Council Moves to Curb Business Invasion into One-Family Zone Areas

The city's zoning code is slated for another major revision if an ordinance introduced by Common Council Tuesday night is met with resident approval.

Under terms of the proposed measure "home occupations" would be eliminated from residential zones as would railroad right-of-ways, passenger stations and private stables. At present there are five private stables in residential zones.

According to a statement by Council, in order to permit "full study" of the proposed ordinance, a public hearing on the matter will be held on Friday, October 18.

Other changes would permit schools not operated for profit in A-43 and A-25 zones as special exception uses provided there is no advertising on the premises except for an announcement sign not exceeding one square foot in area.

The ordinance would place home professional offices of lawyers, architects, engineers, accountants and the like in two-family residential districts. In addition, professionals such as architects and engineers would be permitted as occupants in the hotel and apartment districts.

Would Affect Gas Stations

Also covered by the proposed ordinance would be gasoline stations which would be limited to one station for every 1,500 persons. In addition, the ordinance would provide that gasoline stations in the limited business zone must be 300 feet from any church or school and 1,500 feet from any other service station.

The measure would also set up a complete new format for obtaining building permits for any public or private parking areas and reduces in some instances from 10 to five the number of required parking spaces which would have to be approved by the Planning Board. Under the current zoning ordinance the Planning Board is required to give approval for all parking spaces above ten. The proposed amendment would reduce the number to five.

The design and layout of all such reductions in parking areas would be subject to review and report to Council by the Planning Board.

Under the proposed ordinance the "Community Unit Plan" section of the present zoning code would be repealed as would the portion regulating the granting of variances by the Zoning Board of Adjustment.

It was explained that the "Community Plan" deals with areas of 10-acres or more where there is a single dwelling and where the plan is cumbersome and relief is necessary for proper construction and landscaping. The measure has not been used by the city in over ten years.

Another section of the present ordinance dealing with "Guiding Principles" would also be repealed on grounds that terminology tends to be "vague and confusing." The section originally set up standards for zoning and has rarely been put into use.

Following introduction of the ordinance, Councilman Charles I. Webster, Jr. Council representative to the Planning Board, said that the amendment was "several months" in preparation and was introduced at (Continued on Page 20)

Common Council OKs Two for City Boards

Common Council Tuesday night approved two appointments to city boards made by Mayor Ogden D. Gensemer to fill vacant positions left vacant by recent resignations.

S. F. Wilson, Jr. of 9 Plymouth road was named to the Board of Health to replace A. W. Brydon, while Ralph Peters of 11 Eaton Court was appointed to the Board of Recreation to fill the unexpired term of L. K. Collier of 5 John street.

Both terms expire December 31, 1962.

Public School Enrollment Totals 4,168

Enrollment in all public schools for the present school year totals 4,168, it was reported to the Board of Education at its regular meeting Tuesday.

This is only 42 more than the estimate made a year ago in projecting budget needs for the current year, and 78 more than an enrollment estimate made by a Columbia University survey.

There are 65 more pupils in elementary schools than estimated last year and about 25 less in the Senior High School. Slight increases can be expected as the school year progresses, the board was told.

The enrollment for each school is as follows:

Senior High, 886; Junior High, 983; Brantley, 401; Roosevelt, 214; Jefferson, 214; Lincoln, 446; Franklin, 359; Washington, 412; Wilson, 412; educables, 9; trainables, 9.

The board also accepted the resignations of four teachers and approved the appointment of eight teachers and teacher-helpers as well as a doctor for football games.

Resigning were Miss Billie Burke Morgan, Junior High English and social studies teacher; Robert Latzer, Senior High English; John Champlin, Junior High social studies, and David Sherman, Senior High German and Spanish.

Replacing Miss Burke will be Frederick A. Keyes of Brighton, Mass., a graduate of the University of Dayton and former Boston teacher. Mrs. Bernice Frankson of Chatham was appointed to Roosevelt third grade teacher. Mrs. Frankson is a graduate of Richmond (Va.) Normal School and studied at National College of Education and Columbia. She is a former half-time kindergarten teacher at Roosevelt.

Lionel Lee of Tenafly, a former teacher at Millbrook, N. Y., Matawan and Patchogue, L. I., was named to replace Mr. Champlin as Junior High social studies teacher. Mrs. Ester Wick of Whippany, a former Latin and German teacher at Fairlawn and former English teacher at Chatham, was appointed Spanish and German teacher to replace Mr. Sherman. She is a graduate of Drew and studied at Paterson and (Continued on Page 7)

Police Alert Stores Against Phoney Checks

The Police Department this week issued a special warning to local merchants to be on the lookout for an individual who has recently passed a large amount of phoney checks in nearby communities.

The police bulletin said the suspect uses the name of Rodman Maller or Rodman Miller and draws checks on Tobies Stores, or Newark Envelope Co. The checks are generally signed in the name of Goldstein or Epstein.

Police said he is a Negro in his late thirties, about six feet tall, of medium build and well-spoken.

He is said to make purchases at retail stores and is generally accompanied by a small child. The checks are said to be in the $65 to $70 bracket.

W. Rae Crane, executive secretary of the Summit Area Chamber of Commerce again urged merchants this week not to cash checks "no-matter how authentic" they may seem unless the store owner knows the individual presenting the check.

Drop Noted In Parking Meter Fines

Summonses issued for parking meter violations last month dipped slightly to 896, bringing this year's total to date to 7,601, the monthly activities report of the Police Department revealed this week.

Meter summonses in August of last year were 937 with the year's total at 7,684.

The report also shows that summonses issued for moving violations numbered 29, 10 more than the 19 for August of last year, but that the 1960 total now stands at 524, one less than the 525 chalked up during the first eight months of 1959.

Accidents reported last month numbered 18, three less than in the same month last year, but this year's total still stands at 248, four more than during the comparable period in 1959.

Personal Injuries Up

Personal injuries also continued on the upswing, with six reported in August, bringing the current year's tally to 58, 19 more than the 39 for the same time last year. The August, 1959 total was four.

Pedestrian injuries for the month stood at one, the same as in August of last year, but the 1960 total is now at 13, six more than the seven reported at the same time in 1959.

No fatalities were reported last month, the same as in the previous August, but the 1960 total is one, while none were reported at the same time last year.

Complaints investigated took a dip to 55, as compared to 70 for August, 1959. The current year's total is now at 428, considerably less than the 549 reported during the first eight months of last year.

Juvenile complaints for the month also went down to 20, in comparison with 37 for August of 1959, but the 1960 tally is still higher than the previous year, with 243 on the books so far this year, as compared with 235 for the comparable period in 1959.

Petty Larcenies Down

Petty larcenies also seem to indicate a downward trend, with five reported last month, bringing this year's total to 69, seven less than the 76 reported last year at this time. The August, 1959 total was set at three.

Grand larcenies showed an upward swing, with four reported last month, bringing the (Continued on Page 7)

City Plans 5c Hike for All-Day Parking Meters

The cost of parking cars in the four 12-hour commuter lots is scheduled for an increase November 1 under terms of a proposed ordinance introduced by Common Council Tuesday night. The price is slated to be boosted from 20c to 25c for 12 hours.

A public hearing on the proposed ordinance will be held October 4.

The four parking lots which would be affected by the ordinance include Grand Union, Glenwood place, Elm and Maple streets. In addition, the Beauvoir place and Walnut street 12-hour parking sections would also be affected.

Council also pointed out that the intersection of River road and Morris avenue was already considered one of the most "hazardous" in the city and that further traffic congestion could be expected with the completion of the Route 24 Freeway.

The committee indicated it was "hoped" that the flat fee of 25c for 12 hours would discourage short time users, thereby opening up additional space for commuter parking. Meters in 12-hour lots or street areas would be changed to receive only a 25c coin.

Effective November 1

If passed, the effective date of the ordinance would be November 1, to permit adequate time to have new signs prepared for information of the public and to obtain the necessary parts for chinging the meters.

In a similar move, the change machines in the commuter parking lots would be removed after November 1, since they would serve "no useful purpose" because the meters would only operate upon insertion of a quarter.

Cool Weather Routs Mosquitoes in Area

Mosquitoes in the Summit Area were routed by cooler weather, according to the weekly report of the Union County Mosquito Control Commission. Commission traps maintained in this area for last week had a nightly average catch of 5.6, as compared with 15.7 for the previous week. The 15.7 figure was a high for the summer.

The averages last week for other county regions where traps are maintained was as follows: Elizabeth, 11.1; Plainfield, 6.4; Westfield-Cranford, 6.3, and Union-Hillside, 4.5.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman Anthony Fusco.

Women's Church Council to Hold Mission Study

The theme of the Mission Study Institute of the Summit Council of United Church Women, to be held next Thursday, September 29, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., at St. John's Lutheran Church, will be "Into All the World Together."

Presiding at the meeting will be Mrs. Samuel Jones, chairman of the committee and immediate past president of the Council.

Following a business meeting and a devotional period directed by Mrs. Allan Davies, Mrs. Joseph Schulhoff will review "Safe in Bondage," a book on the home community. An additional book review will be presented by Mrs. George Brown, who will review "One World, One Mission," about the total world program of work done by churches.

In addition, the program will consist of a color film-strip, "Assignment in Unity," concerning the relationship of the local church to the world church, to be presented by Mrs. Donald Ostroff of the Methodist Church. Mrs. William Allen of Fountain Baptist Church will present a second film-strip, "Lit-Lit Makes Wishes Come True," about the program of educational literature supported by church women.

Committee members for the Institute include Mrs. Jasper Dodd, Central Presbyterian Church and president of the Council; Mrs. Davies, Central Presbyterian; Mrs. Norma S. Lane, Lutheran Church, responsible for the physical set-up of the meeting place; Mrs. Rebecca Mack, Wallace (Continued on Page 7)

Two Injured In Weekend Car Mishaps

A pair of automobile accidents last weekend injured two more persons and brought to 58 the number for the year to date.

On Saturday David Wood, 55, of Morristown was taken to Overlook Hospital for treatment of deep head lacerations when the taxicab in which he was a passenger crashed into a parked car at 517 Morris avenue.

Police said the driver, Edward V. Maroney of 180 Morris avenue, was blinded by headlights from an oncoming car and rammed the rear of a parked auto owned by Joseph M. Petriello of South Orange.

The mishap was investigated by Patrolman Michael Donio. On Monday Mary Williams, 45 of Morristown, suffered an injured shoulder when the car she was driving collided with another at Morris and Essex turnpike at River road. The driver of the second car was identified as A. O. Rock, 19, of Madison.

Police said the accident occurred when Mrs. Williams turned into River road from Morris and Essex and was struck in the rear by Mr. Rock's car. Following the impact, Mr. Rock's car skidded 55 feet along Morris and Essex.

The accident was investigated by Patrolman Anthony Fusco.

Kiltie Band To Open Fund Drive Oct. 8

In a kick-off drive to collect $164,500 for this year's United Campaign, October 8 will be marked by a bag-pipe parade by a group of Caldwell teenagers through the business district and a circus tent in one of the local bank's parking lots.

According to Alfred Ely, Jr., chairman of the publicity committee, the bag-pipe parade will touch off the campaign drive, while in the tent to be located at the parking lot of the National State Bank, exhibits of the nine participating agencies will be housed.

In cooperation with local merchants and the merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce, merchants will distribute shopping bags advertising the parade and the campaign slogan.

Of the $164,500 quota set, the largest slice is allocated to the YMCA, $49,300, while the quota for the YWCA is $44,400. Amounts for the other participating agencies include $8,600 Boy Scouts; $24,400, Family Service Association; $7,300, Girl Scouts; $11,700, Sage; $10,700, Child Care Center; $6,500, Union County Psychiatric Clinic; and $1,600, U.S.O.

Rt. 78 Plan for Interchanges Rankles Heights

Three proposed partial cloverleafs in Berkeley Heights for the new Route 78 freeway (relocated Route 22) are no good luck omens for residents. Township Committee member John A. Lombardi decided Monday after viewing State Highway proposals for the partial interchanges.

Particularly unacceptable was the interchange planned for Diamond Hill road but almost as distasteful were the ones for McMane avenue and Glenside avenue.

Upon seeing the plans, Lombardi requested the state revise the plans because the proposed interchange would be "detrimental to the town and general welfare of its residents." Lombardi asked that copies of the maps be given to all residents and also went on record as having a study of the state plans checked by the Planning Committee of the Township.

McMane Overpass

Under the state proposal for interchanges, McMane avenue would be rebuilt as an overpass and another partial interchange destined for Glenside avenue would require relocating Glenside avenue to the south of the present road to make room for Route 78.

The Diamond Hill road interchange would be located north of Twin Falls road and would provide an exit for westbound cars as well as an entry for eastbound traffic.

Glenside avenue, which would have to be relocated to the south of the existing road to make room for Route 78, also would provide an exit lane from the freeway. Glenside road, now under construction, would provide a westbound entrance and exit from Route 78.

Mayor George T. Loman said talks with the highway department since March brought about the changes in the freeway plans from a full interchange at McMane avenue, to the present partial interchanges (Continued on Page 7)

The prospects for ice-skating at Memorial Field this winter brightened considerably Tuesday night when Common Council by a 4-2 vote introduced an ordinance which would appropriate $12,000 for immediate construction of a combination rink and hard surface tennis court.

The approved fund, however, is $3,000 less than the original amount requested by the Recreation Commission for the improvement.

Councilmen Elmer J. Bennett and Charles I. Webster, Jr. voted against introduction of the bill. A public hearing on the proposal is scheduled for October 4.

In voting against the ordinance, Councilman Bennett said he could not "see such an expenditure at this time since the city is in need of other pressing demands."

Defending the ordinance was Councilman Leo V. O'Connell who said the proposed combination tennis court and ice skating rink would be of benefit to the city's youngsters and that the expenditure would be made "eventually" from the capital improvements fund and that it was "just coming a little sooner."

The ordinance stems from a request by the Board of Recreation two weeks ago for an emergency appropriation of $15,000 for construction of a combination court and rink. Cites "Great Difficulty"

In the original request, the Board said that under present conditions, ice skating at Memorial Field must be ruled out this winter because of the "great difficulty" in sealing the area to retain water.

The request also stated that since tennis has become "increasingly popular," the site could be converted into a dual purpose area providing facilities for players and become a means of additional revenue for the city through entrance fees.

The present ice skating area was originally constructed in 1949 for use by small children after having been used for many years as clay tennis courts.

The Board pointed out at the time of the request that need for a new tennis court is necessary since more and more local residents are "obviously" taking up the sport in the light of increased revenues from fees since 1957. The Board added that in 1957 money received totaled $660 and through June of this year, fees have now reached $1,213.

It was further urged by the Board of Recreation that no further expenditures for an ice skating rink be made until a permanent installation can be constructed.

In other matters, Council accepted with "commendation" a report by the city engineer to the public works committee on action taken by the department during and following hurricane Donna.

Approves Police Bill

Council also gave approval to a Senate bill now pending which would establish a Police Training Commission in the Department of Law and Public Safety. (Continued on Page 20)

SAGE Begins Phone Service For Shut-ins

"Sincerely Yours," a free volunteer telephone service for senior citizens and shut-ins, began this week as a new SAGE service.

Volunteers will daily contact those wishing the service by telephone throughout the week. The calls are to be informal, friendly chats which it is hoped will develop into more personal contacts. Shut-ins, invalids, persons living alone, or anyone who feels that they would like to receive this service may be a recipient.

"Sincerely Yours" envisions that the recipients of this daily telephone contact will "gain a new feeling of security, knowing that others are interested in their welfare, and gain a new interest in looking forward to the volunteer's call each day." Additionally, it feels that (Continued on Page 7)

365,618 School Lunches Served

Cafeteria operations in Summit schools for last year boomed, both in revenue and business, the Board of Education was told this week by Walter S. Eddy, business manager, in his report to the board.

Last year school cafeterias served 365,618 lunches, about 18,000 more than for the previous year. Income from food sales was $145,985. This does not include cash Federal subsidy of $34,285 or cash value of government surplus food estimated at $29,000.

Milk sales for last year were 25,000 more than the previous year. Last year the cafeterias sold 637,867 half pints of milk. The Federal subsidy on each meal for last year was 7c and for additional milk, 4c. Mr. Eddy pointed out that for the present school year the subsidy will be reduced to 6c per meal. Lunches cost 30c in the junior-senior high schools and 25c in elementary schools. No price changes are planned for the coming year, he said.

Rosary Shrine to Hold Pilgrimage October 2
The Very Rev. James J. McFarney, O.P., S.T.D., S.T.M., instructor in theology at the Monastery of Our Lady of the Rosary, Summit, will be the guest preacher at the 41st solemn Rosary Pilgrimage to be held on Sunday, October 2, at Rosary Shrine.

Prayers for the intentions of this Holy Pope John 23, and for the intentions of the Most Rev. Thomas A. Boland, S.T.D., L.D., Archbishop of Newark, will be included in the prayer of the Rosary.

The pilgrimage devotion will begin at 3:30 p.m., with the Rosary procession, led by a Dominican father of St. Antoninus priory.

YWCA English Classes Open For 10th Year

English classes for area non-English-speaking people will open for the 10th year at the YWCA next Wednesday, September 28, from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Registration may be made now or on the evening of opening class.

Initiated by the YWCA because of the great need for this service, which was not available elsewhere in the vicinity, these classes have grown to an annual average registration in their two 15-week semesters in the fall and winter of 150 men and women living in the Summit Area who come from a wide variety of countries. There are usually from 7 to 10 groups which include all graduations from beginners to advanced. Educational backgrounds are very diversified, from 3 to 4 years elementary schooling to persons with university-graduate school degrees.

Tuition charges are extremely low as the entire teaching staff is a volunteer one. Students pay for their own textbooks especially prepared for this purpose and published very reasonably in paper cover form.

Membership in the English classes includes all privileges of YWCA membership. Young unmarrieds join in the social dances and Sunday Drop-Ins, all can share in Association events, join for classes or clubs if time permits or work on committees. Some special parties are planned during the year for the classes as a whole.

Teachers help with some of the many problems which are difficult for newcomers to solve. Perhaps one of the greatest advantages of this service is the opportunity provided for these newcomers to meet one another and make friends and to pool information of value in their adjustment to a new country.

Because of the obvious language difficulty inherent in publicity, the YWCA asks that anyone knowing of persons who may be interested in these classes explain the opportunity to the persons involved or phone the information to Mrs. Harry H. Dampman, program assistant at the YWCA, CR 3-4242. Students may enter at any time of the year.

Voters' League Completes Plans For Annual Drive

The opening meeting of the finance drive for the League of Women Voters will take place on Monday, at 7:45 p.m. at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Sheridan R. Smith.

Speaking to the more than 25 solicitors will be Leonard Best, Rome Betts, and David Ludlow, members of the Men's Sponsoring Committee which also includes: Alfred W. Alsbury, Albert J. Bartholomew, Guy Gabrielson, Jr., Harold Graves, Jr., John M. Leavens, Lawrence J. MacGregor, Ernest May, Donald Mitchell, Richard Moser, and Fred L. Palmer.

As a result of increased registration and the widespread interest in the elections, the expenses of the League have risen sharply and new steps have been taken by the finance committee to widen community support.

A special drive for contributions from businessmen and industries is being set up not only in the Summit league, but elsewhere in the country because of increased training programs in public affairs being carried out by commercial concerns throughout the nation.

The finance committee consists of Mrs. Henry Dearborn, Mrs. Walter Reichenbach, Mrs. Perry Farnum, and Mrs. William Compton.

Overlook Opens All-Out Drive for Nurse Recruits

In line with the expansion of facilities at Overlook Hospital, a concentrated nurses' recruitment program was swung into action today, according to Robert E. Heinlein, director.

"New positions are opening up every day," Mr. Heinlein pointed out, adding that with the completion of interior renovations in the wing built in 1953, hospital capacity will reach 319 beds.

For nurses who have not been active in the field recently, Mr. Heinlein noted that a refresher course, with pay, is being planned. Further details on the course will be announced in the near future.

Among the offerings for registered nurses is a beginning salary commensurate with experience and a nurses' residence, in an attractive modern building, adjacent to the hospital and convenient to transportation, shopping and churches. Music with meals is offered at the new staff cafeteria, which according to Mr. Heinlein also offers "streamlined" food service.

As part of the hospital program, an in-service education program keeps the Overlook nurses informed of latest medical techniques.

Appointments may be made by interested nurses by calling Mrs. Edna W. Dover, director of nursing, at CR 3-8100.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS—Summit Republicans last week officially opened the local phase of the Nixon-Lodge campaign by establishing a GOP headquarters in the former B. H. Frumkin store at 408 Springfield avenue. The office will be open daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Fridays until 9 p.m. for the sale of Republican campaign items and souvenirs as well as the distribution of free campaign literature. Absentee ballot applications may be obtained at the headquarters and information obtained regarding registration, election laws, etc. For the duration of the presidential campaign all meetings of the City GOP Committee will be held at the headquarters. Above, left to right, are Mrs. Albert Kobylarz, Mrs. Sumner Whitney and Mrs. John Dilger, co-chairmen of the headquarters operation, and head of a large committee of volunteers who will work at the office. City Bar Group Welcomes Four New Attorneys

Four new members were welcomed into membership of the Summit Bar Association at its meeting last week at the Hotel Suburban. They are Fred A. Napolitano, Richard Freeman, Harrison E. Wemett and Joseph Walsh. Douglas J. Haberstroh, president of the Association, conducted the meeting.
Mr. Napolitano, who recently commenced private practice at 443 Springfield avenue, is a native of Summit and a Summit High School graduate. He attended N.Y.U. and N.Y.U. School of Law and was admitted as a New Jersey attorney in February of this year. He formerly was associated with Lamb & Blake of Jersey City. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Napolitano of this city.

A Short Hills resident, Mr. Freeman is associated with the firm of Kentz, Kentz & Gilson and was former law secretary for Judge Stanton of the Superior Court. He is a graduate of Colgate and the University of Virginia Law School.
Mr. Wemett, a resident of Berkeley Heights, was admitted to the bar in New York and New Jersey and for many years has been practicing in York City. He now has an office at 441 Springfield avenue. He is a graduate of the University of Rochester and Fordham Law School.
Mr. Walsh is a New Providence resident and formerly lived in Newark where he now has his office. He is a former clerk for the late Chief Justice Arthur Vanderbilt and is a former City of Newark magistrate. He is a graduate of Seton Hall and John Marshall Law School.

Reheis Renews Annual Grant To Vermont U.
Dr. Robert M. Linell, professor of physical chemistry at the University of Vermont, Burlington, will be aided in his research activities by the renewal of an annual grant by the Reheis Company, Inc. of Berkeley Heights.
This year's gift, in excess of $2,500, was announced by Daniel H. Reheis, president of the company. The purpose of the grant-in-aid is to supplement the pure research activities of Professor Linell, with particular emphasis on the study of molecular structure of Reheis aluminum oxychlorides.
As yet there are no published results of the endowment's research program, Mr. Reheis said, adding, however, that plans are afoot to publish much of the valuable information so far derived.
The gift is part of the continuing research program carried on by Reheis Company, which includes not only annual grants to several universities, but also extensive activities by its own scientists in its laboratories here in Berkeley Heights.
Reheis Company, Inc., has been supplying chemicals to the pharmaceutical and cosmetic industries since 1941. In addition, since 1959, it has been supplying biological chemicals for the pharmaceutical industry. Its headquarters, main research center and manufacturing plant are at Berkeley Heights, and it also operates plants in Stamford, Conn., Passo Fundo, Brazil, and Montevideo, Uruguay.

Oldham Named Steel Product Sales Rep

Gordon V. Oldham of 68 Beekman Road, announced that the Gordon V. Oldham Corp., Newark, has been appointed sales representative for the Moltrup Steel Products Co. of Beaver Falls, Pa., for Metropolitan New York, eastern New York State, New Jersey and New England area.

Washington PTA Lists Plan for Coming Season

Fall activities of Washington School PTA got underway this week with the scheduling of parent class meetings and a meeting of the executive committee at which committees for the coming year were formed. The first general membership meeting will be held Monday, October 24, with the theme, "Children, the Mirror of the Family and Community."
Other events scheduled include a book fair for November, a mid-winter dance, the traditional country fair in May, plus three major general membership meetings.
It also has been announced that a PTA newsletter will be mailed to all parents. Washington School will be the first Summit elementary school to distribute a newsletter.
Parent class meetings will be held in the cafeteria from 8 to 9 p.m. on the following dates: Tuesday, September 21, first and second grades; Tuesday, September 27, third and fourth grades; Wednesday, September 28, fifth and sixth grades. Meetings for both kindergarten sessions and first and second grades were held earlier this week.

Mrs. George Sullivan and Mrs. Donald Colby are co-chairmen for the class meeting program.
At the meeting of the executive board held Monday the following committees were announced:
Edmund Courter, budget and finance; Mrs. Robert Sellers, congress publications; Mrs. John Meyer, hospitality; Mrs. Paul Wason, house and grounds; Richard Vitzthum, Lay Committee; Mrs. Joseph Gordon, legislation; Mrs. Joseph Holslag, library; Mrs. John Ingmundson, newsletter; Mrs. John Huey, membership; Mrs. George Naimark, parent and family life; Mrs. William Symons, program; Mrs. Brayton Smith, publicity; Mrs. Donald Colby, room representatives; Mrs. William Hinman, yearbook; Mrs. Norman Lane, language classes; Mrs. Everett Olinder, ways and means; Mrs. William Tiesie, book fair; Mrs. George Naimark, Girl Scouts; Mrs. Everett Olinder, Cub Scouts.

Education Cost per Pupil Up 2% in Last Two Years
Education costs in Summit during the last two years have jumped an average of 2 per cent, the Board of Education was told Tuesday at its monthly meeting by Walter S. Eddy, business manager. The over-all cost per pupil for the last two years has climbed from $472.28 per pupil to $480.01, he stated.
In the Junior High School, a slight drop in per pupil costs was noted but this was offset by an increase in Senior High School costs. The per pupil cost in the Junior High School dropped from $512.57 to $510.90 per pupil. In the Senior High School, the per pupil climbed from $581.46 to $610.63. Elementary school pupil costs rose from $395.52 to $410.25, or about 3 per cent.
Because of these rising costs, non-pupil persons are required to pay rates of $600 for the Senior High, $500 for Junior High and $400 for elementary schools.
The cost of educables was $730.50 last year as compared to $787.70 for the previous year. Trainable cost per pupil last year was $1,289 as compared to $1,222.72. Tuition rates for such students were set at $750 for educables and $1,300 for trainables.
(Educables are children having an I.Q. from 50 to 100. Trainables are those with I.Q.'s of less than 50).
Five from Summit Pass Bar Exams
Five Summit residents were among a group of 170 successful candidates in recent bar examinations. A total of 304 took the tests and 134 failed. Those passing were sworn in by the Supreme Court on Monday.
Those from Summit who passed were Frank Reiche of 51 Stockton road, Richard J. Traynor of 234 Morris avenue, Hugo M. Pfaltz of 70 Pine Grove avenue, Ovid C. Lewis of 300 Summit avenue and Jeremiah D. O'Dwyer of 9 Caldwell court.

Correction Made on Storm Power Repair
In its story last week on Hurricane Donna, The Herald reported that on the day of the storm only one Jersey Central Power & Light Co. repair crew was at work in the city. The source of this information was the City Engineer's office.
The facts are that Jersey Central had twenty repair crews at work in Summit from 8 a.m. Monday through Tuesday night. One of these crews was assigned for the exclusive use of the City Engineer's office for repair of municipal services. The other 19 repair crews were at work in other sections of the city.
In fairness to Jersey Central Power & Light Co. this correction is being brought to the attention of readers.

No worry about fallen cakes with an Electric Range
There just is no more accurate way to cook!
What makes a cake fall? The same thing that causes uneven roasting. Varying heat in the oven. But the electric range has this problem licked. Because it's flameless, the electric oven is insulated all around, top and bottom. The cooking heat never varies more than 5° up or down. In fact, electric heat is so accurately controlled it practically eliminates baking failures. Simply set the dial and you're sure of just the right temperature to bring cakes to their fluffiest best every time.

Psychologist Resigns From School Post

The resignation of Dr. LeRoy L. R. Booth, school psychologist, was accepted Tuesday night by the Board of Education. He had been suspended from his post here on Friday following his arrest on the day before on charge of allegedly impairing the morals of a minor.

A formal hearing on the charges, brought by Irvington police and scheduled for Monday, was postponed. Dr. Booth was arrested in his office here on Thursday by Summit police on a warrant from Irvington.

The charges were made by the parents of a 14-year old East Orange boy against Dr. Booth and Benedict Raymond, a former Millburn court clerk. Dr. Booth was released in $1,000 bail and Raymond on $500.

Robert V.S. Reed, superintendent of schools, in suspending Dr. Booth from his post, expressed "shock" at the charges. Joseph Shuttlesworth, director of guidance and Dr. Booth's immediate superior said that the psychologist "had been highly respected and regarded in the school system and community."

The arrest of Dr. Booth and Mr. Raymond resulted from questioning of the 14-year old on September 11 after he had stayed away all night. The boy's parents reported him missing on September 10 and when he returned the next day told detectives he had spent the night in Raymond's apartment. Irvington detectives reported that further questioning of the boy implicated Dr. Booth. Police said Dr. Booth and Mr. Raymond were unacquainted.

VICE PRESIDENT—Glenn W. Johnson of Countryside was elected vice president and general manager of the Elizabeth division of Elastic Stop Nut Corp. of America. Mr. Johnson was formerly general manager of the division. He became a member of the sales staff of Agastat Timing Instruments in 1947 and a year later was made district sales manager for 11 western states. In 1953 he returned to Elizabeth as plant manager, later becoming general manager in charge of sales, manufacturing and engineering. He is a graduate of Stanford University. During World War 2 he was a heavy bomber pilot based in England and later flew for Pan-American Airlines on South American routes. He is a member of Beacon Hill Club.

A third man, Richard M. Kuchen, 52, of East Orange, was also arrested and charged with impairing the morals of minors. The 14-year old youth said that he and two other boys had been with Mr. Kuchen in an unrelated but similar situation last August 15.

Dr. Booth, 46, has held the $9,300 post here since 1955, following a year as director of guidance at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. A bachelor, Dr. Booth is a graduate of State Teachers College, West Chester, Pa., and Texas Technological school, Lubbock, Texas. He taught English for five years at high schools at Bristol, Pa., and Wilmington, Del. He was an army captain with the signal corps during World War 2.

Local Girls in Orange School Of Nursing

Two Summit girls—the Misses Mary Hope Beyer and Dianne Patricia Behme—have entered the Orange Memorial Hospital School of Nursing to begin a three-year course in professional nursing.

Miss Beyer is the daughter of Mrs. Loreita W. Beyer of 1 Sylvan avenue and Miss Behme is the daughter of Mrs. June L. Behme of 1 Denman place. Both graduated from Summit High School last June.

Miss Beyer was a member of the Pep Club, Spanish Club and Red Cross Club and participated in hockey, basketball, and volleyball as well as serving on the Dance Committee.

Miss Behme was vice-president of the Tri-eps, a YWCA girls club, and participated in basketball, baseball and chorus.

Heights Soldier Ends Fort Sill Duty Tour

Don't Fall for Free Film Film-Flam

Alluring offers to provide a "free" roll of film to everyone who sends in an exposed roll for developing and printing were condemned as deceptive by the National Better Business Bureau, if the offer is on a continuous and permanent basis. In this event, the Bureau declared, the price charged is for the combination offered and the roll of film is no more "free" than the developing or printing—or the ham in a ham and cheese sandwich.

According to Kenneth B. Willson, president of the Bureau, numerous advertisers are making "free" film offers, some promising to return a roll of film "free" with each film processed for the life of the purchaser. "The public is being led to believe," Willson said, "that it will never have to buy film again."

"When the word 'free' is accurately used in a deal requiring a purchase," Willson stated, "the item purchased is sold at its established, regular price without change of any kind as to quality, quantity or otherwise, and another item is offered for a limited period of time at no extra cost to the purchaser, but as an added expense to the advertiser."

"In the continuous or permanent combination offer, the costs of all items are included in the price paid by the purchaser. For this reason, the Bureau recommends against use of the word 'free' to describe any item always included in a continuous or permanent combination offer."

The Women Need Your Support

In a presidential and congressional election year, the need for a non-partisan information group is an important factor toward voter understanding of major issues. Summit, as well as the entire nation, is fortunate in having such a group as the League of Women Voters to perform this necessary function, and it is hoped that the annual fund raising drive which the organization is now conducting, is a major success so that the work of this group is permitted to go unhindered and continue at its usual high level.

Although national in scope, through local organization League chapters, constantly discuss local issues, but through direct contact with state and local units, governmental activities at all levels are brought before the citizens on a completely non-partisan basis. It is to the League's credit that personalities are never discussed, but rather issues with the aim that an informed public and a better electorate is necessary for a strong-

America.

While not selecting candidates, the League does perform the service of advising voters of the various stands candidates take on vital issues. In addition, much emphasis is placed on the individual's responsibility for good government and for turning out at the polls on Election Day.

One of the major values of the League is that the local organization chooses for itself the program of operations, thus assuring further interest and cooperation and understanding on a local level.

We sincerely hope Summit again will continue to support the important work carried out by the League of Women Voters, especially in an era where an informed electorate is particularly needed. The League provides that important link between information and good government, and support of its work is vitally needed in the light that mankind has now entered the threshold of life or death.

Life Is Too Soft

Now that we have closed the books on the Olympics, there are many of us who are thoughtfully considering the words of Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee and a Chicago businessman.

Brundage said, after the scores were totaled, the gold medals handed out, and the laurels bestowed:

"We were outclassed in half the events on the Olympic program. If it were not for our great Negro athletes we'd be out of the running. Life in the United States is too soft."

Certainly Mr. Brundage can not be challenged on the point regarding the excellence of our Negro athletes. Their performances speak for themselves. A couple of examples might be in order—Rafer Johnson, the California student who lived his boyhood with his family in a railroad boxcar, and Wilma Rudolph, the Tennessee runner. Wilma won three gold medals in track events and Johnson gave the United States its sixth straight decathlon title.

When Brundage said that Americans are soft from easy living he is only expressing an opinion widely held today in many countries, including our own. We boast of a high standard of living and we strive to bring more and more of our citizens into this standard. Yet athletes from small countries where the going is hard beat us in Olympic competition. Could an American match the feat of the Ethiopian who ran 26 miles in his bare feet to win the cross-country race? We think not. We can not have soft living and hard athletes.

Mr. Brundage believes America should have a national sports program similar to Russia's. Not everyone who agrees that our athletes have gone soft will go along with such a proposal, however. We are opposed to state subsidy of athletes and we frown on professionals disguised as amateurs. In this country pros have their place in our hearts, but they are carefully separated from students and amateurs who earn their living in other fields but keep their interests in sports.

But perhaps Mr. Brundage has a good idea in a national sports program similar to that established by the Russians. His committee for years has been urging a national sports program but to no avail. It is possible that a uniform program of sports, from grades through college, could be adopted by schools with the goal of toughening up a bit our youth grown flabby by easy living.

The Ups and Downs of Politicians

While being bombasted one evening by political speeches, pleas and exhortations from almost every Metropolitan Area TV channel, we got to wondering about the fate of old politicians.

There is a lot of the flash-in-the-pan type of person in politics and apparently it has always been so. Sometimes one is almost shocked at the skyrocketing of some political figure and his early decline. At times some politicians may seem to be astride a white horse galloping up the road to fame and power; then two or three years later it is hard to recall his name.

There have been many like that. Perhaps the most notable today is Senator Kefauver. It was only a few years ago that his name was a household word. He was looked upon as a likely candidate for the presidency and he did win a nomination for Vice President. Today he is almost forgotten. He wanders about the country making speeches, trying to grasp some sort of a possible issue, determined to return to the spotlight. But in most quarters he is forgotten.

On the other side of the political fence is Harold Stassen. He was a serious contender for the presidential nomination while in his late thirties. A continuous leading man in politics, he also found time to head a great university. But he has dropped from the headlines and now one wonders where he is and what he does.

There is James F. Byrnes who was a popular governor, a member of the Cabinet and a Senator. He is still alive but we never hear of him any more. He is joined by Henry A. Wallace, once a vice president and now a New York State farmer. Lined up with them is John Nance Garner, also a Vice President but now a peccan farmer in Texas.

Some men, like Garner, retire by preference. Others, like Wallace and Stassen, are forced out of the political arena. Some who leave the stage still retain a great deal of power—such as Thomas E. Dewey and James A. Farley. But political promise is apt to be ephemeral. Alf Landon, the Sunflower boy, once was a presidential candidate but today the average citizen doesn't know whether he is alive.

Perhaps this is the way a democracy should work. We recall the story of a great Roman who was called from his plow to lead the Roman Legions, won his campaign and returned to his plow. Our own Gen. Israel Putnam of Revolutionary days did the same thing. Maybe this is the right rule. Perhaps the instinct for preservation, for persistence, keeps some politicians active long after they have done their jobs and should return to the farm and fireside.

At any rate it is impossible to keep track of all the has-beens, some of them completely forgotten and a few still awkwardly wearing the habiliments of importance. They are interesting and a good subject for contemplation on a brisk fall night; but they belong to the historian rather than to the present.

DEATHS

Mrs. Thomas F. Brennan
Mrs. Ida Mary Brennan, widow of Thomas F. Brennan, founder of the Brennan Dairy here, died on Sunday at her home in Decatur, Ga., of a long illness. She was 86.

Born in Orange, Mrs. Brennan lived in New Providence many years before moving to Decatur four years ago. She was past president or Christ Child Association of Oak Knoll School, and a member of the Rosary and Altar societies of Our Lady of Peace Church, New Providence.

She leaves four sons, Thomas F. Jr. of Summit, Harold of Decatur, Leroy of Chatham and Russell of Roselle Park; a daughter, Mrs. Mabel Nixon of Decatur; 11 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held yesterday from Paul Ippolito Summit Memorial, 7 Summit avenue, with a mass at Our Lady of Peace Church.

Mrs. Margaret B. Wood
Mrs. Margaret B. Wood, of Kenilworth, a former Summit resident, died on September 12 after a brief illness.

Born at Madison, Mrs. Wood formerly lived on Linden place.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Surrey Slater and Mrs. William Sayles, both of Summit, and a niece.

The funeral was last Thursday from the Burroughs and Kohn Funeral Home, 309 Springfield avenue, followed by a High Mass at St. Vincent's Church, Madison. Burial was in St. Vincent's Cemetery.

Mrs. Richard A. Whitney
Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Whitney died last Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Eisenhardt of 40 Silver Lake drive with whom she was staying. She was 87.

Mrs. Whitney, the widow of Richard A. Whitney, was born at Baltimore. She was a member of the Northwood Appold Methodist Church there.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Walter M. Hinkley and Mrs. William C. Baxter, both of Baltimore, and one grandchild, Mrs. Richard C. Minesinger of Shaker Heights, Ohio.

Funeral services and interment were held Monday at Baltimore.

Anthony A. DelDuca
Anthony A. DelDuca of 630 Springfield Avenue, Berkeley Heights, died last Tuesday in Short Hills while at work as a landscaper. He was 70.

Mr. DelDuca was born in Italy and was brought to this country as an infant. He retired in 1956 as a meter inspector in the Summit office of Commonwealth Water Co., where he was employed 42 years.

He was an army veteran of World War I. He was an associate member of the Volunteer Fire Dept. and a member of the Exempt Firemen's Association.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Dora Campanile DelDuca, two sons, Anthony J. DelDuca of New Providence and Police Sgt. Ralph DelDuca of Berkeley Heights; three daughters, Miss Florence DelDuca and Mrs. Josephine Groppi of Berkeley Heights and Mrs. Nancy Light of Summit; three brothers, Joseph and George of Berkeley Heights and Frank of Newark; a sister, Mrs. Theresa Nigro of New Providence, and four grandchildren.

The funeral was held Saturday from the Paul Ippolito Berkeley Memorial, 646 Springfield Avenue, Berkeley Heights, with a Mass at the Church of the Little Flower.

Mrs. Louis Vogler
Mrs. Margaret E. Vogler of 480 Springfield Avenue, died last Wednesday at Overlook Hospital after a long illness. She was 49.

Born at Dover, Mrs. Vogler had lived in Summit since 1956. She is survived by her husband, Louis Vogler, and a sister, Mrs. Anna Smith of Denville.

Services were held on Saturday at Tuttle Funeral Home, Dover.

Mrs. Preston Burroughs
Mrs. Lulu Armstrong Burroughs of Madison, widow of Preston A. Burroughs, a funeral director in Summit and Madison, died Sunday at Hart- (Continued on Page 7)

LETTERS

Headline Misleads
Editor, Summit Herald:

The slanted headline on your front page report of the Lay Committee's college requirements study was so completely false, misleading, and unfair to our high school, and, indeed, to our study, that I feel that further explanation is necessary. Your saying "Survey Shows High School Program Lags" is the reverse of the conclusions that our sub-committee reached.

In the complete report which will be published, our group assembled material from letters received from about 130 colleges of all types, answering general questions about secondary school course suggestions, plus extracurricular activities and facilities. Although the letters were not intended to be specifically about Summit High School, as such, in some instances, notably Princeton and Mount Holyoke, the admissions officer had high praise for Summit High School and the preparation it offers.

In our conclusion, having established what we felt the colleges would be requiring, we tried to evaluate our school, and pointed out that the school measured up very well to what the colleges seemed to want, and, in fact, has been well ahead of the trend in honors classes, and accelerated courses.

A lot of harm can be done with capricious headlines, and in all fairness, I think you should print in its entirety the conclusions of the Sub-committee on College Study.

Birth of a City Museum
Editor, Summit Herald:

On April 1, 1962, I shall have rounded out a residence in Summit of half a century. During that time Summit has grown from a small town to a city of more than twenty thousand people. Tracts of woodland have become colonies of houses; what was once considered an almost worthless swamp is now the site of one of our most desirable residential sections; the many formerly vacant bits of land on Springfield

More Democrats Lured by Nixon Than Republicans to Kennedy

By Kenneth Flak, Princeton Research Service

What is happening on the political party front at the present time across the state? Are more Republicans swinging to Kennedy than Democrats to Nixon or vice versa?

In both 1952 and 1956, higher proportions of Democrats voted for President Eisenhower than Republicans for Governor Stevenson.

avenue are occupied by busy stores; the four modest schools of that time have blossomed into seven or eight, each one of which might have accommodated our entire school population of fifty years ago.

Where there were large areas bare of trees I now see well grown oaks, maples — all arboreal varieties; what were then apparently full grown have become soaring giants. Fifty years can bring great changes in the appearance of a city.

Summit's population can be said without vainglory to be of exceptional quality. We are told that its percentage of college graduates is higher than in any other city in the United States. Summit had special attractions to bring to it this kind of people. It has been a clean and healthy city, with vigorous civic organizations to keep it so. From the beginning its schools have been outstanding. Its cultural interests have not been neglected. Music, art, literary activities have always had zealous supporters.

Fifty years ago a fine (for that time) new library had recently been opened, a gift of Andrew Carnegie. It was ample for Summit's needs at that time, though entirely inadequate for a city three times as large. Its YMCA had also been lately built and was an example of the city's progress.

In its progress through the years Summit has seemed to lag in one respect. It has never had, nor has there ever been a suggestion of acquiring a museum—a place where young and old may see, systematically arranged, objects of interest not ordinarily available. In the course of my travel I have collected (Continued on Page 7) venson. This was one of the big reasons why President Ike was able to win two impressive victories in the state. And because in both 1957 and 1958, exactly the opposite happened, Democratic candidates Meyer and Williams were able to chalk up victories.

Results of a survey completed within the last ten days throws light on what is happening on the swinging front today.

Highlight of these findings is that for every two Republicans who today say they would vote for Kennedy, there are three Democrats who say they would vote for Nixon. At the same time, Vice President Nixon has a majority—although a very bare one—of the Independents in his camp.

When a cross section of registered voters were asked the following question by trained, experienced New Jersey Poll staff reporters, using the wolf-pack anonymity interviewing technique which guarantees the person talked to that his name and address cannot be ascertained:

"Suppose the Presidential elections were being held today. Which candidate would you like to see win, the Democratic candidate Kennedy or the Republican candidate Nixon?"

Here's what registered Republicans told New Jersey Poll reporters in face to face interviews:

REGISTERED GOP ONLY
(34% of eligible vote today)
Nixon 90%
Kennedy 10

And here's the way rank and file Democrats answered the same question:

REGISTERED DEMOCRATS
(39% of eligible vote today)
Nixon 15%

Kennedy 85
Important, too, is that at the present time, somewhat more Independents across the state say they would vote for Nixon than for Kennedy.

REGISTERED INDEPENDENTS
(27% of eligible vote today)
Nixon 52%
Kennedy 47%
Undecided 1

An interesting sidelight in today's findings, is that in both 1952 and 1956, President Ike took the state's Independents in sizable margins. Democrats Meyer did the same in 1957. And in 1958, the Independents divided exactly down the middle and the Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate Harrison A. Williams won.

The fact that there are more Democrats in the state today than Republicans makes for such a close race in the state this year.

lected many such objects which should have a wider appreciation than is possible when in my cabinets. I would like to make these available to the public if there were a place where they could be seen.

Many years ago I tried to make these available to the public by placing them in the public library. The president of the trustees of the Public Library at the time told me the library would welcome the collection and I accordingly presented it to the library. It was never put on display, for the very adequate reason that there was no space for it. Months later I learned that the collection lay in the basement of one of our homes and thought it advisable to retrieve it before it was completely lost. Subsequently one of my sons took the collection to the Pacific Coast. He loaned it for a time to a museum in the city where he lived and I was told that it aroused unusual interest.

It has occurred to me that a museum in Summit was waiting only for someone to start it. I have therefore arranged for the creation, at my death, of a trust fund which will eventually be used for such a purpose. I am writing this letter in the belief that there may be others equally interested in Summit's having a museum who would make a similar provision for making it a reality.

Wednesday Night...September 28th the Plainfields will present

"HERE'S LOOKING AT YOU"

The Nation's First Community Wide Fashion Show!

Wednesday night, September 28, something wonderful is happening in The Plainfields — as our merchants and local organizations unite to present A FABULOUS FASHION SHOW at the PARAMOUNT THEATRE in colorful acts and scenes, a complete reflection of all this fall's beautiful and thrilling new fashions for women, juniors, teens and tots will be shown on lovely "models" chosen from among your own friends and neighbors!

What's new in THE MASCULINE WORLD will be modeled by members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce!

On display also will be a fascinating world of new DECORATOR FASHIONS FOR THE HOME, in charming vignettes arranged by your home town merchants!

Between-the-acts ENTERTAINMENT will feature the talented members of the Young Theatre Dance Group and the Sweet Adelines!

You'll socialize with your friends at an intermission break, when complimentary punch and hors d'oeuvres will be served courtesy of the Park Hotel!

THE PLACE: Paramount Theatre. The Time: 8 p.m.

ADMISSION: $1.00 — Proceeds to be donated to charitable causes sponsored by the participating local organizations.

TICKETS ARE ON SALE NOW at your favorite stores (all stores displaying the FASHION SHOWCASE POSTER) — or they may be obtained through members of the Monday Afternoon Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

OUR SEATING CAPACITY is only 1,100; please get your tickets promptly so you will not be disappointed at the box office. This will be a night to remember — don't miss it and bring the family!

Summit Federal Holding Open House On Saturday at New Heights Office

Summit Federal Savings & Loan Association will open its new Berkeley Heights office at 441 Springfield avenue this Saturday. Residents of the area have been invited to attend the opening, which will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., to inspect the new Colonial-style building.

Souvenirs for all visitors, plus a choice of gifts for those who open new savings accounts or add to their present accounts in the Berkeley Heights office, will be available.

The new building marks a milestone for Summit Federal, which is Summit's oldest savings and loan institution. The company first opened a branch office in Berkeley Heights four years ago at 389 Springfield avenue. During that time the Association has grown with the community, making it necessary to relocate in larger quarters.

The new building, styled in traditional Williamsburg Colonial, offers the area modern thrift facilities especially designed for Summit Federal. A large, first floor banking area provides ample space for all services, such as savings accounts, home mortgages, travelers' checks, Christmas clubs, etc. Unique wood-paneled counters and customer desk were especially designed for the new office. The building is completely air-conditioned.

Another feature is a drive-in window for the convenience of customers. The drive-in facilities are roofed so that customers will be unaffected by bad weather. Ample parking area has been provided surrounding the new building.

According to Henry F. Glowka, Summit Federal's executive vice president, the new building is "dedicated to providing the utmost in efficient, convenient and helpful banking service to Berkeley Heights and the Passaic Valley communities. The new drive-in window will give really rapid service for those transacting business from their automobiles."

Founded in 1891, Summit Federal Savings is the oldest savings institution in the Summit Area. Its assets have grown from a modest $5,000 to nearly $9 million, and throughout its seven decades of service it has never missed paying a dividend. Savers now receive dividends four times a year, current rate 3 1/2 per cent per annum. Chartered and supervised by the United States Government, Summit Federal Savings features insurance of accounts up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation of Washington, D. C. Services include: mortgage loans, refinancing mortgage loans, free money orders for savers, travelers' checks, Christmas Club, and facilities for the payment of Public Service bills.

The new office was designed by Daniel C. Washington of Chatham Township. Richard E. Badgley of New Providence was in charge of general construction and Salvatore Del Duca of Berkeley Heights in charge of excavation, masonry and grading. Landscaping and paving is being done by A. Corradi & Son of Summit.

The Berkeley Heights advisory board of Summit Federal consists of James R. Morris, A. F. Bahlke, Mr. Badgley, Mr. Washington, Mr. DelDuca and Mr. Glowka, Carl S. Hulett and Frank H. Pratt representing the board of directors.

Arthur Clapp is manager of the branch office and is assisted by Mrs. Anthony Gargiulo.

School Music Head to Address County Group

Daniel Kautzman, music department chairman of the city's schools, will speak to Essex County Teachers Saturday at a professional improvement conference to be held at Millburn High School. Mr. Kautzman has been guest conductor of County Chorus in Ocean and Somerset Counties and of the All-State Chorus. Last year, he was an instructor in a course at the YWCA adult education program.

NEW LOOK IN BERKELEY HEIGHTS—Above is the new Berkeley Heights branch office of Summit Federal Savings & Loan Association which will have its formal opening this Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Located at 441 Springfield avenue, the Colonial-style building offers the Passaic Valley communities the most modern in banking facilities, including a drive-in window. The building also is completely air-conditioned. Summit Federal, Summit's oldest savings and loan institution, opened its Berkeley Heights branch four years ago in rented quarters but rapid growth necessitated the construction of larger offices. Souvenirs will be given to all visitors during the open house on Saturday.

Funds are being accepted now at the Summit Area chapter at 695 Springfield avenue to aid in the rehabilitation program.

Area Red Cross Alerted During Recent Storm

The Summit Area Red Cross Chapter during hurricane Donna last week made several inquiries to nearby stricken communities concerning need for help.

With the expectation of even greater force from Donna here, the Summit chapter was alerted in the early morning in preparation for extensive action. However, American Red Cross chapters along the 50-mile wide hurricane path operated 720 shelters to feed and house over 60,000 people. Many case workers, building advisors and nurses have been deployed throughout Florida and North Carolina areas to assist chapters in helping disaster victims with inadequate resources to repair homes and answer medical needs. Twenty thousand units of gamma globulin alone was sent by air by the Red Cross to help prevent a threatened outbreak of hepatitis caused by Donna's floods.

Funds are being accepted now at the Summit Area chapter at 695 Springfield avenue to aid in the rehabilitation program.

ice is offered to every person over 35 years of age who is not already under the care of a physician for an eye condition. Many diseases of the eye are remediable if found in time. There are also other diseases of the body which reveal themselves through symptoms in the eyes."

Arlington National Cemetery, established during the Civil War, will be filled by 1970 if the present average of 90 burials a week continues, the Army Quartermaster General's Office reports. It is studying methods to make more efficient use of the cemetery's 420 acres and may gain space by closing some walks and roadways.

Local Woman Faces Hearing For Assault
Miss Carmen Helie, 27, of 103 New England avenue will be arraigned today at East Orange on two charges of assault and battery and another for resisting arrest. She was released in $1,000 bail following her arrest by East Orange police last Wednesday.
Miss Helie was arrested at South Harrison and Main streets early Wednesday afternoon after an East Orange policeman noticed her chasing another woman, Miss Veronica Hayes of East Orange.
The policeman, Robert Heller, said he was scratched on the face, neck and back when he attempted to apprehend Miss Helie and had to summon the aid of other policemen in order to subdue her. Miss Hayes filed the second assault charge against Miss Helie, but did not explain the reason for the attack.

Don't Fall for "Referral" Sales, Chamber Warns
Mr. Crane, this seemingly beneficent overture is the initial step in the "referral selling" scheme. Instead of getting something-for-nothing, victims find themselves committed by contract to pay for some article they did not plan to buy and perhaps could ill afford. The text of Crane's warning follows:
"For some time, a sales scheme has been sweeping the country which has victimized a great many gullible people. Known as 'referral selling' this scheme exploits the desire to get 'something-for-nothing.' In essence, here is how it works: A friend or neighbor who is already participating, asks you if you would like to find out how you can get a new vacuum cleaner, garbage disposal unit, five extinguishers, or even an automobile, without cost. If you bite on this tempting bait, your friend sets up an interview for a salesman who will come to your home to sell you all about it.
"In the case of the car, the salesman gives a long and convincing story about the advertising cost involved in the usual method of selling. He explains that if such costs can be eliminated by having one friend, or neighbor, recommend another, as much as $200 can be paid to individuals who will advertise their car. For every friend or neighbor recommended who 'qualifies,' the participant will receive $200. In addition, for everyone the friend or neighbor gets who 'qualifies,' the participant is promised an additional $200.
"When the prospect's appetite is thoroughly whetted for a shiny new car, the salesman explains that to 'qualify' an order must be placed for a car and some papers must be signed. High-pressure selling is then used to convince the prospect that the payments he will get for referring friends and neighbors to the salesman will more than meet the payments on the car as they fall due. Actually, the victim who falls for this pie-in-the-sky sales scheme is committed by contract to buy—often at an inflated price, and the contract is binding irrespective of any income secured from referrals.
"Since this scheme involves an endless chain, it is obvious that prospects for referrals soon are exhausted. The something-for-nothing sales pitch develops into the usual monthly payments. This scheme has been condemned as unsound by the National Better Business Bureau with which the Chamber of Commerce is affiliated. The United States Post Office Department has stated that it is in conflict with the postal lottery and fraud laws. Most, if not all states prohibit lotteries, except where authorized by statute. Consumers can avoid entrapment into such forms of 'gimmick' selling, by buying from reliable dealers."

Controlled Bathroom Comfort
AT THE TURN OF A SWITCH
Flick a switch and a chilly bathroom is cozy. Set a dial—steam and odor are whisked outside. That controlled bathroom comfort can be yours economically with a modern electric heating unit and ventilating unit.

NEW ELECTRIC HEATER
A compact electric heating unit warms up the bathroom fast on winter mornings. Heat spreads evenly over the room. The snap action thermostat gives precision temperature control.

MODERN ELECTRIC EXHAUST FAN
An exhaust fan gets rid of steam and odor quickly. There's no need for drafty open windows. A moisture-proof electric ventilating unit stops moisture damage to paint and plaster.

TIMER WALL SWITCH
For precision comfort control just set the timer wall switch for any time from a minute to an hour. The timer switch turns the unit off automatically.

Electric heating units and ventilating units are easy to install in walls or ceilings. Because exhaust fans are powerful, low-cost compact ductwork is all that's needed. Some fans need no ductwork! Units are recessed. They can't interfere with decor.

See how easy it is to have controlled comfort in your bathroom. Send a postcard today for our free fact-filled booklet. Address it to "Bathroom Heating and Ventilating," JCP&L-NJP&L, Madison Avenue at Punch Bowl Road, Morristown, New Jersey.

Local Golfer Shoots Hole-in-One at Lyons

Anthony Caporaso of 34 Orchard street, recreation specialist and writer associated with the Veteran's Administration, Lyons, fired a hole-in-one Wednesday at the Valley View Golf Club, the second of his career. He has been teaching golf since 1946 at the Russo-Coskey Golf Course, U. S. Veteran's Hospital, Lyons.

Playing with him were Patrick M. Renzulli, president of the Modern Barber Shop and John R. Sanfelice, civil engineer of New York City. Mr. Caporaso shot a 74 for the round, Mr. Sanfelice 86 and Mr. Renzulli 96. His initial "ace" occurred at Galloping Hill ten years ago.

The word "maelstrom" came into the English language as the name of a celebrated whirlpool off Norway, the vortex of which once was said to suck in all ships within a wide radius.

Life Insurance Fee Hidden in Many Auto Sales

According to a study released this week by the National Better Business Bureau, more than half of those buying automobiles on the installment contract plan buy credit life insurance without knowing it at the time of purchase.

This is brought about, according to Kenneth B. Willson, president of the Bureau, because many time payment contracts do not itemize the various cost elements, including the cost of insurance and the coverage provided. In many instances, according to this study, credit life insurance was added to the purchase cost without the knowledge or consent of car buyers.

Sponsored by the committee on installment contracts of the Association of Better Business Bureaus, the study report recognized the social and economic value of credit life insurance when properly sold. It noted that in 1959, the families of deceased debtors were paid $118,000,000 in credit life insurance and that many finance factors sell credit life insurance at approximate cost with full and separate disclosure of credit life insurance premiums charged.

Complaints concerning the non-disclosure of the sale of credit life insurance led to a nationwide study to determine its prevalence. The study brought out that the time payment automobile buyer was not only sold credit life insurance without knowing it, but was often charged an excessive rate.

Although the Better Business Bureaus do not venture to say what the price of insurance or anything else should be, the report noted that the National Association of Insurance Commissioners — state officials charged with protecting the public in its insurance purchasing — had recommended that premium rates for credit life coverage, which do not result in at least a 50 per cent loss ratio, should be regarded as excessive and halted by state statute.

Thus, the report concluded, "the abuse of failing to disclose, at the time of sale, that credit life insurance was being sold, was compounded, in some instances, by premiums deemed excessive by regulatory officials responsible for protecting the public in its purchase of insurance."

"These twin abuses in the sale of credit life insurance emphasize the need for disclosing, through separate itemizations and specific charges, that credit life insurance is included in a time purchase contract, when such is the case."

Mrs. Dwyer Gets Rocky's Vow to Study Drink Law

Union County's teen-age drinking problem moved toward a possible solution this week as Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer got a promise from New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller to give early attention to raising New York's 18-year-old age limit.

Mrs. Dwyer also revealed that New York State citizens are rallying behind her fight to obtain revision of the law.

County teen-agers can now cross to Staten Island and legally obtain liquor if they are 18 or over. Several major accidents in recent years in New Jersey and other states bordering New York have involved teen-agers returning from New York after drinking parties.

Mrs. Dwyer reported that she had talked with Rockefeller concerning the problem and that the Governor had agreed to a joint meeting on the subject. She said the Governor has instructed his aides to collect all available material on the subject.

A group of New York State citizens are also supporting the Congresswoman's campaign to raise the drinking age. Mrs. Dwyer reported that she had received a petition from New Rochelle citizens backing the higher age limit and urging her to continue her efforts. The New Jersey Congresswoman has long been a leader in the attempt of states bordering New York to get a 21 year age minimum for the purchase of alcoholic beverages in New York. In 1955, she won adoption in the New Jersey Legislature of a resolution seeking the change.

Mrs. Dwyer called the meeting with Governor Rockefeller "one of the biggest steps forward in our efforts to combat juvenile drinking. The support of citizens of New York State will be immensely helpful in this effort, and I feel certain that we will soon see a uniform 21 years of age law."

Chamber Music Guild to Give Dual Concerts

Two performances, one in the afternoon and one in the evening, will be given for each of three concerts to be presented this year by the Chamber Music Guild. The Guild, now in its third year, will give concerts on November 13, January 8 and April 9. The concerts will be held at 4 p.m. and repeated at 8 p.m.

The "Trout" quintet of Schubert will be the main offering at the first concert when the New York Chamber soloists will be the performing artists. Joseph Iodone will have the featured spot in January in an Elizabethan program with lute; and the last concert will return by popular demand, the New Art Wind Quintet.

The Chamber Music Guild inaugurated its Sunday musicals in the spring of 1958 "to provide stimulating musical experience by bringing to the neighborhood the finest of chamber ensembles and musicians; and to open the door to new musical pleasures by programming, along with more standard repertoire, beautiful but rarely heard masterworks written for unusual groupings of wind, brass and string."

"We present our music in an informal setting so that each one in the audience can feel himself intimately a part of the performance," said Mrs. John M. Mackie of the steering committee.

A second innovation will be student memberships for the afternoon concerts. For information regarding these and the regular subscriptions to the series, please call Mrs. Eugene Beyer, (DR 6-6219). Besides Mrs. Mackie and Mrs. Beyer, the advisory board this year includes Miss Lena Bossart, Mrs. Robert Donovan, Mrs. F. Shand Goucher, Mrs. Ray Hardin, Mrs. Henry Harding, Mrs. Ralph Plumley, and Mrs. Richard Schmidt.

Three-Way Tie Develops in Heights League

Crestview Bakery, Berkeley Pharmacy and Berkeley Bakery are deadlocked in a 3-way tie for first place in the Berkeley Heights Women's Bowling League as a result of games rolled September 12 at Berkeley Recreation Lanes. Pushing the top spot contenders are Seritella News and Della Builders, tied for second place. In last week's matches Seritella took two from Richland with Ida Seritella's 485 pacing the victors. Shirley Caporaso with a 500 was tops for the losers. Crestview took all three games from David's Electrical with Shirley Houck rolling a 512 for the winners. Muriel DeSalvo's 440 was best for David's. Another sweep was scored by Berkeley Pharmacy over Dogwood Lane Developers with Lili Reiman scoring a 436 for her three games. Virginia Mischo's 397 paced the losers. Della Builders took two from Della Liquors. Mary Della's 425 sparked the winners while Gen Barter's 425 was tops for the loser. Berkeley Bakery swept Kresge-Summit. Clara Yannatta rolled a high 378 for the akers and Jo Klaus's 374 was best for Kresge.

Heights Gridders High in Spirit as Season Opens

Berkeley Heights' first grid team will make its debut this Saturday against Parsippany, the first opponent on an 8-game schedule. Hopes are high at the brand-new Gov. Livingston Regional High, alma mater of the Heights' eleven but the club has a tough season ahead. The team, however, makes up in enthusiasm for what it lacks in experience. Under the tutelage of Coach Al Brown, former Ithaca (N.Y.) grid star and until this year coach at Curwensville (Pa.) High School where he turned out top teams almost every season of his seven-year stay, the Heights' warriors have built a club around four transfers from Regional High. Only one, however, Walt Rice, won his letter at Regional. Coach Brown looks for good performances from his three other veterans, Ken Hamilton, a 175-pound senior who shapes up well in the backfield. Another senior and a transfer from the Regional team, is Bill Woolston, also a backfield candidate. Showing speed and accurate passing is Frank Fish, a junior who is also at home on the defensive. Mel Flint, another junior, fills out the backfield. Sure to see plenty of action on Saturday are Bob Bogosian, a tackle, and Ron Caliguari. Tony Rinaldi has been showing ability as a line smasher and Ken Stanton and John Carvelas are contenders for center. Brown has groomed his boys in a modified winged-T and several of the squad have shown alertness in this attack. Among them are Walt Hnot, a tackle, Frank Fish, Len Seaman, Al Thies, Bill Mangert and John DelDuca. DelDuca shapes well as a guard, despite his lack of height. Tom Foster and Bill Meritz have been showing up well at tackle. Rounding out the coaching staff with Brown are Mike Suchena, former Regional coach, Boyd Sands and Chris Wade. As an Allstate Agent, he's a specialist at taking the red tape and high cost out of insurance. Why don't you call him? CR. 7-0529

Education Takes No Back Seat Here

Education, which plays an important role in the development of society, has never taken a back seat in Summit. As the city grew, so did educational facilities. Today, with a High School, a Junior High, an elementary school and further expansion of present facilities anticipated, Summit ranks high on the list of good educational systems.

With 185 teachers and many more employed in other capacities, Summit has assumed a man-sized job in the teaching of some 4,000 city school children. And without a doubt, Summit has performed the job well.

However, before good teaching can be accomplished, there must be a central agency whose job it is to see that proper teaching techniques are carried out and that adequate facilities are constantly maintained. Such a responsibility falls to the Board of Education. The Board of Education's prime function is to enforce educational requirements and to prepare a budget to meet payrolls, maintenance costs, purchase of new books and supplies. The Board of School Estimate holds a hearing on the Board of Education's proposed budget and if it approves, submits it to the Common Council for concurrence.

Both the Board of Education and the Board of School Estimate are part of the municipal government, organized under Chapter Six of the State Law, and operate within the City's Charter.

The Board of Education consists of five members appointed by the Mayor for a term of five years with appointments appoint the Superintendent of Schools, secretary, business manager and other officers, agents and employees as needed and fix salaries and terms of employment. However, no employee, officer, agent or appointee can be a member of the Board of Education. All persons holding any secretarial or clerical position or any officer, "shall enjoy tenure of office at the expiration of a period of employment of three consecutive calendar years or after employment of three consecutive academic years.

PANEL SPEAKER—William T. Tilden, 3rd CAP, of 1 Essex road, will speak on a panel at the 73rd annual meeting of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants which will discuss improved working relationships among professional accountants in industry, education, government and private practice. Mr. Tilden, secretary-treasurer of the Chemway Corporation in Wayne, is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, and is currently serving on the Institute's committee on members in commerce and industry.

No claim or demand for money can be paid unless it is authorized by law and the rules of the Board, and is fully itemized, nor unless the amount required to pay has been previously appropriated by the Board.

Meetings of the Board of Education are called by the secretary on the third Tuesday of each month and are held at the Board of Education on Maple street.

Members of the Board are Leroy G. Baum, president, Brockway McMillen, Robert A. DeVilliss, Harvey Mole and Ralph H. Sayre, Jr. Superintendent of Schools is Robert V.S. Reed. W. S. Eddy is Secretary of the Board of Education and Business Manager.

JOINS LOCAL FIRM—Charles Curtis Edwards of Beech Spring drive, has been appointed sales manager of H. G. Edwards and Co., aluminum products, 24 Franklin place. Mr. Edwards is a graduate of Summit High School and attended William and Mary College and Georgetown University. He was a member of Theta Delta Chi. Mr. Edwards served three years in the Marine Corps with marine aviation. He was formerly with Melpar, Inc., an electronics firm at Falls Church, Va. (Frantz Photo)

Common Council.
By law, no amount in excess of 1 1/2 per cent of the valuation of assessed tax rates as determined by the Union-County Board of Taxation can be appropriated for school use except with the consent and concurrence of the council.

Additional Funds
In the event that the Board of Education has underestimated the amount needed to operate the city's schools and finds it necessary to raise additional funds, the Board then prepares and delivers to each member of the Board of School Estimate a statement of the amount estimated to be necessary.

The Board of School Estimate is then required to meet within a reasonable amount of time after receiving the statement and then determine the amount necessary. Following that decision, the Board forwards one certificate of the new amount necessary to the Board of Education and another to the Common Council. Upon the receipt of the certificate of the Board of School Estimate, the Common Council then appropriates the sum and raises the moneys in the manner prescribed by law.

When the Board of Education decides it is necessary to raise money for the purchase or improvement of lands for school purposes or for a site for the construction or enlarging of school building, it must prepare a statement and deliver a copy to each member of the Board of School Estimate, who bers. The same majority ruling holds true for the determination of the school term, course of study and selection of textbooks.

After the close of each school year in June, the Board is required to print and publish a report of the condition of the public schools under its charge, of all the property under its control and an itemized account of the expenditures of the Board and of the finances of the district.

Can Sue, Be Sued
As a corporation, the Board can sue as well as be sued. It can purchase, hold, lease, receive and sell property, real and personal and take or condemn land and other property for school purposes in a manner provided by law.

For any supplies needed and exceeding $500 to purchase, the Board is required to advertise. Textbooks and kindergarten supplies may be purchased without advertisements. No contract for repairs of more than $1,000 can be authorized by the Board without first advertising.

Board of School Estimate
The Board of School Estimate consists of two members from and appointed by the Board of Education, two members from and appointed by the Common Council and the Mayor. Appointments are made annually during January. Whenever a vacancy occurs, an appointment is made immediately by the body which originally appointed the member. The Secretary of the Board of Education is also secretary of the Board of School Estimate, but receives no compensation for the latter position.

On or before February 1 of each year, the Board of Education prepares and delivers to each member of the Board of School Estimate a budget for the ensuing school year. In it must be included the amounts of money estimated to be necessary for current expenses of and for repairing and furnishing the public schools for the ensuing year. The budget must also include where anticipated appropriations will go and for what purposes. The amount of surplus available at the beginning of the school year, and the amount of money apportioned to the district by the County Superintendent, and authorized by law to be used to meet expenses, must also be included in the yearly school budget.

this time so that residents could study the measure following summer vacation.

In other matters, Council passed a resolution revising plans which now show a 25-foot radius at the intersection of Beverly road and Canoe Brook parkway to provide an actual radius of between 19 and 21 feet to permit the curb to connect to the catch basin at its present location.

According to the resolution, if within five years from the time Beverly road is accepted by the city ad Canoe Brook parkway should be widened to 40-feet, John Nordahl and E. R.

Under terms of the bill, no police officer could be appointed after July 1, 1961 who had not completed a specified police training course. The law also prescribes standards for police training schools and provides for continuous study of training methods.

The purpose of the pending legislation, according to Council, new appointees after graduation from a police training school would be trained to meet the "exacting" requirements demanded by the general public.

The bill, Council added, was in keeping with practices and procedures now followed and advocated by the local Police Department.

Council also granted permission to the Chamber of Commerce to hold an annual Christmas program starting on November 12. M. E. Gilgallon was appointed a special police officer, while the appointment of Mrs. E. Ruerup was rescinded because of resignation.

A taxi driver's license was granted Ollie Clark of Vaux Hall.

In addition, Council received a letter from the Chamber of Commerce expressing "appreciation" for deferring passage of the Kent Place boulevard one-way ordinance until the October 4 meeting.

STATEMENT REQUIRED BY THE ACT OF AUGUST 24, 1912 AS AMENDED BY THE ACTS OF MARCH 3, 1933, JULY 2, 1946 AND JUNE 11, 1960 (74 STAT. 288) SHOWING THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT AND CIRCULATION OF THE SUMMIT HERALD, PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT SUMMIT, N. J. FOR SEPT. 22, 1960.

John Taylor, Western Union Executive, Dies

John R. Taylor of 66 New England avenue, eastern division operations manager for Western Union Telegraph Co., died Tuesday at Overlook Hospital after a brief illness. He was 56.

Mr. Taylor was born at Arkport, N.Y. He had lived here for the last five years. He was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and joined Western Union in 1928. In 1955 he was named assistant general manager of the eastern division and in 1957 was appointed division manager. He was a member of Baltusrol Golf Club.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eugenia W. Taylor, and a brother, Leland, of Towson, Md.

The funeral service will be held today at 2 p.m. at the Brough Funeral Home, 535 Springfield avenue, conducted by Rev. Clarence Davison of Central Presbyterian Church. Burial will be at Clarksburg, West Va.

Boro Approves School Addition By 768 to 464

New Providence — Borough voters approved a $900,000 bond issue for the construction of an elementary school in the west end Tuesday night, 768 to 464. With 4100 voters eligible to vote Tuesday, 1232 showed up at the polls.

Lincoln School poll results were 355, yes and 215, no; and New Providence High School poll results were 413, yes and 249, no for a total of 1232 votes. Following the announcement of the victory for the new school at the Council meeting, Councilman John Clay commented, "It is a shame so few people turn out to vote when an increase in taxes is at stake."

"When they don't turn out, it means they're satisfied," retorted Councilman Lawrence Mezzacca. "If I am against something, believe me, I get out and vote 'No!'"

September, 1960, found New Providence with a 20% increase in student enrollment compared to the traditional 12%. Based on the 12% increase, the school system will be short 400 to 485 seats in September, 1962.

None.

4. Paragraphs 2 and 3 include, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting; also the statements in the two paragraphs show the full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner.

fashion forecast

There is a silhouette to please everyone among the many wonderfully wearable fashions for fall. Soft fluid lines, textured fabrics, and vibrant colors characterize the collections. There is an easing of the waistline, although its natural location is clearly defined. A few designers have ignored it entirely, but most indicate a slightly lowered line by using hip bands or low placed pleats. Bodices are fitted, bloused, or elongated in a gracefully fitted torso. Many are bias cut. Skirt lengths, whether slim, moderately full, flared, or pleated, hang straight and slightly below the knee. A slightly lowered hemline seems indicated for the future. Sleeves are cut loosely, ending just above or below the elbow; the sleeveless trend continues into fall for dresses worn under jackets. Daytime dresses, often collarless, are accented with scarves, cowl draping, fur trims, and jewelry. Coats feature princess shaping in front and capelike, bias, or triangular fullness in back. Suit jackets vary from belted tunics, bolero lengths and boxed jackets over wide pleated skirts, to nine-tenths coats. Lavish use of precious furs worked in unusual ways, brilliant jewelry, and opulent creations for evening in brocades, metallics, velvets, and beaded fabrics, presage a glamorous social season.

Men's wear features five basic styles—American Natural, American Ambassador, American Continental, classic Ivy, and the new Trans-American. Vested suits are returning; top coats are a little shorter; new are sports vests—either matching or contrasting, and slacks that match leisure jackets. Of special interest is the trend to British styling—particularly in fabrics and accessories.

SUMMIT HERALD, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1960

TRIO THEME... high top-turban of luxurious white, black, and cerulean mink... a packable surprise. From the John Frederick's "Posh" collection.

Height, Width Accented in Hats For Fall

Bulky-crowned "ballistic" domes, skyscraper toques, deep-fitting helmets, high-riding turbans and over-sized, exaggerated cloches dominate the fall and winter 1960 scene.

High and wide hats handsomely complement the easy lines of fall fashions. Cloche shapes stress height, while toques and pillboxes put the accent on width.

All are designed to fit the head at about ear level, leaving plenty of hair-do-protecting space between head and hat lines.

Cloche hats come in a diversity of styles, from simple bubble and stovepipe shapes to squared, tiered and side-draped models. Some have softly manipulated crowns. Toques are rounded, in some cases curving into a dome shape.

Flatter the Face

Brims, narrow to wider, curve upward to reveal and flatter the face. Though cloches may be worn slightly toward the back of the head, the lift of the brims gives a show of forward movement. The brimless toques and pillboxes are designed, in most cases, for a level-on-the-head pose.

Clear, well-defined outlines lead, rivaled by tiers, swirls and pleats to develop a draped effect.

Width and height themes continue in such hat shapes as the basket, bonnet and coolie. In the casual hat category, manly tailored styles make an impression. Soft, slouchy cloches have a place here, as do Tyrolean hats with indented crowns, brims turned up in back.

Creating Bulky Look

Bulky look for fall hats is achieved without a heavy-on-the-head feeling. Lightness results from the use of napped materials. Felts imitate an all-ather look. Long-haired beavers, soleils and velours are in evidence with a new interest in mohair.

Suede-finished fur felts, clipped beavers, soleils and some velours show a sleek, rather than plushy, surface.

Fashion-wide interest in fur is reflected in numerous fur and fake-fur hats. Here, long-haired furs such as fox further the bulky look. Man-made copies continue to do a better and better job of looking like real fur.

On the festive side, dressier hats are created of such materials as satin, veiling and velvet, sparked by brocade. Feather trim or completely composed hats for afternoon and evening.

Little hats come into their own for evening, although even the hats are bigger this season. Beret and pixie shapes, and ribbon and veiling combinations are seen among gala hats.

Furs are treated like fabric—their workmanship makes them completely packable. Combined in trilogy colors, jet black broadtail, leopard, fox, jewel-tone beaver and nutria, opulent satin and mink, are shaped into turbans, cloches, berets, and toques.

High puffy turbans of satin and net glinting with tiny jewels, swirls of glycerined feathers and giant maline flowers, and jewelled tiaras indicate a major trend to hat or headress to complete the evening costume.

In accordance with general fashion trends, hat colors cover the rainbow. Here as everywhere, tones of purple are special news, from pale lilacs to deeper shades. Fall foliage hues—green, gold, red—are in evidence, and blue tones play a part.

Basic shades include always-popular black, a variety of browns, beiges, whites and off-whites and graphite grays.

Luxurious Mood Prevails in Autumn Fashions Many Silhouettes, Lavish Furs, Rich Fabrics

Fashion aims not to startle or shock but to pamper, flatter and please, with its fall '60 array of appealing, becoming wearables. No radical changes in style take place—the focus is all on helping every woman look her prettiest.

In each of a great variety of silhouettes, there's more femininity, and in every price range, there's more emphasis on quality of fabric, tailoring, trim.

A feeling of luxury dominates. Fur and fur facsimiles enhance coats, dresses, suits and sportswear. The glow of sequins, beads and gold threads lights up the late-day-into-evening scene.

Fabrics, whether lustrous, textured or smooth surfaced quietly insist on elegance. Colors glow richly—"jewel tones" and "vintage hues" are frequently mentioned. Though silhouettes vary, they unite in a preference for the more fluid line. Bodices and jackets blouse gently. Waistlines often are marked by easy, self-fabric belts. Skirts ripple with pleats, flare prettily, fall in soft gathers.

Some of the shapes fashion takes are: the long torso, with lowered waistline, and echoing this, the longer-jacket suit; the tunic, slim or flared; and the pleasingly feminine princess.

Trend to more bountiful skirts continues, especially for festive dressing, while the sheath, though remaining slim, relaxes into easier lines. A touch of draping distinguishes many shirtwaist types.

Shape Impressive Coats Simple fluid lines and fuller skirts call for impressive coats. Cape shaping is a strong influence, most often seen in coats with cape backs and flat or semi-fitted fronts. Others follow with a modified barrel line.

Following the new rule of fashion diversity, coat choice includes slim styles with top width, fitted styles, princess and long torso models. Diversity within a wardrobe is provided by an important number of reversible coats.

With the lavish use of fur and the late-day glitter of bead and sequin embroidery, designers have wisely kept other details modest. An instance is the treatment of collars.

Collars Vanish Often, they vanish entirely, giving way to jewel necklaces or soft combines with the no-collar look, as a circle of fur is placed away from a high and rounded neckline.

Scarf ties, plain and fringed,

SHADES OF AMETHYST in a light-weight imported wool make this striking dress, with Travilla's signature for 1960 seen in the criss-cross detail that continues into a three-quarter tunic flared just enough to give emphasis to a slender skirt. CANADIAN WHITE FOX in a three tier cape stole. Luxurious and flattering wrap from the collection of FURS BY KARNAS, Springfield Avenue, Summit.

are favorites—either as an integral part of the dress or jacket or as a detachable addition.

Costumes Flourish Sleeves, too, are less flamboyant, slimming down from last season's styles. The easy tunic, however, retains its importance as a sleeve shape.

Costumery not only continues but increases its scope. Suits appear in three parts—jacket, skirt, blouse, and sometimes weskits make a fourth. Overblouses, scarf tied at the hem, pair with jacket linings, in Dress and jacket costumes earn fashion dividends from morn to midnight and after.

Festive Scene Will Sparkle

Dresses for occasions, afternoon to evening, succumb to the influence of glitter and glamor. Gleaming sequins, bugle beads, crystals lavishly embroidered satins, brocades, velvets. Metallic fabrics shine on their own.

A prime example is the sleek, long evening sheath sparkling with all-over bugle bead embroidery. Ball gowns appear in floor-sweeping brocades, or ethereal tulle-and-sequin combinations.

The two-piece-look evening dress is an important entrant, uniting a glittering "sweater" top with rippling chiffon skirt.

Short formals come with flounced hemlines and lengthened bodices, or with fitted bodices and wide, stiffened skirts.

Evening coat and dress ensembles compete for attention, solids and superlative prints.

ORIENTAL FLOWER necklace of gold crystals and lustre pearls and matching "Wing-back" earrings, designed by Judith McCann. Blossoms cover clasp which hooks between any two beads to give choice of length and new design. Available at Lord and Taylor, Millburn Avenue, Millburn.

DRAMATIC SCARVES Collarless necklines, prevalent this fall, gives scarves a chance to play a big role. Fur, fake fur and fabric all are utilized for scarves with dramatic possibilities.

Fabric scarves, varied in width and length, can be tied many different ways — on the shoulder, or in a gypsy knot, for example.

Leopard and other spotted effects, paisleys, abstract art forms are scarf prints.

The Candidates' Wives Mrs. Nixon Mrs. Kennedy

Pat Nixon, a slender, willowy ash blonde with grey eyes, is the antithesis of Mrs. Kennedy in her clothes, thinking and shopping, but like Mrs. Kennedy achieves a result of young, fashion-aware good looks and scrupulous grooming.

Having studied home economics and worked as a stylist before her marriage, she is intensely interested in getting performance and value from her wardrobe investment. A careful clothes investor, she says that she "haunts the clearance sales," often buying classic clothes for a year ahead and putting them away.

A perfect size 10, Mrs. Nixon seldom buys a custom made dress. Her long experience in public life with her husband has made her cautious of any clothes which might "wear her" unwieldy silhouettes, muffling collars, big shadowy hats. She likes skirts that are wide enough to gracefully climb steps or enter official automobiles and that she can arrange over the knees on platforms. She likes jackets dresses because they are adaptable to varied occasions and climates during the frequent travels with her husband.

She likes small prints for the same reason—packability and the fresh appearance they maintain.

She prefers long, full evening dresses with covered tops or long stoles, and likes romantic colors, embroidery or beading. Her evening clothes have been made by Sarmi or Elizabeth Arden. Other favorite designers are Harvey Berin, Adele Simpson, Branell, Pauline Trigere, Fira Benenson, Jane Derby, and Philip Hulitar.

Mrs. Kennedy

Mrs. John F. Kennedy, the former Jacqueline Bouvier, is a beautiful young titan brunette with enormous brown eyes. Well-educated and the product of a cultivated background, she is noted for her youthful elegance and discriminating taste in clothes and home decoration. She dresses modestly, with a constant awareness of the newest trends. She likes the loose, rounded silhouette as originated by Balenciag and Givenchy in Paris, Galanos and Seacsi in America. She almost never wears black or even dark colors, preferring pale beige, pastels and red. She owns a handsome dark mink coat, however, worked horizontally and in the barrel shape of current fashion.

Always meticulously groomed, she pays particular attention to her shining, smoothly bouffant hair, having it done by Kenneth of Lilly Dache. When in New York she goes to Kenneth several times a week. She is the "town clothes" type, loving suits with chunky jackets; her sport clothes are more apt to be blue jeans than dressy sort.

SONDHEIM Herbert Sondheim says the way to look at his fall collection is to start with skirts and move up to necklines. The swingaway skirt, flaring from the hips, and the fan-flair skirt, with a flounce-like break from below the hips, appears in fabrics from sheer wools to dark silks, brocades, and velvets. Necklines are flattering. The low "bandstand" collar, standing out around the neck, the "necklace" collar of white mink, and the "crossover" neckline are especially attractive.

Fall Fabrics Include Cottons, Knits, Blends, Airy Woolens

Fabrics have aristocratic ideas for fall. Woolens, silks, the man-made wonder fibers and cottons excel in quality, presenting a distinctive, distinguished appearance. Elegant woolens impress the eye with dimensional textures and airy weaves, often enriched by mohair loops or slubs. Last season's success with worsted ottoman stimulates the liking for ribbed and corded weaves, with many herringbones and twills added. Rich-looking gabardines make a strong showing, especially in smartly tailored dresses. Knits are everywhere, and in every texture—brushed, homespun, lacy, smooth and languid. Others reflect the look of fall's handsome rustic tweeds. Dressy woolens include pebbly crepes and sheer, eye-

Color Palette Stresses Purple

Colors in fashion stress the purple palette, with color names that appeal to the palate. Served up is a fruit-and-wine menu, including purple-influenced reds; plums, mulberry, raspberry, grape, burgundy, claret. Another good-enough-to-eat purple hue is eggplant. Or, for those who would rather feast their eyes on flowers, there are fashionable lilacs, violets and purple-pink azaleas. Edibly named or not, the purples usually have their heyday in the spring, and they look particularly refreshing in this fall appearance. Spring-like, too, is the imposing number of pale beige and off-whites. It's all part of a new approach to color. After the recent interest in muted, smoky hues, fashion now trends to either deeper and richer or lighter and brighter colors. Purple is closely followed by red, from appetizing strawberry and cherry to vintage wine hues. Blues are intense, and greens have more character, moving away from the "no-color" look. Perhaps the most colorful variety is seen in coats and "dress up" dresses. Here, the fashion hues take their names from something for the jewel box rather than something for the table—gold, coral, amethyst, emerald, turquoise, topaz, to mention just some of the leaders. Aristocratic grays—slate, for example—and many browns join the beiges and whites among the important neutrals. The browns particularly seem headed for an unusually active season, in a range of hues that includes such fashion-appetite tempters as spice, cocoa, coffee. And, of course, fall wouldn't be fall without plenty of black. It's new looking paired with brown, in distinctive plaids, and distinguished when partnered with fur—and busy in fashion by day or evening. Plaids, both darkened and brightened, stripes and checks join the fall color news.

AN R & K ORIGINAL of great flattery is this little black twilight-crepe dress, discreetly jeweled at the belt. Peek-a-boo slits accent the bateau neckline and graceful deep-set sleeves make hips willowy slim by contrast. At Kresge-Newark-Summit.

ORIGINALA Full coats, oversize collars, and huge pockets are highlights of this varied line that always stays in character. Star of the Originala collection is a new fabric, "chinchilla fleece," cloudweight, warm, and thick piled. Colors are vivid, silhouettes sharply defined. Sleeves tend to be briefer, particularly in the dressier designs. Coats are often bound with silk, satin, wool braid—some with passementerie buttons as highlights.

TRIGERE Free movement is the keynote of Pauline Trigere's collection—every costume has fullness somewhere, sometimes merely the soft expansion of a sleeve or the widening of a skirt into a godet flare. The pea-jacket suit has a long jacket with an equally long narrow overblouse. Culottes Among New Fall Themes

Every season, sportswear becomes more diverse, and occupies a more and more important place in the feminine wardrobe. This fall's no exception.

Established favorites — separates, blouses, sweaters, skirts, car coats, pants, knits — cover the whole range of fashion in styles and colors. New entrants appear — culottes and knickers, for example.

The long-line overblouse makes its influence felt. There are a variety of lengths, and the wrist-length tunic gains prominence. Supple is the rule, with tie belts for many models. The overblouses top skirts that show more ease and fullness. Flares, gathers, bias cuts create a pretty, feminine effect. Impact of the overblouse is seen in knitted dresses. There are many two-piece knits which make effective use of the long overblouse or tunic.

Sweaters, too, reflect the overblouse influence with long lines and tie belts. However, the sweater story doesn't stop there. Longer sweaters are news — and so are shorter, cropped sweaters. Bulky shaggy sweaters; smoothly knitted sweaters with dressmaker details; sweaters with jacquard, paisley, plaid and other patterns; almost-classic sweaters and evening-elegant sweaters share the limelight.

Car coats and jackets take part in the fashion fervor for fur, with trims, linings, hoods of fur or fur-look pile fabrics. Furry pile composes many short coats and jackets.

JACQUARD BEADS, gold beads alternate in many strands, joined by gilt chains and bars, to form a distinctive necklace, with matching rings.

Leather Fashions Created For Around the Clock Wear

Nature's own bright splash of color is reflected in the new leather apparel fashions for daytime, casual, and evening wear this fall.

There are glove-soft cowhide, cabretta, kidskin, coltskin, suede and calf leathers in bright rusts, vivid reds, soft blues and greens, and a whole range of more subtle neutrals such as greige, tan, beige, bone and white.

These are seen in smartly tailored tunic suits, or skirts teamed with three-quarter length jackets richly lined in a complementary hue or paisley print.

neutral suede colors and sooty charcoals, as well as golden browns. It is also seen in easily draped smooth leathers.

Leather teams with cashmere, tweed and knit for warm wear in the brisk days ahead. New two-piece suits feature leather jackets with skirts of tweed or knit. Often the jacket carries through the fabric motif, with the leather shown in the back of the jacket and repeated on the fabric yoke, and collar and cuffs.

For dressy occasions, there are short leather dressmaker jackets with fur collars, to wear with evening sheaths. Teamed with silver fox, many dressmaker jackets are interpreted in softest kid or antelope leather.

Sleeve Lengths Stress Gloves

Because of abbreviated sleeves, the hands are accentuated in this season's fashion portrait. Here, beautiful gloves have an unequalled opportunity for display, and glove-makers have answered the need admirably.

Short gloves are still in evidence, while new four and five button lengths comfortably cover the wrist, and eight to eight-inch button gloves amply compensate the shortened sleeve.

Many gloves are lined as well, for additional warmth. Miracle fibers or silk insulate slender city gloves without adding bulk. Wool knit linings often reveal stripes, check or paisley patterns as a bonus style feature, and fur linings accompany gloves for both town and country sportswear.

Versatile, lined leathers, warm and washable, tailored or trimmed, come in a kaleidoscope of colors. Knitted wool or fur blend gloves dress up fashions in shaggy town fabrics or tweeds, and travel with country casuals just as easily.

Stretchable gloves are available in every fabric leather and knit.

Fall Silks Reflect Mood of Luxury, Opulence New Emphasis on Weave, Texture, and Color

Uninhibited elegance and emphasis upon bold new experiments in weave, texture and color characterize the silk story for fall 1960 presented recently by the International Silk Association.

Fall silks reflect a mood of luxury, adventure, excitement, and discovery, expressed by abstract prints in the deep, luminous colors of medieval manuscripts; the tendril-like lines, stained glass colors and stylized flowers of the rediscovered "art nouveau" movement; the gleam and rarity of historic precious jewels, in dazzling new colors like amethyst, carnelian and tourmaline.

Silks this season merge muted browns with blues, taupe with lapis lazuli; greens, blues, and browns are blackened or shot with metallic threads which give them a "steely" look.

For contrast, moss green velvet is combined with vibrant turquoise silk chiffon; bright colors shimmer under darker ones; and there are "strata" combinations in three tones of the same color—all revealing silk's deep, dark, and medieval moods.

Silks which reflect the Baroque and Medieval periods are heavily encrusted with gold or silver in rich "bas relief" brocades, damasks, antique satins, brocatelles and velvets, often combined with gossamer chiffons in muted garnet, aubergine or midnight blue.

"Big evening" dresses are both regal and rich, with jewel-encrusted gold lace combined with brown velvet; arabesque-woven blue and gold brocade combined with navy velvet; and there are slim long evening dresses in metallic brocades worn with voluminous capes or stoles in mauve or lilac velvet. There is a short evening costume in violet and vermilion "tapestry" woven silk—the dress with the square Infanta skirt and long Basque bodice of the Velasquez period.

In the Spanish manner are such silks as a flame red chiffon dress with a scalloped hemline of black Spanish lace and a beige faille anklelength tunic dress trimmed with black passementerie braid above a black velvet underskirt.

Langorous, drifting silks are seen in a long-sleeved dinner dress in bright green chiffon veiled in black, and in magenta and shocking pink chiffon culottes joined by an unexpected flash of orange which creates a cummerbund.

Soft, pliable silk jersey with a new "graininess" creates fluid draped daytime dresses in black or taupe; as well as long Grecian-draped evening dresses in royal purple or white. A short black dress in silk jersey has one shoulder bare and diagonal bands which pull the drapery together.

In a gayer, more buoyant mood are such silks as an airy silk satin with a pleated under-tunic dress in glossy red ribbed silk satin with a pleated undershirt; a cerise silk damask flounce hemline dress; a long torso theatre costume in magenta floral embossed antique silk satin; and a group of black daytime dresses with fresh new silhouettes emphasizing bloused tops and lowered waistlines above flaring, bias-cut skirts.

Scintillating silks are seen in luxurious evening dresses and coats that glitter with beads, paillettes, jewels and sequins, set on gleaming jeweled satins and sheer marquises or chiffons.

In this mood of heightened luxury and opulent fabrics worth a king's ransom are a "flowered armor" evening cos-

PURPLE VELVET TURBAN by Sally Victor, with softly draped dome crown that exemplifies fall trend to height and width in hats.

Trimmings Chic

Many daytime dresses have a Spanish air stressed particularly by the use of braids, tassels, passementerie, and satin pipings.

Satin bands shape midriffs, outline bodices and pipe collarless necklines. Knit trimmings appear at necklines, accent waistlines and spark dress bodices.

Fur collars and cuffs are dramatic touches to the sveltest of daytime dresses. Large novelty buttons in trios, particularly, are often used for trims on starkly simple dresses.

Although the look of the season's trimmings are elegant, their use is simple and most restrained.

BELTED IN FUR
Fur belts are fashion favorites—with the accent on spots.

COSTUME PAIRINGS

New costume looks pairs hip-length jackets and dresses with bias, semi-circular, pleated or straight skirts.

Shock color combinations in prints and solids make a fresh approach to the costume suit with its own blouse or weskit. There's less emphasis on perfect matching and harmonizing.

Sportswear in Jersey, Pile-lined Denim, Wool Plaids and Culottes are Favorite Fashions

B. H. WRAGGE presents a one piece dress with a two piece look. Top is long torso wool jersey with small collared V-neck and three-quarter cuffed sleeves. Bottom is herringbone wool permanently wide-pleated. In brown and white or black and white, $16. Available at Jane Smith, Westfield.

HIGHLIGHTS IN WOOL JERSEY by McArthur . . . smartly styled and accented with gleaming brass buttons. Sheath with pegged skirt in red, and two piece, belted and peplumed, in red or black. At Lillian O'Grady, Summit, Westfield, and Far Hills.

MORE FASHION PERSONALITY for the costume is expressed here, by a three-quarter coat, matching easy overblouse, and slender skirt. Coat and overblouse are in a brilliant blue, green and black British woolen giant plaid, while the skirt is black. By Arthur Jablow.

PRACTICAL DENIM makes this fashion ensemble for campus, after-ski-wear, or just plain weekending, designed by Ulla. Jacket is pile lined; slim trousers complete the costume. At Country Cousin, Millburn avenue, Millburn.

Dresses Appeal With Easy Air

Styles are diversified, lines are fluid in fall dress silhouettes. Long torso looks, princess lines, two piece dresses lead the news.

Enhancing easy lines are rich colors, elegant fabrics and trims—satin bands, knit trimmings, borders of braid and tassels, and most important of all, touches — or heaps — of fur.

Ways to the long torso effect range from styles with waists elongated an inch below the normal waistline, to the longer tunic. Two pieces expression of this look pairs a long overblouse with a slim skirt.

Blousy bodices over slim skirts are another distinguishing attribute of fall dresses; however, movement is generally in the direction of more skirt ease and fullness. Bias cuts, pleats, deep gathers, dirndls and out-and-out bouffants add to the look of fluidity.

Curved seams highlight the princess silhouette. Usually, such dresses define the bodice, then flare gently.

To carry out the easy-going theme, necklines often develop into graceful cowls, while soft draping shapes many collars and midriffs. Simple, collarless necklines are in great favor, and there are tie collars of all sorts.

Loosely sashed, as opposed to tightly cinched, is the predominant trend for waistlines, whether normal or lowered. Hip-circling belts share low-torso attention.

For more fluidity, sleeves are generally loosely cut, set-in or all-in-one, sometimes with underarm fullness.

ACCENTING COSTUMES collars are just a few of the Headbands, flower shapes, ways fur and fake fur are used to accent fall costumes.

Handbag Hues, Unusual Details Making News

Colors to keynote costumes, novel sizes, interesting shapes and unusual detailing constitute the fashion news in fall handbags.

Rich autumnal shades in smooth, grained or suede leather handbags provide color counterpoint for neutral or understated costume colors. Muted plaids, checks or solids can be set off with a bright red, deep blue, rich green or earth brown bag in hand or swinging from the shoulder.

Pouches, totes, boxes, envelopes and tailored bags add fashion frosting to the new coat and suit silhouettes.

Knitted tunic separates, seen in beiges, grays and tans, can change their fashion personality with a change of handbag. A cylindrical oblong box bag in grained cocoa brown leather gives a tailored look to a tunic suit for business wear.

The same tunic-and-skirt takes on a festive late-day early-evening elegance with a change of accessories. A deep red shirred suede pouch purse, with matching leather gloves, can accomplish the mood magic.

For fall's perennials — suits and coats in checks and plaids — tote bags of calfskin in bone white, charcoal sand or greige serve as a smart understatement.

CALLING THE CULOTTES Culotte skirts and dresses are becoming and practical for active little girls. There are many versions, among them woollen tartan plaids.

Many Nominees For Suit Roster

Numerous candidates, all with good fashion records, appear on the roster of fall suits. Lengthened jackets, pleated and flared skirts, overblouse accompaniments, and fur get the nomination of many designers, but it's anticipated that the popularity poll will also accord a vote of confidence to strictly-tailored classics, young-looking short jackets and slim skirts.

Demi-fit prevails in jackets of every length, with easy lines that nevertheless follow the curves. Sometimes there's blousing, cinched in by a belt. Lengths start with the cropped little jacket and continue through waist, hip-top and wrist levels.

Tunic and coat-length topplings for skirts art an important category.

As in every phase of fashion, fur and the fur-look hold the limelight. Suit jackets are collared and or lined in just about every imaginable fur or copy of fur. Fur weasels or overblouses make warm additions to the winter suit.

When jackets are not fur-collared, they're often collarless—in the belief that it's good politics to be able to dress up a suit with scarves or jewelry.

Soft ties shape pretty necklines, and tie-sashes belt overblouses and long-line jackets. Mid-arm length, funnel width often characterize sleeves.

Skirts: resigned for attractive fluidity in motion, take to pleats, flares, bias cut and soft gathers.

Suit fabrics have an air of refinement. Brushed surfaces, ribbing, plaids and checks win attention. Colors offer pleasant surprises — among them, fall gold, red, vintage wine hues, violet, plum, blue and taupe.

favorite, but there are now more advocates for versatility and individuality, as designers entice the fur-seeker with furs from every part of the world.

For fun and excitement, there is the spotted look in ocelot, leopard, cheetah and jaguar from Africa and Mexico —and for a dramatic geometrical change, the stripes of the tiger and the civet cat.

Furs that give the fluffy, bulky look are found in Australian opossum, foxes from the United States and Canada, and Saga Norwegian blue fox.

For the sleek, slimming look, there are South American otter dyed beige or natural brown; Southwest African Persian lamb, dyed in a variety of shades or in rare, beautiful natural white; and the United States' own Alaska fur seal.

For evening and for glamor, chinchilla, sable and fitch appear in garments and trim.

Fifty Years Ago: A Look at Fall Fashions, 1910

It's always a lot of fun to look through illustrated books, and check through fashion magazines of days gone by.

Or, to look at the old family album and giggle over the bustles, big hats and high shoes that grandma may have worn? So, let's take a look and picture the fashions of fifty years ago—fall fashions, 1910!

was just departing from the scene as a new era of elegance and sophistication began.

The dress silhouette was changing; dresses were very slim; just above the ankle; often had their fullness brought to the front and draped or crossed.

Ensembles were important... dresses were elaborate and had elaborate coats to match.

The simple tailored suit was often bound with silk braid and was set off by a blouse with deep ruffled front.

1910 introduced what was known as the dressmaker suit, elaborately tailored to "look like a dress."

Coats with lavish fur linings came into their own; the favored fur for lining at that time was squirrel.

Shortly thereafter, fur began to swirl about hemlines, cascade down tuxedo fronts and generally, appear everywhere. The large fox fur muff, worn with a single fox stole or scarf came into its own—and ponyskins, lynx and black caracul were fur fashion leaders.

Hats became smaller and the "toque" became a favorite.

Women were still bathing beauties in heavy blue serge, with long stockings, big caps and other cumbersome accessories.

And—the average woman was spending about $50 to $60 for her complete wardrobe.

DAVIDOW

Davidow coats and suits continue to follow the natural silhouette. Necklines tend to be wider and softened, hiplines, even on full skirts, are smooth.

Jackets range from bolero to hip length. Details include wide braid pipings; decorative pockets and buttons, demi-belts, and petal motifs. Skirts continue to stress ease of walking, cut with gores, kick pleats, or box pleats.

FRINGE ON THE TOP trim sets off mated skirt and top in muted plaid—Available at Younger Set, Millburn avenue, Millburn.

CAPE SHAPING is coat news and so is plaid—here, in amethyst tweed with face-framing collar, double-breasted closing.

FLORELL

In Florell's collection, hats, furs, and coiffures are made for each other. Nothing stands alone—the coat has a dress, the dress has a jacket, the fur jacket has a skirt in matching fur. Dress color is matched to coat lining, fur cuffs to fur hat.

Fabrics are chosen for their graceful natural fall, bias cut suit jackets are loosely belted. All skirts, even fur, have front softness.

Florell calls many of his hats roulettes—in spiral cut or drapery, spin upward to create height... berets-ray out from a small disk on top... three-tiered pill boxes and turbans flash in several contrasting colors. Fur hats tower or are deeply swaggar.

Gay Accessories Lend Color to Fashion Scene

Since dress, coat, and suit silhouettes are generally simple and often unadorned, this should be a great season for accessories.

Scarves, worn tucked in a neckline or tied at the throat; stoles, to wear in contrast over a suit, or little jackets to create a suit look, will add variety to the season's wardrobe.

Fur is everywhere—in belts, scarves, handbags, collars, hats, and even gloves.

Belts are soft—in leather, fabrics, and furs. Some are designed for double duty as scarves. Width ranges from string type to cummerbund.

Handbags follow the soft theme too, with pleats, and shirring used in pouch, box, and satchel silhouettes. The shoulder strap is also seen again.

PRETEND FUR can be as exciting as the real thing... especially in a high-styled hat fashion such as this. Fibers combine for a mink-look, in any of the favored fur shades.

Hats, with cloches and toques top favorites, appear in feather, fur, felt, and other fabrics.

Gloves are in all lengths and quite often meet the sleeve, no matter how far up the arm. Lacy knit gloves look well with some fabrics and with leathers.

Tailored jewelry in both bold and delicate designs complements simple woolen day dresses. Artificial flowers are worn with fur.

OPEN THURSDAY NIGHTS

Shoes are the focus of fashion this fall — their role to climax the long silhouette. Shoes are slimmer than ever, and here a device is employed. The long, narrow toe is simply an extension of the shoe, built on after the wearer's toes have been accommodated. In other words, it is an illusion, and can be achieved by every woman.

The National Shoe Institute in noting shoe fashion trends for fall and winter emphasizes the importance of texture, heel height, and the long fluid line.

Opulent fabrics and two-dimensional contrasts in texture enrich the fashion scene. The inherent simplicity of the newly elongated shoe shapes invites some of the most sumptuous materials within memory.

Texture and color contrasts are more important than ever. Bright colors will be greyed, antiqued or browned to subtle smoky shades. Browns will have new impact, from palomino to oak in the gold range and from tobacco to date brown in the greened or reddened tones. Where a single shade unifies the slim lines of fall styles, texture contrasts add new depth. Calf is combined with lizard, silk with leopard, suede with kid. In this year of texture the reptiles and furs are in the forefront of fashion. There are combinations of brandy lizard with river otter, or black pony skin with black alligator. Fur, used alone, is a new favorite for bared cocktail and evening styles.

Sometimes texture appears as a soft, hand-rubbed wood grain in a smooth leather. Surprise texture effects are achieved by gold mesh insets on the vamps of impeccably tailored glove leather pumps. Tapestry effects are raised in a contour may effect, highlighting bright area and shadowing deep tones.

The elongated toe, vital to the shape of fashion, has been treated in a number of ways. Fine hand stitching, tiny tear-drop cutouts, rolled toplines, overlays, a single button low at the throat, all use the power of understatement to point to the classically simple toe shape. Or the toe may be dramatized with stand-up collars in filigree patterns, high-placed buckles, vertical circles, or the shock of gold mesh banding a vamp of velvet soft suede.

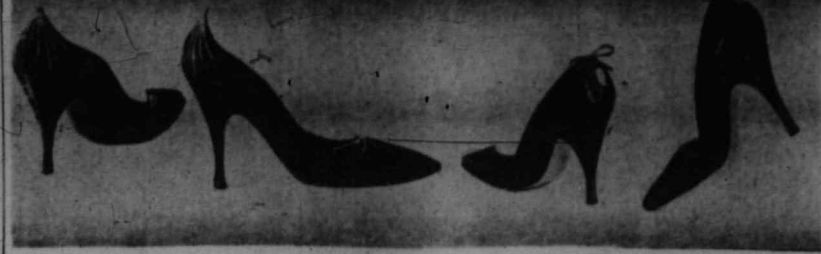

With elegance of fabric, texture and line the keynote of the fall story, heels have literally risen to the fashion occasion. As toes have elongated, heels have soared for an overall balance of silhouette. The highest are gently rounded or squared where they meet the body of the shoe, in an echo of the long, fluid shaping, the feeling of movement, that runs throughout fall collections.

The stacked heel, after its first tentative trips to town, has been shaped into all heights. The color gradations in its layers of wood or leather provide effective contrast to shoes of kid, suede, and reptile in all shades and, surprisingly, in satin.

Evening shoes this season have heels embroidered at the backs in gold, silver or jewel tones, heels of silk contrasting with the color of the shoes, heels that are jeweled, sparkled, beaded. Quarters, too, have their share of French "follow me" excitement. Some have swirl or geometric cut-outs. Others are stitched, perforated, or embroidered.

Summer's opened look will share in the fashion honors for walking as well as evening shoes. Here, free and easy bareness is translated into lattice-work cutouts on shank or vamp, cantilevered straps extending from bared heel to closed toe, open backs embraced by wide straps that buckle at the side.

The unlined shoe, the boot shape, gentle glove leathers, the British accent of neat laces and buckles, all pervade the entire shoe fashion picture. Footwear with soft, unlined construction is still found in smart walk shoes that rise a comfortable two inches low, and in boots and casual styles, but the news here is in its first-time use in high heeled, slender toed designs for important evening hours. The secret: supple leathers treated to keep their shape without the persuasion of a lining.

Casuals may borrow the high riser lines of men's styles. These demi-boots have below ankle toplines that are cuffed, stitched, elasticized or fringed. True boots may be ankle high or higher, sometimes rising on stacked heels for a trip to the city, and incorporating the same slender look, the same fine detailing, of out-of-town types.

The decorative trend is toward integration with the shape of the shoe. It is as though designers are reluctant to interfere with their silhouettes. Where there are bows or buckles they are necessary to the overall line. Where there are laces they dip low at the side for an asymmetrical effect or emphasize the depth of a plunging neckline. Cut-outs, perforations and stitchings enhance the slender shape. The soft dressmaker detailings of pleated overlays, tucked vamps and delicate off-side ruching are incorporated into the shape of the shoe.

CULOTTES GAIN
Culottes, combining the ease of pants with the grace of skirts, gain fall fashion importance in dresses, sportswear and lingerie.

CROPPING THE COATS
Length as well as styling is varied in fall coats. Nine-tenths length, showing just a bit of the dress or skirt beneath, is frequently seen, especially in costume coats with their own dresses or suits. Other coats stop at three-quarter and seven-eighths lengths.

New Styles Meet Mood of Subteen

A subteen's moods are many, and fall fashion caters to all. For her more casual moods is a look that might be called "dramatically relaxed," highlighted by long and shaggy sweaters, black knits and the duffel coat. On the other side are styles that aid her in her wish for a more dressed-up, adult air.

The fashion sophistication liked by the growing up girl is provided by the new long-torso look. Tunics grow in prestige on dresses, coats, suits and sportswear. Blouses and sweaters come in tunic lengths, sashed at the waist.

A leading silhouette is the unpressed pleated full skirt with jacket. Important, too, for subteens are eased, slim skirts, now appearing with tucked waists, and flared and pleated styles. Pleats are many; accordion, tunnel, box, unpressed.

Plaids, pile and prints of all sorts seem headed for a busy season. The plaids — many in brighter hues — and prints, with special favor for the old-fashioned look, show up everywhere.

Fur-look piles compose coats, line them and trim them. And the fun fashions in pile and shaggy textured fabrics are plentiful, including pants, jackets, vests. Texture-y knits abet the shaggy look.

For subteens who practically live in separates, fall's lot of versatile tops and bottoms includes the long shaggy sweater over tapered pants, blouson tops, easy-to-wash little suits, culottes and jumpers.

Casual coats trend to the three-quarter length, with the duffel coat in the lead.

piece dresses, too. Tunics continue summer sleevelessness, as tops that reveal a long-sleeved blouse or sweater beneath.

Bulky sweaters, dressy sweaters. Longer sweaters illustrate the fashion trend to lowered waistlines. Bulky knits and shaggy textures are effective. For dressier occasions are smooth knits with pretty details.

Skirts in motion. Even the slimmest skirts are easier, and some styles are really bountiful. There are dirndls, hip-stitched pleats, bias-cut bold plaids, other types with soft fullness. Popular cropped jacket tops many. Slender skirts with dropped waistbands match up with longer jackets.

Culottes and knickers. Culottes or divided skirts come in all lengths—full length, street length, and above the knee. The shortest compete with bermudas for attention. Knickers, often in plaid, are a fun fashion joining the ranks of the many casual pants styles.

Hoods and belts. Hoods top off blouses, sweaters, jackets, coats—including the always popular car coat. Belts mark normal or lowered waistlines—spaghetti strings for sweaters and blouses, wider belts for dresses and skirts. Newest looking belt idea is the sash or robe-like tie.

Cover-up look for dresses. High, jewel necklines and bracelet length sleeves mark many day and date dresses. Dress and jacket costumes combine covered-up look with bared necklines. Attractive prints and velveteen are two effective evening ideas.

Coats with dash. Fun fillips for young coats include bold plaids, knit trims, cape shapes and cape collars, pile linings. Fur-facsimile touches dress up even the most basic of coat styles.

Knits, in dresses and costumes. Easier lines, lowered waistlines and textures are the news here. Bubbly matelasses and tweed effects move ahead.

SKIRTS MOVE
Skirts ease up for fall, with more fluidity for even the slimmest styles, and many in motion with pleats, flares, gathers, bias cuts.

ALL-IN-ONE WARDROBE OF SEPARATES meets many fashion needs. Components are a slim skirt, double-breasted vest, sporty jacket, slacks and shorts. All are of American wool in topaz gold.

Old Fashioned Look Continues In Clothing for Little Girls

It's another big year of a continuing old-fashioned "quaint" look in girls' clothing for fall.

Revived is 1912 styling with lowered waists. Many fashions how Amish and Pennsylvania Dutch influences, and peasant prints play up Bavarian themes. Moreover, shaggy fabric surfaces and bulky sweaters carry out the rustic look.

Old-time trimmings—such as heavy lace, dickrass, braid, eye let, multiple buttons, ribbons, embroidery, quilted fabrics, flared cuffs, along with aprons and pinafores, bring off the best in a girl—a fashionably endearing femininity.

Lower Waistlines
The young set, too, has been influenced by the trend to lower waistlines, often achieved by an overblouse, jacket or longer sweater. In more "grown-up"

FOR A TRIP TO THE ZOO, and many special occasions, lads look smart in Continental-influenced suits, coordinates. Young man at the left wears a glen plaid Continental suit, his companion a Continental-styled jacket and slacks.

WEATHER PROTECTION and fashion combine in hooded pile jacket and pants for little girls.

PLAIDS AND PILE bid for fall popularity in girls' outerwear jacket, slacks. Lining, trim is "Orlon" pile; the fabric, "Orlon" and rayon.

Little Girls Love Cotton Fashions

"Sugar and spice and everything nice . . ." the familiar theme song of all little girls was never more appropriate than is for fall of 1960, reports the National Cotton Council . . . and the very nicest way to look this season is in cotton.

Quaint, dainty and spicy are the latest young fashions in velveteen, corduroy and cotton prints and plaids for back to school and dress-up.

The Alpine and Bavarian look predominates this season and jumpers and pinafores are the chic way to make an appearance. These range from solid velveteen through tapestry printed corduroy and cotton plaids and prints and are worn over a wide variety of embroidery trimmed blouses and dresses—and often with matching bolero jackets. Colors here lean definitely toward the darker tones, with black, red wine, deepened blues and off-beat greens predominating.

For the casual group, slacks and Capris worn with matching overblouses, pullovers and smocks are most popular in solid, striped and paisley printed corduroy. Here again—braid, lace or embroidery are used as trims on the solid outfits, in the Alpine manner.

READY FOR RAIN
Rain ensembles match short coats and skirts. Fur or pile trims and linings and cape shaping are significant.

Boot Styles in Casual Flats Popular Fashion for Teenager

Boots are moving up and down again in teenage fashions this fall — moving up in popularity, and moving down below the ankle to give a boot look to the newest casual flats, reports Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

The teenager finds a great variety of colors in brushed and smooth leather boots, with some boot styles also featuring grained leather. Deep and golden browns, olive greens, graphite grays, bright reds and yellows attract the teenage eye.

Smartly styled boots feature side closings that may vary from small strap clasps through huge buckles on wide straps to buttoned effects. Some boot-styled casuals show gored throatlines that rise high over the vamp.

Flat heels and higher vamp and topline create the boot look. Soft leather uppers and thin, flexible leather soles give these beauties a light, lithe look and a "walking on air" feeling afoot.

Toes continue to point in a high fashion direction to give shoe-boots and other dress and casual styles versatile personality. Shell and bal casuals, featuring softer detailing and an understated look, point the toe, and even squared-off moc-

Children's Shoes Boon to Mother

Drama in fall footwear extends to children's styles, newly slim, light in weight, faultlessly neat and tailored. Trimmings, following the dictates of fashion, are integrated into the shape of the shoe.

Chukka boots in a new completely waterproof leather that sheds water like a duck, yet remains glove-soft, are not only a boy's best friend but a boon to mothers as well, reports Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

They are styled for play or dresswear and are at home in the classroom or on the playground. No bulky overshoes are needed to protect young feet from rain, sleet or snow.

Reverse seam patterns, moccasin toes, swirls, and heart and diamond wing tips trim shoes for boys.

For girls there are cut-outs, overlays, lacings. Decorative flaps dip to the side, ornaments move upward to the collar where they complement both the shape and the color of the shoe. Patch saddles, especially in easy-to-care-for nylon velvet, will be a new favorite.

OVER-THE-ANKLE smooth leather boots bid for favor with teen girls. Suggested by Shoe Fashion Service, Leather Industries of America.

DEAREST SHOE in her wardrobe because it goes so well with everything. With a strap that is very much in step with fashion, "Bambi" comes in popular colors. At the Summit Shoe Shop, Springfield Avenue, Summit.

Men's Suits Offer Wide Range of Choice Trend to British Styling Gains Momentum

Five big-name performers head the cast in the men's style story for Fall 1960 and, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, it's the first time that as many as five basic styles have appeared in any single season, all at one time.

New to the cast and beginning to perform like a seasoned trouper is the Trans-American model—a crisp, handsome compromise between the American Continental, with its smart, sophisticated rounded coat fronts, and the conservative American Natural. The Trans-American's lines are straight, the fronts slightly rounded, the back is plain with no vent, the pockets double piped. Two and three-button models are available.

Trimmer than ever, the Continental flatters the American man with its slimming lines—handsomely traced waist, narrow lapels, tapered sleeves. Slim, too, are the trouser lines which carry a single pleat, angled pockets and no cuffs.

Continuing in high favor, the California-inspired American Ambassador presents its silhouette of long, tapered coat lines, its roomy athletic look.

The nation's all-time favorite, the front-running American Natural is showing some signs of Continental influence—but it's still the conservatively smart suit it always was.

American Ivy returns to its classic best this season, with such novelties of the past as flapped hip pockets and buckled back straps on trousers going into oblivion.

Smart shoppers will also note the growing trend toward wider use of vests, both matching and in contrasting colors.

All in all, this five-star season presents more action and greater variety than any autumn within recent memory. This goes for fibers and fabrics, colors and patterns, too. Suits have never before been so handsomely colored and attractively designed. Olive greens are strong this fall, solid or compounded in heathery mixes of blues, russets, yellows, grape and black.

Bolder patterns come to the fore in both glen plaids and checks, not just in suits but in sports jacket and slacks combinations also. These accents along with certain styling details may denote the beginning of more of an influence of things British. This trend may gather momentum.

The American Continental style is having wider impact on topcoats this fall. One result is new, shorter lengths, for greater comfort in walking and motoring. Another new detail shows up in full-peaked and semi-peaked lapels—in both single-breasted and double-breasted models. A casual note finds expression in the full sweep of the split raglan coat with angle-flap pockets. Conservatives will go for American Natural boxcoats with notched lapels and flapped pockets. And there is Ivy in topcoats, too, with the classic natural shoulder lines, fly front and raised seams. All make for an eye-winning variety of choice.

Tab collar broadcloths and button-down oxfords dominate the dress shirt scene for Fall 1960. Solid whites remain the leaders in popularity, but there is competition from solid blues and striped types.

Ties, like shirts, reflect the new suit style influences with their neat, tasteful patterns, their slimming lines. Foulards and reps in stripes or new motifs are available in rich autumn shades and color combinations that dazzle the eye.

Men's Neckwear Has Neat Look

Neatness is the dominating theme in neckwear for Fall 1960. Even in the relatively few prints around, such as in traditional foulards and geometrics, the accent is on neat appearance and clean, fresh design. In the challis types, a fashion-conscious man can find neat interpretations of large paisleys, many "conversations" and interesting Persian block patterns.

In stripes there are bright flashes of color and a revival of the "smoky" tones.

In the woven category, there are many textured effects, resulting from interesting jacquard treatments. There are also handsome under-the-knot accents and center panel effects.

Color news in the new sea-

Shirts Feature A Quiet Look

There is an elegance about men's shirts this fall that cannot be denied. In all ways, the direction is toward subtlety, restraint and good looks.

For example, because of the heavy emphasis on patterning in new fall shirts, the colors and designs in new shirts tend toward the conservative. Stripes, while heavily represented, are more widely spaced and in lighter colorings. Colors, generally, feature "a hint of tint"—in gold, maize, ivory, olive, taupe and a sprinkling of pink.

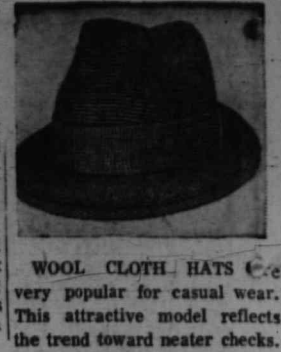

Collars, too, pick up the accent of elegance in such new and revived treatments as shorter button-downs and non-flare button-downs. The tab collar is extremely important and is featured this season in angled or cutaway tabs as well as blunt or rounded ends.

In cut-and-sewn sports shirts, traditional are treated to a variety of new colorings, prints and fancy touches—such as fly fronts, engineered panels, embroidered accents—in good taste.

Prints—big and small—are important, including batiks and heraldics. Other new weaves range from district ideas to madras-type plaids, as well as some new striped ideas. Fabrics indicate much more interest in textures. This is reflected in burlap-weave hopsacks, herringbone and hopsack weaves; oxfords in twill, and subtle-slubbed effects in cotton-plus blends.

Textures are also an important factor in new knit shirts. There are many dimensional treatments, some bulky-looking treatments, crocheted-looking stitching, etc. Classic ideas have been given a new look via new sweater colors.

WOOL CLOTH HATS are very popular for casual wear. This attractive model reflects the trend toward neater checks.

Slender Look in Men's Shoes English Influence Evident

There's a new high-light flashing across the men's wear fashion scene this fall. It's a higher cut, lightweight leather shoe for dress wear, reports Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

Generally tapered to a finer point, in keeping with the slim lines of this year's Ivy and American Continental suits, these shoes are available in dozens of different style interpretations in smooth, grained and even brushed leathers.

An extension of the "more shoe" look which has recently characterized American male footwear fashion, these new styles remain light as foot. Most often found as a slip-on, they use elastic gores to keep the shoe snugly on the foot. They are available in an extended range of blacks, browns and burnished olive. The greener tones and the combinations of black with brown complement fall's glen plaids, worsteds and tweeds.

The trend to slimmer silhouettes in men's shoes continues in three-eyelet dress bluchers, slip-ons and stylized wingtips. More pointed toes are seen in bluchers and bal oxfords this fall. Moccasin fronts, increasingly popular this year, also show tapered influences. In the main, though, moc-toe shoes remain fairly rounded or squared off.

In casual shoes, the slip-on is most often seen. Brushed and smooth leather shoes are most popular in casual styles, although a number of leisure type shoes are available in deeply etched grain leathers.

that features single-breasted and double-breasted models. In addition, hip-lengths and waist-long models abound.

As for fabrics, they range all the way from madras-plaid wools to cotton blends and corduroys. Watch for such outer garment luxury as fur-type pile shawl collars, pile and fur linings or linings in brilliant hues downy wool, bulk knit treatments, so called umbrella fronts and back yokes, floating shoulder details that make for easy arm motion, slant flap pockets and front fastenings in a superb variety.

Outerwear colors are for crisp and bright Fall days, too—olives and golds, russets and wines among them.

In sweaters there is no favorite like the old bulky knit favorite. Bulky knits are top liners this season, along with traditional cardigans and pull-overs with crew necks, V-necks, cross-over boat necks, turtle necks and many more. Cardigans, by the way, appear this season in six-button front models, with shawl collars.

There's a riot in sports shirts for Fall 1960—a happy riot to be sure. Bold colors, offbeat colors and mixtures of the two. Bold pattern treatments, too.

Among the popular weaves for the season are oxfords, heringbone and hopsacks, featured in solids and prints. Some have stitching that resembles sweater knits.

THE FASTIDIOUS DRESSER knows Tab collars are a must as part of his wardrobe. A complete selection of muted tones of olives, heather browns and sea blues are available at J. B. STONE, Ltd. of Summit.

Hats Trimmer Brims Narrow

The "top" story for Fall 1960 that masculine headwear has trim and tangy way about it. Contributing strongly to this is the fact that brims are again growing, having come down to 1 1/4 inches in the most extreme cases. Even when brims are closer to moderate widths, they have a small look thanks to deeply curled brims and tapered crowns.

A handsome expression of the trend in hats is the new "bowl" model which features slightly higher crown with a narrow crease, small brims, and a deep mushroom snap to the 1 1/4 inch brim. The finish is a close clipped silk-type.

Although the top-volume shades will still be steel grays and charcoal, there will be many fresh ideas—olives, golds, bronze, black and black-olives.

Casual and sports hats—tyroleans, cloth hats, casual crushers, tweeds—are getting more important each season. One factor here may very well be the fact that college men and young men in general are now wearing more hats, and they appear to favor cloth hats in plaids, checks, solids and tweedy fabrics, velour tyroleans, raw edge and welt full-weights, a wide variety of caps, as well as the new neat shapes for dressy wear.

Patterns Spark Fall Sportswear

Headlining new trends in sports and leisure wear for Fall 1960, casual jackets team up with matching trousers and vests, too, to make time-off a "dress right" affair.

Checks, plaids, houndstooth and a variety of other patterns traditional with leisurewear jackets are all pointed up in these new, three-piece ensembles that make their bow.

In combination with slacks or matching trousers, the season's sports jackets focus on two standout models—those with Continental features and others with natural shoulder and other familiar treatments.

Slacks are marked by fewer tricky tailoring details this Fall, but the consensus is they are the smarter for it. In fact, slacks are reflecting the same tasteful treatment you find in suit trousers right down to the subtler patterns and compound colors in business ensembles.

Slim-Legged Look

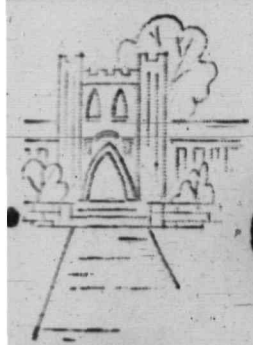

Making a big style dent in slacks is the Continental influence, which introduces dropped Western pockets and tunnel elastic self supporting waistband features. All are noteworthy for their slim-legged look. In addition to solids, look for them in glen plaids, checks and madras fabric designs.

The all-American male look comes into its own in the season's new outerwear that fairly shouts an invitation to get out and enjoy the tangy Fall air. The variety is fabulous. New longer lengths vie with three-quarter lengths in outerwear.

VESTED INTERESTS... The odd vest, as well as the vested suit, is gathering momentum. Root's - Summit predicts well groomed men will be collecting them like sweaters. Illustrated is a suede cloth vest, with leather buttons and four pockets.

Shorter Lengths in Topcoats Win Popular Vote This Fall

Over the last several seasons certain trends of a handsome, practical nature have been developed in men's topcoats. For fall 1960, these trends would appear to be getting even more solidly entrenched.

Among these trends the major one is the shorter lengths in topcoats.

The other features worth noting are that the double-breasted model—coming along steadily over the last two or three years—is getting still stronger; and that heavier weight fabrics seem to be getting a somewhat better play.

Very evident is a trend to big patterns and district checks in "style" goods. Top sellers remain medium to dark shades. In both single and double-breasted styles, set-in and split-raglan sleeves are widely shown. In the natural shoulder group of coats, the slightly fitted, modified chesterfield is tops, followed by British-type balmacaans with deep wing sleeves and the classic double-breasted British Warmers.

Also noteworthy is an especially dressy—dark treatment dubbed the "impresario look." Features to check here are the fur and fur-like collars, in ulster and shawl treatments, as well as others, a variety of pockets and rich fabrics.

Make sure the topcoat you buy fits correctly. Both suit collar and sleeves should be covered completely. Arm pits should be roomy enough for easy action and moveability, not tight or cutting. Check for matching of patterns, for good workmanship, for even stitching and for neatly fitted linings.

To make sure your topcoat looks its best, carry as little as possible in the pockets. Never hang a topcoat overnight or for any extended period, by the loop in the neck of a coat. It can stretch out of shape.

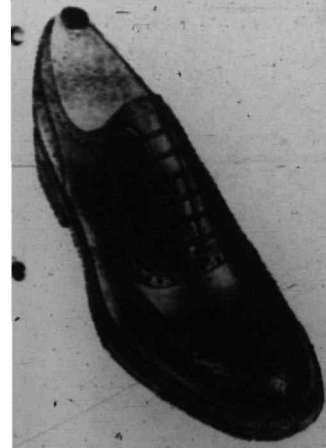

THE CLASSIC TOWN HAT with snapbrim and center crease is interpreted here, in a new silhouette with new smaller brim and lower crown.

Cape Shape With Width Coat Keynote

Voting for variety, fall coats elect to stand on a platform of attractive shaping, fabric distinction and color excitement. Fur trim is a landslide winner. Among the shapes to choose from, the wide coat is outstanding. Again, there's diversity in the ways width is achieved. Coats with cape backs and straight or shaped fronts and coats with dome backs keynote the wider silhouette. Others have shoulder flanges that create a cape-y effect, or bell shaping—sometimes belted.

Wrap and tie coats, narrow coats shaped with seaming to princess lines and long-torso coats with slim or dome skirts compete for favor. The fitted coat gets a number of ballots.

The animal kingdom contributes heavily to fashion's campaign for handsome coats. Mink, beaver, fox and spotted furs lead the parade, but virtually every fur gets on the bandwagon, including such novelty furs as hamster and civet.

Fur additions to coats don't stop with collars and cuffs. Hemline fur borders for slim or swirling skirted coats show a thirties influence. Fur lines many coats, frequently in reversible styles.

When it isn't fur, it's the fur look. Deep pile fabrics copy practically every animal, in complete coats as well as trims.

Surface interest, lead by ottoman, maintains its strong position in coat fabric news. There are nubby, fleecy, ribbed and raised surfaces. Deep velours, fur blends, wool chinchillas look luxurious.

Coat colors vary from light and bright to deepened and darkened. Plum, amethyst, brown, darkened gray and black are standard bearers. Plaids, stripes, checks are important,

SCAASI

Scassi's dramatic flair and bold design have established him as an individualist in the fashion world. In his fall collection for 1960, his delight in startling colors and color combinations is emphasized. Only five black dresses out of 100 designs were shown. Red is used constantly—with white in damask, with fuchsia in chiffon, with purple in tapestry cloth. Other colors used profusely are delft blue and turquoise, brilliant yellows, and a new shade called "golden peach."

The strata coat exemplifies Scassi's use of color—collar and top section in golden peach is seamed to a second tone of bright red, finally ending in a hem-line section of deep vermilion. Capes are important—shown as slim bell-shaped wraps over matching woollen dresses.

The Voltaire silhouette, appearing throughout the collection, has an elongated pointed bodice and puffed V-shaped hip bands, accentuating the smallness of the waist above the wide infant skirt. In direct contrast is the Pavanne silhouette—a small triangular skirt draped into front softness that falls from a higher waistline.

Lace is everywhere and is a perfect late day fabric for the woman who travels.

Paul Parnes agrees with the Lord Chesterfield maxim—flattering the most pleases the best. No one type of figure, length, or fit of jacket, or rule of composition is emphasized. On the contrary, designer Beni Claire is a stickler for uncountable variations — never frenzied and never commonplace — in suits, costumes, and dresses.

The easy but important

Parnes look is freshly pinpointed for Fall in the way a wide wool stole softly extends the shoulder of a jacket or dress. It's noticeable in the slight lowering of an occasional waistline by a narrow set-in belt, or low banding and pockets. Welt seaming for the yokes of some jackets, and mitered seaming for the front-fitted closings of others, lends sharp to shape. The well-known composed look of numerous new Parnes suits and costumes is emphasized by the pretty texture of a silk scarf, and more often, by button-in blouses or overblouses of warp printed silk taffeta, satin or crepe, a few, like their jackets, of torso length

TEAT AND CHIC, a flattering hair style based on a soft permant and careful tinting, suggested by Warren Hairdresser, Union place, Summit.

Fall Costume has Many Variations

For the woman who enjoys the versatility of a dress-and-sket, dress-and-coat, suit and blouse or suit and coat costume, all brings welcome news. Costumes are more numerous than ever, and they branch out in new style directions, to impart considerably more fashion distinction to the wardrobe.

A ruling influence is fur, from ail-mink to hamster. Fur collars and cuffs are just the beginning. There are bodices and overblouses of fur and, for evening, entire costumes made of fur.

Costume jackets, accompanying dresses or skirts and blouses, are as varied as fashion in shape and length. They start with curving dolmans, continue through short and boxy, bloused and belted, long and easy, down to the tunic-tube. Coat costume-components looks newest when shorter-than-usual or longer-than-usual.

Skirts and dresses with more character—via pleats or flares, for instance — help give costumes fashion personality.
