Area Realty Sales For '47 May Hit $2 Million Mark

Residential property real estate sales in the Summit area, which are "mutiple listed" exclusively with local realtors, are expected to hit the $2,000,000 mark in 1947, members of the Summit Real Estate Board were told Monday night at their first annual banquet held at the Hotel Suburban.

Members were told that while 1947 proved to be a year of outstanding accomplishments, the Board was just beginning to make known the scope of its service to the community and that the service would be increased in 1948.

John H. Kohler was re-elected president, as were Edward Holmes, vice-president, and Henry Glowka, secretary-treasurer. Other officers elected were John J. Burling, governor, and Milton Mountain and Alfred Anderson, members of the executive committee.

In his acceptance speech, Mr. Kohler thanked all members and made special mention of the committee chairmen for work and cooperation during the year.

Following the dinner, election of officers and speeches there was a program of entertainment consisting of vocal and accordion selections. Highlighting the informal entertainment was the appearance of a quartet made up of Mr. Holmes, Mr. Steele, Mr. Butler and Mr. McNamara. A violin solo was given by Mr. Burling and Mr. W. Glazebrook offered a short recitation entitled, "$2.20 in Hoboken."

Dinner was served to 24 representatives of 14 local real estate offices.

Support Reciprocal Trade Act, Women Voters Are Urged

Stressing that foreign trade must be a two-way proposition with the United States buying as well as selling, Mrs. Luther C. Scull of Madison, urged the Summit League of Women Voters at a meeting Monday at the Methodist Church parish house "to support the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act which will come up for renewal by Congress in June, 1948."

Speaking for the American Association for the United Nations, Mrs. Scull spoke of a conference which met at Geneva, Switzerland, last summer with the purpose of drawing up a charter for and International Trade Organization. She said a similar conference is currently meeting in Havana, Cuba. Trade agreements to run three years were drawn up in Geneva, Mrs. Scull said, with 23 countries taking an active part. Sixty-three nations are represented at Havana, she added, with only United Nation member countries allowed to vote on ITO policies.

Problems Are Great

Problems of reestablishing world trade under present conditions are so great, according to Mrs. Scull, that one United States delegate remarked, "our Geneva delegation would probably have stayed home had they realized in advance the difficulties to be encountered." However, the group pitched in and after weeks of discussion and negotiating considerable spadework was done in estab-

14.4 Per Cent of Summit Voters Among "Missing"

Records of the Union County Board of Elections are now being double-checked to find out what has happened to the 1,332 registered Summit voters whose sample ballots were returned to the Courthouse in Elizabeth after the November 4 election marked "Moved" or "Not at This Address."

Summit's missing voters number 14.4 of those registered here to gain for this city the place of having the second highest per cent of returns in the county.

According to an official of the County Board of Elections, approximately 50 cent of these voters represented by this unopened mail will be "discovered" at new addresses through a check of polling records and individual transfer requests made after the close of the registration period.

The remainder will be listed according to voting districts and advertised in newspapers throughout the county prior to the close of the next registration period in the spring.

The number of returned sample ballots in the county, 12,564, was nearly 8 per cent of the total county registration, approximately the same ratio as of recent years. The board also explains that the large number of address changes since the war period account largely for the misdirected envelopes.

To political analysts, the effectiveness of party organizations is gauged by the proportion of out-of-date addresses. Thorough canvass of voting districts by party workers who make sure that all recent changes of addresses have been officially recorded prior to the election period reduces the number of ballots that fail to reach their destination.

1,537 Families Represented in Public Schools

There are 1,537 families represented in the various public schools in Summit. This was announced Tuesday night at the Board of Education meeting by Roberts v. S. Reed, superintendent of schools. He said this figure was arrived at from the results of a questionnaire. From the Goodrich survey conducted here two years ago, it was determined that there are approximately 33.76 per cent of the total families in the city represented in the public schools. According to the national estimate the per cent is 32.7.

Resignation Accepted

The resignation "regretfully submitted" by Mrs. Ruth Hauptli of Westfield as teacher of English in the High School was accepted as soon as a replacement may be found.

The superintendent reported that for the period from November 17 through January 31, Miss Phyliss Rynearson, a student at Trenton Teacher College, is doing her physical education practice teaching under the direction of Miss Grace E. Jones. He also reported that Miss Evelyn Dougherty, a senior at Newark State Teachers College, is doing her student teaching under the direction of Miss Reta Dunnells at Brayton School.

Junior Fortnightly Lists Stamp Collection Depots

Stamp collecting depots have been set up in Summit through the cooperation of the Junior Fortnightly Club, sponsors of the campaign, and local businessmen. Persons having old stamp collections, foreign or American stamps, may leave them at the Public Library, Columbia Cleaners, Pierson's, or with any member of the Junior Fortnightly.

Stamps collected will be distributed to hospitalized veterans to provide them with hobby and recreational occupations. Deadline for donations is January 3, 1948.

FOR AULD LANG SYNE — Memories of 25 years ago were stirred when the High School PTA celebrated its silver anniversary by inviting the original officers of the organization and members of the faculty of that time to a party as guests of honor. Standing, left to right, are Holmes A. Cliver, Miss Tilla Thomas, Guy V. Bruce, Miss Grace E. Jones, Miss Josephine Noyes, Miss Martha Berry, Harry H. Dampman, and Miss Ida F. Hermann, all faculty members. Seated, left to right, are Mrs. H. W. Ryman, first PTA treasurer; A. J. Bartholomew, principal; Mrs. Howard D. McGeorge, first PTA president; Dr. Harry A. Sprague, school superintendent a quarter of a century ago, and Mrs. W. F. Sonnekalb, first PTA vice-president. About 200 persons attended the anniversary party which featured talks by Mayor Maxwell Lester, Jr. and Dr. Sprague. (Photo by Jay.)

State Checking on Employment of Minority Groups in Union County

A survey to find out in what numbers and in what capacities members of so called minority groups are employed in Summit and in Union County is being sought through a series of interviews which will be started today. The survey will be conducted by the Division Against Discrimination at the request of the Union County Council Against Discrimination. It is designed to establish contact on a friendly basis with employers in Union County since no complaints are involved in the survey. It will also provide a backlog of information upon which a program of education can be initiated in the County.

Inquiry will seek to establish the amount and kind of occupations held by minority groups in the various businesses of the County and to note the various types of program initiated by management and labor for the promotion of better working relationships. About 100 employers employing approximately 50,000 employees will be visited.

The survey will be carried out with the voluntary assistance of employers. It will be in charge of Isham Jones, formerly of Elizabeth, field representative of the division.

Other Counties Surveyed

This will be the seventh industrial survey conducted by County Councils Against Discrimination with the co-operation of employers and the staff of the Division Against Discrimination. Former surveys were in Essex, Mercer, Passaic, Camden, Monmouth and Burlington Counties. A similar survey is being planned for Salem County in January.

Many employers have profited from the very interesting facts assembled from these surveys, and have found the suggestions of the Division staff who were conducting the interviews very helpful. The interviewer has been able in many instances to pass on the experiences and successful practices of other firms in integrating minority group workers.

Summit members of the Union County Council Against Discrimination are Prentice C. Ford, Lawrence J. MacGregor and Stanley O. Morgan.

Other county members are: Rev. Benjamin W. P. Allen, Cranford; Mrs. F. M. Archibald, Elizabeth; Mrs. G. H. Brown, Roselle Park; Dr. William H. Brown, Elizabeth; Robert Crane, Elizabeth; Daniel Eisenberg, Plainfield; Rev. Harold A. Gamblin, Hillside; Rev. H. Mortimer Gesner, Plainfield; Arthur B. Goetze, Westfield; Dr. Pearl Greenberg, Linden; Howard M. Hinkel, Plainfield; Dr. A. L. Johnson, Cranford; Rev. J. W. Lord, Westfield; A. D. McAghon, Roselle; Mrs. C. C. Polk, Roselle; Lester J. Rigby, Elizabeth; Stephen W. Waterbury, Hillside and A. W. Zimmerman, Plainfield.

Mental Hygiene Society Engages Social Worker

Appointment of Mrs. Dorothy Manning Wechsler to the professional staff of the Mental Hygiene Society of Union County was announced this week by Dr. Marguerite L. Walker, executive director.

Mrs. Wechsler will serve as a senior psychiatric social worker. Following her work at the New York School of Social Work, Columbia University, Mrs. Wechsler worked for three years at the Child Guidance Clinic in Brooklyn, where she specialized in individual and group therapy. She then spent a year at St. Albans Naval Hospital, Long Island, working with Naval and Marine Corps neuropsychiatric patients, under the auspices of the American Red Cross. For the last year she was engaged in psychiatric studies at the Sorbonne in France.

Mrs. Seymour Jones, of Hobart avenue, president has named the following on the nominating committee for next year: Mrs. George Hetfield and J. Whitney Baker of Plainfield; Rev. David K. Barnwell of Summit and Wilbur R. Hanawalt of Westfield.

County Leaders in Line With Driscoll, Pascoe Says

By Wendell H. Woodside

BOROUGH — County Register Herbert J. Pascoe made it unmistakably clear Monday night at the annual dinner of the New Providence Republican Club at the Pine Tree Inn in Berkeley Heights that Union County's top Republican leaders and the county organization will be in Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll's camp with whichever candidate the Governor and the Republican State Committee decide to advance for a 1948 primary ballot against U. S. Sen. Albert W. Hawkes.

Pascoe, "senior statesman" of Union County politics in his address made it certain that in addition to all the other excitement in next year's Republican primary, there will be the sharp clash of the close-knit county organization and a formidable candidate opposing it in the U. S. Senate nomination contest.

The County Register termed Driscoll "the greatest the State has ever had," declaring the incumbent State head bent "in meeting his highest obligation in seeing the new Constitution well and strongly established." While clear in explaining the county organization's siding with Driscoll, the speaker said the organization has declined thus far to take any stand on the choice to oppose Hawkes.

Boice Again Honored

Senator-elect Kenneth C. Hand said he deemed "it an honor to submit the name of Howell C. Boice, chairman of the Republican County Committee here," to continue as his secretary as he had done "so ably for my predecessor, County Register and former Senator Pascoe." In testifying "to the high sense of duty" of the County Register, the senator-elect said the voters of Union County were reluctant to let him leave Trenton.

Col. Robert L. Copsey of Springfield avenue, director of State aviation was praised by both Pascoe and Hand. The latter said he would be in frequent conference with Col. Copsey over the plans of the Port of New York authority for the development of Newark airport.

Prayer For Judges Hughes

Stating that his prayers were with Judge John L. Hughes of the Third District Court, Summit, for his speedy recovery from a serious illness, County Register Pascoe reminded his listeners of the loss to the county this year of three freeholders. He also said Assemblyman Thomas Muir of Plainfield, the dean of the Assembly, was dangerously ill and might not be able to attend the next session of the Legislature.

Mayor Elsworth R. Hansell referring to his Memorial Day address at Borough Hall reminded his listeners that "Democracy at work" in the borough and other communities together with the State and nation was the best antidote he knew with which to fight Communism.

Chairman George W. Robbins, Jr., of the New Providence Township Committee, a guest of honor, extended a welcome to the club.

County Clerk Henry G. Nulton responded briefly to an introduc-

P.O. Hours Extended For Christmas Rush

Postmaster Daniel J. Fitzpatrick announced yesterday that the windows for receiving mail will not be closed until 6 p. m. Saturday, December 13. He also announced that the closing time for Monday and Tuesday of next week would be extended to 8 p. m., explaining that at this time he could not state whether the closing time for next Wednesday would be extended beyond the usual 6 p. m. closing.

Welfare Head Makes Annual Yule Appeal

Mrs. Gertrude S. Gross, director of public welfare, this week makes her annual appeal for contributions to the "Christmas Fund."

"Without contributions by the general public to this fund there are many in the city who would be without Christmas dinners and the other things which go to make up a "Merry Christmas," Mrs. Gross said.

"The people of this city have, of course, many appeals to consider at this season of the year, but this is one that should receive extra consideration, Mrs. Gross added. She is hopeful that sufficient contributions will be received to take care of those who will need help to give them a cheerful Christmas.

Donors are asked to send checks or money as soon as possible to her at the Municipal Building, 512 Springfield avenue. Welfare Department, checks to be made out to Gertrude S. Gross, Christmas Fund.

Santa, Unable to Hear Wants of 7,500, Coming Back on Saturday

Announcement that Santa Claus will pay his second pre-Christmas visit to Summit this coming Saturday, December 13, was greeted with glee this week by hundreds of youngsters in this city and the Borough and Township of New Providence and many Union, Morris and Essex communities. Last Saturday "Old Kris Kringle" was host to a police-estimated crowd of more than 7,500 kiddies and their parents at Kresge-Newark, Summit branch, in Springfield avenue. He will be host next Saturday also at the Kresge store.

Santa, in full sparkling regalia and fresh from the Kresge-Newark toy shop, arrived Saturday in Summit riding the bright, shiny diesel locomotive that arrived here at 11:06 a. m. on its daily trip to Buffalo.

"Never Anything Like It"

Chief of Police Edward K. Egan and a dozen members of the Summit Police Department augmented by a battalion of uniformed Lackawanna Railroad police supervised the several thousand "oldsters" and youngsters who crowded onto the station platform, into the station, onto the stairs leading to the lower level platform, and who filled Union place from Beechwood road to Maple street, to welcome Santa.

"I've never seen anything like it," Chief Egan said as he resignedly viewed the thousands of shrilling youngsters who were festooned about station girders, steps, and rails like so many Christmas tree ornaments.

But the event was not for children alone. One elderly woman, who shyly admitted her age was 82, said she was "thrilled by the whole thing."

With a well filled bag, Santa finally managed to work his way up the Maple street stairs from the lower level at the station. In the meantime his simulated reindeer and proverbial sleigh were awaiting him on Union place to whisk him to his one-day headquarters at the Summit branch of Kresge-Newark in Springfield avenue.

Unmindful of the absence of snow, "the little old-fellow's chargers," Dasher, Dancer, Prancer, Vixen, Comet, Cupid, Donder and Blitzen were soon away taking Santa north on Maple street to Springfield avenue and thence east to Kresge-Newark as thousands followed his progress. For the rest of the day until closing time Saturday, youngsters, many of them with their parents visited Santa, shook hands with him and told of what they wanted for Christmas.

Local Business Boomed

Summit merchants also were one in testifying they had never seen anything like it. Eating places were crowded to the doors shortly after Santa arrived in town. The rush for food continued into the late afternoon. This writer visited many stores on and off the avenue and always it was the same . . . buyers were crowding into stores in such numbers as he has never seen them. One had to be patient until he could get a clerk to wait on him.

Added to the hundreds of out-of-town shoppers who normally come to Summit, it was observed

More School Space Included In Proposed Civic Building Program, Mayor Tells PTA

With the recent settlement of the teachers' salary scale, school housing will be the next step "of city wide interest" in Summit's educational program, Mayor Maxwell Lester, Jr. told the more than 300 persons attending the high school's Parent-Teachers' Association's 25th anniversary celebration at the high school Monday night.

Dr. Harry Sprague, Summit school superintendent from 1918 to 1942, recalled that the present high school was not completed at that time. He pointed out that the highest Summit teacher's salary at that time was $1,250 and contrasted that with the present elastic salary scale, adopted by the Board of Education last month, calling for minimum wages of $2,400 with a maximum of $4,500.

In addition to Dr. Sprague, who now is president of Montclair State Teachers' College, other guests were: Mrs. H. D. McGeorge, organizer and president of the first high school P.T.A. in 1923; Mrs. W. F. Sonnekalb, first vice-president; High School Principal Albert Bartholomew, second vice-president, and Mrs. H. W. Ryman, first treasurer. Corsages of red roses were presented to the former officers by the present corresponding officers. Mrs. W. E. Gude accepted the corsage for her mother, Mrs. P. L. Louis, first recording secretary, who was unable to attend.

Declaring that the school housing program has been under consideration by Common Council for several weeks, Mayor Lester said "plans for a new Lincoln school and the remodeling and extension of the high school have been completed to the point where [illegible] of construction must be appropriated before any further steps can be taken."

Lists Four-Point Program

Proposals for other civic construction improvements listed by Mayor Lester were:

1. Recreation facilities. Particularly those pertaining to the Jefferson school with the view of compensating for those lost to residents of East Summit by the sale of Edison school.

2. A new fire house. This is essential for October, 1948, when the present lease expires. It will be located at the city yard on Broad street.

3. Library revision with increased facilities. In the library's recent report three alternatives were given; immediate repairs, remodeling with additions and a completely new building.

4. Additional parking areas in the center and the creation of a park in the northern section of the city.

Declaring that a portion of the construction cannot wait for "better conditions in the building field," Mayor Lester cited the fire house and a new city garage which is nearing completion in Chatham road. The present garage lease, he revealed, also cannot be renewed. With the erection of these buildings, Mayor Lester added, "For the first time all city mobile equipment will be housed properly in a city owned structure."

Has Eye on Tax Rate

Pointing out that the government has no intention of "running up the tax rate to an unreasonable figure," Mayor Lester stated that after Summit's 1948 over-all expenses are determined, the remainder of the program will be considered.

"It then can be seen," Mayor

Hawkes to Run Again; Says It Is His "Duty"

Special to Summit Herald

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10 — Senator Albert W. Hawkes has announced his candidacy for reelection to the Senate.

The 70-year-old Senator, who insisted upon his election to the Senate in 1942 he was "not interested in starting a long public career," said Friday it was his "duty" to remain at his post.

The Senator's decision came as a surprise to many New Jersey politicians. Rep. Harry L. Towe, of Rutherford, for one, was prepared to campaign for the Senate seat, which Hawkes was expected to vacate.

Hawkes' statement follows:

"I shall be a candidate for reelection to the U. S. Senate in 1948.

"When the people of New Jersey elected me five years ago, I stated I was not interested in starting a long public career, and I was not seeking election because I needed a job. I had hoped then that the affairs of this nation would be in far better shape by the end of my term than I now think them to be.

"It is my belief [illegible] few years will determine whether the American system will survive —or whether we shall have regimentation and a government controlled economy, which in effect amount to socialism.

"My duty, as I see it, is to continue to work for the preservation of the ideals and principles upon which America was founded.

"It is this reasoning which has led me to my decision."

Chamber Elects New Directors, Same Officers

The Chamber of Commerce yesterday announced the re-election of Judge John L. Hughes and H. Marsh Shorrock, accountant, to the Chamber's Board of Directors. Others elected to the board for the three-year term, starting January 1, were: J. K. Bedrosian of Bedrosian & Co.; Edward C. Holmes of Holmes Insurance Co., and Adolph Root of Root's Department store. They succeed Edward A. Butler, realtor; Sidney F. Cole, treasurer-manager of Sweet Kleen Laundry, Inc., and Joseph Zeigner, president-treasurer of Joseph Zeigner, Inc.

The entire slate of Chamber officers was re-elected at a dinner meeting of the combined old and new boards Monday night at the Hotel Suburban. The officers are: Arthur B. Becker of Public Service Gas and Electric Corp., president; Thomas W. Coleman of Commonwealth Water Co., first vice-president; Dean H. Travis of the First National Bank and Trust Co. of Summit, second vice-president; Harry W. Doyle of Doyle Furniture Co., third vice-president; William G. Nordling of C. P. Dean Inc., fourth vice-president; Mr. Shorrock, treasurer and Wm. Rae Crane of Jersey Central Power and Light Co., executive secretary.

Pat (Santa) Kelly Dons Red Suit This Saturday

Summit's best known Santa Claus, Pat Kelly, will don his red suit and whiskers this Saturday and greet children at the Factory Outlet store, Industrial place. He will be on hand from 11 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 2 p. m. Children accompanied by their parents will receive a gift from Santa.

For Wool Gatherers

The necessary wool and directions for making men's knitted coat sweaters are now available at Red Cross headquarters on Springfield avenue, Chapter officials have announced.

Short Hills Women Give Overlook $3,500

A gift of $3,500 was made this week to Overlook Hospital by the Short Hills Junior Service League. The money will be used to purchase equipment for the improvement of service to patients such as bedside thermos sets, reading lamps for private rooms, an incubator for the nursery, an oxygen tent, stainless steel utility cart and other articles.

All articles are to be of the best quality obtainable so that they can be used in the proposed new building. The funds were raised by the Service League through proceeds derived from Thrift Shop sales.

Man Released in Bail on Woman's Assault Charge

Elzie Coleman of Glenwood place, was released in $50 bail Monday to await hearing before Police Justice Albert H. Bierman December 15 on assault and battery charges. Coleman was arrested Saturday night on the complaint of Pearl Robinson of Union place, who said Coleman assaulted her during a quarrel. Fifteen stitches were taken in the Robinson woman's leg, police said.

Whales Have Hair

All mammals have hair. Even the whale has pigiike hair bristles on the upper lip.

ALMOST A HUNDRED—After almost a hundred years of usefulness, the building at 65 Union place, has been razed, to make way for a new structure, another step in the face-lifting of the street.

Kenny's Tavern, Local Landmark Since 1850, Razed

The old building at 65 Union place, which has housed a real estate and insurance business for more than half a century (with living quarters above), has at last succumbed to the march of progress and has been torn down, to make room for a new business building.

The building, a frame structure, was erected about 1850 by Michael Kenny who conducted a hotel there for many years. At that time it was directly across from the railroad station, when the Lackawanna tracks were at street level. Later, when Mr. Kenny had a long frame building occupied by some four stores moved to Beechwood road and remodelled in the 1890's the present three-story brick structure of stores, offices and apartments was erected for him by Seaman L. Wright, mason contractor, now the city's building inspector. Upon completion of the new building the Summit House moved into the quarters still occupied by it, and 65 Union place became the real estate office occupied by E. G. Potter thereafter. As indicated by the sign on the right, Mead & Taylor, surveyors, who did a considerable portion of the surveying in this section at that time, had desk room with Mr. Potter.

Upon Mr. Potter's death, the business was continued by Eugene C. Pierson, who had been employed by Mr. Potter. Mr. Pierson died in 1943 and the insurance business was continued there by Everett T. Spinning, who had also been employed by Mr. Pierson. Mr. Spinning has moved to the Central Building, 30 Beechwood road. He is also recorder of Springfield Township.

The property on which the new building, one story in height, is now being constructed is owned by the Bassett Estates, Inc., and it will be occupied by the Federal Cleaners and Dyers. This is another step in the face-lifting of Union place.

The picture from which the adjoining illustration was made was taken over 50 years ago and was made available to the Herald by courtesy of John D. Hood.

Stamp Club to Discuss New Issues, New Ideas

New issues of stamps and new ideas for the betterment of the club will consume the first part of the meeting of the Summit Stamp Club, which will be held at the Field House, Memorial Field, on Monday next. The meeting will open at 8 p. m.

It is announced that at least one hour will be devoted to the exchanging of stamps of United States and British issues. Any one interested is invited to attend.

Jurors Drawn For Two-week Term

Franci J. Morin, 53 High street; Thomas J. Crowe, 83 Beekman road; Mrs. Eve L. Mautner, 161 Kent place boulevard, and Dominick, 30 Kent place boulevard, are among the 100 residents of the county who have been drawn for jury duty for two weeks—December 8-20.

The names were drawn by Sheriff Charles E. Ayres and William A. Bourdon, jury commissioners, and Benjamin T. Kerk, clerk, before Judge Walter L. Hetfield.

At Larderello in northern Italy, steam generated by lava heat has been used to create electric power since 1920.

Reckless Driving Costs Brooklyn Man $13

EXPERIENCE THE BEST TEACHER

If you have acquired the habit of smoking cigarettes, cigars or pipes, you have had enough experience to teach you that such habits do not supply any benefits and you have perhaps learned that you are apt to pay twice, once when you get them and once when they get you.

Many smokers dislike their yellow stained fingers and teeth, the unsightly ashes and butts that add greatly to the cleaning job, the holes burnt in clothes, furniture and carpets, the disagreeable odor of the clothes and room the next morning after the air has been filled with smoke. Many are annoyed by an irritating cough in the morning and especially by a disagreeable taste and bad breath. Experience has shown that smoking is one cause of heart disease, cancer, stomach ulcers, Buerger's disease and other ailments. Any one of these experiences is enough to make a smoker disgusted with the habit and want to quit.

If you have tried to stop and failed, do not be discouraged but try again realizing that you have become the victim of a drug habit and a series of circumstances. Science has found that the habitual use of coffee, tea, chocolate and colas puts the nerves on edge and, under such a condition, experience has taught that a smoke tastes good because it quiets the nerve tension and gives a temporary stupor and relief. This is like driving the automobile with one foot on the accelerator and one foot on the brake. If you really want to quit smoking, try cutting out the caffeine drinks first. The willpower developed in saying "No" to one cup of coffee will enable you to say "No" to smoking. Realize that tobacco smoking is a contagious habit and that if you are associated day after day with those who smoke, experience teaches that this is a handicap to stopping.

When you find the money that you can save equals a $2000 nest egg, the better health you will enjoy, the time you can save, your new lease on life, you will be delighted that some one who likes you has thought enough of you to give you these ideas and the desire to act.

If you have had the good fortune to learn by experience, you will start now to prove to yourself that you can do what millions of others have advantageously done. An educated, intelligent person, like yourself, is greatly needed to help teach the people of this world a better way of life rather than to be an underpaid advocate and demonstrator for the tobacco industry.

Students Again To Sing Carols at Grand Central

Summit High School's mixed chorus will give its second annual Christmas concert at Grand Central Station, New York City, on Friday, December 19, starting at 6:15 p.m. in the upper balcony of the station's grand concourse. The chorus, composed of more than 100 students, will be under the direction of Daniel Kautzman, supervisor of vocal music.

The trip will be made by bus. Members of the faculty, Board of Education and a number of friends are expected to attend the concert.

The program will be as follows:

Hark the Herald Angels Sing, arranged by Shaw
O Come, O Come, Emmanuel, Gregorian Tune
A Virgin Unspotted ..... Billings
A Joyful Christmas Song ..... Gevaert
Shepherds Shake Off Your Drowsy Sleep ..... French Carol
Silent Night ..... Gruber
The Shepherd's Story ..... Dickinson
O Come, All Ye Faithful ..... Reading
Deck the Halls ..... Old Welsh
We Three Kings of Orient Are, arranged by Shaw
A Day of Joyful Singing ..... Jackson

Summit, Short Hills Men Aid College Chapel Fund

A committee of 33 Hamilton College alumni, headed by Coleman Burke of Short Hills, has opened a drive to remodel the college's 120-year-old chapel as a memorial to the fifty Hamilton men who lost their lives in World War II. Also serving on the committee is Fred L. Palmer of Woodcroft road.

The work will be undertaken early next year at an established cost of $100,000.

Charles W. Holt

Lake Placid Club Manager to Run Hotel Suburban

The appointment of Charles W. Holt, formerly operating vice-president of the Lake Placid Club, as manager of the Hotel Suburban in Summit, was announced yesterday by Harry A. Taylor, president of the Hotel Suburban System. Mr. Holt began his duties as manager yesterday, replacing Vincent P. O'Neil.

Mr. Holt has had considerable experience in hotel and club operation, Mr. Taylor stated. The new Suburban manager was one of the early associates of Dr. Melvil Dewey, founder of Lake Placid Club which has since become one of the world's outstanding private vacation resorts.

Mr. Holt began his affiliation with the Adirondack Mountain club hotel in 1918 and in 1922 left to become assistant manager of the Ten Eyck Hotel at Albany. Later he returned to Lake Placid as sub-manager and in 1930 was elected vice-president of the club's operating organization. In 1939, following a world cruise, he was asked to take charge of the club's New York City office, which he did until the army took over the club property at Lake Placid. He was then called back to the resort as operating vice-president in charge of furnishing food and housing for more than 1,400 army personnel. When the government released the property in 1945, Mr. Holt was asked by the board of directors to renovate the property, reorganize the operating staff and prepare the club for a busy winter season in less than two month's time. It was to his credit that the job was done in the specified time.

In commenting upon the appointment, Mr. Taylor said, "I feel that Mr. Holt with his wealth of experience from the Lake Placid Club will be a great addition to the Hotel Suburban staff and to the steady progress that the Hotel Suburban System is making to give Summit the best in hotel service."

Mr. and Mrs. Holt have moved from a temporary home at Chatham to the hotel.

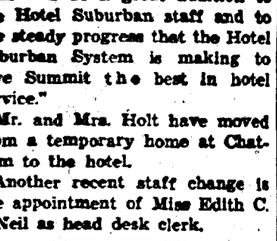

Another recent staff change is the appointment of Miss Edith C. O'Neil as head desk clerk.

J. Frederick Muller

Novel Features Included in Youth's Concert

Lighthearted music and an informal atmosphere will characterize the children's concert to be given by the Summit Symphony Orchestra on Sunday afternoon, December 14 at 3 p. m. The concert, which will be held at Summit High School auditorium, is designed for children from 5 to 15, and will follow the pattern for children's programs made famous by Walter Damrosch. J. Frederick Muller will conduct the orchestra and act as narrator. The Summit Symphony is sponsored by the Board of Recreation, and its concerts are free to the public.

In the first portion of the program, Director Muller will give briefly the story of the music. In "Newsreel," one must imagine watching first a horse-race, then a fashion show, and a parade. In "A Japanese Sunset" the composer expresses his feeling about a sunset in music instead of words. Tschaikowsky's glowing "Waltz of the Flowers" will conclude this part of the program.

Will Explain Instruments

Following the intermission Elmore Furth will give a short talk introducing the various instruments in the orchestra, and show how they become characters in music. In the engaging "Toy Symphony" by Haydn, small instruments representing the call of the cuckoo, quail and canary, a baby's rattle, small cymbals and triangle will be played against a background of string instruments. A. J. Bartholomew will demonstrate the flute, so that the children may recognize it when Prokofieff's "Gavotta" is played. The bassoon, the comedian of the orchestra, will be demonstrated by J. Breitenbach before the orchestra plays "In the Hall of the Mountain King." Grieg's Concerto in A Minor, with Miss Patricia Bley as piano soloist, will conclude the program.

Teachers in the public schools are planning to bring whole classes to the concert, and other schools in Summit and vicinity are invited to follow this example. Sunday school classes, Boy and Girl Scout troops are also expected to attend in groups.

Dr. Edwin L. Earp Tells Old Guard Of His Education

Introduced by his old friend, Dr. W. M. Gilbert, Dr. Edwin L. Earp told his comrades of the Old Guard Tuesday how he got his education.

Beginning at seven, with a country school three miles away, he stayed there until he was 11, when he worked on a farm until after Thanksgiving or Christmas each year, he was 14. His program from 14 to 21 years was more farm work, during which his growing religious interest led to his desire for more education and the Christian ministry.

Securing a copy of "Todd's Student Manual," with some financial assistance and more self-help, he took a three-year preparatory and four-year college course at Dickinson College, getting his board as college commissary and $20 a year as janitor of the YMCA, of which he was also president.

Entered Drew in 1895

In 1895 he entered Drew Seminary and preached on Sunday evenings at Ridgewood, where he met his future wife. He also studied at New York University, receiving his MA degree in 1897. A fellowship took him to Berlin and Leipzig Universities between 1898 and 1901, going finally to the latter place on his wedding journey and for his Ph.D.

His real education, the speaker said, came through imparting to others what he had gained by his own experience. He was a pioneer in the field of Christian Sociology at Syracuse University and Drew. In offering the usual "orchid," David Layton, formerly treasurer of the national Phi Beta Kappa society, emphasized the importance of such educational urge as Dr. Earp had shown.

Discussion on Advantages

Then followed a free discussion of the relative advantages of working one's way and being supported in getting an education and of self-education, while an informal vote showed that the number of college and non-college men present were about equal.

The speaker for the coming Tuesday morning at 10:30 at the "Y" will be Carl E. Melberg, who will tell of "Jungle Jaunts in New Guinea," illustrated by his own movies.

Summit Man Director Of Edison Organization

Paul B. Kasakove of Iris road, assistant to the works manager, Ediphone division of Thomas A. Edison Industries, has been elected to the board of directors of the E-I Mutual Association, an employees' stock sharing corporation. Mr. Kasakove will serve as chairman of the labor-management committee.

Two Summit Students In Colgate Glee Club

Two students from Summit will sing in Colgate University's glee club of 70 voices when it makes its first public appearance Dec. 16 in the college's Memorial Chapel. The glee club, supported by the college choir and veterans wives, will present a program of Christmas music.

Summit men in the glee club are Robert L. Everett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Everett, 59 Woodland avenue and James R. MacLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney T. MacLean, 45 Linden place. MacLean sings second tenor and Everett sings second bass.

Fight Ends in Court

Rocco Nardiello of Cedar street was found not guilty of an assault charge and Barney Caputi of Newark was given a suspended sentence on the same charge Thursday night in police court. Police Justice Albert H. Bierman presided.

The charges grew out of a fight on Cedar street September 10. Nardiello entered the complaint against Caputi and Mario Formichelle of Cedar street filed the complaint against Nardiello.

Why Your City Is Gay

Garbed in their new holiday array, our downtown streets look very gay and festive, which is appropriate for the season and spirit of Christmas. The new decorations, featuring tiny Christmas trees perched atop streetlight posts, have caused favorable comment among busy shoppers and in the minds of many are a decided improvement over decorations used in the past.

However, we wonder if the shoppers realize the many hours of long work and the expense involved in providing these decorations? They are the result of a desire of local merchants to "dress up" for the holidays and represent a cash contribution from practically every store so that the new displays, lights, garlands of evergreen, and cut-out figures of Christmas characters could be provided. The firemen and other municipal employees also pitched in to help in numerous ways, with the result that Summit's street decorations are among the best in this area.

So, while you are dashing frantically about town these next few weeks and the strains of a familiar carol comes from the church carillon and the streets are aglow with Christmas lights, then remember that the businessmen of your town were the ones who arranged for the decorations.

Only one thing is lacking—and that is a snowfall; preferably arriving a few days before Christmas. However, that is one thing the businessmen can not arrange but they have filled the need in other respects.

Clang, Clang, Clang!

We, who have long revelled in leisurely phone calls, are slightly unhinged these days since the introduction of the "Jersey Tandem," the newest device of the telephone company to speed up calls between exchanges not directly connected by trunk lines.

There was a time (it seems so long ago) when we settled down and relaxed after giving the operator the number we wanted. There was time to light a cigarette, scrutinize our fingernails and attack the disorder of the desk as we patiently, and contentedly, waited while our call was shunted over hill and dale from one voice-with-a-smile to another. But how the times have changed! Now we mumble our number and tense ourselves as our words set off a jangle of bells. How can one meditate when gongs bong? We used to wince at the shrill "pip-pips" of the old system but now we cringe and quail as discordant notes are unleashed into our ears.

We are not adverse to progress and really commend the phone company for its desire to speed up service, but it would be nice if this service were elective. There are still some who greet the arrival of the supersonic age with reluctance, and we are one of them. The Jersey Tandem has changed our telephone habits. Our doodling has become a child-like scrawl instead of an artful interpretation. The svelte lines and flourishes have gone strictly cubist and each wild angle represents a clang of what the phone company calls a "calliope-like" note.

Did the Bell officials ever hear an old-fashioned circus calliope? We think not, for our memory recalls dulcet tones and not the caterwauling of a mechanical screechbox. Even the term tandem is incongruous. To us, the tandem is synonymous with the unhurried life of yesteryear and not the Buck Roger-ish devices foisted upon us by the telephone company.

Anyone know of a couple of carrier pigeons for sale?

Aid to Europe

At a recent Rotary Club meeting Bromley Fell, an Englishman by birth and now a Summit resident, described the present plight of his native land. The speaker had recently returned from a trip to England and saw for himself the conditions which have been related so frequently in the daily press and over the radio. However, to hear an eye-witness account from a recent visitor to England is more impressive than objective reports.

Mr. Fell said nothing new in describing England's drastic shortages because he was also describing all of Europe. However, the newspaper account of his talk made us pause and reflect if, as an individual, we are doing all that can be done to alleviate the suffering overseas. Although the United States as a nation has declared its intent to do something to help the semi-starvation of our former Allies, it takes time to set the wheels in motion. People like to do things themselves and not just foot the bills at the end of the year.

For instance, the Friendship Train that recently pulled into New York City with tons of food to be sent abroad could not possibly carry any appreciable quantity of goods. It was more of a gesture; an evidence of the spirit of American kindness. Such programs do much to help show Europe that we are not the purse-proud millionaires the Russians make us out to be. The fact remains that our hearts are suffering and we want to help, efficiently and effectively. The difficulty is to know how.

Not many of us, as with Mr. Fell, have relatives or friends still living overseas to whom gift boxes could be sent direct as a token of an individual American's help to an individual European. A few college fraternities that are international in scope have started a movement to keep their brothers across the seas regularly supplied with the essentials in food and clothing. Such plans narrow down the impersonal touch and make the relationship between giver and receiver closer.

In the mail not long ago, we received two letters from strangers in Germany. We do not know how these Germans secured our name or the name of The Herald, nor do their letters explain. Instead the letters convincingly and pathetically state the case for immediate aid. Each letter tells of the individual hardship and privation suffered by these former enemies. One woman describes her bombed out home and the death of a child through starvation. The other writes of her blinded husband, a former Nazi soldier, and her hungry and cold children.

After reading such messages of despair it is difficult to restrain one's self from rushing to the post office with boxes of clothes and food. It is only natural, however, to hold back because of the realization that only a few years ago these same people were an integral cog of the Hitler war machine. How many American soldiers did the former Nazi soldier kill before he was hors combat by blindness? Doubt is also raised regarding the sincerity of letters like this because of articles, like a recent one in Time magazine, stating that "sucker lists" of American names are being sold openly on the black market. Again the difficulty is in knowing how to give.

There are the church drives of the various denominations. There are the relief programs of numerous organizations. They are all good and help solve the over-all problem in their own small way.

There is also one other way that an individual can help and it is one we think ideal for persons who want to act now, and act as individuals. And that is the CARE program. Officially, CARE means, Co-operative for American Remittances in Europe. It is a non-profit, government approved agency composed of 27 major relief agencies and it will deliver standard food and textile packages in 15 European countries. The packages will be sent to a designated individual and receipt sent later to the donor showing that delivery was made, or else the donation will be delivered according to CARE's discretion. The standard packages, made according to CARE qualifications, are sold in numerous stores at various prices. Even children, families, or adults can be "adopted" through CARE. Several Summit families have done this and are regularly "keeping" an adopted European.

Although we find that pity makes the whole world akin, let us hope this pity will not be numbed by a continuation of the need. For keeping Europe alive will be a lengthly process.

We are reminded of a story told by Stephen Girard. He came upon an old man whose horse had just dropped dead in the streets. It was all he had, the only means by which he carried on his business. A crowd had gathered and were sympathizing. "Good," said Girard. "I, too, sympathize with this man to the amount of $5. How about the rest of you." The crowd quickly melted away; but there were enough stricken in conscience by the act to contribute enough to assure the man the price of another horse.

Don't wait until the Marshall Plan becomes effective, or the next Friendship Train is organized. Obey your impulse to help by giving now. If you have no relative, or friend, or college or business associate, then give through a recognized and accredited agency such as CARE or the numerous church organizations. They will see that your donation goes where it will do the most good.

Remember, sympathy is only the beginning. Action proves the sincerity of the sympathy.

Plenty of Ailments
(Plainfield Courier News)

It has been said that we do not appreciate health until we lose it and then it is too late.

A report made by the New Jersey State Board of Pharmacy for the past year reminds us of the great amount of sickness and physical discomfort there is in our midst, more than 12 million prescriptions having been filled by registered pharmacists in the state during 1946. This figure, the highest on record is double what it was 10 years ago, but this does not necessarily mean that there is 10 times as much sickness because our population has grown.

The State Board's report shows that there were more than 4,300 registered pharmacists operating in New Jersey last year, together with more than 50 registered assistants.

So, in spite of the fun poked at the modern drug store because of its department store-like stock, there still are enough trained druggists to take care of the more serious part of the apothecary business.

10 YEARS AGO. . .

The third season of the Subscription Concerts, which have proved outstanding events in Summit social and musical life, opens Friday night in the High School auditorium with a recital by Helen Jepson, slim, blonde and very beautiful star of the Metropolitan opera.

A year ago the Summit Art Association made an experiment in giving the people of Summit an opportunity to buy at auction a limited number of paintings, prints and etchings by Summit artists. The canvases were put on view, previous to the auction, in the exhibition of members' work held in the gallery with the result that auctioneer, John Morrison Curtis, found a packed gallery waiting to bid on their favorites.

Hospital Sunday. The Executive Committee of the Summit Hospital Association, at their meeting last week, decided upon Dec. 29, as Hospital Sunday for 1907. They request gifts from our citizens that day for carrying on the work of helping people who need hospital treatment but who are not able to pay for it themselves.

The drug stores of Summit have been named by the committee as places where gifts for the Hospital Association can be left. Envelopes for enclosing these gifts are ready.

The treasurer of the Summit Hospital Association is George H. Le Huray, to whose order checks should be made.

Seventy-five persons, since Oct. 1, 1906, have received aid from the Summit Hospital Association, so that they could go to Overlook Hospital for treatment.

The money expended for their benefit has reached the sum of $2,157, an average of $29 each.

Six Chatham boys, ranging in age from 10 to 14 years, who were arrested on complaint of the station agent, at Chatham, were severely lectured by Recorder E. F. Ferris, Wednesday, and sentenced to receive 10 lashes each at home. The parents promised to carry out the punishment.

Picture Ban "Picayune"

Editor, Summit Herald:

I read with dismay that the showing of "Forever Amber" has been banned by church authorities in Summit.

Similar action has been taken in other localities on several other pictures, and, since these events have been characterized by rather undignified methods of the issuance of ultimatums and threats to picket, the whole affair has acquired a disquieting flavor.

No one can object to the zeal of our clergy in its efforts to further the spiritual and moral welfare of its parishioners.

But one can question the moral right of any group, a minority in a locality, to impose its sanctimonious sanctions upon the rest of the community who may not be of the same opinion.

Such bans couched under the cloak of morality have already degenerated into an utterly senseless boycott of Charlie Chaplin's picture just because this great comedian does not happen to be in the good graces of the self-appointed critics.

Would it not be more desirable if, in these momentous times, great institutions would come forward to inspire us to be the vanguards of a looming golden age, instead of wasting energies on picayune issues.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE A. NICOLLIAN,

Protests Censorship

December 4, 1947

Editor, Summit Herald:

The Summit Herald of December 4 relates in a news article that "Church Action Results in 'Forever Amber' Ban." By what right or presumption does the local Catholic church set itself up as an authority on what movies non-Catholics shall be permitted to see! One has become accustomed to the idea that the church will use its powers to keep members from attending movies of which it does not approve. That is the extent to which it should be permitted to exercize its authority.

The above article does not state definitely what pressure may have been brought to bear on Mr. Smozanek, manager of the theater, to cancel the film. Perhaps he is a Catholic. I don't know. Perhaps it was the threat of pickets. But this would have kept away only Catholics, who, theoretically, would have stayed away had the church simply announced the ban to its members. Perhaps the attendance would have been so reduced by the absence of Catholics that the showing would have been a poor economic risk. This last "perhaps" constitutes the only morally admissible method, in my opinion, by which the group's influence should have made itself felt.

I have not seen this movie. However, I regard the reviews of the established critics and commentators as sufficient to guide me in the choice of movies without any help from the Catholic church. There are undoubtedly many others, besides myself, who hotly resent the actions of a group, whose wisdom and authority we do not respect, in exercising virtual censorship over us. If this act is allowed to pass without a protest, it may be repeated. And if movies, why not books?

How to Make Children Want to Go to School

By

THE SUMMIT HERALD'S WASHINGTON REPORTER

(All Rights Reserved)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10—Educators think they have found an answer to the old problem: how to make courses so attractive that students will want to finish high school.

At least representatives of the nation's nine leading educational organizations, who make up the Commission on Life Adjustment Education for Youth, are convinced that most students would like high school if modern, practical courses were substituted for such traditional studies as algebra and the literary classic, "Silas Marner."

The "average American," the commissioners believe, will hold a high school diploma when secondary school curricula have been revised. He will also be prepared to "adjust to life's problems," they claim.

Today, less than half who enter high school are graduated, and the average American has only an 8th grade education. Secondary education is still designed to prepare young people for colleges and skilled trades, although only 20 percent go on to college and another 20 percent enter trades.

Dr. John W. Studebaker, Federal Commissioner of Education, has estimated that some 3,000,000 boys and girls today "cannot see that school is getting them anywhere, and about half of them have ult school altogether." Clearly a "revolution" in high school techniques is indicated. But what, specifically, must be done?

For the mass of high school students—the 60 percent destined for numerous occupations which do not require long periods of specific training—the commission recommends that emphasis be placed on such down-to-earth studies as home and family life, job hunting, budgeting, civic responsibilities, health and safety, use of leisure time, ethical and moral living, application of skills, and consumer education.

The commission also urges high schools to provide "work experience" for this group. Schools would offer the services of experienced guidance counselors to assist students in finding the proper jobs for their particular qualifications and interests. Students would receive the standard wage for parttime work in homes, factories, farms, doctors' offices, etc., while studying appropriate subjects. Flexible high school routines for students employed part time are already in effect, on a small scale, in 35 states.

If the nation's 29,000 high schools, supported at an expenditure of $1,250,000,000, were cut by two-thirds, and if none of the remaining 10,000 schools had an enrollment of less than 300 students, "we would be in a better position to revise the curriculum and offer a sound education for all youth," Dr. Studebaker contends.

He recognized that "local pride" might bring resistance to attempts to consolidate small high schools, but expressed confidence that the public would approve once the project is understood.

Dr. Studebaker's proposal might run into some opposition in New Jersey, where 57 of the state's 277 high schools are currently attended by less than 300 students. One New Jersey high school has an enrollment of less than 50. Three high schools are attended by 75 to 99 students; 26 schools by 100 to 199 students; and 27 schools by 200 to 299 students.

A new function of the secondary school—inculcating in American youth a zealous dedication to democracy through contrast of the "American Way of Life" with the Communist ideology — was also suggested by Dr. Studebaker.

Contending "the time has come when we can take no chances on the soundness of our methods of preparing youth for American democratic citizenship," he advocated the teaching of social studies for five periods a week throughout high school (grades 9 through 12), even if it meant "lengthening somewhat the pupils' school day or week," or eliminating other subjects.

Before revisions in the high school system can be made, however, the commission will call on the nation's high schools to report on their "student holding power." This will reveal the reasons pupils leave school, and spotlight courses which are most stimulating to students.

The Commission will then select pilot schools in local school systems to serve as demonstration centers for other schools within each state. Although pilot schools may begin the experiment of revising the secondary school system in the near future, nationally the full impact of the plan may not be felt for a decade, educators believe.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and sincere appreciation to our relatives and friends for their kind expressions of sympathy. Mass offerings and beautiful floral tributes at the funeral of our beloved son and brother, Jim. We are especially grateful to the priests of St. Teresa's Church, American Legion Post No 138, Summit Elks, Veterans of Foreign Wars, to the Honor Guards and Pallbearers, also to E. P. These events made front page news last week in the nearby community papers.

The Madison zoning board gave a green light last week for development of an 11-acre tract as a garden department project to house 158 families. Earlier this year another large garden department unit was completed.

The Springfield Township Committee flatly denied any responsibility in payment of a $2 fee charged by Overlook Hospital for treatment of burns to a motorist after his car had turned over when he swerved to avoid hitting a dog crossing the street. The driver claimed that the town, as official guardian of stray mutts, should foot the bill. The town took the stand that it had not yet gone to the dogs.

A Maplewood meat market announced that it will sell meat at wholesale prices, plus a weekly service charge, provided at least 500 persons sign up for the service. So far, the market said, 167 meat-starved families beat a path to the door to be charter customers.

A delegation of Chatham Borough residents stormed a Council meeting to demand storm sewers. The irate homeowners said they were sick and tired of becoming flood victims after every rainfall.

Bloomfield dusted off a 14-year-old ordinance so that police could peek into tavern windows and see what was going on. By putting the public eye on tipplers, it is claimed that law violations will drop. Venetian blinds and painted windows will now cost local publicans a $200 fine.

Three Ridgewood kids are still speechless after a surprise visit from Santa Claus who literally dropped in on them in a helicopter. The kids were playing football when a red helicopter landed in their midst and out stepped Santa. The Old Gent, it seems, had a date to arrive at an Englewood department store, got mixed up on his bearings, and just dropped down to re-chart his course.

The Town of Washington has blossomed forth with an official flag. The flag has 13 red and white stripes, 21 stars (for the 21 counties of the state) and a picture of George Washington. Adopted officially by the Common Council, the flag now makes Washington one of the few municipalities in the state with its own banner.

Gloom descended on Orange city employees when it was revealed that the city cupboards are bare and there will be no Christmas bonus. City officials enthusiastically supported the idea of granting a bonus until a wet-blanket tosser asked where the money would come from. A hasty glance at the municipal check book showed that the bonus will be just an idea.

Metered-taxicabs made their debut in Glen Ridge last week. The company operating the cabs now gives a metered rate of 25 cents for the first three-fifths of a mile and 10 cents for each additional two-fifths, or fraction thereof. The unmetered rate was 35 cents up to one and one-half miles and 50 cents for more than that distance.

friend of former Mayor G. Harry Cullis of Summit. After the war, Mr. Maguire returned to Ireland, married, and came to Summit about 42 years ago.

Mr. Maguire, appointed as a paid fireman on March 10, 1910, saw the change from the horse drawn engines to motors. He was a driver with the Union Hose Co., retiring on March 1, 1939. Prior to 1910, he served as a volunteer fireman.

In addition to his wife, Mrs. Margaret Maguire, he is survived by five daughters and a sister. His daughters are: Mrs. Thomas J. Murray, Mrs. Henry McTernan, Mrs. Albert G. Stefanic, Mrs. Wilbur Swindon and Miss Elizabeth Maguire, all of Summit. His sister, Mrs. Frank Wilcox, is a resident of Basking Ridge.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 9 a. m. from the A. A McMamara Funeral Home on Summit avenue. A solemn high mass will follow at 9:30 a. m. at St. Teresa's Church. Interment will be in St. Teresa's Cemetery.

Summit Lodge No. 1246, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will hold lodge services at the funeral home at 8 o'clock tonight.

Mrs. Mary Garry

Mrs. Mary Garry, 78, died at the home of her son, James P. Garry of Pleasantville, N. Y., who for nearly 10 years was a resident of Summit.

In addition to her son, Mrs. Garry is survived by three grandsons, James, Jr., Joseph and Jay Garry.

Burial was at Dalton, Mass., where she lived before coming to New Jersey.

Calvary Church Will Repeat Yule Program

"Adeste Fideles" will be given again this year at Calvary Episcopal Church Sunday, December 21, at 4:30 p. m. and will be open to the public. More than 700 people saw this Christmas pageant last year and there have been many requests to repeat the production.

The pageant, written by Louise Ayres Garnett, begins with an unusual processional, and includes musical gems of old Europe for voice and organ. Among these is the Czechoslovakian "Rocking Song," sung by the children at the stable door and an English adaptation from the German of Wonnegerger's "The Angels Come From Their Heavenly Home."

The audience is carried by the action through the disappointment of the Holy Couple at the refusal of the innkeeper to take them when he would take those with riches, to the final manger scene. The announcement to the shepherds, the carrying of the good tidings by them, the arrival of the children, the wise men, the peasant women and the fishermen, bearing gifts for the new born child, flow on in a combination of music, color and form with the spoken word.

Mrs. John S. Tennant, 2nd, is directing the production assisted by Mrs. C. B. White. The costuming has been done by Mrs. P. R. Tilson.

Central Church Groups Plan Activities

Among Central Presbyterian Church's coming activities will be an address by Kenneth Kenneth-Smith of Greer School, Dutchess County, N. Y., on the subject "The Parents' Answer to Youth's Moral and Spiritual Illiteracy." Mr. Kenneth-Smith will speak at the monthly supper and meeting of the Couples Club at 7:30 p. m. Sunday.

Couples, who are unable to leave their children, are invited to come singly and persons who cannot get to the supper are urged to come for the address at 8:30 p. m.

The All-Day Sewing Group, which meets on Mondays in the church, will have a silver tea on December 19 at the home of Mrs. William C. Siebert of Summit avenue. Mrs. L. C. Dundon will give readings during the afternoon.

The kiddies will be given Christmas parties at the church. The beginners, aged 3, 4 and 5, will have their party Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Thomas W. Coleman and superintendents of both sessions of the Church School are making the arrangements.

The primary department under the leadership of Mrs. Willis M. Pott aided by her teachers, will give the 6-8-year-olds their party on Wednesday at 3 p. m. Christmas pictures, tableaux and carols will be part of the entertainment. Mothers are invited to both of the kiddies' parties.

Wellesley Club Arranges Annual Christmas Tea

The annual Christmas tea of the New Jersey Wellesley Club will be held at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club in South Orange, at 3 p. m., Tuesday, December 16. Those in charge of arrangements are Mrs. Roland C. Gardner of Chatham, Mrs. Samuel Hammond, Jr., of West Orange and Mrs. Samuel S. Hill, Jr., and Mrs. C. Judd Neal, both of Maplewood.

Undergraduates at Wellesley are invited to attend. A musical program will include Christmas songs by a group of Wellesley Choir members. Refreshments will be served by the hospitality committee, Mrs. Albert Penick of Montclair, chairman, assisted by Mrs. O. N. Auer of Glen Ridge, Mrs. Peter W. Bove of Montclair, and Mrs. J. Gunther of Leonia, formerly of Summit.

Club Women Ask For Class in Advanced Cooking

Forty members of the American Home department of the Fortnightly Club have already signed up for another cooking class at the Public Service kitchen, to begin in the early spring, and to cover advanced cookery.

The session of the current cooking class held last Thursday was attended by 43 members. Mrs. Helen Reilly Clark, assisted by Mrs. Edith Bebre, demonstrated "Gifts from the Kitchen", and gift wrapping, after which lunch and cookies were served.

The three awards were made to Mrs. William L. Hildeburn of Llewellyn road, who won the orange marshmallow dish; Mrs. Howard D. Wright of Euclid avenue, who took home the two pound fruit cake; and Mrs. A. W. Treikschat of Short Hills who won the butter crunch candy.

Christmas Music Deadline Set at December 15

Information pertaining to special music for Christmas services for which publication is desired in the December 25 issue, which will be printed one day earlier, must be received at The Herald editorial office not later than December 15 to insure publication. The short week caused by the Christmas holiday makes it necessary to adhere to a strict deadline.

WSCS Groups Make Reports

The annual fair and dinner held in November at Oakes Memorial Methodist Church netted $905.60, it was reported this week at a meeting of the Woman's Society for Christian Service, sponsors of the event.

At the same meeting the various Circles of the WSCS made annual reports as follows:

Mrs. Donald Cohern's Circle has raised $142.05 and sent four boxes of clothing to Bulgaria, three boxes of miscellaneous supplies to China and one box of toys to Europe.

In Mrs. H. B. Carlson's Circle, $156.26 was raised and a box of toys and clothing was sent to the Henderson Settlement in Kentucky.

Mrs. C. Smith's Circle reported $184 raised and 1,000 cancer dressings made during the year. Mrs. Betty Brenn's Circle raised $163.50 and made 450 diapers and towels for Overlook Hospital. In addition the Circle gave the hospital $7.50 to purchase baby shirts.

Funds from the fair and dinner were received as follows:

Dinner, $226.25; aprons, $162.50; fancy work, $215.30; fortune teller, $4.50; handkerchiefs, $30.80; food booth, $76.40; children's booth, $35; sweater commissions, $8; candy booth, $48; and men's booth, $93.84.

Hadassah to Celebrate Partition of Palestine

Members of the Summit Chapter of Hadassah will meet to celebrate the United Nations decision to partition Palestine. The meeting is scheduled to be held Monday, December 15 at 2:15 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Max J. Shapiro, 24 Tulip street.

The program will include the observance of the Chanukkah festival with the traditional lighting of the candles. A sketch "Rededication" will be presented under the supervision of Mrs. A. Irwin. A program of song will follow.

Handel's "Messiah" Born of Discouragement and Failure

Great music is usually born out of a great human experience; and the Messiah is no exception.

In the year 1685, two outstanding musical geniuses were born—Bach and Handel. While Bach labored in Leipzig, where he wrote melodies for the clavichord and organ that will remain the classic standard for all time, Handel left his native Halle, Saxony, to follow in the steps of Purcell, the noted English composer of the 17th Century. Answering the cry for music, he wrote 44 operas, many odes, serenatas, oratorios — in fact, everything from wedding march to funeral march. He became a distinguished citizen of England.

At the end of 30 years of such composing in London, tragedy struck Handel in a most unexpected way. Instead of receiving cheers and praise for his efforts, Handel watched angry English mobs pull down the placards of his most recent concert, and after tearing them into bits, he saw the mob fling them derisively at the window where he was standing.

Was Heavily In Debt

Faced with an empty opera house and concert hall, Handel found himself 10,000 pounds in debt. Paralysis affected the use of one side. Even imprisonment stared him in the face. Although he was the founder of an English Society of Musicians for the benefit of his colleagues, he was now a man without a friend. Although he had been the composer of music for the King and Queen of England, he was now, in effect, a man without a country. His enemies caleld him a foreigner, a usurper.

Handel knew better than anyone else that his work in England was finished; and he was prepared to leave. As night fell and the mob had dispersed, he dragged himself down the steps to his carriage, ready to go where destiny might lead. Suddenly and unexpectedly, a messenger handed him a note. The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland exhorted Handel to direct a public performance.

Never had Dublin given a composer such a joyous reception! Musicians called and paid their respects. Handel, with the simple heart of a child, was born anew. Now, as he looked from his window, he saw the great body of men and women doing him honor, and crying for utterance in a song of hope and faith. Could one so gifted not respond? Compassion filled Handel's soul. He was one of the people again. Inspired as never before, Handel wrote his monumental work—The Messiah—in 24 days, and dedicated it to his Irish friends.

Guided By Unseen Power

Some unseen power took hold of the composer and guided him along the paths of the Eternal Spirit of Christ. It is said that at the first rehearsal the musicians were awe-struck. Even Handel himself could scarcely fathom the depths of the divine message as expressed in the melody and harmony of the music.

The proceeds of the first performance were dedicated to the debtors in prison. From the first chords on the organ to the glorious Hallelujah Chorus, the audience was spellbound. All Dublin rose to do Handel glory and the years seemed to roll away. Even his enemies in England were silenced; and he was proclaimed England's national composer. The old Titan had conquered at last.

The Messiah, both in message and melody will live forever in the hearts of men and Handel's name will never die. A hundred years after the oratorio was composed, the great Beethoven wrote "Handel is the greatest composer who ever lived"; and Liszt declared the genius of Handel as great as the world itself.

Thus out of life's adversity was born one of man's greatest expressions in song: "And His name shall be called 'Wonderful,' 'Counsellor,' 'Mighty God,' 'Everlasting Father,' 'Prince of Peace'."

Our Lord has told us: "As it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be in the days of the Son of Man." Luke 17-26. In those days we read: "And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth," and, "the earth was filled with violence." Genesis 6, verses 5 and 11. Even so today, between four and five thousand strikes have been recorded in the first year after World War II, and the end is not yet. The worst center of violence now is in Emmanuel's land. The only safety in these perilous times is in: "The Man who is a hiding place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest; as rivers of water in a dry place, as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land." Isaiah 32-2 That man is the man, Christ Jesus.

Baptist Men To Hear Lyons Psychiatrist

Dr. Nathan S. Kline, administrative assistant to the director of physical education at Lyons Hospital, will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the First Baptist Church Men's Club. Dr. Kline will speak on the subject, "The Modern Mental Hospital." The meeting will be held at the church rooms, Wednesday, December 17, at 8:15 p. m.

The speaker is a psychiatrist at the local mental hygiene clinic of the Union County Mental Hygiene Society as well as acting in a similar post at Lyons. A graduate of Swathmore, Dr. Kline received his M.D. from New York University College of Medicine. He has done post-graduate work at Harvard, Rutgers, Princeton and the New School for Social Research.

During the recent war he served with rank of major. He is the author of several professional articles and has written several papers for the American Psychiatric Association, of which he is a member. He is also a member of several other professional organizations.

George B. Martin, president of the Men's Club, will preside at the meeting.

Church Makes Final Plans for 150th Birthday

Final plans for the observance of the 150th anniversary of the New Providence Methodist Church were made last week at a meeting of the board of trustees and the anniversary committee.

At the meeting new chairmen were appointed as follows:

Mrs. William Landmesser and Mrs. John Wright, social activities; Mrs. Ralph Kreisel and Allan Roberts, publicity.

Rev. Herbert Dabinett will be in charge of compiling the history of the church in addition to arranging for all religious programs connected with the celebration.

Put 1947 Power into your car with this brand-new Buick Fireball engine

OWN up. Don't you dream about bossing a hoodful of flashing 1947 Buick Fireball power?

Doesn't your pulse quicken at the thought of nudging the treadle and feeling the surge of lift and determined drive these sleek new babies have?

Then here's something you'll be glad to know about.

You can get a brand-new 1947 engine for your car — a factory-fresh, Fireball straight-eight for any Buick built in the last ten years. It's the selfsame Dynaflash beauty going into new Buicks every day.

You see, we can build engines faster than we can build cars. It's sheet steel, bodies and other parts that are short and that hold back complete automobiles.

So we have these engines right now. We can lift out your present one, lower a gleaming new one in its place, and there you are with one of the keenest, liveliest power plants on the road today, and with a car worth lots more when you're ready to turn it in.

It doesn't take long—far less time than a thorough overhaul. And it usually costs less in the bargain.

So here's your chance to get snappy, powerful 1947 performance. It's next best to getting a new Buick. Drop around and let us give you facts and figures.

"The Messiah" Will Be Given By Central Choir

The most popular portions of "The Messiah" will be sung in the traditional Christmas vesper service, dealing with the advent and birth of Christ, by the choir of Central Presbyterian Church at 4 p.m. Sunday in the church. The choir will be assisted by four soloists. They are: Gladys Kuenta, soprano; Jane Davis, alto; George D. Hoffman, tenor; and Herman Koettner, baritone.

Mrs. Nellie Gordon Blasius, minister of music in Central Church, will direct the singing and will play the accompaniment on the organ.

"The Messiah", an oratorio was composed in 1741 by Georg Friedrich Handel, German composer. The first performance was given the following year in Dublin.

It was announced that "the community" is invited to join the church members in listening to the Christmas selections. Persons are urged to bring their music scores joining with the choir in the final Hallelujah chorus.

Rotary Christmas Party This Year to Benefit Lincoln "Y"

Edward C. Holmes, III, chairman of the Rotary Club's fellowship committee, announced at the club's Monday luncheon that the annual Christmas Party for the Lincoln "Y" would take a somewhat different form this year. Instead of providing a dinner for the youth membership of the association the "Y" leaders would attend the regular luncheon of the club at the YMCA and the usual proceeds of the Christmas party would be devoted to the purchase of needed equipment of the Lincoln Association, probably taking the form of a turntable and microphone for a public address system throughout the Lincoln "Y" building.

Frank H. Pratt introduced the visitors: Clarence D. Yentema of Madison and Robert Williams, guest of Robert O. Peterson.

Andrew Alvarez, manager of the export branch of Ciba Pharmaceutial Products, Inc., was inducted into membership of Harry Gooding.

The speaker was J. Wayne Luther, national sales manager of the House of Mennen, whose subject was "Highlights of the Drug Business." Mr. Luther is a resident of Tall Oaks, New Providence Borough.

Mr. Luther said that the Mennen Company was trying to hold the line and not increase prices of its product having so far been able to absorb increases to it, but that if prices continued to rise the company would have to follow the increase. The company feels that the higher prices go the further they will have to come down. His company not only has its stated check of business but at present makes a quarterly check all along the line.

His company, he said, along with others, continually strives to better its product which it must do. He also stated that in advertising, companies do a great amount of consumer research with the idea of improving it and to find out what the public wants.

Mr. Luther said that in some instances the buying public will do exactly opposite in its buying habits to what personal contact indicates, and cited the men preferred the regular ad appeal to men to the girl appeal as shown in illustrations but that when it came to buying the latter won out. Likewise he said that women stated on personal contact that they preferred the kind of nail polish that was permanent but when it came to buying they would select the popular shade used by some movie actress or society celebrity, whether it was permanent or not.

The speaker was introduced by Robert O. Paterson of the program committee.

Summit Man's Condition Remains Critical

William Marino, 57, of Weaver street, injured in an automobile accident Saturday in Madison, is still unconscious and in critical condition in All Souls Hospital, Morristown, hospital authorities said at press time.

Mr. Marino was a passenger in a car driven by James V. Kane of Edgar street, which was in a collision with a trailer-tractor driven by Frank F. Ford of Madison.

Lindsey-Street Legion Elects Service Officer

At the last regular meeting of Lindsey-Street Post, 322, American Legion, held Tuesday, November 18, Jack Johnson submitted his resignation as post service officer, which was accepted and Robert F. Mack was named by the members of the Post as his successor. Mr. Mack is associate secretary of the Lincoln YMCA. Meetings of the Post are held in the Y building.

In resigning, Mr. Johnson said "I wish to make it clear that this is not an act to shirk a duty that has been thrust upon me; nor is it because I do not feel qualified to perform such duty, but I honestly feel that a job of this type could be handled more efficiently by Mr. Mack who has permanent office facilities and who is available to the public at least six days a week. This being true, he is in a position to render a greater number of services to a greater number of veterans and that certainly is our main policy."

Mr. Mack, in his acceptance, said he wanted the public, especially all veterans regardless of race, creed, religion or color, to know that his office and the facilities of the Lincoln YMCA were at their disposal.

Monday Deadline Set for Mailing Christmas Cards

Dig out that Christmas card list and limber your tongue to lick a lot of stamps Monday because the Post Office says you'd better get all your holiday greeting cards in the mail by Monday evening, or else. The deadline for out-of-State mail was yesterday.

Envelopes and packages may be marked "Do not open until Christmas" if desired, Postmaster Daniel J. Fitzpatrick advises. Such notes are permitted both on parcel post and on regular mail, including Christmas cards sent third-class with 1½-cent stamp. He warned that envelopes of third-class mail may not be sealed, either by licking the flap or by closing with Christmas seals, although Christmas seals may be affixed to the back of the envelopes. The postmaster again urged the mailing of Christmas cards using first class mail in preference to third-class mailing.

Taxpayers' Guide For City Budgets Now Available

A manual which will serve as a guide for local citizen organizations their studies of complex municipal and county budgets was announced today by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

"The local budget has a direct effect upon the local taxpayer's pocketbook," pointed out the Association. "Yet, because of the complexity of the offical budget, individual citizen study is discouraged. Through organization, local taxpayers have been enabled to overcome some of the difficulties that beset individual action. With publication of the Association's budget manual, it is anticipated that organized citizen study and action in the field of local government spending will be further implemented."

Prepared under direction of the Association's Committee on Municipalities, the manual discusses in detail the various items and intricate procedures employed in preparation of municipal budgets. Actual examples of some of the more involved calculations are given.

Pointing out the value of organized citizen study of proposed local spending programs prior to their official adoption, the manual states:

"In many municipalities of New Jersey there are organized local taxpayers associations or other civic organizations which make a year-round study of expenditures and municipal operations. Thus, when the governing body prepares a budget, a committee from the citizens' group may, and should, sit in.

"Even where this close relationship does not exist, the citizens' group, through its study, will have sufficient data to successfully combat any objectionable item at the budget hearing.

"Unorganized individual action, or objections, unsupported by proper information, on the other hand, will not produce effective results. This may be accomplished only through a well-informed, organized group."

Entitled "A Taxpayer Views a Municipal Budget," the manual is designed for use as a key to the proposed local government spending budget in its officially printed form. A limited distribution of the first edition of the manual, which is mimeographed, is available to local taxpayers associations which are studying 1948 budget proposals of their municipal governments. Official adoption of the municipal budget is set by law for 40 days after January 1, and advance work by governing bodies already is under way in most municipalities.

Seal Purchases Finance Work At Bonnie Burn

Purchase of Christmas seals by Union County folk finances a little known but highly important phase of the unceasing fight against tuberculosis, the rehabilitation of those who have been victims of the disease.

Miss Stella O. Kline, executive secretary of the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League, said today the training of patients at the county's Bonnie Burn Sanatorium is wholly supported by the annual seal sale.

In charge of Miss Mary Elizabeth English, the rehabilitation program at Bonnie Burn provides the medium through which patients recovered from the disease, but weakened physically by its effects, may assume a useful, paying place in society. A factory worker, for example, should not return to the task he was doing when he first became ill; lighter work, with adequate illumination and fresh air, is more likely to prevent a recurrence.

A patient's skills are developed through the program of Miss English, positions such persons can fill are found and, after employment is reestablished, a "follow-up" aids in preventing the victim's again becoming afflicted.

The Northwest Territories of Canada, containing 1,309,000 square miles, have a population of only 15,000 people.

Quarter Century Progress Noted In Park Report

From swamp to swimming, from ash dump to azaleas, that is part of the story of The Union County Park Commission, as revealed in a 25-year report which was published this week. It is the first such report since 1930.

The report's 48 pages of text, photographs, and pictorial charts trace the development of the county's 4,470 acres of park land from 1921 to 1946.

Terse paragraphs summarize the development of each park, and explain the operation of each department. A wide range of scenes and activities is covered in 46 photos, including aerial views showing Warinanco Park and adjoining lands before and after development.

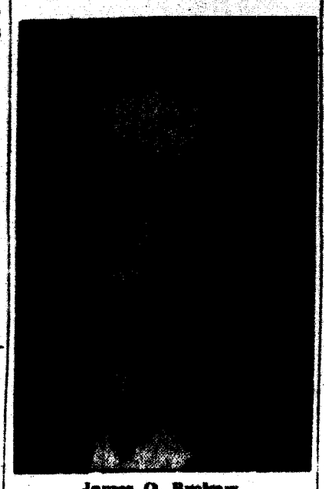

By means of pictographs, statistical information is shown in an interesting and informative manner. Included in these pictorial charts are some which show the growth of Union County, its density of population, growth of the park system, increases in attendance and in assessed valuations of land affected by park development, cost of the parks, and operating and maintenance budgets.

In the closing paragraphs of the report, the Commission points to the need for a change in the Park Maintenance Act to provide more funds for maintaining the park areas as well as for continuing the program of organized recreation that was initiated in 1927.

The report states that the total cost to the taxpayer of all county park funds, including retirement and interest on bonds already issued and the annual maintenance appropriation represents but 2.8 cents of each dollar of taxes paid. It is emphasized that the proposed change would increase this to only 3.4 cents in the next several years.

County residents may get a copy of the 25-year report by writing The Union County Park Commission, Administration Building, Warinanco Park, Elizabeth, by telephoning the Commission at Elizabeth 2-8431, or by coming to the Administration Building any week day.

James O. Brokaw, Second Freeholder To Die Within Week

James O. Brokaw

James O. Brokaw of Elizabeth, for thirty years a member of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, died at his home, 863 Magie avenue, Saturday night. He was the second Freeholder to die within a week. Charles E. Smith of Westfield, another member of the Board, died November 30.

With the death of these two members the remaining seven on the Board are posed with the problem of filling the vacancies for 1948. Their successors will be elected next November for the unexpired terms.

Mr. Brokaw began his services on the Board when it was composed of 25 members and was chosen to smaller board of nine members in 1934. Both he and Mr. Smith were re-elected members in the November election for three year terms.

Born at Elizabeth 83 years ago, Mr. Brokaw lived there his entire lifetime and was long a local Republican leader. For more than fifty years he served as head of a retail fish market, turning over the business to his son, James, 15 years ago.

He served as chairman of the bridges, drainage and flood control committees and was also a member of the public property, grounds and building committees and public welfare, insurance, and purchasing committees.

He is survived by two sons, James, and Dr. Christopher A. Brokaw, who is county physician; two daughters, Miss Helen Brokaw of Elizabeth, and Mrs. Marion Ryerson of Union; also a sister, Mrs. Mae Armitage of Elizabeth.

Funeral services were held yesterday from the residence at 2 p. m. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery.

Therapeutical Use In Hospital of Music Explained

The therapeutical use of music in hospitals, especially for veterans, was explained to Kiwanis by Mrs. Hermine Browne of the Home Mission Council of North America at the club's luncheon last week at the Hotel Beechwood.

The speaker explained that she had to undergo special training in psychiatry before she began her work in hospitals. She declared that music reaches us regardless of how we feel and that it acts as a sedative when pleasing to the individual. Mrs. Browne asserted that the use of music before a patient goes into shock treatment has proven beneficial.

Harlan S. Kennedy, secretary, reported that the club had made $20 profit for its underpriviileged kiddies fund from the club's recent trip to the Giant-Packers football game in New York.

Public Service Corp. Declares Dividends

The board of directors of Public Service Corp. of New Jersey on November 18 declared a dividend of 35 cents a share on the common stock for the fourth quarter of this year, payable on or before December 20 to stockholders of record November 28, making a total of $1.40 per share for the year.

At the same time the board declared the regular monthly dividend for January, 1948, of 80 cents a share on the six per cent cumulative preferred stock, payable on or before January 15 to those of record on December 16.

'Outstanding' Work of Summit Lion Wins Service Award

Summit Lions' first "Outstanding Service" award was presented Salem Boorujy, immediate past president, at the club's weekly luncheon December 4 at the Hotel Suburban.

Third Vice-President Harry Doyle presented Mr. Boorujy with an embossed scroll enumerating the latter's unselfish and professional services as consulting engineer, without the hope of fee or reward, in the planning and constructing of the Lions' Memorial Swimming Pool at the Jamesburg State Home for Boys." The recipient of award also received from his fellow Lions a Swiss wrist watch.

Guests of honor were Lions Frederic Fitch, superintendent of the Jamesburg Home and Adrian Van Ravesteyn of Cranbury, a former governor of District 16-B of Lions and chairman until last year of the Multiple District 16 of New Jersey's Jamesburg Swimming Pool committee.

Lion Fitch, who was formerly associated with Lion Pearce Rogers of Summit Lions Club in his Summit business, spoke of Boorujy's "ability to get things done and of his belief in action rather than words."

Lion Van Ravesteyn responded briefly to an introduction.

W. H. Woodside, secretary of the Summit club, a past president and a past deputy-governor of District 16-A, read a letter from George F. Hall of Cliffside Park, District 16A governor, congratulating Mr. Boorujy on the honor bestowed upon him by the Summit club. The secretary also presented Mr. Boorujy with a colored framed photograph of the latter with Lions Van Ravesteyn and Chairman Harold Quis of the pool committee at the dedication exercises held last October at Jamesburg when the $15,000 gift project of Lions was formally presented.

Other guests at the meeting were Lion Boorujy's brother, George, and President-elect Joseph Zeigner of Summit Kiwanis.

Lions Walter Bluntschli and Woodside comprised the committee who planned the testimonial to Lion Boorujy.

At today's Lions luncheon, the members will make contribution of canned goods for the Navajo Indians of Arizona and New Mexico. Lion George D. V. Nutting is chairman of the committee for this project.

Chairman Kenneth Geddis of the membership committee reports that Carl Piccozzi of Eastern Fuel will be inducted into membership today, raising the club's roster to 46 members.

New Race Group Plans Membership Rally on Sunday

The first in a series of open membership rallies of the Summit chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was announced today for Sunday, December 14 at 3:30 p. m. by Rev. L. C. Riddick, pastor of Fountain Baptist Church and newly-elected chairman of the NAACP.

In the announcement Mr. Riddick stated that this meeting would be held at the Lincoln YMCA and would present Rev. Thomas Kilgore, pastor of Friendship Baptist Church in New York City as speaker. Mr. Riddick further said that the speaker is considered one of the most dynamic young ministers in the country; and formerly served as executive secretary of the General Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. He urges the general public not to miss this outstanding program, which will also feature the choirs of Pilgrim Baptist and Wallace Chapel AME Zion Churches.

Booker T. Moore, program chairman for these monthly series, said that many other outstanding speakers and personalities are to be scheduled; which will be announced at the December 14 series.

Other officers of the Summit Chapter granted by the National office of the NAACP in New York are: Oscar Dennis, vice-president, Mrs. Cossie Curtis, secretary; Mrs. Arthur Hardy, recording secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Freeman, treasurer; Robert F. Mack, public relations chairman, who is associate secretary of the Lincoln YMCA, and Mrs. Gertrude Coombs, membership chairman.

The public of Summit and adjacent communities is invited to meetings.

Vincent O'Neils Leaving For Palm Beach This Week

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent O'Neil of Short Hills will leave this week for Palm Beach, Fla., where they will stay until a few days before Christmas.

Mr. O'Neil, manager of the Hotel Suburban, Summit, has announced that he has severed all connections with the hotel system and that his plans for the future are indefinite.

A member of the Suburban staff since 1932, he served with the rank of captain in the Army and was adjutant of a 2,000-bed general hospital in New Guinea.

Last May he married the former Miss Betty Byrnes of Short Hills who was author of the "On the Night Side" column for the Newark Sunday News.

Mr. O'Neil is a member of the Summit Rotary Club, Canoe Brook Country Club and the Summit Chamber of Commerce.

The Croyders are now moving out of the house and will stay for a few days with Mrs. W. C. I. Stiles of Rowan road before going to spend the winter with relatives in Prince Georges County, near Washington. They will return to Summit next summer. Their daughter, Polly, will be the guest during the winter, while she continues her studies, of the MacDaniels, who will move into the house on Saturday.

Former Summit Girl Is Married In Madison Church

Miss Jo-Ann McKee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. McKee of New York City, formerly of Manley court, Summit, was married to Franklin A. McGee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene McGee of Cissoto, Indiana, Saturday afternoon at 3:00 at the Madison Presbyterian Church with the pastor, Rev. John W. Parks officiating. A reception was held at Hotel Suburban, Summit.

Miss Ruth Chegwidden of Chatham and Miss Phoebe Murray of New York City were the bride's attendants. Hillis McGee of Washington, D. C. was his brother's best man.

The bride was gowned in white satin, her tulle veil falling from a cap of seed pearls, and she carried white roses and pompon chrysanthemums.

The maid of honor wore fuchsia faille and the bridesmaid was in emerald green faille. Both had bouquets of fall flowers.

Mrs. McGee attended the Summit public schools and studied dramatics. Mr. McGee is recently separated from the Army. The couple will live in New York.

Guests from Summit included Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Koerner and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Haworth, all of Colony drive.

Susan H. Reinoehl Is Engaged to Edwin F. Flindell

Richard Michael Reinoehl of Hotel Beechwood announces the engagement of his daughter, Susan Hauer Reinoehl, to Edwin Frederick Flindell, 3rd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Flindell, Jr., of Oak Ridge avenue.

Miss Reinoehl attended Lincoln School, Buenos Aires, and Santiago College, Chile, and is at present a junior at Swarthmore College.

Mr. Flindell graduated from Yale University and is specializing in graduate work for a musical scholarship and piano at Hanover, New Hampshire. Mr. Flindell served in the U. S. Army Air Forces as an Air Cadet for 22 months.

The plans are for a February wedding.

Will Sing in College Candlelight Service

Miss Mary Hyde of 84 Mountain avenue, a freshman at Wheelock College, Boston, has been selected from the 75-voice college Glee Club to join in the a capella choir for a college candlelight service to be held on Tuesday at the Second Church in Brookline, Mass.

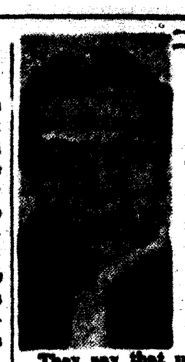

The college, which prepares teachers of young children, is seeking a building fund of $500,000 for additional facilities for its four-year program.

Miss Hyde is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reed W. Hyde of the above address.

Senior Class, Carteret School, Dance Saturday

The Senior Class of Carteret School, West Orange, will hold its annual dance on Saturday from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m., in the school's gymnasium. Bud Laird's orchestra will play.

I'm Talking About

by Dorri Irwin

They say that up North Santa and his gremlins are working overtime . . . high productivity is the slogan. Old Kris is already briefing his trusty reindeers on their jolly midnight journey. Things are really humming and set to go ...

While back home it would seem the folks are saying, "the spirit is willing but the pocketbook isn't" . . . and how true.

The high cost of living is one thing...but mainly, I think, it's the many things we can buy today that cuts short our buying power for any particular item. During the war there weren't many things we could purchase for our money.

Now if we're not paying for that new car, it's a refrigerator or a washing machine or a radio . . . or any number of items we are apt to find necessary to the maintenance of the family . . . Ready cash becomes short.

That's why, at deLeon's, so many of our customers have taken advantage of our Budget Payment Plan. It's a simple plan. Instead of paying at once for your Christmas purchases you 'charge them' . . . and have ten weeks to pay.

For instance, you decide to shop for Mom and sis . . . or girl friend, and you spend $20. Instead of paying the full amount all at once you arrange for 10 weekly payments of $2 plus a small service fee (12c in this instance). The merchandise is yours . . . it's as easy as that.

Yes, the "spirit is willing" and you can shop for Christmas on de Leon's Budget Payment Plan and ring in the Yuletide season. Hosiery, lingerie, and sportswear at prices you can afford. de Leon, Summit's shop for women. 436 Springfield Avenue. —adv.

Orange Club to Hear Beard School Glee Club

The Senior Glee Club of the Beard School will present a program of Christmas music at the next meeting of the College Club of the Oranges. Arthur Laubenstein is the choral instructor and director of the Glee Club.

The meeting will be held on Monday afternoon, December 15, in the Munn Avenue Presbyterian Church at 2 o'clock. The hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Alfred W. Pennington and Mrs. Donald M. Caldwell.

Community Chorus Will Offer Majestic Music at Yule Concert Wednesday

The ambitious program announced for the Christmas concert of the Community Chorus to be given Wednesday, December 17, at 8:15 p. m. in Calvary Episcopal Church, will reflect the serious interest of its members and the thorough preparation given them. Some of the greatest composers are represented. The concert is open to the public.

Johann Sebastian Bach furnishes two numbers. A court organist about 200 years ago, Bach wrote over 250 works, all of which were specifically composed for a special Sunday of the church year. These cantatas usually follow a traditional pattern, established by him, beginning and ending with a large chorale movement, the middle portion being devoted to solos and recitatives. One of these will be presented by the chorus and one of his pastorales will be played by the string orchestra during the interlude.

As Bach is the towering musical giant of the Protestant Church, so is Palestrina of the Catholic Church. He devoted his entire life to the service of the church, composing over 250 motets and 93 masses. The motet chosen for this concert, for double chorus, is also the Christmas story and indicates clearly what historians mean when they call Palestrina's period "The Golden Age of Music—the 16th Century."

Mozart, sometimes called the greatest single musical genius in musical history, in addition to composing operas, symphonies, and solo works for instruments and voice, also wrote many great religious works for choruses. The Mass in C Major, included in the program, was written for a religious festival near Salzburg. It will be sung in Latin, with an English translation on the printed program.

The full program is:

Motet "Hodie Christus Natus Est" — Giovanni da Palestrina (1524-1594)

Four Christmas Carols — Traditional

2—Gloria
3—Credo
4—Sanctus
5—Benedictus
6—Agnus Dei

Art Show's Last Day Will be Open House Carol Sing

The Summit Art Association will present its annual Christmas carol program at the Art Gallery on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with the public invited to an open house as usual at this time in December.

Sunday will also be the last day that the exhibition of members' work will be on view. The show includes 85 works and fills all available space at the galleries.

Members and their friends are invited to bring box suppers. Coffee will be provided.

The Christmas music will be sung by a group of six singers from this area. They are Mrs. Frederick S. Goucher and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth L. Goucher, and Mrs. Richard M. Bozorth and her daughter, Mrs. Eugene Beyer, all of Short Hills. Warren Mathews of Summit, and Frank Crutchfield of Florham Park.

The program will include: "Wachet Auf" and "Rejoice and Sing," by Bach; "O Magnum Mysterium," William Byrd; "Coventry Carol," Old English (1591); "Sing Me Noel Once More," Bas Quercy Carol; "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen," traditional; "Jesu! Rex Admirabilis," Palestrina; "Song of the Nuns of Chester," medieval; "I Wonder as I Wander," Appalachian carol, arranged by J. J. Niles; "Praise God, Extol Him," Norwegian Folk Carol (1665); "Angels o'er the Fields," Old French Carol; "Bethlehem," William Billings.

At the end of the program the audience will be invited to join in group singing of carols led by Mrs. Bozorth at the piano. The music was selected by the committee of which Mrs. Goucher is chairman.

William Hovgaard Celebrates 90th Birthday

William Hovgaard, retired professor of naval architecture at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, celebrated his 90th birthday last Friday at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ole M. Hovgaard of Murray Hill. He received many letters and telegrams from former students and naval officers, and entertained callers. Mr. Hovgaard took his usual daily walk which covers one or two miles.

Retiring in 1933 from MIT, Mr. Hovgaard became a private consulting engineer, giving that activity up only four years ago.

Among his decorations he has two gold medals, one from the British Institute of Naval Architects and the other from the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers. He received his early training at the Royal Navy College at Cambridge, England, and was for years a naval officer. He is now engaged in writing treatises on physics and its relation to the peace movement.

Pledged to Society At Rochester University

Wesley G. Baker of 227 Mountain avenue was recently pledged to Theta Delta Chi fraternity at the College for Men of the University of Rochester.

A freshman at the university, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Gilbert Baker. He is the holder of a Rotary Scholarship with a maximum value of $200.

Mr. Baker is a graduate of the Summit High School, where he was active in football, and was a member of the service committee.

Music Students Will Hear "Die Meistersinger"

Class 11 of the Summit School of Music will hear "Die Meistersinger" at the Metropolitan Opera House Saturday, chaperoned by Mrs. Helen Crystal Bender, director. Those who will attend include James Barrett, Bill Edgar, Donnis Birchard, Nancy Moyer, Ann Reeves, Anne Waterson, Jean d'Este, all of Summit, Ned Wallace, Roxanne Elmquist and Philip Winterer of Short Hills and Lucille Stansberry of Maplewood.

Vets' Fraternity To Give Dance

Gamma Iota Alpha, veterans' fraternity of Union Junior College of Cranford, will hold its second annual fall dance Saturday night at Hotel Suburban. Ned Hitchcock and his Esquires will furnish the music.

Officers were elected at a recent meeting at the college recreation rooms. They were: Michael Zotti, Summit, president; Robert Drake, Plainfield, vice-president; Grant A. Smith, recording secretary; Al Albert L. Wenz, Roselle, executive secretary; and Clarence Menzer, Cranford, treasurer.

Last week the campus became "Dogpatch" for "Sadie Hawkins Day", when hundreds of Union Junior College students cavorted through the halls and across the grounds attired in costumes out of the funny papers. Li'l Abners, Daisy Maes, Pappy, Mammy, and a lot of lowdown Scraggs. In the afternoon the Sadie Hawkins Day race was held and Joe Curka of Plainfield, as "Marrying Sam" was kept busy hitching the couples. A dance was held in the evening.

The holiday was sponsored and planned by the student council.

Methodist Group Will Hear Indian Educator

E. P. Sinha, one of a group of Indian education leaders now taking courses at American universities, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Twenty-Thirty Club of the Methodist Church at 6:30 p. m. Sunday.

In India, Mr. Sinha is senior supervisor of physical education and is active in numerous organizations. He is also the author of several books.

Student on Dean's List

Miss Ann Kimball, a graduate of Summit High School, Class of 1947, now attending Colby Junior College, according to a notice received at the high school, is on the dean's list for this semester.

TESTIMONY OF 34 YEARS SERVICE—Frederick C. Kentz, attorney, is here seen in his Springfield avenue office, holding the plaque presented him last week by Common Council and Mayor Maxwell Lester, Jr. The plaque testifies to Mr. Kentz having completed 34 years of continuous service as city clerk and 15 years as city solicitor, which posts he resigned last year in the "best interests of his health."

Buffet Supper Is Planned for Music Students

Henrietta M. Heath will entertain with a buffet supper for members of the senior group at her studio on Lorraine place, upon their return from the concert at the Mosque Theatre on Sunday, December 21. She will be assisted by Thomas A. Faughnan Jr., of Juilliard Institute, New York.

Those who will attend the concert and supper will include Margaret Jagger, Nancy Golding, Carol Ann Haskew, Gail Martin, Prudence Curtis, Louise Ann Kohler, Jean Edwards, Sylvia Carlson, Dolly Dempsey, Barbara Decker, Patricia Kiernan, Rowland Prestwick, Ronald Lindquist, James Edwards, Paul Carlson, Jonathan Murphy, William Tennant, Robert Knowlton, Geoffrey Cant, Robert Marsh, and Lee Ann Muller.

Summit Girl Heard In Christmas Concert

Miss Jean Naramore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Naramore of 46 Beverly road, was a member of the University of Illinois, (Urbana - Champaign), chorus which presented Handel's "Messiah" in the annual Christmas concert last Sunday night on the university campus.

Miss Naramore is an alto in the chorus of 110 voices. She is a student in the College of Fine and Applied Arts.

Brayton School to Have Christmas Party Tomorrow

A Christmas entertainment for children of the Brayton school and their parents will be held Friday evening, December 12, at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium. Rev. David K. Barnwell, D.D., pastor of First Baptist Church, will tell a Christmas story. There will be a processional by the school vested choir and the children will sing Christmas carols.

Brayton boys and girls have been giving generously to the Christmas fund they are collecting. Their project is to supply food baskets for needy families in Summit.

Service Group Collects Gifts For Teen-Agers

The Children's Service Committee of the Family and Children Society of Union County met on Monday, December 1 at the home of Mrs. John Roi, Plainfield. Christmas gifts were brought in by the members for the teen-agers under the care of the society.

Members who attended from Summit were Mrs. Bertram N. Miller, Mrs. Wilbur E. Mougey, Mrs. Clark N. Snyder, Mrs. Judson C. Travis, Mrs. Ray Walker and a guest, Mrs. Raymond Jordan.

Funds were turned over to Miss Jean Lucas for the furtherance of her work in the Family and Children's Society. Further plans were made for the letter of appeal which will be sent throughout Union County in February.

The next meeting of the Service Committee will be held April 19 at the home of Mrs. Lester Philip, Westfield.

Service League Gives $250 for Christmas Cheer

Mrs. Walter H. Cox, Jr., president of the Junior Service League of Summit, has announced that the league has increased its usual Christmas contribution to the city welfare director, Mrs. Gertrude Gross, to $250 this year over the customary $200, because of the higher cost of food. The funds will be used for Christmas baskets and other needed help at this season.

The executive board met Tuesday morning at Mrs. Cox's home.

Lyons' Official Praises Y-Teens, USO Hostesses

YWCA members of the Y-Teen Department, who annually sing carols at Lyons Hospital, and Junior USO hostesses, who regularly conduct parties there for the veterans, were commended yesterday for excellent work by Dr. Nathan Kline, Lyons' psychiatrist, who addressed the group at a meeting at "Y" headquarters.

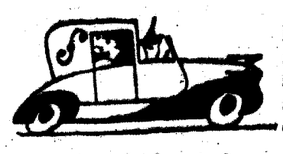

Miss Alice Perlaw, president of the hostess group, declared, "We have been hostessing at two or three parties each week for the last year and members have given of their time loyally for this hospital work."

Active Junior and Senior hostesses will be entertained at a dinner party tonight at Old Mill Inn, Barnardsville, it was announced yesterday by Miss Philamena Kerwin, of the Barnardsville USO office. The affair, Miss Kerwin said, is to express appreciation to the hostesses who have served during the war and post-war years. Awards will be given, she added.

With the end of the year the national USO organization will disband. However, it was announced, that the Summit hostess group will continue their work under the sponsorship of the YWCA.

NEW PROVIDENCE Borough

School Housing Need to Be Stressed at Town Meeting

BOROUGH — Mayor Ellsworth R. Hansell urges a full attendance of taxpayers tomorrow night (December 12) at the "Town Meeting" jointly planned by the Civic Group and the PTA in the Lincoln School auditorium to learn about the need for added school housing facilities.

Allen W. Roberts, supervising principal of schools, in commenting upon the "need" for new school housing, as he will at tomorrow's meeting, said that the school nurse's records show there are 235 youngsters in the borough who will enter the kindergarten over the next five years. This would make an average of 47 students new to the kindergarten. Some years there would be more and other years fewer. All of this influx will result in added crowded conditions, Mr. Roberts declares.

Part Time Classes

Indications now are that the first grade will be placed on a part time basis next year, inasmuch as there are 61 kindergartners this year, all under one teacher.

Judged by the building plans filed by developers, it is expected there will be many more homes here in another year, thus making the above figures an understatement of the overcrowded conditions which school authorities here have been studying for the past two years. Councilman John Wright recently declared at a Borough Council meeting that single dwelling construction for this year here would probably be 200 per cent over what it was last year.

The Board of Education has long recognized that the problem now faced in the borough over school housing, is typical of the one faced by thousands of communities over the nation because of the increased birth rate.

Plans to Be Offered

It is expected the Board of Education, as the result of a two year survey, will present plans tomorrow for the solution of the school housing problems. The board is being guided in its deliberations by Fred Elsasser of Union, nationally known school architect.

Mr. Roberts explains that the history of education in the borough since 1768 has had "one common thread," that of periodic overcrowding of school facilities. He said this occurred in 1822, 1869, 1907, 1916 and 1926.

No Bonded Indebtedness

The Board of Education points with pride to the fact that the district now has no bonded indebtedness on school housing. The last bond on Lincoln School was paid off two years ago and burned. This school, now 40 years old, was originally built as a four-room structure.

At practically every school election passing upon the problem of added school housing, the question in most instances had to be placed on the ballot two or three times before final passage.

School authorities are "hopeful that today by proper discussion of the probelm, plus the interest of parents and friends of the school in education and the enriched offerings," the problem of added school housing will be recognized and that there will be no waiting "until the children suffer educationally."

Rev. Herbert F. Dabinett of the Methodist Church will serve as moderator at tomorrow's Town Meeting. All of those responsible for the meeting join in the hope that citizens will be desirous of ascertaining the facts and act in what thy believe will be the best interests of public education here.

Monday night through the help of school children a "Town Crier" was delivered to every home in the borough detailing tomorrow's program.

Poor Visibility Causes Plane to Land in Borough

BOROUGH — Police report that a number of curious were attracted late Sunday afternoon by a plane that landed on a field owned by Arthur C. Doty of South street. The plane was en route from Valley Forge, Pa., to Rockaway Airport, N. Y. The pilot, Bernard Feiner of Brooklyn, said his action was a "precautionary landing" forced by poor visibility.

A passenger, Dr. Leo Mackta, a Brooklyn dentist, had just purchased the plane in Valley Forge and was taking it "home." Neither man was injured. Damage was limited to the propellor.

Numerous drainage ditches and the shortness of the field made it impossible to fly the two-seater from its landing place. A truck was used to remove the plane to a private airfield in Dover, Sunday night.

One of the spectators jokingly said Mr. Doty should establish an airport on his land because the Brooklyn man's plane was the fifth to land on the same spot in the past six years.

Mr. Doty, who heard the plane circling his field, reached it as the men, both pilots, crawled out. Mr. Feiner said he didn't make a habit of emergency landings, when asked if his Sunday event was his first.

Engine trouble and lack of gas caused two of the previous landings here. Others said the spot looked like a landing field.

Hold on Second Spot Bolstered By Men's Club

BOROUGH — The Men's Club of the Borough Bowling League strengthened its hold on second place December 3 by taking two out of three against the third place Five Aces. The first place M. & M. Club, defending champions, maintained a two-game lead by defeating the Sportsmen's Club in two.

Firemen "A" swept against the American Legion, New Providence Post 433. These clubs prevailed in two matches out of three; Paca Club over Firemen "B," Junior Order "A" over Firemen "C" and Junior Order "B" over B & L.

Parlapiano of the Paca Club won individual honors for the week, rolling 224 for high single game honors and 598 for the three game series honors.

tion. Mrs. Nulton responded with a number of humorous readings. Others responding briefly to introduction were Frank Jacques, deputy surrogate and Grover Tranor, deputy county clerk and treasurer of the Union County Republican Committee. Mrs. Hand and Mrs. Jacques acknowledged introductions as did Jacob R. Mantel, president of Summit Bar Association; Peter C. Triolo, solicitor for the City of Summit and New Providence Township Committeeman Anton C. Swenson and Charles M. Monica.

President Frank A. Pizzi of the Republican club was master of ceremonies. He spoke briefly on the part the Republican Committee here and the club took in "good government."

G. Russell Vanderhoof, former councilman and member of the Republican Committee, addressing himself to Pascoe and Hand asked that more consideration be given to patronage for "this end of the county."

Prominent among the 125 at the dinner were many civic leaders from the Borough and Township of New Providence. Besides those mentioned elsewhere in this paper were President Charles Johnson of the Borough Planning Board, Chief of Police Harry High of the borough, Chief of Police D. V. Russo of the township; Thomas C. Musson, borough clerk; William C. Russo, township clerk; E. M. Dotten, borough tax assessor; Edward G. Miller, borough tax collector and managing agent for the vets' housing, and A. C. Hoffman, school commissioner and police recorder.

Mayor and Wife Elected Head Of Social Club

BOROUGH—The Methodist Social Club at its Friday night meeting elected Mayor and Mrs. Elsworth R. Hansell co-presidents for the coming year. The newly elected presidents together with Councilman and Mrs. John S. Wright were hosts for the meeting which was held at the parsonage.

Thoger Jungersen, Jr. showed colored films of scenes taken throughout the United States which he had taken to show relatives in Denmark.

A number of new members were received. Besides the above, those in attendance included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Best, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Bittrich, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Borden, Rev. and Mrs. Herbert F. Dabinett, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ehrhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Engleman, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Janssen, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kreisel, Mr. and Mrs. William Loffler, Mr. and Mrs. George Oppenheimer, Mr. and Mrs. John Osmun, Mr. and Mrs. Allen W. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schenk, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wald, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilbur Wahl, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Wenman.

Garden Club to Make Christmas Wreaths for Lyon

At the annual meeting of the Summit Garden Club, held in November at the home of Mrs. Livingston P. Moore, the following members were elected to office: Mrs. Harold S. Bell, president; Mrs. Edward B. Twombly, first vice-president; Mrs. Frank L. Hughes, second vice-president; Mrs. Hector C. Griswold, corresponding secretary; Miss Elizabeth Gifford, recording secretary; Mrs. Livingston P. Moore, treasurer.

Work done by the Summit Garden Club in the community, the State and the Garden Club of America, is carried on by the following committees—program, horticulture, camp and hospital, conservation and billboards, flower show, International flower show, slides and publicity.

The Garden Club has just finished the planting around the Veteran's homes on Broad street, and through the Camp and Hospital Committee, the club supplies flowers for the Veterans' Hospital at Lyons. As part of this program, members will make fifty Christmas wreaths to be sent to Lyons for the holiday season.

Hearing Bells? Pay No Heed, It's Telephone Progress

Are you one of the folks who've been making telephone calls and been hearing sounds on the line recently like someone playing a piccolo?—or like an old-time circus calliope in the distance?

The New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. says there are musical notes on the lines all right but it isn't a "music on the wires" innovation. It's a new method the engineers have developed to speed switching of calls between north Jersey telephone exchanges which are not directly linked by trunk lines.

Sounds like "bee-bo-bah-bee-bip-boo-bo-peep" are heard on calls to certain areas from about two dozen non-dial exchanges in the northern part of the State. The telephone company explains that when you make such a call, the operator, instead of repeating it vocally to another operator, telegraphs it by punching push keys in front of her at the switchboard. Electronic gadgets change the number into rapid series of audio frequencies which you hear in your receiver as musical tones.

These notes flash to Newark to a new dial-type switching center which the telephone people have dubbed Jersey Tandem. It serves as an automatic relay station, setting up inter-exchange connections with a speed close to that of local service.

The audio frequencies used with the new system are spaced at 700, 900, 1,100, 1,300, 1,500 and 1,700 cycles per second—standard "A" on the piano is 440 cycles per second. Each letter and numeral of a telephone number uses a combination of two of these frequencies. At Jersey Tandem, electronic detectors rearrange them so they reach their destination as numbers again.

Garden Club to Hold Yule Meeting Monday

BOROUGH — The Christmas meeting of the New Providence Garden Club will be held Monday at Borough Hall. This will be all-day meeting devoted to making wreaths for the Veterans Facility at Lyons. Work will start at 10 a. m. Members will bring box luncheons and equipment and material for making wreaths. Mrs. E. L. High is in charge of the program. Hostesses will be Mrs. F. B. Brereton, Mrs. C. M. Blackhall, Mrs. J. F. Laverty, and Miss Helen Armstrong

Roberts Attends County Safety Group Meeting

BOROUGH—Allen W. Roberts, supervising principal of schools, in his capacity as one of the two members of the Borough's Highway Safety Coordinating Committee, attended the meeting of the County Coordinating Committee in the Courthouse at Elizabeth on Thursday. He heard Arthur W. Magee, State commissioner of motor vehicles, advocate mandatory fines of $10, $15 or $25 for all cases of speeding or reckless driving as a great deterrent to the would-be-violator of traffic laws.

6.3 Per Cent of Borough Voters Among Missing

BOROUGH — Eighty-five registered voters here had their sample ballots returned to the Courthouse in Elizabeth after the November 4 general election and were marked "Moved" or "Not at This Address," according to records of the Union County Board of Elections who are now doublechecking to find what has happened to the addressees.

The "missing" voters numbering 6.3 per cent of the registered voters is considered small and is under the 8 per cent average for the county.

Approximately 50 per cent of the voters represented by this unopened mail will be "discovered" at new addresses through a check of police records and individual transfer requests made after the close of the registration period, it was explained by the County Board. The remainder will be listed according to the two voting districts here and advertised in newspapers prior to the close of the next registration period in the spring.

Aid in Backing Police School Urged on County

BOROUGH — Recently in praising the Union County Chiefs of Police for their work in establishing and conducting a school in Westfield for police instruction, Mayor Ellsworth R. Hansell pointed out that the Union County Board of Freeholders "could be of real service in backing the efforts of the police chiefs."

Exempt Firemen Elect Fischer

Cadillac

MATCHLESS

If Cadillac cars were built largely "by hand," in the Old World tradition, it is impossible to estimate what one might cost. Only when meticulous precision has been wedded to mass production, is it possible to bring so fine a car within reach of so many people. When you see the numerous Cadillacs on our streets and highways, you are witnessing a tribute to America's industrial supremacy.

If you are waiting for a new Cadillac—please be assured that every effort is being made to further production. Demand is so great, however, that some delay in delivery is still inevitable. But hold to your purpose! There is no substitute for a Cadillac.

NEW PROVIDENCE Township

Chief Named As Fire Inspector; Road Code Asked

TOWNSHIP — The Township Committee at its December 3 meeting established a new office of fire inspector and named the fire chief to take over those duties at an annual salary of $100. The present Fire Chief is John Amodeo. The new office was set up after a suggestion offered by Township Committeeman Charles M. Monica, chairman of the fire committee. Action was unanimous in creating the new office.

The duties of the fire inspector, it was agreed, will be to make inspections every three months of all industrial plants, public buildings, schools and other public institutions within the township limits.

The fire inspector will be required to make sketches of the building inspected, showing entrances and other possible fire exits, and note the nature of the business, particularly if chemicals are used in the manufacturing process in business establishments. These files will be available to local firemen for study.

The new office was established after Anthony G. Castellano of Springfield avenue, operator of a nursing home here, requested that firemen survey the house to determine if any fire hazards were apparent.

Ordinances Introduced

Introduced on first reading was an amendment to the police ordinance which stipulates that the township must provide a complete uniform every three years and a pair of trousers every year, for the police chief and all full-time members of the Police Department. Also introduced was an ordinance to begin condemnation proceedings against property owners in Diamond Hill road needed for the widening of that thoroughfare.

The New Jersey State Patrolmen's Benevolent Association through its president, Howard J. Devaney, requested the Committee to consider the possibility of setting a minimum annual salary of $3,000 for patrolmen. The letter was put aside for study.

Turned over to the planning and zoning committee for consideration was a communication from Albert H. Bierman, legal representative for H. M. Kent, who requested that New York and Brooklyn Avenues paper streets on his property in Mountain Ave., be vacated.

Everett Smith, a representative of the Blue Mountain Farms Association, presented the committee with a copy of a road code recently adopted by Summit. Mr. Smith indicated the code may be helpful to the township in the event a similar document is considered for this municipality.

Township Committeeman P. L. Proctor, planning and zoning committee chairman, reported progress on the compilation of a new sanitary code. He said additional information is needed before work is started on a plumbing code.

Mr. Monica reported a Christmas party for township children December 23 in the Church of the Little Flower, Plainfield avenue. Moving pictures will be shown and candy distributed to the participants.

Township Committee Chairman George W. Robbins, Jr. reported the installation of radio equipment in the police cars. Cost of the equipment, which was installed by Frank Linder of Fanwood, totaled $1,310.

Monica Attends County Safety Group Meeting

TOWNSHIP — Township Committee Charles M. Monica, chairman of the roads committee, acting in his capacity as a member of the Township Highway Safety Coordinating Committee, attended a meeting Thursday in the Courthouse in Elizabeth of the County Highway Safety Committee. Mr. Monica points out that this was the first session of the new agency, part of a State-wide setup, created on a municipal level to combat highway accidents.

Township Has Highest Per Cent Of Missing Voters

TOWNSHIP—Records of the Union County Board of Elections reveal that New Providence Township had the highest percentage in the county of its registered voters whose sample ballots were returned to the Courthouse in Elizabeth after the November 4 general election and which were marked "Moved" or "Not at This Address."

The township's proposition of returns was 14.8 per cent. The number of ballots returned was 183.

Approximately 50 per cent of the voters represented by this unopened mail will be discovered at new addresses through a check of police records and individual transfer requests made after the close of the registration period, an official of the county board explained.

The remainder will be listed according to whichever of the two districts they are in here and advertised in newspapers prior to the close of the next registration period in the spring.

Delias Move into Tie with Chemaco

TOWNSHIP — By taking two out of three from Ianello's Dairy Thursday night, Delias gained a tie for the lead in the Borough-Township Bowling League with Mandato Coal who dropped two to Chemaco. American Asbestos defeated Hungerford two to one while the Legion lost two to Romano Roofing.

Frank Anderson of Chemaco won high three game series honors for the week with a gross 568. Charles Clark of the same team gained high single honors with a 213.

Police Report 27 Arrests in November

TOWNSHIP—In his report for November, Chief of Police D. V. Russo, Jr. reported 27 arrests. The report was received December 3 by the Township Committee. The arrests were classified as follows: 12 for speeding, four for careless driving, five for passing school bus, three for not having registration on person while operating car, and two for annoying persons at home. Fifty-seven police calls were received and attended to during the month. Four ambulance calls were received and referred to the Rescue Squad. Two investigations for the Army were completed.

Blue Mt. Farms Continues Fast Kegler Pace

TOWNSHIP—Blue Mt. Farms continued uninterrupted its runaway of the Township Bowling League race November 28 by defeating Union Village in three straight. River Bend swept against Hilltop as did the 8-Ball Club over Free Acres. 3-Bar-S Ranch had to be content with two out of three against Funnel Club.

Smith and Sijas tied for high score for the week with a 193. Tomasetti was the only winner of the evening.

Permits for Three New Homes Total $22,500

TOWNSHIP—The report of Building Inspector Salvatore Del Duca for November submitted December 3 to the Township Committee lists permits for three new homes issued totaling $22,500: Fritz Schade, Old Farm road, $7,500; Eugene Stiles, River road, $7,000 and Oak Park Development Co., Sycamore avenue, $8,000. Alteration permits were issued William J. Gortler, object unspecified, Twin Falls road for $500; Robert Peltz, Emerson lane, for a bedroom, $750; Joseph Boronaski, Plainfield avenue, for a roof, $400. Two car garage permits were issued, one to Fritz Schade for $1,000 and the other to Joseph P. Carr, Plainfield avenue for $600.

William Wojech of Hill Top road received a permit to demolish a chicken coop in amount of $50 and Mr. Carr to demolish a barn for $200.

Fees of $66 were received and turned over to Fred C. Riseman, township treasurer.

Kidneys Must Work Well-
For You To Feel Well
24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.
If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.
Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.
Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

THREE GRAND MEALS

CHOOSE CHEESE
Cheese is plentiful, economical and packed with protein, calcium and riboflavin of the vitamin B family. Cheese has a flavor that satisfies and is an energy food. Cheese is good for any meal from main dish to dessert. Use cheese as a main dish often. Here's how! Baked with Macaroni—in casseroles with vegetables—in salads—in omelets—in souffles and with fish. Try this recipe today.

VEGETABLE CHEESE-PIE
Pastry (2 crust recipe)
3 tbs. butter or margarine
3 tbs. flour
1½ cups milk
½ lb. American Cheese
½ ts. dry mustard
salt, pepper
1½ cups cooked peas
½ cup cooked small whole onions
1 cup cooked sliced celery
parsley

Line a round shallow baking dish (6½ x 2 in.) with pastry. Roll our remaining pastry and cut into a circle a little smaller than the baking dish. Place on a baking sheet and cut into three pie-shaped pieces. Decorate center of each by cutting out part of pastry with a fancy cutter. Bake these pieces and the pastry shell in a hot oven, 425°, 15 minutes or until lightly browned.
Make a cream sauce with the butter or margarine, flour and milk. Add the cheese cut into several pieces, and stir until it is melted. Add the mustard, with salt and pepper to taste. Add the peas, onions, and celery, and mix lightly. Pour into the baked shell, cover with the pastry cutouts, and place in a moderate oven, 350°, to heat through. Garnish with parsley.

Sports' Sidelights

SUBURBAN CONFERENCE BASKETBALL

This year marks Elwood C. Cornog's 22nd year as basketball coach at Summit High School. With a very few exceptions, Cornog's teams have always been "well up" there in the final standings of the Suburban Conference. In fact, his teams have won their share of conference titles and before the start of the conference, Little Five honors.

As this is written it is too early to give an estimate of the comparative strength of various conference teams. Tomorrow night Summit opens its 17-game card here in a non-conference game against Westfield. Practice sessions to date indicate that the Hill City boys have possibilities. The boys are practicing earnestly and training seriously. Games next week with Morristown and Roselle will be the final tune-up before the conference race gets underway January 6 here against Verona.

CHANGE OF SCENERY

Yes, a new basketball season is now well underway. Sort of sneaked up on us, didn't it? Only a short while back we were discussing tackles and touchdowns and now we are discoursing on pivot plays and set shots. That is the way the sport's picture evolves. You find one form of athletics intruding more and more on the other until they overlap completely. No longer is there is sharp break between football and basketball. Before you know it, football's back on the stage again. As one writer puts it, "Are we going too fast for you?"

KIWANIS TO FETE SHS GRIDDERS

The season for the High School's various football teams closed more than three weeks ago. There is yet one more event for the coaching staff, the lettermen and managers. That is the dinner tonight sponsored by Summit Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Beechwood. This is in tribute to those who have performed a specific job for the school. It is appropriate that the guest speaker of the evening will be another coach whose team this year had a successful season on the gridiron. He is Harvey Harman of Rutgers whose eleven was rated one of the best in the East. We would like to remind all loyal supporters of the team that the dinner is open to you and the public. Your attendance at the dinner will be another tangible way of helping to express your pride in the wearers of the Maroon and White who placed the school so high in the Suburban Conference final standings.

Certainly the school has been football conscious this year to the nth degree. The accomplishments of various members of the team were the subject of conversation among students and townspeople for that matter, all during the season.

With the opening tomorrow night of the 17-game basketball season, it is reasonable to believe the student followers will be just as ardent in their accolades for the school's cagers.

BOW AND ARROW DEER HUNTING

The season for legally hunting deer with bow and arrow ends today. It has been the first time a separate season was set aside for these archery addicts and was considered an experiment. Will this "spoil" things for the regular deer season that starts tomorrow? It hardly seems possible, but yet it seems to be a debatable question at the moment. For one thing, most veteran deer hunters will answer "bah" every time you mention bow and arrow hunting to them.

FIELD AND STREAM CHATTER

Notwithstanding the big toll of foxes taken by the State Fish and Game Division's predator control force, there still seems to be plenty of the animals at large in North Jersey. Many of these sly creatures are being reported killed by small game hunters.

Lester G. McNamara, game management superintendent, reports that pheasants are still being stocked. It is his opinion that a higher degree of sportsmanship is prevailing among hunters this year and that there seems to be less shooting of hen pheasants. It is still his contention that pheasant shooting could again be built up to provide better sport than it has in the last few years.

Balish Five Stops Crusaders in City League Game, 36-22

Balish Beverage hit stride in the City Basketball League on Thursday evening, stopping the Crusaders, 36-22, in the nightcap of a doubleheader at the Summit High gym. American Legion Post 138 tripped Eastern Fuel's five, 27-21, in the opener.

Gaining a slim 5-4 margin at the quarter, Balish crowded the net for 14 points in the second period to pull away to a comfortable lead. Tom Reynolds paced the winning attack with a 15-point performance. Bill George was high man for the losing Crusaders with a like total.

Legion Post 138 trailed at the end of a low-scoring half, 9-7, but caged twelve markers in the third quarter to gain the edge, 18-16, and finally pulled away in the waning minutes of play. Frank Paul dropped 16 points to head the Legion attack, while Tony Pecca was credited with 12 tallies for Eastern Fuel.

Bebout Stars As Mabens Sweep to Second Place Tie

Bebout of Maben's in the City Bowling League starred Thursday night as his team swept three against the American and went into a tie for second place with Pulverizing Machinery, defending champions. He gained all individual honors for the evening, rolling 243 for high individual game score and a gross 663 for high three game honors. The latter score gives him second place to date for the league season in high three game series, Masterfano of the Herald holding the record for the season at 686.

Charlines crept out of the cellar by taking two out of three against the Herald, while Summit Buick dropped into the cellar by dropping three to Gargiulos. Roots, the current leaders, defeated Pulverising Machinery, 2-1.

Overnight Hike Planned

Girl Scout Troop 4 is planning its first overnight hike Friday, December 12, at the Girl Scout Lake Surprise cabin in the Reservation.

SHS Cagers Open Here Tomorrow Against Westfield

Summit High's cagers take the lid off the coming season here tomorrow night against Westfield. The Maroon and White mentor, Coach Elwood C. Cornog, who can place an all-six foot team on the floor, is confident Summit will have better than an average season.

Early practice sessions point to the team being built around four lettermen: John Fimia, Roger Pott, Herby Hazelton, and Dan Kletzman. Seniors augmenting squad are Emil Bontempo, Jan Kelly, and Fred Speaker; juniors and sophomores, Russell May, Fred Sigler, Chester Cornog and six foot, six inch Norman Pott.

A total travel distance equalling 12 trips around the world in 14 months is the flight record of Seaman R. L. Wickham, enlisted flight orderly of the Naval Air Transport Service. In flying 269,000 miles in that time, Wickham served NATS passengers 4,320 in-flight meals.

Summit High Eleven Gains Recognition in State Rating

Summit High's 1947 football team gained statewide recognition on Friday when it was named as the fourth leading Group III team in this part of New Jersey. The Maroon and White eleven trailed Hillside, Regional and Westfield, who shared a three-way tie for top spot, in the official decree released by the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association.

All of the selections announced by the state athletic group were based on the Colliton rating system—which rates high school teams on a point basis, with emphasis on the strength of opposition played by each eleven. Even though Westfield High established a season record of ten triumphs and no setbacks, once-beaten Springfield Regional (thrashed by Summit, 21-0) and twice-beaten Hillside (which played seven Group IV schools) tied for the top position.

Only other high school named in the Group III championship listing was once-defeated Morristown, which rated ten points lower than Summit High in the final point standing. Summit finished the season with four triumphs, two scoreless deadlocks and two defeats, including a loss to all-winning Westfield.

Although no actual state champion is named by the NJSIAA, Montclair High's eleven, which stacked up nine triumphs in an undefeated season, was considered the top team in the state on the basis of Colliton points. The Group IV Mounties thumped East Side (Newark), Kearny, Nutley, East Orange, Columbia, West Orange, Clifton and Bloomfield during the season.

Four of the six teams in the Suburban Conference, of which Summit High's eleven was 1947 champion, gained recognition in the state ratings. Millburn placed third in Group II title selections, Glen Ridge was first in Group I and Verona was third in Group I. In all, six of Summit's eight opponents were given mention in the ratings of the state body.

News Lists Trio For All-State

The Newark Sunday News picked two Summit High School gridders for its second team All-State selection in Group III school, naming Spencer Woodard a tackle and Emil Bontempo a back. On the Group III third team, the News picked Herb Hazelton as an end. No honorable mentions were listed.

From among the teams played by Summit, three players were picked on the Group III first team; Charpentier from Caldwell as a back, G. McGinley as an end and Eichhorn as a guard, both from Westfield. On the Group III second team, Pennoyer of Regional was picked for end and Ligouri of Caldwell as a tackle. On the Group III third team, Batt was posted at tackle, and R. McGinley at back, both from Westfield, and Vohden of Regional as a back.

From among Group II schools played by Summit, Porter of Millburn was picked on the first team as guard and Jones of Clifford Scott as a back. On the third team in Group II, Jemison of Millburn and Hess of Madison selected as guards.

In the Group I first first team selections from Summit opponents, Reynolds of Glen Ridge was posted at tackle; Mulligan of Glen Ridge at guard on the second team, and Carroll of Verona a back. On the Group I third team, Marshall of Verona was picked. G. McGinley and Charpentier were also on the first team from all divisions.

A few tickets for the annual Kiwanis banquet to the High School football squad tonight at the Hotel Beechwood will be available at the door. This was stated last night by Elmer Houston, chairman of the dinner committee.

Soccer Club Tops Chatham, 2-0, for Season's 1st Win

Summit Soccer Club posted its first victory of the season Sunday by defeating Chatham Legion, 2-0, at Memorial Field. The game was hard fought with the count being deadlocked 0-0 at the half.

Early in the second half Korkuc drove the first score for Summit after receiving a pass from Peterson. The second score came with 15 minutes left to play. Summit forwards led by Kelly, Pizzutti and Travers brought the ball down field where Peterson shot for the score. Summit's backfield displayed fine team play led by Colquhaun and Alberts.

To Play Verona

Next Sunday Summit travels to City Home Stadium, Verona, to play Verona Soccer Club starting at 2:30 p. m.

Summit Sailor to Visit Peru for Five Days

Joseph R. Coviello, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Coviello of 9 Edgar street, will make a five-day pre-Christmas visit to Peru with crew members of the submarine tender Orion.

Seaman Coviello is serving aboard the Orion which is based in the Canal Zone as a unit of Submarine Squadron 6. The ship will return to its home port in Panama following the Peruvian visit.

Residents Again Offered Varied Sports at Hill

Union County residents are again offered a varied winter-sports menu, including coasting, skiing, skating, tobogganing, ice hockey and horse-drawn sleigh-rides, snow and ice conditions permitting, it is announced by the Union County Park Commission.

Galloping Hill Park, considered as the winter sports center of the county, will be missing one of its biggest attractions this year. The two high toboggan chutes, in the interests of safety, require costly major repairs. With the possible necessity of relocating these slides in a year or two, due to proposed state parkway plans, it is considered inadvisable to repair them at present.

The shorter chutes, without starting platforms, will be in use on the tenth fairway. Standard-size toboggans are accommodated. These may be rented for fifty cents per hour at the golf house.

Refreshments available at the heated golf house include hot drinks, candy and hot franks.

Skating is enjoyed on a flooded area near the golf house. This man-made pond is supervised and lighted for evening skaters.

The most popular children's winter sport is coasting, with some adults also taking an enthusiastic part. The best areas in the park system are afforded coasters at Galloping Hill, on fairway two of the 18-hole course and fairway five of the 9-hole links.

The "Hill" also features the best skiing areas, on fairways three of the 18-hole, and six of the 9-hole courses. Cross-country ski meets are held here, as well as in the Watchung Reservation.

There are eleven supervised skating areas besides Galloping Hill open when ice thickness permits. These include Briant Park, Summit and Springfield; and Watchung Reservation, Summit and Mountainside. Most are lighted for night use, and several have heated shelters nearby. There are an additional eleven skating areas throughout the system, these being unsupervised and unlighted.

Horse-Drawn Sleighs

If there is sufficient snowfall, horse-drawn sleighs will again be rented at the Commission's Watchung Riding Stable, Glenside avenue, Summit. These include two- and four-seaters, as well as a large sleigh, drawn by two horses and accommodating fourteen to sixteen persons. Reservations for these may be made by telephoning Summit 6-3169.

For complete information concerning winter sports in the park system, write the Union County Park Commission, Administration Building, Warinanco Park, Elizabeth, or phone Elizabeth 2-8411.

Roger Pott Receives Soccer Honorable

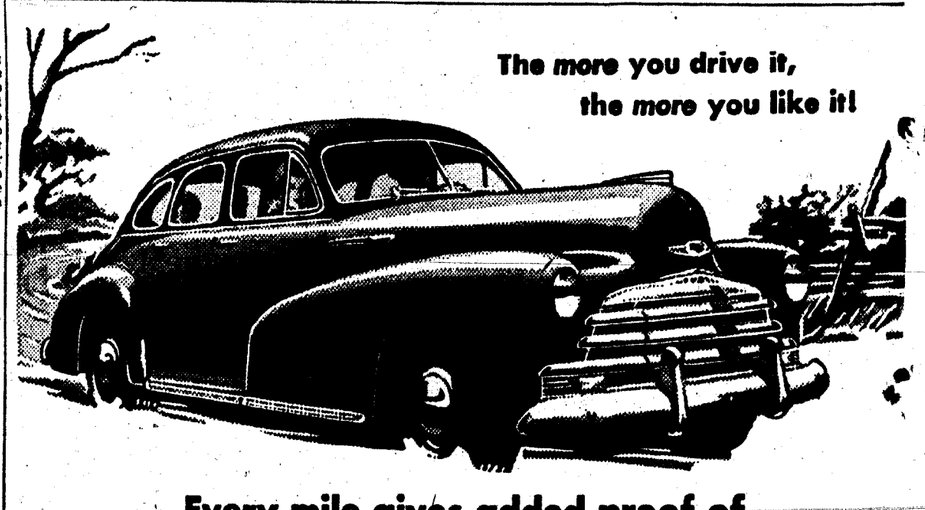

Roger Pott, lanky Summit High School goal received honorable mention in the Newark Sunday News' selection of All-State soccer players. A member of the senior class, Pott is now a certainty for a post on the school's varsity basketball team. He has played these sports for three years.

The more you drive it, the more you like it!

BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST

As more and more Chevrolet owners are discovering, years of service mean nothing to a Chevrolet! This car has extra strength in every part—built-in ruggedness and reliability—the excellence that endures. It will serve you for scores of thousands of miles, and the longer you drive it the stronger your appreciation of its value—for it possesses Big-Car durability and dependability unequaled in its field.

One look will tell you that Chevrolet out-styles all other cars in its field. It brings you smarter design—smarter colors—smarter upholstery and appointments! It alone offers a luxurious Body by Fisher at lowest prices.

You can't beat a Chevrolet for all-round performance with economy. And Chevrolet's world's-champion Valve-in-Head Thrift-Master Engine, unique in its price range, wrings the last ounce of energy out of every gallon of fuel.

You'll enjoy maximum riding-smoothness and road-steadiness, too, because only Chevrolet, of all cars in its field, brings you the firm, easy, balanced movement of the Unitized Knee-Action Ride.

The demand for new Chevrolets surpasses all previous records. That means it's wise to safeguard your transportation by bringing your present car to us for skilled service, now and at regular intervals, pending delivery of your new car. See us for dependable, car-saving service.

This is the first of a series of advertisements to acquaint the citizens of New Jersey with problems faced by their railroads. In your own self-interest you should know these facts.

Keeping your Railroads healthy keeps you healthy, too!

START WITH your breakfast cereal and coffee and-finish when you toss the last shovelful of coal on the fire for the night and make a note of all the necessities and comforts and luxuries that come to you—because the railroads are working for you night and day.

Railroads are a vital part of your life so keeping them healthy is as much your concern as it is ours. You have a right to know what has happened to them—the difficulties they are up against.

The railroads of New Jersey, the roads you use most and know best, are face-to-face with staggering problems. Our cost of doing business has soared incredibly. We pay 170% more for the lumber we use. Our coal costs have skyrocketed 101%. We are meeting payrolls and wage taxes that are 75% higher. Steel rails have boomed a solid 54%. These are only a few examples of what has happened since 1939—the last normal prewar year—to almost every single item we need to maintain our required service and safety.

And even with our expenses at the highest levels in history, that is only part of the story!

THE TAX BURDEN IMPOSED ON THE RAILROADS OF NEW JERSEY IS STAGGERING. IT IS HEAVIER, BY FAR, THAN IN ANY OTHER STATE.

And in the face of all that, our rates, rigidly controlled by law, have not been allowed to keep pace with the price increases of other commodities and services.

It all adds up to this: In New Jersey, railroads are forced to spend in excess of what they earn in this state just to keep operating—to pay nothing of meeting costs of new equipment and better service.

It isn't a healthy situation for an individual, or for a business. It's your problem, too, because these are your railroads. So, when the talk gets around to railroads, as it frequently does, remember these facts. Fairness and an open mind are just what the railroads need—in your interest.

MODEL OF A MODEL STORE — Above is a scale model of the Lord and Taylor department store to be located at Millburn. Construction for the plant, which will employ approximately 300 area persons, has already been started and calls for completion late in 1948. The building will contain 80,000 square feet of floor space, a restaurant, parking facilities and many other innovations. The roof will be a sun deck for employees and the penthouse includes executive offices, restrooms and an employees cafeteria.

Lord & Taylor Reveal Plans of Millburn Store

Lord & Taylor have announced the beginning of construction of a store in Millburn, third Lord & Taylor branch store, to be opened in the fall of 1948. Other Lord & Taylor branch stores are now located at Manhasset, Long Island and Westchester, New York.

Analyzing the trend of business toward decentralization, Miss Dorothy Shaver, president of Lord & Taylor, stated, "Business cannot move to a suburban area and retain completely its urban personality. It must be able to adapt itself to the community of which it is a part. In locating our building sites and in designing the Lord & Taylor branch stores, we have constantly kept in mind what we feel customers like — leisurely, casual shopping in a casual, pleasant atmosphere."

For the Lord & Taylor store in Millburn, this casual air will be interpreted in the very architecture of the building. It will be an outstanding example of modern functional architecture, combining the traditional field stone, and white painted brick with modern areas of glass. Situated on the northeast corner of Wyoming and Millburn avenues, and leased from the Prudential Insurance Co. of America, the building will follow in some measure the architectural pattern of the Lord & Taylor store in Manhasset, which, since its inception in 1941, has been a model for many branch stores throughout the country, particularly in California.

Will Be Air Conditioned

Constructed on eight wooded acres, the Millburn store will have a 240 foot frontage, approximately 80,000 square feet floor space and will be completely air-conditioned. The soft rounded lines and functional design of the building and the natural landscaping of the grounds are designed to conform with the contours of the countryside. The topography of the land is such that it will allow the building to be constructed on two levels with parking spaces on both levels. In addition to the main and lower levels of the building there will be a penthouse planned for executive offices and all employee facilities, including cafeteria, lounges, and rest rooms. The store plans to employ between 300 and 350 persons, of whom as many as possible will come from the Summit-Millburn area.

The inside of the store will be designed to provide functional ease in shopping and will be decorated in gay, light colors, typical of the Lord & Taylor personality. Intensive research has been carried on to save the customer and employees both energy and time. As a result all departments in the store will be carefully co-related, and gracefully curved, wandering aisles that allow for comfortable and stimulating shopping have been planned. Following the famous Lord & Taylor pattern of a shop, the usually spacious, wandering corridors will lead into gay little shops. The building will not have the usual shop windows, but is designed to make the store itself a window display. As a result, a vista of the sunlit shopping area is visible from the exterior of any entrance to the building. Connecting the two selling floors will be a highly decorative stairway.

Handy Men's Shop

As a special provision for men shoppers, a men's department will be so situated that it will be directly accessible from the lower parking entrance. The store will also include, in addition to its regular women's and children's fashion apparel, and fashion accessories, a specially organized home furnishings decorating service with its own staff of decorating consultants. A charming luncheon-tea-room, patterned after the famous "Bird Cage" of the Lord & Taylor Fifth avenue store, is also being planned for the Millburn branch.

"As a good citizen of the community," says Dorothy Shaver, president of the store, "Lord & Taylor will help maintain the high standard of architecture characteristic of the Millburn area. Our landscaping is planned to conform to the natural beauty of the countryside."

The trend in the average consumption of meat by the people of the U. S. has been downward for the last 30 years.

Chief Egan Tells of Winter Hazards

"Cars Skid, Two Killed, Three Hurt . . ."

"These are the kinds of headlines we don't like to read in the Herald," Chief of Police Edward K. Egan said yesterday. "But, unless we take precautions now against the added hazards of winter driving there'll be headlines like this during remaining winter months."

Chief Egan, in making this statement, added that just as sure as snow falls and Christmas is coming, there will be some drivers who fail to compensate for the extreme hazards caused by snow, ice and reduced visibility.

"Even as anti-skid chains are needed at times to counteract snow and ice," the chief declared, "windshield defrosters and wipers are as necessary as good lights to provide for adequate visibility. Such equipment, during bad weather, is just as vital as any functional part of a car or truck. Drivers who neglect these safety aids cause increased accidents and traffic tieups. If unprepared, they should not drive until conditions clear."

The chief's warning is based on his own experiences as a public safety official and a new research report by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. The report showed about 65 per cent of winter accidents occur on snow and ice, and further recommended use of tire chains on rear wheels of all vehicles when severe weather and road conditions warrant them. The other major cause for the 24 to 53 per cent increase in accident death rates in snow-belt states during winter months is reduced visibility, the report verified.

"Above all," Chief Egan said, "we need the full cooperation of all drivers to adhere to realistic winter driving practices if we expect to prevent accidents resulting in more injuries and deaths. This means adjusting speed to conditions, using proper equipment, and generally being extra careful out of respect for added hazards of winter."

H.S. Art Students Plan Extensive Yule Decorations

This year, as in the past the front halls and homerooms at Summit High School will be decorated for the Christmas season. The students of Miss Martha Berry's art classes will undertake the task of putting up the decorations. It has been decided that the art students will decorate a homeroom as part of class work. They will use ideas based on religious or other stories dealing with Christmas, or they may depict the Christmas of other lands. The toy shop idea will also be emphasized. At least one painting will be in each room. If a room wants to do a real big job, an art student will help after first conferring with Miss Berry. The decorations will be on a high school level and will be marked on originality in planning and execution.

The front hall decorations have always been considered pleasing to the students and faculty as well as to visitors, and this year there are high hopes for a very beautiful hall. Carol Morgan is doing a creche on three levels. She will also help Herb Hazelton, James Tellin, and Patricia Closs, who have been assigned the hall decorations. The theme will be one of Christmas in song and story. The G. O. will supply the trees for the front hall.

Miss Berry has decided to try something new in the costume designs for the Wise Men in the Christmas Pageant. She would like to feature the Byzantine art of the East, because as she explains there is such a great difference in the costumes of the Shepherds and the Wise Men. Miss Berry expresses the belief that "This is one of the most colorful and elegant of the early Christian paintings because of the Oriental influence."

The studio will reflect the Christmas spirit with a toy shop theme. Everyone is invited to visit it. Practically no expense will be involved because all the material at hand is being used. It is hoped by the students and supervisor this will illustrate what imagination, a pot of paint and time will do.

You demand It

Industry depends on It

The Nation must have It

What is IT?

"adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation"

FROM THE OFFICIAL REPORT of the Interstate Commerce Commission on awarding a temporary freight rate increase of 10%, we quote:

"The law requires us to give due consideration, among other factors, to the need of revenue sufficient to enable the carriers under honest, economic, and efficient management to provide adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation..."

A moment's thought should convince any fair-minded person that keeping the American railroads healthy is to everybody's advantage.

Every family, every businessman, even the Nation itself is in danger when this vital artery of American life is weakened.

And that threat is real, and it is now. For with increases in the cost of railroad operation piling up one atop another, how can the railroads' multimillion dollar program for desperately needed new equipment be continued? How can improvements in roadbeds, yards, stations, rolling stock, which took a merciless beating in the war years of peak traffic, be carried through?

They can't...* UNLESS—

Unless the railroads are granted freight rates adequate to meet the wage and materials cost increases, and at the same time keep hundreds of American industries busy with new machinery and equipment orders.

Government requires that the railroads maintain a high standard of efficiency because You demand it, Industry depends on it, and the Nation must have it.

We are asking a permanent freight rate increase of the absolute minimum to meet our need—which is in every sense your need.

Our request should be granted.

Santa Claus

that their number was augmented by hundreds of others who were finding that Summit is a shopping center comparable to any other place. Police and civilians alike reported a large number of motorists, particularly with Morris and Essex licenses, inquiring "Where is Santa?"

The line of children waiting to get in the store to tell Santa their wants continued until the store's closing on Saturday. It is for this reason that Kresge officials announced that St. Nick will play a return engagement this Saturday. However, his arrival will be spectacular and children will find him at the store when it opens for the entire business day.

Given Piece of Cake

Santa, the store disclosed, is a graduate of the Santa Claus school at Albion, N. Y., and holds a leather-framed diploma to prove his successful completion of the course.

The Old Gentleman's trip to Summit aboard the diesel was without mishap. Arrangements for the ride in the diesel engine were made through the cooperation of Robert Taylor, general passenger agent, and other Lackawanna officials.

Kresge officials expressed thanks to Chief Egan and members of the Summit police department who were on hand at all times to keep order.

Scouts Adopt Family For Holiday Care

The members of Girl Scout Troop 17, girls from junior high eighth grade, have adopted a needy family for the Christmas season. Articles of clothing and a Christmas food basket will be sent to them.

Seating Capacity

Mayor Tells PTA

Lester said, "what the tax rate would be and how much construction, it will be practical to finance on a "pay-as-you-go" basis; and how much can be bonded without interest and amortization requirements."

A full report, he said, will be given to the public when all factors have been studied.

Mrs. Angus Moore, PTA president, read a report sent to Common Council in 1923 in which "the lunch room problem" was declared serious. The present overcrowding of the cafeteria is expected to be one of the first remedies in the proposed high school extension.

Faculty members of the 1922-23 period were introduced by Mr. Bartholomew and presented with roses. They were: Miss Martha Berry; Guy V. Bruce; Holmes Cliver; Mrs. Bartholomew, the former Florence Enderlin; Miss Ida Herrmann; Miss Grace Jones; Miss Josephine Noyes and Miss Tilla Thomas. Members unable to be present were, Mrs. Marie Brown, Mrs. Estelle Van Patten, Miss Dorothy Bunker, Mrs. H. L. Mahood, and Miss Adele Hepbron.

Nominating Committee Voted

The slate for the nominating committee for the coming year was presented by Mrs. Moore and unanimously approved. Mrs. William York will head it and others include William Emery, Mrs. Gustave Fischer and Mrs. Leonard Profitt.

Mrs. William Breivogel, PTA special benefit chairman, announced that the high school's dramatic Club's play, "June Mad," presented Nov. 21 had netted a profit of $428. Half of the sum will go to the club and the remainder to the PTA, who sponsored the play.

A bit of the 1922-23 atmosphere was revived when the school orchestra and male octet rendered "Yes, We Have No Bananas," and "Vive L'Amour." The songs, popular 25 years ago, were coached by Daniel Kautzman. Fred Muller directed the orchestra which brought the meeting to a close with the playing of the alma mater.

Members of the 1923 class, who attended the affair from far and wide, were also introduced by Mrs. Moore and presented with roses.

Essex County Judge Richard Hartshorne was slated to speak but was unable to attend the meeting because of illness.

Santa Claus Kelly Set to Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Santa Claus Patrick J. Kelly writes his friends that "Twenty-five years ago this coming Christmas I began making my visits to the children of Summit and nearby. At first the work was carried on in a modest way. Now it has gradually expanded and with it the needs of the deserving kiddies."

He adds: "My appeal to you this Christmas season is for clothing, toys . . . anything that might make a child know that there is a Santa Claus. If you have a dollar or two that you have no immediate use for send it along. I can assure you that it will be used in the interests of the children.

Voters Are Urged

lishing fairer world trade policies, she said.

Stating that it will be several years before ITO can hope to function, Mrs. Scull listed the following principles which are being incorporated in the organization's charter; extension of most favored nation clauses to apply to all within the ITO when two nations have negotiated an agreement; banning of internal restrictive measures such as quotas; freedom of transit so that shipments can go the shortest cheapest way; restriction of so-called dumping whereby a country gets rid of a surplus at prices cheaper than domestic prices; simplification of customs procedures; provisions against subsidies; efforts to establish a world wide higher standard of living and full employment.

Warning her audience that these objectives are a goal to work toward rather than something to be ratified immediately, Mrs. Scull declared the ITO will be valuable as a center of information, advice and as a court to decide on exceptions to the rules.

During the meeting a sound movie "Round Trip" was presented to the group.

Movie Illustrates Point

Using the movie to illustrate her point, Mrs. Scull said, "the old argument against tariff reductions is that our well-paid labor will be penalized and cheap labor countries benefit." But Mrs. Scull concurred with the previously shown motion picture in pointing out that our labor produces so much more per man that high wages may actually be a bargain in terms of cost of production per unit. Similarly we need not fear, she said that we are destroying our markets in helping other nations become industrialized; the best developed countries are our best customers.

What the ordinary citizen and voter can do to give himself as a consumer a break and support the cause of international economic stability is to support the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, Mrs. Scull declared. It empowers the state department to negotiate agreements in which tariffs can be reduced, although not more than 50 per cent, enables participation in such efforts as the ITO, and cuts down on the perpetual uncertainties and worries of foreign countries on what the United States will do because of Congressional log-rolling and hasty action on tariff matters, she said. "Watch your representatives' votes on the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act," she urged.

Mrs. T. E. Lenigan presided and announced that beginning with the next afternoon meeting, provision would be made for child care during the meeting at a small charge to League mothers. Mrs. George Boynton reported on the Every Member Canvass and requested that any questionnaires still out be returned. It was announced that the second bus trip planned for Dec. 15 to the United Nations will be deferred to a later date when it is again in session. Mrs. W. F. Taylor, Foreign Policy chairman, presented the program and introduced the speaker.

MODEL OF A MODEL STORE — Above is a scale model of the Lord and Taylor department store to be located at Millburn. Construction for the plant, which will employ approximately 300 area persons, has already been started and calls for completion late in 1948. The building will contain 80,000 square feet of floor space, a restaurant, parking facilities and many other innovations. The roof will be a sun deck for employees and the penthouse includes executive offices, restrooms and an employees cafeteria.

Lord & Taylor Reveal Plans of Millburn Store

Lord & Taylor have announced the beginning of construction of a store in Millburn, third Lord & Taylor branch store, to be opened in the fall of 1948. Other Lord & Taylor branch stores are now located at Manhasset, Long Island and Westchester, New York.

Analyzing the trend of business toward decentralization, Miss Dorothy Shaver, president of Lord & Taylor, stated, "Business cannot move to a suburban area and retain completely its urban personality. It must be able to adapt itself to the community of which it is a part. In locating our building sites and in designing the Lord & Taylor branch stores, we have constantly kept in mind what we feel customers like — leisurely, casual shopping in a casual, pleasant atmosphere."

For the Lord & Taylor store in Millburn, this casual air will be interpreted in the very architecture of the building. It will be an outstanding example of modern functional architecture, combining the traditional field stone, and white painted brick with modern areas of glass. Situated on the northeast corner of Wyoming and Millburn avenues, and leased from the Prudential Insurance Co. of America, the building will follow in some measure the architectural pattern of the Lord & Taylor store in Manhasset, which, since its inception in 1941, has been a model for many branch stores throughout the country, particularly in California.

Will Be Air Conditioned

Constructed on eight wooded acres, the Millburn store will have a 240 foot frontage, approximately 80,000 square feet floor space and will be completely air-conditioned. The soft rounded lines and functional design of the building and the natural landscaping of the grounds are designed to conform with the contours of the countryside. The topography of the land is such that it will allow the building to be constructed on two levels with parking spaces on both levels. In addition to the main and lower levels of the building there will be a penthouse planned for executive offices and all employee facilities, including cafeteria, lounges, and rest rooms. The store plans to employ between 300 and 350 persons, of whom as many as possible will come from the Summit-Millburn area.

The inside of the store will be designed to provide functional ease in shopping and will be decorated in gay, light colors, typical of the Lord & Taylor personality. Intensive research has been carried on to save the customer and employees both energy and time. As a result all departments in the store will be carefully co-related, and gracefully curved, wandering aisles that allow for comfortable and stimulating shopping have been planned. Following the famous Lord & Taylor pattern of a shop, the usually spacious, wandering corridors will lead into gay little shops. The building will not have the usual shop windows, but is designed to make the store itself a window display. As a result, a vista of the sunlit shopping area is visible from the exterior of any entrance to the building. Connecting the two selling floors will be a highly decorative stairway.

Handy Men's Shop

As a special provision for men shoppers, a men's department will be so situated that it will be directly accessible from the lower parking entrance. The store will also include, in addition to its regular women's and children's fashion apparel, and fashion accessories, a specially organized home furnishings decorating service with its own staff of decorating consultants. A charming luncheon-tea-room, patterned after the famous "Bird Cage" of the Lord & Taylor Fifth avenue store, is also being planned for the Millburn branch.

"As a good citizen of the community," says Dorothy Shaver, president of the store, "Lord & Taylor will help maintain the high standard of architecture characteristic of the Millburn area. Our landscaping is planned to conform to the natural beauty of the countryside."

Chief Egan Tells of Winter Hazards

"Cars Skid, Two Killed, Three Hurt . . ."

"These are the kinds of headlines we don't like to read in the Herald," Chief of Police Edward K. Egan said yesterday. "But, unless we take precautions now against the added hazards of winter driving there'll be headlines like this during remaining winter months."

Chief Egan, in making this statement, added that just as sure as snow falls and Christmas is coming, there will be some drivers who fail to compensate for the extreme hazards caused by snow, ice and reduced visibility.

"Even as anti-skid chains are needed at times to counteract snow and ice," the chief declared, "windshield defrosters and wipers are as necessary as good lights to provide for adequate visibility. Such equipment, during bad weather, is just as vital as any functional part of a car or truck. Drivers who neglect these safety aids cause increased accidents and traffic tieups. If unprepared, they should not drive until conditions clear."

The chief's warning is based on his own experiences as a public safety official and a new research report by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. The report showed about 65 per cent of winter accidents occur on snow and ice, and further recommended use of tire chains on rear wheels of all vehicles when severe weather and road conditions warrant them. The other major cause for the 24 to 53 per cent increase in accident death rates in snow-belt states during winter months is reduced visibility, the report verified.

"Above all," Chief Egan said, "we need the full cooperation of all drivers to adhere to realistic winter driving practices if we expect to prevent accidents resulting in more injuries and deaths. This means adjusting speed to conditions, using proper equipment, and generally being extra careful out of respect for added hazards of winter."

H.S. Art Students Plan Extensive Yule Decorations

This year, as in the past the front halls and homerooms at Summit High School will be decorated for the Christmas season. The students of Miss Martha Berry's art classes will undertake the task of putting up the decorations. It has been decided that the art students will decorate a homeroom as part of class work. They will use ideas based on religious or other stories dealing with Christmas, or they may depict the Christmas of other lands. The toy shop idea will also be emphasized. At least one painting will be in each room. If a room wants to do a real big job, an art student will help after first conferring with Miss Berry. The decorations will be on a high school level and will be marked on originality in planning and execution.

The front hall decorations have always been considered pleasing to the students and faculty as well as to visitors, and this year there are high hopes for a very beautiful hall. Carol Morgan is doing a creche on three levels. She will also help Herb Hazelton, James Tellin, and Patricia Closs, who have been assigned the hall decorations. The theme will be one of Christmas in song and story. The G. O. will supply the trees for the front hall.

Miss Berry has decided to try something new in the costume designs for the Wise Men in the Christmas Pageant. She would like to feature the Byzantine art of the East, because as she explains there is such a great difference in the costumes of the Shepherds and the Wise Men. Miss Berry expresses the belief that "This is one of the most colorful and elegant of the early Christian paintings because of the Oriental influence."

The studio will reflect the Christmas spirit with a toy shop theme. Everyone is invited to visit it. Practically no expense will be involved because all the material at hand is being used. It is hoped by the students and supervisor this will illustrate what imagination, a pot of paint and time will do.

What is IT?

FROM THE OFFICIAL REPORT of the Interstate Commerce Commission on awarding a temporary freight rate increase of 10%, we quote:

"The law requires us to give due consideration, among other factors, to the need of revenue sufficient to enable the carriers under honest, economic, and efficient management to provide adequate and efficient railway transportation service for the nation..."

A moment's thought should convince any fair-minded person that keeping the American railroads healthy is to everybody's advantage.

Every family, every businessman, even the Nation itself is in danger when this vital artery of American life is weakened.

And that threat is real, and it is now. For with increases in the cost of railroad operation piling up one atop another, how can the railroads' multimillion dollar program for desperately needed new equipment be continued? How can improvements in roadbeds, yards, stations, rolling stock, which took a merciless beating in the war years of peak traffic, be carried through!

They can't*... UNLESS—

Unless the railroads are granted freight rates adequate to meet the wage and materials cost increases, and at the same time keep hundreds of American industries busy with new machinery and equipment orders.

Government requires that the railroads maintain a high standard of efficiency because You demand it, Industry depends on it, and the Nation must have it.

We are asking a permanent freight rate increase of the absolute minimum to meet our need—which is in every sense your need.

Santa Claus

that their number was augmented by hundreds of others who were finding that Summit is a shopping center comparable to any other place. Police and civilians alike reported a large number of motorists, particularly with Morris and Essex licensees inquiring "Where is Santa?"

The line of children waiting to get in the store to tell Santa their wants continued until the store's closing on Saturday. It is for this reason that Kresge officials announced that St. Nick will play a return engagement this Saturday. However, his arrival will be spectacular and children will find him at the store when it opens for the entire business day.

Given Piece of Cake

Santa, the store disclosed, is a graduate of the Santa Claus school at Albion, N. Y., and holds a leather-framed diploma to prove his successful completion of the course.

The Old Gentleman's trip to Summit aboard the diesel was without mishap. Arrangements for the ride in the diesel engine were made through the cooperation of Robert Taylor, general passenger agent, and other Lackawanna officials.

Kresge officials expressed thanks to Chief Egan and members of the Summit police department who were on hand at all times to keep order.

Scouts Adopt Family For Holiday Care

The members of Girl Scout Troop 17, girls from junior high eighth grade, have adopted a needy family for the Christmas season. Articles of clothing and a Christmas food basket will be sent to them.

Seating Capacity

Lester said, "what the tax rate would be and how much construction, it will be practical to finance on a "pay-as-you-go" basis; and how much can be bonded without interest and amortization requirements."

A full report, he said, will be given to the public when all factors have been studied.

Mrs. Angus Moore, PTA president, read a report sent to Common Council in 1923 in which "the lunch room problem" was declared serious. The present overcrowding of the cafeteria is expected to be one of the first remedies in the proposed high school extension.

Faculty members of the 1922-23 period were introduced by Mr. Bartholomew and presented with roses. They were: Miss Martha Berry; Guy V. Bruce; Holmes Cliver; Mrs. Bartholomew, the former Florence Enderlin; Miss Ida Herrmann; Miss Grace Jones; Miss Josephine Noyes and Miss Tilla Thomas. Members unable to be present were: Mrs. Marie Brown, Mrs. Estelle Van Patten, Miss Dorothy Bunker, Mrs. H. L. Mahood, and Miss Adele Hepbron.

Nominating Committee Voted

The slate for the nominating committee for the coming year was presented by Mrs. Moore and unanimously approved. Mrs. William York will head it and others include William Emery, Mrs. Gustave Fischer and Mrs. Leonard Profitt.

Mrs. William Breivogel, PTA special benefit chairman, announced that the high school's dramatic Club's play, "June Mad," presented Nov. 21 had netted a profit of $428. Half of the sum will go to the club and the remainder to the PTA, who sponsored the play.

A bit of the 1922-23 atmosphere was revived when the school orchestra and male octet rendered "Yes, We Have No Bananas," and "Vive L'Amour." The songs, popular 25 years ago, were coached by Daniel Kautzman. Fred Muller directed the orchestra which brought the meeting to a close with the playing of the alma mater.

Members of the 1923 class, who attended the affair from far and wide, were also introduced by Mrs. Moore and presented with roses.

Essex County Judge Richard Hartshorne was slated to speak but was unable to attend the meeting because of illness.

Santa Claus Kelly Set to Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Santa Claus Patrick J. Kelly writes his friends that "Twenty-five years ago this coming Christmas I began making my visits to the children of Summit and nearby. At first the work was carried on in a modest way. Now, it has gradually expanded and with it the needs of the deserving kiddies."

He adds: "My appeal to you this Christmas season is for clothing, toys . . . anything that might make a child know that there is a Santa Claus. If you have a dollar or two that you have no immediate use for send it along. I can assure you that it will be used in the interests of the children.

lishing fairer world trade policies, she said.

Stating that it will be several years before ITO can hope to function, Mrs. Scull listed the following principles which are being incorporated in the organization's charter; extension of most favored nation clauses to apply to all within the ITO when two nations have negotiated an agreement; banning of internal restrictive measures such as quotas; freedom of transit so that shipments can go the shortest cheapest way; restriction of so-called dumping whereby a country gets rid of a surplus at prices cheaper than domestic prices; simplification of customs procedures; provisions against subsidies; efforts to establish a world wide higher standard of living and full employment.

Warning her audience that these objectives are a goal to work toward rather than something to be ratified immediately, Mrs. Scull declared the ITO will be valuable as a center of information, advice and as a court to decide on exceptions to the rules.

During the meeting a sound movie "Round Trip" was presented to the group.

Movie Illustrates Point

Using the movie to illustrate her point, Mrs. Scull said, "the old argument against tariff reductions is that our well-paid labor will be penalized and cheap labor countries benefit." But Mrs. Scull concurred with the previously shown motion picture in pointing out that our labor produces so much more per man that high wages may actually be a bargain in terms of cost of production per unit. Similarly we need not fear, she said that we are destroying our markets in helping other nations become industrialized; the best developed countries are our best customers.

What the ordinary citizen and voter can do to give himself as a consumer a break and support the cause of international economic stability is to support the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act Mrs. Scull declared. It empowers the state department to negotiate agreements in which tariffs can be reduced, although not more than 50 per cent, enables participation in such efforts as the ITO, and cuts down on the perpetual uncertainties and worries of foreign countries on what the United States will do because of Congressional log-rolling and hasty action on tariff matters, she said. "Watch your representatives' votes on the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act," she urged.

Mrs. T. E. Lenigan presided and announced that beginning with the next afternoon meeting, provision would be made for child care during the meeting at a small charge to League mothers. Mrs. George Boynton reported on the Every Member Canvass and requested that any questionnaires still out be returned. It was announced that the second bus trip planned for Dec. 15 to the United Nations will be deferred to a later date when it is again in session. Mrs. W. F. Taylor, Foreign Policy chairman, presented the program and introduced the speaker.

H.S. War Memorial Plans Await Name Verifications

Plans have been approved by the Board of Education for a permanent World War II Memorial to the alumni and former students of Summit High School who made the "supreme sacrifice." The memorial will be a bronze plaque, 36 by 30 inches, placed on the main entrance wall opposite the tablet commemorating the building of the school and the names of the members of the Board of Education at that time.

Before the memorial is actually made there must be verification of the spelling of each of the names that will appear thereon. Accordingly students and friends are asked to check with kin of these honored dead and report to the High School any and all corrections. Too, if there are any omissions, the High School would appreciate having this information.

While all reasonable care was exercised by the school's War Records Committee in compiling the Honor Roll list, it is considered as a remote possibility some name may have been omitted. Any former student or alumnus who was a ninth grader in Junior High School or who was a member of any one of the three classes in the High School was the yard stick used for preparing the list which included these 50 names:

Adams, Robert
Angellillo, Albert

Children Give $471 in Junior Red Cross Drive

A total of $471.91 was realized from Junior Red Cross enrollments in 19 schools of the Summit area, it was announced this week by Mrs. Clarence D. Marvin, Junior Red Cross chairman of the Summit Chapter, American Red Cross. The enrollment is conducted annually in November throughout the schools of the nation.

Of this amount, Mrs. Gertrude Gross, director of Public Welfare, was given a check for $100 to be used for the local childrens' Christmas project. A check of $300 was also sent to the National Children's Fund. This latter fund is a special restricted account used to meet emergency needs of children throughout the world. At the present time the fund is extremely important in work of educational rehabilitation, Mrs. Marvin said.

Summit school children have packed 63 gift boxes to be sent overseas to foreign children. These boxes contain pencils, paper, soap, toothbrushes, toothpaste, handmade toys, handkerchiefs, etc. The cost of each box in this country is estimated at about $2, Mrs. Marvin stated, but has a value of around $200 in Europe.

Pork Loin Barbecue

By Marion Kemp, American Stores Home Service Bureau

Loin Pork (8 to 12 chops)
6 tablespoons minced onion
4 tablespoons minced green pepper
4 tablespoons shortening
1 cup Rob-Ford Tomato Juice
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon allspice
½ cup Asco Cider Vinegar
3 tablespoons sugar

Cook onion and green pepper in shortening 5 minutes. Add tomato juice, seasonings, vinegar and sugar. Place meat in roasting pan. Pour sauce over meat. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) allowing 30 minutes per pound. Baste occasionally with sauce. Serves 6.

Bernard H. Lowy Appointed Chairman Of Air Committee for Kenny Drive

Bernard H. Lowy, director of Avi-Aiders, prominent aviation insurance firm, and commander of the New Jersey Wing, Air Forces Association, has been appointed chairman of the Aviation Committee for the annual drive of the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation. This was announced by J. Frank O'Donnell, New Jersey campaign chairman.

"Mr. Lowy's knowledge and understanding of the New Jersey aviation industry will be used to coordinate drive activities in this important field," said O'Donnell.

In accepting the appointment Lowy stated, "The aviation business in this state is quite large. I believe that we can expect wholehearted cooperation from the industry in this fund-raising campaign. Every person living or working in New Jersey should be sincerely interested in the establishment of an Eastern Sister Kenny Institute hospital and convalescent home in this area."

Lowy is a pioneer in the aviation insurance business. He was the first to use small plane transportation to cover the various airports in this territory. This business was curtailed during the war.

When the New Jersey Wing of the Air Forces Association was organized this past summer, Lowy was elected Wing Commander. In addition to these two large tasks he finds time to work on the Community Chest, the United Jewish Appeal and many other charity drives.

A resident of Orange, Lowy was graduated from the Wharton School of Business and Finance, University of Pennsylvania.

TB Rate Down In Union County

If the toll from tuberculosis continues in Union County at the diminished rate established during the first ten months, 1947 will see fewer deaths from the dread disease than ever in the county's history.

Through October, tuberculosis claimed 66 Union County residents. Maintained, this rate would mean 80 or fewer deaths for the whole year and would be the first time the toll had dropped below 100.

Reporting these statistics, Miss Stella O. Kline, executive secretary of the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League, declared them graphic demonstration of the value of Christmas seals. Sale of Yule seals exclusively finances the league's year-round fight against the disease which kills 53,000 Americans annually.

Extension of mass x-raying in the schools and in inddstry, made possible through seal purchases in prior years, has detected many early cases of tuberculosis in Union County, Miss Kline said. Each such instance means a greater chance for recovery than if the victim's plight were discovered at a later stage of the disease.

Thus, Miss Kline said, 140 new cases were found in the county during the first ten months of this year, the period which brought 66 deaths.

Christmas Forbidden

Did you know that the observance of Christmas was once forbidden in England? Yes, in England, home of the Yule log, the carol-singer, the wassailers.

It happened during the Reformation. Many of the reformers thought that the undue jollity of Christmas day was sacrilegious, so on December 24, 1652, Parliament ordered that "no observance shall be held of the five and twentieth day of December, commonly called Christmas day; nor any solemnity used or exercised in churches upon that day in respect thereof."

This edict was not too popular, as you might suspect. It was not many years later that Christmas was once again regarded as a holiday.

Jingle Bells Or Fire Bells?

Fires do not take holidays. They are ready to wreak havoc at any time. Holiday time is a veritable field day for tragic consequences due to fires.

Christmas trees and decorations are highly flammable. Treat them as you would any fire hazard. Wreaths, mistletoe, holly sprays and fir boughs dry out quickly. Paper decorations are doubly dangerous when coupled with parched Christmas greens. If you purchase your tree early, store it in a cool place. You can keep the tree "alive" by placing the base of the trunk in a bucket of water. This will allow the tree to absorb water and be more fire resistant.

Inspect Christmas tree electric lights very carefully before using them. If the wiring is frayed or worn, even slightly, do not put it on the tree until repaired. When stringing lights on the tree, hang wire away from other decorations as an added precaution.

Lighted candles in windows and in the house are charming to look at but should be prevented by law. If you must have lighted candles on Christmas eve, stand by and watch them every second. The better solution is simply not using them.

Be prepared for fire under any circumstances. Have an approved fire extinguisher ready and easily accessible. Be sure that you and all members of the family know how to use it.

Lackawanna Egg Man Deals in Dozens In Family Just As With His Customers

HERE'S THE HAPPY BROOD of the Lackawanna egg-man, Frederick Post, and his wife (in the middle row). He has six boys and six girls. Six are married and six are single. From the oldest to the youngest they are: Frederick Jr., 33; Gilbert, 31; Caroline, 30; Hazel, 28; Louise, 27; Stella, 25; Everett, 21; Freda, 19; Ernest, 17; Bernice, 15; William, 13, and Wallace, 10.

From an unpretentious two-story frame house in Union Hill, a suburb of Dover, a middle-aged man in a blue conductor's uniform emerges each morning at an hour most of us are just turning over to get that last hour of sleep. No matter what the weather, he makes his way to the Dover station of the Lackawanna in time to go out on his first run as conductor at 7:29 a. m.

Being a passenger conductor is no story in itself, but along with him each a. m. he carries two pasteboard boxes filled with fresh eggs, carefully tied with cord so that he can carry one in each hand. For three years now, Frederick Post of Union Hill has been selling his eggs to steady customers up and down the Lackawanna line from Hoboken to Dover.

How he came by his supplementary job of egg man is only part of the story, however, for back in that frame house Frederick Post leaves each morning are his children. What's so important about children? Nothing individually, but if Fred Post were to label an egg for each of them he would fill an egg box with an even dozen. That's right. A conductor, an egg man, and father of 12 children—six boys and six girls.

On Railroads Since 12

Conductor Post began railroading at the age of 12 (there's that number again), as a water boy for the old NYS&W which ran through his native town of Beaver Lake. From water boy he went to switchman, fire tender and trainman, and then switched to a job as fireman on the Lehigh and Hudson. From that railroading post, Post became a fireman for the Central New England (now part of the New Haven) which ran between Maybrook and Hartford, Conn. He was also a fireman for the Susquehanna, before finally coming to the Lackawanna in 1913 as a trainman. He was promoted to passenger conductor in 1923, and has held that position ever since, doing his work between Dover and Hoboken.

Suburban commuters have come to recognize Fred Post from his ever-present egg boxes. Especially in Hoboken and Summit, where most of his steady customers reside. They marvel at and get a thrill from him every time he leaves his train, for more than 40 years of railroading has given Fred Post the careless air of the expert train rider, and he invariably hops off the train—eggs and all—before it comes to a halt. Not once has he so much as cracked a shell.

Sells Eggs Between Trains

When he pulls into Hoboken each morning at 8:32, he has until 12:30 before making a return run, so Fred sells his eggs to his daily customers there. He returns to Hoboken at 2:41 p. m., and completes the rest of his orders before leaving for Dover and home at 4:15. All told, he sells about 30 dozen each day in Hoboken.

On Thursday mornings Fred has an hour stopover in Summit, so he takes care of his steady customers there, selling about 40 dozen eggs between trains. He has been following the Dover-Hoboken-Summit schedule for three years.

Besides his 12 children, Fred keeps 300 chickens, but since he doesn't get enough eggs from his own poultry, he buys more from a millionaire's farm in Chester.

But eggs and railroading are not the most important duties in Fred's life. His main topic of conversation and his pride and joy is his family. Of his six boys and six girls, six are married and six are single. Only four of the dozen are still living at home, but the others are frequent visitors. The married children have added nine grandchildren to Fred's clan and all have further evinced his pride by making successes of themselves in various occupations.

Four In Washington

Gilbert, 31, is a personnel officer for the Air Corps in Washington, and three others also work in the nation's capital. Freda, 19, is a private secretary for an Army major there, while Stella, 25, works as a stenographer in the Pentagon Building, and Everett, 21, is an auto mechanic in Vienna, Va., just outside of Washington.

Fred's oldest son, Frederick, Jr., 33, is a millright for American Cyanamid in Bound Brook, and is chairman of the AFL local there. Fred, Jr., has three children, all girls.

The others are Hazel, 28, (married and has one boy); Caroline, 30, (married and has one girl); Louise, 27, (married and has one girl and one boy); Ernest, 17; Bernice, 15; William, 13 and Wallace, 10. The last four are living at home.

As Mrs. Post remarks, "It isn't easy to raise a large family," but the Posts have done an admirable job. Fred Post's job as conductor, his egg business, caring for 300 chickens and raising 12 children is quite a feat, one that takes understanding and industry. The successes of the Posts seem to be summed up admirably by Fred's wife, Stella.

"We've had our hardships," she says, "but we've had our fun, too. They say a large family needs a good mother, but a mother can't make a home if she doesn't have a good husband. You've got to pull together."

Evidently, Fred Post is a good husband.

In last week's paper an article erroneously stated that the new building housing Bamberger's Millburn store was designed by William F. Blanchard. Actually, the building was designed by Stephen J. Potter, of 410 Colonial avenue, Union.

Mistletoe Kiss Pleasant Present From a Dim Past

Very few people don't know what a sprig of mistletoe means at Christmas time — especially when there's a pretty girl standing beneath it! But few people realize that this very pleasant custom has its root in age-old superstitions.

The lore of primitive days contains many references to mistletoe. According to an ancient Norse legend, the sun god was slain by an arrow fashioned from the mistletoe plant. He was resurrected by his mother's tears, which falling upon the plant, were crystallized into pearly berries. Because of this magical healing, it was ordained that mistletoe should grow neither on heaven nor earth, but suspended between. That is the reason, runs the legend, that mistletoe is found growing on trees.

Mistletoe was of special significance to the Druids, ancient pagan priests of England, who cut it off trees with a golden knife used only for that purpose. They believed it possessed wonderful powers of healing and acted as a protection from witchcraft. During the December religious rites, it was bestowed upon individuals as a special mark of honor.

Because of its supposed salutary properies, mistletoe was often hung over the doors of primitive houses as a sign of good-will. Belief in magic has disappeared, but this custom still remains. And a kiss under the mistletoe still has beneficent effects. Try it and see for yourself!

The Teen-Ager..... ..... Looks Around

Morristown School

Each of us as we go through school envies the person who seems so poised and assured of just what his place in the world is. The boy who plays the piano like a young Horowitz, the girl who always gets the lead in the class play, the mathematical shark who will some day give Einstein a run for his money. There is always a boy who can make any radio sound like a Capehart and a kid whose mechanical skill allows him to repair any Model A with a couple of hairpins and run it on lighter fluid.

The girl sings or dances seems certain to make her mark in the world. We stand in awe of the guy who says with an air of secret knowing, "I am going to be a financier after I graduate from Princeton. We believe he really will and we look at ourselves and think, what have I got to offer? What talents have I that the world will pay for?

The answer is that most young geniuses or semi-geniuses run out their course by 18 or so, and end up as shoe salesmen. The brightest stars of childhood are usually just hollow echos by the time they're 20.

The boy who just "knew" he would be president of his father's bank someday, forgot that the good Lord had given him the abilities of a painter and not those of a financial expert. The boy who isn't worried about a job because he will inherit his father's business, which runs itself, never thought that his father's product is old fashioned and by the time he takes over it will be a worthless business. I admit that when you come to the person whose father has about 2 million in cash sewed into his winter underwear, which he will some day inherit, you just can't foresee anything but smooth sailing for the guy.

Nevertheless each of us has capabilities. There is no one who hasn't natural ability along some line. There are, as I have said, those few to whom chance has given an opportunity to develop skill in their aptitudes and so shine forth from the crowd. But for each of us, it is only a matter of time before we can be experts in our fields.

Certain talents are valuable in school but useful only as a hobby in later life. Painting, singing, amateur dramatics, cartooning, woodwork and mechanics are worth only a hobby to you unless you have unusual talent, but put you ahead of the crowd in school life.

So remember that no interest is worthless, all are worth cultivating but that joker across the room from you who drags down a 95 in math may well wind up adding scores in a bingo parlor.

Towing Service Begun For Pulaski Skyway

For greater safety and improved service to the public, State Highway Commissioner Spencer Miller, Jr., has completed plans to tow disabled vehicles from the Pulaski Skyway between Newark and Jersey City.

The three-mile elevated roadway will be patrolled to permit quick aid but in addition the Commissioner has ordered two-way telephone equipment. This inter-communication device will permit Jersey City, Newark and the Hudson County police to direct the driver in emergency calls.

CAMERA TOPICS

by T. T. Holden*

Cameras equipped with ground glass viewing — except for twin lens reflexes—can be used to compute exposures by applying the same theory behind an extinction type exposure meter. While the accuracy of this method depends largely upon the photographer's ability to judge light value, it is a handy method to know.

Once the picture is composed and focused on the ground glass, the diaphragm is stopped down slowly until the detail in the darkest area is just barely visible. This point becomes your diaphragm setting. The shutter speed is then set at a previously determined point according to the speed of the film used. And there is your exposure.

To find the proper shutter speed for a given film, you can use a photo-electric meter. Take a reading in the normal way, then stop down your diaphragm as described above. The meter will then give you the proper shutter speed for the diaphragm setting. This speed remains your constant for that film under all light conditions.

Or you can select the proper diaphragm setting by watching the ground glass and then make a series of exposures at all the various speeds at which your shutter works. Make a note of which shot was exposed at what speed.

Tree Preservation For State Parkway

Tree-preservation has been made a cardinal principle in the planning of New Jersey's First Parkway in Union, Middlesex and Bergen Counties, State Highway Commissioner Spencer Miller, Jr., said in an address before the New Jersey Federation of Shade Tree Commissions at the Essex House, last week.

"Widening as much as 90 feet," he declared, "has been ordered to preserve the greatest possible amount of fine wooded areas. The salvaging of existing native growths for transplanting to other locations has also been required.

"In the development of the Palisades Interstate Parkway, construction of which it is hoped will be begun next year, very special efforts will be made to hold safe the fine groves in that area.

Unique Shoe Factory Supplies Mismates

The establishment of a unique shoe factory located at Bristol, R. I., has been announced by William C. Bowen, New Jersey state representative of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc.

This factory, believed to be the only one of its kind in the entire country, has set up all of the necessary manufactured and marketing procedures to supply polio victims, amputees, and other cripples with mismated shoes at cost.

"For many years," said Mr. Bowen, "many polio victims or other cripples with mismated feet have been forced to buy two pairs of shoes at the same time in order to be properly fitted." Now with the establishment of this company, The Benefit Shoe Foundation, Inc., of Bristol, R. I., it is possible to secure a pair of shoes, each of which may differ in length and breadth from the other.

The Benefit Shoe Foundation, Inc., in no way replaces the services of an orthopedic shoe company. Since the shoes are made only on standard lasts and standard heights, special orthopedic shoes made with extra thick soles or other modifications still must be procured from a special orthopedic shoe company.

The organization of this company will particularly benefit veteran amputees since the company is willing to supply a single shoe in any size.

Plans for New Home For Legless Veteran Completed in Elizabeth

George Vosseler, a legless veteran from Elizabeth, will have a new home in a few months. Last week the Union County Society of Architects completed preparations for building the house, specifically designed to Vosseler's needs.

All circulation on the first floor will be by means of wide sliding doors that disappear into walls. There are to be ramps going down from the dining room to the porch and from the porch to the yard and also from the porch to the garage, eliminating steps between different levels which would be difficuk for Vosseler to use.

The house will feature many other labor-saving and good-living conveniences. Money for the crippled veteran's dwelling has been raised by a concerted campaign in Elizabeth and environs.

Motorists Given Cold Facts on Winter Safety

Motorists remember to change the oil in their cars when winter comes, but a lot of them don't remember to change their driving habits to fit the season.

The National Safety Council says this conclusion is supported by the fact that for the last eight years, snow belt states have shown a winter jump in the mileage death rate of 24 to 53 per cent as compared with summer.

The two major winter hazards in all sections of the United States are inadequate traction and reduced visibility. To find out about these hazards and what to do about them, the Council has conducted several research programs on frozen lakes in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan.

Tested Tips Offered

As the nation enters the most hazardous period of the year, the Council announced, these tested tips for winter driving:

1. Find out how slippery it is when starting out by stepping on the brakes lightly or "gunning" the motor. Get this feel of the road when driving slowly and while no other vehicles are near.

2. Adjust speed to conditions. A good guide to follow is the speed of other cars. Passing requires changing direction, accelerating and braking — all dangerous on a slippery surface.

3. Stay well back of other vehicles and slow down well ahead of intersections and curves. If you are going slow enough, it helps to accelerate very slightly when rounding a curve.

4. Use tire chains on snow or ice. They are the most effective self-help you have.

Keep Windshield Clear

5. Keep windshield and windows clear with good defrosters. If necessary, roll down the window a little.

6. Pump the brakes when you slow or stop. Locked brakes only throw you into a skid.

7. Even though it's cold out, don't forget hand signals when someone is behind you. Unexpected maneuvers which surprise the other fellow are accident-makers on slippery roads.

TIE THIS!

The War Assets Administration put on sale this morning at the Newark Customer Service Center, 125 First street, some choice surplus material—including 15,000 pairs of shoe laces.

According to North Jersey Director Robert W. Allan, "that should keep Jack Benny in Christmas gifts until he passes that 38th birthday."

Bidders ought to have a hot time with the non-priority sale, for included in the large lots of materials are 1728 cigarette lighters.

Fire Losses Cost Average Family $26.42

Direct losses by fire in 1947 will probably soar to an unprecedented $700,000,000, or 23 per cent higher than last year's $561,000,000 losses. The first 9 months of 1947 already are 23 per cent higher than last year.

This $700,000,000 fire loss, if apportioned equally among America's 60 million jobholders, would cost each wage-earner $11.66.

In U. S. cities fire protection costs about $3.69 per capita, according to the President's Conference on Fire Prevention. Thus public protection against fire would cost each family of four a total of $14.76.

Adding $11.66 to $14.76 equals $26.42, the average family's share in the direct cost of fire and the protection made necessary by the threat of fire.

This only covers the direct costs of destructive fire: The indirect costs, which include losses of business, credit, medical expenses, and other factors, which can only be estimated, cost the nation two to three times the direct property loss.

Christmas Club Savings Total $57,600,000

Thrifty citizens of New Jersey have been drawing out $57,600,000 they have accumulated in Christmas Clubs operated by banks in this state, according to an announcement by Christmas Club headquarters in New York City.

Commenting on this Elmer H. Bobst, State Chairman, U. S. Savings Bonds Committee said: "According to a cross-section survey made by the Christmas Club organization, 30 per cent of the national total of $747,000,000 to be distributed to 9,500,000 club members in some 5,500 banks and savings institutions will go into permanent savings.

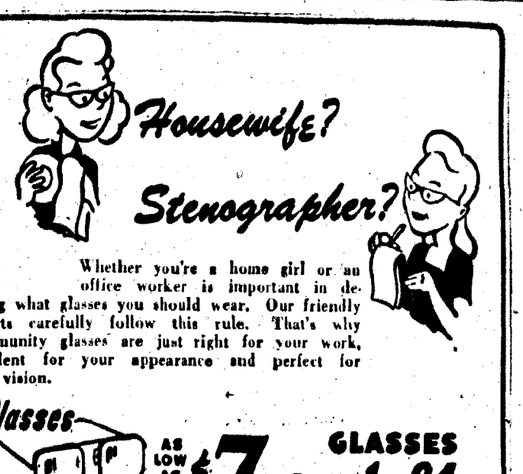

"It is to be hoped that much of that 30 per cent will be invested in U. S. Savings Bonds, especially Series E bonds, which return four dollars for three in ten years, averaging 29 per cent interest, compounded semi-annually if held to maturity.

"Every dollar that can be saved instead of spent in today's market helps hold down prices and each dollar saved now will buy more as prices of consumer goods come down.

"Individual Americans now hold more than $45,000,000,000, cash value today, in U. S. Savings Bonds, of which almost $31,000,000,000 is in E bonds. This stored-up buying power for the future will do a great deal to stabilize our consumer markets after supply catches up with demand and will help keep business good and jobs plentiful.

"The survey showed that 38 per cent of the Christmas Club funds were intended for the purchase of Christmas gifts.

Although it's a good trick the year 'round, adding a few tablespoons of currant jelly or mint jelly to real mayonnaise makes an especially good topping for holiday fruit salads. The red or green garnish is more festive looking.

For Your Health's Sake

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
Chicago Commissioner of Health

Influenza, as we see it today, does not compare in severity with the influenza which swept over much of Europe and all of America in 1917 and 1918, taking a dreadful toll of life.

Of late years the disease has been so mild that even the name has lost much of the dread attached to it in the years immediately after World War 1. Sooner or later, however we can expect another serious and dangerous outbreak.

Mild Influenza

It seems definitely established that this mild influenza of recent years is caused by one of two viruses called Influenza A and Influenza B.

A virus is the smallest of all disease-producing organisms. While the influenza produced by the two influenza viruses seems almost identical, the organisms themselves are different, even to the extent of being active in different years. Thus, outbreaks due to Influenza A recur every two or three years, while those caused by Influenza B have four-to-five-year intervals.

Symptoms of Influenza

In an attack of influenza the patient has more or less severe aching in the muscles and sometimes a dry cough, loss of appetite and headache.

No treatment has as yet been discovered which will clear up an influenza infection quickly. Neither penicillin nor the sulfonamide drugs seem to affect this virus. However, these drugs are often used during an influenza attack to ward off secondary infections with germs.

Vaccination

It is possible, however, to vaccinate patients for either Influenza A or B infections, or for both. Influenza vaccine only gives protection against influenza; it does not protect against any other respiratory infections, such as colds or pneumonia.

It has not as yet been determined exactly how long the protection lasts. Some believe that it lasts for only six weeks. Others think it may persist for from three months to a year. It is likely that there is some variation in the length of protection in different people; even if complete protection is not obtained, at least the disease is milder when an attack occurs.

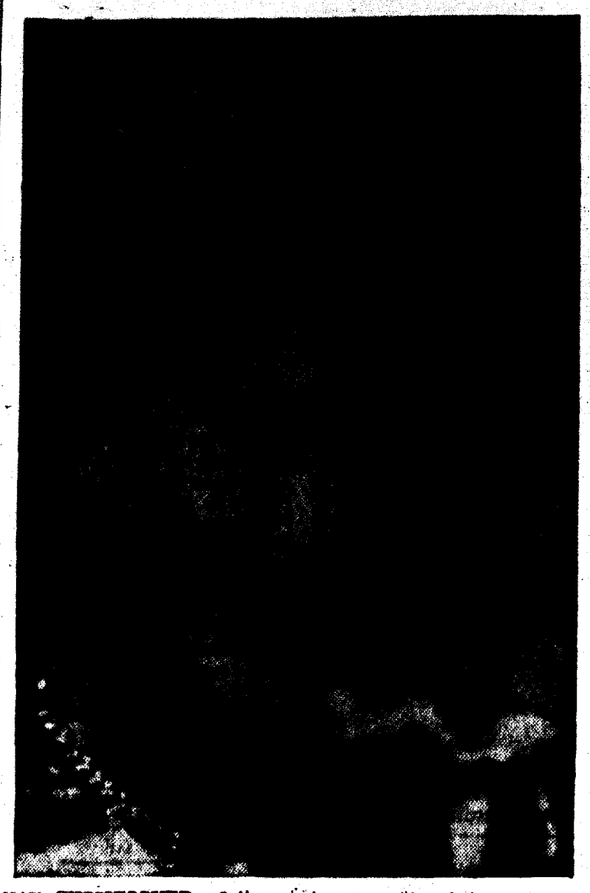

Following Injections

Following injections of influenza vaccine there may be chills, fever, and muscle aches which persist as long as a day. Aspirin often relieves the symptoms promptly.

During an epidemic of influenza it is advisable that persons in danger of exposure to the disease have injections of the Influenza A and B vaccine.

Persons who appear particularly susceptible to the disease would do well to consult their physicians about the advisability of getting injections of the vaccine at regular times each year.

Coiffure With a Double Life

KAY CHRISTOPHER, of the movies, wears her hair in a good, adaptable style.

By HELEN FOLLETT

HAIR stylists claim that career girls are anxious to have the kind of a coiffure that can lead a double life, be chic and fairly plain during office hours, but will assume more elaborate lines in the evening. They put approval on the straight back, smooth undulation with locks done in a curly chignon at the napeline that can be upped into crown curls whenever a dressier mode is desired. To attain this happy combination there must be a strong, durable permanent.

They are accenting sideline glamour as quite the coiffure ticket now.

Side Parting

Make a side parting, let the tresses at the left bunch out slightly, those at the right should be lifted into rolls or large ringlets. You can, if you desire, have a single dip on the right side; you just don't have to have the upswept effect if you don't want to. The off-the-forehead mode doesn't suit every face and it has been with us now for a long, long time.

Trim, tailored coifs should be sought by career girls. Too many ringlets do not suggest efficiency. The arrangement should be neatly casual, yet have flair. But these modes lend themselves for evening wear. Top curls can be combed down into bang, rear ones left to flutter as they will.

Draped Hair

The draped hair, still popular, is especially appropriate for the career girl who has been careering for more years than she is willing to acknowledge. It has dignity; can be as smart as all get-out. Wide, undulations are draped across the back of the head. Side locks are draped in an upward movement. A single strand, carrying a few wave lines, is lifted slightly over the crown of the head.

This hairdo requires careful trimming so that every strand can be managed conveniently and curled ends will come out precisely right.

Favorite American Foods

When it comes to Christmas cookies, American housewives borrow freely from other countries for recipes traditionally associated with Christmas. We have our own good homespun sweets but because the older generations remember a certain cake associated with the holiday season the custom of preparing it continues here.

Springerlie and Mandel Kager may sound anything but American, but in many good patriotic American homes these must be made. Another recipe for which Union County housewives regularly make requests at this season is spice drops.

All are given here by Mary W. Armstrong, Union County Home Agent, for those who may have lost the old family recipe or who may wish to try something different.

SPRINGERLIE

½ lb. sugar, sifted
1 and 2 teaspoons anise seed

Stir eggs and sugar, stirring in one direction only, until very light. Add sifted flour gradually, stirring all the time, until dough is stiff. Roll out about 1/8 inch thick, press floured springerlie board down very hard on dough to emboss the designs. Cut out the little squares and let dry 10 hours on floured board at room temperature. Bake on buttered tins sprinkled with anise seed, in a moderately slow oven, 325°F., until light yellow.

MANDEL KAGER
(Almond Cookies)

1 2/3 cups sifted Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Flour
1 tbsp. cinnamon
1 egg
½ cup chopped toasted almonds
½ cup sugar
½ tsp. baking powder
1 to 1½ tsp. ground cardamon
1 cup softened shortening (part butter for flavor)

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder, cinnamon and cardamon together. Add beaten egg and soft shortening. Mix well. Add almonds. Chill. Shape into balls the size of hickory nuts, flatten slightly. Brush tops with egg glaze (1 slightly beaten egg yolk mixed with 1 tbsp. water). Time: Bake 10 minutes. Temperature 375° (quick mod. oven). Amount: About 42 cookies.

Tasty Sauce

The tart flavor of green stuffed olives is an effective accompaniment for veal. Make a thin white sauce, and add slices of stuffed olives. The result is intriguing as well as colorful. This sauce may be served with veal chops, veal pot-roast and veal steaks.

New Twists In Useful Gifts

You can be very practical this Christmas without being too prosaic. Lots of ingenuity has gone into kitchen devices lately, so why not take advantage of it for gifts? Here are some items to illustrate a point:

If salad serving has always seemed a little sloppy, you'll welcome a new salad scissors. One end of this handy instrument is a fork, the other a spoon, making one-handed serving possible without a chopstick approach. Fork and spoon can be separated if desired.

Nobody likes a watered-down drink, be it a fruit punch or Martini. A new type pitcher preserves the original flavor from melting ice without losing that appetizing chill. Ice cubes are contained in an unbreakable metal shaft attached to the cover and extending down the middle of the pitcher. Result: drinks cold but not diluted.

For breakfasting couples, Mr. and Mrs. bottles for tea and coffee are just the thing. Each bottle holds two cups, so you don't have to run back to the kitchen for a hot refill. They're made of Pyrex, with gay plastic necks to brighten up early morning meals.

A new rolling pin has Christmas decorations cut right in the wood. Just roll the pastry out and the designs are transferred, ready for easy cutting.

Having champagne or wine to celebrate the season? If so, here's a corker for you! Place it on the bottle top, turn upper handle as far as possible, turn side handle, and pop! Ready to pour, and no back-strain, either.

A Piece of Your Mind

Karl M. Fistner, Ph.D.
Consulting Psychologist

Work as a consulting psychologist, like that in any other profession, has its strains and stresses. But the overwhelming compensation lies in the way one can see the results accomplished in helping the person concerned to a happier and fuller way of life.

Too often the process is slow and patient, for patterns of life which have been unconsciously built up over a period of a lifetime can not be broken down and reconstructed overnight. In some cases, however, where causative factors are relatively simple, dramatic aid can be quickly given.

One such case is that of Joe, a 30 year old man, who was referred to me last April. He was married, had a 4 months' old child, but because of the difficulties in his case, could find no way of supporting his family.

Was Very Ill

Foremost of these factors was the illness from which he was suffering. He had Buerger's Disease, or thrombo-angiitis obliterans. In this condition the innermost of the three coats of the arteries becomes inflamed, with clot formations. The flow of blood through the large arteries of the legs and arms, in his case, was impeded by this disease. The cause is not known, and no cure, so far as I know, has been discovered; the treatment consists of preventive measures to ward off gangrene and subsequent amputation, and supportive measures to build up the patient and reduce the pain.

Because of this disease it was imperative that Joe work only indoors, because outdoor work in cold weather might result in frostbite and gangrene of his hands or feet. Even indoors he had to avoid heavy lifting, because of his condition, and he had to find work which allowed him to sit down at intervals, or else the impeded flow of blood to his feet might cause gangrene.

Had No Trade

But Joe had no trade that could be utilized to fit his work to his physical needs. The only work he had ever done was as bartender in his father's tavern. That was not suitable because in his nervous despair he had begun to drink heavily; there was no point in exposing him to further temptation.

During the war, Joe had spent a year in the Army Radio School, learning radio procedure and maintenance. While overseas he had been assigned to repair and maintenance of radio and electrical equipment. He rather enjoyed that work, and while at home liked to repair electrical appliances and fixtures.

That was the information Joe gave, and the problem presented. What was to be done about it?

I started by giving Joe a thorough battery of aptitude, interest and intelligence tests. The results gave more data with which to work.

His intelligence was above average, showing particular ability to reason clearly and deduce logically. He had clerical ability which tested above average. At the same time, his mechanical abilities proved of superior level. In the manual dexterity tests, his hand-eye motor coordination was marked, particularly in work involving the handling of small objects.

Poorly Adjusted

The vocational interest tests showed helpful results. They demonstrated his main interests to lie in the field of business and administration. Secondary interets were those related to selling in specialized fields.

The personality tests showed results disturbing enough to warrant immediate action. Joe disclosed very poor adjustment in his family, occupational and community relations. Major nervous symptoms manifested themselves on the tests, together with an attempt to cope with them by withdrawing into a shell, and losing contact with the world. His feelings of self-reliance had broken down badly, and according to the tests he was beginning to feel that the whole world was against him.

Those were some of the main factors brought out by the testing battery. As you can see, they gave us more information with which to work.

DINNER MENUS THIS WEEK

This week's menu features dried fruits. Dried peaches, prunes, figs and raisins are plentiful now and inexpensive. Not only do these dried fruits add interest and variety to meals, but they also provide valuable minerals.

Sunday: Chicken fricasee, dumplings, mashed turnips, spinach, raw beet salad, mincemeat turnovers.

Monday: Chicken croquettes, creamed potatoes, broccoli, lettuce with French dressing, stewed prunes and apricots, oatmeal cookies.

Tuesday: Oyster noodle casserole, pan browned potatoes, peas, carrot curls and celery, apple-raisin brown betty.

Friday: Fillet of haddock, creamed potatoes, carrots, tossed green salad, banana chocolate pie.

Saturday: Macaroni and cheese omelet, potato chips, brussel sprouts, mixed vegetable salad, peach and date pudding.

About the House

ELEANOR ROSS

We believe in doing things in plenty of time, and so we opine that it isn't a scrap too early to start working on holiday decorations, or, at least, outlining the decorating plan. The greens and reds of the holiday season contribute a large measure of color to this most beautiful of festivals, and poor indeed is the home that doesn't show a bit of this holiday happiness.

Lavishness is not required to tell the ever-new story. Just an artistic use of the bounties of nature in the form of wreaths, branches, garlands, clusters and cones. Tradition dictates the use of evergreens and berries.

Good Choices

Select greens with care as they must last through the holidays. Balsam, spruce and pine are all good since they hold their needles well. Hemlock, while it looks lovely, soon sheds.

Decorations should start with the doorway to offer their message of greeting and welcome, and to speed cheer to the passer-by. A swag of white pine with bright red ribbon ties gives a life to a dark door panel, while for the white door, of course, the green wreath with red ribbon is always right. A few cones or red berries sets this one off nicely. Use oil cloth ribbon for outdoor decorations.

A simple wreath is always effective, but some folks like to dress 'em up with fed apples fastened to red ribbons or Tiny Lady apples clustered on a wire, these especially nice with blue spruce or balsam wreaths. Pine branches to trim the door and form a swag add to the colorful picture as well as the traditional tree. It is nice to spot small trees here and there, perhaps on the entrance hall table, flanking the stairway or on the dining room table or buffet. Small trees with all white branches gay with tiny figures, set in a brightly-colored container are always nice.

Although candles don't grow on the tree much any more and a good thing for fire prevention it is — candles still have their place in the grand scheme. Candles on the fireplace mantel with swags of greens and clusters of cones and berries or decoration always strike a pretty note. Tall slender candles mounted on wood, both the block and the container hidden by greenery are a good idea.

It is both beautiful in feeling and artistic in concept to have the whole family work on a manger, which can be either large enough to be a focal point or small enough to be placed on a broad sill or a table. Let the children have a big hand in creating a creche. It will make the most touching, the most beautiful of happenings even more poignant and real.

In the MODERN SPIRIT

CONTEMPORARY AS THE CURRENT MOMENT, yet avoiding the stark appearance presented by some modern architectural designs, this house, with its rather quaint French-style doorway and iron-railinged balcony, nicely combines yesterday's charm and today's efficiency.

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

Unmistakably in the modern spirit is the house above, with its simple, clear-cut lines, its plain surfaces and obvious eagerness to take advantage of all possible sunshine and fresh air.

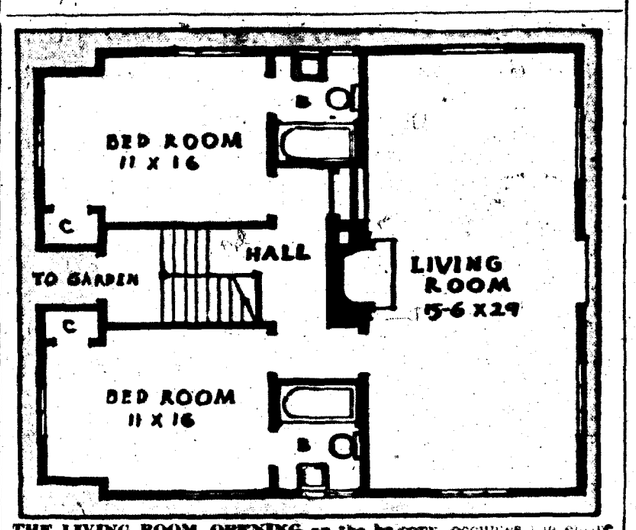

It is saved, however, from the somewhat stark appearance that some modern architectural designs offer by the softening influence of the French-style doorway, the casement windows and the wrought iron railing around the balcony.

The architect who designed the house was confronted with the problem of overcoming the difficulties presented by the fact that the lot on which the building was to be done was very narrow and steep. He did this by sinking the back of the structure into the hillside itself, through the medium of a concrete retaining wall. He then located the laundry and a workroom at the back, which is below grade, with kitchen and dining room occupying space on the same floor at the front, above grade.

Such an arrangement puts the living room on the floor with the two bedrooms, the former occupying the entire width of the house in the location that would command the most attractive outlook.

While this particular house is partially of concrete and partially of stud construction with stucco on metal lath, it could be built of wood equally successfully if desired.

The house, with its plans, is one of those pictured in a new book on housing entitled "A Home of Your Own."

THE LIVING ROOM, OPENING on the balcony, occupies the entire width of the house on the side that commands the most attractive outlook.

Your Suburban Garden

By Alexander Forbes

Today the relief of the hungry peoples of European countries is perhaps uppermost in our thoughts. We are constantly reminded of the dire need through each new edition of the newspapers and frequent comments over the radio. Congress has voted funds for partial relief and is now deciding how extensive the Marshall plan will be.

Ever since the removal of postal and shipping restrictions after the war ended, a great many of us have been sending food and clothing packages to relatives, friends and strangers in these impoverished countries. It is estimated that the collective effort reached a value of over 80 million dollars in the first half of this year. All this is but a step in the right direction. Even the Marshall plan, if carried out to the maximum, will give only partial relief. The huge total of food, clothing and equipment needed is beyond imagination. The handling of these will involve tremendous transport facilities and an enormous personnel.

New "Seeds of Peace" Drive

Recently a national drive has been started to send packages of seeds to the food-short people of foreign lands. There is nothing which will provide so much from so little. A couple of sacks of cabbage seed could produce more than enough to fill the 250 carloads of the Friendship Train.

There are two organized movements. One is sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Clubs with 200,000 members in 4,500 clubs located in 42 states. This plan calls for the purchase for 50 cents of a collection of 13 kinds of vegetable seeds, enough to plant 300 square feet. Money to purchase these seed collections may be sent at once to your local Garden Club. The garden units, with identification of the donor, will be distributed to a gardener in any of the countries subscribing to the Marshall plan through the facilities of the Church World Service.

Send Seeds to Hungry Europe

The second, and more substantial plan is sponsored by the American Seed Trade Association and the member seed companies in every state of the United States. This collection contains 24 varieties of vegetable seeds which will produce up to five tons of vegetables on an area of 3500 square feet. Each unit will contain the name and address of the donor and also will be distributed through the facilities of the Church World Service in any of the following countries: Albania, Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, British Isles, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and Yugoslavia. These collections may be purchased now from your seedsman for $3.95 each, or for $3.65 in lots of 25. Delivery will be made to any recipient you designate. If none is requested distribution will be made by the Church World Service to the needy, without regard to faith or race.

There is nothing you can give for equivalent money that will provide so much relief as a seed collection. This gift of hope and friendship will do much to help both the economic and spiritual recovery of the war-torn European countries.

Sit Down While Doing Housework

Mother is usually the push behind much of the extra preparation that makes Christmas a gay and happy time for the family. She will enjoy the festivities, too, if she doesn't get all tired out beforhand.

Doris Anderson, extension specialist in home management at Rutgers University, suggests that mothers sit down when they do many of their jobs about the house. In the next few weeks, they will have many added duties piled on top of their regular ones. Sitting takes about one third of the energy standing does so that will help Mother save her strength.

Many homemakers do not sit down to work because they don't have a chair that fits their working surface. It's essential to have a comfortable chair or stool that places the person so there is no reaching up, humping over or stretching out to the work. A resting place for the feet is necessary, too.

Lloyd P. Bremer New President of Builders

Lloyd P. Bremer of Bremer and Kemp, Builders, of Short Hills, was elected President of the New Jersey Home Builders Association, to succeed Willard E. Closs of Summit.

Mr. Bremer, in accepting the duties of his new office, stressed the great importance of a strong Home Builders Association on a national, state and local level. Mr. Bremer stated that the work being done by the Home Builders Association throughout the country in cooperation with all other allied business would not only produce needed housing, but will give this country a better home at the lowest possible cost.

Other officers elected were: First vice-president, Edward J. English of South Orange and East Orange; second vice-president, Samuel Sodowick of Newark; secretary, Thomas W. Moore of Union, and treasurer, Leo Tzeses of Newark.

The following directors were elected for a term of three years: Past president, Walter J. Harring of Maplewood and Clifton, Peter J. Longarzo of South Bound Brook and Arthur H. Padula of Newark.

Santa! Not only PIANOS but ORGANS and the SOLOVOX are here

The simplest tune can be played a hundred different ways on the Hammond

The HAMMOND ORGAN

A concert organ that fits in a four-foot square. Creates the familiar organ voices—strings, diapasons, woodwinds—and an infinite number of new tone colors, all by electric impulses.

A small electronic organ that produces full, rich cathedral tones

The MINSHALL-ESTEY ORGAN

Single keyboard. Easy to play. Piano size. True, resonant organ tones. Suitable for church or home use.

A compact little foot-power organ with two sets of reeds, 8' Diapason and 4' Flute

The ESTEY Junior ORGAN

A modest priced organ for various uses. Oversize bellows. Long full chords may be sustained without loss of volume.

The Solovox adds orchestral effects to your piano

The SOLOVOX made by Hammond

The small keyboard of the Solovox easily attaches to your piano. With your right hand you play the tones of many instruments—violin, cello, clarinet, trumpet, etc. With your left hand you play the usual piano accompaniment.

REFLECTIONS ON NEWS OF THE WEEK

The biggest news of the week involves, of course, the surprising showing of Jersey Joe Walcott against Joe Louis last Friday and the subsequent furor the split decision of the judges has created. . . Walcott claims he was cheated of the title, but no track man justly deserves the heavyweight crown in our book. . . It's true Joe Louis wasn't the Brown Bomber we knew over the past ten years. His punches did not pack the power they used to, his footwork was off, he was uncertain, and amateurish in his movements. . . But Walcott fought a retreating fight that at times became more of a running race than the Louis-Conn marathon had been. . . Louis will meet Walcott again very soon, and there aren't many who doubt his ability to make a quick, clean finish of it. . . Walcott has been fighting the past two years and was "up" for the Louis bout both physically and mentally, while the champ had only gone a total of ten rounds over that span. . . You can't be a good fighter without fights, and Louis undoubtedly knows that now. . . A lot of people are probably going to spend well over a million bucks next June to witness the short, last paragraph to Jersey Joe's current best-selling fairy tale titled "I can lick Louis Anywhere, Anytime."

Another event released last Friday was the publication of the NJSIAA sectional football champions among the state's high school teams . . . As we predicted last week, Westfield was thrown for a terrific loss—worse than we had even dared to imagine . . . Not only was Hillside given preference to create a tie for the North Jersey Group III crown, but Springfield Regional also polled more points than Westfield to make it a triple tie for titular honors in spite of an undefeated record for the Blue Devils. Hillside polled the most points —618—in spite of losing two games and playing a 6-6 tie with Jefferson of Elizabeth . . . The Hillside points were piled up on the strength of six games with Group IV schools . . . We always thought a Group III champ was indicative of play in their own league? . . . Did the Jersey City Giants, of the International League, ever become champion of the National League because they beat teams in that circuit at some time during a baseball season? . . . The Colliton system is that foolish.

Clifton and Montclair shared honors in the two Group IV sections, as everyone expected they would, since there isn't any "Group V" they could mess around with as Hillside did with Group IV schools . . . Group II in Central Jersey is another crazy decision . . . Highland Park polled more ponts than Manasquan although winning six, losing one and tying three through the season . . . Manasquan went through eight games undefeated.

We don't think our blasts have had anything to do with it, but there was so much controversy among members of the NJSIAA executive committee, that it has voted to review the Colliton system "for guidance in future years" . . . This won't be the first time the numbers system is being reviewed . . . It happens every few years . . . Why doesn't the state association wise up and toss the whole thing out the window? . . . As we've said many times before, champions are decided on the field, and not in columns of figures derived from mathematical formulae, as the recent findings will bear out.

HOOPLA

There'll be a great show at Seton Hall's gymnasium-auditorium tonight, when stars of stage, screen and radio pay a two hour dedicatory tribute to the dean of sportscasters, Ted Husing. Seton Hall is dedicating a new press box in their gym to the popular announcer and sports writer. The show will be emceed by Husing himself. The box, located in the balcony, has facilities for writers, radio men and television. It will be used for the first time December 19, when the Pirates open their 1947-48 basketball season.

Without Verona's Buck Hatchett in the lineup, Rutger's cage squad is in for quite a few beatings. This became apparent last Saturday when the Scarlet, jittery and totally incompetent through most of the contest, lost to Yale by a 67-46 count. Rutgers has a great many tough games on this year's schedule, and Hatchett, last year's mainstay, is sorely missed. Latest word, however, from the Banks of the Raritan indicates that Bucky will be back in action in a few short weeks, and then watch the Scarlet go to town.

AROUND AND ABOUT IN SPORTS

We hate to give him the credit, but Walter Winchell stated that Leo (the Lip) Durocher would be back to manage Brooklyn in 1948 long before the story broke officially. He said as much at least a week prior to the announcement, yet sports writers were still guessing up to the last moment . . . Billy Nixon's showing against Sugar Ray Robinson in Elizabeth last night might earn him a shot at the welterweight champ's title . . . The benefit fight drew well over $10,000 for the B'nai B'rith fund . . . Princeton's new Herbert Lowell Dillon Gymnasium was used for the first time last night as the Tigers met Lafayette in a cage tilt. The imposing structure, not yet complete, is a $2,000,000 beauty.

STICK IN TIME SAVES GOAL

IT'S pretty difficult to score a goal in hockey even with a stick. Without one, well—? The New York Ranger player, No. 4 in center of first picture, is all set to take a pass from a teammate before the Boston Bruins' goal. But two Bruins gang up on him, knock the stick out of his hands and Mr. Ranger misses the chance to score. Goalie Frank Brimsek of the Bruins deflects the puck in bottom photo.

Geis Returns As Tiger Coach

Matthew Thomas Geis, nationally known track coach who developed such all-time Princeton greats as Bill Bonthron, Abson Perina, Ed Burrowes, Pete Bradley and Harvey Kelsey, has rejoined Princeton University's athletic staff as head coach of track and cross-country. For the past three years Geis has served as coach of both sports at Lawrenceville School, Lawrenceville, N. J.

The announcement of Geis' reappointment, coming within a week of the veteran coach's 60th birthday, was made by R. Kenneth Fairman, director of Princeton's Department of Physical Education and Athletics, following action by the University Council on Athletics. Geis will resume his duties this week as the Tiger winter track squad settles down to serious work.

Career Started in 1910

Geis' assistant, both in track and cross-country, will be Peter J. Morgan, who for the past two falls has handled Nassau cross-country teams and last year aided Timm with the spring and winter track teams. Morgan, a former Notre Dame runner, came to Princeton in the fall of 1946 after a decade of coaching at Trenton High School.

Geis' career as a highly successful coach stretches back to 1910, when, after winning championships as a middle-distance runner in and around New York City, he became coach of the Millrose A. C. He served Millrose until 1917, and then saw overseas duty with the infantry, helping to organize the Inter-Allied games before returning to this country for another two years of club-coaching.

A year as assistant coach of track at Yale preceded his transfer in 1922 to the Lawrenceville School where he remained until he was called to Princeton in 1930 as aide to Keene Fitzpatrick. Geis was the first coach in Lawrenceville's history to score a track triumph over the New Jersey school's arch-rival, the Hill School.

Geis, one of the organizers of Princeton's series of seven Invitation Track Meets that was instrumental in focusing public attention upon the mile run as one of the most dramatic of all track events, specialized in producing well-balanced Princeton teams.

Over the course of years, his Nassau track teams won 33 out of 61 dual and triangular meets, while his cross-country aggregations, from 1931 through 1943, won 41 meets and dropped 27. His most spectacular track combination was the 1938 team that swept through six consecutive dual meets, as well as the annual Hoptagonal games. In the 1938 Princeton-Cornell vs. Oxford-Cambridge meet, Princetonians placed first in every field event.

Present Fat Shortage Due to More People

A world population increase of 200 million people, equal to the number of persons in all of North America, has been added since the first world war, reports D. A. FitzGerald, secretary-general of the International Emergency Food Council. This many more people to be fed makes the world-wide shortage of fats and oils even more acute. Dr. FitzGerald also lists heavy war damage and slow reconstruction as among the chief reasons for the current world shortage of nearly eight billion pounds of fats and oils.

Due to these causes, world production of fats and oils is 12 per cent less than pre-war production. Because of the tremendous damage wrought by the last war, reconstruction has been relatively slow and many nations will lack equipment and materials to reorganize and produce fats and oils as they did before the war. The imperative need to save every drop of used kitchen fats cannot be over-emphasized in view of these world conditions. Used kitchen grease can take the place of critically needed food fats.

Stevens Research on Sound Control System Makes Bottles Talk; In Use on Broadway

Bottles that talk, cash registers that play tunes, a suitable voice for the ghost in Hamlet, and drums that are felt but not heard are some of the more ear-catching theatrical results of a sound research program at Stevens Institute of Technology under a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation. Last month the Foundation gave the added sum of $9600 for completion during the next 14 months of research on a sound control system for the theatre which was begun before the war, under the direction of Prof. Harold Burris-Meyer at the Stevens Theatre.

"The purpose of the system," he said, "is to remove the limitations on the control of sound so you can have the kind of sound you want, where you want it, when you want it and the way you want it."

New Book on Subject

The present grant will be used for two main projects. The first is preparation for publication of what Prof. Burris-Meyer characterized as "the cookbook." To be called "Sound in the Theatre," this book will present the results of the research program explaining the operation and design of a sound control system for theatres, and the methods of attaining certain sound effects. The second project will be the development of simplified and standardized sound control systems for theatrical use.

In operation in the current Broadway play, "Happy Birthday," the sound control techniques pioneered at Stevens not only give voice to the bottles on the bar shelves and a tune to the cash register, but dub in an operatic voice for star Helen Hayes. Prof. Burris-Meyer explained that the most difficult part of sound control work in "Happy Birthday" was the less spectacular but almost continuous background music from the juke box. The problem, he said, was to give the impression of a juke box without the low frequency throb which is characteristic of that kind of music and which would mask the voices of the actors and distract the audience. A real orchestra in the cellar and a flesh and blood operatic singer are used in the play. The music is controlled and located in the proper spots by the sound system and its speakers.

The Stevens sound control system is operated by one man from a central control board with input and output panels. Three channels connect these panels and the panels are color coded. Push button switches select the channel in the input panel and correspondingly colored switches and pilot lights indicate the channel on the output panel. Sounds from all types of sources, live, electronically generated or recorded, can be fed into and controlled on the input side. On the output side are speaker controls and speakers located to give the correct sound direction, and through them the sounds are distributed with the desired qualities and degrees of intensity, frequency and reverberation.

Can Create Intense Effect

Reverberation can be added to music or voices in order to create specific effects. This principle was used effectively in "Faust" where Margarita's efforts to pray are stifled by the presence of the voice of Mephistopheles, and in a presentation of Widor's Toccata in F where, by adding reverberation, the music was made to sound as if it were being played in the Church of St. Sulpice.

With selective reproduction, truly ghostly quality was added to the ghost in "Hamlet." An ass's bray was given to Bottom in "Midsummer Night's Dream" by mixing a small amount of the actor's original voice with a remade voice which had an ass's great frequency range, and volume at the high and low ends of the range.

In "Emperor Jones," presented at Stevens, subsonics were used to make the rhythm of the drum felt in the first act before it is heard. It proved more effective than the conventional drum because the audience felt as an omen the pattern of the drum beat into which the audible sound later fitted, adding intensity to its effect.

In setting up a sound control system for a play the problems are not only electroacoustic problems of fitting the system into the play, but the problem of fitting the sound system into the scenery. In "Two on an Island" for the first time sound control and scenery were planned together so that neither suffered because of the other. "This," Prof. Burris-Meyer stated, "is a precedent which we hope will be followed as the Stevens' system gains wider use."

Bathtub Singing Has Scientific Basis

"People like to sing in the bathtub," said Prof. Burris-Meyer, "because their voices sound better to them in a small reverberant room." When a singer can hear himself sing his performance is generally more relaxed and effective. With a sound control system this principle can be applied to a performer by creating an "acoustic Envelope" which gives the vocalist or instrumentalist the satisfying effect of performing in a small studio no matter what the acoustics of the auditorium, in which he is appearing. This depends on letting the performer hear himself instead of losing his voice in the hall. The high frequency notes are played back to the performer with a very short time interval over a speaker so placed that the sound is audible to himself, but not to the audience. This "acoustic envelope" principle has been tried out successfully in many productions and is used by Paul Robeson as standard equipment in all his concerts.

"The Authority on Authorities"

EMOTIONS ARE COSTLY

IT CAN COST you plenty of points to let your emotions control you at the bridge table. If particular tactics by the opponents upset you and make you "see red," it is better to control yourself than take ill-advised action prompted by the way you feel at the moment. If your opponents learn that certain actions on their part, such as psychic bids or high pre-emptive calls, disturb your equilibrium, they are likely to take advantage of your weakness.

	♠ A K 10 8 2 ♥ None ♦ A 8 7 2 ♣ 6 4 3 2

(Dealer: East. Both sides vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
4 Hearts	4 Spades	Dbl

All players at the table—including himself—knew South as a player who insists constantly that pre-emptive opening bids do not pay. To back up his theory, he considers such a bid a personal affront when it is made against him, and is noted for making a practice of bidding over them.

East ordinarily follows the sound procedure of not making a high opening bid on a hand which has enough high-card strength to justify a bid of one in a suit, as it would crowd his own side as much as it would shut out the opponents. But this time, with the pre-emptive hater at his left, and with ten tricks virtually sure in his own hand, he opened with the 4-Hearts to see what the bid would do to South.

The latter stuck his neck away out when he bid spades over that, and West cracked down with the hatchet. East, having more defensive values than his pre-empt would indicate, in fact much more, was happy to pass.

The heart J led was ruffed by South, who took in the spade A and K, then led the club 2. West split honors, putting in the Q, and the A won. Returning with the diamond A, South led the club 3, which the Q won. West consumed trumps with his Q and J, then led a heart, giving East the rest of the tricks with red cards. South was set five, for 1,400 points much more than the value of the game East could have scored if South had passed the 4-Hearts as almost any other good player would have done.

Park Vaudeville Casts Franklin Twins, Lester

The Franklin Twins, who are now concluding a long engagement at La Martinique Cafe the famous New York supper club, will be featured on the vaudeville bill which will be presented at Reade's Park Theatre, Morristown, today, December 11.

Three shows will be presented daily, at approximately 3:00 p. m., 7:00 p. m., and 10:00 p. m., in addition to the Park's regular screen bill.

Also featured will be Ted Lester, a resident of Perth Amboy, billed as the "Prince of Music." Lester, who can play 20 popular musical instruments, will demonstrate his skill on most of them in his solo act. Another "headline" act will be Tyler, Thorn and Roberts, comic acrobats, who starred in the recent Ziegfeld Follies.

Hit Floor Show At the Glenbrook Features Will Oakland, Kay Medford

Will Oakland's new floor show, which opened at the Glenbrook in Glen Ridge last week, drew a capacity crowd of over 200 persons Saturday night.

A new attraction in the floor show was the stage and screen personality, Kay Medford, who recently returned from Hollywood and a tour of Japan, where she was with the Army Special Services Show entertaining Army and Navy personnel stationed in that area.

Kay was enthusiastically received at her first appearance Friday night when she gave a series of remarkable impersonations of scre enstars with whom she has been associated in Hollywood. Miss Medford was under contract with M.G.M. and has appeared in such pictures as the "Maisie" series, "Mrs. Parkington," "Adventure" and other movies. Her last Broadway stage appearance was in "Clash by Night."

One of the features of the show are the Leonardos who present "A Dance Festival." Their novelty act is climaxed by giving guests the opportunity to participate by dancing with them. This week they are planning to give not only an exhibition, but also some instruction in the intricate steps of the rumba.

Eddie Duchin started the Leonardos on their career at the Congress Hotel in Chicago after they had won the New York State tango contest. Since that time they have performed at such places as the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, Canada; Casino Nationale, Havana, Cuba; British Colonial Hotel, Nassau, B. W. I.; and the Club Macombo, San Francisco, where they entertained and danced with the delegates attending the United Nations conference there.

The Leonardos recently returned peared in the Viennese waltz scene in "Emperor's Waltz" with Binrg Crosby, Joan Fontaine, a picture not yet released.

KAY MEDFORD, now appearing at the Glenbrook in Glen Ridge.

Eight Naval Air Transport enlisted orderlies have traveled a total of 1,400,280 miles in an average of 14 months with NATS, according to a recent survey. This total corresponds to 64 trips around the world. In this much flying, the orderlies have served to passengers 22,650 inflight meals and 2,250 gallons of coffee.

Pictures, Plays and People

About 20 little girls, from six to 12 years old, who live in one of Newark's less prosperous neighborhoods, may find themselves launched on careers ranging from typists to novelists because MRS. GENEVA STANFORD of 100 Barclay street, that city, won $365 as a contestant on a recent broadcast of "Strike It Rich," human interest quiz program.

Mrs. Stanford participated in the program because she wanted to finance the purchase of four typewrietrs for her "Polly Pigtails Club," an inter-racial group she formed to provide constructive recreation for her own six-year-old daughter and other little girls living in her neighborhood. When several of the girls expressed interest in typewriting, the 24-year-old housewife wrote to quizmaster Todd Russell, applying for tickets to the show. Immediately after the broadcast, Mrs. Stanford received telephone calls offering her typewriters from several listeners.

EDDIE CANTOR hopes to top all records in his fourth annual "Give a gift to a Yank who gave" campaign. His aim is to secure at least one Christmas gift for every ill, disabled or wounded serviceman or woman still hospitalized. The first three years of the drive netted more than four million gifts, valued at an estimated $15,000,000. The campaign is sponsored jointly by the Disabled American Veterans, the American Legion, the National Retail Drygoods Association and Cantor.

KAYE MEDFORD, Hollywood starlet now appearing locally at the Glenbrook in Glen Ridge, tells of the time she met GREER GARSON in New York two years after doing the film "Adventure with her. Not remembering that Miss Garson had been featured in the picture, Miss Medford was surprised when the Hollywood star came over to her and said, "My dear, I remember your work in 'Adventure.' You were marvelous."

Miss Medford thanked her, and then shot back with, "Wasn't that a terrible picture? Why do they make things like that?"

Greer Garson was shocked, but regained her composure, and with a wry smile answered, "Well, we all have to make a living—don't we?"

BING CROSBY has been selected as the top radio personality in the Cleveland Plain Dealer annual poll. BOB HOPE was voted top comedian on the air. Both previously won the same top honors in the poll, the oldest of its kind, but a few weeks ago a survey of college students by a news service concerning top radio comedians had Hope finishing out of the running completely. Evidently he isn't as popular as one might think from the publicity releases. How long can corn grow without withering?

Distinguished Cast In "Carmen" Jan. 10

For its first event of the new year, the Griffith Music Foundation has completed plans for the presentation of the opera "Carmen" at the Mosque Theatre, Newark, on Saturday evening, January 10, with a cast which will be one of the most distinguished ever assembled for a Foundation event.

Winifred Heidt, famous contralto and one of the greatest of modern Carmens, will sing the title role. Ramon Vinay, familiar radio and "Met" tenor, will appear as Don Jose, and Alexander Sved, another Metropolitan Opera stalwart, will be Escamillo. Of unusual interest to opera goers also will be the fact that the redoubtable Alexander Smallens will conduct.

A strong supporting cast, chorus, and corps de ballet will be other features of a performance which will present Vinay, fresh from an appearance at Milan's famous La Scala Opera House where he is scheduled to open the winter season in "Otello" on December 26. Vinay will fly back from Italy and his appearance in "Carmen" will precede a Metropolitan Opera appearance in the Otello role.

So you think the rumba looks difficult? It may look that way, but it's not difficult to learn at Dale. In just one lesson you'll be ready to join the fun. Dale's tested teaching methods make this miracle possible. We've reduced the rumba to a science that you can learn as easily as you memorize a phone number (and there'll be lots of those when you know the rumba). The same teaching methods take the mystery out of the modern foxtrot, the waltz, the Lindy, and the samba. Just one lesson and you can step out with the best. Every course is guaranteed by Dale's exclusive lesson refund plan.

I Didn't Know It Was Loaded

"I didn't know it was loaded." That's a good old stand-by alibi for a gun accident. Each year hundreds of intelligent hunters will give that "excuse" after puncturing themselves or, even worse, someone else. Often times the results are tragic and the sportsman pays the visit pictured in the cartoon.

One good example happened in California last year. A young hunter returned home from a successful duck hunt and his mother wanted to take his picture with his "bag" and his gun. But first she sensibly asked him if the weapon was loaded. Answering "No," the hunter pointed the gun at his head and pulled the trigger. His mother never got the picture but the town undertaker did all right.

There is no such thing as a gun "accident." They are all caused by ignorance or forgetfulness.

KNOW NEW JERSEY

By G. A. BRADSHAW

Copany Meeting House, Jacksonville

The old village of Copany in Burlington County, is situated near the village now known as Jacksonville. Very little is left of this interesting old place, except the Quaker meeting house. It was built in 1775 and was used by Continental soldiers while they were attempting to stop Hessian soldiers from going to Trenton. The date of its construction may clearly be seen in the upper brick work at the front. The Quaker meeting house, which has not been used since 1904, is in an excellent state of preservation. Straight-backed benches and walnut-paneled walls still remain on the first floor. In the gallery are old single benches without backs. Jacksonville is located on an improved road from Burlington.

SANTA WILL BE BACK AT
THIS SATURDAY, DECEMBER 13TH

You certainly gave Santa a royal reception last Saturday, folks . . . so much so that of the many thousands present some probably missed visiting Santa, on account of the crowds. That's why Santa is coming to you again this Saturday, so that every little child can see and talk to him. He'll be on his throne, waiting to see you, from 9:30 a. m. when the store opens, to 5:30 p. m.

SANTA WILL BE WAITING ON HIS THRONE TO MEET YOU, KIDDIES! Join the jolly parade to his beautiful red throne, surrounded by toys from his pack. Tell him what you want for Christmas. Oh . . . there'll be plenty of fun and thrills for everyone so . . .

COME ONE... COME ALL...
