and the Nurses Relief Fund. A $250 scholarship, awarded each June to the nurse having the high- WINTER'S ON THE WAY est marks during her three year training, enables the nurse to work towards her nursing degree or to take a post graduate course. The relief fund is for a graduate of the school, who may need financial aid in case of illness. It was announced that the combined radio and phonograph, onof the bazaar's main features, was awarded, to eight-year-old Sonny Miller of Morristown. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Stella Hildebrandt, chairman of the bazaar. The resignation of Mrs. Adele

Flynn, association treasurer, was accepted and Miss Bertha Wildman was elected to the post for We service and repair all makes the remainder of the term.

Stressing the importance complete and accurate addresses, he pointed out that hundreds of cards and packages are many days late arriving at their destinations every Christmas season or end up at the dead letter office because of insufficient or incorrect addresses.

Parcel post packages cannot be accepted unless they are strongly wrapped, Postmaster Fitzpatrick said. "This means heavy cord, sturdy outer paper and heavy cardboard inside," he explained. "Packages must not exceed 70 pounds in weight, and are limited in size to 100 inches in length and girth combined."

Christmas cards can be handled more readly when they are tied in bundles, with all envelopes facing the same way and the stamps in the same corner, he continued. recommending progressive mailings over a preiod of several days in order to even out the work at the post office.

Salaams to Honor Eddie Rickenbacker

Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, World War I ace and leader in aviation, will be made an honorary member of Saleam Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, at the winter ceremonial to be held at Olympic Park roller skating rink in Irvington next Wednesday (December 10).

George E. Stringfellow, vicepresident of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., and Potentate of Salaam Temple, said today that a large class of candidates will be initiated into the Temple at the Ceremonial and that the group will be known as the "Eddie Rickenbacker Class." Among those in the class is Rev. Norman Vincent Peale, Paster of Marble Collegiate Reformed Church in New York and Elberon Memorial Church at Elberon, New Jersey,

The Temple's ritual team will tage the first section of Ceremonial at 4:30 p.m. and the banquet will be held at 5:30 with a reception and program following. The Ceremonial will be preceded Tuesday night by a bustness session at the Temple headquarters in Newark, when candidates will be elected.

Rickenbacker first became famous as an automobile racer in 1910 and he entered the first World War assigned as chauffeur to General John J. Pershing. Later, he was transferred to the Air Corps where he shot down 26 German planes and was recognized as "American Ace." After the war, in 1929; he became associated with the aviation industry as vice president of the American Airways and in 1938 was elected president, and general manager of Eastern Airlines.

One of Rickenbacker's most thrilling experiences, which he is expected to describe when he speaks before the Shrine, occurred when his plane crashed into the Pacific during World War II. He and others in the plane were rescued after a considerable period had elapsed.

Services to Be Offered Williams said that the same Bamberger merchandise, services and delivery areas enjoyed by customers of the parent store will be offered to residents of Millburn and its environs. He termed the new store a "pocket edition of Bamberger's powerful seventh floor departments" and said that it would operate as an auxiliary, headed by the same merchandise administrator, executive vice-president Alexander Lewi. The staff of the store will continue to be the regular employees of the Harmony Shop, however the decorating consultant will be a Bamberger executive familiar with the merchandise and services of the Newark store, he Chatham, Madison and Irvington, Williams said.

He pointed out that Millburn, with a population of 11,652, is the hub of an important area where Bamberger's has thousands of customers who will find this store a convenient and pleasant place to shop.

The new store is part of Bamberger's modernization and ex pansion program which includes establishment of a series of branch outposts as well as construction of a complete retail branch store in Morristown, a warehouse in Bloomfield to centralize delivery operations, and reconstruction of the interior of Bamberger's Market Street building to bring it up-to-date with Innovations to promote greater efficiency of service and greater comfort for shoppers.

Summit Bird Club Gaining National Attention for Winter Feeding Project

Winter is a critical time of year for living creatures - man excluded - especially when the ground is covered with snow and ice and freezing temperatures endanger lives. Birds are especially in danger of starving to death, and a conscientious group of members of the Summit Nature Club has been working diligently since 1945 to aid members of the feathered flock.

The work of this small bird club has been so all-encompassing that bird feeding in the area during the winter months has become a popular pastime, and other New Jersey communities are beginning to take notice and copy Summit's example.

Under the leadership of James B. Hawley, who began bird feeding and bird counting projects as early as 1944, and who gave up his post as president of the Summit Nature Club to devote all of his time to the bird organization, the project has attained national recognition through its spotting of rare birds at various feeding stations, as well as for its winter feeding program.

Complex Set-Up The set-up of the bird feeding project is rather complex, yet efficiently handled. It consists of a central information center with 21 well established, well supervised feeding stations. The stations are located in atrategic spots within a five mile radius of the Summit post office, and cover an area of approximately 50 square miles of urban and country homes, including Chatham, Millburn, Short Hills, and other nearby communities. Each station is operated by an informed bird enthusiast, who in turn operates a sub-station for his own area. Each operator has his own scheme and system for for the many varieties of birds the Audubon Society in its anvisiting the feeding station.

In addition to feeding, watering, sheltering, and protecting birds from enemies, each station is a bird workshop project being often two or three times a week,

Good Posture Needed When Doing Housework

If you get very tired when you work about the house, take a look at your posture.

The way you stand may make the difference between feeling all in or still feeling fit after finishing a big day's work. So says-Doris Anderson, extension specialist in home management at Rutgers University.

She declares that by standing correctly, you use less energy and are less tired, than if you stand the wrong way.

But what is a good standing position? Keep your feet point-ed straight ahead with your weight on both feet, not just one. The weight should be a little nearer the toes than the heels. Move your "dining room" upstairs, and your "sitting room" downstairs so it is tucked under your backbone. Pull in your chin and stand tall. Try these suggestions when you have to stand at a job, and see how it saves your energy.

Detailed County Maps Will Aid State Businesses

Maps of New Jersey's 21 counties including details of aid to commercial establishments have been made available in limited quantities by State Highway Commissioner Spencer Miller, Jr.

They supply data in delivery reute studies, territorial layouts and field progress or work maps. The compilation on pages 18 inches wide and 36 inches long was made by the State Highway Department Bureau of Planning Survey with Vincent G. Berberich, as chief of the division, in cooperation with the U.S. Public Roads Administration.

The scale is 1.66 inches to the mile and includes the following Information: Municipal boundaries, roads, railroads, waterways, urban and rural areas.

For the rural areas, as well, special indications are made of development features, such as houses, farms, seasonal dwellings, parks, forest, recreational facilities, churches, schools, fire warden lookouts, power transmission lines.

The entire book contains 108 pages, varying from two to ten sheets for each county depending on the area. To cover printing handling and mailing costs a fee of 15c has been placed for each page or $15 for the atlas which covers the entire state.

Orders for copies are to be sent to Bureau of Planning Survey, New Jersey State Highway Department, Room 224, Junction Routes 21-25-29, Newark 5, N. J.

a new aid to winter health

Here's the modern, scientific way to keep the air in your home from drying out. The new Carrier Home Humidifier supplies exactly the right amount of healthful moisture. It is automatic in operation, smaller than an end table, and as easy to install as an electric fan. With proper humidification all winter long you'll find that you reduce the chance of nose and throat infections, you'll be more comfortable, and your furniture, woodwork and walls will not crack or foosen. Rug static will disappear, indoor plants will thrive.

The Carrier Home Humidifier was designed by the same engineering skill that created air conditioning—and made Carrier the word for quality all over the world. See this new aid to winter health today!

Christmas Card Custom Barely 100 Years Old

Colorful Christmas cards today seem as mucr a part of Christmas tradition as does Santa Claus. Yet the custom of sending cheery Yuletide cards is only a little over 100 years old—and it met stubborn popular resistance during its early days.

Early Christmas card designers, back in the 1850's, met wideapread public ridicule. Like Fulton and his steamboat, they were warned that the custom of sending Christmas cards "could never win popular support."

Today post officer are buried under the landslide of Christmas cards every holiday season. More than 1,500,000,000 Christmas cards will be exchanged in the United States alone this year.

The first known Christmas card was designed in 1842 in London. England, by William Maw Egley, a sixteen-year-old engraving apprentice. He printed only one hundred copies, and sent them to his friends.

Popular Greeting Born

His quaintly cluttered card, printed in black ink on white paper, showed a formal banquet, a party dance, skaters, and a typical English pantomime performance. Underneath the illustrations he wrote, "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to You"—still the most popular Yuletide greeting among all those ever composed.

The card won no fame for William Egley, and nothing is known of what happened to him when he grew up.

Four years later, in 1846, Sir Henry Cole asked an artist friend, J. C. Horsley, to design a Christmas greeting card for him. The drawing featured a decorative trellis covered with a grapevine enclosing two small illustrations of acts of charity plus a larger panel picturing a merry family party, the celebrants all holding wineglasses filled to the brim. One thousand copies were lithographed and sent to Sir Henry's friends.

The cards raised a storm of public criticism from crusaders for the temperance cause, who claimed that Sir Henry's design "promoted wine bibbing." Taught discretion, Sir Henry never issued another card.

In 1862, a London publisher, Charles Goodell & Sons, courageously began issuing cards and they won rapid acceptance. During the intervening twenty years, Prince Albert had presented Queen Victoria with the first Christmas tree in England, Charles Diokens' jolly writings had popularized Yuletide festivities, and the stern English attitude toward Christmas had mellowed

Meanwhile, the first Christmas card in the United States had been published by R. H. Pease of Albany, N. Y. It was a commercial card picturing a family group, toys, a Christmas dinner, a wassail bowl, and advertising Pease's store. The card is not dated, and since Pease was in business in Albany from 1834 to 1855, it is possible that this card was even earlier than William Egley's.

Louis Prang, who issued his first cards from his litho shop in Boston in 1874, is known as the "Father of the American Christmas Card." Within a few years his cards were world-famous for their beauty and craftsmanship, and were being sold all over the United States.

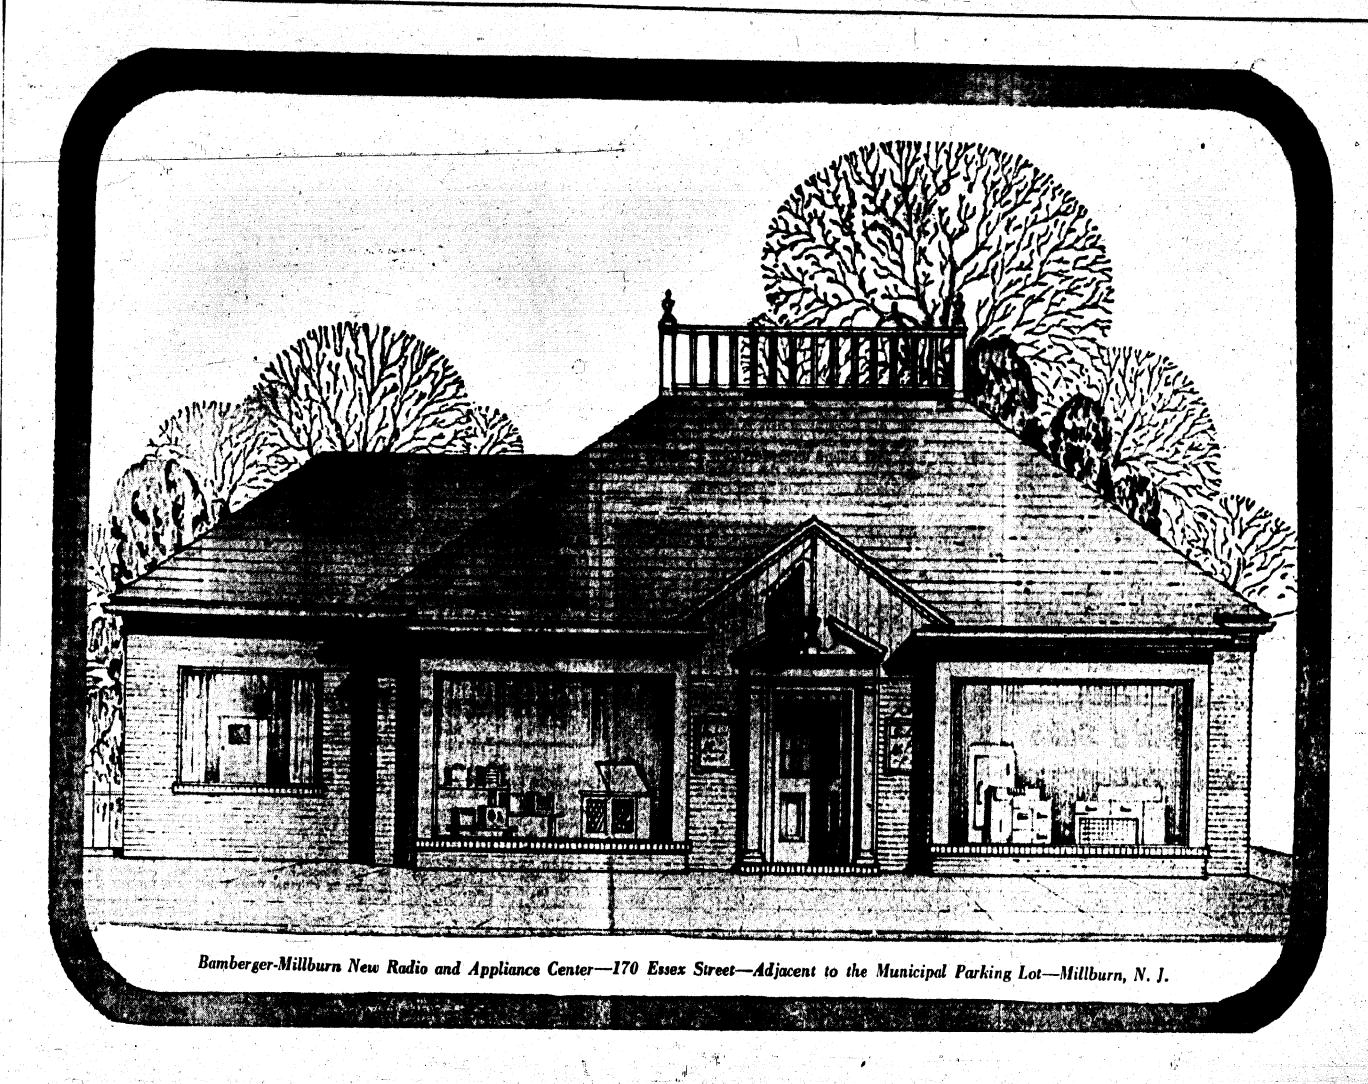

Reproduced in as many as twenty colors, the Prang cards are unsurpassed by even the modern Christmas cards. Many were large in size and trimmed with a luxurious silk fringe, and sold for several dollars apiece. Unlike the present-day cards, however, Prang's cards pictured few of the traditional Christmas scenes, using instead designs featuring spring flowers, children playing, harvest scenes, birds, and animals.

Stevens Field House Has Radiant Heating

The Mott Memorial Field House of which the shower and locker room areas were opened to the student body last week, is the first building at Stevens Institute of Technology to make use of radiant heating, Dr. Harvey N. Davis, president of the college, announced today.

The new heating system which has been installed in locker and shower rooms consists of copper pipes laid on gravel in the concrete floor over the whole 26 by 147 foot area. In discussing the values of radiant heating. William Smith, superintendent of buildings and grounds, stated that it provides a more continuously even temperature than older types of heating, since the floor retains and radiates the heat for longer periods. In addition to the radiant heating in the floors, the building also has unit heaters on the wall with fans behind them to circulate the hot air.

There are nineteen showers in the field house, and seven of them operate at controlled temperature. Bathers merely pull a chain and the water flows out at a predetermined temperature, in the neighborhood of 100 degrees. Water for the showers is heated in two 1,000-gallon water-heaters. One provides water for the controlled and the other for the adjustable temperature showers.

Found in yeast and in liver, folic acid has also been made in the laboratory and hence is available today in pure form for the treatment of a number of disorders. Like other vitamins, in so far as we know, it is effective only in treating conditions which are due to its lack. Among these are several types of anemia.

By and large, anemia is a condition in which the blood's red cells are not only reduced in numher but also lose some of the hemoglobin or red coloring mat-

These various types cause different symptoms and they can be further distinguished by careful examination of the blood cells under the microscope.

One of the anemias which folic acid helps is a variety known as macrocytic anemia, which affects infants and children. Since it is helped so markedly by the taking of folic acid, this anemia is evidently due to lack of a normal aupply of this substance in the

Another Condition

Still another condition in which folic acid has been found effective is in the anemia which occurs in connection with a disorder called sprue. Sprue is found especially in tropical and semitropical countries. In sprue there is diarrhea, loss of weight and strength, as well as the anemia.

Anyone who develops anemia should, of course, have a careful study made by a physician to determine just what type of the disorder is present. Then the most effective treatment for the condition can be administered. If the anemia is one of the types which might be helped by folic acid, this preparation will be prescribed by the doctor in the proper doses.

This information means that deep-fat fried foods and those more slowly, digested than foods prepared by other methods. The one qualifying factor is that these foods must be properly prepared.

The reason this superstition arose in the first place, was because the fat in which the foods were prepared was raised to too high a temperature. This caused a breakdown in the fat, with the result that the food was harder to digest.

To avoid this situation when cooking with fat, as with all other methods of meat cookery, a low temperature must be maintained. The return of deep-fat ly during cooking for even thermometers to the market is browning.

In cooking in deep fat a constant temperature of 360°F. is indigestible, a belief formerly safely below the point at which the fat breaks down. Illiteracy was high; the struggle of wresting a living under adcircumstances was such that little time could be devoted of education of children depended upon the attainments of the parents and upon their willingto teach their young ones.

As schools were established and grew in size, parents delegated more and more of the responsibility of education to the professional teachers. A Parent's Responsibility However, we parents tend to forget that the responsibility for the formal education of our youngsters still rests squarely upon our shoulders. We can not shove off that duty upon the schoolmen whom we are paying to perform the tasks incidental to the teaching of our children. It is as true now as it was in pioneer days that the level of education our children reach depends upon the willingness of us parents to take the time and trouble to maintain interest in the method, practices, and environmental surroundings of their teaching.

The school systems today have grown into so huge a matter that parents and schoolmen tend to lose touch with each other. Parent-Teacher Associations strive valiantly to close the breach, but they are not enough. The parents must know how they want their children trained, and must maintain an interested survey to determine that their children are being properly taught.

The kindergarten class has over 40 pupils in it. It is true that a very capable teacher and her very effective assistant handle the group as well as could possibly be done, and that the class is in a large room. But that large a group of kindergarten youngsters just can not be handled so as to teach them the social skills they need. When stories are told, the voice of one teacher carries over and mixes with the voice of the other. In a game, only a small proportion of the large circle can participate. Children wait a long time for their turn at the rewards that give them pleasure and growth through a sense of > accomplishment. The answer to such a condition is not merely in stating helplessly that our schools are overcrowded and we are doing the best we can. A solution must be found. In the Clinton School the Board room may be a way out. Could that room be used as an additional Kindergarten space? Could not the school districts be reapportioned to have some children go to Marshall School? Actually, that school is closer to the children living north of Irvington avenue near Ward place; a walk of almost a mile is necessary for those children to reach Clinton School.

That is one example of what I mean we must look for in keeping contact with our schools. We have delegated certain responsibilities in rearing our children to the specialists in the schools. Yet they remain our children, and therefore our most vital interest. The necessity for our maintaining vigilant and interested inspection of the way those delegated responsibilities are handled is still ours. The schoolpeople are teachers!" It is our business. Fabrics Being Made That Won't Shrink

Everyone at sometime or other, has been troubled with woolen stockings that have shrunk or a cotton dress that has gotten too tight after only one washing. Fortunately it's now becoming possible for manufacturers to treat many fabrics so they won't shrink when washed at home. But not all fabrics on the market, of course, are made this way yet. To protect yourself, look for those materials which are labeled, "Will not shrink more than ---per cent," declares Inez La Boasier, extension specialist in clothing at Rutgers University. She points out that such a label is required by the Federal Trade Commission whenever a statement about pre-shrinking is used. Pre-shrunk cottons which will

1948 Food Costs May Mean Less Bountiful Meals

More people in America have had better meals since the war than ever before in history. The amount of dairy products used is one shining example of that. The Bureau of Agricultural Economics says that in the last peak years, daily consumption of milk averaged 8 cups to a person. This includes cheese and ice cream. But what are prospects for meals in 1948? Even now, because of the sharp rise in the cost of foods, some families are having less adequate meals. And from predictions thus far, there is little hope that food costs will go down much during the first half of the year. A number of families will be eating less meat, fresh milk and fresh fruits and vegetables out of seas son. This may mean a lowering of the nutritive quality of the family meals, but it doesn't have to. Less expensive foods can be used which will help keep up the value of the meals yet keep the food budget in balance, says your County Home Agent. Of course, these foods do not always have the same appeal as the steaks and roasts commonly eaten during the peak years. The homemaker has the problem of making legumes - dried peas, beans and lentils—take the place of meat several times a week. She must feature potatoes, yellow turnips, squash, loose carrots, onions, cabbage and kale. This winter, instead of some of the higher priced fresh or frozen vegetables, she must frequently call upon the plentiful supplies of lower grades of canned vegetables These have the same food value as the top quality, and cost much less. She will, of course, watch for seasonal fresh fruits and vegetables from New Jersey farms, that are reasonably priced. Dried fruits such as prunes and raisins, canned apple sauce and canned citrus juices

> The wheat conservation program for European countries will also have an effect on meals for 1948. There will be incentives to use more oatmeal as a breakfast cereal, in meat loaf, muffins and cookies. Cornmeal can be used in spoon bread, muffins, and pancakes to save flour. Rye bread will be used more frequently.

At the outbreak of the Revolutionary War, the United States had no Navy Department or ships and only a few armed merchant-roots over the winter months is one of those important after season jobs that is often neglected. Most of us, while the garden fever is still on, remember to dig them up at the proper time either just before or after a hard frost. Having done this we throw them in convenient baskets or boxes and leave them in the garage or tool house with the firm intention of doing the rest of the work later on. Suddenly we realise that hard freezing temperatures are here and we haven't yet put the roots in proper storage. On inspection we may find some tender bulbs have been frozen or some roots have dried out, shriveled or even started to decay. Temporary storage is desirable for most bulbs to give time for the tops to dry back but before danger of hard freezing comes all the bulbs and roots should be cleaned, sorted and carefully stored away for the Look Over Stored Bulbs Failure to examine the stored material occasionally through the winter may result in serious losses. If you find some are shriveled up it may be caused by too high a temperature or be due to dryness of the material in which the roots are stored. If the damage has not gone too far, they may easily be saved by packing them in moist peat moss for a few days to make them plump again. Conversely if the roots are found to be too moist they can be dried off by exposure to the air and sun. Even decayed spots can be cut out, if found in time, and the roots dusted with sulphur to save them.

Most people planning to build their own homes today have four important requirements in mind.

Two of them are to get the greatest possible amount of space for the least possible cost. The two others are to secure quality building materials and sound and durable

The architect who designed the house pictured here was particularly concerned with the first two points. the others being the responsibility of the builder. He chose a square house with a minimum amount of exterior wall space as a type which would best fulfill the conditions he had set himself. Suited to a suburban or semi-suburban lot, it has a cellar which runs beneath all of the structure except the garage, with the space under the living room intended for a playroom.

The three bedrooms at the back of the house accommodate five people, one single bedroom being set between two double ones. The dining area occupies part of the living room, while the kitchen has a door opening directly into the dining area and another which opens on to the back hall.

The house is one of those shown in a new book on home buying and building titled "A Home of Your Own."

Keep Kitchen If you stuff the lowly white potato, think what the same treat-Knives Sharp ment will do for its more colorful

Keen-edged kitchen knives save time and annoyance, and besides, are really safer to use than dull ones. They are not difficult to keep sharp, either, if you practice a few common sense rules, says Doris Anderson, extension specialist in home management at Rutgers University.

It stands to reason, she points out, that if the edge of a knife hits against metal or even as smooth a surface as chinaware, it will lose its sharpness and may get nicked. Therefore the first rule is not to throw knives carelessly in a drawer. Store them in a rack with one knife to a groove. This rack may be planned for a drawer or hung on the wall at a convenient place in the work area.

The second rule is to use s wooden cutting board to save the knife as well as your table or counter surface.

Next, don't overheat a knife by putting it on the stove or near a flame. The temper of the steel may be destoyed and the blade permanently dulled.

Now for sharpening. There are many knife sharpening devices on the market, but a good carborundum with a coarse and a fine side is all that's needed except for some water or thin oil to moisten he stone as you use it.

If the knife is very dully, start with the coarse side of the stone and finish with the finer side. vitaminized margarine,

Place the stone on a damp cloth to keep it from slipping. Then move the knife across the stone with the right hand, using the left hand to exert more even pressure on the blade. The path of the knife should be in the form of an arc. Alternate this sharpening movement from one side of the blade to the other until you gain a keen edge.

Otherwise, just use the fine side.

The angle at which the blade is tilted on the stone is important. Hold a knife intended for fine slicing or pairing flatter than a knife used for heavy work. But don't hold any knife at too abrupt an anglee for you'll grind off the edge. Too fist an angle is equally as bad because the blade will get too thin. It takes some experience to learn at what angle the blade should be held, so go alow at first.

If nicks have developed in the knife or it is unusually dull, the edge may have to be ground, But usually it's enough to touch up the butcher and paring knives on the carborundum occasionally.

Church at Fairton

Nearly 250 years ago a group of pioneers from Connecticut and Long Island settled in Cumber-I land County at what is now known as Fairton. A log church was built about the year 1690 at New England Cross Roads and this served until 1717 when a frame church was built. In 1780 the "Old Stone Church" was built, one mile to the south. In 1838 the congregation divided into two groups, one of which erected a brick church at Cedarville. One of the early pastors was the Rev. Ethan Osborn, who came from Connecticut in 1788 on horseback and served the congregation for two generations. He died at the age of 99 and is buried in the church yard adjoining. The church may be reached via Bridgeton by taking the road to Bivalve. New Josey Council, State House, Trenten

NEW JERSEY SPORT

NAMING SCHOLASTIC CHAMPS TODAY As you read these words this day, the New Jersey interscholastic A. A. is meeting at the Hildebrecht Hotel in Trenton under the direction of Fred Drews (successor to J. Whitney Colliton), mulling over columns of figures representing schoolboy football records, percentages, and mumbo-jumbo. Out of that mess of mathematical magic will come the announcement today of the New Jersey sectional champions in the various football groups.

Whether they like it or not, the awards will be "official" so far as the interested high school teams are concerned, but judging from past actions of the Colliton counters there will be a good many that definitely won't like it.

As we mentioned in this column last week, Westfield is presently watching the activities of the committee with fearful eyes. Because each team is "rated" a certain number of points, Westfield stands to fare no better than a tie with Hillside for top honors, since Hillside has played "higher-rated" opponents. The system doesn't take into account the comparative records of the teams, which seem from here to give Westfield more than a decided edge in the race for Group III honors. Westfield has beaten 10 teams this season, while Hillside can boast six victories, two defeats and one tie. Both schools have victories over Group IV opponents, yet the teams played by Hillside have been more highly rated by the NJSIAA, therefore Westfield's undefeated record means absolutely nothing in the final analysis. Very perplexing.

The Group IV race is so decisive that even the Colliton score books can not fail to give the nod to Montclair High's great eleven. The only other Group IV aggregation to boast an unde-feated season is Bridgeton in South Jersey, but their opposition has definitely been of a lower calibre than the Mountaineers.' This isn't based on Colliton ratings, but on fact. South Jersey is sparsely settled, has few schools, and therefore rarely offers much in the way of football powers.

There are only two undefeated teams in Group II as well, Dumont and Manasquan, but there are six undefeated - but - tied teams that may emerge as sectional champs in the Colliton scoring columns. Group III Central Jersey honors should go to South River, but the Maroon's lose to Group IV-rated New Brunswick may wipe out 34 undefeated games over the past three years in the Colliton camp. One never knows what to expect from manipulated numbers. They might just as well spin a wheel.

Tomorrow night will usher in what has all the earmarks of being the largest money gate in Madison Square Garden history, when Joe Louis puts his title on the line for the 24th time. This time his opponent is Jersey's Joe Walcott, a heavyweight of long standing who hasn't a very distinguished record yet represents the only remaining challenger to the Brown Bomber.

THE $200,000 RUSTY GATE

No one expects Walcott to last very long against the champ, yet people are laying their hard cash on the line just the same. With a $30 top, the fight stands to gross more than 200,000 greenbacks, and may top the all-time Garden record of $201,000 set way back in 1927 by Jack Delaney and Jimmy Maloney.

The explanation probably is that Louis, now 33 and getting heavier with each title bout, is thinking seriously of retiring from the ring, and fans feel they had better see him fight now or they may never get another chance. Louis will weigh in at about 210 to Walcott's 193, that's about 13 pounds more than he weighed when he knocked out Braddock for the title in 1936.

It doesn't seem fair to send Walcott into the same the hands of some folks during then forgot to "WATCH THAT ring with Louis tomorrow night. Jersey Joe has been the hunting season and they will knocking around the fight game for 15 years, has retired five different times, and has never been very impressive, yet he has managed to stay up there this last time because the opposition has been so well cut up by Louis that Walcott hasn't been able to find many "tough" foes. After tomorrow's little venture into dreamland, Walcott will probably retire for the sixth—and the last—time.

WRAPPING UP THE SCOREBOARD

Because of an early deadline last week we were unable to record the results of football games prior to Thanksgiving Day. With the turkey day classics we wound up our predictions for the 1947 season, and ended up with a rather respectable .722 average.

Combining November 22 and Thanksgiving Day games, we picked 11 correctly, four wrong, and there was one tied ball game. This brought our season record to 83 right, 32 wrong, and 10 ties. Since we limited ourselves to schools within the Newark area and state college teams, there wasn't much opportunity to rack up too many games, but we think we did all right.

Water Carnival Opening Tonight

Jim Reilly, genial veteran of three decades of coaching college swimmers, will present a smooth blend of aquatic competition, diving exhibitions and comedy relief in his annual water carnival and aquacade which opens a three-day stand tonight in the Rutgers University pool, at New Brunswick.

Feature of the show is expected to be the diving of Bruce Harlan, national A.A.U. and collegiate champion, from Ohio State University. Harlan, rated by Reilly as the greatest diver of all time, is considered a sure winner in the forthcoming Olympics.

Sharing top billing with Harlan will be a feminine rhythm group from the Newark Athletic club called the Nacettes. Coached by Furney Jeffreys, chairman of the swimming committee at the Newark club, the Nacettes were the hit of last year's water carnival at Yale.

Competition during the three nights of the show will determine the Rutgers sprint championship. Jim MacNeil, member of last year's Scarlet varsity, will defend his title against his teammates and such newcomers as Bob Nugent, a New York freshman who won the national interscholastic title last year, and Seymour Schlanger, a University College student who formerly held the National Collegiate 440-yard record. The program will be rounded out by comedy dives, junior championship races for boys and girls of the New Brunswick area, and high diving demonstrations by members of the Rutgers team.

Part of the proceeds from the affair will be donated to the Olympic swimming fund.

Eight Pairs of Brothers On Tiger Hockey Squad

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 29-Princeton University's head coach of hockey, Richard F. Vaughan, is beginning to believe that Tiger hockey players come in pairs, for no less than eight pairs of brothers are currently working out in the Hobart Baker Memorial Rink as the Orange and Black prepares for its first formal ice campaign since 1948.

Headed by the Erdman brothers, Charlie and Peter, both of whom were letter-winning standouts with last winter's informal sextet. three of the "brother acts" hail from New Jersey. The Erdmans are the sons of Charles R. Erdman, Jr., New Jersey's Commissioner of Economic Development and a Nassau track great in the post-World War I era.

Like the Erdmans, Dean and Macdonald Mathey, two of the country's ranking juntor tennis players, are natives of Princeton while Dave and Charley Green, a pair of Army Air Forces veterans, are from Essex Fells.

The impressive contingent of hockey-playing brothers is rounded out by Bill and Tom Buell, of Newport, R. I.; Bruce and Walt Huber, of Mount Kisco, N. Y.; John and Tom Matthews, of New York City, sons of the managing editor of Time Magazine; Dick and Bob Ryerson, of New York City; and Paul and Rod Thompson, of Devon, Pa.

The task of selecting the kinds of work and the particular individuals to write about, represented "a long process of elimination," Miss Williams says, in her introduction to the book. For, she explains, when she began it, she "was struck with the immediate realization that almost every job in the world deals, at least to some extent, with people.'

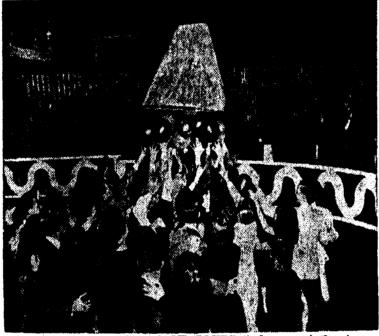

So, in the end, she found herself dividing various types of jobs into groups "according to the kind of people the jobs were concerned withtroubled people, job seekers and many other classifications," and hen settling upon certain individuals active in those classifications whose stories she felt would have appropriate interest and inspiration for young people thinking along those lines.

The classifications and people she finally chose were "People Growing Up," with Margaret Scoggin, a young people's librarian, as an outstanding example of those working in this field; "People in Trouble," which describes the career of Charlotte Hayman, psychiatric social worker; "People as Neighbors," which tells of Clyde Murray's activities in settlement house work; "People Looking for Jobs," featuring Evelyn Murray, employment placement consultant; "People at Work," in which the author discussed two industrial relations directors. Elinore Herrick and Robert Metcalf; "People as Workers," in which she again chose to tell of two careerists, Ruth Young, industrial union secretary, and Mark Starr, union educational director; "People Who Are Handicapped," describing Marjorie Fish's work in occupational therapy, and "People Growing Old," seen through the career of George Lawton, paychologist.

Mothers! Kiddles! Meet Jolly Old Santa

AT KRESGE • NEWARK'S SUMMIT BRANCH Saturday, December 6th at 11:30 A. M.

RAIN OR SHINE

SEE SANTA ARRIVE FROM THE NORTH

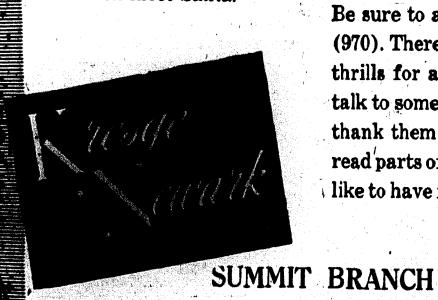

Meet him at Summit Station at 11:06 A. M. Whee-ee-ee...that's Santa riding with the engineer in the new grey - maroon - and gold Diesel-powered "Lackawanna Limited!"

BE PLENTY OF FUN AND THRILLS!

Enjoy the peak excitement as Santa's grand float draws up in front of the store. Be there to meet him. Santa will be delighted to see all his little friends gathered outside to greet him.

He'll be seated, in full majesty, surrounded by the most marvelous toys from Santa's pack. Join the jolly parade to his throne ... tell him what you want for Christmas!

This jolly event is designed to give you the opportunity of having the children meet Santa.

KIDDIES! TUNE IN TO SANTA'S OWN RADIO PROGRAM EVERY MONDAY AND FRIDAY NIGHT AT FIVE MINUTES PAST EIGHT!

Be sure to ask Mom to turn the dial to Station WAAT (970). There'll be twenty-five minutes of music, fun and thrills for all Santa's little friends. Santa will actually talk to some lucky little girls and boys over the phone to thank them for the grand letters they wrote him. He'll read parts of the letters ask what the writers would like to have for Christmas.

SPRINGFIELD AVE.

WOULD YOU LIKE SANTA TO TELEPHONE YOU? Here's what you do. Just write him a friendly little note. If your letter is judged one of the best that Santa receives, he will phone you, provided your letter arrives in time. So, don't delay - write Santa right away. Just address your letter to: Santa Claus, Kresge-Newark, New-
