

Local Firms Celebrate Holidays With Dinner, Theater Parties

The holiday spirit at Summit's industrial and business organizations and institutions is well underway with Christmas parties starting as early as December 5 and continuing through Saturday.

Last Saturday Vice-president and Mrs. William Heinke acted as official host and hostess at the annual Kemper Insurance Christmas party for 150 children of employees in the company's cafeteria.

Yesterday, the Women's Club of the firm attended a dinner and fashion show at Echo Lane, Mountaintide. Shoes, dresses, suits, coats and other wearing apparel from Summit merchants were modeled by the women members. Celanese Corporation celebrated Christmas with a dinner-dance last Saturday at the Martinsville Inn, which was attended by 250 people.

Following dinner at the Millburn Inn, 80 people from the Summit Trust Co. attended a performance of "Kiss Me Kate" at the Paper Mill Playhouse last December 5. Arrangements for the Yule affair were made by Miss Catherine Spooner, Miss Joan Packover, Miss Anita Gallo and Mrs. Rita Robison.

The First National Bank and Trust Company held a Christmas dinner-dance last night at the Hotel Suburban for 60 employees and guests.

Tomorrow, an estimated 550 employees from Ciba Pharmaceuticals will gather at the Essex House for cocktails, dinner, dancing and professional entertainment. Last Saturday, the children of Ciba personnel met Santa Claus at 9:30 a.m. at the Strand theatre and received gifts and refreshments.

Twenty people from the Summit Federal Savings and Loan Association had dinner at the Canoe Brook Country Club last Saturday in observance of the season.

The annual Christmas party of the Citizens Trust Company officers and staff, with wives and husbands, was held at the New Hampshire House on December 6.

See "Kiss Me Kate" Following dinner, the group went to the Paper Mill Playhouse to see a performance of "Kiss Me Kate."

After a dinner at the Acres, Whippany, a group of ten from Hill City Savings and Loan Association attended the Princeton Triangle show at Morrisstown, last Monday.

A buffet supper and dance was attended by approximately 550 from Chubb and Son on December 11 at the Mosque Theatre building. The company's annual Christmas affair was held in the Terrace Room.

Bell Telephone Laboratories have already held their annual display of dolls and toys at Murray Hill. Other Christmas activities include caroling tomorrow at the Lab's Arnold Auditorium, a combined concert of the men's and women's glee clubs last Tuesday and a party for 250 children held earlier this month.

Today, 450 from the Allstate Insurance Company will attend a dance and entertainment at the Far Hills Inn.

Yesterday, 300 employees and guests of Air Reduction Laboratories were also at the Far Hills Inn for the company's annual Christmas observance.

Early Copy Needed for Herald Holiday Issues

Early deadlines for all editorial, display and classified advertising will be required for the next two issues of The Summit Herald because of the Christmas and New Year holidays.

The deadline for all copy for both issues will be Monday at 5 p.m., December 21 and December 31.

Photographs must be submitted no later than noon on the above days.

Publicity chairmen and advertisers are requested to submit copy as early as possible in order to guarantee publication for these issues.

The Herald offices will be closed on Christmas Day and New Year's Day but issues for those two weeks will be delivered as usual on Thursday.

High School Yule Pageant Tomorrow Open to Public

The annual Senior High School Christmas assembly will be presented tomorrow, December 21, at 2 p.m. Parents, alumni and townspeople are cordially invited to attend this program which again will include tableaux depicting the Christmas story accompanied by appropriate choral music and interspersed with Bible readings.

As the student body enters the auditorium Christmas music will be played by two instrumental ensembles—a brass quartet consisting of Robert Geissel and Douglas Wade, trumpets; Gilbert Low, baritone horn and Ellen McCue, trombone; and a clarinet quartet including Mimi Murray, Alex Siegel, Lear Retteger and Mary Anne May.

Phyllis Roberts will sing "Silent Night" as the auditorium lights dim. Immediately after this the small choir will enter singing the professional "O Come All Ye Faithful." The chorus continues the program with "Masters In This Hall," "Ave Maris Stella," and the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Two readers, Elin Bolash and Toby Hamilton, start the Christmas story. "And it came to pass in those days . . ." and the program continues with tableaux and music appropriate to the readings. After the final reading the chorus will sing "O Little Town of Bethlehem" followed by the recessional, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing." The entire audience will join in the singing of this carol and the students will continue to hum it as they leave the auditorium.

Schools Observe Christmas With Varied Programs

Christmas at the city's public schools was celebrated last week and this week with a variety of original plays, carol sings, skits and classroom parties.

The Christmas program at Franklin School was held yesterday at 10:30 a.m. at the school's auditorium by the fifth grades under the direction of Miss Cecelia Currier and Mrs. J. Shuttlesworth. A tableau of living Christmas Cards was presented and carols were sung by fifth grade choir members. Music was conducted by Miss Margaret Thorp.

Portraying special characters were Lee Annett, Mary; Jimmy Royer, Joseph; Margaret MacClay, Mary Hizzman, Elsie Andersen, angels; Gilbert Dodson, Tom Hughes, Bruce Theukauf, kings; Stephen Middlebrook, David Harrington, Fred Sprow, shepherds; Paul Dunder, Lee Chivovaru, Trippy Franklin, Peter Wannier, Jack Arnold, Bob Eisele, Elise Prior, Sally Pasley, carolers; Robert Wellbrook, Santa Claus; Peter Wannier, Richard Quinn, Lane Kaley, Dick Johnson, Jeff Tims, Yule log bearers and George Danco, narrator.

On Tuesday, the Franklin School kindergarten presented its annual Christmas show for parents. The program, a Nativity scene, was directed by Miss E. Leonard, kindergarten teacher, and Mrs. J. Farrell, kindergarten assistant.

Original Play Given
On Monday, the second grades at Washington School presented an original play entitled, "Santa's Alarming Decision."

The program opened with selections by the school orchestra under the direction of Roy Fulmer, followed by carols by the school chorus directed by Miss Margaret Thorp.

The story of "Santa's Alarming Decision" centered about a letter sent to Summit children by Santa, informing them he will not visit the city this year because no one thanked him for the presents he gave them year before. The play was directed by Mrs. Mildred Ackerman and Mrs. Margaret Thurler, second grade teachers. Lower grade children have been (Continued on Page 25)

Greeting our friends at Christmas time has become more than a habit with us. It is a manifestation of a deeply felt appreciation of the understanding and good will that we have been privileged to enjoy over these many years. And it is for this reason that we are so anxious now, to extend to everyone our sincerest wishes for a most enjoyable Christmas and a very happy New Year.

Overlook Honors Local Employees' Service Records

Overlook Hospital has instituted a program of recognition for employees with record of long service to the hospital. Yesterday afternoon, December 19, F. Bruce Gerhardt, president of the Overlook board of trustees, presented service pins to all fulltime employees who have been with the hospital for five consecutive years or more.

In making the awards, Mr. Gerhardt said: "It is gratifying to read the letters that come in commending the hospital—these letters say that not only the nursing staff but everyone at the hospital is friendly, courteous and doing a good job. All employees contribute to the character of an organization but influential in its morale. That is the reason I am so pleased to give these awards for years of service to Overlook Hospital."

The 51 members of the Overlook staffs eligible for the service awards were guests of honor at a Christmas tea where the presentations were made and to which all the employees of the hospital were invited.

Holding the record for the most years of continuous service at Overlook are Sam Nunn of 16 Orchard street, and Elizabeth Sampson of 23 Lewis avenue, both of whom have worked at the hospital (Continued on Page 25)

Public Response to Early Mail Eases Christmas Rush

A better than usual response from the public for early mailing of Christmas cards and packages has enabled the local Post Office staff to "keep on top" of all daily deliveries and get the mail into homes and business concerns quicker than in past years.

Postmaster Theodore F. Van Dyke this week stated that the public has shown "excellent cooperation" in the annual plea for early mail and that the avoidance of last-minute mailings has made it possible for the staff and its 55 extra employees to handle all incoming and outgoing mail on the same day of arrival.

Last Sunday afternoon the Post Office lobby was opened until 5:30 p.m. for patrons but will be closed this Sunday since the peak will have passed. Hampers are also in place for out-of-town, out-of-state and local mail. Mr. Van Dyke said the classification of mail in these categories is of great assistance in the Christmas rush.

Lobby Open 7:30 a.m.
All during this week the lobby will open at 7:30 a.m. instead of 8 a.m. as is customary for the convenience of commuters.

The residential sections are now getting two deliveries a day. A temporary route man leaves the office at 7 a.m. and at 10 a.m. the regular carrier departs. Some routes, especially those in the apartment house districts, are particularly heavy and may, Van (Continued on Page 25)

Summit Federal Appoints Heights Advisory Board

Berkeley Heights — Announcement of the appointment of six prominent Passaic Valley residents to serve as members of an advisory committee for the Berkeley Heights branch of Summit Federal Savings and Loan Association was made last night by Arthur T. Dudley, president of the Association, at a meeting of the board of directors held at Canoe Brook Country Club. Members of the new advisory committee attended the dinner.

The advisory committee consisted of Alfred E. Badtke of 1109 Pleasant field avenue, Berkeley Heights, president of the Berkeley Engineering Co.; Richard E. Badtke of 72 South street, New Providence, area builder and contractor; Dr. Sidney Benford of Emerson Lane, Berkeley Heights, vice president of Berkeley Chemical Co.; James R. Morris of 1502 Springfield avenue, New Providence, real estate broker; and Daniel C. Washington of Long Hill road, Gillette, architect.

Serving with the above committee will be two directors of the Association, Frank H. Pratt, director of sales for Ciba, and Carl S. Hulet, publisher of the Summit Herald. Both are Summit residents.

Zoning Violation Costs
Local Trucker $100 Fine
Pleading guilty to two counts of violating the municipal zoning ordinance, Nofrey Fornaro of 27 Aubrey street, was fined $100 last week by Magistrate Albert H. Bierman in Municipal Court.

Complaints against Fornaro were made by Roland Texeque, building inspector, on December 4 and 5, who told the court that Fornaro had parked trucks in a residential zone, which covers the rear of his parking lot at 198 Broad street, where he conducts a trucking business. The site is an abandoned car wash establishment. Mr. Texeque added that Fornaro has been warned on several occasions regarding the violation.

Residents' Protests Kill Plan To Improve Woodland Avenue

Common Council defeated by law Tuesday night a pending ordinance that would have permitted the grading and paving of Woodland avenue between Beverly road and Karen way.

According to city law, if two-thirds of the assessed valuation of the property affected by an ordinance object, the ordinance must be rejected.

Introduced at the last Council meeting on December 4, the proposed ordinance for the improvement of the roadway met with objection from area residents, who presented a petition bearing 32 names.

Mrs. Mary Mabel Culver Watson Smith and Henry Craig Smith, of 155 Woodland avenue, notified Council through a separate letter that the property involved is fully improved and has storm sewers. They also noted that further improvement would bring noise and more traffic to the street.

In a letter from Shanley and Fisher, Newark attorneys for the Barba Construction Company, who were among the petition's signers, it was said that "the ordinance in its present form is arbitrary and discriminatory against our clients." The letter also said that the improvement would be at Barba's expense and would make the frontage "quite expensive."

Resident Awaits Hearing in Death Of Crash Victim
Awaiting arraignment on charges of causing death by automobile, William L. Burke, 28, of 185 Colonial road, was released in $1,000 bail on Monday, following a two-car crash early Sunday morning which resulted in the death of Robert S. Koss, 19, of Clark. The accident, which occurred at the intersection of Springfield and Summit avenues, also injured two others.

According to police, the accident occurred at 1:30 a.m. when Mr. Burke's car careened off the automobile driven by Koss, veered out of control for approximately 60 feet and then crashed through a plate glass window at Delia's Fashion Shop, 346 Springfield avenue. Damage to the store was estimated at $7,000 by Albert Cohen, store manager.

Mr. Koss was thrown from his car after it struck a traffic light pole at the intersection and continued for 40 feet on Summit avenue until it crashed into a parking meter. He was dead on arrival at Overlook Hospital. Police said that death was attributed to a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Miss Alice Jean Cameron, 18, of Westfield, a passenger in Mr. Koss' car, was treated at Overlook Hospital for leg, wrist and ankle injuries and released. Mr. Burke was treated at the hospital in a deep gash on his lower lip.

Police say at the time of the accident, the four traffic signals at the intersection were off. The lights automatically go off at midnight.

According to police, Mr. Koss was driving his mother's sedan south on Summit avenue, while Mr. Burke was going west on (Continued on Page 25)

City Seen Leaning Towards Forbes in Governatorial Race

State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes of Far Hills won't have too much trouble placing Summit on his hardwagon if he becomes a candidate for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, according to sentiment being expressed about town by prominent Republicans.

An informal survey made among several local Republican Party leaders as well as party "laymen" shows that Forbes is by far the popular choice at this point. Many said they wished he would soon announce his candidacy so that they could help him in his behalf.

Forbes is well thought of by many local GOP members, especially among the so-called "grass roots" element of the party, and was given an excellent vote here in 1951 when he carried Union County in a very confused GOP gubernatorial primary contest that saw U. S. Sen. Clifford P. Case among the early starters and former Assemblyman Fred C. Shepard and former State Sen. Kenneth C. Hurd in the final lineup with Paul L. Troast. Forbes easily carried the county despite the fact that the GOP organization had thrown its weight with Troast. When Case withdrew from the 1952 gubernatorial race the Summit Herald switched its support to Forbes rather than Troast.

Yule Cards Received
Forbes has not yet declared his candidacy but it is expected any day. During the last week quite a few Summit residents were somewhat surprised to receive Christmas greetings from Forbes and his family.

County GOP leaders are taking a sideline seat for the present in the possibility that Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell of Westfield should indicate that he will be a candidate.

However, sources close to Mitchell indicate that he will remain in the Eisenhower cabinet. State Sen. Wayne Dumont, Jr. of Warren County, who has announced his candidacy, seems to have practically no support here.

Another possibility is Bernard M. Shanley of Bernardsville, an administrative assistant to Pres- (Continued on Page 25)

Merry Menagerie Causes Furor at Newark Museum

By combining artistry, imagination and skill, Mrs. Marianne Eva Bowles, of 390 Morris avenue, has created a furor at the Newark Museum with her display of toys. The toys, which are in the forms of various animals in comic poses . . . playful tigers, happy whales, mischievous bears, slinking sloths and pugnacious pigs . . . all make for a merry menagerie.

Mrs. Bowles, a dress designer among other things, came to this country from Germany nine years ago and settled in Boston.

After marrying, she and her husband, who is employed at the Bell Laboratories, moved to Summit last year.

Her miniature zoo, which has only been retailed through the New York Exchange for Woman's Work, has attracted much attention in exhibition at the Newark Museum.

"You would be amazed how adults have taken to fondling these toys," she said.

The toys, which are stuffed with shredded foam rubber, are covered with velveteen and decorated with felt. While it takes about 12 hours to complete each animal, Mrs. Bowles added, "The tiger takes a little longer. Sewing on 39 stripes consumes time."

Much of the sewing is done by hand. All of the designing is done by Mrs. Bowles.

In order to acquire additional source material in the ways of the animal world, Mrs. Bowles visits zoos to sketch the residents in action.

As foam rubber plays an important part in the making of the toys, Mrs. Bowles buys in fifty pound lots.

Medieval Cook Book

Among Mrs. Bowles' other current projects is her compilation of a medieval cook book. Her research has revealed among other things that a typical fast breakfast 500 years ago consisted of perhaps fish and a mug of beer. Mrs. Bowles noted that the introduction of the fork changed the eating habits of man. Prior to the introduction of that utensil, the knife and the spoon were the sole eating tools. Food was either chunky to be eaten by hand or soupy to be ladled by spoon. With the fork came the realization that food could take on other shapes and sizes.

As yet, Mrs. Bowles has been unable to fully sample the delicacies she has come upon. However it is expected that after the birth of the Bowles first child in early spring that Mrs. Bowles will be able to sample all the wares.

Summit Soldier Now Stationed in Texas

Army Pvt. Alvin L. Grisby, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Grisby, 86 Franklin place, is receiving eight weeks of basic combat training with the 4th Armored Division at Fort Hood, Tex.

Grisby did graduate work in Russian studies at Harvard University before entering the Army. A member of Kappa Delta Rho and Phi Beta Kappa fraternities, he was graduated from Colgate University in 1954.

BANK EXECUTIVE — Chemical Corn Exchange Bank has elected James B. Richardson vice president. He is in charge of reestablishment for the Diocese of Newark. As one of the family speaks English, there were many problems, but members of the parish and their friends have been wonderful and we are making out very well.

Harry Taylor, Jr., manager of the Hotel Suburban, offered to put the family up for the week-end and to furnish room and board without charge. Mrs. Oscar Rossett of 19 Prospect avenue, acted as interpreter and helped the family select their meals from the menu for their entire stay. The children even had an opportunity to select ice cream for dessert.

When Mr. Taylor learned that Szabo means "tailor" in Hungarian, he asked Mrs. Rossett to tell them that Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were delighted to have the Tailors for their guests.

On Collective Farm

Mr. Francis said that the Szabo family were on a collective farm in western Hungary when the recent revolution broke out. They helped the revolutionaries with produce and live stock, but when the revolution failed, had to flee from the Communists. It took the family five hours, walking at night and carrying the young children, to reach the Austrian border. According to Mr. Szabo, the Hungarian border guards were sympathetic and showed them the way into Austria.

The Szabos moved to Calvary Parish House on Monday where they will remain temporarily. Members of the parish are taking turns to see that meals are provided each day as well as beds for the entire family.

Mr. Francis said that arrangements have been made to teach the family English as quickly as possible. "The real problem," Mr. Francis points out, "is to find a moderately priced apartment to serve as a permanent residence." Mr. Szabo has had experience making farm machinery and is capable of performing general mechanical work.

"We of Calvary Parish," Mr. Francis added, "are very happy to do something worthwhile to help out these brave Hungarians who made a strike for freedom."

The Red Cross also had a part too: it loaned ten blankets and sent an interpreter on several occasions as well as helping to transport the Szabo family.

Calvary Church Opens Doors to Refugee Family

Summit's newest family, Mr. and Mrs. Imre Szabo and their four children, ranging in age from three to 11, arrived here last week and by all signs, will stay. They are Hungarian refugees and they have been sponsored by Calvary Episcopal Church.

According to Mr. Francis, Rector of Calvary, "We were asked to accept this family by Chaplain Green, who is in charge of resettlement for the Diocese of Newark. As one of the family speaks English, there were many problems, but members of the parish and their friends have been wonderful and we are making out very well."

Local Resident Wins Pru "Agent Of Year" Award

The Newark agency of the Prudential Insurance Co. has named Bernard C. Lewis of 12 Glen Oaks avenue, well-known North Jersey insurance man, its "Agent of the Year."

He was selected for the agency award because of his "many contributions to the life insurance profession as well as his prominent participation in church and community affairs."

In presenting Mr. Lewis with a silver tray award, Osborne Bethen, Newark agency manager, praised the underwriter's interest in industry problems and pointed to his efforts in improving the high standards of life insurance underwriting. He also emphasized Mr. Lewis' keen interest in his associates and the active role he plays in civic and church circles.

Identified with the insurance profession since 1951, Mr. Lewis has held offices in both national and local insurance organizations.

Summit Home Must Sell Site to Highest Bidder

Any plans for continuing the Summit Home for Children as some sort of a local social or welfare agency were dashed by the announcement this week of Dr. A. Lloyd Reid, president of the Home, that the property must be disposed of by sale to the "highest responsible bidder."

Last week SAGE, in a letter to this paper, suggested that the property be used as a community nursing home for the elderly or chronically ill. Other welfare organizations, local and out-of-town, have expressed an interest in acquiring the Evergreen road site.

However, in a letter to Rev. Philip S. Watters, Jr., Dr. Reid pointed out that the courts have directed the trustees of the Home that they can not select a buyer or attempt to control future use of the property and that future use of the property and that any sale negotiated must be approved by the Superior Court.

Rockets were used by the British fleet in 1814 in the attack on Baltimore. Hence the line "the rockets' red glare" in "The Star Spangled Banner."

It Pays to Advertise — Sometimes

Here is a Christmas story that is worthy of Mr. Scrooge. It happened last week—and in our town. A local woman lost a wrist watch and advertised its loss in the Herald classified columns. She received an immediate response (as everyone does—adv.) by a phone call from a woman who reported that her husband had found the watch. However, the unidentified caller added that her husband considered the watch an excellent one, was quite pleased with it and had decided to keep it as a Christmas gift for their daughter. The owner of the watch reminded the caller that it was not her property and also that a reward was offered for its return but the finder replied that her husband's philosophy is "finders keepers, losers weepers" and that the call was made only to let the owner know the watch was found but not being returned. We hope the new owner's daughter will be happy with her present this Christmas and will offer silent thanks to the legitimate owner of the watch, her daddy—and Mr. Scrooge.

Edward Stavenick, Jack Farrington and Tom Gundlach served as ushers and the stage committee consisted of Christopher Gregory, Michael Jannelli and Geoffrey Walker. An instrumental prelude was provided by the Lincoln School orchestra under the direction of Roy Fullmer. On Wednesday, Christmas programs by the kindergarten & lower school were the order of the day. Children in the kindergarten morning group presented "Santa's Toy Shop" and those in the afternoon group, "The Little Fir Tree." Both programs included all the children in each group and were a direct outgrowth of the youngsters' dramatic and rhythmic play. The lower school program was presented by Miss Sheila Keefe's first grade class. Barbara Robertson read "The Christmas Story," and a group of Christmas carols were sung by Debbie Ives, Barbara Soll, Roberta Daniels, Martha Mandeville, Linda Skoug, Mary Kay Schneider, Patty Rossiter, James White, David Bennett, Paul Walker, Dale Patterson, and Bruce McAlpine.

Former Lincoln Teacher Honored At PTA Program

The Lincoln School PTA took occasion last Tuesday night at the upper class Christmas assembly to honor Mrs. Elizabeth Wylie who taught first grade classes in Lincoln School for thirty years before her retirement this year.

After graduating from Skidmore College and receiving advance degrees from Teachers' College, Columbia University, Mrs. Wylie came to Lincoln in 1926. She taught the first grade every year since and her training and guidance will long be remembered by hundreds of former pupils, some of whom had the satisfaction of seeing their own children start school in Mrs. Wylie's class.

Charles Case, PTA president, paid tribute to Mrs. Wylie for her many years of faithful service and, on behalf of the PTA, presented her with a hi-fidelity record player. After the presentation to Mrs. Wylie, students of the sixth grade gave a two-part Christmas program, "Holiday Spirit," under the direction of Miss Nancy Bauer and David Davidson. The first part was devoted to the story of Hanukkah, the traditional Hebrew Feast of Lights, with Bobby Hammell, Gwynne King, Joan Schissel and Bob Carr taking part.

The second half of the program featured the Lincoln School choir under the direction of Miss Margaret Thorp and told the story of the Nativity. The part of Mary was played by Carolyn Moffett and Joseph, by Prince Mathies. Caroling angels were Sharon Sykes, Adrienne Benedict, Barbara Tillson, Jane Bennett, Marie Tombras, Lynne Rodgehs, Sue Watson, Marlin Wadmond, Alison Campbell, Barbara Lager, Morrene Hubbard, Julie Boynton, Susan Spencer and Claire McCourt.

The following sixth grade boys portrayed the shepherds: Buz Wilson, Tom Dodge, Richard Hebble, John Minnella, Edward Hobler, Jerry Cetrulo and Charles Case. The Three Kings were represented by Fred Ganz, Bryant Griffin and John Ratichek, with George Fleming and Edmond Covey playing the part of townspeople.

 Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (482:19): "Jesus was the highest human concept of the perfect man. He was inseparable from Christ, the Messiah—the divine idea of God outside the flesh. This enabled Jesus to demonstrate his control over matter. Angels announced to the Wisemen of old this dual appearing; and angels whisper it, through faith, to the hungering heart in every age."

The clothing was collected by PTA units under the direction of Mrs. Larned A. Meacham in cooperation with the Hungarian Relief Club of Elizabeth.
 Refugees who are pregnant mothers are being given complete lyette sets prepared by the Christ Child Society of Summit. Mrs. J. Assaykeen, a Hungarian-speaking volunteer of the Summit Red Cross chapter, is directing this work at the center.

The chapter stated that as a special Christmas project it had taken coloroid photographs of 75 patients at Lyons Veterans' Hospital, at the request of hospital authorities, so that the men could send recent photographs of themselves to relatives. The hospital paid for film and flash bulbs and the Red Cross furnished folders and envelopes which were given to the photographed patients.

HELP ONE ANOTHER ON THE ROAD TO FREEDOM

The greatest joy and happiness in this world results when we forget ourselves and do unselfish acts to help others. As fellow travelers on life's highway, there are many opportunities to observe the mistakes of others and to give a helping hand to overcome the handicaps and detours that slow up progress.

When people are tied down by force, such as used by dictators, Government planners, or domineering parents, an inferiority is created and natural growth is stunted. The first essential for normal growth and progress is individual freedom. Whenever man has been denied this right, it has led to a struggle and often to war.

Many young people when they break the home ties lack sufficient education, experience, wisdom and understanding and often become easy prey for those who would use them for selfish purposes and destroy their freedom.

Ever since the days of Adam and Eve, when they tried to show their freedom by eating the forbidden fruit, man has repeatedly fought individually and collectively for more and more freedom.

All down through the ages mankind has been fortunate in having pioneer trail blazers who have had the spiritual vision that has enabled them to find the way out of the pitfalls of civilization. The greatest Trail Blazer of all time said to His followers, "Deny thyself and follow Me." Surely He did not mean to give up those things that are essential to health, growth and stamina, but rather those non-essential things that, on account of their peculiar effect upon the nervous system, sneakingly and ultimately bring about a form of slavery, creating in people's minds fear, greed and hate. These are the mental qualities that lead to crime, sickness, accidents and poverty.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to whether the road you are on leads to freedom or serfdom, here is how you can tell. If the people along the way are indulging themselves in the use of alcoholic beverages, tobacco and/or caffeine products and insist that you have one, beware! They are not on the road to freedom. Instead follow those who are smart enough to avoid and overcome the use of all of these additives, for in so doing you will receive your reward and get joy out of helping others. Millions can testify that since they turned onto this new and better road, they have saved money, had clearer minds and better health, all of which has helped their progress to freedom.

The Star of Bethlehem Still Shines

Skeptics undoubtedly feel that the light of the Nativity Star which engulfed the world 2,000 years ago was an emotional phenomenon, nothing more.

But to the wise men of today, just as it was to the Wise Men then, the Star shines eternally. But it shines with a greater, more beautiful illumination when man creates humanity to man, when hope is evidenced throughout all nations, when peace and good will pervades the earth.

These are romantic concepts, it is true, just as it is romantic for a child to believe in the existence of Santa Claus, just as it is sentimental to trim Christmas trees and hang wreaths of holly, and just as it is heart-warming to know it is better to give than to receive. These are romantic concepts, but they also embrace the very heart of Christmas.

For the gospel of peace on earth and good will toward men is more than the statement of a Christmas season. It is the accepted Utopia of an entire world in search for the peace which the Christ Child presented to us so long ago.

Truly, in the spirit of man, the revolution of the mind took place that night when the Star of Bethlehem heralded the birth of the Child. Since then, Christmas has transcended the narrow lines of any sectional thought. It embraces all lands, all things, and, in a very real sense, all religion.

For all modern religion is based on the promise of a better and purer life on this earth. This central idea of Christianity is embodied in the Star of Bethlehem, which symbolically holds the truth, the purity, the goodness, the humanity, the charity and the love which is Christmas.

As man cannot live by bread alone, but by every word of God, the star radiates all these sentimental and traditional feelings eternally, whether it be Christmas or not. The Star continually shines, in darkness and in light, though man, at times, loses sight of its brilliancy.

But to a child, the light constantly glows, just as it glowed for the Child long years ago, for Children bring to life the true spirit of Christmas throughout the year. A child brings joy, trust, love. He believes as only a child can believe, in a world filled with goodness.

Can man emulate the child? He does when he does not live by the bread alone. When he does not live for material gain only, he is privileged to see the Star of Bethlehem in all its shining light. For it comes to him that though he may be insignificant compared to the infinite creations of God, he is still man, the noblest and greatest of God's wonders.

Time, like man, cannot wait. For man passes through this world but once. Let him show kindness and peace and love. Let him not defer it, for he cannot pass this way again. In this time of Christmas, let man look up from the bread, let him see for himself, with God's help, his own image shining in the light of the Star.

And what is this Star? It is the ray of hope, the beacon of truth and the light of peace . . . that which God gave us years ago in a manger at Bethlehem.

Aid Hungary Through the Red Cross

On every hand all Americans are expressing their sympathy for the valiant Hungarian people who refuse to submit to Communist tyranny despite the personal cost in suffering and distress. No one can doubt but that traditionally helpful Americans are in the mood to assist for there is tangible proof that our nation's generosity is being translated into definite terms.

Yet the one agency officially designated and ideally suited to serve as a channel for American sympathy and generosity is not getting the usual prompt response to its call to Summit residents. That agency is the Red Cross.

In the Summit Area the local chapter has a quota of $2,000 for Hungarian relief. Receipts to date amount to only one-half of that goal. Furthermore, an appeal has been issued for warm winter clothing but so far not a great deal has been turned in.

The unfortunate situation can largely be explained by confusion and by the multiplicity of appeals being made in the name of Hungarian relief. It seems that every one wants to get into the act. In our community there are numerous groups all eagerly collecting clothing and money for the Hungarians. Their motives are fine but their activity beclouds the public.

Strange though it may seem in view of the wide publicity being given the rescue work of the Red Cross in Hungary, many local people evidently do not understand that their gifts to the Red Cross will help hungry and homeless refugees who have not yet been able to flee to this country.

Summit Area residents should note the fact that their local Red Cross chapter is a part of a great humanitarian organization that is larger than the United Nations. The Red Cross, of which the Summit chapter is a unit, is on the scene of distress and is busily engaged in relieving that distress.

Most important to realize is the ability of the Red Cross to cross the barbed-wire barriers separating Hungarians from the free world. Red Cross shipments are going into the stricken country and not piling up on some foreign port or warehouse. Food, medicine, clothing and all the necessities of life are actually being shipped into Hungary through the international organization of the Red Cross and are being distributed by trained Red Cross workers. The dollars given in Summit to the local chapter go directly to discharge the mercy duties desired by the contributors.

The Herald strongly feels that all other efforts to aid Hungarians, no matter how well-intentioned, should be side-tracked for the Red Cross. Residents who want to contribute for Hungarian relief, in either money or clothing, should do so through the Red Cross and not through other less efficient groups who may or may not be able to provide the help to refugees that is needed immediately. It is a well-known fact that in past years various drives to clothe overseas unfortunates have resulted in vast shipments of winter clothing arriving in mid-summer or light-weight garments being distributed in mid-winter.

Those who understand the functions and organization of the Red Cross should tell others in order to eliminate the confusion as much as possible. Hungarian relief contributions mailed or brought to the Summit Area chapter, American Red Cross, 22 Elm street, will make possible on-the-spot assistance for the victims of brutal oppressors.

Those Decanters

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

One of the aspects of the holiday season that we view with foreboding is the proliferation of the gift decanter design. Probably there is nothing inherently wrong in putting whisky into bottles shaped like skyscrapers or ten-pins or candlesticks or cocktail shakers. But as new and weirder shapes come out each year, we fear the decanter competition is a symptom of some deep malady — an expression perhaps of the same enthrallment with the superficial which nowadays makes the most important thing about a new car model the shape of the rear fender. Are we to fix our attention on the shape of the bottle instead of the proof, the age and the quality of the contents?

Exactly that, no doubt, is what the merchandisers have in mind. This country is container-conscious, novelty-mad, gadget-delirious and psychopathically hostile to anything old, familiar, established — or, if it isn't, the merchandisers will make it so.

New Opportunities for Rehabilitation

(Plainfield Courier)

An interesting experiment is being conducted at the John E. Rannels Hospital (formerly Bonnie Burn Sanatorium) in Berkeley Heights.

The Union County Tuberculosis and Health League is cooperating with the Union County Association for Mental Health in this project designed to help reduce the rate of recurrent admissions to mental hospitals. The services offered free of charge includes occupational therapy for outpatients who will be furnished transportation by volunteers.

It is hoped that the activities afforded at the hospital will assist men and women with various disabilities, including mental maladjustments, to rehabilitate themselves so as to be able to return to productive employment as well as to resume normal family and community life.

Institutional figures show that more than half of those released from mental hospitals suffer relapses and must return for further treatment. This newly devised Union County mental center may be the means of greatly reducing this number.

The new services, complete with therapy facilities, are in addition to those formerly available at the Rannels Hospital. Should the rehabilitation program succeed it is logical that additional similar centers will open elsewhere in the state.

Doughnuts As An Art

(Plainfield Courier)

The Wall Street Journal, not usually given to spoofing in its news columns, tells us the Pentagon cooks in Washington turn out five-sided doughnuts. Here is an aspect of the art of doughnut-making which staggers imagination.

The challenge to the cooks in the Commerce Department cafeteria is to create doughnuts shaped like dollar signs, the Atomic Energy Committee kitchen to load 'em with vitamins or radioactive isotopes, the Government Printing Office chef to experiment with art forms in alphabet soup.

Most urgent rivalry for the Pentagon doughnut-shapers should come from the Treasury, where a nice plain old-fashioned doughnut can be interpreted as zero—for no taxes, no deficits, no more government borrowing.

Applauds Merchant Program

Editor, Summit Herald:

It has been with great interest that we have observed the new developments in the alleyways behind the stores on the north side of Springfield Avenue. When the Lincoln School and the other buildings on De Forest Avenue were torn down the alley was quite mercifully exposed to the public eye.

The Summit Garden Club wishes to express its grateful appreciation to those merchants who have done such an excellent job in improving and beautifying their entrances on the alleys. It is most gratifying to know that so many of us are of one accord in keeping Summit a beautiful city. The Summit Garden Club feels sure that this excellent example set by many of the merchants will be followed by the rest of the stores backing up to the alleys.

Save Children's Home

Editor, Summit Herald:

The Summit Child Care Center Inc. concurs with Rev. Phillip Waters, Jr. in the conviction that the building on Evergreen road formerly occupied by the Summit Home for Children, should be preserved in the spirit of Dr. Cheesborough's will, for the benefit of Summit citizens.

Dr. Cheesborough wished to provide a home for Summit children. We can only fully meet the needs of Summit children by expanding into an all day care center. The generous Board of Recreation quarters we now use have no space for us in the morning as another organization is in the room. No napping or lunching facilities are available at the Field House and only 25 children can be accommodated. Every one of the children now using the Center for after school care is a Summit child with ill or working mother. Their brothers and sisters, and neighbors now in makeshift arrangements and day should be with us too. If only the property on Evergreen Road could continue to be used for its original purpose — serving the youth of Summit. — Mrs. Winthrop C. Lent, President

For a company breakfast, try this as a gay beginning: Cut grapefruit into halves, then remove the pulp from the shells. Chop with crushed pineapple. Spoon the mixture back into the shells and garnish with a square of bright jelly.

In these days of calorie-counting, we've got to be careful not to deprive ourselves and our families of the energy foods we all need every day. A good job at work—at school—at home—is vitally dependent on plenty of energy.

There's no better (or more satisfying) source of energy than good nutrition home baking. And this means energy-full, protein-rich Heckers' flour. Because Heckers' is UNBLEACHED, its natural goodness makes for fuller flavor, better texture, and finer appearance in your baked goods—every time.

Remember, among all leading brands, Heckers' is the only UNBLEACHED, NATURALLY WHITE flour. Yet it costs you not one penny more!

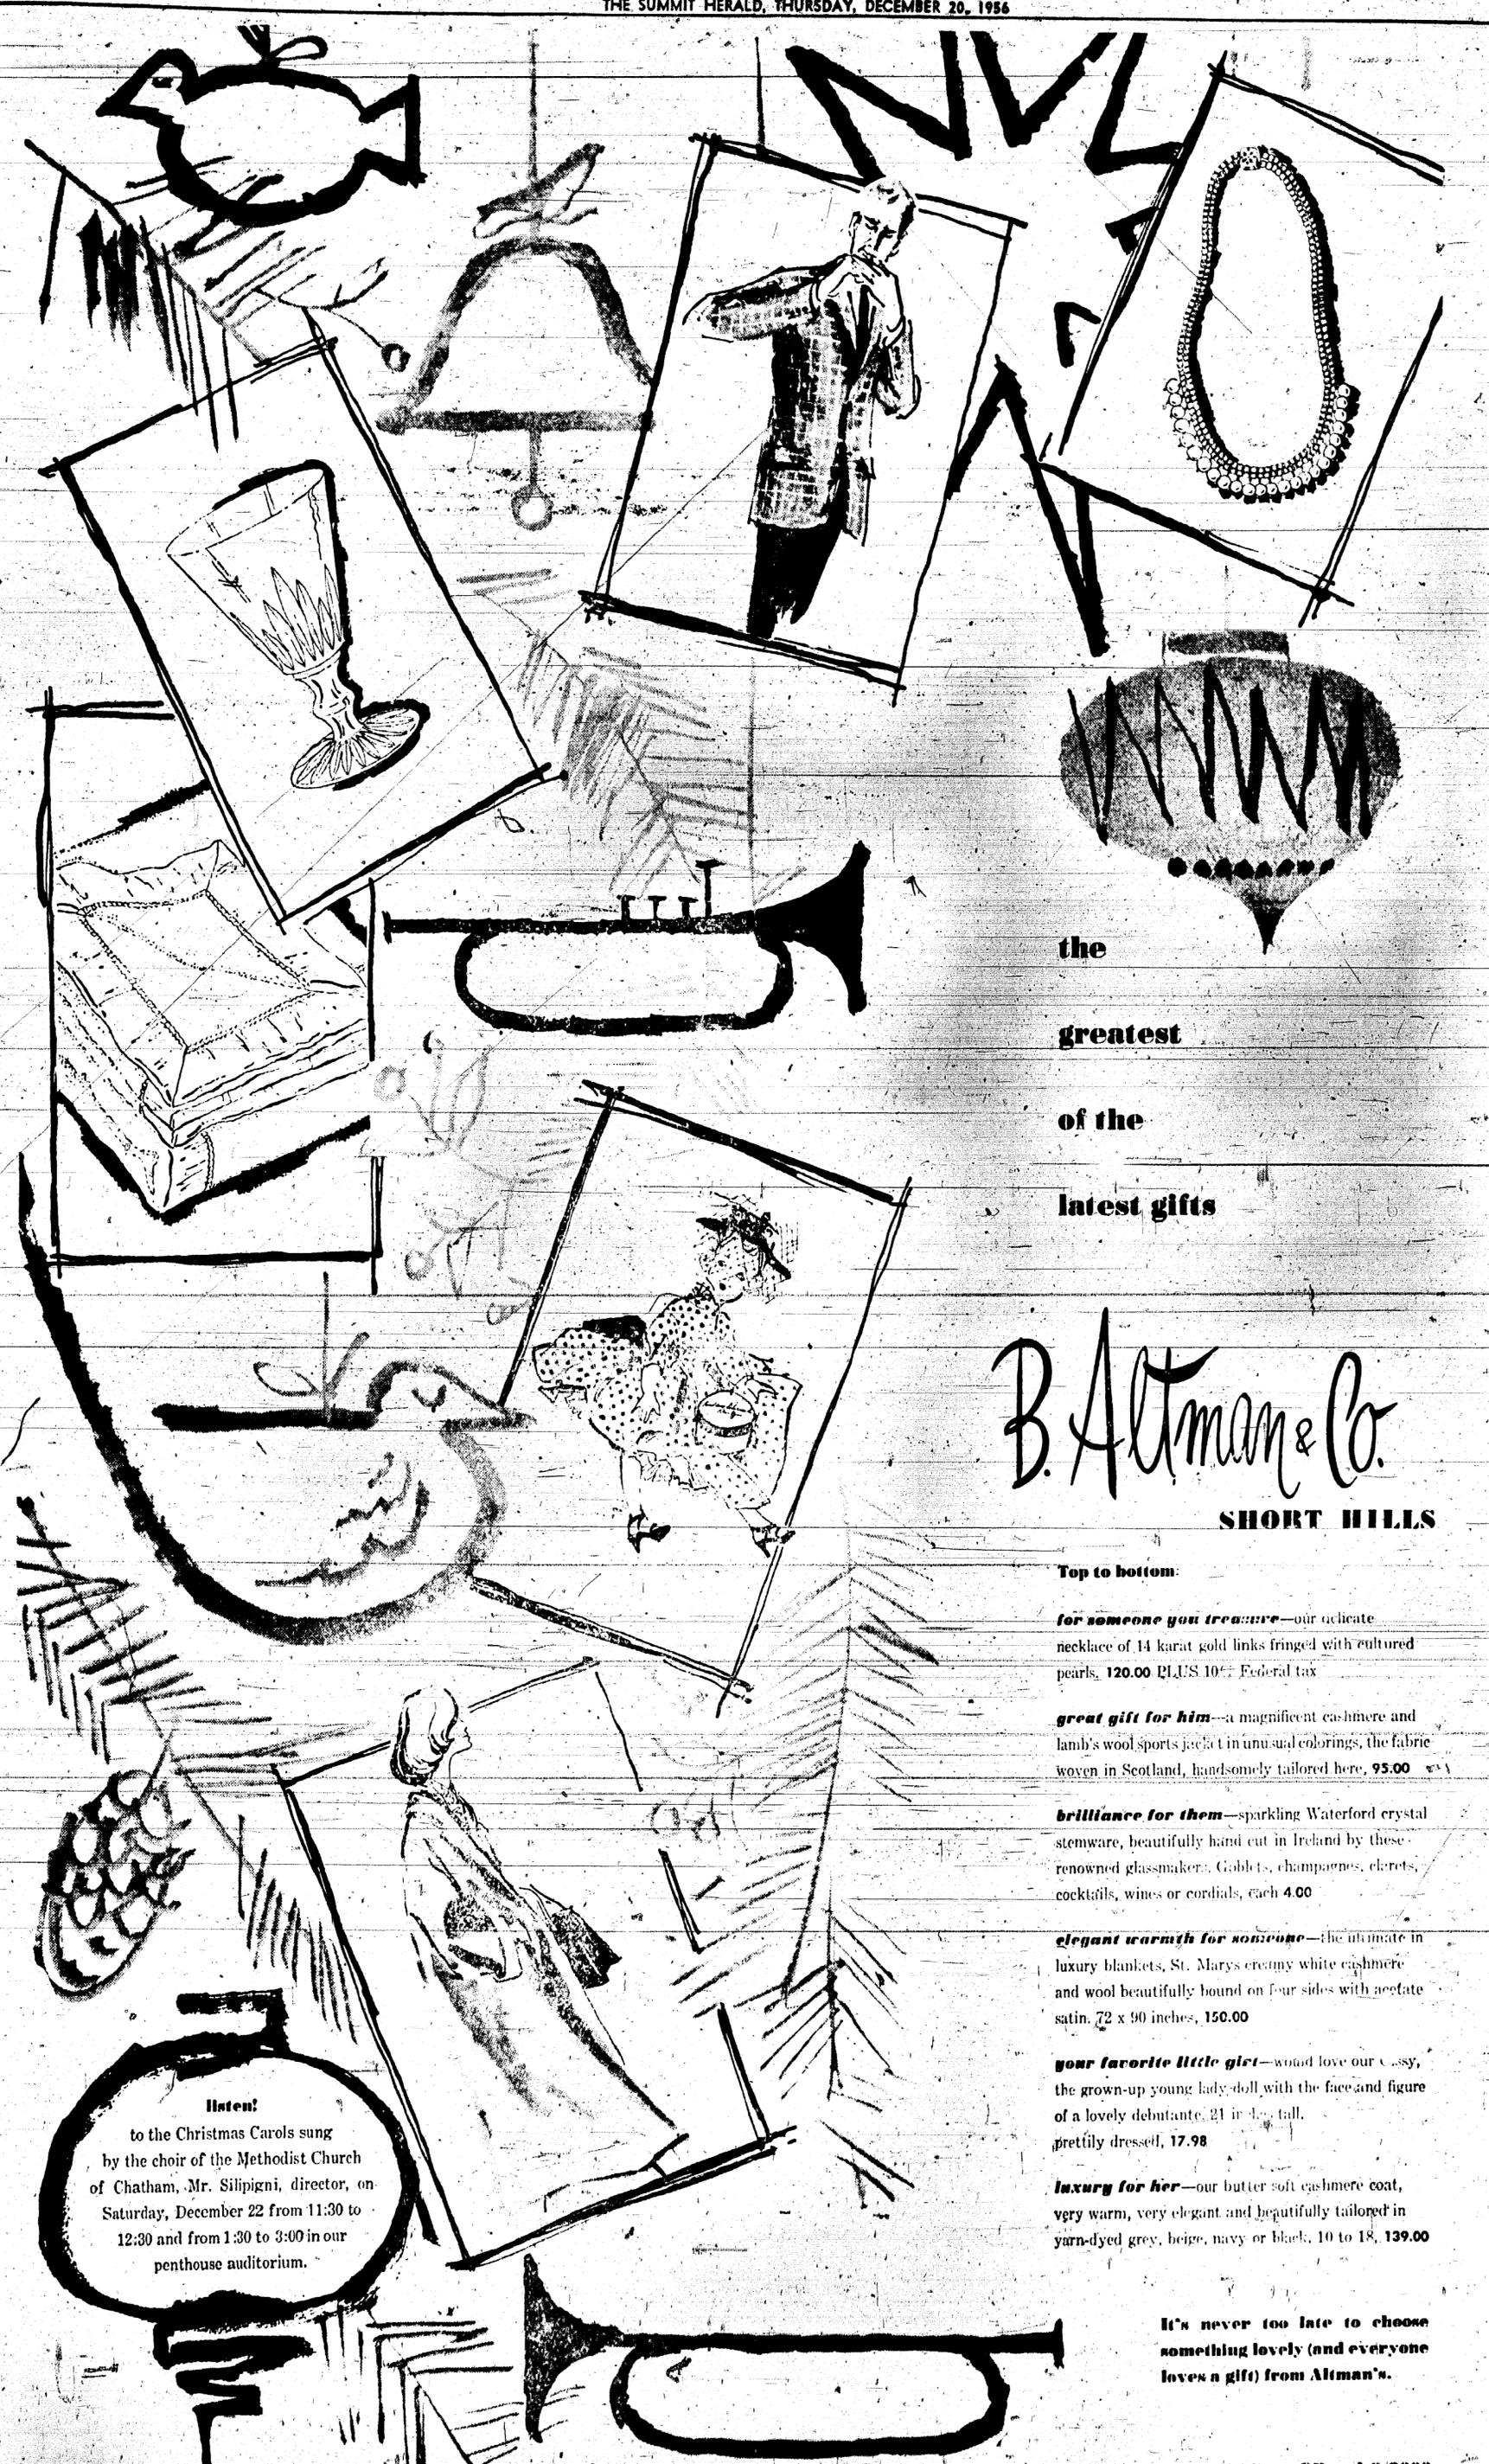

These cool mornings can really be cheery with "Swedish Braided Coffee Cake." You can bake this different breakfast surprise in the evening, then warm and serve in the morning.

Swedish Braided Coffee Cake

Ingredients
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 small cake's yeast (or 2 pkg. active yeast)
 2 eggs
 1/2 cup butter (softening)
 1 1/2 cups coffee (in ground)
 5 cups Heckers' Unbleached flour

Scald the milk, add sugar, salt, and butter. Cool to lukewarm. Add yeast and stir until dissolved. Add eggs and mix. Add flour and cardamon and mix well. Place on floured board and knead until smooth. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk. Punch down—let rise again until light. Divide into 3 equal portions. Roll each into a 14" long even strand. Braid gently and loosely beginning at middle. Work toward ends. Do not stretch. Place on greased cookie sheet. Cover and let rise until light. Brush on beaten egg and sprinkle with granulated sugar. Bake in 350° oven for about 40 minutes.

Heart Association Gives Overlook New Cardiograph

Santa Claus in the guise of the Union County Heart Association has made an early call at Overlook Hospital and left a Christmas present for the entire community—a brand new latest model electrocardiograph. The new equipment is so planned that additional units may be added to give the hospital a completely equipped heart station of inestimable value to Overlook patients.

The electrocardiograph machine, which explores the heart muscle electrically and draws a picture of its action, is being used by doctors in many more cases than formerly. It is not only used to show the extent of known heart damage but it is valuable in diagnosis to exclude the possibility of heart trouble, and can be used to help determine whether a patient is in a satisfactory condition to be operated upon. Members of the Overlook medical staff have increased their use of the electrocardiograph at the hospital from 368 examinations in 1952 to 1,857 in 1954, an increase of over 500 per cent in four years.

The new Christmas gift has a companion unit which Overlook hopes to add in the future. This unit will make it possible to hear heart sounds by means of a highly sensitive electrical stethoscope. It will also make it possible to permanently record the heart sounds of a patient on a magnetic disc so that they may be kept for comparison over a period of years. Still another addition would allow as many as 12 doctors to hear the same heart sounds at the same time either with the patient in the room, or at any other time by means of the disc recordings kept in a permanent file. This last addition would be of special value in conferences and in the hospital's teaching program for residents and interns.

Early Copy Needed for Herald Holiday Issues

Early deadlines for all editorial, display and classified advertising will be required for the next two issues of The Summit Herald because of the Christmas and New Year holidays.

The deadline for all copy for both issues will be Monday at 5 p.m., December 21 and December 22.

Photographs must be submitted no later than noon on the above days.

Publicity chairmen and advertisers are requested to submit copy as early as possible in order to guarantee publication for these issues.

The Herald offices will be closed on Christmas Day and New Year's Day but issues for those two weeks will be delivered as usual on Thursday.

YM Ends Several Adult Classes, Others Go On

The YMCA announced that most of its classes in adult education were successfully terminated last week. Classes in conversational French under the leadership of Mrs. G. D. Hamilton of 27 Shady-side avenue, and Human Relations for Supervisors will continue. The Bridge Club, Toast-masters Club and the Chess Club also will continue regularly scheduled weekly meetings.

Classes that closed last week included beginners' photography, world politics discussion group, incident process (for industry, stocks and bonds, contract bridge, golf and sketching and painting. Beginning January 8 a series of playing sessions for members of the contract bridge class will be held.

The second semester will begin the week of February 4. The range of classes will be as extensive as in the fall program.

GREETINGS

TO ALL

EVERYWHERE, among good people, there exists a longing to make our world tranquil and prosperous—a desire for man to unite for peace, good will and understanding. For from good will comes forbearance and from understanding, a better way of life.

And what better time than Christmas for every man to renew the realization that all our good human relationships—yes, even our business relationships are based upon our faith in God and our fellow man. Only through this faith can we assure the continuance of freedom without fear—tolerance without tyranny—democracy and lasting peace.

It is in this spirit of good fellowship that we wish everyone—

A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A VERY HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Boro Seeks Residents' Okay For Purchase of School Site

New Providence — The New Providence Board of Education Tuesday night adopted a resolution permitting inclusion at the Feb. 13 school election a ballot seeking voters approval for $5,000 for the purchase of a 1.3 acre tract on Union St. for an additional entrance to the projected new junior-senior high school. Advance site work is underway at present on the area, construction will be started in the Spring and the completion date is set for September 1958.

The budget which has not been made public as yet has been sent to Dr. William West, Union County Superintendent of Schools for approval.

Noble Hiebert, Superintendent of Schools in Chatham, is expected to announce his decision today as to whether the Board of Education there will accept New Providence tenth grade students next September. The local board has been informed by Summit, because of overcrowded conditions, the Summit High School will not be able to accept them in September. There are about 88 who will be effected.

The Board announced that architectural plans for the projected

$1,500,000 new junior-senior high school are just about completed. The 1.3 acres which the board will ask voters to approve is needed for several reasons. One is to provide safety, with an adequate entrance from Union St. and an improved roadway approach. The driveway will go diagonally across an open area which would enhance the beauty of the structure and grounds and permit the parking lot to be placed farther away from the library windows. Other reasons are that the Planning Board was reluctant to permit family dwellings to be erected where backyards would be immediately adjacent to the main entrance of the high school and plans for more adequate drainage of the entire area can be achieved.

The central location of the library will serve as a hub to the quiet, or classroom side of the building. Business, education, science, home economics, industrial arts, fine arts and music are all arranged in practical group locations. Art and music, however, will remain in their present positions until the auditorium is built. Their permanent location will be adjacent to the auditorium stage. The double gymnasium is divided by a folding door separating the girls' activities from the boys'. For various use, the door is opened, and an official court becomes available.

The metal shop will have access to the service court through an overhead door wide enough to admit an automobile, for auto mechanics will be a part of the general shop course. Immediately adjacent is a small garage to house the training car for "behind-the-wheel" driving. This has been rated one of the most practical courses offered to students.

The lunchroom is the only all-purpose room in the entire building. It will serve as a study hall, band rehearsal room, small auditorium for groups up to 300 and an evening recreation center for dances, suppers and other activities.

The double gym will have folding bleachers seating 800 persons. Light is admitted to the inside walls of the rooms from plastic skylights. The whole building is designed for flexibility, so that rooms could be shifted or changed in size. The room partitions are, almost without exception, not supporting walls.

Because of lack of funds, the new gym will have to double in brass for a while and be used for both auditorium and gym.

Because of price increases which have occurred since the Board has developed the budget, it looks now as though they may not be able to equip certain parts of the school, nor develop the school grounds to any great extent with the money the Board is authorized to spend, according to the Board.

avenue, Berkeley Heights, vice president and of the Association, is also a member of the committee.

The purpose of the committee, according to Mr. Dailey, will be to advise and formulate policy for the Association's branch office at Berkeley Heights that was opened early last summer. The committee will meet monthly prior to the regular meeting of the Association's directors.

Building of Sign Now Gets Boro Council Rejection

New Providence — The New Providence Borough Council Tuesday night rescinded a motion made at the Dec. 4 Council meeting concerning an application by the developers of Elkwood Estates, currently identified as Pineway Park to erect a directional sign on Springfield Ave. At that time the sign was approved by Council pending approval of the wording of the sign by the Building Committee. That body approved on Dec. 6.

A capacity audience crowded into Borough Hall Tuesday night to protest the similarity of names, which they said was very confusing and misleading. They also disapproved of the sign and of traffic on an incomplete portion of Elkwood Ave.

William P. Braun representing the law firm, Hughes and Hartlaub of Summit, attorneys for Raymond Stafford, developer of Pineway Farms was accompanied by an official court reporter who transcribed the entire proceedings of the case. George Morton, Jr. of Westfield, counsel, and Louis Brunnell of Summit, sales representative spoke in behalf of I. Levenstein and M. Pantirer of Hillside, developers of Pineway Park.

The houses in the Pineway Farms development are in the $25,000 to $40,000 range while the builders of Elkwood Estates of Pineway Park plan to construct 135 houses in the $25,000 range.

Pineway Farms residents said they had no objection to the Elkwood Estates development but they did protest to the similarity of names. Mr. Stafford said he used the name of Pineway Farms because the area was thickly wooded with pine trees, in fact, he added it is the only area nearby which has so many pine trees. The Pineway Park development is reputed to have many birch trees but few or no pine trees.

Council now asserts that the developers of Elkwood Estates filed their maps under that name and not of Pineway Park which is in violation since they never have applied to the Planning and Zoning Board or the Borough Council for permission to do so. Borough Attorney Fred Lorentz said Borough Council can refuse to issue building permits for further construction unless the name is reverted to Elkwood Estates or permission is granted to change it to something else. The sign on the Donofrio Greenhouse property under the name of Pinewood Park is also in violation and subject to police action unless the name is changed to that named filed under the Elkwood Estates maps.

A matter concerning a dedicated road off Central Ave. was referred to the Dec. 27 meeting. The matter was brought to Council by Jerome Shaw, developer of Brook Hollow on Division Ave. below Tall Oaks. He plans to construct 20 houses in the $30,000 to $40,000 range. The houses, designed by William Chirgotis, architect, are similar to those in Stone Ridge Park development.

Berkeley Heights — Gilbert A. O'Brien, 29, of 206 Livingston Ave., New Providence, lost his driver's license for 30 days in Municipal Court after he pleaded guilty to careless driving and leaving an accident scene.

Magistrate Douglas J. Haberstroh also fined O'Brien $10 and $50, respectively, on the charges. Police said O'Brien's car struck the porch of Frank Mondelli Sr., 473 Springfield Ave. on Sunday.

Stop-street violations cost Maxwell Stewart, Simpson, an outstanding New Jersey artist, 1391 Old Raritan Rd., Scotch Plains, and Wallace M. Clark, 101 Locust Dr., Union, $5 each.

Zone Limitations Slow Heights Building Permits

Berkeley Heights — Salvatore Del Duca, Building Inspector said today issuance of building permits has slowed up due to the rigid limitations set forth in the new zoning ordinance effective Dec. 10.

Many of the plans presented do not comply with the new requirements for larger lot and house sizes and new established corner lot set back requirements.

He has had to turn down thirty this week, he said.

On non-complying lots which existed prior to the adoption of the new zoning ordinance, owners and builders have recourse to the Board of Adjustment. Developers under contract to the town also get the "green" light for the present, he said.

Vandals Return Stolen Goods to Model Home

New Providence — Police Chief Carl H. Ehnis reported that vandals returned two bags of household articles stolen from a $29,000 model home in the Pine Way Park development. He said the culprits left the loot at the rear of the house.

At the time of the theft, the chief said the vandals tore beds apart and tracked mud throughout the furnished house. Two days were required to erase the marks of vandalism. The vandals left printed notes on line paper when departing from the premises.

City's First Policewoman Has Rainy Official Debut

Attired in a raincoat loaned to her by Police Chief Edward K. Egan, Special Policewoman Mrs. Romayne D'Ecclesis, of 8 Edison drive, started her three-hour-per-day tour of duty at the Franklin School intersection at Pine Grove avenue and Blackburn place, last week, amidst a downpour of rain to become the city's first woman police officer.

Mrs. D'Ecclesis is assigned to school traffic duty to overcome a traffic hazard that has been created at the intersection by an increased number of cars passing.

"It's the bicycles, though," Mrs. D'Ecclesis claims, "that make the greatest safety hazard." She added that the bike riders tend to weave in and out of moving and parked cars.

As the first woman officer, Mrs. D'Ecclesis enjoys a novel situation in Summit. Although she has no uniform of her own at present, she has donned an official police cap and coat lent her by the Summit Police force.

"By the beginning of next year, I'll have my own uniform." But unlike some other towns, Mrs.

D'Ecclesis will retain her femininity by refraining from wearing slacks on the job.

In order to further explain her responsibilities, Mrs. D'Ecclesis said: "Shortly after the new year, I'll be sitting in conference with PTA groups to increase student safety in the school areas."

Phoned for information

Mrs. D'Ecclesis claims that her appointment to the force was not spectacular. It seems she phoned the Police Department in September seeking information about the availability of police jobs for women. At that time none were available, but the Police Department thought the idea interesting. Subsequently when a survey by a Franklin School PTA committee indicated the need for police protection at the intersection, Chief Egan contacted her to see if she still wanted the job.

The mother of four school-age children, nine, eight, and twins of five, and coming from a family of police officers, traffic safety is of no new interest to Mrs. D'Ecclesis.

The D'Ecclesis family have been residents of Summit for eight years. Mr. D'Ecclesis is a hydraulic mechanic at the Cooperative Motors, Newark.

While she has not issued any summonses as yet, Mrs. D'Ecclesis does have the power to stop and report cars that have committed traffic offenses. To date, drivers have taken cognizance that a "policeman" is on the scene and have

Safe Driving Program Plan Gets Boro Okay

New Providence — In cooperation with Governor Meyner's Holiday Special Emphasis Traffic Safety Program, which this year is being conducted on the local activity program level only, Chief Carl H. Ehnis of the New Providence Police Department announced that the local police department will continue its present continual-enforcement program with two innovations during the period which began on December 1, through January 2.

First, work schedules have been revised in order to have both police patrol cars and more manpower on the road during the peak motor vehicle and pedestrian traffic hours.

Also, a holiday courtesy gesture is being made this year. In cases involving minor parking, pedestrian and other types of minor violations courtesy summons will be given to the violator. The legend on this summons will read: "You are Summoned to spend a merry and safe Christmas in New Providence, New Jersey and a Happy and Safe New Year. Be on the alert, practice safety in driving and walking. If you drink, don't drive. If you drive don't drink. Your co-operation in preventing accidents is earnestly requested. By doing so you may save a life. The life you save may be your own. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. New Providence Police Dept."

The Borough of New Providence, now completing its 13th year of no Motor Vehicle fatalities is tops in this respect in the county and one of the leaders statewide. A year-round safety-education program coupled with continual traffic law enforcement are some of the factors chiefly responsible for this fine record.

Burner Explosion Destroys $7,500 in Yule Flowers

New Providence—An oil burner explosion early last Thursday morning was responsible for an estimated $7,500 worth of flower damage at the Mey Florists, 127 South street. Volunteer Fire Department members said that the blaze also destroyed a 75 x 20 foot shed.

The destruction of the flowers was confined mostly to poinsettias and other blooms being prepared for Christmas sale.

After an hour-long battle firemen put out the flames, which also threatened an adjoining greenhouse.

The fire was reported by John Brundo of 132 South street. Firemen were directed by Chief William K. Spurgeon.

Recreation Board Grid School Attended by 155

Information pertaining to the Board of Recreation's table-tennis program for boys between the ages of nine and 14, is now available for all Summit parents whether or not their sons participated in the program, the Board of Rec-recreation, announced this week. According to the Board, although the program had a registration of 155 for the 1955 season, there continued to be a degree outside the scope of the program, "uncontrolled" sand-table football which give little if any consideration to several safety factors. Among the factors emphasized by the Board which are neglected in uncontrolled football are improper supervision and instruction in the fundamentals and skills of the game. In unsupervised football, little thought is given to proper equipment and safety protection as well as age and weight problems.

The Board pointed out that outside, unsupervised football resulted recently in serious injury to one youth. The resume pointed out that even though 155 boys participated in the city-sponsored program, there were still many area youths who did not register and consequently risked injury. The Board of Recreation's program gives special emphasis on age-weight co-efficient, and proper equipment which includes a helmet, shoulder pads, football pants, and non-cleat meakers.

Eight Week Program
The program is conducted on an average of eight weeks from early September to early November. Sessions are two hours long and start at 9 a.m., during which time boys are subject to warm-up and lectures on fundamentals, skills and game participation. All boys are supervised by a professional staff who have physical education and coaching background, as well as fathers and former varsity college football players. The Board of Recreation also reports that it now has an extensive visual aid slide collection which projects the program in a proper sequence of order for the purpose of learning the basic skills of the game. The slides are available to any group or individuals interested in the program.

The Board added that "if all parents would direct their sons' football efforts to the specifically planned program of the Board of Recreation, the necessary fundamentals, skills and purpose of the game would be realized under proper conditions."

HAPPY NEW YEAR

Outdoor Yule Lights Can Damage Trees

Each year across the country more outdoor evergreens glow with Christmas lights. Community vies with community to express the merry spirit of the season with outdoor displays.

The use of lights on living evergreens calls for caution, says Dr. F. A. Bartlett of the Bartlett Tree Experts. Overpowerful bulbs that scorch valuable, slow-growing trees can do irreparable harm. The damage—browned needles and dead twigs—will not show up until spring when the tree's beauty should be at its best.

Use only electrical fixtures designed for outdoor use. Bulbs of 15 watts are strong enough. Hang sockets downward so that snow, ice and rain do not collect in them. Use lacquered braid or rubber-jacket cords. If possible, keep the lights high enough to be out of reach of small children.

Do not allow the bulbs to touch the needles. Check their position every day; high winds may shift them out of position.

Pines, firs and spruces can be safely decorated with Christmas lights. Be more careful when decorating yews. Avoid lights on boxwood.

A baby-sized evergreen attractively illuminated can glow with Christmas-y warmth. All sized evergreens may be lit at this season.

Budapest Battle Refugee Making New Home Here

Summit has received its first Hungarian refugee and from all reports he is getting along fine in his new home and with a new job in a nearby industry.

The new resident is Gyula Ivankay who a few weeks ago was one of the members of the Hungarian rebel forces battling in Budapest, where he lived. He was among those of the forces who fled, since he is single, and last week came to Summit from the Fort Dix refugee center. He is now living at the YMCA and has a job with J. K. Smit & Co. of Berkeley Heights as a machine worker.

Ivankay speaks no English but was welcomed by YMCA officials through George Jursek.

According to Allan R. Devenney, general secretary of the "Y", it is thought likely that other young Hungarians will make Summit their home. The YMCA staff and lay groups are studying ways and means to assist in the adjustment of families to the area. The Association will provide free membership to children involved and it is hoped that other young men will find in the "Y" residence a "real home away from home."

DEATHS

Mrs. Daniel Caparn

Mrs. Theresa Breitenbacher Caparn of 2 East Ridge road, Berkeley Heights, died Friday at Point Pleasant Hospital, Point Pleasant. She was 63.

A native of Harrison, she was the wife of Daniel Caparn. In addition to her husband she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jane Powers of Berkeley Heights, two brothers, William Breitenbacher of Harrison and Jacob Breitenbacher of Kearny, and a sister.

Services were held at Kearny.

Mrs. Margaret A. Swick

Mrs. Margaret A. Swick of 38 Beauvoir avenue died at her home on Monday after a brief illness. She was 91.

Mrs. Swick, the widow of Arthur B. Swick, who died in 1929, was born in Ireland. She came to this country at an early age and spent most of her life in

Head of Cornell Bird Laboratory To Lecture Here

Dr. Arthur A. Allen, founder and director of the laboratory of ornithology at Cornell University, will deliver an illustrated lecture in the auditorium of Summit High School on January 25, at 8:15 p.m. This event will be held under the auspices of the Lackawanna Cornell Club and proceeds will go to the scholarship fund of that organization, according to an announcement recently made by Samuel M. Coombs, Jr. of 35 Edgewood road, president of the club.

Dr. Allen, the first professor of ornithology in America, has probably done more than anyone else to place ornithology in colleges and universities, and to train teachers on this field. He was the founder of the laboratory of ornithology at Cornell University and is now director.

Through his books and his articles, especially in the National Geographic magazine, he has stimulated thousands of people to enrich their lives through bird study. His color photographs have set a new standard for bird photographers, and his sound films have been seen and enjoyed by many thousands.

Dr. Allen is the author of two volumes of American bird biographies; the "Book of Bird Life; Laboratory Notebook for Ornithology;" and "Stalking Birds with Color Camera," which contains over 250 of his remarkable color photographs. With Dr. Paul Kellogg, he has recorded the voices of most of the common birds of North America and the well-known Cornell phonograph records of bird songs produced by them are widely used by bird clubs, schools and bird watchers everywhere.

Mr. Coombs, acting as chairman of the committee making the arrangements, will be assisted by Russell T. Kirby, Donald MacLay, William Landmesser and Seton Henry all of Summit.

Two Local Residents

Two local residents were among the 139 who successfully passed counselor of law examinations recently conducted by the State Supreme Court.

They are R. Robinson Chance, Jr. of 15 Fernwood road, associated with Hughes & Hartlaub of this city, and Joseph Ginsberg of 245 Kent Place Boulevard.

The test was taken by 232 attorneys and the new counselors will be sworn on January 10. Only counselors may argue cases before the State Supreme Court and the Appellate Division of the Superior Court.

Cadillac

Then, as he takes the sweep of the boulevard, there will be the added thrill of those admiring glances that will come from his fellow motorists.

And how satisfying it will be to find that even Cadillac owners have a special affection for the man in the new "car of cars".

And finally, of course, there will be the joy of that wonderful "welcome-home" as he turns into the familiar driveway and comes to a silken stop.

Week's Accidents Remain Constant

Although automobile accidents involving property damage were down over last year for the seven-day period ending Saturday December 15, personal injuries from auto mishaps were up, the Police Department reported on Monday. For the week just past, six accidents involving property damage were reported as compared to seven the year before. Personal injuries for the period numbered three as against one in 1955. For the second straight year, no bicycle accidents or pedestrian mishaps were reported. For the year to date, there have been 275 accidents involving property damage as compared to 267 for the year to date in 1955. Personal injuries for the year now stand at 55 compared to 58 the year before. Bicycle mishaps for 1956 so far total 16 as compared to 12 last year. Pedestrian accidents to date this year are at 17 compared to eight the year before. (Editor's note: Property damage and injuries from auto accidents listed above do not include an accident at 1:30 a.m. Sunday, where one person was killed and two were injured.)

Electronic Fence Nothing New To Former Resident

An electronic alarm system, first tested at a former resident's house over 20 years ago, may well become an important factor for industrial security and property protection. The American District Telegraph Company, which specializes in the manufacture, installation, maintenance and operation of electrical supervisory and alarm systems for protection against fire, burglary, holdup and other hazards, has now branched into electronics, according to Maxwell H. A. Maxwell, formerly of Summit, now of 95 Pine Way, New Providence.

According to Mr. Maxwell, the ADT Company recently installed an electronic protective fence which is now being tested at Drakestown, on the former Budd Lake Airport property. Rows and rows of fencing and other devices have been installed at the new outdoor laboratory of the company to measure performance under widely varying weather conditions.

Student Yule Art on Display

The annual exhibition of Christmas art by members of the High School art classes is now on exhibit at the Citizens Trust Co. Each year the bank offers its lobby as a gallery for the exhibit.

In past years the students have painted large murals that were hung on the lobby walls but this year the exhibit consists of a series of individual and original paintings displayed on easels.

Members of the Art Club at the school selected the entries by individual ballot at a meeting held last Wednesday. Sixteen paintings from 25 entries were picked for the display. The ones not on display at the bank will be hung in halls at the High School.

ton, Donna Zenobia and Nancy Hill.

The student or students making the greatest contribution to the art class, in the opinion of teachers, receives a U.S. Savings Bond at graduation from Citizens Trust Co.

Hungarian Refugees Prove Freedom Has No Substitute

While freedom is generally discussed in an abstract way, not 30 minutes from Summit is a concrete example of man's determination to escape tyranny for this abstraction of freedom.

In a reactivated section of Camp Kilmer, 2,100 refugees from battle-torn Hungary have found new hope.

The camp, typically Army and designed to be only a way station for the refugees, has been organized by the Red Cross and the Army.

Although little, if any, English is spoken among the refugees they have no difficulty in understanding that America has welcomed them.

Even the children, frightened as they are, seem to realize that every effort is being made to make their futures secure.

A tour of the camp reveals that most are young, some even teenagers without families. Many participated in the Budapest street battles and had to leave their homeland or be shot as "traitors."

The small children are no different than American children. They cry. They laugh. And they look to their mothers for comfort.

Some of the grownups are lost... not in this new country where the Red Cross and the Army have given a helping hand... but lost in the sense of momentous change.

While an Army camp is not usually renowned for its hotel accommodations, to these people it holds all the "luxuries" that they have done without for many years.

Red Cross in Important Role
It has been the job of the Red Cross to take care of processing transportation after arrival and screening, while the Army takes care of the creature comforts of housing and food.

According to a spokesman for the Summit Area Chapter of the American Red Cross, $1,158 has been raised for Hungarian relief by local residents. It was also reported that a number of local Red Cross workers as well as several Hungarian-speaking residents have volunteered to aid in the processing of the refugees at Camp Kilmer.

According to William Richardson, a Red Cross Director at the camp, the first contacts the Hungarians had after crossing the border were with the Red Cross. Upon landing here, the Red Cross again was the first agency to greet them.

One of the most popular aids which the Red Cross gives to each refugee is the "ditty bag" containing a toothbrush, slippers, razor, soap and other personal articles. For the children, little gift bags are presented holding some little toy and personal belongings.

A service that the Red Cross offers at Camp Kilmer is the breaking down of language barriers. While far away from home, refugees arriving here find a welcome touch of home. They find someone at every turn who speaks their own language, whether in the U. S. Army's processing lines, the mess halls, lounges, sponsoring agencies' offices, or the Red Cross message centers, clothing supply units and transportation pools. Hungarian newspapers and magazines are plentiful.

Mr. Richardson emphasized that the prime purpose of the Red Cross aid is to set these people back on the road to normalcy. In order to do this, the Red Cross coordinates the work of many agencies who find homes and jobs for the new arrivals.

The Red Cross is also providing free phone calls and telegrams to points in the United States to friends and relatives of the refugees.

It is the aim of the Red Cross and the Army to process and to find a sponsor for each refugee within 72 hours after arrival. So far, Mr. Richardson said, the authorities have been able to carry out this plan.

Problem Arises

From telephone calls, telegrams and correspondence with Red Cross chapters, it appears that the greatest problem in connection with the Red Cross Hungarian Relief Appeal is the question that exists in the minds of the public regarding the respective roles of the various agencies who are conducting fund campaigns to carry out various responsibilities.

It appears that many corporations have already made contributions to other agencies which are having an effect on the contribution made to the local Red Cross chapter. Likewise, chapter officials are being called upon to interpret the work of other organizations in relation to the Hungarian relief program being carried out by the American Red Cross, the League of Red Cross Societies and the International Committee.

Individuals requesting information on sponsorship of refugees should communicate directly with voluntary agencies engaged in the resettlement program or with the Refugee Relief Program, State Department, Washington, D. C.

Voluntary agencies involved are: American-Hungarian Federation, 527 Mills Building, 17th and Pennsylvania avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C., National 8-6470; Catholic Relief Services, National Catholic Welfare Conference, 149 Madison avenue, New York 16, N. Y., Oregon 9-3373; Church World Service, 215 Fourth avenue, New York

3, N. Y., Spring 7-6300; Hungarian League of America, Inc., 30 East 20th street, New York 16, N. Y., Murray Hill 4-3623; International Rescue Committee, Inc., 65 West 45th street, New York 36, N. Y., Murray Hill 2-4672; Lutheran Refugee Service, 235 Fourth avenue, New York 3, N. Y., Gramercy 3-4750; Tolstoy Foundation, Inc., 300 West 58th street, New York 19, N. Y., Oregon 4-6800; and Baptist World Alliance Relief Committee, 1628 16th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., Columbia 5-9007.

Full Time Workers

As of last Wednesday, the Red Cross had 52 full-time representatives working around the clock at the camp. All these workers are working on a disaster basis and may be relieved only in the care of personal emergency.

In order to handle the 20,000 more expected here, Mr. Richardson pointed out, "We need men's clothing, more trained help and money."

Another spokesman for the Red Cross added, "Whatever each American gives will be more than made up by what each refugee can bring to us."

Hilltoppers Fight Hard But Lose To Scott 58-50

Clifford Scott, ranked second among Essex County basketball teams, almost lost their high ranking last Tuesday afternoon. Playing in their own poorly-lighted miniature gym, the Scotties trailed for three periods before overtaking the Summit High eagles and defeating them 58-50.

The Maroon and White started in great fashion, with Johnny Meinert scoring nine points in the first period, but in so doing committed three personal fouls. Meinert, the team's top scorer, sat out much of the first half and eventually scored only fifteen points.

Meanwhile, Tom Prior was having a fine day with his favorite one-handed jump shot, scoring thirteen points, all in the first half, and then carried the Hilltoppers to a seven point lead midway through the second period. However, the Scotties always manager to stay within striking distance. Dave Samuels was the sparkplug for the home team. The third quarter was nip and tuck, with Clifford Scott demonstrating their vaunted running game, but with little effect as their shooting percentage was extremely poor. Jerry Britt and Bill Badgley played fine backcourt basketball for Coach John Underwood's Hilltoppers.

At the one-minute mark in the final period, Summit held its last lead, 46-45. The Scotties then caught fire and made a runaway finish. Scott forward Pete Avalone scored ten points within six minutes while the entire Maroon squad could only tally four.

Rebounds and foul shooting again hurt the Hilltoppers. Although lacking in average height, Clifford Scott controlled practically every jump ball. Summit's field goal shooting did improve remarkably over their two previous games, giving a good indication of the team's potential.

The Hilltoppers' opponent this Friday will be the Blue Devils of Westfield, supposedly one of the best teams in Union County. The game will be played at Summit High and promises to be a good one.

Dennis on Champion Army Football Team

Army Pvt. Alfred D. Dennis, 26, of 41 Russell Place, former football and basketball star from Vermont's Middlebury College, is a member of the Fort Dix Burros, defending First Army cage champions.

The six-foot, 185-lb. Dennis was halfback on the strong Dix football squad which amassed an 8-3 record during the fall. On the basketball court at Middlebury, he was selected for the All-New England five for three consecutive years and was top scorer for two years in the New England States tournament.

Pal's Last Minute Cage Rally Halts Warriors, 92-80

The defending champions of the New Jersey State Basketball League, the Elizabeth Pals, had to rally in the closing minutes last Saturday night to defeat the improving Fimia Warriors, 92-80, at the Summit High gym. The Pals were paced in scoring by Johnny Dykack, former All-State selection from Thomas Jefferson High School, who tossed in thirty four points, sixteen from the foul line. Standout scorers for the local five were John Fimia with twenty points, Matt Bosciago seventeen, and Ed Jackson, sixteen. Jackson's fine rebounding kept the Warriors in contention throughout the game.

This week the Fimia eagles take to the road as they face the Bayonne Sports Shop on Sunday at Bayonne in a State League contest. In addition, they will also play in the Bayonne C.Y.O. Christmas Tourney this week.

Your City's Government—Part 7

No Government Agency Is Unessential

By Norman E. Knepper
While it is true that not all of the agencies which operate within the framework of the city's charter are necessary for the basic operation of the government, they nevertheless play an important part in the intellectual and moral development of the community. Sociologists maintain that if insufficient time is given over to intellectual pursuits and moral advancement, there will someday be no need for government, for then there will be none capable of performing governmental tasks. Therefore, the tasks delegated to the Board of Library Trustees, the Board of Recreation and the Municipal Youth Council, are vitally important to the welfare of all.

According to state law, any municipality may establish a free public library within the corporate limits of the community and shall be governed by certain provisions laid down by the state.

In Summit the Board of Library Trustees consists of seven members, one of whom is the Mayor, one the Superintendent of Schools and four of whom are residents of the city. The terms are for five years and any vacancies are filled for the unexpired term by the Mayor.

Board is a Corporate One

By city law, the Board is a corporate one, possessing corporate powers of succession, may sue and be sued as well as adopt a corporate seal.

The Board's powers consist of holding in trust and managing all property of the library, renting rooms or, when proper, construct buildings for the use of the library, purchasing books, pamphlets, documents, papers and other reading matter; hiring librarians and other necessary personnel and fixing their compensation, making proper rules and regulations for the government of the library and doing all things necessary and proper for the establishment and maintenance of the Free public library.

The Board must annually make a report of its transactions, accounts and the state and condition of the library to the Common Council.

Trustees receive no compensation for their services and must not incur any expense or enter into any obligations to an amount in excess of the annual appropriation for library purposes.

Other powers of the Board include the receiving, holding and managing of any request or donation made and given for the estab-

YULE RITE REVIVED—The ancient Swiss Christmas ceremony of the St. Lucia Pageant was presented last week at Central Presbyterian Church. lishment, increase or maintenance of the library and to invest the funds.

Maintenance of the library is made through taxation. According to the city charter, "the Common Council shall annually appropriate and raise by taxation a sum equal to one-third of a mill (a mill is one-tenth of a cent) on every dollar of assessable property within the municipality and such additional sum, may be appropriated and raised by taxation annually."

Prepares Own Budget
By established practice, the Board of Library Trustees prepares a preliminary budget and presents it to the Welfare Committee of the Common Council for review. The Welfare Committee then presents the recommended budget to the Common Council and after the individual items are approved, the entire sum is then included in the municipal budget. The itemized expenditures are controlled by the Library Board of Trustees without further Council action.

The present Board of Trustees consists of, Mayor C. Philip Dean, Harold T. Graves, Jr., president; Mrs. G. H. Winsor, Mrs. C. E. Coburn, David H. Knowles and J. J. Summersby.

Members of the Board of Recreation are called commissioners and are appointed by the Mayor for a period of five years. The five-member board receives no compensation and serve until their respective successors are appointed.

The Board of Recreation may acquire property for public playgrounds and recreation places by gift or purchase. Surveys, maps and estimates are submitted to the Common Council with a request that an appropriation be made.

If the Common Council authorizes the acquisition of lands, the board shall proceed to acquire the same through purchase, condemnation or lease, as the case may be. All title to the lands becomes the property of the city whether acquired by purchase or lease.

Controls all Lands
The Board of Recreation has full control over all lands, playgrounds and recreation places and may adopt suitable rules, regulations and by-laws for the use of the sites and the conduct of all persons while using the facilities.

The Board has the power to appoint a secretary or clerk and such number custodians, supervisors and assistants as they think necessary and fix and determine their salaries. Each year Common Council determines and appropriates a sum sufficient for the care, maintenance of any playgrounds within the city.

All moneys collected by the Board is paid over to the City Treasurer and to be kept by him in a special fund under the control of the Board. It is the responsibility of the Common Council to provide suitable offices for the Board's meetings.

Supervisors, assistants and other personnel appointed by the Board shall, while on duty and for the purpose of preserving order, have all the power and authority of police officers of the respective municipality.

By established practice, the Board of Recreation prepares a preliminary budget and presents it to the Welfare Committee of Common Council for review. When the budget is approved, it becomes a part of the entire city budget, following which itemized expenditures are controlled by the Board of Recreation Commissioners without further Council action.

Members of the Board of Recreation are, H. Winthrop Greene, president; Ernest P. Patten, treasurer; Mrs. W. A. MacMaster, vice-president; Harlan S. Kennedy, secretary; Oscar D. Dennis and Walter P. Bluntschli. Robert L. Carter is assistant director of recreation and supervisor of playgrounds.

Authorized in 1947
The Municipal Youth Guidance Council was authorized by a resolution of the Common Council on June 17, 1947 for the prime purpose of assisting in coordinating and integrating community plans and services for the welfare of all children and youth in Summit.

The Council is composed of not more than seven members who must be residents of the city and who serve without compensation. Membership includes one representative from Common Council, one from the public school system and one from the Police Department. Council members are appointed by the Mayor, with the approval of the Common Council for a term of three years.

The members organize annually and select a chairman, a vice-chairman and secretary. Meetings are held at least once a month and at such times as the chairman shall direct.

Other responsibilities which fall to the Council are the protection of children who are especially exposed to conditions conducive to delinquency and for controlling harmful influences in Summit.

The Board has the power to undertake, supervise or direct the making of studies and surveys of all matters and things which are or may be related to or in the interest of youth guidance and to create sub-committees to aid and assist in the work of the Council.

The Council may request and obtain such cooperation, assistance and data from various municipal departments, boards or agencies and other departments which are necessary to carry out its work. The group also makes recommendations, devises plans and suggests ways and means to meet the various problems having to do with Youth Guidance.

By resolution, the Council may create as special sub-committee to be known as the adjustment committee. If such a committee is appointed, the Municipal Youth Guidance committee may petition the Judge of the Juvenile Domestic Relations Court to hold hearings or to appoint a referee to hear cases.

The Municipal Youth Guidance Council deals with the general youth problems within the city. Cooperating closely with the Council is the adjustment committee, appointed by the Guidance Council. The chief duty of the adjustment committee is to handle individual cases. The Juvenile Conference committee, the third part of the Guidance Council, named by the Mayor and appointed by the Judge of the Juvenile Court, Elizabeth, also handles individual cases.

Meetings of the Guidance Council are held on the fourth Tuesday of each month at 5 p.m. at the High School.

The membership of the Council includes Alton G. Gast, principal of Summit High School, chairman; Russell T. Kerby, Jr., secretary; L. John Sayre, Frank J. Kerrigan, councilman Hugo Biemer, Mrs. Amos Hiatt, Milton R. Owen and Roberts v.S. Reed, superintendent of schools.

dent Eisenhower who spent much time in the county this fall working for the election of Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer. Shanley, if he becomes a candidate, may get the endorsement of Congresswoman Dwyer.

Vanderbilt to Run Again
It is also understood that Assemblyman William R. Vanderbilt of Maple street will be a candidate for re-nomination and petitions are already being circulated here and throughout the county in his behalf.

Mrs. Anna M. Murray of New England avenue has indicated that she may enter the Assembly race, seeking the seat vacated by Mrs. Dwyer. Mrs. Murray is of the opinion that the vacancy should be kept on the distaff side and may soon announce her formal candidacy. However, she has made no formal announcement of candidacy.

Several local Republicans, influential in local and county party affairs, are frank to state that if Forbes becomes a candidate that they willingly support him.

Forbes' apparent strength in the county would help the GOP Assembly ticket, which for the first time in eight years will be denied the vote-getting ability of Mrs. Dwyer. The GOP also is aware there will be no "The" on the ballot next year.

The early trend toward Forbes is so strong that even those who supported Troast and worked against the Somerset senator in 1953 are lining up behind him now.

Mail Response

So far, revenue is slightly behind last year.

Letters to Santa are just about at the same level as last year with one difference — there have been a few addressed to Elvis Presley as well as St. Nick. The Santa mail box on the Village Green is opened daily and all mail addressed to Santa is given to Pat Kelly, former policeman, who makes a phone call to the writer. The letters to Elvis go into the waste paper basket—but fast.

Complain of Washing

New Providence—Residents near Mountain Ave. and Maple St. complained to the police last week that stones from the excavations being blasted in the Stone Ridge Park development are hitting their houses. Police are investigating.

The motmot, a grayish-green tropical bird, has a tail that looks like a tennis racket. The "rackets" are fashioned by the birds themselves.
