Pvt. Edward S. Varner

Summit Soldier, Missing 4 Years, Now Listed Dead

An 18-year-old Summit soldier whose whereabouts has been a mystery since July 8, 1950, when he was reported missing in action in Korea is now known to have died of starvation in a North Korean prison camp seven months after he was captured.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Varner of 19 Weaver street, parents of Pvt. Edward S. Varner, last week were informed by the War Department that their son died Feb. 5, 1951. The information was obtained, the Army said, by interrogation of returned prisoners.

Varner was first reported missing in action and a few months later was reported by Red Cross authorities to be a prisoner of war. Two years later, according to Communist reports to the United Nations, the Summit youth was reported by the North Koreans as having successfully escaped from a prison camp. However, information given by returned Americans now indicates that Varner died of starvation and malnutrition and the facts kept secret by the Reds.

Father Still Hopeful

Raymond Varner, the boy's father, told the Herald he believes his son is still alive and that the earlier report of his escape from the prison camp is true. He said that he bases this belief on the fact that the Army notice said that no trace of the body or grave could be found.

Private Varner joined the Army in May, 1949 following his graduation from Summit High School where he was active in athletics. He was sent to Japan the following November and then to Korea where he saw action with the 34th Infantry Regiment of the 24th Division.

A brother, Carl, now at home recently completed four years' Army service mainly at Alaska.

New Construction Drops $13,000 From Last Year

The Board of Recreation's application for a building permit to erect a $102,000 center in East Summit brought the total of new building permits issued February to $285,500 or $13,000 less than the comparable time in 1953.

Alteration permits last month, however, were on the high side with $27,772 compared to $5,500 in February '52.

Other permits issued included: Barba Co. 2, 87, 93, 95, 97 and 101 Canoe Brook parkway, $10,000 each; Gary Homes Inc., 7 Gary road, $8,000 and 14, 11 and 12 Gary road, at $9,000 each; and Fernwood Estates, 7 and 8 Woodfern road, $4,000 each.

Also, A. Soccodato, 7 Greenfield avenue, $7,000; Crest View Development Co., 210 Blackburn road, $8,500; A. Drageland, 58 Portland road, $22,000; Cloister Construction Co., 14 Warwick road, $16,000, and Charles Grillo, 216 Blackburn road, $10,000.

Rotary Bans Politicking

Rotary Club meetings have been declared out of bounds to politicians. Circulation of petitions or any other political activity will no longer be any part of the weekly program, officers of the club ruled this week.

At Monday's meeting two members were rebuked for securing signatures on a Case-for-Senator petition and asked to cease and desist.

It's not that the club is anti-Case, officers said, but merely that it feels that politicking has no place at meetings.

Canoe Brook Area Residents Question FutureDevelopment

Common Council Tuesday night acknowledged receipt of a letter signed by members of seven families residing on Canoe Brook parkway who are concerned with long range problems in connection with the drainage, curbing and traffic of the parkway.

Pointing out that the letter was sent "without prejudice" and with the knowledge that Canoe parkway is not a city-accepted street, the signers indicated that they are trying to protect present property values and to ensure the high standards of the neighborhood.

The resident asked, "Are storm sewers along Canoe Brook parkway ever deemed necessary, and if, so, will the developer install them?"

They also asked what measures will be taken in regard to the anticipated increase in traffic on the parkway and if during dry summer months the Parkway can occasionally be sprayed to keep down dust and dirt accumulated from the building operations.

Another question asked what could be done in connection with completing either side of the street and installing curbs from Woodland avenue to Beverly road.

The letter was referred to the Public Works committee for study. It was sent to the attention of Councilman Ogden D. Gensemer who is chairman of that committee.

The residents who signed the letter were: Paul J. Bearer, A. M. Callis, C. Theodore Burke, Robert J. Griffith, Dorothy H. Bearer, Martha K. Griffith, Mary B. Quintin, H. M. Perry, J. R. Quintin, Jack T. Mellor, Margaret Perry, Mildred H. Callis, Louise B. Miller and G. Barbara Burke.

Soil Removal Curbs

An ordinance which would make it illegal for developers, excavators or other persons to remove soil without first filing a map with the city clerk and obtaining a permit was introduced and passed on first reading.

The ordinance calls for a map of the proposed removal and relocation to be filed with the city clerk and okayed by the city engineer. The permit fee is $25.

The ordinance was designed to avoid detriments to the health by soil erosion from water and wind, the breeding of mosquitos and other hazards.

Another ordinance introduced and passed on first reading makes it illegal to resist or oppose or obstruct a police officer in his duties and to refuse to assist an officer in making an arrest or carrying out his duties.

This ordinance was an amendment to the Peace and Good Order ordinance and was suggested by City Solicitor Peter C. Triolo and

Red Cross Lists $5,000 in Advance Gifts

House-to-house solicitation for the annual Red Cross fund campaign in Summit and other communities included in the Summit chapter started Sunday with the impetus of an announcement by Leo O'Grady, drive chairman, that more than $5,000 had been donated in advance gifts by business and industry.

Summit has been divided into five residential areas with each area headed by division leaders and serving under the captains and workers. The first drive reports will be submitted at a meeting Tuesday, March 9.

Heading Division 1 solicitations are Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Whitney. Other division leaders are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gibbons, division 2; Mr. and Mrs. James Rothschild, division 3; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Chambers, division 4; Capt. and Mrs. Edward Barber, division 5, and N. J. Saunders, apartments and hotels.

On Monday Carleton W. Pierson, chapter chairman, presented the fund raising campaign, which began on Sunday, to Rotarians at

PLANS FOR NEW WASHINGTON SCHOOL—Above is the architect's sketch for the new $500,000 annex and improvement of Washington School in North Summit. The addition will be built on the rear of the present building and entrances changed from Morris avenue to a side driveway. Purchase last year of 11 acres brings to total for school and recreation purposes to 14 acres. A feature of the plans is the arrangement for use of the building and land for recreation use by adults as well as children.

Mrs. A. D. Schwarz Heads Campaign's Policy Committee

Formation of the recommended planning and survey committee of the United Campaign got under way this week when it was announced by Edgar T. Young, United Campaign chairman, that he had appointed Mrs. Arthur D. Schwarz of 44 Edgewood road to head the new group. He also stated that Mrs. Schwarz had named John T. Connor of 11 Linden place a member of the committee. Three more members remain to be appointed by Mrs. Schwarz.

The planning and survey committee, which will be primarily a policy making body, was strongly recommended in reports on the United Campaign organization by the McLean Committee, the Kenyon Committee and last year's Campaign chairman, H. Woodward McDowell.

The committee, to consist of five members selected because of recognized interest in the community and reputation for "objectivity, fairness and courage in dealing with community problems," will give intensive consideration to unresolved policy questions confronting the Central Committee, report on pros and cons of any issue and recommend a course of action or a decision to be taken by the Central Committee.

The committee will undertake exploration of issues as referred to it by the Central Committee, its chairman, the Campaign chairman, or upon its own initiative. It is given wide latitude and access to all Campaign records and may, if so desired, release its reports for publication.

As its first undertaking, the committee will study recommendations for the future made last spring by the Budget Survey Committee and tabled by the Central Committee.

The Central Committee, at its March 23 meeting, will decide whether to add two more public members so that there will be equal representations of agency and public members. At present there are eight agency members and six public members.

Official 45-day notices required for amendments to the constitution have been sent to all Central Committee members. A two-thirds vote in favor of the proposal is required from both agency and public members before the change can be made.

Summit Symphony to Give 16th Anniversary Concert

The Summit Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Harry S. Hannaford, will present a concert in the Summit High School auditorium March 17 at 8:15 p.m. The concert will celebrate the sixteenth anniversary, to the day, of the first concert ever given by the symphony which was on March 17, 1938.

Tim Thompson, teen-age piano prodigy from Summit, will be the featured piano soloist. He will be featured in a concerto by Mendelssohn. Another feature on the program will be the Symphony No. 4, in G. Major, by Anton Dvorak.

The orchestra is sponsored by the Board of Recreation, and its concerts, held at the Summit High School, are open to the public without charge.

Bids Asked for $500,000 Washington School Annex

Bids for the construction of a $400,000 addition to Washington School will be sought by the Board of Education by March 23, it was announced this week. The work to be done on the North Summit School includes renovation of the present building as well as the annex.

Estimated cost of the entire project will be $500,000 which will include architect's fees, landscaping, roadways, etc. Alfred Eisasser of Union is the architect.

The addition will include a combination gymnasium and auditorium, five classrooms, cafeteria, library, and teachers' rest rooms. Renovations of the present eight-classroom building include a new shop, an all-purpose room and redecorated classrooms.

Adult Recreation Use

A feature of the new building are the recreational facilities. These are so designed that they provide for the needs of adults as well as students and may be used in summer and during evenings.

The gymnasium will be larger than that at Lincoln School so that it can be used by adults and the gym area will also be equipped with cross court basketball banks to accommodate two classes or sections when in use for either school or recreational purposes.

Adjacent to the gym will be locker and shower rooms and storage space for both gym and recreational equipment. The gym area will also include a stage approximately 15 feet deep with an overall width of fifty feet. For auditorium use the section can seat an audience of more than 600 on folding chairs. Chairs will be stored on specially made racks and removed from the auditorium when the room is to be used for gym purposes.

To Change Entrance

The new addition will be built on the rear of the present school and the layout of the old building changed so that entrance will be from the side and classrooms of the annex removed as far as possible from Morris avenue. Both old and new buildings will face on a long driveway to be constructed alongside of the school.

The present front entrance corridor and medical room of the present school will be changed into toilet rooms and the present assembly hall will be made into a dining hall with a kitchen to be built immediately adjacent.

450-Pupil Capacity

The school now has an enrollment of 240 pupils which can be raised to 450 with the addition. The annex will be built at the rear of the present school and will be of similar design to the present building.

The project is scheduled to be completed within nine months and work is expected to start this summer.

Bids for the work will be received at 8 p.m. March 23 at the Board offices, 97 Maple street.

The Washington School area population has increased considerably during the last two years with construction of many new homes in the vicinity of Ciba and the Southgate section between River road and Canoe Brook Parkway.

Last year the Board acquired 11 acres of land adjacent to the present Washington School property for the planned expansion. With this land, the total school property is now 14 acres.

The Washington annex was not originally provided in the Board's school housing program which started in 1948 and was to have been completed with the opening of the new Lincoln School. Because of rapid growth in North Summit, the Board and the city reviewed the program and included the Washington School project.

A survey made last year showed that the Washington area contains about 550 family units, 87 garden apartment units and 38 apartment units. From the 550 homes there were last year 205 pupils and from the 87 garden apartment units there were 27 students.

The school district, as presently zoned, has an area available for 56 more garden apartment units and 312 home sites plus undeveloped sites which could provide for still another 163 dwellings.

WINS DAR AWARD—Constance C. Eberhardt, 17-year-old Summit High School senior, is the recipient of the annual Good Citizenship Award presented by Beacon Fire Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, it was announced this week. Daughter of Frederick G. Eberhardt of Windsor road, and the late Mrs. Eberhardt, she was elected by her classmates for leadership, patriotism, cooperation and dependability. She also received the recommendations of the principal. She will go to Trenton on March 19 with Mrs. Frank Helander where she will be presented to Gov. Robert Meyner with the other New Jersey High school girls who won similar awards.

Roselle Man Fined $375, Has License Revoked

George Leyonmark, 37, of Roselle, who formerly operated a record shop and recording studio on Union place, was fined $375 and had his driver's license revoked for two years by Magistrate Albert H. Bierman on a charge of tipsy driving.

Leyonmark was arrested February 4 by Patrolman Alex Horak. He was taken to headquarters and pronounced unfit to drive by Dr. Robert S. Milligan. According to police, while detained at the station Leyonmark went berserk and smashed plumbing and other objects in his cell to the extent of $200 in damages. He previously paid the cost of the breakage, police said.

YMCA Opens Drive For New Building, Honors Dougall

Calling attention to the development and growth of the YMCA as a community service for the whole Summit area, Nicholas C. English, president of the "Y", told 175 members and friends of the Association attending the 68th annual dinner at the Hotel Suburban Monday evening that plans were already under way to modernize and expand the 44-year-old facilities of the "Y."

Mr. English, who was re-elected president, said that the present building, the third structure in the "Y"'s long history is "obsolescent" and "uneconomical" to operate. He said that the building fund campaign special gifts committee will launch its solicitation effort following a dinner to be held at the YMCA Monday, March 8, at which time captains and workers will be briefed for this phase of the drive.

Award To Dougall

A highlight of the meeting was the presentation of the YMCA's annual Stuart Reed Memorial award to Dr. John B. Dougall for his "friendship and counsel" to youth and for his distinguished community service over the years.

Dr. Dougall, former Summit superintendent of schools from 1924 to 1940 and former president of Newark State Teachers College, is now director of teacher education at Upsala College. He is also Summit referee for the Union County Juvenile Court and a member of the Municipal Youth Guidance Council.

In 1950 he was one of 15 American educators picked by Gen. Douglas MacArthur to reorganize Japanese education. He is a former trustee of the library and a former assistant to the state Commissioner of Education. He makes his home at 105 New England avenue.

Dr. Dougall is the fourth person to receive the award since it was initiated in 1951.

The plaque is given each year in memory of Stuart Reed, former general secretary of the Summit YMCA, who died in 1943.

Names Special Gifts Team

Mr. English introduced Channing R. Dooley of 41 Oakland place, as the chairman of the special gifts committee. Captains appointed include Rome Betts, Robert H. Carson, Spencer M. Maben, Harry W. Edgar, Bryant W. Griffin, Nicholas C. English, Morton Kaplon, and George B. Martin.

New directors elected at the annual meeting were John M. Blackmar, Sturgis S. Wilson, and Oscar D. Dennis. Reelected for additional terms are Rome A. Betts, Robert H. Carson, James H. Dickerson, George B. Martin, John N. May, Jr., and Philip S. Watters, Jr.

Certificates of recognition were presented to Edward C. Holmes

The YW was honored for "its exemplary adherence to Christian democracy in conducting its programs on an wholly integrated basis."

The Afro-American will present the YW with an engraved plaque.

City Committee Skirmishes Pep Up Coming GOP Primary

Neighborhood skirmishes for seats on the Republican City Committee are expected to considerably pep up an otherwise dull Primary Election here. To date three contests for representation on the City Committee are shaping up and it is possible that by next Thursday, the deadline for filing petitions, a few more will be revealed.

The main bout of the City Committee battle will be in District 1 of Ward 2 where the incumbent, Edward A. Pizzi of 32 Sunset drive, is being challenged by Henry C. Dearborn of 85 Beekman road.

Dearborn, who is making his political debut, formerly lived here in his youth and recently returned. He is a New York City patent attorney and brother-in-law of Councilman-at-Large William R. Gilson. He is endorsed by the Good Government Republicans.

Pizzi, chairman of the GOP Committee for the last two years, has announced that he is not a candidate for re-election to that office but that he will run again as representative from his district.

The district committeewoman, Mrs. Thomas Brennan of Division avenue, will also seek re-election and to date is unopposed.

Griffin May Replace Pizzi

Informed sources indicate that Pizzi will be replaced as chairman of the Committee by Bryant W. Griffin. Griffin, it is said, is being urged to take over the reins of the local party and has been promised support by most of the Committee.

The contest in Pizzi's district is being interpreted by political observers as the first bid by the local organization of the newly-formed Union County Good Government Republicans to get a foothold in city political affairs. The new County GOP bloc has stated on several occasions that its long-range program calls for control of county municipal Republican organizations.

The Summit Good Government Group has also declared that it will produce a candidate to oppose Councilman Donald H. Lawley who is the present committeeman of District 1 of Ward 1. So far no one has been named.

Other expected committee contests are promised for District 8 of Ward 1 where Harold Mesco of 17 Lowell avenue, committeeman, is scheduled to be opposed and in District 2 of Ward 2 where opposition is being sought for Councilman Edgar T. Higgins of 100 Blackburn road.

A spokesman for the Summit Good Government Republican organization said the group feels it is "inconsistent" for elected Councilmen, as in the case of Lawley and Higgins, to also be members of the City Committee.

He also said that the opposition is being brought against Pizzi because he now holds a county office (counsel to the Union County Welfare Board, a parttime position.)

Other Contests Seen

Several vacancies will occur on the City Committee to be filled by the Primary Election. In District 8 of Ward 2, the incumbent, Fred J. Douglas, has indicated that he will not run again since he expects to

Democrats Pick Realtor to Run License Bureau

Resignation of Summit's motor vehicle agent and quick appointment of a successor was disclosed last Friday with the announcement that Joseph F. Church of 45 Mountain avenue, local realtor and insurance agent, had been selected by the City Democratic Committee to replace LeRoy Russell, Jr., who announced he was relinquishing the office last week.

Russell took over the local office last April to replace the late Thomas F. Monroe and moved the agency from Summit avenue to Kent Place Boulevard. Russell also operates a Summit area telephone answering exchange. He was recommended for the office by the City Republican Committee after Edward A. Butler, local realtor, declined the post.

Russell said that he gave up the agency because it could not be operated profitably by him. He said that after almost a year as agency director he lost $600 in spite of the fact that he carried on "an effective public relations program" which increased the sale of registrations and licenses to more than 40,000, an increase of more than 3,000 for the period ending December 31.

The agent's income is derived from fees and the volume of business. Mr. Monroe operated the agency in conjunction with his personal real estate and insurance business.

Church, the new agent, has lived in the Summit Area since 1908 and on Mountain avenue for the last 15 years. He is a brother of Mrs. Rose Ricci, Murray Hill postmistress, and of Anthony Church, New Providence, postmaster. He is a member of the Summit Real Estate Board, Summit Area Chamber of Commerce, Lions and Elks clubs.

Church said he would maintain the office at its present Kent Place Boulevard location but may move it later to a more central location in the business district.

The appointment of Church, which is subject to approval by State Commissioner William J. Dearden, was announced by J. Jerome Kaplon, chairman of the City Democratic Committee.

Lawson Resigns Recreation Job

The resignation of Earl F. Lawson, assistant director of recreation, was received and accepted with regret by the Board of Recreation Commissioners at its regular monthly meeting last week. Mr. Lawson will leave Summit at the end of March to become the superintendent of parks and recreation at Annapolis, Md.

Mr. Lawson came to his job in Summit from Syracuse, N.Y., on January 1, 1952. He had majored in public recreation at Syracuse University and had worked for the Municipal Recreation Commission for the City of Syracuse.

During his two years in Summit he has been supervisor of the six summer playgrounds, adult softball and basketball leagues, boys' basketball and baseball leagues, Roosevelt and Washington teenage recreation centers, and recently organized the adult co-recreation badminton group.

While in Summit, Mr. Lawson has participated actively in community affairs. He has served on the Youth Guidance Committee of the Municipal Youth Guidance Council and is a director and chairman of Recreation of S.A.G.E. He was also a member of the Optimist Club.

Area Towns Pay Taxes

Receipt of $80,106.30 from the City of Summit for first quarter Union County taxes, was announced last week by Arthur N. Pierson, county treasurer. Berkeley Heights paid $16,764.72 and New Providence Borough, $11,282.77.

95 Summit Avenue Sold To Bryant W. Griffin

Purchase of the four-story brick office building at 95 Summit avenue and an adjoining parking lot by Bryant W. Griffin, local attorney, was revealed this week. Mr. Griffin bought the property from Mrs. John Stapleton of Chicago. The transaction took place last Thursday.

The building houses several well-known concerns. The two upper floors are occupied by the Weldon V. Johnson Engineering Co. and the lower floor is occupied by Robert H. Steele, realtor; the Summit Business Bureau, Dennis & Howell, printers.

The Visiting Nurse Association and Family Service Association maintain headquarters and offices on the second floor.

Mr. Griffin stated he plans no changes in future operation of the property.

Mrs. C. P. Bassett Dies at Her Home On Sunday

Mrs. Margaret Condit Kinney Bassett died at her home, Beacon Hill, 250 Hobert avenue, Sunday. She was the widow of Carroll P. Bassett, former president of the Commonwealth Water Co. and real estate developer, who died in January, 1952.

Mrs. Bassett had been active in charitable and horticultural organizations for many years. She was born in Newark, the daughter of Thomas Talmadge Kinney, owner and editor of the old Newark Daily Advertiser, and Estelle Condit Kinney. Mrs. Bassett came to this city 40 years ago.

Horticulture a Hobby

Mrs. Bassett had for a hobby horticulture and developed extensive flower gardens at her home. She was the founder, first president, and later honorary president of the Summit Garden Club and was also a member of the New York Horticultural Society.

She was instrumental in establishing the Summit Area Visiting Nurse Association and the local service for Free Milk for Children. Mrs. Bassett was a former board member of St. Barnabas Hospital, Newark, and was also active for many years in the Female Charitable Society of Newark.

Mrs. Bassett was interested in Overlook Hospital, the Woman's Auxiliary of Lafayette College and the Woman's Exchange in Newark. She was also interested in the anti-suffrage movement and in repeal of the 18th Amendment. She had an active and lifelong interest in the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (which her father organized in New Jersey).

She helped found the National Special Aid (1917) whose charters were later taken over by the Red Cross (of which her husband was late chairman).

During World War I Mrs. Bassett participated in the Farmerette and Land Army program and also was a member of the Roadside Council, an organization which advocated that billboards be removed from the highways. She was a life member of the Colonial Dames of New Jersey and a member of the Hereditary Order of the Colonial Governors of New Jersey. Mrs. Bassett was a member of Calvary Episcopal Church here and of Grace Church, Newark.

Surviving are two sons, Carroll Kinney Bassett of Montpelier Station, Va., and William B. K. Bassett of Pottersville; a daughter, Mrs. R. W. Pomeroy of Millbrook, N. Y. and six grandchildren.

Private funeral services and burial were held Tuesday.

and James A. Humes, retiring directors, and Gerald Manhold for outstanding volunteer service.

Guests at the annual dinner were unable to hear the special message by Dr. Charles C. Noble of Syracuse University whose plane was diverted from the Newark Airport to Hartford, Conn. because of the storm. Dr. Noble will come to Summit at a later date, it was announced.

Gives Annual Report

In his financial report, Mr. English said the merger of the Lincoln and Summit associations in 1953 had resulted in a net saving of $15,477 in united campaign funds over the individual requirements of the two organizations two years ago.

He said integration has brought interracial participation in association activities on all levels and has made Summit an example for other YMCAs throughout the country. Previous to the merger, Negroes maintained a separate (Lincoln) Association.

The board of directors is laying plans for adding a wing to the building in addition to improvement and expansion of the present facilities. The cost of the entire program has been estimated unofficially at $500,000. Actual specification will be made public at a later date, Mr. English said.

Allan R. Devenney, general secretary, presented certain aspects of the 1953 program operations in a report called "Triangle Talk" which will be mailed to all members of the "Y". With the help of the members of the youth department and other Association representatives, the general secretary conducted a "candlelight ceremony" portraying the continuous participation of men, women, boys and girls down through the years. He exhibited the original charter of the Association and indicated that the men who gathered on August 10, 1876 to organize the Summit "Y" lighted a candle of spiritual vitality which has burned in the hearts of leaders ever since.

Ted Mendenhall, president of the Hi-Y Council lit candles representing the social, educational, physical and spiritual channels through which the "Y" has worked in its activities and 16 other members followed in the lighting of candles to exemplify group fellowships in the present program operation.

Girl Scouts to Note 42nd Birthday During Next Week

Girl Scouts of the Summit Area will join with more than two million members of the organization throughout the country in celebrating Girl Scout Week, March 7 to 13 and the 42nd anniversary of Girl Scouting in the United States on March 12.

Girl Scout Sunday, the first event of the week, will be observed in all churches in the community when scouts and their leaders will attend he church of their choice in uniform. Ministers throughout Summit and New Providence have been notified and are cooperating.

At St. Teresa's Parish, the scouts will attend the 9 a.m. mass which will be followed by a communion breakfast in the school cafeteria.

Special mention of the local observance was made this week by Mayor Percival M. Bland who cited the goal of the Girl Scouts in "helping girls realize the ideals of womanhood as a preparation for their responsibilities in the home and as active citizens."

The birthday of Girl Scouting will be celebrated in Summit on Saturday, March 13, with a Scout-O-Rama, an exhibition and demonstration from 2 to 4:30 p.m. in the YWCA. Individual troops will demonstrate the various fields of interest in Girl Scouting in a continuous performance which will last all afternoon. The public is invited to attend.

This will be the first national observance of Girl Scout in March, as it has previously been observed in October. The change was made at the Girl Scout national convention last fall to coincide with the annual birthday celebration on March 12.

move to Albany, N. Y. George R. Ippolito, owner of the McNamara Funeral Home on Summit avenue, last week revealed that he will make a bid for the post. Ippolito is being supported by the Second Ward Republican Club.

In District 9 of Ward 2, Frank J. Kerrigan of 36 Oakley avenue, the incumbent, announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election because of the pressure of business. To date a candidate to replace him has not been announced. The plans of the committeewoman of that district, Mrs. Anna Murray of New England avenue, also are indefinite but it is thought that she will seek re-election.

There is also a possibility that Robert T. Reynolds, committeeman from District 3 of Ward 2, will face a contest. Likely contestants mentioned are the former committeeman, LeRoy Russell, or Gilmer Twombly. However, neither has made any statement of candidacy.

Outside of the jockeying for City Committee posts, the only other Republican contest in the Primary is in Ward 2 where Councilman Carl H. Forsberg, seeking his third term, is being opposed by Eugene F. Daly. Daly, a yearly contender for Council, is also a candidate for Freeholder.

Dance Theater Concert

Two Summit girls, Suzanne Munn and Polly Nevins, will perform in the 13th annual spring concert of the Young Peoples Dance Theatre of South Orange which will give a combined performance with the Princeton University Glee Club and the Bryn Mawr College Chorus. The concert will be presented at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, March 14 at 7 p. m.

Business Faces Huge Expansion Program, Fortnightly Club Told

Our nation will need about $265 billion in additional investment money to provide jobs for the estimated 22 million workers who will be coming into the labor force by 1975, a meeting of the Fortnightly Club was told yesterday by Dr. Allen A. Stockdale, staff speaker for the National Association of Manufacturers.

Addressing the session at Summit High School, Dr. Stockdale said that research studies by the NAM showed the country's pool of employable persons will expand to 88.6 million by 1975. With the average manufacturing job representing an investment of $12,000 for facilities and equipment, he pointed out, industry will require $265 billion in additional investments to create the jobs for the expanded 1975 labor force.

The speaker said that the NAM, in its studies, "has found a serious question exists, as to where the money is coming from."

"High taxes," he said, "have caused a shortage of risk (or venture) capital in recent years, and as a consequence, business and industry have experienced difficulty in financing expansion. In recent years, new investments in stocks have averaged only $2 billion annually. This is but a fraction of the amount needed in the coming years of the 22 million additional workers coming into our labor markets are to have jobs."

"By 1975," he said, "the NAM studies indicate we will have a population of between 190 and 200 million people—as compared to the 160 million we have today. This population rise, taken with the trend to increased production efficiency being experienced in industry today, means that the America of 1975 can mean a higher standard of living for everyone.

"But, on the other hand, an increased population and expanded work force need not automatically bring about a better America. India and China have demonstrated that increased populations can bring increased poverty, as well. The America we have in 1975 depends on how well we plan today."

The challenge of today, he said, is to strengthen the traditional incentives America provides for people to work and produce. The more adequately people understand our economic system, he said, the more certain we can be that the correct decisions will be made to assure a more prosperous America of the future.

That permanent peace and harmony are within the reach of mankind through the spiritual growth that reveals the true, spiritual nature of man in God's likeness will be emphasized in the lesson-sermon entitled "Man" which will be read at Christian Science services Sunday.

Selections from the King James Version of the Bible include this citation from Romans: "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose" (8:28).

The following passage will be among those read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual—they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite—in order that sin and mortality may be put off.

"This scientific sense of being, forsaking matter for Spirit, by no means suggests man's absorption into Deity and the loss of his identity, but confers upon man enlarged individuality, a wider sphere of thought and action, a more expansive love, a higher and more permanent peace" (265:5-16).

The golden text is from Psalms: "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace" (37:37).

64% of State Feels Teacher Pay Too Low, Survey Shows

The New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce said that analysis of a previously unpublished public opinion survey on school costs and taxation conducted by the Princeton Research Service (The New Jersey Poll) under contract to the State School Aid Commission showed that if additional funds must be made available for necessary school expenditures the majority of New Jersey people prefer that the money be raised either from a sales tax or a personal income tax.

The poll also revealed that solid majority of the New Jersey adult public—more than three out of every five residents—is of the opinion that salaries paid to school teachers in their own communities are too low.

(The public opinion poll referred to was made for the New Jersey School Aid Commission by the Princeton Research Service, Kenneth Fink, director. It was transmitted to the Commission on January 31, 1952. The Commission paid $5,000 for the study, this being the amount appropriated to the Commission by the Legislature. Although not made public by the Commission, the poll was referred to by Leonard E. Bost of Summit in news releases put out following his resignation as chairman of the State School Aid Commission. Specific reference was made to it in a release from Mr. Bost dated May 12, 1953.)

Cities and Towns Agree

Highlight of the survey findings is that majority sentiment in every size community in the state is that teacher salaries are too low.

This holds true for big cities like Newark and Trenton on the one hand to tiny hamlets on the other.

Interestingly, somewhat more big city people—those living in New Jersey's six biggest cities (Newark, Trenton, Paterson, Camden, Elizabeth, and Jersey City)—think that their local teacher salaries are too low than do those living in smaller sized communities.

The public opinion survey showed that when offered a choice from among those two taxes, a tax on business profits, or higher real estate taxes, 55 per cent of those polled voted for either the sales tax (34 per cent) or the personal income tax (21 per cent). Results of the survey were told in a State Chamber bulletin, "Briefs on Government and Business," prepared by the Department of Governmental and Economic Research.

The question asked in the public opinion survey was:

Sales, Business Tax Favored

"If it is found that New Jersey needs more money to meet increased school costs during the coming ten years, and you yourself could choose the way this money is to be raised, which one of the following ways would you favor?"

The results were: 2% sales tax on all consumer goods except food, 34%; 6% tax on the net income of business, 34%; a graduated tax on personal income up to 6%, 21%; higher real estate taxes, 8%; other taxes, or no opinion, 3%.

In a comment on the survey's findings the State Chamber of Commerce said: "It should be remembered, of course, that a substantial number of people holding a certain opinion does not make that opinion a fact. On the other hand, those holding or seeking public office are far more likely to be affected by what people think than by what they know about taxes."

The results of the survey showed that: 61 per cent of the people believe the State is not giving enough money toward the support of local public schools—but only 48 per cent would favor giving more money if it meant higher taxes.

In the same way, 52 per cent of the people favor their school district spending more money on education—but only 42 per cent are willing to pay highr local taxes to achieve this end.

Reluctant to Foot Bill

The State Chamber said that it seems fair to conclude that the survey indicates:

"(1) A majority of the people of New Jersey are ready to spend more money on their schools, but slightly less than a majority are willing to pay the higher taxes necessary to provide the money they want to spend. This is an attitude that is frequently encountered by those holding public office.

"(2) By and large, the voting public of New Jersey is satisfied with the existing State-local tax structure—a fact that must be encouraging to those who have resisted the frequent demands for tax revision.

"(3) When pinned down on taxes, a majority of the people show no inclination to pile additional taxes on business. If new taxes are inevitable, a majority favors those taxes—either sales or personal income—that they themselves would pay.

"(4) The sales tax—long regarded as a form of political suicide—is just as popular as a tax on business profits and is far more popular than a personal income tax."

$250,000 Goal Set for N. J. Mental Health Drive

A goal of $250,000 was set for the annual fund drive, May 2-8, of the New Jersey division, National Mental Health Association at a meeting of county leaders and State Association Board members at the Plainfield Country Club on February 27.

The meeting heard reports from Mrs. Arthur F. Ackerman, president, Union County chapter. She told of experiences last year and of plans for the May 2-8 fund drive during Mental Health Week this year.

Mrs. Elizabeth R. Hyer of Scotch Plains, new state field representative, and her assistant, Miss Doreen Toffey of Summit, stressed the need for block-by-block organization of the fund drive in communities and urged the use of pamphlets and leaflets to tell people how mental illness disrupts family life and causes loss of time and productive effort in business and industry.

Girl Scouts 42 Years

This coming week the Summit Area Girl Scout Council will join in the nationwide observance of the 42nd anniversary of the founding of the organization. To many, the news that Girl Scouting is 42 years old may be something of a surprise for, in general, the American public is prone to think of character building endeavor as something new and modern.

In such a reaction there is nothing uncomplimentary for it indicates that Girl Scouts possess a freshness and vigor that never pales or grows old. It is no mean feat to carry on a program for more than four decades so successfully that the work is ever new and interesting. As a matter of fact, this circumstance may hold the key to Girl Scout popularity since its dealings with young people demand a youthful outlook.

However that might be, the Girl Scouts of the Summit Area are entitled to all the congratulations that go with an important milestone. This 42nd birthday finds the Summit Council a vital factor in the life of our communities of Summit, New Providence and Berkeley Heights. The Council has been on the local scene for the last 23 years, not too many years after the founding of the national organizations.

The obvious worth of the program naturally comes in for the lion's share of attention during an anniversary. The Summit Council has a widespread program which includes the operation of a flourishing summer camp as well as full activities throughout the year for hundreds of girls. In any congratulations due the organization, a large share is to be directed to those women whose essential role as leaders and backers cannot be overlooked. The adult "Scouters" deserve a salute during this birthday week.

The "Y" Ends Another Year

Nowhere has the concept of a sound mind in a sound body as constituting a well-rounded man been better exemplified in the work of the YMCA.

For a century since its founding it has been expressing this principal in hundreds of its branches in cities throughout the world. In its more than 100 years literally millions of men, from boyhood to old age, have by their membership in the YMCA found themselves benefited and refreshed in spirit, strengthened both in mind and body through participation in its varied and extensive programs.

In the mind of the average citizen the YMCA is generally assumed to denote an accent on youth. It is seldom thought of, perhaps, in its relationship to older men.

True, youth has always been represented in the "Y" and is a group around which it centers its programs. The Y provides a meeting place for youth, giving a healthful moral atmosphere under Christian principles for social activities. Athletics and body-building together with other social pastimes has long been the basis of the Y program.

But generally the older men are not forgotten and as they passed the years when physical exercise no longer lured them, the YMCA acted. The Summit YMCA fosters the Old Guard, provides the organization with a meeting place and assists in other ways. The local YMCA is also interested in the program being developed by SAGE for our city's elder residents. For the middle-aged it provides facilities for light exercise and means of keeping the waistline down in both the gym and the pool.

These reflections are the result of an event Monday night when the YMCA noted the completion of another year in our community. It was a successful year, as all its years have been successful for those who have availed themselves of its facilities. And it has been a happy year, particularly for groups now having a formal home who have made the Y a headquarters.

The YMCA runs naturally, and because primarily it wants to extend its services and interests to Summit residents, wants more members. For ourselves, we can think of no enterprise in which a few dollars invested in a membership would pay greater dividends than in joining the Summit YMCA.

Charity Racket Curbs

There is quite a bit of discussion these days about charity rackets and ways to curb them. The New York State Legislature has under advisement an assortment of bills designed to restrict fund raising practices and curtail seemingly fraudulent appeals.

Incredible as it seems, there is no state that has any statutes dealing with deceptive appeals for funds. The lack of protection has cost both the contributor and the worthwhile causes dearly. Informed estimates place the loss by charity rackets at $25,000,000 annually in New York State. Since so many of our residents work in New York City and contribute to many of these questionable drives, the matter is of interest to all.

Undoubtedly, at some future date New Jersey will enact similar legislation exercising some sort of control over fund raising.

However, there is one common practice that seems to be overlooked in all studies of the question. It is one that continually, at all times of year, harasses housewife and businessman alike.

We are speaking of the door-to-door appeals made in almost every town we know of by unknown or obscure organizations. Mostly they are of a religious nature and frequently for some "mission" or racial group. Along with them are appeals for unrecognized veterans' groups. These appeals vary. At times they are for cash donations, at other times they offer unwanted merchandise in the name of charity. At all times they are a nuisance.

Along with these home solicitations are the telephone campaigns by professional money raisers. Usually they are made to businessmen and are high-powered appeals to "take a block of tickets" for a show, or advertise in a "program." We also have the racket which deals with the mailing of unordered merchandise, "returnable without obligation."

We have plenty of such solicitations of funds in Summit. In the business district there are regular weekly visits of men and women asking for funds. No one knows who they are or where they are from but only that they are familiar faces and have been around for years. Sometimes they sell neckties, sometimes it is a small patriotic emblem.

Admittedly it will not be a simple matter to eliminate such appeals by legislature. No doubt the organization is creditable and recognized by some authority but the connection with Summit is definitely a remote one. Nevertheless, such annoyances should not be ignored on the theory they are too complicated to handle.

Our suburban areas offer a tempting field for all types of appeals and sturdy barriers are needed for the chiseler or dubious organization. Perhaps it can be done on a local level by city ordinance or perhaps it must be done on the state level. We do not know. We are sure, however, that many of our residents would like to see a much tighter control over the increasing number of home and business "charity" solicitors.

No Harm in Moderate Drink

Editor, Summit Herald:

Last week a letter written by several teen-agers was printed in your newspaper. The letter was in protest of an earlier letter condemning the drinking of teen-agers. Unfortunately I did not read the earlier letter. After reading the more recent letter I discussed it with several friends here at Exeter and formulated the following editorial and questions.

The writers were misguided when they came out drinking. The desire to express power to irresponsible from the desire for social security [illegible] many teen-agers to drink. Just as many teen-agers are ostracized when refusing to go along with the crowd, so are they when drinking. The answer is found in the figure of the law-abiding teen-ager. The figure of the one of the crowd can not be overlooked as an important cause of teen-age drinking.

The basic point, that we should all be proud of, upon the writers letter is that they are willing to stand up for their principles. This is the point that should be taught to our children. Children must be taught moderation in their interests and the pattern can often make or destroy the child's personality.

The point which the writers made is a good one in that it is a reflection of the underlying fact of the underage drinking is one of an accident because the person knows how much he can drink or what is going to happen. It should be clear that a driver would not be aware of an accident before it took place. Driving or safety of the pedestrian is an accident caused by drunkenness on the part of the driver, then the passenger is to blame for allowing an intoxicated person to drive. Should a person refuse all liquor because he is driving? That is to be abstemious is unnecessary; careful moderation would suffice. Most drivers of my acquaintance realize their responsibility to the occupants of the car, to other motorists and to their families, and therefore do not drink to excess when they have to drive.

To my knowledge intemperate drinking has not presented a serious hazard to Summit. Nor does it appear that it will do so in the future. There is nothing wrong with occasional, moderate drinking by youths of the ages of 17 or 18. Is learning to drink when the parent has some control not preferable to learning when there is no restraint?

Respectfully yours,
Paul Hart 4th

Views On Teenage Drinking

Editor, Summit Herald:

The problem of teenage drinking is now being discussed privately by individuals and interested groups and publicly in the local and national press. The Student Council of Summit High School is gratified to find that some members of the student body are sufficiently interested in this question to write their views in the "Letters to the Editor" column of the Summit Herald. The Council feels that it is necessary, however, to point out the following, which is the official policy of the General Organization:

1. No one may claim to represent the General Organization except the officers and such persons as may be given permission by the Council to represent the organization. Any letter not bearing the signature of the Secretary has not been authorized or approved by the Council and therefore represents only the views of the author (s).

2. The General Organization recognizes that some students have on occasion used alcoholic beverages, but denies the inference that a significant number of students use it in excess or with regularity. The Organization feels that the problem of teenage drinking among students of Summit High School is not so much one which is serious as one which must be prevented from becoming serious in the future. With this in mind, the Council authorized (January 13, 1958) a committee of twelve students to work with a group of parents on a Social Code of Conduct for Summit High School Teenagers.

3. The General Organization desires that this problem be examined in the home, in the school, in the church, in the clubs, and in the press—but in an intelligent and constructive manner. The Organization is anxious to cooperate with all groups wishing to help the teenagers in this complex problem, but will not in any way support sensational and unwarranted attacks upon the character of teenagers generally.

4. Those who would rush to criticize or defend personal conduct of a group might well determine with utmost care whether they themselves are faultless. Unless they can answer in truth in the affirmative, they must admit their errors or accept judgment of hypocrisy.

5. The most basic unit of human association in the family. It is there that the traits of men have first been instilled, for better or for worse. The credit or blame for a well-balanced or maladjusted personality ultimately lies with the home.

The purpose of this statement is not to discourage the voicing of opinions on the part of any groups, teenage or otherwise. The intention is rather to question that these opinions be accurate—particularly in relation to the matter of again how many a group the supervisors are in.

EDWARD L. SMITH, President
General Organization

BARBARA BRENNAN, Secretary

Report From Washington

by

Congressman Harrison A. Williams, Jr.

McCarthy vs. Stevens

The running controversy between Robert Stevens, Secretary of the Army of South Plainfield, and Senator Joseph McCarthy occupied the attention of Washington officialdom for several days. The entire episode was particularly devastating because of its adverse effect on Army morale and on the prestige of the U. S. Government at home and abroad.

As a neighbor of Bob Stevens and as an elected official, I felt it to be my responsibility to comment to the President on this affair. In my letter to the President I pointed to the outstanding record of Mr. Stevens as a loyal American and as a community leader. I urged the President to make it unmistakable terms that to support Secretary Stevens in his stand that serving Army officers are not to be subject to abusive treatment.

Of course I am in favor of Congressional committees having access to all information necessary for examining the operations of the government. However, the overriding issue in this case is a question of abuse to a respected and responsible Army general—a person, incidentally, who was in the forefront of hostilities on Okinawa. This man was acting under orders from superiors to withhold certain information. He was not responsible for the regulations and was not authority to process the [illegible] with [illegible] from a Presidential appointee. Secretary Stevens stood up like a man of honor when he stated that he would assume responsibility for the directive and answer any questions regarding the issue.

Senator McCarthy has exceeded all rules of elementary decency in his criticism of the general—such language as the following was employed by the Senator in his remarks regarding General Zwicker:

"Either your honesty or your intelligence: I can't help impugning one or the other."

"Anyone with the brains of a five-year-old child can understand this question."

"You should be removed from any command."

This language is not befitting a U. S. Senator and certainly not befitting a hero of World War II who was merely carrying out orders from superiors.

Many visitors from Union County were in Washington during this week, including a group of high school students from Westfield, accompanied by their instructors. I certainly enjoyed my talk with these students and was impressed with their grasp of national and international issues. As a matter of fact, they put me on the carpet to explain my stands on various issues and really gave me a workout. I must say that if they represent their age group, 18-year-olds are certainly qualified to vote.

Warning: BUMPS AHEAD!

Have you known people who go through life like it was a game of Blind Man's Bluff?

We all know such people.

And the sad part is that such people eventually stumble or fall and hurt themselves.

It is too bad, too, when just a little forethought in the form of a savings account would give them the economic freedom and vision that would save them the bumps and bruises that are surely coming.

Here, at our friendly institution, we do our part with such savings accounts by insuring the accounts with the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation to $10,000 . . . paying generous interest-dividends semi-annually . . . making the savings available when they are wanted.

Above all we help take the bumps out of living.

a lot more than during the remaining fifty-one weeks of the year I just know. The Summit Inter-Racial Committee was dissolved and there now exists in our town a Human Relations Council. The Council is an organization of individuals resident or employed in this vicinity and concerned about the kind of world and the kind of community in which we live and work. It exists to bring together all citizens of this community concerned with the promotion of better understanding among people of varied racial, religious, economic, social and cultural groups. To achieve these ends this Council will:

(1) encourage the free expression of opinion;

(2) alert all citizens to the need for the recognition of community problems;

(3) provide accurate information on matters of community interest;

Now today, February 25, 1954, the Summit Herald on its front page announces the "18-unit luxury cooperative apartment-house" planned for prospective tenant-owners. Houses, apartments, keep going up; construction is at an all time high—but for whom?

On Tuesday, Feb. 23rd, the Human Relations Council of Summit held its first meeting. Arnold Harris, executive vice-chairman of the Essex county Intergroup Council and an expert on human relations led the meeting. He asked for specific problems from the group. Problems which might be solved by such a group if it had the support of the community.

The number one problem cited in Summit was and is HOUSING. Barriers are not up for the Negro alone. Religious groups too have been discriminated against. Low-cost housing is not the issue. The Summit Cooperatives, a group of individuals interested in the welfare of their fellow-citizens, attempted that. The problem is simply housing, housing available for all economic groups.

Recently one of our agencies invited a Negro to come to Summit. Provision was not made for this family to live in Summit. How humiliating for them to come to our town, to work here among us, among our children, and yet be unable to live in it!

Home-owners feel values depreciate if a Negro buys in the neighborhood. Experts have proven otherwise. Some of us say Negroes live in slums. Did Negroes make it that way? Experts say that Negroes usually get into housing when it is at least 30 years old, out of date, and broken down. The Negro hates it, but he usually can get housing nowhere else. Some Negroes do not keep up their homes. Perfectly true. Some whites don't keep up theirs. It's a matter of education and income and has nothing to do with color. If Negroes are going to buy or rent in your neighborhood, they will be people who earn as much income as you yourself, and their occupations will probably be similar to yours. They will have the same cultural interests as yourself, the same ambitions and hopes for their children, the same concern for neighborhood development in their PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS.

We in Summit pride ourselves as being leaders. Do we not have a group of realtors or other investors, possibly not interested in sentiment, but in dollars and cents, who would plan a housing project where any individual, regardless of color or creed might rent or even cooperatively own his home?

"We have left undone those things which we ought to have done."

Very sincerely,

He also said the 10 per cent of the fund had been pledged for the first day of the drive.

Mr. Pierson introduced to the club membership Mrs. Mary E. Emery, executive secretary of the chapter; Mrs. Edwin P. Scriggins, publicity director, and Robert Hines of Westfield.

Board Status Widened

An ordinance creating a Planning Board as a referral agency also was introduced and passed on first reading. This was necessary under a 1953 state law.

The law provides that a Planning Board must either be a referral agency or an agency with the power to pass upon sub-divisions.

The present city Planning Board is a referral agency and its status will in no way be changed. The action was taken merely to conform with the state law.

Council approved the promotions of Patrolmen Michael Donio and Anthony Fusco from fourth grade to third at a salary of $4,150 a year each.

A taxi driver's license was granted to William H. McGrath of Chatham and the election of Thomas J. Barber, 68 River road, as a volunteer fireman was approved.

A resolution was passed to advertise for bids for the installation of the outside fire alarm system. The bids will be received at city hall on March 23 at 8:30 p.m.

GOP Picks Primary Ticket; Johnson to Run for Mayor

New Providence—The Republican Primary ticket took shape this week with the announcement by Councilman Charles Johnson that he would be a candidate for the nomination as mayor to succeed Mayor Robert Badgley who recently stated that he would not seek re-election.

It was also disclosed that Council President Samuel Jones, who also said he would not run again, had reconsidered and will be a candidate for re-election. Mr. Jones made the decision following a meeting Monday with GOP leaders who strongly urged him to seek another Council term.

Councilman George Soffel, appointed to fill the unexpired one-year term created by the resignation of Frank H. Pratt who moved to Summit, announced that he will seek re-election to a full three-year term.

The Borough Republicans also stated that Anton Zeiss of The Fellsway would be a candidate for member of the GOP county committee from the Fourth District. The post is now held by Mayor Badgley who is not a candidate for re-election.

Councilman Johnson is a member of the staff at Bell Labs and a graduate of Virginia Military Institute. He is active in community affairs and has been a resident of the Borough for the last 13 years.

He served as a member of the Planning Board for ten years and also served on the Zoning Board of Adjustment. He has been with Bell Labs for thirty years and is an electrical engineer.

Mr. Soffel is an accountant with a New York City law firm and also has been active in civic affairs. He is a member of the Oakwood Park Civic Association, a past member of the Board of Health and a charter member of the Rescue Squad. He has lived here for four years.

Mr. Jones is an engineer with Western Electric Co. and a former member of the Board of Education. Since the resignation of Councilman Pratt he has been serving as Council President and also head of the Civil Defense organization of the Borough.

Classes Start for 325 Children in Boro's New School

New Providence — Classes were held for the first time on Monday in the new Hillview School on Central avenue following a brief ceremony during which the keys to the new $380,000 building were turned over to Mrs. Esther Y. Maher, principal, by Allen W. Roberts, superintendent. The school began its first day with an enrollment of 325 and its opening marked the end of split sessions. Enrollment is expected to hit 450 in September.

The new building contains 12 classrooms and has a capacity for 450 students, expected next September. Each grade has two sections.

Enrollment is expected to be about 450 when the school is completed.

Each classroom contains a public address system, TV outlet, acoustic tile ceilings, fluorescent lighting and green chalk boards. The color theme is copper, coral and yellow. In addition to classrooms the building has two offices, teachers' rest rooms and a medical room.

Mrs. Maher, a teacher in the Borough system for thirty years, will also teach as well as supervise the new school for the present. In the fall it is planned that she will become a principal on a full-time basis.

Mayor Still Mum on Plans For Coming Primary Battle

Berkeley Heights—A Republican primary battle for Township Committee was left in a confused state this week largely because of the failure of Mayor Anton C. Swenson to reveal whether or not he will be a candidate for re-election. The Mayor was expected to make an announcement early this week but when contacted yesterday morning said that he was still undecided.

Two seats on the Committee come up in this year's elections and so far Committeeman Arthur Manner and John Amodeo are declared aspirants.

However, petitions are being circulated for David C. Dally of Delmore avenue, PTA president. Dally has not yet stated if he will run but it is known that he is being urged and has been promised wide support if he enters the contest.

Dally, who is considered a strong candidate, is likely to have the support of Committeeman Manner and his political partner, Committeeman Ira Holley. Both Manner and Holley are opposed to Mayor Swenson and represent a minority on the Township Committee. In most matters of business to come before the Committee issues have been decided by a 3-2 vote with Mayor Swenson, Committeeman Victor Dunkel and Anthony Castellano representing the majority.

Manner and Holley, by backing Dally hope to upset the 3-2 balance and swing themselves into the majority vote bracket. Neither Manner nor Holley has revealed that they are backing Dally but political gossip has it that if Dally enters the race he will carry the endorsement of the minority bloc.

Amodeo also is supposed to be a Holley-Manner choice but so far does not carry their endorsement.

Before the deadline for filing, next Thursday, it is expected that the Mayor will announce that he will run again and it is also expected that one or more candidates, having support of the Mayor, will become candidates. Likely to become a major issue in the campaign is the state investigation of the operation of the assessor's office by Theodore Plumb. Plumb last fall was charged with "spot tax reductions" by Committeeman Dunkel and a state probe requested.

Plumb's assessing methods have been backed by Holley and Manner. The results of the state investigation are expected within a few days.

Celanese Labs Wins Company Safety Award

Recognition for outstanding industrial safety performance was given to employees of the Summit Research Laboratories of Celanese Corporation of America with the announcement that the local plant had won a special safety citation.

According to Dr. Allen, plant manager, local Celanese men and women have been awarded a certificate of commendation in the annual companywide safety contest, "for not having a single lost-time accident during 1953." The achievement came to light today with the announcement of results of the safety contest in which all plants and facilities competed for the Harold Blancke safety award plaque named after the company president. Top honor was captured by the Cumberland, Md., acetate yarn producing plant.

According to George Rummel, safety engineer, who lives at 49 Dogwood Lane, Berkeley Heights, "The award to us for our flawless safety record fills us with justifiable pride."

Paper Mill Opens April 20 With "Oklahoma"

Frank Carrington's production of the Rodgers and Hammerstein hit musical "Oklahoma!" opening Tuesday, April 20, will inaugurate the spring season at the Paper Mill Playhouse and, at the same time, institute a new programming schedule at the Millburn theater.

In past seasons, shows had been staged from Monday through Saturday evenings, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday. Under the new schedule, Playhouse productions will be staged Tuesday through Sunday, with matinees Thursday and Saturday. There will be no performances on Mondays.

Five legitimate plays and two revues are also planned for the coming season at the Playhouse. Both revues may be staged as part of a summer carnival. For the carnivals, "chow wagons" will be parked on the banks of Rum Creek and the Playhouse will be festooned with banners, pennants and other atmospheric trimmings. The first of the two revues will open July 20 and the second will be presented August 10. Following the second revue, the Paper Mill will close for a couple of weeks and re-open about September 21 for a 10-week season of plays. Each play will be staged for two weeks. The five plays to be presented will be announced by Carrington at a later date.

Friend Inherits Bulk of Franklin Guiney Estate

The bulk of the estate of the late G. Franklin Guiney of 298 Summit avenue, president of Smith and Smith, funeral directors of Newark and Springfield, was left to a friend, C. Harry Caspersen, also of the local address, Mr. Guiney died January 9.

In a will filed for probate last week, Mr. Guiney listed bequests totaling $3,998 for six relatives and directed that the remainder be left to Mr. Caspersen. No estimate of the estate's value was disclosed.

Bequests of $750 each were given to two brothers and two sisters and legacies of $400 each were made to two aunts.

Mr. Caspersen and the National Newark & Essex Banking Co. were named executors.

Beware of Busher When Buying Car, Bureau Says

The nation's Better Business Bureaus soon will begin wide distribution of a leaflet warning the public to guard against sharp practices of those automobile dealers who are causing a rising volume of customer complaints and increased concern among the large majority of reputable dealers.

The leaflet, called "Beware the Busher," will be made available to individual dealers and dealer groups who are being asked to join a concerted effort to stamp out the practice of "bushing" which is chief among the complaints.

The busher, as he is called in the trade, uses "would you take" cards as one of his tricks to attract a prospective customer with an offer of a much higher allowance on his old car in trade than the car's actual market value.

The leaflet describes the busher as "a parasite among automobile dealers. He's out to get your dollar, and he doesn't care how. You rarely see him. He operates behind your back and, when you're not looking, he either mails you a card or places it on your windshield."

The message on the card may read, "Would you take $1,400 for your automobile in trade on a new Blank." It usually is signed by a salesman and gives the name and address of the dealer. When the prospect arrives at the agency, he contacts the salesman and makes a selection. After the papers arranging for the trade-in and purchase are filled out, the salesman seeks the approval of his boss, usually the dealer himself. The "gimmick" is that the dealer won't okay the transaction. After berating the salesman for offering such a high trade-in allowance, and much argument with the prospect, he offers a "compromise" price. The new offer may be $1,000, or a price that usually is much lower than what the customer could get at another agency. But the customer settles for it.

The BBB leaflet gives five pointers to help curb the practice:

1. Don't fall for dealer's bait. Disregard his insincere offer of a luring trade-in price which you'll never get if you do respond.

2. Contact the car dealer and let him know you're wise to his tricks.

3. Register your complaint with municipal authorities or with your Better Business Bureau.

4. Trade only with responsible car dealers who justify your patronage.

5. Don't sign a blank contract under any circumstances.

Sharp advertising and sales practices within the automotive industry, nationally and locally, have caused increasing concern on the part of Better Business Bureaus and reputable dealers and dealer groups, according to its president. He said the board of governors was so concerned that it passed a resolution at its November meeting condemning the "unscrupulous minority" which, it feels, is threatening the integrity of the auto industry.

Bushing tactics were the major cause of complaint. Other complaints included ambiguous guarantees, turned-back speedometers, padded finance charges, and public confusion and irritation resulting from so-called "blitz" sales promotions.

"Automotive News," in an editorial on December 7, struck at the practices of these fringe operators and suggested that "action is the only effective persuader," adding that "as a practical measure, dealers may find that action through the BBB merits their support."

County Values Shade Trees At $4,500,000

Thirty thousand trees along the county's 150 miles of highway were given an estimated value of $4,500,000 in the annual report of the Union County Shade Tree Commission, issued today. These include forty species and the average value of each tree is $150, said Carl E. Mellquist, the superintendent.

This valuation is an increase of $50 over the figure used here for several years, but Mr. Mellquist said that other commissions are adopting the higher amount and a few are computing at an even higher rate.

The figure at best is only an estimate. Some trees may be worth no more than $5 each, but Union County has a large stand of oak, an especially comly wood, and also many other trees, prized not only for lumber but for shade and beauty.

All these are older and larger than when the $100 figure was adopted and in addition they have had the benefit of the pruning repair and spraying the Shade Tree Commission has given them each year.

The summer drought, causing leaf scorch, and the Dutch elm disease are the main enemies of the county's foliage. The dry weather in 1953 contributed to the death of several young trees and the demise of others from its ravages. Corrective pruning and fertilization will save many that have been damaged.

The loss from the Dutch elm fungus showed no decline during 1953 and 237 trees were removed.

Crews from the Shade Tree Commission plant in Kenilworth Blvd., Kenilworth, trimmed 2,933 trees, planted and staked 364, and sprayed 13,498. The crews also fertilized, braced and cut roots to level sidewalks, cared for flora at the county buildings here, in Scotch Plains and at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium and cooperated with the road department in snow removal.

The agency cooperated with utility companies in trimming trees to prevent interference with lines, counseled citizens on tree problems and coordinated with the several municipal shade tree commissions.

Unauthorized signs were taken from trees and their owners notified of the law violation; contractors were advised on precautions to spare roots.

The headquarters building and the four trucks, one car and tools were maintained in good condition. The agency also operates an office in the courthouse, with the secretary, Miss Josephine R. Walsh, in charge.

Lawsuit Against Overlook Staff MemberDismissed

A $50,000 suit for damages against two physicians, one of them on the Overlook Hospital staff, by an East Orange woman was dismissed last week in Superior Court after a six-day trial and more than three hours' deliberation by the jury.

The plaintiff, Miss Helen M. Lyons, 63, charged Dr. J. E. Lorrain Imbleau of Union and Dr. Herbert Schaffer, former chief resident physician and presently resident in pathology at Overlook, with malpractice and negligence. The jury returned a verdict of "no cause for action."

Miss Lyons charged that she had been severely burned at Overlook in July, 1952, through improper application of hot water bottles while she was recovering from a gall bladder operation.

The defense maintained that the use of the hot water bottles was one of several measures taken to save Miss Lyons' life when her condition became critical following the surgery.

One physician testified for Miss Lyons and four for the defense. Dr. Imbleau was represented by William Baum and Dr. Sheffer by Richard C. Hensyer, Jr. Miss Lyons was represented by John J. Bracken.

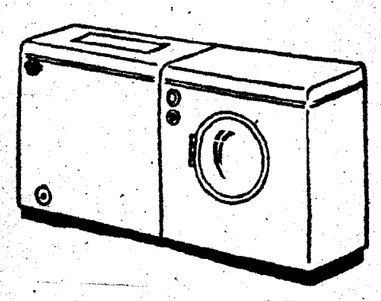
Mrs. Modern says:



"Automatic Electric Washers and Electric Dryers

Make Monday Seem Like Sunday"

Today's modern housewife would no more spend Mondays scrubbing and lugging clothes than she would cook on a coal stove. Or wear high-button shoes.

Does she send laundry out? Have a maid? No, she lets her automatic electric washer and dryer take the load off her hands. She simply dumps dirty clothes in — sets the controls — and relaxes! Electricity takes over and automatically washes the clothes spotlessly clean. Dries them as fresh and wind-blown as all outdoors.

Visit your Reddy Kilowatt dealer and see the new automatic electric washers and dryers.

Narcotics Story Told Old Guard by Newark Detective

Detective Benjamin Vitale of the Newark Police Department spoke on "Narcotics" at the Old Guard meeting on Tuesday at the YMCA. He was introduced by Program Chairman Wesley Zane.

The speaker described the insidious growth of the narcotics habit and the vicious peddlers of the pernicious drugs and how they operate. First, they attract the juvenile or teen-ager to the marihuana cigarette, which, as Mr. Vitale explained, builds up a "wall" between the addict and the decent juveniles, which forces the addict to form new associates and to become one of a group of perhaps 25, who live a life apart from the rest of the community. From this point, it is relatively easy to get the addict to the use of heroin, he said.

Addict Will Do Almost Anything

While the marihuana cigarette may be purchased for $1, the "torpedo" which is 10 to 12 times as potent, costs $10 and to procure the money to purchase these heroin capsules, the addict will do almost anything, which means the selling of his (or her) jewelry, clothing etc., and even to the extent of committing minor crimes such as robbery, all of which is covered by the conventional "juvenile delinquency," the speaker said.

Instead of "passing the buck" to the ministers, priests and rabbis, Mr. Vitale asserted the parents must be on the job for the home is the only place to start to overcome this dire habit or rather to prevent its ever taking hold of a child. He also stated that many of the service men who refused to return to the USA, did so because they were addicts and found it easier to continue their habit abroad than at home. The speaker also indicated that Newark is the first city to make a determined effort to eradicate the traffic. The "orchid" was delivered by Ernest D. Easton.

Prior to the address 13 members of the Westfield chapter were welcomed as visitors as was, also, Ernest Rich, brother of D. Homer, who gave a few interesting additional details as to W. O. Stoddard, the third secretary to Abraham Lincoln and father of Ralph G. Stoddard who addressed the Old Guard a couple of weeks ago, and who used his remarks as a means of introduction of his brother. N. O. Schaefer of Summit was elected to membership.

Art Association To Show Works by Henry Gasser

The Summit Art Association will present an exhibition of paintings by Henry Gasser at their gallery, 497 Springfield avenue, for one week beginning Sunday, March 7.

The paintings which will be on exhibit are originals from his recently published book, "Oil Painting—Methods and Demonstrations," and will include several paintings at various stages of progress.

Henry Gasser

There will be a tea on opening day for members and guests from 3 until 5:30 p.m. Mr. Gasser will be guest of honor and will give a brief talk about his book and how he came to write it. Officiating at the tea tables will be Mrs. Percival M. Bland, Mrs. Henry Gasser and Mrs. T. Gasser.

The artist, a resident of Summit and a member of the Art Association, is a nationally known painter and director of the Newark School of Fine and Industrial Art. He was born in Newark and attended the school of which he is now director, also the Grand Central School of Art and the Art Student's League. Among the many art organizations to which he belongs are the National Academy of Design, the American Water Color Society, and the Associated Artists of New Jersey. He has exhibited throughout the country and is represented in many permanent collections.

Mr. Gasser is a winner of over 90 awards at various shows. His most recent award is the Baltimore water color prize for his water color, "Intersection." This is the third important award that this painting has won.

Following the opening, the exhibition will be open free to the public on Wednesday, Saturday and Sundny from 3 to 5:30 p.m.

Jack Pyle Scores In Benefit Show, "Bell For Adano"

As a benefit for the area Boy Scouts, the Playhouse Association presented a production of Paul Osborn's, "A Bell For Adano," for two performances last Friday and Saturday nights at the High School auditorium. Judging by the capacity audiences on both nights the production must have been as successful financially as it was artistically.

Though the co-operative effort of every working member of the Playhouse Association was evident in the production, the portrayal of Major Jappolo by Jack Pyle must be noted as the highlight of the evening. With easy gesture and a simplicity and sincerity of speech that can only spring from a deep inner affinity with the character he was playing, Mr. Pyle brought to vivid life the indomitable Major, whose job it was, to bring order out of chaos in a wartorn Sicilian village.

The major's story is unfolded in a series of sharply etched scenes requiring fine bits of characterization to be effective. Though this is not normally possible with a non-professional group, the Playhouse with its usual acumen in casting, met the demands of the script with outstanding success.

A nice bit was done by Bruno DePaoli and Eric Davies was outstanding as the sly Guiseppe. Jack Weeks contributed an intensely dramatic moment as the hysterical former mayor of Adano. Jack Summersby, with his patriarchial manner, lent an air of authority to the role of Father Pennsovecchio. In the more difficult role of the pugnacious Tomasino, Louis Perrottet presented a heart-warming performance. His daughter, Tina, was played by Miss Parrish Fort who brought to the role not only a wealth of lovely blond hair but an equal amount of charm.

Every play must have its 'party of the opposition.' In the case of Major Jappolo it was Captain Purvis, officer in charge of the M.P.'s. Bob Graef was intrusted with this role and brought to the part just the right amount of suave cynicism needed to give dramatic intensity to the production. Fred Kinch, Alan Mathiasen, Tom Cochran and Bill Kinsford were the other M.P.'s and wore their uniforms and filled their roles with equal authority.

Much of the credit for the production must go to the director, Mrs. Floyd Jefferson. Credit is also due Bernard Cowperthwaite and Jack Rose for their outstanding set.

Beauty Hints

Master Hair Stylist,
Summit, N. J.

GOOD PERMANENT WAVE PRINCIPLES

No matter what system or brand of equipment and lotions you intend to use, be sure to follow the directions for that particular method. But always keep in mind hair curling principles, because every head is a special case, and you want the patron to know that you think that way about her hair.

Most women like to say that their own hair is different from that of others. However, you must always realize that her hair is different only in degree, and that it can be given a permanent of any size curls. These curls will not relax unless a softening chemical gets on them, whether by deliberate application or by being surrounded by the gas, hydrogen sulfide, given off by some scalps 24 hours a day.

Realize, also, that unless hair has been damaged in spots, all of it on the same scalp will have the same ability to be softened, therefore curled.

Usually sun bleached hair resists softening and chemical bleaching makes the hair soften more easily. Also, a child's hair often resists softening more than that of a grown person.

All hair on the scalp grows at approximately the same speed—one-half inch per month, but the apparent slowness of growth is in reality a case of dropping out before it grows to a very long length, like eyebrows and eyelashes.

With these facts in mind, the beautician reduces the number of causes for wondering.

The printed directions for each brand and method of waving, usually gives all the necessary details to make a successful wave on average hair, but in addition to this the operator should watch for variations. Of course, if test curls are not made first, the peculiarities of the hair may be unknown and could not then be taken into consideration.

Baptist Church Elects Officers; Adopts Budget

New officers have been chosen and a budget adopted at First Baptist Church, according to the executive council which met this week. Garvice Ridings of Crescent avenue, was named chairman of the Council.

Also present were Jack Manley, new chairman of the deacons; Rome Betts, new chairman of the Board of Christian Education, and William Baker, who now heads the trustees of the church.

It was announced by Lesley Browder, who conducted the every-member canvass, that the largest budget in the history of the local congregation has been fully raised.

A. F. Jones, head of the board of World Fellowship, announced that a church dinner meeting will be held March 17, at which the former president of Tuskeegee University will be the speaker.

It was also announced that Roberts v. S. Reed has accepted the responsibility for the Fireside Forums, popular Sunday evening lecture series in the church.

In a statement to the council, Rev. David K. Barnwell, D.D., minister, declared, "We start our new church year in a remarkably healthy condition of church organization and finance. Our business and program affairs are in excellent hands. Our necessary funds are entirely pledged. We have received the largest group of new members this season of any on record. Best of all, there is the happiest spirit of cooperation and enthusiasm evident everywhere in the church. We shall move forward with confidence."

News of the Various Area Girl Scout Troops

Even though plans for the city-wide observance of Girl Scout Week starting Sunday have kept the girls busy, several troops have found time for interesting activities of their own.

Last Thursday Troop 51 of Brayton School had a hike and cookout assisted by three older scouts, members of the Senior Service Troop number 19. A group of the younger girls including Beverly Johnson, Carolyn Shannin, Gretchen Young and Dorothy Mauger, accompanied by two of the senior scouts, took an eight mile hike. These girls have now hiked between 30 and 40 miles toward a 100 mile Foot Traveler Badge. The hikers joined the other girls and leader at the fireplaces near the Lookout Tower in Watchung Reservation where Carol Hearn and Ann Willey had been chopping wood and building fires. Mrs. E. T. Mauger and Mrs. Leroy Towsley are the leaders.

Brownie Troops 50 and 18 of Washington School are busy dressing up their favorite dolls for a doll show the troops are giving at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow in the school auditorium. A small admission will be charged and the profits will be the troops' contribution to the Juliette Low International Friendship Fund. The following leaders are assisting: Troop 18, Mrs. R. H. Sayre, Jr., Mrs. John Elliott, Mrs. Edmund Jurasinski and Mrs. Catherine Sherman; Troop 50, Mrs. Jan Van Dam, Mrs. Robert Fantz and Mrs. Donald Malloy.

Has a Girl Scout rung your doorbell yet, selling Girl Scout cookies? The sale started yesterday with all troops in the Summit Area participating. As in past years, the cookies are the popular filled and mint types and the girls are having no difficulty making sales. Mrs. Leroy Towsley is general chairman.

The Girl Scout communion breakfast which will follow the 9 a.m. mass at St. Teresa's Church Sunday will be in charge of Mrs. Charles Jordan. Court Benedict of C.D.A. will prepare and serve the breakfast which will be attended by the St. Teresa scouts, their mothers and leaders.

The new Junior High School Troop 27 announces the election of two additional officers, troop scribe, Jane Newbury; treasurer, Mary Riemer. The troop has chosen the home making booth for the annual bazaar. It has divided into three patrols, the "Doodle Bugs" which will study for the good grooming badge; the "Scribblers" studying for the journalism badge; and the "Band-Aiders" working for the first aid badge.

High School Sports Scribe Picks All-Conference Team

By Roger Zerweck

Picking an "All-Star" team in any sport is a very difficult job, and it is the same way trying to name an All-Suburban Conference Five. There were some outstanding players on the courts although the Conference as a whole was rather weak this year. Well here goes.

Starting at the forwards Dan Marx, six foot senior of Millburn, definitely rates one of the berths. Marx broke all existing Millburn scoring records this season and is generally conceded by many as the top player in the loop. Rod Smith of Verona is our pick for the other forward post. A six foot two inch senior, averaged over twenty points for the Hilltoppers this year and was the spark plug of a rather mediocre ball club.

The only controversy comes at the center post. Here we have two competing candidates battling for the post. Tom Conroy of Summit and Tony DeTroia of Caldwell. Conroy has the quickness of a real pivot man, with DeTroia having mannerisms of a high scoring forward. Conroy gets our vote in great rebound work using his 6'4" frame to advantage under both backboards, also averaging seventeen points per game.

We've nominated two guards in our All-Conference squad, with Jack Close of Glen Ridge and Fred Wynne of Millburn the top men. Close was the whole Ridger team this year averaging sixteen points per game. Wynne was the Millburn workhorse, best passer, and extremely good rebounder. Although averaging ten points per game, Freddie usually took up the slack when teammate Dan Marx was having an off night.

These are the 1953-54 selections. Undoubtedly there will be a good number of arguments pertaining to the merits of these selections, but we feel that after seeing all teams and players in action, our selections are justifiably sound.

Recreation Board Issues Call for Softballers

It's only a matter of six weeks from the National pastime, with the most popular after supper activity, softball, again serving the recreation minded men of Summit. The Board of Recreation would like to have all interested sponsors and clubs write or call the Recreation Department signifying their intention of either sponsoring or interest in entering an organized league. This is not a definite commitment, but to give the Recreation Department some idea of the number of teams interested.

New YM Group Holds First Meeting

The religious emphasis committee of the Summit YMCA was organized last Tuesday night. Earl S. Christman of 5 Parmley Place, a former YMCA secretary, was appointed chairman by the Board of Directors. The initial session was devoted to an examination of the YMCA as a lay religious movement and ways in which Christian teachings can be translated into more positive attitudes particularly among youth.

Consideration was also given to the role of the YMCA in its relation to churches and other religiously motivated youth-serving agencies. It was the concensus of opinion that more cohesion was desirable in projecting the total Christian enterprise in today's world community. Efforts will be made to work more closely with local churches and interpret the aims of the Association to ministers.

The task of achieving a sense of unity among persons and groups of non-Protestant beliefs was also pointed out. The need for a united front among people of all religions against Communism and the rising tide of economic materialism within our own culture was recognized.

Persons attending the meeting included Rev. John E. Carrington, Alton Gast, Frank T. Barr, George B. Martin, Robert Simmons, Allan R. Devenney, Lawrence C. Burr, and Mr. Christman. The second meeting will be held March 23.

Summit Faces Edison In State Cage Tourney

Summit High School will face Edison Tech of Elizabeth in their initial start in the Group III State Basketball Tournament. The game will be played at the Cranford gym, game time 7:15 p.m. Edison finished their season with a rather poor 4-13 record, playing in strong competition. This could go the other way as Edison has the reputation of being a good shooting club, the type that usually can break good zone defense setups. In the second half of the twin bill Rahway (the giant killer) will play a very good Westfield quintet. Should Summit defeat Edison, their opponents for a second round battle would be either Linden or Westfield.

EXCOMMUNICATED—In the above scene from the film of the same name, Martin Luther, under ban by the church, is shown teaching a confirmation class in Wittenberg with his wife, Katherine von Bora. The film, produced by Louis de Rochemont, opens next Wednesday, March 10, at the Strand theater.

Overlook Has Need of Rumor Spiking Committee

A hospital should have a committee on rumors, Woodruff J. English, president of Overlook, told the Summit Herald in an interview here this week.

"We are constantly running down rumors," Mr. English said. "As a matter of fact, we are glad to have rumors reported to us by our friends because then we can get the facts and either end another rumor or fix something that may have been wrong in our way of doing things.

"Only last week we chased down two rumors that were typical. According to one story a Puerto Rican woman was about to have a baby in a store in New Providence and was rushed to the hospital by some kind bystander. There, the hospital would not admit her, according to the rumor, because she had no money. The kind bystander, so the story goes, rushed her back to New Providence where he enlisted the help of the police and all rushed back to the hospital where she was admitted—or that's the way the rumor went.

"We checked the story with the police and the hospital records. It turns out there was a Puerto Rican woman from New Providence and she was brought to the hospital by the New Providence rescue squad police ambulance—on November 8. But she had been coming to the hospital regularly for prenatal care, everything was arranged for her admittance beforehand, there was no hitch of any kind. Her husband went to the police because the family had no phone and he wanted help in a hurry. As a matter of fact, the police had been forewarned that they might get an emergency call and not to worry because everything was arranged at Overlook.

"More recently there was a rumor that a mother of triplets had been bothered by news photographers and, according to the rumor, Overlook should have protected the mother against such things. Again the facts are different. Permission to take photographs was given by the father, the hospital, and the doctor and finally by the mother herself. All permissions were contingent upon the others agreeing. No one has blamed the hospital for anything. In fact, one of the pleasures of running down some rumors is that you find many kind people along the way who say the hospital is doing a good job."

Mr. English asked that rumors be reported promptly to hospital officials so they can be traced down and the facts brought to the attention of the trustees.

"If there is a fault we want to fix it. If the rumor is false, we want to know that too," Mr. English said.

Summit Antioch Student Helps Pay Debt to Firemen

On Washington's Birthday, just one year ago, a resident of Summit was one of 90 freshmen girls routed by fire from Antioch College's dormitory, North Hall.

Today, one year later, Toni Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cooper of 11 Iris road, is one of seven hostesses who will entertain men from the fire departments which came from eight nearby towns and communities to help fight the blaze. She and the other hostesses are co-eds whose rooms and belongings were completely ruined when the evening blaze broke out.

The fire-gutted interior of the building has been completely rebuilt within its 100-year-old walls, and the firemen are guests at a dinner and open house in their honor.

Miss Cooper, a second-year student at Antioch, is one of 1,000 students who alternate study on the Yellow Springs campus and work on regular jobs throughout the country, for which they receive credit toward graduation.

A creative arts major, Miss Cooper has worked for Carson, Pirie, Scott and Company in Chicago, where she did display work on interior fashions.

Teacher Pay Bill an "Assault On Home Rule," Chamber Says

COMING!—Arthur Rubinstein, the famous pianist, who will give the final program in the Master Piano Series of Concerts of the Griffith Music Foundation at the Mosque Theatre, Newark, Sunday afternoon, March 14, at 3:45 p. m.

The New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce has asked members of the State Legislature to vote against a proposed mandatory salary schedule for school teachers terming it an "assault on home rule" and stating that adoption of the proposal "would make teacher employees almost completely independent of the local boards of education that employ them."

The State Chamber's position was announced in a research report submitted to members of the State Legislature. The report is concerened with a bill introduced in the Assembly which would require local school boards to pay teachers a minimum salary of $3,000; plus an annual raise of $150 until a maximum of $5,100 is attained by teachers with a bachelor's degree. Teachers with a master's degree or its equivalent, would receive additional raises until they reached a maximum of $5,400.

The State Chamber report states that this mandatory salary schedule, when taken together with the existing tenure law, has the end result of saying to local boards of education:

"Once a teacher has been employed for three years: You may not discharge her, You may not reduce her salary, You must give her an annual raise."

This, says the Chamber, "would take control of teaching personnel out of the hands of local boards of education and vest it in the State Legislature."

The report is critical of the reasons cited in favor of the salary legislation pointing out:

1. New Jersey regularly attracts more experienced teachers from other states than she loses. (In 1952-53, according to the State Department of Education, New Jersey recruited 443 teachers from other states and lost only 297 to other states for a net gain of 146 teachers in inter-state competition.)

2. Despite contrary claims, data collected by the State Department of Education indicates a consistent upward trend in the number of out-of-state college graduates accepting teaching positions in New Jersey. (In 1952-53 out-of-state colleges supplied 805, or about 23 per cent of the new teachers recruited by New Jersey. Ten years ago only 242 out-of-state college graduates, constituting about 15 per cent of all new positions, were recruited throughout the State.)

Although several states have already enacted mandatory salary schedules, the State Chamber report declares that the schedule proposed for New Jersey "is far more generous than those in effect in neighboring states."

Symphony to Give Concluding Youth Concert Saturday

The second and final "music for fun" youth concert will be given Saturday, March 6, at 11 a.m. at Summit High School auditorium by the New Jersey Symphony under the direction of Samuel Antek.

The concert will conclude the second season of youth concerts and plans are being made for a third season. The Saturday concert is open to those who have purchased season tickets.

Ticket sales and contributions from sponsors partially defray the cost of the first concert and the second one is being made possible through the courtesy of Local 16, Newark, Musicians' Union, free services of non-professional members of the orchestra and Friends of the New Jersey Symphony.

The orchestra is a non-profit organization, and the presentation of children's concerts in Summit depends upon the support individuals give as sponsors or "angels." A contribution enables one to be an "angel" and to receive four tickets to the season's concerts, (two tickets for each concert). The support of "angels" is needed in advance to bring the orchestra to Summit and to insure the sale of tickets to children at a price within the reach of all.

Mrs. Mark N. Donohue, Summit concert chairman, and Mrs. Robert H. Beams (SU 6-6717), chairman of subscriptions or "angels," will be on hand at the Saturday morning concert to receive names or contributions of those interested in sponsoring the concerts for next season.

The theme for the Saturday concert is a "World Tour Through Music." The "tour" begins in the United States and visits are made to England, Norway, Austria, Italy, China. There will be some audience participation.

Private Schools Will Meet Here Saturday

The New Jersey area conference of the Northfield League will attract a hundred youthful delegates to an all-day meeting at the Kent Place School Saturday, March 6. The theme of the conference, as announced by Mrs. Richard Harbour of St. Barnabas Rectory, Irvington, N. Y., and chairman of the Middle Atlantic area of the Northfield League, will be "The Power of Faith in Our Daily Life."

Registration will be in the main school building on the Kent Place campus at 10 a.m. Saturday. Delegates from the following schools have thus far requested reservations: Adelphi Academy, Barnard School, Beard School, Dwight School, Hartridge School, Kent Place School, Kimberley School, and Masters School.

Fifth Fire in Ten Days Hits Summit

Summit's fifth fire in 10 days swept a rear room of the Summit Tire Shop at 419 Broad street last Wednesday night causing damage estimated at $2,000. The other fires were in private homes.

Firemen were hampered by heavy smoke from the burning tires and tubes but confined the blaze to a buffing room in the one-story building.

A smoke scare at Oak Knoll School Saturday morning sent firemen rushing to the scene. The alarm was turned in by a passer-by who saw smoke pouring from a chimney. However, firemen found the smoke was the result of trash being burned in a fireplace.

A brush fire on Glenside avenue was quickly extinguished Saturday around 8 p.m.

Called for Jury Duty

Among the 125 citizens of the county who have been called for duty on petit juries in the county courts for the term between March 1 and March 13, is Mrs. Astrid Norton of 67 Beech avenue.

The drawing was before County Judge Edward A. McGrath.

EXPANSION COMPLETED—Above is a view of the recently completed expansion program of the Paul H. Werner Motor Co., Springfield avenue, local Chrysler agency. This Year's Flower Show Designed for Suburbanite

The suburbanite, in his eternal quest for information on home gardening, will be able to find the answers in at least two major exhibits at the 38th International Flower Show, March 7-13.

The New York Botanical Garden and the Brooklyn Botanic Garden will feature two displays at Kingsbridge Armory, site of the show, which are specifically designed to provide helpful information for the home-owner.

The New York Botanical Garden will recreate a corner of the home property of a fuchsia hobbyist. A winding path through the garden will lead to a terrace teahouse; a stream, spanned by a rustic bridge, will run through the display. Fern, cardinal flower and Solomon seal will grow along the banks of the stream. Evergreen shrubs, including rhododendrons, will serve as accent plants within the exhibit.

In an appeal to the "armchair gardener," the Brooklyn Botanical Garden will create a modern terrace, designed for suburban home or city penthouse.

The display will feature a formal miniature rose garden of the type which has gained widespread favor recently among hobbyists; a garden of succulents; a bog garden surrounding a small pool; a garden made of various volcanic rock; and a cold frame with plantings of the type which would appeal to the home owner whose gardening space is limited.

Show visitors with inquiries on any phase of floriculture or horticulture will have an opportunity of having their questions answered by experts who will attend the exhibits of both the Brooklyn and New York Botanical Gardens.

The International Flower Show opens at Kingsbridge Armory, Sunday, March 7 at 2 p.m. It will run daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., through Saturday, March 13.

Kingsbridge Armory is located at Kingsbridge Road and Jerome avenue, the Bronx.

Former Local Real Estate Man Named for Tax Post

F. Edward Biertuempfel, Jr., until recently associated with the R. H. Steele real estate agency of this city, has been proposed a senior clerk and field investigator for the Union County Board of Taxation. The request for the appointment of Biertuempfel and also Roselle Park Councilman Joseph W. Thompson to a new post of acting chief clerk was made last week by the county tax board to the Board of Freeholders.

The acting chief clerk job would pay $4,800 and the senior clerk-investigator job would pay $4,000. Both jobs are provided for in the county's 1954 budget.

F. Edward Biertuempfel, mayor of Union, is president of the Tax Board.
